OBITUARY.

JOSEPH BRIGGS.

Died at his home in Oceola, Friday, May 15, 1903 after a week of intense suffering, Mr. Joseph Briggs, aged 74 years 8 months and 10 days.

Mr. Briggs was born in Groton, N. Y., Sept 10, 1828, and came with parents to Michigan before it was admitted as a state. In May 1854 he bought a farm three miles northeast of Howell in Oceola township to which he brought his bride, Miss Sarah Hains, in Sept. of the same year, and for 49 years through joy and sorrow they have worked together in building their pleasant home where death has now parted them. Two children were born to them but died in early childhood, but their home has been a refuge for children who have been in need of a father's and a mother's care.

Mr. Briggs became one of the first converts who joined the first Methodist class in Howell.

He held his membership there until 1870 when he and wife changed to the Oceola Methodist church which was built at that time. During all his christian life he has been ever faithful and true to his Master, always found at his post of duty; truly of him can it be said, "He that is faithful until death shall receive a crown of life". His chief pleasure was found in the service of Christ and among christian people.

Among a family of seven brothers and sisters, only one brother, Hiram, of Pinckney, survive him.

His wife, and one son, William H. Briggs of Detroit, together with a large circle of relatives and dear friends are left to remember that a good man has left them.

The funeral was held at the residence Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by his pastor Rev. Wm. Kishpaugh, and the remains were laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery in Howell.

MRS. GUY B. LEWIS.

Died May 15th 1903, at her home in East Putnam, after a short illness of two weeks.

Opal May Rhine was born in Eaton Co. Mich., Oct. 11, 1881. Moved to Emmett Co. with her parents when seven years old, where she lived until March 1903 when she came to Pinckney with her husband, Guy B. Lewis, to whom she was married December 25th, 1902.

She leaves a husband, father and mother, 7 sisters and one brother also a large circle of friends to mourn their loss.

Funeral services were conducted at the Cong'l church Monday afternoon, and the burial took place in the Pinckney cemetery. There was a large attendance at the church services. The music was well rendered and very impressive, the quartet being composed of W. A. Nixon, Will McIntyre, Mrs. Floyd Jackson and Miss Jennie Haze.

Congregational Church.

Conducted by Rev. G. W. Mylne.

Sunday May 24, Divine worship and sermon at 10:30 a. m., subject, "Some Popular Fallacies."

Evening at 7:30, Young Mens club "church parade." Sermon topic, "Athletes." Ushers, Ross Read and Fred Campbell.

Music from the new Cong'l hymnal at both services.

Sacrament of baptism will be administered on Childrens' day, second Sunday in June. All desiring baptism for themselves or others should communicate with the pastor at once.

"Why can we not Cast Them Out?" Topic for Thursday evening sermon. Young Mens club business meeting at 8:45 prompt this evening.

THE MAID OF MAIDEN LANE

A Sequel to "The Boy of Orange Ridge."

A NOVEL STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

(Copyright, 1902, by Amelia E. Barr)

CHAPTER XI.

We Have Done With Tears and Treasons.

"Here is a letter from Arenta!" repeated the Doctor to his wife, who was just entering the room. "Come, Ave, and listen to what she has to say." Then Cornelia read aloud the following words:

"My Dear Friend Cornelia: If today I could walk down Maiden Lane, if today I could see you and talk to you, I should imagine myself in heaven. For as to this city, I think that in hell the name of Paris must have spread itself far and wide. Do you remember our learning in those happy days at Bethlehem of the slaughter of Christians by Nero? Very well; right here in the Paris of Marat and Robespierre, you may hear constantly the same brutal cry that filled the Rome of the Caesars—"Death to the Christians!" Famine, anarchy, murder, are everywhere, and I live from moment to moment, trembling if a step comes near me.

"As to religion, there is no longer any religion. Everywhere the Almighty is spoken of as the 'sol-disant God.' The monarchy is abolished, and yet so ignorant are the leaders of the people, that when Brissot mentioned the word Republic in Petion's house, Robespierre said with a grin, 'Republic! Republic! What a republic!' Spying, and fear, and death penetrate into the most private houses; above all, fear, constant fear of every one with whom you come in contact.

"I have told you the truth about our conditions, because I have just had a letter from my father, and he talks of leaving his business in Claos Bergen's care, and coming here to look after me. You must convince him that he could do me no good whatever, and that he might do me much harm. Tell him not to fear; Arenta says, not to fear. While Minister Morris is here I have a friend that can do all that can be done.

"Ask our good Domine to pray that I may soon return to a country where God reigns. Never again do I wish to spend one minute in a place where there is no God; for whatever they may call that place, its real name is hell.

"Arenta, Marquise de Tounnerre." "Poor Arenta!" said the Doctor when Cornelia had finished the wretched epistle. Suppose that you go and see Van Ariens, and give him all the comfort you can."

Cornelia crossed the street and was going to knock at the door, when Van Ariens hastily opened it. When Cornelia told him her errand, he was in a hurry of loving anxiety to hear what his child had written.

"I understand," he said, when he had heard the letter. "She is frightened, the poor little one! But she will smile and say 'It is nothing.' However, I yet think I must go to her."

"Do not," urged Cornelia. You may see by Arenta's letter, that she does not fear the guillotine. Come over to-night and talk to my father and mother."

"Well, then, I will come."

Then he took both Cornelia's hands

Van Ariens opened the door, in his and looking earnestly at her said:

"Poor Ren! Impossible is it?" "Quite impossible, sir," she answered.

"I am very sorry," he said, simply, and let her hands drop. In an hour or two to your house I will come. There is plenty to talk about."

The next day Cornelia walked down Broadway to Madame Jacobus' house. It was closed and desolate looking and she sighed as she compared its old bright emptiness with its present empty loneliness. The change typified the change in her heart and love.

"One exquisite day as they went up Maiden Lane the Doctor said: 'My friend, Gen. Hewitt sails for England today, and we will go and wish him a good voyage.' So to the pier they went, and the Doctor left his carriage, and taking Cornelia on his arm walked down to where the English packet was lying.

Soon Cornelia became conscious of the powerful magnetism of some human eye, and obeying its irresistible attraction she saw George Hyde, steadily regarding her. She was enthralled again by his glance, and never for one moment thought of resisting the appeal it made to her. With a unconscious tenderness she waved him an adieu whose spirit he could not but feel. At the same moment he lifted his hat and stood bareheaded looking at her with a pathetic inquiry, which made her inwardly cry out, 'Oh, what does he mean?' Then the Doctor touched her:

"Why do you do that?" he asked angrily.

"Because I must do it, father; I cannot help it. I desire to do it."

"I am in a hurry; let us go home."

She turned away with a sigh. The Doctor drove rapidly to Maiden Lane and did not get off the way speak a word, and Cornelia was glad of it. Her forward she was resolved to live without a doubt. She would believe in Joris, no matter what she had seen, or what she had heard. There were places in life to which alas! truth could not come, and this might be one of them. Though all the world blamed her lover, she would excuse him.

