Mrs. J. T. Eaman returned from her Duluth trip Tuesday, apparently very much benefitted thereby.

Sant. Jenkins, of Mason, was down with another load of cabbages yesterday. The one brought around to the "print shop" weighed 12 lbs. and 2 ozs., which is pretty good for early stock.

A number of important changes have recently been made which affect the management of the Air Line Division of Grand Trunk road. Mr. Spicer being now General Manager of Grand Trunk in the U.S. Mr. Morgan becomes Superintendent of this Engineer who succeeds Mr. Yates and lows:

seems to be a man of practical commonsense. He is already putting things to rights along the Air Line, and the roadbed and fences will be completed in good shape. It is said that another passenger train each way Shakespeare, of Kalamazoo; State will soon be run through to Jackson Treasurer, James Blair; Auditor Gen'l, and the present mixed train will be made a freight. Altogether the Board of Education, Christian Vanderchanges promise to be greatly to, the veen. Mr. Auld will probably exhibit his benefit of the public as regards ef-

A Cueshire, Allegan county, farmer makes complaint that the yellows are quite prevalent in some orchards in that town, and that no attention is paid to the law in relation to the des-Truction of affected trees. Here is a chance for the Yellows commissioner to exercise his authority. Mrs. susan Wares, formerally of Dowagiac, died in Dakota last week, and was brought to her former home for burial. She was one of the oldest and most respected residents, had lived in Dowagiac forty-eight years, and was the mother of the first white child born in that place. A number of young men at Hancock went over to Calumet the other night to take part in a charivari. During the rumpusone of the men fired a revolver, and accidentally shot a young man named Bawden. The untimely death of the young man has cast a gloom over the community. The latest swindling dodge in the state is practiced by a class of sharpers who go through the rural districts selling spectacies to farmers and their wives for five dollars a pair which they claim will restore sight. > The annual reunion of the Ninth Michigan Cavalry was held in Coldwater on the 14th inst., and was attended by sixty of the old members. In the evening a banquet was held at the St James hotel. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, B. T. Russell: Vice-President, Lieut. Saunders, of Fenton; Secretary, W. A. Blye. One old comrade was too poor to buy a railroad ticket, so he walked 130 miles to attend the reunion. The company raised a purse to buy him a suit of clothes and pay his railroad fare home, and will try to secure nim a pension.

An engine on the Michigan & Obio excursion train jumped the track one mile west of Marshall on the 21th inst. The engine turned completely over, the baggage car was thrown into the air so that a telegraph pole telescoped it from bottom to top; the next two coaches lay crosswise on the truck, but the passengers miraculously escaped injury. The engineer was badly hurt, having both arms broken and being injured internally. His name is Tom Russell, of Demkirk, N. Y. Conductor Buck was bruised considerably. The fireman was thrown 15 feet, but was not badly hurt. The excursion was to Detroit by the Knights of Pythias of Battle Creek.

Returns for the Michigan crop report up to August 1, from 649 townships show that favorable barvest weather has generally prevailed. Wheat and hay have been secured in good condition and are of superior quality. The yield ment. of hay per acre is 16 per cent less in quantity than in 1883. Meadows and rastures have been badly injured by the drouth. Wheat is probable that the aggregate product will (xceed the estimate of two months ago. Corn cls and barley 2414 bushels per acre. ### CANNIBALISM.

A Horrible Story of Inhumanity.

The Survivors of the Greely Party Accused of Eating the Flesh of their Comrades.

The New York Times of the 12th published the following: Written documents now in the possession of the navy department add to the record of miserable suffering already pub-lished in connection with the Greely expedition shocking stories of inhumanity and cannibalism. All the facts have been in the possession of Secretary Chandler for three weeks, but have been closely guarded. For the sake of humanity the authorities are endeavoring to keep the matter hushed, but the facts will undoubtedly come out.

It will be rememered that in Commander Schley's first dispatch to Secretary Chandler sunouncing the finding of the Greely party he said, "I would urgently suggest that the bodies now on board be placed in metallic cases here. for better and safer transportation in a sea way... This appears to me imperative." As Mr. Chandler was in West Point the dispatch was answered by Rear Admiral Nichols. He said, "Use your own discretion about care and days to prepare the iron caskets which were all bolted and rivoted. It was remarked at the have been brought on in wooden coffins. The 1,000 feet, and from that depth brine has been [ design was obviously to prevent friends of ] the dead being given an opportunity to tical salt maker that a test could be made at look at their remains. Even the sailors on the relief ships, with the exception of a few who assisted in removing the bodies, were not allowed to see them. When Commander Schley met SecretaryChandler and General Hazen at Portsmouth ou the arrival of the ships from St. Johns he was agitated and called the gentlemen into the cabin. Undoubtedly he then communicated to them the facts. The sufferings and privations of the men in their canvass hut during the bitter winter of 1883-4 have not half been told. It has been published that after the game gave out in February they lived on sealskins, lichens and shrimps. As a matter of fact they were kept alive on human flesh. When the rescuing party discovered the survivors one of them, a German, was the written statements of the surviving mem-wild in his deligium. "Ob," he shricked, as bers of the party to be appended to this report, the sailors took hold of him, "don't let them shoot me as they did poor Henry. Must I be killed and caten as Henry was! Don't let

