LOCAL NEWS.

Arbor Day, April 27.

Good time to make garden.

Rev. Fr. Comerford was in Dexter last week.

Miss Ida Clements of Hamburg visited friends at Pinckney over Sunday.

W. S. McLaren of the Ann Arbor News was a caller at this office Tuesday.

Gus. Smith of Ypsilanti shook hands with old friends here the first of the week.

Rev. W. G. Stephens of Northville was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. F. G. Jackson, the first of the week.

The Brighton High School are making arrangements for a lecture course of five numbers. They intend to sell enough tickets at $1.00 to pay for the course before they order the numbers.

We received word the first of the week that Alvin Wilsey of Detroit will be in this place again in a few days and will have a new line of lamp goods to show. He will also set up a sample system in the DISPATCH office. Call and see it.

The Easter exercises at the M. E. church were well attended and the classes did well. Appropriate songs and recitations enlivened the occasion and all were well pleased. The Sunday school continues to grow both in numbers and interest.

J. J. Parker came out with a new wagon the first of the week and started Wednesday on the road for Rawley's medidines and spices. The wagon is the same kind as Chas. Bowman uses and presents a fine appearance. Mr. Parker has Clinton county to work.

The Citizens lecture committee of Gregory have secured Woodbridge N. Ferris to deliver his popular lecture, The Twentieth Century Outlook, Thursday evening, Apr. 26. Anyone who enjoys hearing one of the finest lecturers in the state should avail themselves of this opportunity.

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns.

Don't fail to call at our pattern counter and become acquainted with one the latest triumphs of modern merchandising—The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns. There has been a revolution in the method of making patterns and The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns have taken advantage of every modern improvement. This gives patterns that are perfect--patterns that far excel any others in fit, style, and ease with which they can be used. The prices of these patterns are 10 and 15 cents. For the asking you can have a copy of this month's Ladies' Home Journal Style Book, which contains illustrations and descriptions of the latest and most correct styles.

The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns do not waste material.

W. W. BARNARD.

Rev. R. A. Emerick Resigns.

Most of the Congregation at the M. E. church were surprised Sunday morning at the close of the exercises when the pastor, Rev. R. A. Emerick, informed them that owing to ill health he was obliged to leave the work and seek outdoor exercise. It has been known for some time that he was in very poor health but all had been hoping it might improve but it did not, hence the resignation.

He expects to preach until May 1st and by that time Presiding Elder, Dawe will have found a supply for the rest of the conference year.

We understand that Rev. Emerick has rented a farm northwest of Howell and he and the boys will work it in the hopes that the outdoor exercise will bring him back to his normal health. The family moved there the first of the week and Mr. Emerick will drive over here for service each week. Their many friends here wish them success and hope the change will prove beneficial.

A Quiet Wedding.

Miss Lucy Swarthout and Marion Reason were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, W. S. Swarthout and wife, Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, by Rev. G. W. Mylne, only the families of the bride and groom being present.

The bride is the youngest daughter of postmaster Swarthout, and until this spring has conducted milinery parlors here. The groom is a son of Mr and Mrs. Floyd Reason, and for several years has been connected with his father in the buying of stock, this spring taking entire charge of the meat market. The young couple are well known and have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and pleasant life.

They took the east bound train for a short wedding trip to Port Huron and other points and on their return will be at home in the Cong'l parsonage which they have already fitted and furnished.

Congregational Church.

The Easter services were well attended and quite satisfactory. There was some good music and events pleasing to the children and parents, appropriate songs, recitations, etc. Some attractive flowers and plants decorated the chancel.

The attendance at Sunday school was very good, also at the evening service.

The Sanitarium is being re-shingled this week.

The YWCTU will meet at the home of Mrs. F. L. Andrews, Wednesday evening, April 25.

The ladies aid of the Lakin appointment will hold a tea at the home of Mrs. Theo Heisig, in the afternoon of April 26. Everyone invited.

W. C. Devereaux, of the U. S. weather bureau at Milwaukee, Wis., and wife are the guests of relatives and friends here this week. Will was a former Pinckney boy but for ten years has been connected with the weather bureau, having been in Cuba, New York and other places. His many friends are glad to know of his success.

The committee on "old boys and girls days" have not decided anything as yet so that it can be published. They have "something under their hat" and will make things hum soon. If you have any suggestions to offer the committee send them to the secretary as soon as possible that he may bring them before them at an early date. Also send in the names of friends whom you think may not be on our list.