Now a woman's intuition is like a leopard's spring, it seizes the truth—if it seizes it at all—at the first bowd, and it was by this unaccountable mental agility Cornelia had arrived at the conviction of her lover's fidelity. She reflected that now he was so far away, it would be possible for her to call upon Madame Van Heemskirk.

She resolved therefore to call upon Madame Van Heemskirk the following week. She expected the old lady might treat her a little formally, perhaps even with some coldness, but she thought it worth while to test her kindness.

One morning Mrs. Moran said, "Cornelia, I wish you to go to William Irvin's for some hosiery and Kendal's cottons."

"Very well, mother. I will also look in at Fisher's," and it was at Fisher's that she saw Madame Van Heemskirk. "Good morning, madame," said Cornelia, with a cheerful smile.

"Good morning, miss. Step aside once with me. A few words I have to say to you," and as she spoke she drew Cornelia a little apart from the crowd at the counter, and looking at her sternly, said:

"One question only—why then did you treat my grandson so badly? A shameful thing it is to be a flirt."

"I am not a flirt, madame. And I did not treat your grandson badly. No, indeed!"

"Pray then what else? You let a young man love you—you let him tell you so—you tell him 'yes, I love you' and then when he says marry me, you say, 'no.' Such ways I call bad, very bad. Not worthy of my Joris are you, and so then, I am glad you said 'no.'"

"Madame, you are very rude."

"And very false are you."

"Madame, I wish you good morning," and with those words Cornelia left the store. Her cheeks were burning, the old lady's angry voice was in her ears, she felt the eyes of every one in the store upon her, and she was indignant and mortified at a meeting so inopportune. Why had Joris lied about her? Was there no other way out of his entanglement with her?

She could arrive at only one conclusion—Annie's most unexpected appearance had happened immediately after his proposal to herself. He was pressed for time, his grandparents would be especially likely to embarrass him concerning her claims, and of course the quickest and surest way to prevent questioning on the matter, was to tell them that she had refused him. And then after this explanation had been accepted and sorrowed over, there came back to her those deeper assurances, those soul assertions, which she could not either examine or define, but which she felt compelled to receive—He loves me! I feel it! It is not his fault! I must not think wrong of him.

One day at the close of October she put down her needlework with a little impatience. "I am tired of sewing, mother," she said, "and I will walk down to the Battery and get a breath of the sea. I shall not stay long."

On her way to the Battery she was thinking of Hyde, and of their frequent walks together there, and as she quite reached the house of Madame Jacobus she was aware of a glow of light and candle light from the windows. She quickened her steps, and saw a servant well known to her standing in the open door. She immediately ascended him.

"Has madame returned at last, Ameer?" she asked joyfully.

"Madame has returned home," he answered. "She is weary—she is not alone—she will not receive to-night."

The man's manner—usually so friendly—was shy and peculiar and Cornelia felt saddened and disappointed. She walked rapidly home to the thoughts which this unexpected arrival induced. They were hopeful thoughts, leaning—however she directed them—toward her absent lover. She went into her mother's presence full of renewed expectations and met her smile with one of unusual brightness.

"Madame Jacobus is at home," said Mrs. Moran, before Cornelia could speak. "She sent for your father just after you left the house, and I suppose that he is still there."

"Is she sick?" "I don't know. I fear so, for the visit is a long one."

It was near ten o'clock when Doctor Moran returned and his face was

She waved him an adieu, sombre and thoughtful—the face of a man who had been listening for hours to grave matters and who had not been able to throw off their physical reflection.

Cornelia at once asked:

"Is madame very ill?"

"She is wonderfully well. It is her husband."

"Captain Jacobus?"

"Who else? She has brought him home, and I doubt if she has done wisely."

"What has happened, John? Surely you will tell us!"

"There is nothing to conceal. I have heard the whole story—a very pitiful story—but yet like enough to end well. Madam told me that the day after her sister-in-law's burial, James Lauder, a Scotchman who had often called with Captain Jacobus, came down to Charleston to see her. He declared that having had occasion to go to Guy's hospital in London to visit a sick comrade, he saw there Captain Jacobus. He would not admit any doubt of his identity, but said the Captain had forgotten his name, and everything in connection with his past life."

"Oh, how well I can imagine madame's hurry and distress," said Cornelia.

"She hardly knew how to reach London quickly enough. But Lauder's tale proved to be true. Her first action was to take possession of the demented man, and surround him with every comfort. He appeared quite indifferent to her care, and she obtained no shadow of recognition from him. She then brought to his case all the medical skill money could procure, and in the consultation which followed the physicians decided to perform the operation of trepanning."

"But why? Had he been injured, John?"

"Very badly. The hospital books showed that he had been brought there by two sailors, who said he had been struck in a gale by a falling mast. The wound healed, but left him mentally a wreck. The physicians decided that the brain was suffering from pressure, and that trepanning would relieve, if it did not cure."

"Imagine now what a trial was before madame! It was a difficult matter to perform the operation, for the patient could not be made to understand its necessity; and he was very hard to manage. Then picture to yourselves, the terrible strain of nursing which followed; though madame says it was soon brightened and lightened by her husband's recognition of her. After that event all weariness was rest, and suffering ease, and as soon as he was able to travel both were determined to return at once to their own home. He is yet, however, a sick man, and may never quite recover a slight paralysis of the lower limbs." (To be continued.)

What Everybody Says.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Every one who uses Doan's Kidney Pills free trial has a good opinion of them. I have been suffering with severe back and kidney troubles, and I have tried every remedy without relief. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, and I feel as if I had been cured. I have been able to do my work, and I feel as if I had been cured. I have been able to do my work, and I feel as if I had been cured. I have been able to do my work, and I feel as if I had been cured.

CHICAGO, Ill.—When I received the sample of Doan's Kidney Pills I was suffering terribly with my back, was sick and unable to do anything. The several remedies I had used, though highly recommended, did me no good, but Doan's Kidney Pills made me well. Before I had used the sample I was feeling so much worse that I got more from the drug store. I could not sleep at night, and I had to get up at night, and I was almost blind. I was part blood—there was thick sand, life brick-dust sediment. I cannot tell you how good Doan's Kidney Pills are. I have used them for several years, and I feel as if I had been cured. I have been able to do my work, and I feel as if I had been cured. I have been able to do my work, and I feel as if I had been cured.

A REMNANT OF OLD NEWGATE.

Where Savage Torture Was Inflicted in Ancient Times.

The most notorious part of the whole structure—and which yet remains—the press yard. Here it was that peine forte et dure was inflicted upon prisoners charged with felony who, with the view of saving their property from confiscation, refused to plead at the bar. This dreadful punishment of being pressed to death was, however, abolished in 1772. A Major Strangways, who was indicted for murder, having refused to plead, was condemned to this savage peine forte et dure. He died in eight minutes, and many of those who witnessed the dreadful sight threw stones at him to hasten his end.

Bear Worshipers in Japan.

The queerest and perhaps the oldest people of the earth are the Ainu, the bear idolaters, who are found in the Japanese islands of Kouriles, Sakhalino and chiefly in Yezo or Honshu. They number not more than 18,000 souls in all and they are fast disappearing. They have the broad nose and the oblique eyes which characterize the Chinese and Asiatic races generally, but there the resemblance ends. The Ainu are a large and powerful people, straight as an arrow. All the Ainu declare they sprang from the Great White Dog—the bear—and a princess of the south. The bear is their chief god.

