To Our Patrons.

After considerable correspondence, we have been able to make arrangements with the publishers of the Farm Journal so that we are able to furnish that valuable monthly magazine to our subscribers at the price of the DISPATCH alone. We have arranged to pay for 100 subscriptions only and those who desire the magazine will have to be on the alert to avail themselves of the offer.

The offer is only to new subscribers and all who PAY UP and ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE. Now if you wish to get the most for your money possible, in fact get something for nothing, PAY UP. Remember the Farm Journal will be sent five years and the DISPATCH one year for $1.00 in advance.

Several years ago we sent this same journal as a prize, and the paper made many friends. We shall have the publishers send out sample copies to all so they can see what we are offering. We shall have to send the subscriptions in clubs of ten, so get your order in early and tell your neighbor who does not take the DISPATCH so he may avail himself of the offer.

The Maccabee Entertainment.

The annual entertainment given by the Maccabee societies here last Friday night was a success in every particular. The crowd was good, the play well rendered, the supper and rest of the entertainment all that could be desired. Fischer's orchestra of Ann Arbor made good music, assisted part of the time by Miss Sadie Harris of this place, who rendered her part easily and correctly without rehearsal. Miss Blanche Martin sang and J. Bowers gave his cake walk dance between acts.

At the present writing we can not learn the amount cleared by the societies, but it will be about $100.

Silver Wedding.

On Wednesday of last week a large crowd of relatives and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clinton in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

The guests, ninety-two in number, having partaken of a bountiful feast, spent the remainder of the day in visiting and listening to some fine music. The host and hostess were then presented with some very beautiful presents as a token of love and esteem.

Young Mens Club

When a man tells you that women are all easy virtue, and that none of them can be trusted, you should avoid him as you would a loathsome contagion. Such a man, unless he simply reflects the opinions of others, is vicious, licentious, thoroughly corrupt both in his mind and life, and often times both his flesh and his bones are reeking with moral and physical rotteness.

There are three classes of vicious men whose vices and crimes entitle them to a perpetual place in the penitentiary. They are more dangerous than thieves and robbers. The man who robs a bank or the burglar who enters your house at night, is guilty of a petty crime when compared with the vicious man who despoils young women of their virtue, who robs husbands of the affections of their wives, or who walks among men a moral viper, spreading disease and death along life's entire journey.

We are sorry to learn as we go to press that S. E. Barton is not as well. The many friends of Carl Sykes will be sorry to learn that he is confined to his bed with typhoid fever.

LOCAL NEWS.

March 1, 1906.
Lent began Wednesday.
The ice harvest closed here before the ice got poor.
F. L. Andrews was in Detroit on business Friday of last week.
A. J. Wilhelm of Stockbridge was down to the Maccabee play last week.
The maple sugar season should open early this year and the cakes free from fly-specks (?)
G. A. Sigler of Ypsilanti was in town the last of last week shaking hands with old friends.
Ruben Kisby and wife of Hamburg were the guests of her sister, Mrs. Guy Teeple, Friday last and took in the Maccabee entertainment.
We have added some new souvenir cards to our collection. They are scenes about the beautiful places near here. Call and see them.
The editor of a local paper does not know all the news of the neighborhood but it is safe to say that he knows much more than he publishes.

Frances Carr of Hartland was home the last of last week.
Mrs. John Dunbar visited her son, Will in Detroit the past week.
Misses Mabel Moorehead and Lela Monks were in Ann Arbor one day last week.
Miss Georgia Martin of Ypsilanti was the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. Read, the past week.
Mrs. F. L. Gillette and Miss Colby of Perry, were guests of Herbert Gillette a few days the past week.
Mrs. Estella Graham, who has been spending the winter with her daughter in Cement City, has returned home.
This place is still in need of a few more dwellings. We understand there are inquiries for houses nearly every day.
The Governor's action in the railroad tax matter will probably array the railroads against him the coming election.
Most of our young people who are attending college were home for a few days last week for Washington's birthday vacation and the Maccabee entertainment.

The beautiful weather of last week closed Saturday with a heavy rain with lightening and thunder, a fore-runner of colder weather. Sunday night it froze hard.

The Young Peoples Club of North Hamburg will meet with Walter and Mae VanFleet, Saturday evening, March 3, '06. All members are especially requested to be present.

The subscriptions are coming in at a good rate since our combination offer with the Farm Journal. Remember we only have paid for 100 that we can send as per offer so get in your order quick. Read the offer elsewhere.

Bro. Samsom of the So. Lyon Herald has installed a new cylinder press and gasoline engine. He is giving the people of that village a good paper and it looks as if his work was appreciated. Here is to your further success Bro. Samsom.

The following are sure signs of spring: Mrs. Sweetman and daughter Tessie are to move into the east part of the LaRue house, Mrs. Rosina Mercer into the west part, and Jeff Parker and wife will move back from their farm and settle in their home on Pearl street. If this is not a sign of spring, we would like to know what is.

During the cyclone which destroyed the house on Rev. C. L. Cope's farm in Caro, papers that were filed there were blown away and lost. One of them has just been returned, it having been found in Clatskanie, Ontario, having been blown several hundred miles as well as across Lake Huron. The paper was a duplicate marriage license, Rev. Cope having married the couple. The young couple now have the document as a souvenir.

Fred Teeple and to L. L. Roche the past week 88 lambs whose average weight was 116 pounds. This with former sales this year from 66 sheep, amounts to $631.45. Good for you Fred.

The Livingston Mutual Telephone Co. are building their lines to Hartland and Parshallville which will then make a circuit of the county. We understand they have more than thirty subscribers.

Beginning with today the Reason meat market will be in charge of Marion who has assumed control of the same. While he will still be in the buying business the same as before, his genial face will be seen more behind the counter.

The patrons of the butter factory received their first checks on Monday. The butter for the first month brought 28 cents per pound, leaving the farmers 25 cents per pound. The results so far are generally satisfactory.—Brighton Argus.