Ovarian Marvels.

A recent account informs us that a Newton (N. J.) man has hens that lay eggs with handles on them, enabling the devourer to dispense with the customary egg cup. While this is wonderful it is only in line with other discoveries being made by scientific men, notably Prof. Burbank in vegetable and Prof. Loeb in animal life. A professor of chemistry in one of the Chicago colleges, whose modesty prevents his allowing his name to be published until later on, has, we are informed, for some time been experimenting with fowls, somewhat on the line, however, of hypnotism. Every farmer's boy knows that hens are very susceptible to hypnotic influences, and it is quite common in the country for boys to hold a hen firmly in their hands and, looking cross-eyed at it, the fowl will soon begin to look cross-eyed and go about for days in that condition. The first experiment made by the professor was in feeding to hens pepper and salt mixed and hanging before hens salt and pepper boxes, so that they could be plainly seen, and in a few days the eggs produced were all seasoned ready for use. Going still further in the matter, he fed the hen on comminuted ham, and the next day the hen produced an egg which, on being cooked, could not be distinguished from the ordinary ham and eggs as served in restaurants, except that it was all together, like a pancake, and it then occured to him that possibly by applying the direct rays of the sun to the hen it might produce a cooked egg, and after experimenting by putting the hen in a glass box and exposing it to the sun the hen produced a cooked egg, and although these things may seem remarkable to the unscientific mind, the professor went still further, and reasoned out that hens could as well produce two eggs per day as one. He therefore fed the hen on sulphur and lime, and also contrived a box with a spring bottom, so that when the first egg was laid it was dropped to a cushion below, and then the hen, as usual, turning around to see the egg which she had laid and it not being visible, in less than an hour produced another complete egg, but it is only fair to say that it was of the common variety, and not quite as large as usual, but the professor thinks within a reasonable time he will produce an educated hen that will lay cooked eggs with ham, or other material, and all ready for use.

Highway Rights.

The public highway should be maintained for public uses. Rights on the public roads when granted to private parties should be for temporary periods and as non-exclusive as possible in their terms. These points need to be insisted upon and most people see the force of arguments directed against the granting of perpetual franchises. It is idle, however, says the Chicago Daily News, for any newspaper or any public man to rail against the past practice of the state in respect of the highways—in giving perpetual rights of way to street car lines or exclusive rights for a period of years. The state in the past could not be wiser than any of the people, and it is only of late that anybody has begun to reason with knowledge of what the future of electric railroading is going to be, and how important a part the highways are going to—or could be made to—play in working out the problem. What is past is past; the blunders already made are made, and they represented the opinion of their day, not only in the legislature, but throughout the province. It is the blunders that have not been made that need to be discussed. People do not yet put enough value on the public highway, which is under control of the municipalities and the province. One thing the people know is that they want electric railways, and want them now. For cheapness and convenience they want them on the highways. They expect that they and their children after them will use these lines perpetually. But they should get them by wise and not by foolish bargaining.

"I am an innocent man. You are sentencing me to a living grave. I only hope that I may live to see those who have wronged me in the grave of death." So spoke Tinner Jackson when he was sentenced by Judge C. S. Johnson, of Skagway, Alaska, several months ago, to ten years for manslaughter. On the same day recently, President Roosevelt pardoned Jackson and Judge Johnson died. Whether this may be taken as an evidence of the man's innocence or merely a singular coincidence the reader may judge.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

THE LAKE NAVAL MILITIA FROM FOUR STATES IN SQUADRON.

SOME GOOD PRACTICE WORK TO BE DONE IN AUGUST EVOLUTIONS.

THE RENDEZVOUS TO BE OFF SOUTH MANITOU ISLAND—THE SEVERAL COMMANDS.

Our Lake Navy.

It is hoped that former Executive Officer Newberry, of the Michigan Naval Reserves, will find time from his duties as assistant secretary of the navy to visit the officers in charge of the squadron evolutions to be held on the great lakes early in August, which will be the first interstate gathering of naval militia in the United States. Thus far, none of the states along the ocean have had interstate squadron evolutions, hence men of the middle west, in the states bordering on the great lakes, take a just pride in their patriotic enterprise.

