There's Nothing so Successful as Success. The Detroit White Lead Works, the Hinchman, Dean & Rogers Company, is just closing the third year of its corporate existence. This company furnishes a notable lastance of extraordinary success achieved in a short time by enterprise, energy, fair dealing and good goods. They have attained a position in three years that it has taken other houses a quarter of a century to reach, and they are now the leading paint house of Michigan and one of the foremost in the country.—Dz-TROIT COMMENCIAL.

Cleveland's Message.

Gov. Cleveland's second message to he New York Legislature is an interesting document. The debt of the State es. the sinking fund, is $5,978,301, a decrease of $407,054 in the year. The taxes on corporations amounted to $1-935,179. The total tax raised for next year will be $9,334,836. Cleveland recommends an amendment to the tax laws so as to place real and personal property on the same footing. The first year of the free-canal policy shows good results. The tonnage shows an increase of 324,350 tons, while the shipments of grain from Buffalo by canal were 42,-350,916 bushels, against, 29,439,688 last year. The cost of public education was $11,858,504. There were 1,041,089 scholars and 31,570 teachers in the public schools. Colleges, twenty-four; medical colliges, thirteen; academies, 277. Their are eighty-four State banks. with resources of $160,716,593, and 127 savings banks, with resources of $483, 662,000008, and sixteen loan and trust companies, with resources of $160,137,-760. There are 198 insurance companies, with assets of $646,458,544. The State prisons report a surplus of $9,106 over expenditures. Cleveland recommends that all State charitable institutions be placed under one salaried superintendent. The first year's work of the railroad Commission has demonstrated its need and usefulness. Three hundred and twenty-two persons were killed in 1883 and 600 injured by railroads. The new Capitol, which has already cost $15,318,680, beliepes to have completed by Jan. 1, 1886. Cleveland thinks New York should make its voice felt for a revision of the tariff which will tend to revive shipbuilding.

It is one of Ruskin's publy sayings. that "the obstinuey of the mean man is in the pronunciation of the and the obstinacy of the great man in the pro-nunciation of It. This Willerence may be said to divide all energetic men and women into two general classes those who are bent upon comblishing themselves, and those who are bent upon establishing somethia, and they j hold more important than themselves.

Each of these characters may be seen in early station of life, and every oc-cupation. Two men are performing the same manual labor with equal industry; one is calculating how much labor he need expend in order to satisfy his employer and keep his situation: the other, while fully conscious that he is parning an honest livelihood, is also inferested in the outcome of his work, and is auxious to see it well done.

Two men are deeply engaged in politics; one puts forth all his force and ingulative to secure for himself some coveted position; the other is equally energetic in pushing forward a needed reform, or in securing the best man for an important post, that the welfare of his country may be promoted. Two scientists are both carnest in maintaining a recent theory, or in diffusing a recent discovery; one because he hopes thus to lift himself into notice in the scientific world and be looked up to as an authority; the other because he firmly believes in it and desires that mankind shall benefit by it. Two artists are putting forth every power; one for the sake of fame, the other for the sake of embodying his conceptions and giving them to the world. Two women are capable teachers; one is planning solely to secure her town promotion; the other is incited by the idea of elevating and enriching the young minds intrusted to her care. Two others are: diligently engaged in works of charity; one in the hope of being called Lady Bountiful: the other desiring nothing near so much as to lift some of the [Boston! neavy burdens of the poor, and to let a a ray of sunshine upon the afflicted. It may seem at that sight that, if the the difference of their secret motives to be a very great physical trial. cannot concern any one but themselves. If their work is done, and done well, what more has society to ask? It will be found, however, that only to a certain point can any work be performed well when the aim is wholly selfish. There comes a time to each man and to each woman when his or her own interest and the excellence of the work seem at least to clash. Perhaps a larger view would show that there really is no such conflict, that eventually the good of the worker and the good of his work will be identical. But at present, at least, we are not always able to take this larger view, and, whenever they seem to us to come into collision, one or the other must give way. The self-seeker has no hesitation. His own interest is uppermost in his mind, and if he imagines that is to be promoted by slacking his catering to what he knows to be a corbenefit, the die is east, and society is by so much impoverished and injured. He who on the other hand keeps his eye can stoop to none of these things. If it is in every case the man who emphasizes "It," not he who emphasizes "I," who is the highest value to the world. that it has worked wonders, and I there-Every employer knows how to prize a conscientious subordinate who makes the employer's interest his own, and society will be dull, indeed, if it does not prize its_conscientious servants, who in every walk of life make its best welfare and happiness their first and main con-

WASHINGTON.