St. Mary's parish are making arrangements to put on the play, "Down in Maine", at the opera house here, March 16. The Columbian Dramatic Club will put on the drama which speaks for the manner in which the play will be put on. Pinckney talent is as good as is in the country. Come and see if they are not. Watch for further announcements.

Miss Lillian McQuillan of Jackson is the guest of relatives and friends here.

Miss Mabel Emerick of Lansing was the guest at the home of her parents a few days the past week.

The Lady Maccabees of this place are adding several new members these days. They are hustlers.

The tea at the home of Mrs. R. E. Finch Tuesday evening was well attended, the society taking in over $8.00.

There will be the usual service at the M. E. church Sunday morning, followed by Sunday school. No services evenings during the special meetings at the Cong'l church.

Congregational Church.

The pastor reports increased attendance and interest at all services during January and February with an accession of 13 new members and intimations of others ready to come.

Sunday school attendance has also greatly improved. The pastor's class had an attendance of 17 young men and 6 young women last Sunday. He feels grateful for the enthusiastic cooperation and well sustained interest of the church and society. An excellent christian spirit prevails, and the outlook for the future is very hopeful. # THE COLONEL'S WIFE

BY WARDEN EDWARDS

Author of "The Dispatch Bearer," Etc.

Copyrighted 1898 by WARDEN EDWARDS

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

The woman whom we may recognize as the Confederate spy, Belle Stevens, did not seem at all confused by either reproaches or irony.

"Well, you may doubtless remember, Colonel John, I owed you one for what kind attention you gave me in Louisville. I am a woman who cannot easily forget or forgive an injury. When I put a frost upon your little love affair I fancy I repaid in a measure the debt long past due. Perhaps Miss Mollie may throw you over now."

"Pardon me, you do not seem to have been well informed regarding the relations existing between the planter's daughter and myself. You took her into your confidence, but she did not return the favor, I am ready to believe."

"But—she loves you—I would swear to that."

"Thank you, my dear Belle—you make me very comfortable. That was a point on which I could not be very positive, so that your evidence is a great relief. As to what you told her I can with the greatest ease prove it to be false, and you may be sure I shall grasp the first opportunity to place all the evidence before my wife."

"Your—wife?"

"Certainly—Mollie Granger, the playmate of my childhood occupies that position which a week ago I was sure no woman on earth would ever fill."

"He did not tell me this."

"And pray, who is he?"

The woman bit her lip—evidently she had not intended going so far.

"Well, if you must know, Major Worden."

"Then he sent you to Lyndhurst?"

"He asked me to go, but the desire for revenge upon you, Colonel John, urged me on much faster than the major's gold."

Somehow her words aroused him.

The interview was not to Ridge-way's taste.

"My time is precious—I have been hotly engaged to-day, as you may know, and I would not have ridden in here only in the hope that I might be of assistance to Aunt Sarah."

"I have heard of your charge—the whole city is ringing with your praise to-night, which must be gall and wormwood to your rival for the affection of Mollie Granger."

"Say no more about it. Let me see my aunt," he returned, for the very mention of his wife's name by this bold woman seemed like sacrilege—it had even come to that point.

"You shall see her—be seated while I tell her you are here."

Then she glided away.

Colonel John did not know exactly what to think of all this.

This woman's past was of such a character as to prevent him from believing good of her.

She was capable of carrying out the boldest and most desperate of plans in order to further her own ends or in behalf of the cause which she really cherished as sacred.

Wise men always take certain precautions, even when the case does not seem to justify it, and as we have seen John came with a guard, and a faithful weapon in his pocket.

Treachery is an ugly beast to handle, and one must seize upon the brute with ungloried hands.

His meditations were interrupted. Some one entered the room.

It was a woman.

She could not be far from fifty years of age.

Colonel John arose and approached her.

"Aunt Sarah, I am surprised to see you here."

"And why?" she asked, giving him her hand coldly—she was a handsome lady despite her age, and her dark eyes sparkled with a flare that might have been the envy of a young girl.

form I wear has softened, I may win her heart as I have already won her hand."

He had reached this point when he noticed that his aunt's face had grown very white.

"What is the matter—are you ill?" he asked.

"No, no—but—I see now—they deceived me," she muttered, as if talking to herself.

"They—I don't understand, aunt—who has deceived you—tell me if I can be of assistance. You know I stand ready to do what I can."

She became more hysterical and covered her face with her hands, dropping into a chair.

"Wretched woman that I am—to think that after all he has done for me I should betray him."

"Who is it, aunt—tell me—"

"No one but yourself, John Ridgeway," she said, still rocking to and fro.

He glanced around, and seeing nothing of a dangerous nature, smiled.

"My dear aunt, if I am the only party you have wronged, cheer up. Surely I do not bear animosity. Besides, in what way could you injure me—I have friends near by who will come at a signal."

"It is not that—they deceived me—I see now they meant not to rob you of life but of something you must as a true Southern man, value more."

"Ah! my reputation."

"In the eyes of Mollie Granger."

"What! still harping on that matter, are they?"

"They told me you loved her and would take her from Oswald Worden. Fool that I was I lent myself to their plans, hating myself for doing it."

"Don't worry about it—no harm done. Let them plot—they can't outwit Fate which has woven the threads of Mollie's life with mine."

"But listen—she saw you enter here—saw Belle let you in—now do you realize their malice?"

CHAPTER XVII.

Out of the Trap.

A change came over the demeanor of the Federal officer when he heard those remarkable words from his aunt's own lips.

Worden was equal to anything, but until lately Colonel John could not have believed his cousin Crockett would so demean himself.

The motive of the major was plain out-and-out jealousy—that of the woman the fury of a woman scorned, while Crockett might have dreams of some day coming into John's inheritance should things take a turn in his direction.

No doubt the last named plotter had no suspicion of the true cause that urged his wife to press the Yankee colonel's downfall, and would be sure not to let such a fiery-headed fighter as Crockett Ridgeway suspect the truth.

Colonel John paced the floor in his agitation.

He had at length been awakened. Cool and collected even under the hottest fire, this man could be aroused if the right means were brought to bear upon him.