The states represented will include Illinois, whose sailors are technically known as the Illinois Naval Reserves, joined by the naval militia of Minnesota, Ohio and Michigan. Illinois will send her reserves on the U. S. S. Dorothea, Michigan men will go on the U. S. S. Yantic; Ohio's sailors will be on board the U. S. S. Essex and the U. S. S. Hawk, and Minnesota's men will sail on the U. S. S. Fern, recently rechristened the Gopher.

The Dorothea will be in charge of Capt. W. F. Purdy; the Yantic under Comander Fred Standish, the Gopher, Commander Guy A. Eaton; the Essex, Lieut. Com. A. F. Nicklett, and the Hawk, Lieut.-Com. Henry Morrell, U. S. N. headquarters at Erie, will be in command, and will be aboard the U. S. S. Wolverine.

The fleet will meet Sunday morning, August 5, at Mackinac and cruise in squadron-formation, sometimes in double-column, to South Manitou island.

Monday will be spent in boat drills, all the small boats of the squadron participating.

Tuesday will be devoted to target practice, squadron evolutions and battle tactics, which take place west of South Manitou island, in that part of the lake unfrequented by merchant ships.

On Wednesday, the men will be engaged in landing a force of infantry and artillery on South Manitou.

On Thursday will occur the boat races and other naval sports. The squadron will leave in the afternoon for Harbor Springs, Mich.

Friday morning the squadron sails north to Mackinac, where the vessels separate, the Dorothea returning to Chicago, the Gopher to Duluth, the Yantic and Hawk going south.

There will be five days of hard duties. Already officers, quartermasters and signalmen, in the various organizations concerned, have been actively engaged in preparations. Never before has there been so large an incentive. The affair is of national importance, and the records for efficiency, proficiency, aptitude and general appearance will be closely scrutinized by United States naval experts from the Atlantic fleet.

Must Pay the Whole.

Attorney General Bradley has returned to the Wisconsin Central railroad a check for the payment of its delinquent taxes and penalty which the company had assumed to figure at 5 per cent, instead of 1 per cent a month, as the tax law provides. Accompanying the check, which was returned, was a statement by the auditor general that he could not accept any amount less than the full amount of the taxes, with interest at the rate provided in the law. The checks of other railroad companies for the payment of taxes, without the penalty, have been held up by the auditor general, and will not be accepted until accompanied by the full amount of the penalty.

The Prison Fire.

Spontaneous combustion among shavings in a bin on the first floor of the three-story shop of the Michigan Wagon Co., at the state prison caused a fire which completely ruined the building and destroyed the machinery. The fire was discovered by a pedestrian outside, who turned in an alarm and the city department was at the gates before the prison authorities knew of the blaze. Meantime a blower which carried the shavings to the bin fanned the flames so that they had spread throughout the building and the firemen had no chance to save the structure. The loss to the state is $25,000 on the building, and to the Michigan Wagon Co., $15,000 on machinery and materials. The plant employed 35 men.

Carl Carpo, aged 10, of Port Huron, fell while trying to catch a train and one of his legs was crushed so badly it had to be amputated.

Mrs. Millie Mowatt, of Howard City, after waiting eight years for a widow's pension, died after receiving news that her claim had been allowed, with $500 back pay. Mrs. Mowatt was practically penniless at the time of her death.

WASHINGTON REPORTS

THE MUCK RAKE MAN OF THE PRESENT DAY PICTURED.

ROOSEVELT'S FORCEFUL VIEWS OF THE MODERN LIAR, THIEF AND SCOFFER.

AN EARNEST PLEA FOR HIGHER STANDARDS IN THE REALM OF THE NATION'S AFFAIRS.

The Potent Force of Evil.

President Roosevelt's much-heralded speech on "The Man With the Muck Rake" was delivered Saturday afternoon at the laying of the corner-stone of the house of representatives' office building. Among the many strong points of the address these had place:

"The man who never does anything save think, write or speak of his feats with the muck-rake is one of the most potent forces of evil."

"The liar is no whit better than the thief, and if his mendacity takes the form of slander he may be worse than most thieves."

"One serious difficulty in getting the right type of men to dig the Panama canal is the certainty that they will be assailed both within and without congress."

"There is nothing more distressing to every good patriot than the hard, scoffing spirit which treats the allegation of dishonesty in a public man as a cause for laughter."

"Some persons are sincerely incapable of understanding that to denounce mud-slinging does not mean the indorsement of whitewashing, and both those who need whitewashing and those who practice mud-slinging like to encourage such confusion of ideas."