The sailors were horrified and reported the words to Commander Schley. After a brief investigation he felt satisfied that some of the men who had perished had been stripped of their flesh to keep the surviving comrades of my party had I not acted promptly and sumalive. 6, 1884, at Camp Clay, near Cap ( Babine, Grincell land, it became necessary for me to order the military execution of private Charles B. Heary of the Fifth cavalry for continued thieving. The order was given in writing on my undivided responsibility, being deemed absolutely essential for the safety of the surviving members of the expedition. Ten had already died of starvation and two more lay at the point of death.

The facts inducing my action were as fol-lows: Provisions had been stolen in November, 1853, and Henry's complicity therein was more than suspected. March 30, 1884, the party nearly perished from asphyxia. While sev-eral men were unconscious and efforts being made for their restoration private Eenry stole about two pounds of bacon from the mess stores. He was not only seen by E-quimaux Jens Edwarde, but his stomach being overloaded, he threw up the undigested bacon. An open investigation was held and every member of the party declared him guilty of this and other thefts. A clamor for his life was raised, but was represeed by me. I put him under surveillance until our waning strength rendered his physical strongth indispensable. Later he was found one day intervieated, having stolen the liquor on hand for general issue. A second time was his life demanded, but I again spared him.

On June 5 the theft of provisions on his part being reported to me, I had a conversation transportation of bodies." Secretary Chandler | with him, in which I appealed to his practical sense, pluting out that unlon was necessary to our preservation. He promised entire reformation, but, distrusting him, I issued a written order that he should be should be detected time by experienced officers that this would stealing." On June 6 he not only stole part of thought of, and it was not carried to a depth have hardly been necessary for the preserva- i the shrimps for our breakfast, but visiting untion of the frezen bodies. They could safely authorized, our winter eamp, stole certain seaiskin reserved for food. 1 then ordered him shot. On his person was found a sliver chonograph abandoned by me at Fort Conger and stolen by him. In his bag "was found a large quantity of sea'skin and a pair of sealskin boots stolen a few days before from the hunter. Suspecting complicitly on the part of several I ordered his execution by three of the most reliable mev. After his death the order was read to the entire party, and was concurred in as not only just, but essential to our safety. To avoid public scandal I ordered that no man should speak of the matter until an official report should have been made.

I have the honor to request that a court of inquiry should be instituted, or that a court martial should be convened, should the honorable secretary of war deem either advisable in this case. I have thought it best not to ask bers of the party to be appended to this report, lest 1 might seein to be tampering with this. I have not asked since our rescue, June 22, whether their opirions concuring in my action have changed or not, leaving such questions to your action, if deemed requisite. I necessarily regret that circumstances imposed such a terrible responsibility on me; but 1 am conscious that I would have failed in my duty to the rest marily: I am respectfully, A. W. GREELY. First-Lieutenaut Fifth Cavalry.

THE CHINESE TROUBLE.

Through Marquis Tseng, Chinese embassador to England, and the British embassy at Pekin, Earl Granville is arging China to concede the indemnity demanded by France provided the French fleet shall immediately leave K-lung. It is considered doubtful whether Prime Minister Ferry would surround K lung on payment of the indemnity, as it is believed the real object of France in making the claim was to secure permanent possession of the coal mines of Keiung. It is reported that in case France should refuse to give up Kelung on payment of the indemnity England has promised to interfere in behalf of Chica. It is confidently asserted that no offer of mediation has been made to France by England, Germany or America. A Times' dispatch from Foochow 8858:

"France rejected the mediation of any power. Ch na refused to pay the jud un ty demanded by France and has declared war Admiral Courbet demauded 2,000 men from Touquin. Gen. ### SHOOTING THE RAPIDS.

The Remarkable Piloting of Jean Baptiste at Lachine--Running into Raipds.

If the summer loiterer wants a glimpse of an earthly paradiso-a perfection of quiet--where nature is seen in serenest repose, he should take a journey by boat through lake St. Louis. This gem of the St. Lawrence river is about five miles wide and twelve long, and so perfect is the repose that the ripple caused by the passing steamer seems almost sacrelig-10us. The surface of the water is a perfect mirror, the banks of the river | night. on each side are distinctly yisible, and it is difficult to determine where shad. ows commence and where the land touches the water. So quiet and calm is everything that the visitor is imperceptibly silenced and a feeling somewhat akin to awe comes over him. Instinctively and silently he worships nature in one of her choicest locations. To the right as the voyager goes down the river, overlooking the lake, stands out boldly the gray nuns' convent, and here and there, on both shores, can be seen the glittering tin spires of the little Catholic churches that appear like flames of tire. Away in the distance can be heard the drowsy tinkling of bells, and ever and anon floats on the air the chant of the French Canadian | Pail: who earns his bread by his skill in catching the fish which abound there.