An Old Lady's Discovery.

Garnett, Ark., May 18th.—For 18 years Mrs. Mary Dunlop of this place has suffered with Kidney trouble, which was so bad at times that it made her life a burden. She tried much medicine and many treatments, but got no better.

At last, however, Mrs. Dunlop claims to have found a perfect remedy, and she is so pleased at the wonderful cure she herself has received, that she is telling all her friends and praising the medicine to everyone she meets.

The name of this medicine is Dodd's Kidney Pills, and it has done wonderful work for Mrs. Dunlop. Everybody is talking about it, and some people are claiming to have been cured of Rheumatism by it.

A Mrs. Garrett who lives in Brazil, this state, was at the point of death with some Cerebro-Spinal trouble and was saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

It is certain that no other medicine ever introduced here has done so much good in such a short time.

Had Missed Him.

When a shot was fired in the wings of an opera-house during the third act of "Carmen" on Zelle de Lussan's opening night in San Francisco a disappointed spectator, who considered Fenner's Don Jose about "the limit," remarked with a sigh of relief, "Thank God." Those about him, who shared his feelings, snickered sympathetically. But their smiles were turned to peals of laughter when Don Jose presently bobbed up serenely, and the talkative wag exclaimed tragically: "Ye gods, her aim was bad. She missed him!"

HOUSEWIVES HEADACHES

You don't know why you suffer from headache and you are apt to believe you have some dire female trouble, but its dollars to doughnuts that you are wrong. Women are prone to put off the duties of Nature to attend to the duties of the home and when they do get time to go, the feeling has passed.

Constipation results and then the awful racking headache. Take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin every night before going to bed. Keep it up for a few weeks.

every night before going to bed. Keep it up for a few weeks.

A. E. Klopff, of Troy, Ohio, miller at Hayner's Distillery, writes under date of June 10, 1901: "My wife and self suffered on and on for three or four years with Constipation and Sick Headache, and we received almost instant relief by taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The use of several bottles restored our digestive organs to normal condition, and although we are free from any gastric trouble, we do not consider being without a bottle for a minute."

Mrs. F. Wright, of Delwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overthrowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why is it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing woman's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse.

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Prahl's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

TROUBLE OF TWO ARTISTS

Why Both of Them Have Arrived in a Badly Worned Manner.

A concert company in which Mr. Seebock was the pianist, had been playing in some of the smaller towns during February, and had suffered considerable inconvenience through insufficiently heated halls. One evening, after an unusually cold experience, Seebock related an incident which had occurred on a tour some months previous. The violinist of the company had received notice of the time of departure at such a late hour that in the haste of packing he neglected to include in his wardrobe his dress trousers. The omission was not discovered until an hour before the concert. Naturally he was greatly disconcerted upon realizing that he would be forced to appear in dress coat and gray trousers. In this dilemma he called Seebock into consultation. Both men were nearly of a size and Seebock hit upon the plan of both using the same trousers, performing a "lightning change" between appearances. The plan was adopted, Seebock appearing first. As quickly as possible after reaching his dressing room he divested himself of his trousers and the violinist donned them with equal haste. The first selection of the violinist's was long, difficult and was so well received that an encore was demanded. "It was then that I fully appreciated the criminal neglect of improperly heating halls," said Seebock. "When the time for my next appearance arrived and with it my trousers I was in a half-frozen condition. Some consolation, however, was to be derived from the thought that the violinist was shivering in the dressing room during my number, which also received an encore. But on the whole it was a wretched evening. Eight times we alternately wore and went without those trousers. If the audience had known the cost of that performance in physical discomfort to at least two of the performers I believe it would have been even more appreciative than it was, though I could have well dispersed with several of the encores accorded the violinist."

TIRED OF THE MONOTONY.

Why George Grossmith's Butler Was Leaving His Service.

Many and various and weird are the reasons given by servants for wanting a change of place. Here is a tale told by George Grossmith, which adds a rare and wondrous instance to the long and eccentric list:

His butler, who had been with him for nearly twenty years, went to him one day and said:

"If you please, sir, I want to leave."

Mr. Grossmith was sorry, and asked the man his reason.

"I would rather not say, sir," was the mysterious reply.

This was uncomfortable, and Mr. Grossmith pressed the question again. "Come," he said, "you have been with me for so long and have never complained before. Surely I have almost a right to know why you wish to leave. Your secrecy is unpleasant, and I must really beg of you to tell me your reason for leaving my service."

The butler thought a moment and then said:

"Well, sir, as you insist, I must tell you. But I don't want to. (A pause.) The fact is, sir, I've been with you for close upon twenty years, and I'm tired of the sight of you and all your family!"

Success of the Solemn Ass.

Look about you, gentle reader, and consider the solemn ass in every walk of life. Who so respected, so admired, so influential? He never takes sides. He never is partisan. He goes along with knitted brows, his thoughts too deep for utterance. Smaller men may abandon themselves to hasty inclinations, to rash preferences, to robust views. He never does. If he speaks at all it is with such profundity and circumlocution and complexity that the most recondite cryptogram ever reared from a pyramid would seem to burst of innocent and childish candor in comparison. Yet he wears fine raiment every day. He enjoys the respect and confidence of the community. He prospers. The oil of opulence anoints him. He is the incarnation of success!—Washington Post.

The Little Weak Child.

My little son, my little son,
In heaven canst thou rest?
And which of all his children does
The High God love the best?

Thou art too weak to stand all day
And glorify his name;
Ah, pray him let thee stray awhile
And play some foolish game.

Thou art too young to know him great,
So whisper to him this:
Thou art just big enough, sometimes,
To hold and fold and kiss.
—Anita Fitch in Century.

Cutting it Short.

"How would you like your hair cut, sir?" asked the barber, "with the scissors or clippers?"
"Both," replied the victim. "Use the scissors on my hair and the clippers on your conversation."

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down, and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—Bess F. Healy.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Relish for food and the ability to digest food seems to be lost.

Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, biliousness, coated tongue, fitful, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

KNOW WHEN TO QUIT.

Judge Promptly Saw the Point in Politician's Advice.

One of the most hospitable citizens of Sioux Falls was Judge Fuller of the Supreme Court. He was introduced to the president's attention with the following incident of his career:

The judges made a strong campaign to get the legislature to raise their salaries. The bill met with great opposition. Judge Fuller, who had no small political influence, went up to Pierre to see about it. He was met by one of the leaders of the party.

"How about this thing?" said the judge.

"Judge," said the other politician, gravely, "you better drop this salary business. I tell you as a friend. You don't want it to go through. It is not in your interest."

"Why ain't it?"

"Don't you see, judge," explained the politician, "that if we put the salaries of the judges up to the figure you want, the people will turn around and elect real lawyers to the bench."

The point of the story is that the judge dropped the amendment at once.—New York Sun.

Her Equanimity Disturbed.