"The wealthy man who exults in failure of justice is as bad as the so-called labor leader who clamorously strives to excite a foul class feeling on behalf of some other labor leader who is implicated in murder."

"I feel that we shall ultimately have to consider the adoption of some such scheme as that of a progressive tax on all fortunes swollen beyond healthy limits."

Victims of Vesuvius.

The period of danger has passed, and only desolation and slowly declining panic remain. Mount Vesuvius has ceased to give any sign of life. The volcano seems to have spent itself in one enormous convulsion. There is no escaping from the awful evidences of the volcano's fury. At Boscotrecase the exhumation of the dead is being carried on by soldiers, who, owing to the advanced state of decomposition of the corpses are unable to work more than an hour at a time. The work is one of great financial cost as well as of danger and arduousness to those engaged in it. Many of the bodies are merely shapeless, unrecognizable masses of flesh and bones, while others are but little disfigured. As quickly as possible they are burled in quick lime, to lessen as far as may be the danger of epidemic. None but those engaged in the work of recovering the corpses are permitted in the vicinity.

The Kearsarge Explosion.

An explosion of powder at the close of target practice on the battleship Kearsarge, in the Caribbean sea, off Caimamera, Cuba, Saturday afternoon, killed seven and injured fourteen. The official report says: On April 13, about 3:15 p. m., shortly after completion of target practice of Kearsarge forward turret, while the powder was going below, three sections of a 13-inch charge of powder were ignited. Charge of powder in other lift just below and on section inside 13-inch remained intact. Cause not yet determined; no accountability. Matter is being investigated. Lieut. Joseph W. Graeme, gun umpire, has been sent to the Maryland in a very critical state about 9 p. m. The following have since died: Lieut. Hudgins, turret officer; Peter Norberg, gunner's mate; Theodore Naegely, seaman; Anton O. Thorson, ordinary seaman; Julius A. Koester, turret captain, first class; Ellis H. Athey, seaman. The following was dangerously injured by accident, recovery doubtful: W. King, ordinary seaman. Will bury dead at Guantanamo. Vessel uninjured.

Watching Gorky.

A trusted agent of the Russian secret police is in New York, friends of Maxim Gorky have learned, for the purpose of organizing an effective system of espionage on Gorky and his two fellow revolutionists who are here to raise funds for the cause of the Russian revolutionists. The emperor's spy crossed the Atlantic on the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, that brought Gorky to this country last Tuesday.

Scrapping Women.

Robert Donovan, of Charlotte, was returning home in the evening when he was startled by the shrieks and cries of a woman. On investigation he found two women fighting in the gutter and each had a liberal supply of the other's hair. He separated the pair, but they went at it again, and desisted only when he threatened to cause their arrest if they didn't stop. One of the women was a wife and the other her alleged rival.

North Adams will have a law and order league.

NEW CHINESE BILL.

Representative Denby, of Michigan, introduced a bill today making extensive revision of the Chinese exclusion act. It extends the operation of this act ten years and incorporates the recommendations of Commissioner-General Sargent for American inspectors in China under the supervision of the immigration service and for the re-registration of Chinese now in this country. The bill is not intended to modify the basic policy of excluding Chinese laborers, but, according to Mr. Denby, is an attempt to find a compromise which shall harmonize differences with China.

It permits Chinese residents of this country to go and come at will under proper regulation in regard to return certificates, etc. It repeals the provision of existing law permitting Chinese laborers to leave the United States and subsequently return only in case they have wives or families or debts due to them in the United States and which limits their right of return to one year. It admits Chinese applicants for the writ of habeas corpus to bail—a privilege now denied them.

Hobo Got His.

James Ross, a hobo, was arrested by officers on complaint of Orlo Bates, a Lapeer hack driver, whom Ross attacked with a crutch. Ross was working the begging graft around the city, although all that ails his foot is a small sore on his heel. In company with another hobo he stopped Bates and asked for money. Bates refused. Ross raised his crutch to strike, but Bates seized it and dealt him a serious blow on the head. Ross dropped to the ground and his companion ran away. Officer Elliott found Ross bleeding profusely in a box car, being weak from the loss of blood. Justice Wright gave him 30 days in jail.

Peter McClean, aged 70, of Forest township, was found lying unconscious back of a barn, in this village, where he had evidently fallen during the night. He was removed to the home of a physician where he died from the exposure.