The secretary of the treasury has rejected all proposals for the superstructure of the new government building at Pittsburg because in excess of the amount appropriated by congress for the building, $700,000. He has, however, given instructions for laying the founds. tion of the entire building seconding to the original , plan: Application will be made to congress to increase the appropriation so that the original plan of building the edilice of granite shall be carried out. It is estimated that about $25,000 more will be required to accomplish this. Unless the appropiation is increased it will be necessary to make use of cheaper material in constructing the building.

OUR LITLLE BALANCE. A special to the Detroit Free Prees from Washington, says: The first half of the current fiscal year ended December 31. The total receipts of the government during that period have amounted in round numbers to $178,341,-600, as against $266,801,000 for the correspond ing period of last year, a falling off of about $12,500,000 less than during the first half of last year, and the internal revenue receipts less by about $13,000,000, or at the rate of $25,-000,000 decrease for customs during the year, and $26,000,000 for internal revenue. But it is probable that the falling off will not be so large during the latter balf of the year. In July, owing to abnormal conditions, the customs receipts were nearly $1,000,000 larger than for July of last year. In August the decrease was $4,747,000, but since August the falling off has been less each month. In September it was $3,657,000; in October $1,856,000; in November, $1,677,000, and December, $1, 577,000. In other words, the customs receipts approaching the monthly receipts of last year. The expenditures during the first half of the 000,000, against $129,000,000 for the corresponding period of last year. The surplus has been $50,000,600, as compared to $17,000,000 for first half of last year a decrease of $27,000,000, or at the rate of $54,000,000 for the current year. The Pension Office has drawn from the treasury over $40,000,000 during the last six months. HOW WE STAND FINANCIALLY.

During the first half of the current fiscal year the interest-bearing debt was diminished in round numbers $61,000,000. The bonds actually redeemed and destroyed amounted to $54 -600,000. The amount redeemed during the last calendar year was nearly $99,000,000. It is a notable fact that of this amount over half were redeemed during the last six months. It is also a significant fact that the amount of gold coin and bullion now owned by the government is larger by $24,000,000 than it was a year ago, and the amount of standard silver dollars owned by the government is less by $8,-$17,000,000 than it was a year ago, and less by less by $9,200,000 than it was Nov. 1. CRUSHED TO DEATH.

A Workmen's Train Run Into by a Freight Train and Twenty Seven Persons Crushed to Death.

A Toronto dispatch of the 3d inst says: One of the most harrowing estamities that has happened in this neighborhood for a long time occurred here this morning on the Grand Trunk Railway. A suburban train left the Union' Station at 6:40. A car attached was filled with employes of the bolt works, who live in the city and are conveyed to their daily labor by this means, the train stopping for them opposite the works. After turning the curve at the Parkdale boundary a freight train was ob served coming cityward, but the impetus of the trains was too much to allow the breaks to do their duty in time, and the result was a fearful smash-up ending in a shocking tragedy. Twenty-suren persons were killed and many others shockingly injured. The affair casts a gloom over the city. The wounded are lying each month singe August have been steadily in the hospital and several doctors are giving them every attention. An eye-witness detrain, George Barber, is said to be responsible

CRIME.

MISSISSIPPI JUSTICE.