On one occasion Mrs. Patrick Campbell was playing in "The Trumpet Call" at a London theater. In the middle of a strenuous scene the audience was horrified to see that the skirt of her dress had "come undone." It slipped until it had almost reached her knees before Mrs. Campbell noticed it. Then she grabbed and pulled back the garment, at the same time fairly hypnotizing the spectators with her blazing black eyes. The act was concluded somewhat hurriedly and the orchestra was instructed to play fortissimo in order to drown the remarks Mrs. Campbell was addressing to her maid.

The Young Critics' Idea.

Friends of E. J. Conze, the artist, are laughing over a remark made by some seminary girls who attended an exhibition where his picture, "The Peace Pipe," took the Hallgarten prize. "I like that Conze canvas better than anything I've looked at," said one, "and I want mamma to come and see it." "Which one was that?" her friend inquired. "Oh! That Peace-Pipe Dream," was the reply.

The WCTU held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Durfee last Friday. Aside from the regular program we listened to a report of the district meeting held at Mason which was largely attended and very cordially welcomed by the people and different societies of the place. There was held a Gold Medal contest the parts of which were taken by five young men and two young ladies.

The following officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. Dora Bliss, Lansing; Cor. Secy. Mrs. Lina Knapp, Oxford; Rec. Secy., Miss Lucy Hayes, Highland, Treas., Mrs. V. J. Roberts, Whitelake.

The following is an extract from a reading by Miss Coe:

"Liquor papers are warmly commending the bartenders' total abstinence society. They tell us on business principles a bartender should have a clear brain and a steady hand. It is stated that fully one-third of the bartenders and saloon owners of Chicago are abstainers. In many of the larger saloons the proprietor will not employ a man who drinks."

Why then, try to force it upon the boys who go to fight for their country, in the form of a canteen?

The Wastes of The Body

Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size loses two pounds of wornout tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion. When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives away, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by all Druggists.

Three Days on the Great Northern "Flyer."

By WILL DUNBAR.

As many of the readers of the DISPATCH have been to St. Paul, I will only give a description of the trip from there to the Pacific coast.

The Gt. Northern "Flyer" is made up of a locomotive the advanced type, a combination of 3,650 pieces, weighing 138,000 lbs. and with the tender weight 224,000 lbs; a postal car, baggage and express car, smoker, two day coaches, tourist sleeper, dining car, buffet smoker and library car, with bath room, barber, and daily and weekly papers, and last, the palace sleepers.

The train is lighted by the new acetelence gas system. The combined length of the flyer stretches out a distance of 1015 feet. The longest regular passenger train in the world.

St. Paul is a beautiful city, located on a series of terraces, over-looking the Mississippi river at the head of navigation.

The city covers 55 sq. miles, has 800 miles of streets and 21 parks.

At 10.30 a. m. Wednesday Apr. 12, we start on our long journey to the coast. Leaving St Paul, the train passes through a narrow ravine, under bridges through, freight yards and soon we came in sight of the State fair grounds, Giant elevators, State experiment station and Minn. University, cross the Mississippi again at Minneapolis on a stone arch bridge built a short time ago at a cost of $1,000,000. Here we see the falls of St. Anthony, and the largest flaring mills in the world.

After two hours ride through a prosperous farming country dotted with lakes, we arrive at St. Cloud—this is the site of the state Normal and Reform school.

From St. Cloud the train runs through the lake park region of Minn. Nearly every farm house is near the shore of a beautiful lake. Minnesota looks very much like Michigan only the land is black and the country very level. Another hours ride brings us to the Red river of the North at Fergus Falls, a county seat.

and attractive city. After passing several little hamlets arrived at Barnesville, where we change engines and start due north on the west branch of the Red River. Mooshead is the last village in Minn.

A short distance from the boundary line we cross the Red River on a new steel draw-bridge entering Fargo. For over seventy miles the track runs due north through the Red river valley. Here get a good idea of the prairies. You can look for miles in any direction and the country all looks the same. Here and there you will see a farm house with a hedge of trees surrounding it. After riding for two hours over level prairie we reach Grand Forks, second city in North Dak.

It is now dark so we will see little more till next morning. At Larimore 350 miles from St. Paul we retire for the night.

At 5:30 Thursday morning we piled out of our berths and learn that we are nearing Williston. A short distance west of here we go through an Indian Reservation, known as Fort Buford. Here the train stops at the junction of the Big Muddy and Yellowstone rivers.

For miles we go along the valley of the Missouri. Here the country looks rough; the ground is very dry and covered with sage brush and buffalo grass.

All through Montana you will see large herds of sheep, several thousand in a herd, wandering around with no seeming ownership.

Now the train runs due north and for 180 miles runs along the valley of the Milk river. At 1:30 p. m. we reach Glasgow, division headquarters of the Great Northern Ry. Here we see more Indians and the country and people make you think that you are now in the "Wild West." To the north and south are the foot-hills, a reminder that the mighty Rockies are not far ahead.

In our next letter we will give the rest, from Glasgow to Seattle, Wash.

A Little Early Riser
now and then, at bed time will cure constipation, Biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's little Early Risers are the famous little pills that cure by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach and liver that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely, and if the use is continued for a few days, there will be no return of the complaint. Sold by all druggists.

Serpent Worship in India.
Serpent worship, once very widely diffused, survives in India. Sometimes when Hindoos find a cobra in some crevice in the wall of their house it will often be revered, fed and propitiated, and if fear or the death of some one bitten by it induces them to remove it they will handle it tenderly and let it loose in some field. When Hindoos are bitten, they have far more confidence in their magic spell or "muntra" than in any medicine, even if they do not scruple to make use of medical aid.

A Weak Stomach

Indigestion is often caused by over-eating. An eminent authority says the harm done thus exceeds that from the excessive use of alcohol. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. A weak stomach may refuse to digest what you eat. Then you need a good digestant like Kodol, which digests your food without the stomach's aid. This rest and the wholesome tonic Kodol contains soon restore health. Dieting unnecessary. Kodol quickly relieves the feeling of fullness and bloating from which some people suffer after meals. Absolutely cures indigestion.

Kodol Nature's Tonic.
Prepared only by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The 5¢ bottle contains 2½ times the dose.

THE FORD'S
BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original The Ford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 26, 1894.
I cannot recommend The Ford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other medicine. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

A Startling Test
To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of Meadway, Pa., made a startling test writing in a wonderful cure. He writes "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by irritation of the stomach. I had then found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribe them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and kidney troubles. Try them. Only do at Sigler's drug store.

Worked a Problem While Asleep.
An Amsterdam banker once requested a professor of mathematics to work out a very intricate and puzzling problem for him. The professor, thinking the matter good exercise for the intellectual faculties of his pupils, mentioned it to them and requested them to work out the enigma. One of the students, who had pondered deeply over the intricate subject during the day, retired to bed. Some time afterward he awoke, dressed, and, seating himself at his desk, worked out the problem accurately, covering sheets of paper with his calculations. He had no recollection in the morning of having done so.

Western Cities Lively.