NEWS OF THE STATE

DOWIE'S SUMMER HOME AT WHITE LAKE SOLD OUT.

LABOR COMMISSIONER'S PLEA FOR FEMALE WORKERS IN STORES AND FACTORIES.

THAT SCHOOL MONEY FROM THE RAILROAD BACK TAXES IS A VEXED QUESTION.

Dowie's Summer Home.

In the presence of 1,500 persons drawn from all parts of Michigan, the furniture and expensive fittings of Ben Mac Dhui, the palatial summer home of John Alexander Dowie, at White Lake, were sold under the hammer. The scene was one of confusion. Piled about everywhere were rugs, furniture, beds and articles of every description. The former sanctity of the place was altogether wanting. The sale started off briskly and everything went cheap and quickly. Art glass goblets went for as low as sixty cents a dozen. An art gallery replete with Japanese prints and worth perhaps $500, went for $50. Mahogany and oak furniture went at the price of pine. Barely one-twentieth of the worth of the goods was realized. To aid the depleted finances at Zion City, the most beautiful and magnificent summer home in the west has been deprived of its former beauty. The residence now stands stripped of its expensive furnishings. On the grounds everything, down to stump pullers and benches, tin pails and pumps, has gone. The sale brought out fresh evidence of Dowie's extravagance. Furniture, beautiful but worthless, was displayed. Persian rugs of the finest texture went along with matting. Five hundred blankets, bought three years ago but never used brought the price of possibly fifty.

Labor in Factories.

Women and children who toil in the factories and stores of Michigan should not be required to work more than nine hours a day, in the opinion of State Labor Commissioner Malcolm J. McLeod. In the preface of his annual report which is being prepared Mr. McLeod makes this recommendation.

"An amendment to the state law which will shorten the hours of work for women and children, so that employes of this class may not be compelled to work more than 54 hours in any one week, has my sympathy and earnest recommendation. This would include women and girls who work in stores, who are now often obliged to work for 12 to 15 hours each day."

In discussing child labor, the commissioner says that parents and guardians who will send their children of a tender age to the factory or workshop for the pittance they may earn will not scruple to make false affidavit as to their age. He adds that there should be either a transcript of the record of birth, the church records or some other documentary evidence required by law.

Mr. McLeod also recommends that the factory inspection law be amended to require factory managers and operators to report within 24 hours with all data any accident wherein an employe is so injured that he is disabled and prevented from working. "Publicity would not prevent all accidents," the commissioner says, "but it would cause diligence, and with the reports the department could investigate these accidents, determine the cause and prevent a repetition."

The School Moneys.

Is there a scheme to deposit the $8,000,000 due from the railroads under the tax decision, in the custody of a number of pet state banks, instead of either depositing it in proportions in the banks in various counties, or paying it over at once to the various school boards?

That the money will not go at once to the school boards is the fear of Senator Doherty, of Claire, and Rep. William J. Galbraith, of Houghton. Mr. Galbraith is the author of the equalization bill which was passed by the last legislature, and also of the bill reducing the tax commission to three members. He is regarded among the members of the legislature as an authority on taxation and tax law. There has been newspaper talk that the money might not be turned over.

"The law and the constitution contemplate the immediate payment of that money to the various school boards of the state at once. The proposition to divert any part of this immense sum of money to the normal schools would prove most unpopular, because the ordinary Michigan citizen is more jealous of the school fund than of any other, and this is right.

"The money should be paid out at once. There is always a danger when there is any great sum of money to be [illegible] that it will go to a few favored [illegible] in various localities, instead of being distributed in the banks throughout the state. The law intends that the money be distributed at once. The school boards are the custodians, and they need the money. Any other course will be extremely unpopular."

Frederick Heimforth, of Leland, aged 81, sat down to rest after doing the chores, and was dead in a few moments.

AROUND THE STATE.

After Many Years.

Gideon Chilson, aged 85, an inmate of the Michigan Soldiers' home since it was opened, believes he has tidings of his two children whom he has not seen since he left his home in Waterloo, N. Y., in 1864 and went to Detroit to enlist in the Fourteenth Michigan Infantry. When at the close of the war he returned to his old home, he learned that his son and daughter, and their grandmother, having received tidings of his death, had sold the property and left for parts unknown. He was never able to get any trace of them afterwards. A few days ago one of Mr. Chilson's chums spoke of a young man in Monroe county, New York, named Wm. Chilson. The old man became all attention on the moment and asked the aid of the sheriff in the hope that he would at last find his loved ones.