And when they touched upon his honor, in connection with Mollie Granger, they struck a key that if properly played, could be made to vibrate with intense zeal.

"Come, aunt, you tell me a strange thing—how am I to understand it. I believed my wife to be safe under her father's roof, and yet you tell me she is in Atlanta—that she saw me enter this house—saw Belle Stevens admit me."

"Every word of it is true—when she left home I do not know, but there must have been some engagement made, for she was driven here in her own carriage, and by one of her father's former slaves, one called Ezekiel."

"I know the fellow—but it is monstrous to think of such a plot to rob a man of his wife—to make her despise me. How could you lend your aid to such a thing?"

"I do not know—they badgered me and declared I did not love the South if I should hesitate to defeat one of her foes. I acted against my good judgment, I trust you will believe. Besides, there was no whisper that Mollie was your wife. Had I known that not anything on earth would have influenced me to join them."

"Well, after all, it has not gone so far that it cannot be remedied. If you really regret the share you have had in the matter, dear aunt—"

"I do, believe me, deeply."

"Then it will be easy to confess the whole thing to Mollie and I will only too gladly forget the share you had in it."

She flushed as he spoke, for she was a proud woman, and as such it would cut her keenly to confess to duplicity in the presence of Mollie—a woman may not find it hard to beg forgiveness from a man whom she has treated treacherously, but it is as bitter as wormwood for her to say the same thing to one of her own sex. Still Aunt Sarah meant what she said and was ready to back it up.

"I SEE NOW—THEY DECEIVED ME," SHE MUTTERED.

"Your presence here and the message to me—what am I to understand—is this a sort of pitfall—did you force my aunt's name?"

The colonel towered above her as he indignantly demanded the truth, for like all honest men he was averse to being made the tool of an unscrupulous, plotting woman.

Belle Stevens did not flinch.

Whatever else might be said of her at least she was no coward—her daring ventures as a female spy, risking life and all else in the cause of the South stood a guarantee for this.

"The letter you received was genuine, Colonel John," she replied, steadily.

"Then my aunt is in Atlanta?"

"Yes."

"Under this roof?"

"It is so."

"And she appeals to me for assistance?"

"You had her letter," watching him closely.

"But her son has been here—I myself have seen him—why could he not help her?"

"There is something I do not understand—something she wished to explain to you. That is why she sent the message."

"I saw her last in Louisville, and was able to be of assistance to her at the time."

"Yes, I know, and you failed to include me in your Samaritan work—wasn't it a little matter, no doubt, Colonel John, but sometimes such things bear a prodigious amount of fruit."

"I am sorry I have incurred your enmity, Belle, but it was my duty, and so matter what the consequences, I would do the same again if the occasion warranted it."

"Thank you," she said, with a sneer, "then I do not regret anything I have said or done in return."

"Because I believed you safely housed in Louisville, where I saw you last."

"Indeed, and why should I remain there in peace and with all the comforts around me while my unhappy country groaned under the heel of the oppressor. My heart was wrapped up in the dear old Southland, and I flew to my old home to do what little I could for the cause. For that perhaps you despise me, you a Yankee officer."

"On the contrary I admire, applaud your principles. But why say more, aunt? You sent for me—see, I have come."

"It was good of you, John—you have the Ridgeland blood in your veins, though it pains me to see you wearing the blue when you should be wearing the gray. Would that my entreaties could turn you."

"It is quite useless, aunt—I have withstood the most severe test, even down to having a sweet little rebel for a wife. Nothing can change my sentiments—they are like yours, grounded on a rock, even my own life."

"What! you are married, John—I did not know it?"

"Do you remember long years ago the little Mollie Granger of our neighbor the squire?"

"Yes—yes—I have reason to, but John—you do not mean she—is your wife?"

Her emotion surprised him, although he could not understand it.

"Yes, we were duly married in the presence of her father. I confess it was a marriage of convenience, for my life was at stake and the estate of Lyndhurst. As the property of a Federal officer's wife it is being protected. But I have fallen in love with my wife and I trust sooner or later when her prejudice against the uni-

F. L. ANDREWS & CO. PROPRIETORS.

A Great Offer.

FARM JOURNAL and the DISPATCH.
Farm Journal, 5 years . . . 75
Dispatch, 1 year . . . . 1.00
BOTH for $1.00

By special arrangement with the publishers of the FARM JOURNAL (Philadelphia) we are enabled to offer both papers for $1.00 to every new advance paying subscriber and to every old subscriber who pays in advance, the DISPATCH one year and the FARM JOURNAL 5 years, both papers for $1.00, the price of ours alone.

The FARM JOURNAL is 29 years old and enjoys great popularity, adapted to and circulating in every state, and is one of the most useful, interesting and trustworthy farm papers published. This offer should be accepted without delay, as it only holds for a limited time.

Undoubtedly the wood alcohol people would suffer by the repeal of the tax, but there are the rights of 80,000,000 others to be considered.

The fact that the Standard Oil people do not want to see wood alcohol on the free list is one of the main reasons that it should be passed. It is also probably one of the main reasons why it may not go through (?).

The United States has suppressed the use of alcohol for proper purposes, and gone into partnership with scoundrels who wax fat, drowsy and wicked by marketing it for destructive and confessedly improper purposes.

Few of us ever stop to consider what a big and valuable state we live in. Michigan is one state in the union around which a Chinese wall could be built—her resources are almost limitless. She has everything needful for her own sustenance, coal, iron, copper, timber, flax fields, grain, manufacturing plants; in fact, everything needful for the comfort of her people. We don't realize what a big state we have.

Those who have invested their money in the peat fields of Michigan can take heart again as a valuable cardboard can be made from the product and at a very little expense as compared to the expense of making fuel. The paper is for the same uses as straw-board or wood pulp board, but is superior to either of those, it is claimed, and severe tests have proven it to be moisture proof, mildew proof, vermin proof and thoroughly antiseptic.

Torture By Savages.