The eastern visitor finds the cities of the northwestern coast brimful of life, color, significance, picturesque interest and, though the forces which have combined in their making are somewhat similar, each has a distinct character and individuality. "Lively," a word of the west, may well be applied to them—a sort of brisk activity, youthfulness, ozone. They have the rather unusual capacity of doing big things and talking about them lustily at the same time. It is the cry of the street corners: "Just watch us grow. See us getting to the front."—Ray Stannard Baker in Century.

Flat Life.

In such a dwelling as the average "flat" of the north and west the privacy of home is reduced to a minimum. The footsteps of the tenants, the rolling of their perambulators, the cries of their children, the varied odors of their breakfasts, lunches and dinners, are omnipresent and not to be banished even by mental science. If they are musically inclined, the others must listen to their counter performances. Some cheerful writer said, "While a man can sing he can work," but the trouble often is that while he is singing other people are unable to work. Such forced participation in the lives of others is irritating and upsetting to the nerves, and though we may be willing to weep with those who weep and rejoice with those who rejoice we would prefer to have some choice in the matter.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

In almost every neighborhood someone has died from an attack of cholera or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. The Introduction of Forks.
Forks are articles of such common household necessity to us that we hardly realize that there was a time, and not so long ago either, when forks were entirely unknown. A knife was used at the table to cut up food, but the food so cut was afterward conveyed by the fingers to the mouth. Rich and poor alike were accustomed to this method and so thought it perfectly correct. It was about the year 1600 and in the reign of James I. when forks were first introduced into England. This "piece of refinement" we are told, was derived from the Italians.

GREATLY ALARMED

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Mr. H. P. Burbage, a student at law, in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough which he says, greatly alarmed me, to fear that I was in the first stage of Consumption. Mr. Burbage having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it. Now read what he says of it; I soon found a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the twenty-five cent size, was permanently cured. Sold by F. A. Sigler.

CAUTION.
This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

KIDNEY DISEASES

—Kidney diseases are serious. Oftentimes other organs in the body are affected because the kidneys are not performing the proper functions, and the pity of it is that few remedies prove satisfactory. It is well for you to know of a medicine which does give satisfaction in every case.

Dr. McCausland's Gravelweed never fails.

—Rather a broad statement, but true. The wonderful effect of the soothing, aseptic herbs from which Gravelweed is prepared were first known to the Indians, from whom Dr. McCausland acquired the formula many years ago. The Dr. used it in his practice with marvellous success. Since his death it is put up in convenient form on the market for the benefit of sick people. Gravelweed is good for any disease you could expect a kidney medicine to be good for. Few people are so sick with any disease of the kidneys or bladder which this medicine will not cure; none that it will not help. Do not be discouraged. There certainly is help for you. You are not doing your duty toward yourself until you at least give Gravelweed a trial. Price $1.00.

The Genuine has the signature of Dr. J. McCausland in red ink across the wrapper. Made only by

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidner, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Dr. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitallized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

THE MICHIGAN NEWS

What is Doing in All Sections of the State

STATE APPROPRIATIONS.

The Work of the Ways and Means Committee.

The house ways and means committee practically finished its work when the St. Louis fair bill was reported at $50,000, and Chairman Neal issued the following statement:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes 'Amount reported out by ways and means', 'General budget bill', 'University mill tax', 'Agricultural college mill tax', 'Military fund', 'Naval brigade', 'Less amount not passed by the legislature', and 'Total appropriations'.

In the $4,340,645 allowed by the committee on ways and means the committee cut off exactly $200,000. All of the appropriations passed by the committee, except $207,000, was for educational and charitable purposes.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes 'Addition to capitol', 'Soldiers' and sailors' monument', and 'Executive mansion'.

Chairman Neal said it is not likely that any of these latter bills will be reported out, but the bill for a $325,000 binder twine factory at Jackson prison is still to come from the special committee.

Thus far the amount appropriated is $150,000 more than the session of two years ago allowed. The amounts given do not include the regular amounts allowed for the dairy and food department, the state dairymen's association, state library, board of health and weather service, amounting to about $65,000 more.

Brought Back for Trial.

The sheriff has brought back to Flint from southern Ohio Leonard Denlingberg, the Saginaw ex-bartender who stabbed and came near fatally wounding Fred Parkhurst in a saloon row in Flint seven weeks ago.

Missie Griffen's Death.

The body of Missie Griffen, the 17-year-old daughter of Michael Griffen, of Port Huron, who died last week, was disinterred Saturday, and a post-mortem examination had which disclosed unmistakable evidence of treatment of a criminal character and that death had resulted from blood poisoning.

Five Passed Examination.

The commandant of the naval academy at Annapolis has announced that H. H. Levine, A. A. Corwin, C. R. Murphy, C. A. Chapman and B. H. Bruce, candidates for admission to the academy from Michigan, have passed the mental examination held by the representative of the civil service commission on April 21.

Due to Alcoholism.

The case against A. B. Troxel, of White Pigeon, who was held accountable for the death of Whiting B. Street, was dismissed. The coroner's jury decided that Street's death was due to alcoholism and heart failure and not to the blows given by Troxel.

New Furnace in Blast.

The fine new "Pioneer" charcoal furnace of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., built during the past two years at North Marquette, is now blowing for the first time, and is working very satisfactorily.

Was Tired of Life.

Asa H. Heath, of the Old People's home, in South Haven, committed suicide Saturday by drowning himself in a barrel of water. He was a cripple, having both legs cut off below the knees. He wore leather on the stumps, moving by use of crutches.

AMONG THE STATE.

The increase in Battle Creek's population has made it necessary to have a larger police force.

Bernard Fingleton and Mrs. Jennie Flood, charged with the murder of John London on a farm in Ada township, were Saturday held to the Grand Rapids Circuit Court for trial.

The $10,000 suit of Susan Albach, of Vernon, administratrix of the estate of her son, Henry, who was killed while on duty as a brakeman, against the Ann Arbor road, has been settled out of court.

The first car on the Jackson & Battle Creek Traction Co., railroad was run from Albion to Battle Creek Saturday afternoon, and commencing this week, cars will run on scheduled time between these two points.

Fire Thursday night destroyed the lumber sheds of Dewing & Sons, Kalamazoo, with a loss of $5,000. Piles and loads of lumber worth $30,000 in all, were about the sheds, but were saved by the hard work of the firemen.

Brooks Ramsden, who has been employed in the Coldwater cigar box factory for nearly 21 years, met with his first accident Monday. A small trip saw which he was operating cut off the third and fourth fingers of his left hand.

When Mrs. Carl Blume, of Ionia, who weighs 200 pounds, stepped out on a platform at the rear of her rooms in the second story of the Liverton block, the boards gave way and she fell 16 feet. She was seriously injured.

The aldermanic representatives of Bay City and West Bay City have reached an amicable arrangement as to consolidation, a city charter has been approved and a committee sent to Lansing to have it given legislative approval.

Albert Kewayosh, a full-blooded Chippewa Indian from the Sarnia reservation, has rented a farm near Alpena and will pick and buy berries during the summer. He will take a course in medicine at the U. of M. when he has secured the funds.