"Don't write to them," said he with a chuckle. "If I find that they are really my son and daughter I want to surprise them with a visit."

The Search For Morley.

Detectives will search the entire globe for Laverger, the bogus French officer who is suspected of knowing the fate of Reuben Morley, the young Saginaw man thought to have been murdered in northern China, last year. Laverger was his companion when he last wrote home, and later is known to have represented himself as Morley and to have cashed Morley's drafts, amounting to hundreds of dollars at Pekin and other points in the orient. John E. Morley, of Cleveland, half brother of the missing man, has gone to New York to confer with a big detective agency. No expense will be spared to hunt Laverger down, even if it takes years to accomplish the mission.

Revise Constitution.

The voters of Michigan, having declared by a large majority for a convention to revise the present state constitution, which was adopted 56 years ago, it is an interesting citation from the records which show that although 37 amendments have been made to it at general elections, propositions for a general revision have been twice rejected. Twice revision was authorized and each time the revision was rejected by the people, and once a resolution to revise was authorized, but the vote was so small that nothing further was done. The official returns are not all in yet, but so far as received they indicate a pretty strong sentiment for revision this year in every section of the state.

Shearing Under Class Men.

With heads looking as if lawnmowers had been passed over them, 20 "plebs" marched into the Orchard Lake academy mess hall and gave the faculty a surprise. After quarters had been inspected by Assistant Commander Deal Wednesday night, sheeted forms dropped out of the windows, and armed with scissors and clippers of various makes and sizes approached the rooms of the unsuspecting plebs. They were routed from their beds, blindfolded and subjected to picturesque hair-cutting.

Horses Cremated.

Twenty-eight horses were burned to death in a fire which destroyed Henry Sprick's livery stable in Grand Rapids. One of the animals was a pacer valued at $500. One horse escaped. Nearly all of the equipment was also destroyed by the fire, which started in the rear barn among the horses and it is believed that some one went to sleep there. Henry Spick, proprietor, is one of Michigan's best known horsemen and has a state reputation. His loss is $6,000, without insurance, leaving him practically broke.

Division of Penalties.

There is a strong probability that the penalties to be paid by the railroads for failure to pay their taxes will be placed in the general fund of the state, if the railroads are finally compelled to pay the prescribed penalty of 1 per cent a month. The penalties due amount to nearly a million and a quarter dollars, and the receipt of this sum by the general fund will have a tendency to reduce state taxation another year.

Thrifty People.

The "flying rollers" now own 800 acres of fine farming land around Benton Harbor, and some 600 acres is covered with magnificent peach orchards. Their methods of work are such that, if they desired, they could at any time control the market on a lower basis. One check for $855.50 was received by them last season for one day's picking from a single farm of ten acres.

Escaped Death.

Fire was discovered under the house occupied by L. Chancey Morse, a mile north of Lansing, having been started in a basket of corncobs saturated with oil. Two sons arrived home at an opportune time and awakened their father and mother, who were asleep.

Lost Eyesight.

The 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Granger, of Pontiac, was playing with other children in the yard when she fell down, and the sharp end of a rose bush entered the pupil of her eye. She will lose the sight of it. Mr. Granger was one of those who lost all their worldly possessions in the R. D. Scott fire last week.

Mrs. George Thompson, of Pontiac, was thrown from her horse against a tree and her skull was fractured. She may recover.

GIVE EAR!

A Young Girl said to a Cooking School Teacher in New York: "If You make One Statement as False as That, All You have said about Foods is Absolutely Unreliable."

This burst of true American girl indignation was caused by the teacher saying that Grape-Nuts, the popular pre-digested food, was made of stale bread shipped in and sweetened.

The teacher colored up and changed the subject.

There is quite an assortment of traveling and stay-at-home members of the tribe of Ananias who tell their falsehoods for a variety of reasons.

In the spring it is the custom on a cattle ranch to have a "round up," and brand the cattle, so we are going to have a "round up," and brand these cattle and place them in their proper pastures.

FIRST PASTURE.

Cooking school teachers—this includes "teachers" who have applied to us for a weekly pay if they would say "something nice" about Grape-Nuts and Postum, and when we have declined to hire them to do this they get waspy and show their true colors.

