Prominent Local Citizen Dies After Long Illness

Ross T. Read, 76, a prominent local citizen, died at his home at 245 E. Main street, June 16, following a long illness.

Mr. Read was born in Detroit, August 14, 1883, the son of Thomas and Mary Martin Read. He came to Pinckney at an early age when his father started a lumber business here. After graduating from Pinckney High school in 1900 and completing additional studies in Ann Arbor, he joined his father's business which later became known as the Thomas Read Sons Lumber Company.

On October 24, 1906 he married Miss Sadie Burchiel of Pinckney. She survives.

In June, 1959 due to ill health he sold his interest in the lumber company to his brother, Fred C. Read, with whom he had been in partnership since 1925.

Mr. Read was a life member of Livingston Lodge No. 76 F. & A. M. and a charter member of the Pinckney Kiwanis Club.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are one son, Russell Read, of Pittsburgh, Pa., two brother, Fred C. of Pinckney and Rex Read, of Deerfield, Florida; and one sister, Mrs. Ethel Smoyer, of Akron, Ohio. There are seven grandchildren.

One son, Howard, preceded him in death in 1957; another son, Alan, and a daughter, Erma, died at an early age.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Pinckney Community Congregational church with the Reverend J. W. Winger officiating.

Burial was in Pinckney cemetery, where graveside services were conducted by the Livingston lodge.

An estimated 800 people attended the parade and street dance in Gregory last Friday night, the preview of the Stockbridge area 125th anniversary celebration.

Edwards - Ward Vows Spoken Saturday at St. Mary's Church

The marriage vows of Evelyn Claire Edwards and Robert S. Ward were spoken at St. Mary's Catholic Church at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, June 18. The Reverend Fr. George Horkan officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards of Kress Road, Lakeland. The parents of the bridegroom are the Charles Wards of Hi-Land Lake.

For her wedding the bride chose a white peau de soie gown with bodice and scalloped overskirt of Banlon lace, embroidered with seed pearls. The bell skirt of the gown was caught up with roses of the same material. The bride wore a finger-tip veil held by a seed pearl crown. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses with ivy and blue angel feathers centered with pink sweet peas and roses.

Mrs. John LaPrad, of Jackson, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of white silk organza with a cumberbund of blue silk taffeta, a large picture hat and she carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Bowser of Dearborn, Miss Jeanne Edwards, sister of the bride, and Miss Julie LaPrad of Gregory. Their gowns were similar in style to that of the matron of honor but were in pink. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Little Judy Fox, of Milan, was the flower girl and carried a basket of pink and blue flowers. Michael Delaney, of Dearborn, was the ringbearer. John LaPrad of Jackson acted as best man, while Harold Spittler, of Ypsilanti, David Hoffa, of Detroit, James Ward, of Utica, served as ushers. Robert Edwards, brother of the bride served as an altar boy during the nupital mass.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to 250 guests at St. Mary's School Hall.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon there was a reception for about 350 guests at the home of the bride's parents.

After a two week trip to northern Michigan the couple will be at home at Hi-Land Lake.

Both the new Mrs. Ward and her husband are graduates of Pinckney High School. She has been employed at the University of Michigan. The bridegroom is employed by the Pittsburg Plate Glass, Ann Arbor.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Edwards chose a pink silk organza sheath dress and she wore a green cynbidium corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue silk sheath of organza and her corsage was of pink cymbidium.

Ervin Green, son of Eugen Green of 10364 Dexter Road, was among the graduates who received degrees at the 100th annual Commencement at Michigan State University recently.

Ervin, a graduate of P.H.S., was awarded his D. V. M. in veterinary medicine.

Commission Approves New Pinckney - Howell Road

The Board of County Road Commissioners announced Friday that plans have been approved for the reconstruction of Pinckney Road from Howell to Pinckney.

Fred F. Rogers, County Highway Engineer points out that the State Highway Department has set the date of November 18th, of this year for letting contracts for Interstate Route 96, including the interchange, one half mile south of Howell City limits. In order that we may be ready to handle resulting traffic, it is important that we start improvement of Pinckney Road this summer.

Plans call for completely regrading the road, from Howell to Coon Lake Road, this year and from Coon Lake Road to Pinckney in 1961. Drainage and sight distances will be improved, and an adequate base constructed to carry traffic, estimated to reach 4000 vehicles per day by 1975. The present road was constructed in five installments twenty-five to thirty years ago.

Through traffic will be rerouted on M-155, County Farm Road, and Coon Lake Road. Coon Lake Road was black topped in 1959, in preparation for use as a temporary route.

The work will be done by County owned equipment, and county employees. Walter Clink, Assistant County Engineer and General Superintendent, will have direct charge of the work, together with Arthur Crawford, Construction Superintendent.

Mr. Rogers states that construction of Pinckney Road will not interfere with emergency repair on other black top roads in the county. This work has been seriously delayed by continued wet and cold weather.