Harry Williams, a 12-year-old boy of Hastings, was sent into the country to work because his mother could do nothing with him. He positively refused to labor, saying that his father had hung himself to get out of work and he would do the same thing.

Leonard Roth, who was shot through the foot during the shooting at Amelth, in which Mrs. Hodge was killed, has been brought to a Bay City hospital. He is suffering with erysipelas in the wounded foot and is in a precarious condition.

A 12-year-old girl named Waterfall was held up by tramps at 9 o'clock last night in a thickly settled part of the city and a pocketbook was torn from her hand. After taking out a $5 gold piece, the tramps threw the purse back to the girl and walked off before she had recovered from her surprise.

Eugene A. Wallin, who died in New Boston, Va., Thursday, was formerly publisher of the Davison Index, and left for the south about a year ago. He was about 55 years of age and is survived by his widow and three children. He was a soldier of the civil war and a member of the order of Elks.

More than 100 people were exposed to smallpox in St. Joseph, Monday. The residence of George De Voe caught fire, and many people rushed in to put out the blaze and save the contents. Few of them remembered that there was a case of smallpox in the house and that even the front yard was under quarantine.

Friday morning fire destroyed a considerable portion of the Pere Marquette railway trestle crossing the marsh at the head of Muskegon lake. The bridge is down for several hundred feet, and mails to the Pentwater and Big Rapids branch will be delayed a day or so. The work of rebuilding the burned section began at once.

Charles McClellan, of Grand Rapids, a director of the McClellan banks in Auburn and Kalamazoo, and, it is alleged, a heavy borrower from the bank funds for use in his business enterprises, has made a proposition to pay his share of the creditors' claims. The liabilities of the two banks are thought to be $121,000, and the assets $58,000.

John Hendrickson, a teamster in the employ of the Columbian Transfer Co., of Grand Rapids, was instantly killed Saturday while driving into the company's barn on top of a load of hay. While entering the barn the horses started suddenly and the man's head came in contact with a sharp iron beam. The top of his head was cut completely off.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

After debating the matter four hours the senate on Tuesday passed the Baird primary election bill, with one or two minor amendments, by a vote of 27 to 5. This is the same bill which Rep. Galbraith offered in the house and which was voted down by 79 to 13. It provides only for the direct nomination of city, village and township tickets. Simons demanded the yeas and nays on his amendment to include candidates for governor. Fuller paid no attention to the demand, but called a show of hands, and the Simons amendment was not considered.

The senate, by a vote of 17 to 2, passed the Sanderson bill, providing for a trip of the governor and staff, the president or president pro tem, of the senate, the speaker of the house and eleven members of the legislature, to Andersonville, Ga., to dedicate the monument which is to be erected to commemorate the death of 700 Michigan soldiers in Andersonville prison during the civil war.

The senate committee of the whole considered the Adams liquor bill, permitting the making of wine in prohibition counties, this afternoon. Senator Bangham, on behalf of the men interested in the grape juice factories in Van Buren county, the locality this measure affects, offered an amendment providing that companies may manufacture wine in local option counties, but prohibiting them from selling within such counties.

After a stubborn fight by Rep. Hunt, which consumed a good part of the afternoon, to provide for the appointment of an osteopath as a member on the state medical board, the house passed the Nottingham bill practically as reported out by the health committee. Hunt finally withdrew his amendment to substitute an osteopath for one of the two eclectic members.

Representatives Galbraith, Herkimer and Higgins were the only members of the house who voted to concur in the senate's substitute for the primary election bill. The substitute was rejected by a vote of 82 to 3. On Rep. Colby's motion, the speaker was authorized to appoint a conference committee of three. Speaker Carton immediately named Colby, of Wayne, chairman of the conference committee, and Rep. Wade, of Allegan; H. E. Powell, of Ionia, were named as the other members.

Two hours of the time of the house were consumed in the killing of Rep. Shea's boiler inspection bill. The measure proposed the appropriation of $15,000 a year for inspection, to be carried on under the direction of the labor commissioner. A chief inspector was provided for at $1,500 a year, and deputies at $1,200 each.

The committees of the house and senate having in charge the matter of harmonizing the two branches on a primary election bill are Representatives Colby, Wade and H. L. Powell; Senators Baird, Smith and Jones. The house members are all strong for primary elections covering nominations from governor down and senate members are equally as strong against it.

The house ways and means committee has reported out the St. Louis World's Fair appropriation bill. The figure recommended is $50,000. The bill, when it passed the senate, provided for $125,000. An attempt will be made to increase the figure on the floor of the house.

At the meeting of the Wisconsin Farmers' club, the following resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote: Resolved: That the chief of the farmers' standpoint is a hopeful one, but we believe that the outlook will be more hopeful when he is in a position to demand and enforce or secure legislation. And we believe that he will never be as long as he is tied to party. We believe that a direct primary election law is a step toward his emancipation from his present degrading political servitude.

Three masked men entered the home of Laurence Gregory, five miles from Monroe, Michigan, broke in a door by battering it with a fall, bound and robbed him of $36 in cash, a certificate of deposit for $21, and a check for $339.50. The latter check was given by the Detroit, Monroe & Toledo Shore line for right of way. Gregory is a bachelor, aged 60, and lived alone. His hands are badly roped burnt. He was hit with a dull instrument on the head and left for dead. In the struggle his right side was badly injured. There is no clue, but the work is said to have been done by parties familiar with the house.

As a result of a drunken fight, Whiting B. Street, of Holyoke, Mass., died in White Pigeon, of injuries inflicted by A. B. Troxel, one of the men engaged in boring for oil on the Geo. King farm. Street had been visiting all winter with Constable O'Dowd; Monday evening an altercation arose between him and Troxel while both were under the influence of liquor. Street's injuries did not seem serious, but he died last night under anesthetic while the physicians were repairing a broken knee-cap. Troxel was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Gregory, and will have his examination Saturday.

The visit of Lord Minto, governor-general of Canada, and Lady Minto in Detroit on Wednesday, though short was a grand spectacle. The escort was composed of the old fighting First Regiment, U. S. A., just returned from the Philippines; seven companies of the First Infantry, M. N. G., and two divisions of the Naval Reserve. A reception was given the distinguished guests at the Russell House followed by a lunch. The welcome on American soil extended the governor-general was a most pleasing event to him and he expressed his thanks for it in a brief address.

Mrs. Geo. Smith, of Watervliet, testified in court Tuesday against her husband, who was charged with attempting to murder her with a hatchet on April 11 last. Not till the sight of her bloody garments, which were brought into the court room, stirred her to action, would she consent to go on the stand and testify as she did, that he had threatened her life.

A Kiss by Proxy

"Jerry's good is a mean old thing not to let me go riding. Auntie said I could, but Jerry helped her to get into the 'mobile,' and said, 'Some other day, girly, you can go; the 'mobile' is too small to-day!' Such a story! It's just like it always is. Auntie Nell only laughed, and got all pink. O, dear! I wish they'd get runned away with, I do!"

And that followed tear down Detta's chubby cheeks.

Meanwhile Jerry and Nell were spinning along the beautiful Maine coast. Their journey was ended at the famous lighthouse, where the keeper's wife provided a delicious lunch and plunged Nell into an enjoyable confusion by asking, "Will your husband like any more milk, marm?"