"Speaking of the torture to which some of the savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives, reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," says W. M. Sherran, of Cushing, Me. "Nothing helped me until I tried Electric Bitters, three bottles of which completely cured me." Cures liver complaint, dyspepsia, blood disorders and malaria; and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed by F. A. Sigler druggist. Price 50c.

First come first served; so, march up and pay for the DISPATCH a year ahead. This will include, in combination subscription, that wood little paper, the Farm Journal, for the balance of 1906, and all of 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910; five years without any further pay. Shall we hear from you within one week?

From One Who Has Had Experience In Auction Sales.

The season of auction sales is beginning and during the next eight months a great many thousand dollars worth of farm property will be sold at public sales in this county. The prices at all these sales will depend on many circumstances and conditions, but most of all on the question of advertising. A sale insufficiently advertised never produces the best results, a sale well advertised will always succeed unless the weather is such that people cannot attend.

In the old days when advertising rates were high and when it was impossible to reach all the people through the newspaper, it was necessary to use the auction bill. But that day is gone by. Almost every county has some newspaper that reaches practically all the people, and effective advertising has become so cheap, the auction bill is rapidly becoming a back number. Many successful sales have been held in near counties without a single bill being used, others have a few bills to hand or mail to their friends or to pass around on the day of the sale. But in either case they depended mainly on NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Why is this? The bill reaches only a few, the newspaper reaches many hundreds. The bill can cover only a limited section, the newspaper covers the entire country with equal thoroughness. The bill is seen by people only when they are away from home, the newspaper reaches the people in their homes. The bill is not read in busy times or bad weather because the people stay at home, the newspaper goes where the people are. The bill makes the busy man stop when he is in a hurry and possibly get out his spectacles, the newspaper finds him when he is at leisure in a comfortable chair. The bill must be tacked up and distributed, a day or two of work of a man with a rig; the newspaper distributes the same matter to every house without trouble or extra cost. C. E. Baughn, Pinckney, Mich. Fairview Farm: R. F. D. No. 1.

A Scientific Wonder.

The cures that stand to its credit makes Bucklen's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons of Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of Piles. We offer for a short time, a combination subscription, to advance paying subscribers to the DISPATCH a year ahead, and the Farm Journal for the balance of 1906, and all of 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, nearly five years, both papers for the price of one.

The latest postal laws are such that a publisher can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued or orders the postmaster mark it "refused" and have a postal card sent so notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

In their early days newspapers were regarded with distrust even in the most civilized countries, and were so heavily taxed on every copy and every advertisement that only a few persons could afford to buy them or use their facilities. Millions of sheets are now printed where but thousands were circulated thirty or forty years ago.

Here is something for the boys and girls. Take the figures 142857 and multiply them by two, and it will be found that the same figures appear, only differently placed. Next multiply the same sum by three, four, five and six, and it will be found that you still have the same figures only differently placed. Multiply the original number by seven and see what you get.

Iowa newspapers are in receipt of a circular letter from a Des Moines newspaper apprising them that the post office authorities at Washington have held that reports of prize winners at euchre and whist parties will suffice under the anti lottery law to exclude any newspapers from the mails. The newspaper in question states that its presses were stopped and thirty minutes' delay ensued in order to remove from its columns a statement that one guest had won a cut glass water pitcher and another had won a chafing dish at a card party.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet.

A Question of Life or Death

(Original.)

"Am I dead?"
A man in a dazed condition had entered a rural police station lugging a coffin and stood before the sergeant's desk. His skeleton figure, his livid skin, his shrunken eyes, all went to prove that he was a corpse, voice and motion alone indicating the contrary. The sergeant drew back, and something like a shiver passed over a couple of roundsmen who were lounging by the desk.

"What do you mean?" stammered the sergeant.

The man put his hand in his pocket, the policemen fancied they could hear his bones rattle as he did so—took out a clipping from a newspaper and laid it on the desk. It read:

Died.—Kirkham—On the 25th of September, John Leonard Kirkham, aged twenty-six.

"I see," said the sergeant. "What did you die of?"

The corpse replied by drawing forth another clipping, which read:

At midnight on the 24th inst. a young man named Kirkham made good night to a friend at the ferry to cross the river. It proved a Styx, for he never reached the other side. It is supposed he fell overboard and was drowned, since he had no cause to be weary of life. Indeed, he was about to be married to a very estimable young lady. His body has not been recovered.

"You are the body?" asked the sergeant, looking up after reading the item.

"Yes."

"Well, tell us about it."

"When I entered the ferryboat," the stranger began, "I had just bidden good night and given my final instructions to my best man, for I was to have been married the next day to the loveliest girl in the world."

The speaker's voice trembled, and he was obliged to pause. Then he gave a frightened glance at the coffin, which he had stood on end beside him, and proceeded:

"A fortune had been left me by an aunt whom I have not seen since I was a little boy, on condition that I marry her adopted daughter, my aunt's object being to keep the property in the family and benefit the girl she had brought up and loved like a child of her own. I was her only blood relation living. Just before entering the dock on the far side of the river a man stepped up to me and said:

"Can you tell me, sir, what that is burning back of us in the city?"

"He led the way—we were on the lower deck—to the stern, and I followed him. Since we were about to enter the dock every one had gone forward. On reaching the extreme stern, which I was leaning over the rail looking for the fire, he suddenly grasped my legs and tumbled me overboard. I was rescued by two men in a skiff. The man who had thrown me over jumped into it, and the others pulled away."

The sergeant looked at the roundsmen knowingly and remarked, "There's a clew for ferryboat disappearances." The stranger proceeded:

"I was rowed to a dock where a carriage was waiting and forced to enter it, the man who had thrown me over getting in with me. I saw him hand the men in the boat a roll of bills and concluded they had been simply hired for the job. The carriage was driven till dawn, then stopped, and I was blindfolded and led into a house. At last the bandage was taken from my eyes and I found myself in a room from which the only view was chimney pots.

"For several days I lived, without seeing any one, on bread and water that was handed in to me. On the third day my kidnaper came in and showed me the notices I have shown you.