A Yazoo, Miss., dispatch of December 30th says: When the coroner's jury found the six Negroes guilty of the murder of the two Posey brothers, and Jasper Nichols and five others accessory to the crime, the friends of the murdered men, decided that Parker, Swage, Foot and Gibbs, the four ringleaders, must die before another night had passed. A crowd of 200 men surrounded the jail soon after 6 o'clock in the evening and though begged to desist from their terrible vengeance by James Barksdall a member of the legislature, the mob carried out their plans to the letter. They got the keys of the absence of the sheriff, the latter having opened. "Remember how you spattered Posey's orains," cried one of the mob, and he-was dragged to the jail fence and hanged. Foot's however, no danger. The ezar's followers imcell was next the scene of operations. He coolly | mediately mounted the sledge horses and foltook a drink from a bucket of water, and then lowed the assassins, who escaped in the neigh-He was out of sight, and no one devined his purpose. Suddenly as the door swung open, Foot raised a missile and struck down the first man who entered. Before the second blow could be given he was seized. He fought like a tiger, but was riddled with bullets in a moment. Dick Gibbs was in the iron cage and the avengers could not reach him. The committee called upon the man's cell mates to hold him up against the bars. They did so, and a bullet was sent into his heart. He dropped and another bullet was fired into his brain. The rope was then passed in over the top of the grating and lastened around the neck of the Negro's corpse, and the body was drawn up and left hanging within the cage. In a cell on the upper floor Mecajah Parker was found. He was a little darkey and as black as midnight. He came out, trembling, and it took but an instant to adjust the noose on Parker's neck, and he was dropped over the inside of the balcouy. Thus the slaughter was finished.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

Two masked men entered the store of Grant Silcox, of Middlemiss, about 20 miles from London, Ont., a few nights ago, and demanded 336,195 money. The demand was refused and Silcox was brained by one of the men, who thereupon took a sum, variously estimated at $300 and at afflicted with a terrible pestilence, and 70 out $150, and left. CONDUCTORS CAGED.

Fourteen conductors of Pullman cars on the Pennsylvania road have been arrested for a series of embezziements in collusion with the regular conductors, by which, it is said, their employers have been swindled out of $40,000 1 within the past four months. The arrests were made on evidence secured by a detective agency which makes a specialty of railroad and steamship work, and which has been pursuing the investigation nearly five months, sometimes having as many as 20 detectives riding as ordinary passengers in the Pullman cars on a stugle train. These detectives gave th conductors tickets purchased in the daual way, after having carefully noted their numbers. These numbers were then traced and it was found that in a vast number of cases the palace car conductors, without punching the tickest, I locked in were burned to death. turned them over to the regular conductors. who sold them to the scalpers at reduced rates, and shared the proceeds. In many cases the detectives, by gaining the conductors' confidence, accompanied them to the offices of the scalpers and to gambling houses and other resorts, where they would sometimes spend in one night more than their salaries reached in a month. One conductor is said to have stolen $45 on a single trip. The loss to the companies was considerable more than $300 per day. Uf the 14 men arrested six gave bail. The rest were locked up to await examination on a charge of embezzlement.

A ROYAL TARGET.

The latest version of the recent accident to the czar of Russia is as follows: The czar was returning on the afternoon of December 17 to the Gatschina palace from a shooting excursion, accompanied by his suite in eight sledges, with a number of servants. Although darkness was coming on the party noticed on the road ahead six men apparently peasants. The ezar's aides drove forward and ordered the men to clear the way. The men saluted the officers and appeared to obey the order, but when the czar's sledge came on a level with them they suddenly wheeled around, fired at the ezar the jail from a Negro who had charge in thrice, and two of them ran toward him. An Interview With Nasby, David R. Locke (Petroleum V. Nasby) the famous political artist and editor of the Toledo Blade, has a medihod in his madness which is known to but few outside of his intimate friends and associates. In other words, his manner of collecting incidents and ideas are peculiarly his own. He is a close observer of passing incidents, has a keen sense of the ludicrous, and allows nothing to escape thim which by any possible mibilist executive committee promised to give chance, may furnish capital for future productions. In a drawer of a desk in his private office are innumerable soiled, torn, and crumpled scraps of paper, which to the uninitiated would suggest the rag-picker, but which in reality contain penciled scraps of incidents and deas which have come to the humorist in a casul way. They are jotted down upon fragments of envelopes. leaves from diaries, written transversely across private letters, and preserved generally in the best or only manner at hand when circumstances required. Nasby takes great pride in sorting over and familiar izing himself with the contents of that particular drawer. Almost every day an idea or incident is used and disposad of, after which the scrap is destroyed to avoid the possibility of its future repetition. Beauty's Duty.