The Road Commission Members are Fred Berry, Norman S. Topping, and Warren H. Andersen.

Wheat Marketing Cards to Be Mailed

1961 Wheat Marketing cards will be mailed to wheat growers on July 6, 1960. You will need this card to market your wheat. This is a white card with green print, approximately 3½" x 8½" in size and will be mailed to you as a post-card. It will not be enclosed in an envelope as other years.

Please check your mail carefully for this card as they are an accountable form and not easily replaced.

If you do not receive a card, please notify the ASC office as soon as possible after the 6th of July.

This very attractive new exterior is that of the Wagner Grocery at Chubbs Corners. The recently completed remodeling nearly doubles the floor space of the store and makes possible a greater variety of groceries and produce, according to Wayne and Lenore Wagner, who have operated the store since 1941. The exterior was done by Joe Jeffreys, builder.

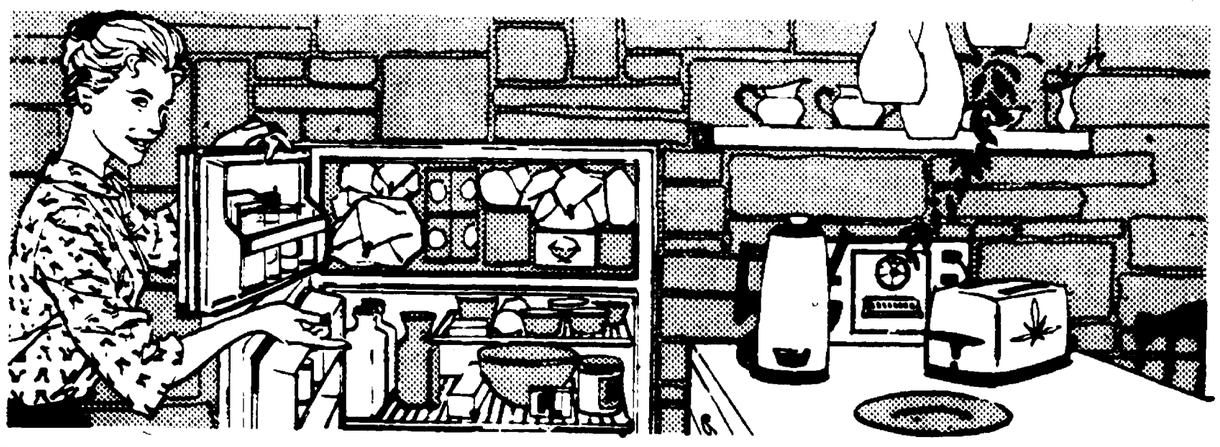
ELECTRIC KITCHEN

ELECTRIC COOKING IS CLEAN, COOL, QUICK. All the heat goes into the food from direct contact electric elements, none escapes into the air. Super speed units bring liquids to a boil in seconds. You never see blackened pans in an electric kitchen for electric cooking is white-glove clean.



ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR-FREEZERS HAVE BIG CAPACITY. Buy foods at seasonally low prices and store safely, in quantity. Save time by preparing foods ahead—make three pies, freeze two. New frost-free refrigerator-freezers eliminate defrosting entirely.

COUNTER TOPS DO DOUBLE DUTY with an electric appliance center. Pullout extension cords and extra outlets, all on one central panel, give you Housepower at your fingertips. Simultaneous operation of many counter top appliances is possible without blowing fuses.

DOING THE DISHES WAS NEVER SO EASY. Toss food scraps into the disposer—they never have to be handled or wrapped. Slip dishes, glasses, flatware, pots and pans into the dishwasher. Everything comes out sparkling clean.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER where and when you need it, with a table top electric water heater. This is the water heater without flame or flue. So there is no problem in putting it near the point of greatest hot water use.

Egg Prices To Rise This Fall, Says MSU Expert

Egg prices paid to Michigan farmers should move up until well into this fall, says an agricultural economist at Michigan State University.

Henry Larzelere notes that farmers selling at wholesale received slightly over 30 cents a dozen during May for Grade A large white eggs. He looks for the price to move up a cent or two during June, then to around 35-36 cents in July and August. It may reach the high 30's and low 40's for a time this fall.

"Farmers cut back quite a bit on egg production plans last fall and winter," Larzelere notes. "As a result, substantially fewer pullets are coming into production now and in the next few months than we had in the same period last year."

The 1960 State Farm Management Tour is scheduled for August 3 in Jackson county.

Don't Shout at Bats Says U-M Wildlife Expert

Summertime is the season you are most likely to get bats in your belfry . . . or your attic or basement, says George Hunt, assistant professor of wildlife management at The University of Michigan.

"There are eight species of bats in Michigan, some of which hibernate or migrate and therefore are not seen as often during the winter," he points out.

If bats are found indoors, there's no reason to fear them, Hunt explains. "While most bats are reasonably clean creatures, some ill ones harbor ecto-parasites like lice and fleas. These sick bats could give a bad name to all bats."