Away, right ahead of the vessel, is the quaint, yet beautiful village of Coteau do Lac, and behind it is the Mount Royal overlooking Montreal. Having passed the two bright red lighthouses the boat made a sudden turn to the. right and heads for Lachine and the famous rapids of that name.

"There's the Indian!"

"Here comes Jean Baptiste!"

The flickering rays of the street lamps fell upon the joyful ones as they gathered themselves unto the feast, for lo! they reasoned one with another, hath not the preacher said: "There is nothing better for a man than that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labor." So they got themselves up into the house of feasting and bore their countenances merrily. And it was so that the Painted Pine Pail called aloud unto the Cheap Hearth Broom and said:

"Lo, here, thou fair one with the broom-corn bang, whither goest thou?"

is ignorant—very ignorant. Why red lions, and tigers, and eagles, and vultures are all creatures of prey, and why do so many put themselves within the power of their jaws and talons? Such as drink and live riotously, and wonder why their face are so blotchy and their pockets so bare, would leave off wondering if they had two grains of wisdom. They might as well ask an elm tree for pears, as look to those hapits for wealth. Those who go to the public house for happiness climb a tree to find fish.—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

"The Poverty of Garfield and Lincon

When General Garfield was on his Ashtabula, boarded the train. He had been one of Garfield's pupils schoolheuse in the back woods. As the teacher bearded with Mr. B-'s mother, they had been more intimate than is usual with master and scholar. Many insignificant stories were told when they met which illustrated the hard struggles of the future President PANTS FOR BOYS, in his youth. One was that, on some DANUS FOR VOLT occasion he was invited to a coutry party, but on the very day it was to take place he split at the knee one leg of his trousers. He had but one pair of very coarse jeans, and no money to buy another. Garneld had set his heart on going to the merry-making, a and was bitterly disappointed. "You go to bed," said his hostess, "and let me see what I can do." The teacher obeyed, and in an hour received his trousers so nearly darned that it was impossible to find where they had been broken. He thanked her so earnestly that the good woman eried out-"Never mind Mr. Garfield! When you're a great man in Ohio Legisladrousers you had when you taught up here in the Reserve. This little incident recalls a story told of our other martyred President. In 1830 a traveling peddler came one evening to a cabin in Illinois and asked the farmer's wife if could stay at the house all night. "We can feed your beast," was the answer, "but we cannot lodge you, unless you are willing to sleep with the hired man."

An anecdotal tricycling article, profusely illustrated by Joseph Pennell, will appear in the September Century. It records the incidents of a journey from Coventry to Chester, treating of Izaak Walton's country, with its quaint, old-fashioned inns, sequestered villages where the curfew still rings at sunset, the bicycle races at Derby, etc., etc. As Mr. Pennell is an expert and enthusiastic wheelman, his dozen or more pietures will have a special interest in the line of character sketches.

amendment was taken-up, and, on a standing vote, adopted. James F. Joy, Langley, Linz-e, Fraser and Walker of Wayne voted for the amendment, and the rest of the delegates against it.

The nomination of the electors-at-large was then declared in order. The delegates were not cool as yet and the chairman exercised a little patience and his gavel for about five minutes. Then the Hon. Dwight Cutler of Grand Haven presented the name of George A. Farr of Bay, and Mr. Babcock of Sanilac that of Joseph B. Moore of Sanilac as electors-at-large. The motion that the nominations should be made unanimous was put through with a hurrah.

The chairman announced that nominations for governor was now in order. Byron M. Cutcheon of Manistee stepped to the platform as the champion of Russell A. Alger. Mr. Curcheon said:

"The Republican party of Michigan stands to-day upon the threshold of a fourth decade of unbroken responsibility. Its record for thirty years is a glorious memory of grand achievements. "Dry waxing costs about four times as much as the other, and will last two or three times as long. In either case the wax has to be polished right into the grain of the wood. It will not do to put oil on a waxed floor, as it will render the surface gummy and sticky and nasty. If properly done, oiling makes a floor nice, but is never so good as waxing, and costs nearly as much. Raw linseed oil, mixed with turpentine for a drier, is used. Price? Well, that depends on the size of a floor and to some extent on its condition. One, say. fourteen by sixteen feet, will ordinarily cost five dollars for oiling, seven dollars to ten dollars for waxing, and thirty dollars for dry waxing. There are some floors here that I have waxed regularly for eight gears past."-N. E. Sach