One of the first duties of a woman is to always look as pretty as possible. . It goes without saying that wives, mothers, and maidens shall be goodtempered, skilled in housewifery, true-hearted, and kindly tempered. Leaving the greater matters of the unwritten laws of life, however, among the minor ones is that which makes it

A bit of ribbon here, a touch of color there, charm of face and figure, shapely hands and pretty feet, comely waist and supple neck; here, there, and from the curve of the dainty little ear to the slope of the shoulders and the carriage of the person, there is one manifest voice to be heard-"I am trying to look my best."

And, what is more, woman ought not more to neglect trying to look pretty to the end of her days, than she ought to forget to do her duty.

Who does not know the dear old grandmother, whose sweet, wrinkled face, clean cap, clean dress, and lavender-scented lace collar carry one back to childhood's days? There are years there, and the experience of trouble, the sadness of losses, memories of bridals and of graves, and a rapid approach to those silent churchyard gates through which we must all walk whether we will or not.

But grandmother is pretty still, and will always be pretty till the white hands are clasped over the quiet breast and she goes home to those who went home before her.

A woman, no matter how poor she is, and how deep the cares of family, ought to take more and more pains with her dress as time rolls on. A young girl may wear almost anything. A matron, however, who has lost the first plump charm, and indefinable beauty of youth, has to be careful.

The First Umbrella,

The umbrella was seen in the streets of Glasgow by Dr. Jamieson in 1782, on his return from Paris. When he commenced unfurling it crowds of people followed him in amazement at the spectacle. About 1789 an attempt was John Gardner, father of the present street, "Senex" had in his hands the first sumbrella that ever was made in clumsy article. The cloth was heavy their petticents. The handle massy and strong, and, altogether, it was a load to carry. -- Scottish Ameri-

Those were st rring days in Rome - the days of Mazzini and Garibaldi, of the Republic and the French invasion. Margaret was culisted heart and soil in the patriotic cause, and when the city was invested, she seted as superintendent of one of the hospitals, rendering adm rable, untiring and effect ve service. So great seered the danger at one time that she sent for the Ame can Muister, Lewis Cass, and disclosed to him the fact of the marriage and that she had a child, asking that, in case of her death, certain important documents which she gave him should be sent to her family on America. On the next day, howeve, military operations cea ed, and she and her husband left Rome, took their boy from his h ding place at Rieti, and male their way to GOLD, SILVER AND NICKEL Florence. There they spent the winter, and on the 17th of May succeeding they set sail for New York. Various things detained them here and there, and it was not until the evening of the 18th of Best Bolled Gold Chains and Charms. July that the ship Edzabeth, on which They were passengers, sighted the Jersey coast. An ear y arrival in the city was promised, and eve yoody retired in good spirits, having made all arrangements to go on shore in the morning. The rest is best told briefly. The Trainman.

A slim young rain, wearing a fur cap and a last your's ulster, s'ood with a lonesome look on his face in the waiting room of the Polk Street depot, Chifully measured with his youth behind the lunch counter a rew feet away. Then he climbed on a high stool by the counter and reached for a sandwich. He winked at the colored boy, and was instantly supplied with a cup of coffee. Three more sandwiches care with n his grasp and disappeared one after another. Then he devoured a turnover and two hard-boiled eggs. Another cup of coffee and a quarter of a mince pie finished the meal. Then the slim young man gl ded from his stool. and said, carelessly:

"What's the filiu' worth?" "Seven y cents, sah," replied the waiter, pr mptly. "What." replied the slim young man, "you mustn't charge me passenger rates, you know. I m a trainman, remember. "What kine of a trainman?" demanded the colored youth suspi iously.

Grand Trunk brakeman?" responded the slim young man. "Got to 'denti y yo'sef," sullenly said

"Lon to think anybody knows me here," said the other, with les tation.

"Show wat vo' got in yo pockets, den. I bery trainman has a car-key or a train hook, or somethin' else along to dentity hisself wid." "Changed my clothes since the last run," said the slim young man, grow-ing pale. "You'll have to take my word for it." "Yo' word's no good," said the writer, contemptuously. "I'll give yo one