"You're dead," he said, "and I propose that you shan't come to life again, at least on this side of the planet."

"He did not tell me what he was going to do with me, but gave me to understand that resistance would be useless, and, whatever happened, if I failed to play any part that might be expected of me I would be murdered. When he went away he forgot to take the clippings I have shown you, and I put them in my pocket.

"That night I smelled a strange odor and slept like a log. The next morning I was in a stupor, but conscious. My kidnaper came into my room with another man, who looked me over, then sat down at a table and wrote something, the kidnaper showing him an envelope he had taken from my pocket. All that day I was under the influence of the drug, and the next I must have been given an extra dose, for I was unconscious.

"I felt a shock and opened my eyes. I was lying in the road with my legs in this coffin. I heard horses galloping away from me. I got up, walked a short distance and found myself here. Now, I'd like to know if I am a dead man or a live one."

"You're alive and will continue to live till we've tracked your kidnaper. Are you sure that your aunt had no relation living who, in case of your death, would be the heir at law?"

"She hadn't a kinsman on earth. She had had a son, a scapegrace, but he was killed in a drunken broil."

"No, he wasn't. He's alive and has kidnapped you to prevent your complying with the terms of the will by the marriage and intended to furnish proofs that you were dead and claim your property. A runaway during your funeral spilled you out and spoiled his game."

The sergeant's diagnosis proved to be correct. Mr. Kirkham was married a few days later, and the kidnaper went to state prison.

A POSER FOR THE PROFESSOR.

Philosopher Lecturing Before Class is Embarrassed by Student.

A professor in Philosophy was lecturing upon "Identity" and had just argued that parts of a whole might be subtracted and other matter substituted, yet the whole would remain the same, instancing the fact that, although every part of our bodies is changed in seven years, we remain the same individuals.

"Then," said a student, "If I had a knife and lost the blade and had a new blade put in it would still be the identical knife?"

"Certainly," was the reply. "Then, if I should lose the handle from the new blade and have another handle made to fit it, the knife would still be the same?"

"That is so," said the professor. "Then in that case," triumphantly rejoined the student, "If I should find the old blade and the old handle and have the original parts put together what knife would that be?"—New York Weekly.

Flow of Rivers.

The flow of rivers, as might be supposed, is the slowest at the bottom of the water and highest at the top. The average velocity of the entire stream is found, as a rule, at about six-tenths of the depth. The friction of the bottom which retards the movement of the deepest water is much greater, relatively to the whole volume of the stream, in a shallow river than in a deep one.

Treasure in Russian Churches.

The treasures of the various Russian churches are of fabulous value. St. Isaac's cathedral, in St. Petersburg, is said to have cost $50,000,000. Its copper roof is overlaid with pure gold. In the Cathedral of Kazan the name of the Almighty blazes in diamonds from a cloud of beaten gold, under which are solid silver doors, twenty feet high.

HOCH HANGED.

Johann Hoch, polygamist, convicted of the murder of his wife, Maria Walker Hoch, and suspected of the murder of a dozen other women, was hanged in the Cook county jail Friday at 1:34 p. m.

Three times respited, Hoch insisted to the last that he be granted all the delay that the law conceded him. Under the wording of his sentence the criminal was to hang between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. When the last resource of his attorneys, an appeal to the federal court on a violation of the Fourteenth amendment to the constitution which states that a man shall not be deprived of his life without due procedure of law, had been denied, Hoch abandoned all hope of saving his life but still insisted that he be allowed to live as near to 2 o'clock as possible.

When Jailer Whitman, who has long been a friend of Hoch, appeared in his cell and remarked: "It's all off, Johann, nothing more can be done for you," Hoch replied:

"That's all right. It's all right, but I want to have all that is coming to me in point of time. I'll go when 1:30 o'clock comes, but if you try to take me before that time, I'll fight."

"It would not do you any good to fight," replied Jailer Whitman. "I know that," replied Hoch, "but I want all that is coming to me. I'll go all right at 1:30."

The jailer, after consultation with Deputy Sheriff Peters, agreed to the delay. Hoch then asked that his dinner be sent for. His wish was granted and he ate with an evident relish and apparently without thought that he would never enjoy another meal.

It was exactly 1:32 o'clock when Hoch, preceded by Deputy Sheriff Peters and attended by Jailer John J. Whitman, Rev. Aschleter and Rev. J. R. Burkland stepped upon the scaffold. Two minutes later Hoch was a corpse. He walked upon the scaffold quietly and stood directly under the noose with hands together and head erect like a soldier on parade. He was pale, but composed and full of courage.

"Do you want to say anything?" asked Deputy Sheriff Peters.

"Yes," said Hoch, who said in a strong German accent:

"Father, forgive them, they know not what they do. I must die an innocent man. Good-bye."

He chopped off the last words in a short incisive manner and before his voice was silenced, the drop fell.

Girl Train Wrecker.

Mrs. Cora Carpenter was arrested in Tiffin, O., accused of wrecking a Pennsylvania train a week ago Wednesday night, and attempting to wreck a fast passenger train on that night and the night following.

Mrs. Carpenter is a member of a prominent family and is a beautiful woman, highly educated and apparently refined. She is supposed to have a mania for causing and witnessing wrecks. The authorities declare it was a miracle that a fast train crowded with passengers was not wrecked on the first and second attempts to ditch it.

Coal Miners' Strike.

Francis L. Robbins, chairman of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and leader of the bituminous coal operators, declared upon his arrival from New York that he could see no possibility of averting a coal strike. Mr. Robbins said he had met President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, in New York, but not for the purpose of considering a settlement of the differences between the bituminous operators and miners.

"I have no authority to settle for the operators and Mr. Mitchell cannot settle for the miners," said Mr. Robbins. "I do not think there is any possibility of averting a bituminous coal strike on April 1st."

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The resignation from the naval academy of Edgar N. Caldwell, of Glasgow, Ky., of the fourth class, has been accepted.