Afterward they wandered over the rocks, picking the few wild flowers that grew in the crevices, and threw rocks into the whistling well, while watching the waves go by, as well as doing other delightful things that happy couples are wont to do.

As they started for home, Nell flashed a mischievous look at the young man.

"Weren't you mean not to let Detta come with us?"

"I suppose so," said Jerry, "but if you knew how I've tried to get you to myself for a moment, to tell you something, I've wanted to for a long time—can't you guess why I left her behind?"

"You have known me exactly five weeks," put in Nell, saucily.

"Don't joke, Nell. Can't you see I am in dead earnest and I—"

There was a loud crack, a whiff of steam and the auto came to an abrupt standstill.

"What under the canopy is the matter with the thing?" was Jerry's query, as he wildly pulled at the lever, which refused to budge.

Then suddenly the machine gave a jerk and a twist of its own volition.

"Hang on!" roared Jerry, as it started forward at full speed. "Don't jump unless I tell you."

Nell bravely set her teeth, resolved not to scream, though wild with fear. All the tales of autos running wild fled through her mind as the speed increased.

"We are in for it, Nell, unless I can steer it straight. To think I've brought you into this," groaned Jerry.

"Jerry! Look—the bridge!" and Nell clutched his arm tightly at sight of a primitive-looking structure with a single rail on either side. "I'd just—as soon—blow—up, Jerry—but I don't want to—drown."

The next minute they tore across

"tall," it said, and then there was the sound of bitter sobs.

Slowly Nell opened her eyes.

"What's the matter Ducky?" she asked faintly.

"O!" with a soft squeal of delight, "you isn't dead, and I ain't a murderous. Jane said I was a murderous; 'cause I wished the 'mobile would run with, I do!"

Detta climbed gently onto the bed, away, an' it did, but I didn't mean it, really, Auntie Nell," and Detta snuggled her little face close to the white one on the pillow, "Jerry got hurted, but not so bad as you. He only broke his leg, an' it's in a white stone thing."

"There, there, you must not talk any more," said the nurse; "let auntie go to sleep again."

Nell looked up in surprise.

"A nurse? Have I been ill? Jerry—is Jerry hurt?"

"The auto ran away; don't you remember?" asked the nurse gently.

"Mr. Haggood only fractured his leg and you are both getting along nicely now."

"O, that dreadful ride. I remember," answered Nell, with a shudder.

"Where am I, and where is Jerry?" with a slight tinge of color in the pale face.

"They brought you both into this old farmhouse, and Mr. Haggood is just at the end of the hall."

The days passed slowly to Jerry, in spite of the fact that he was under the same roof as his divinity. He was weighted down with the thought that he had almost killed the girl that he loved.

"She will never care for me now," he said to himself twenty times a day.

A severe strain of the ligaments in conjunction with the broken limb and his mental worry, caused a high fever and intense nervousness. Nell overheard their respective nurses discussing the case one day.

"I don't like the way my patient's ankle is coming on. Doctor seems to think it will come out all right, but I don't know. I've seen some pretty bad cases, but nothing like this. It's as black as ever, and it's time that the swelling went down."

Then Nell heard whispers of "gangrene," "familiar case," and "he doesn't take enough nourishment, either. I believe he is fretting about her."

The blood throbbed in Nell's temples. Was it possible that Jerry was in danger? Nurse had said he was fretting about her; suppose she were to send him a comforting message?

The color flamed over throat and brow at the thought. She knew he loved her. Would it be unmanly to let him know that she, too, cared?

She thought a moment, then her eyes danced mischievously.

"Detta! Come here!" she called to the child, who was playing with her doll on the floor. "Do you want to have a secret with Auntie Nell?"

"The never-tell kind?" said the child, crossing two little fingers under her chin.

"Yes, dear."

Detta listened intently as Nell whis-

the rickety bridge in safety, only to see loom before them an ominous curve, with a stone wall guarding a small farm. There was a crash, and next instant two figures were flying through the air.

A week later Nell awoke at the faraway sound of a little voice. "Auntie, say, say, Auntie, won't speak to me pered in her ear. Then she ran swiftly down the hall to Jerry's room.

She peeked cautiously in at the door. The nurse was out. Detta climbed gently onto the bed and close to Jerry's ear, she said:

"Auntie Nell said I was to call you Uncle Jerry, and she sends you this, 'This' was a most little kiss."

Whether a kiss imprinted on one's cheeks by proxy will cure a broken limb I am not prepared to say; but certain it is that Jerry's swollen ankle began to mend from that hour, and Detta told Aunt Nell that his nurse declared there was a "wonderful change for the better."—Orro Cushing Nelson in Boston Globe.

INVITATIONS TO THE WEDDING

Woes of the Man Who Gets One and What It Costs.

A wedding invitation is practically an admission ticket, costing $20, to the church service; reception at the house afterward, extra; cards to the at home, more extra.

When a man gets an invitation nowadays he feels as he does when he has been served with a subpoena. He sputters about the idiosyncrasy of marriage in general, and wonders why in thunder, or somewhere else where thunder is unknown, those little fools didn't just stand up and get married and get it over with. Then when he calms down he is inveigled into making an appointment with his wife at some jeweler's. There he is met with a bewildering array of silver trowels, meat saws and miniature pitchforks, which his learned wife explains to him are fish knives, lettuce servers and berry forks, respectively.

Then, as his eyes wander about the store, he spies a golden ball, perforated with fancy holes, and he ventures the facetious remark to his wife that they might take time by the forelock and send that baby's rattle. Which is met by the chilling rejoinder that "that" is a tea ball, and it is just the very thing. And so the man hands over the necessary and his wife directs where the golden tea ball shall be sent.

The feelings of a strong, healthy man being required to attach his card to a dinky tea ball and send it to a young couple as a mark of his good wishes fall either of expression or description.—Insurance Press.

WANTED HIM TO REMEMBER.

Ungracious Treatment Accorded Would-be Philanthropist.

An official visitor to an asylum was surprised in the course of his inspection to find among the inmates a gentleman who complained that he was unlawfully confined by his relatives, who wanted his money. The official took him aside and heard him lay his case lucidly and sensibly before him.

The man seemed to be so remarkably clear-headed that the commissioner made notes of the case and promised that he should not be long detained. He spent some hours in making an inspection of the institution, after which he again saw the unfortunate gentleman and expressed the deepest sympathy with him, confined there sane among the mad.

"But do not fear," he added; "your case will be gone into at once, and your discharge will be speedy. There is no doubt about your sanity."

"Thank you! A thousand times thank you!" said the gentleman. "You will never regret the trouble you are taking."

They walked to the gate together, chatting as they went, and shook hands cordially at parting. The commissioner was passing through the gate when he was violently kicked from behind and prostrated in the mud. He rose with difficulty, and supporting himself by the gate, gasped:

"What—what was that for?"

"That," said the gentleman, now grinning through the bars, "that's lest you forget!"

A Royal Heart.