The common opinion that bats will pull human hair out, must be an Old Wives' Tale, Hunt says. "I can hardly feature a bat getting tangled around in someone's hair. Bats use a system something like radar to find their way around. Actually they want to avoid humans, as well as other objects.

"A bat emits vocal cries from his throat at a very high frequency," Hunt continues. "With ears and sensory organs on his nose, a bat detects the echo of calls from obstacles. Since each obstacle gives different echoes, the bat knows whether it wants to pursue that object as in the case of insects or avoid it as in the case of telephone poles.

"Bats really are excellent flyers and are the only true flying mammals. The so-called flying squirrels really don't fly, they merely glide. Bats can change course on a dime to miss something. It really would be sheer happenstance if a bat ran into a person. However, this could occur if the person were shouting, because this might knock the bat off his track."

Hunt's advice about getting rid of bats? "First of all," he says, 'keep quiet. One possibility is to wait for the bat to leave, which they are more likely to do at night rather than during the day. Then plug up any holes so the bat can't get back in. The largest bats found in Michigan have a skull size of only ½-inch, so they can get into a very small hole.

"A second possibility is to place three to five pounds of moth balls or crystals in an attic inhabited by the bat. The fumes are said to drive the bat out." Bats really shouldn't be killed, Hunt suggests, since bats help man by eating insects which can ruin crops.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ever Have That "Sinking" Feeling?

You probably know that "Chip" Wallace was just appointed swimming instructor at the Boys Club.

Seems in his first group, he had three youngsters who were hesitant even about the shallow end of the pool. They said "we'd sink." Of course, Chip didn't try to force them—he demonstrated. He jumped in, popped right up, explained that body buoyancy had pushed him back to the surface.

However, one of the youngsters shook his head in disbelief. "Gee," he said, "I sure hope Mr. Buoyancy is still down there when I jump in."

From where I sit, whoever said "experience is the best teacher" was right. For instance, I think all of us know—through experience—how important "tolerance" is between neighbors. In little things too, like my respecting your right to choose a favorite beverage—and your respecting my choice of an occasional glass of beer. That way we'll swim not sink—as friends!

Diets Tailored for Individual Are Better

Diets, like medicine, should be tailor-made for each individual say nutritionists at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

The food specialists warn against choosing any diet just because it "worked" for a neighbor or friend.

Miss Betsy Biggar, chief of the U-M's Nutrition Clinic, says there are at least seven major factors in planning a diet. Any one of them may change the entire scope of the diet.

The seven: Your general health, reasons for dieting, likes and dislikes in food, dietary history, financial condition, home situation and your allergies to certain foods.

Only after exploring these questions can you begin to prepare an effective diet suited to your individual needs.

"About half of our patients need diets to lose weight," says Miss Biggar. "Many others are diabetics. The remainder have a variety of problems which are helped through changing their eating habits."

People eat for many reasons besides hunger, she says. "Some eat because of boredom. Others, because they have had a hard day at home or office and feel they deserve a treat. Still others may have emotional problems and seek comfort in food."

Convincing the patient to stick with his diet one of the major problems at the Nutrition Clinic. "But usually," says Miss Biggar, "when he knows the diet will improve his health or prevent his taking medicine for the rest of his life, he is encouraged to keep on with it."

In addition to personal consultation, the U-M clinic holds regular classes for groups of patients. Here the patients learn the values of different foods and start to plan suitable meals for themselves. "The classes are also important," says Miss Biggar, "to let the patients realize they are not alone and that others have similar problems."

The U-M Nutrition Clinic is a referral service. A patient can enter only with the recommendation of his family doctor or a physician at the Medical Center.

About 70 Masons came to Pinckney Sunday to attend the last rites for Ross T. Read. There were fifteen past masters and the immediate Jr. Past Grand Master, Rex P. Sackett of Detroit.

County Registers 2,036 Trailers

Of the 323,995 trailers registered in Michigan, 2,036 are listed as being in Livingston County, according to records of the Michigan Department of State.

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, pointed out that registrations of both light and heavy trailers are increasing at a much greater rate than are passenger vehicles.

"There are a good deal more than twice as many trailers on the road today as there were 20 years ago," Hare said. "In the case of heavy trailers this may be an indication of the increased use of motor transport over rail by many shippers and in the growing popularity among many motorists of using light trailers for hauling camping, cottage, and suburban supplies.

Trailer registration fees collected through the first four months of 1960 were almost a half million dollars above those of the same period in 1959.

Hare predicted that the use of personal trailers would continue to rise during the next decade.

"Many of Michigan's hundreds of thousands of new watercraft owners are going to tire of exploring their own lake and get the urge to put their boats on trailers in search of new adventure in other Michigan waters," Hare said. "The growing number of boat launching sites on our Great Lakes and on our smaller lakes seems to make this trend inevitable."