Edward L. Rodgers, a nearly full-blooded Chippewa Indian, is to marry Miss Mayme Constance Ballton, a society belle of Minneapolis. Rodgers was the famous captain of the 1903 Minnesota football team. He is now practicing law in Minneapolis. Miss Ballton is of English blood.

Ellsworth Defrom, 12 years ago, robbed the mails at Sioux Falls, Ia. All he got was one cent, but Uncle Sam sent him to prison for life. President McKinley commuted his sentence, and he has just been released. He was only 15 years old when he stole that penny.

The reappointment of the fourth son of the shah of Persia, Abdul Fraz Mirza, to the governorship of the province of Ghilan, has resulted in great dissatisfaction among the merchants, priests and land-owners, who have telegraphed Teheran demanding the removal of the prince, whose severity during his previous administration of the province made him extremely unpopular.

King Heigh I has been discovered in undisputed possession of Cat island, in the Bahama group, where he rules his kingdom of twenty ebony subjects. Capt. Belliveau, skipper of the brigantine Dixon Rice, which went on the reef called Riding Rock, found Cat island and King Heigh nearby. Captain and crew went to court and were royally entertained for four days. They mention especially the excellent quality of King Heigh's wines. Cat island is three miles long by two and one-half wide.

NEW FOOD LAW

People now demand the right to know exactly what they eat.

To be told by maker or retailer that the food is "pure" is not satisfactory.

Candy may contain "pure" white clay or "pure" dyes and yet be very harmful. Syrups may contain "pure" glucose and yet be quite digestible and even beneficial. Tomato catsup may contain a small amount of salicylic or boric acid as a necessary preservative, which may agree with one and be harmful to another.

Wheat flour may contain a portion of corn flour and really be improved. Olive oil may be made of cotton seed oil. Butter may contain beef suet and yet be nutritious.

The person who buys and eats must protect himself and family, and he has a right to, and now demands, a law under which he can make intelligent selection of food.

Many pure food bills have been introduced and some passed by State legislatures; many have been offered to Congress, but all thus far seem objectionable.

It has seemed difficult for politicians to formulate a satisfactory bill that would protect the common people and yet avoid harm to honest makers and prevent endless trouble to retailers. No govt. commissioner or officer has the right to fix "food standards," to define what the people shall and shall not eat, for what agrees with one may not agree with another, and such act would deprive the common citizen of his personal liberty.

The Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., perhaps the largest makers of prepared foods in the world, have naturally a close knowledge of the needs of the people and the details of the business of the purveyors (the retail grocer), and, guided by this experience have prepared a bill for submission to Congress which is intended to accomplish the desired ends, and inasmuch as a citizen of the U. S. has a right to food protection even when he enters another State, it is deemed proper that the govt. take control of this matter and provide a national law to govern all the states. A copy of the bill is herewith reproduced.

Sec. 1 governs the maker whether the food is put up in small packages sealed, or in barrels, boxes or otherwise.

Sec. 2 governs the retailer who may open a barrel and sell the food in small quantities. When he puts the goods into a paper bag he must also include a printed copy of the statement of the maker which was affixed to the original pkg., and inasmuch as the retailer cannot undertake to guarantee the statement of ingredients he must publish the statement of the makers and add his own name and address as a guarantee of his selling the food as it is represented to him, which relieves the retailer of responsibility of the truth of the statement and throws it upon the maker, where it properly belongs.

The remaining sections explain themselves.

The Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., for example, have from the beginning of its existence printed on the outside of each and every pkg. of Postum and Grape-Nuts food a truthful and exact statement of what the contents were made of in order that the consumer might know precisely what he or she was eating. A person desiring to buy, for instance, strictly pure fruit jelly and willing to pay the price has a right to expect not only an equivalent for the cost, but a further right to a certainty as to what he eats. Or he may be willing to buy at less cost a jelly made part of fruit juices, sugar and a portion of glucose. But he must be supplied with truthful information of the ingredients and be permitted to use his personal liberty to select his own food accurately.

The people have allowed the slow murder of infants and adults by tricky makers of food, drink and drugs to go on about long enough. Duty to oneself, family and nation demands that every man and woman join in an organized movement to clear our people from this blight. You may not be able to go personally to Washington to impress your Congressmen, but you can, in a most effective way tell him by letter how you desire him to represent you.

Remember the Congressman is in Congress to represent the people from his district and if a goodly number of citizens express their views to him, he secures a very sure guide to duty. Remember also that the safety of the people is assured by insisting that the will of the people be carried out, and not the machinations of the few for selfish interests.

This pure food legislation is a pure movement of the people for public protection. It will be opposed only by those who fatten their pockets by deceiving and injuring the people. Therefore, if your Representative in Congress evades his patriotic duty hold him to strict accountability, and if necessary demand equitable and honest service. This is a very different condition than when a faction demands class legislation of the Congressman. Several years ago the butter interests of the country demanded legislation to kill the oleomargarine industry and by power of organization forced class legislation really unworthy of a free people. Work people wanted beef suet butter because it was cheap and better than much unclean milk butter, but the dairy interests organized and forced the legislation. The law should have provided that pkgs. of oleomargarine bear the statement of ingredients and then let people who desire purchase it for just what it is, and not try to kill it by a heavy tax. Manufacturers sometimes try to force measures in their own interests, but contrary to the interests of the people and the labor trust is always active to push through bills drafted in the interest of that trust but directly contrary to the interests of the people as a whole. Witness the anti-injunction bill by which labor unions seek to tie the hands of our courts and prevent the issue of any order to restrain the members of that trust from attacking men or destroying property. Such a bill is perhaps the most infamous insult to our courts and the common people ever laid before Congress and the Representatives in Congress must be held to a strict accountability for their acts relating thereto. But when bills come before Congress that are drawn in the interests of all the people they should receive the active personal support of the people and the representatives be instructed by the citizens. The Senators also should be written to and instructed. If, therefore, you will remember your privilege and duty you will at once—now—write to your Congressman and Senator on this pure food bill. Clip and enclose the copy herewith presented and ask them to make a business of following it through the committee considering it. Urge its being brought to a vote and asking that they vote for it.