Ragged, uncouth and old and gray. A woman walked in a Northern town. And through the crowd as she wound her way

One saw her loiter and then stoop down. Putting something away in her old torn gown.

"You are hiding a jewel," the watcher said. (Ah, that was her heart—had the truth been read.)

"What have you stolen?" he asked again. Then the dim eyes filled with a sudden pain.

And under the flickering light of the gas she showed him her gleaming. "It's broken glass," she said, "I have lifted it up frae the street."

To be out o' the road o' the bairnies' feet!"

Under the fluttering rags astray That was a royal heart that beat! Would that the world had more like her, Smoothing the road for its bairnies' feet!

Correction.

"But you must admit," said the masculine end of the controversy, "that woman is the weaker vessel."

"I'll admit nothing of the sort," rejoined the contrary female. "The mere fact that she seldom has to be bailed out is proof to the contrary."

NEWS OF THE WORLD

Brief Chronicle of Matters of Importance

America Through German Eyes.

Baron von Polens, kaiser's deputy, who traveled through the United States to make a study of the country, has submitted an interesting report. He says:

"The more I saw of America the less I sympathize with our German kinsmen, but I do hope that the United States may some day be forced to fight for her very life. The victory over decrepit old Spain was far too easily won."

"Unless I am very mistaken about the temper, the ambitions and the political destiny of the Americans, their admirable talent for assimilation and for attracting other peoples and countries will result in the annexation of Canada, Mexico and all the neighboring island world. Already they have achieved commercial and industrial supremacy in Mexico. It seems to be the mission of the United States to create an empire radically different from any Europe ever produced."

"The American easily forgives and forgets, the after-history of every war the United States ever engaged in proves that abundantly. To my mind, the ways of the American courts are far from ideal, but I make haste to add that their mode of inflicting punishment is most humane."

"American young men are singularly well bred for the obvious reason that they are brought up with the girls and under the influence of women of refinement, education and energy. German young men ill-compare with their American brethren. How could they, seeing that they receive their social education at the beer table?"

A Panic Predicted.

Dr. Herbert J. Davenport, of the economics department of the University of Chicago, in his class in economic history, made the statement that within five years the United States would see another panic. He bases this statement on the fact that wages are rising, causing a lessening of profits, which in its turn causes a slump in stocks, and on the fact that in the last century panics have occurred periodically; one every ten years on an average. He said:

"Panics have been occurring at intervals of about ten years during the nineteenth century. It is to allow ourselves to be misled by our hopes to suppose that no more panics are to come. In recent years they have visited this country in 1857, 1866, 1873, 1884 and 1893. We are due for another now. The squeeze of last fall in the stock market may postpone for a year or two the time that a panic might have otherwise occurred. This movement, if successful, will have a bearing on the case in that it will tend to lower profits and to squeeze some water out of stock valuations."

CONDENSED NEWS.

The battleship Iowa is now totally disabled at Pensacola, Fla., having burst a steam pipe which tore away the steering gear.

Because he weighed but 15 pounds, Joseph Bernstein, aged 7, will be deported to Prussia as a cripple, though strong physically and mentally.

A pre-historic man has been unearthed at Bonesteel, S. D. He was found 50 feet below the surface by laborers digging an artesian well.

Back wages amounting to about $300,000, are being paid employees of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. at Wilkesbarre, Pa., in accordance with the strike commission award.

Postmaster General Payne announced that there would be no more establishments of rural free delivery postal service until July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Awful Crucifixion.

Dr. Doroschewski, the head physician of the National hospital at Kishinev, has given the following specific instance of hideous cruelties of the Russians in their massacre of the Jews:

"A Jewess named Sura Fonarschl was brought here with two nails, seven inches long, driven into her brain through her nose."

"One Jew was brought in with one hip, both ankles and wrists broken, his severed hands and feet dangling by the skin."

"A Jew named Charifon had lost his upper and under lips, which had been cut away with a kitchen knife, after which his tongue and windpipe had been pulled out through his mouth with pliers."

"The ears of a Jew named Selsler had been cut away and his head battered in 12 places. He was a raving maniac."

"A carpenter was surprised at work and both of his hands were sawed off with his own saw."

"A Jewish girl was assaulted by several brutes, who then cut her eyes out with a pocketknife."

"One woman, after trying to defend her children was thrown upon the pavement, disemboweled, and feathers and horsehair from her bed were stuffed into her body."

"Small children were flung out of windows and trampled upon by the mob."

"Forty-seven were killed on the spot, 80 died of their injuries and 300 are under treatment. Many will be crippled for life."

Four thousand Jews are without food or shelter and it is impossible for them to get away."

Horror of the Kishinev Massacre.

Additional details of the Kishinev massacre of Jews give the number of victims thus far buried in the Jewish cemetery at 44 and say that 84 persons seriously wounded are still in the Jewish hospital. The horrors reported scarcely bear repetition. In one instance spikes were driven through a woman's head into the floor and cases of bodily mutilation have been authenticated. About 800 to 1,000 persons were arrested, an energetic official having been sent from Odessa to deal with the situation. The apathy of the local authorities during the two days of rapine and murder appears to have been fully established.

A Severe Libel Law.

Gov. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, has approved the newspaper libel bill, and at the same time issued a long statement giving reasons for his action. The bill is aimed to suppress the caricature and cartoon which touch the susceptibilities of the politicians and others, and is so far-reaching that any misstatement, whether intentional or by negligence, is punishable by severe penalties. It was notoriously the work of Boss Quay, and intimated primarily, it is said, to throttle opposition newspapers.

Only a Hoax.

After three days of careful investigation the New York police announce that the attempted "dynamite" outrage, whereby the Mafia sought to destroy the Cunard liner Umbria, by leaving a box containing an "infernal machine" on the pier, just before the Umbria was about to sail, was all a hoax. The Mafia had nothing to do with it, and the so-called explosives, say the police, were entirely harmless.

The Federal Salt Co., recently declared a monopoly by the United States Court at San Francisco, has been fined $1,000,000 under the Sherman anti-trust law.

"Perfection" in Flour.

Desiring to make the "Best Possible" in the flour line we have just been to a large expense to get the mill in shape to properly handle spring wheat and are now blending the best spring wheat with sound winter wheat which gives us a flour that is very superior in bread making qualities as well as pastry work.

Wheat blended in the right proportion will give better results than clear spring wheat flour. It has always been our aim to produce the highest and best in the line of flour, and as the best winter wheat is a little deficient in strength this year, we have thus gotten the mill in shape to properly handle the blended wheat which will give better results in bread making than clear spring wheat flour; also better than clear winter wheat will make this year.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Livingston.

At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate Office in the Village of Howell, on Monday the 18th day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and three.

Present, Eugene A. Stowe Judge of Probate, in the Matter of the Estate of CATHARINE MORAN, Deceased.

Now comes Geo. W. Teeple, Executor of the estate of said deceased and represents to this court that he is ready to render his final account in said estate.

Thereupon it is ordered that Friday, the 12th day of June next, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at said Probate Office, be assigned for the hearing of said account.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in the PINCKNEY DISPATCH, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

11 t 23 EDWARD L. STOWE, J. of Probate.