Some oppressively intelligent and carping critic may say this is simply an advertisement for Postum and Grape-Nuts. It is true that these articles are spoken of here in a public manner, but they are used as illustrations of a manufacturer seeking by example, printing on each pkg. a truthful, exact statement of ingredients, to shame other makers into doing the fair thing by the common people, and establishing an era of pure food, but that procedure has not yet forced those who adulterate and deceive to change their methods, hence this effort to arouse public sentiment and show a way out of the present condition of fraud, deceit and harm.

The undersigned is paying to the publishers of America about $20,000.00 to print this announcement in practically all of the great papers and magazines, in the conduct of what he chooses to term "an educational campaign," esteemed to be of greater direct value to the people than the establishment of many libraries. That is held to be a worthy method of using money for the public good. Tell the people facts, show them a way to help themselves and rely upon them to act intelligently and effectively.

The reader will be freely forgiven if he entirely forgets the reference to Postum and Grape-Nuts, if he will but join the pure food movement and do things.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every person, firm or corporation engaged in the manufacture, preparation or compounding of food for human consumption, shall print in plain view on each package thereof made by or for them shipped from any State or Territory, or the District of Columbia, a complete and accurate statement of all the ingredients thereof, defined by words in common use to describe said ingredients, together with the announcement that said statement is made by the authority of, and guaranteed to be accurate by, the makers of such food, and the name and complete address of the makers shall be affixed thereto; all printed in plain type of a size not less than that known as eight point, and in the English language.

Sec. 2. That the covering of each and every package of manufactured, prepared or compounded foods shipped from any State, Territory or the District of Columbia, when the food in said package shall have been taken from a covering supplied by or for the makers and re-covered by or for the sellers, shall bear upon its face or within its enclosure an accurate copy of the statement of ingredients and name of the makers which appeared upon the package or covering of said food as supplied by or for the makers thereof, printed in like manner as the statement of the makers was printed, and such statement shall also bear the name and address of the person, firm or corporation that re-covered such food.

Sec. 3. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to purposely, wilfully and maliciously remove, alter, obliterate or destroy such statement of ingredients appearing on packages of food, as provided in the preceding sections, and any person or persons who shall violate this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than one month nor more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 4. That the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture shall procure, or cause to be procured from retail dealers, and analyze, or cause to be analyzed or examined, chemically, microscopically, or otherwise, samples of all manufactured, prepared or compounded foods offered for sale in original, unbroken packages in the District of Columbia, in any Territory, or in any State other than that in which they shall have been respectively manufactured or otherwise produced, or from a foreign country, or intended for export to a foreign country. The Secretary of Agriculture shall make necessary rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of this Act, and is hereby authorized to employ such chemists, inspectors, clerks, laborers, and other employees, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act and to make such publication of the results of the examinations and analysis as he may deem proper. And any manufacturer, producer or dealer who shall refuse to supply, upon application and tender and full payment of the selling price samples of such articles of food to any person duly authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture to receive the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one hundred days, or both.

Sec. 5. That any person, firm or corporation who shall violate sections one and two of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars for the first offense and for each subsequent offense not exceeding three hundred dollars or be imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 6. That any person, firm, or corporation, who shall wilfully, purposely or maliciously change or add to the ingredients of any food, make false charges, or incorrect analysis, with the purpose of subjecting the makers of such foods to fine or imprisonment under this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars nor less than three hundred dollars, or imprisoned for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both.

Sec. 7. That it shall be the duty of every district attorney to whom the Secretary of Agriculture shall report any violation of this Act to cause proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted without delay for the fines and penalties in such case provided.

Sec. 8. That this Act shall not be construed to interfere with commerce wholly internal in any State, nor with the exercise of their police powers by the several States.

Sec. 9. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 10. That this Act shall be in force and effect from and after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and six.

There was an unaccountable weakness of the back, and constant pain and aching. I could find no rest and was very uncomfortable at night. As my health was good in every other way I could not understand this trouble. It was just as if all the strength had gone from my back. After suffering for some time I began using Dean's Kidney Pills. The remedy acted at once upon the kidneys and when normal action was restored the trouble with my back disappeared. ## RHEUMATIC PAINS Disappear When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Purify the Blood and Heal Inflamed Tissues.

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood, caused by the failure of the body to cast off certain poisons. External applications are of use only in securing temporary relief from pain—the cure for rheumatism lies in purifying and enriching the blood.

Mrs. Frederick Brown, of 40 Sumpter street, Sandy Hill, N. Y., was a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism from the time she was sixteen. She says: "It first appeared in my knee joints, then in my hips and waist. It became a regular thing that I would be laid up all winter. The rheumatism affected mostly my hands, hips, feet and shoulders. My hands were all puffed up and my feet became deformed. I lost my appetite, couldn't sleep and sometimes I was compelled to cry out, the pain was so intense."

"For several winters I was under the doctor's care and while his medicine relieved the pain for a little while there seemed no prospect for a permanent cure. I was confined to my bed, off and on, for weeks at a time. My limbs swelled dreadfully at times and I was reduced almost to nothing."

"In the spring of 1904, upon the advice of a friend, I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At that time I wasn't able to do anything and could barely eat enough to keep alive. I felt a change for the better in about a month. I began to eat heartily and I suffered less pain. Of course I kept on the treatment, using care in my diet, and in about three months I was cured. I am entirely well today and do all my own work."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Brown by driving the rheumatic poisons out of her blood. But you must get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, sold by all druggists and by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

RUSSIAN ELECTIONS

FIGHT AGAINST WITTE GROWS STRONGER AND BITTER.

PRESS AND PUBLIC VEHEMENT IN ATTACKS ON THE COUNT TO CAUSE HIS DOWNFALL.

THE ELECTIONS ARE TO COME ON IN APRIL AND THE RESULT MAY CHANGE THINGS.

Witte's Struggle.

The fight against Premier Witte grows. The recent condemnation of the ministry by the convention at Moscow of the organization known as "The League of October 30," or "Octoberists," which arraigned the administration for its extreme procrastination and evident reluctance to carry out the principles of the reform manifesto, and the severe strictures of the premier voiced by MM. Guchkoff and Shipoff and other former supporters of the premier, have added new zeal to the campaign. Count Witte and his cabinet are denounced with ever-growing vehemence by the press and public.

Practically all the parties are now arrayed against the premier whose position is becoming increasingly more difficult. The reactionary organizations are openly working for his downfall, but there is reason to believe that the main cause for the complaint of the Liberals will soon be removed by the announcement of the date for the convocation of the national assembly. The date previously selected is May 10, which is inside the limit set by the convention, but the cabinet is awaiting further news from the interior before definitely proclaiming it.

In view of the impossibility of completing the elections in several localities, especially in the border lands, by that time the assembly probably will be opened without waiting for the representatives from the most distant sections. According to the Slovo, orders have been sent to the provincial authorities to begin the elections between April 2 and April 10 if possible.

A bitter interchange of personalities is going on between the premier and M. Timiriazoff, former minister of commerce, through their respective organs, the Russkoe Consularstvo (Russian State) and the Novoe Vremya. The reason for M. Timiriazoff's retirement is the direct issue, and the question of veracity is raised over a letter M. Timiriazoff is alleged to have received from Count Witte, enjoining him from opposing in the council of the empire the extension of martial law on account of the troubles in the interior. The Gosudarstvo has thrice denied the existence of the letter, and the Novoe Vremya now threatens to publish a fac simile.

Pure Food Law.

The senate has passed the amended Hepburn pure food bill by the decisive vote of 63 to 4.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell adulterated or misbranded foods, drugs, medicines or liquors in the District of Columbia, the territories and the insular possessions of the United States, and prohibits the shipment of such goods from one state to another or to a foreign country.

It also prohibits the receipt of such goods. Punishment by fine of $500 or by imprisonment for one year, or both, is prescribed. In the case of corporations, officials in charge are made responsible.

The investigations by that department are placed in the hands of the chief of the bureau of chemistry, who will report violations to the United States district attorney, to institute proceedings in the federal courts.

The bill also defines foods, drugs, medicines and liquors, and also defines the standards for them.

There is an exemption for dealers who furnish guarantees against adulteration and misbranding.

Do We Want Them?

Speaking on the subject of immigration, Rep. Hopkins (Ky.) said a peaceful invasion of this country which has been going on for years must be stopped.

"The Austro-Hungarian government," he said, "has made a contract with the Cunard Steamship Co., plying between Flume and New York, by the terms of which the government obligates itself to furnish the steamship company 30,000 steerage passengers a year for twelve years, or pay a penalty of 100 crowns for each one short of that number."

The Army.

Chairman Hull, of the military affairs committee, in presenting the army appropriation bill to the house urged the necessity of complete preparedness as to our army and navy, for trouble in the orient. He declared that any nation not prepared to defend its position in China might as well haul down its flag and quit the Pacific.

You never need look for a job if you will just attend to the one you have.

EXPENSE OF PASTE DIAMONDS.

Material from Which Imitation Gems Are Made Is Not Cheap.

"Paste," from which imitation precious stones are made, is widely known, but few are acquainted with the ingredients, though it is generally understood that the paste gains its brilliancy from the lead it contains.

Formulas vary for the paste, but all contain rock crystal, red lead, carbonate of potash, borax and white arsenic.

It is required that these articles shall be of a higher grade of purity, as there is a considerable waste, so that the gems made from "strass," as the composition is technically known, are by no means inexpensive.

A paste diamond cannot scratch glass and is thus easily detected, but colored stones are made of crystal alone that are considerably harder than glass.

In the making of these a crystal stone is hollowed out and filled with some colored liquid, the orifice being closed with a plug of crystal, which is ground down so that there is no trace of the junction.—New York Herald.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send circulars free. F. J. CLENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. # Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts"? These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS

AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup"—and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Prof. W. A. Sprout writes from Louisiana that himself and family are well pleased with their work there and that the climate is delightful. Peach trees in blossom, violets in rich profusion and gardens planted some time ago.

Someone has said that "The one who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is a public benefactor." Judging from the way some people drive on lawns in front of residences in many places, it would seem to be the reverse.

John Fuschs, a former resident of Washtenaw county, has been absent several years and his whereabouts unknown. Now the heirs of his father's estate want the courts to declare him legally dead and divide the property. The case will be watched with interest.

Looks like a storm.

Brother Adams of the Fowlerville Review wants a lady or girl compositor in his office. There are several offices in this county who employ lady typewriters and the demand is greater than the supply. The printers trade is a good one for any girl to learn, and once learned the pay is good.

Miss Ella Melvin and Edward Staph of Chelsea were married at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Wednesday, Feb. 21. Miss Melvin is well known here and her many friends extend congratulations. After a short wedding trip they will be at home on a farm near Chelsea.

Some of the state papers the past week have been full of the description of scenes of corruption, and immorality that have been given in some of the low theaters. It would seem to us that the best way to rid a city of things of this kind, is to RID IT, and not give the affair columns of advertising, which only serves to create a desire to ascertain if such and such things are so. Compel the authorities to dump the outfit out of the city limits on the first train that leaves, and not stir it up more than is necessary—it is bad enough without.

Village Caucus.

Winter time is here.

Although mild so far we are promised more severe weather in the near future therefore prepare for it, by making all outside doors Dust, Cold, and Wind Tight—by using Ford's Patent Weather

Strip. The strip consists of two neatly designed moldings as shown in the cut, groove and tongue so that when applied they close together in such a manner as to make an air tight joint, completely excluding all Dust, Cold, Storms and Wind. By using the air tight weather strip you make the worst warped or shrunk door perfectly tight thus keeping your house warm and comfortable and capable of being heated with a saving of fuel which soon pays the cost of the strip.

I also have a Bottom Strip for doors with worn-out thresholds or that leak cold air at the bottom from other causes. Will be in Pinckney in a few days to supply all in want of this kind of goods. Prices right for good goods and work.