This also includes "demonstrators" and "lecturers" sent out by a certain Sanitarium to sell foods made there, and these people instructed by the small-be-whiskered doctor—the head of the institution—to tell these prevarications (you can speak the stronger word if you like). This same little doctor conducts a small magazine in which there is a department of "answers to correspondents," many of the questions as well as the answers being written by the aforesaid doctor.

In this column some time ago appeared the statement: "No, we cannot recommend the use of Grape-Nuts for it is nothing but bread with glucose poured over it." Right then he showed his badge as a member of the tribe of Ananias. He may have been a member for some time before, and so he has caused these "lecturers" to descend into the ways of the tribe wherever they go.

When the young lady in New York put the "iron on" to this "teacher" and branded her right we sent $10.00 to the girl for her pluck and bravery.

SECOND PASTURE.

Editors of "Trade" papers known as grocers' papers.

Remember, we don't put the brand on all, by any means. Only those that require it. These members of the tribe have demanded that we carry advertising in their papers and when we do not consider it advisable they institute a campaign of vituperation and slander, printing from time to time manufactured slurs on Postum or Grape-Nuts. When they go far enough we set our legal force at work and hale them to the judge to answer. If the pace has been hot enough to throw some of these "cattle" over on their backs, feet tied and "bellowing," do you think we should be blamed? They gambol around with tails held high and jump stiff legged with a very "cocky" air while they have full range, but when the rope is thrown over them "it's different."

Should we untie them because they bleat soft and low? Or should we put the iron on, so that people will know the brand?

Let's keep them in this pasture, anyhow.

THIRD PASTURE.

Now we come to a frisky lot, the "Labor Union" editors. You know down in Texas a weed called "Loco" is sometimes eaten by a steer and produces a derangement of the brain that makes the steer "batty" or crazy. Many of these editors are "Locoed" from hate of anyone who will not instantly obey the "demands" of a labor union, and it is the universal habit of such writers to go straight into a system of personal vilification, manufacturing any sort of falsehood through which to vent their spleen. We assert that the common citizen has a right to live and breathe air without asking permission of the labor trust and this has brought down on us the hate of these editors. When they go far enough with their libels, is it harsh for us to get judgment against them and have our lawyers watch for a chance to attach money due them from others? (For they are usually irresponsible.)

Keep your eye out for the "Locoed" editor.

Now let all these choice specimens take notice:

We will deposit one thousand or fifty thousand dollars to be covered by a like amount from them, or any one of them, and if there was ever one ounce of old bread or any other ingredient different than our selected wheat and barley with a little salt and yeast used in the making of Grape-Nuts, we will lose the money.

Our pure food factories are open at all times to visitors, and thousands pass through each month, inspecting every department and every process. Our factories are so clean that one could, with good relish, eat a meal from the floors.

The work people, both men and women, are of the highest grade in the state of Michigan, and according to the state labor reports, are the highest paid in the state for similar work.

Let us tell you exactly what you will see when you inspect the manufacture of Grape-Nuts. You will find tremendous elevators containing the choicest wheat and barley possible to buy. These grains are carried through long conveyers to grinding mills, and there converted into flour. Then the machines make selection of the proper quantities of this flour in the proper proportion and these parts are blended into a general flour which passes over to the big dough mixing machines, there water, salt and a little yeast are added and the dough kneaded the proper length of time.

Remember that previous to the barley having been ground it was passed through about one hundred hours of soaking in water, then placed on warm floors and slightly sprouted, developing the diastase in the barley, which changes the starch in the grain into a form of sugar.

Now after we have passed it into dough and it has been kneaded long enough, it is moulded by machinery into loaves about 18 inches long and 5 or 6 inches in diameter. It is put into this shape for convenience in second cooking.

These great loaves are sliced by machinery and the slices placed on wire trays, these trays, in turn, placed on great steel trucks, and rolled into the secondary ovens, each perhaps 75 or 80 feet long. There the food is subjected to a long low heat and the starch which has not been heretofore transformed is turned into a form of sugar generally known as Post Sugar. It can be seen glistening on the granules of Grape-Nuts if held toward the light, and this sugar is not poured over or put on the food as these prevaricators ignorantly assert. On the contrary the sugar exudes from the interior of each little granule during the process of manufacture, and reminds one of the little white particles of sugar that come out on the end of a hickory log after it has been sawed off and allowed to stand for a length of time.

This Post Sugar is the most digestible food known for human use. It is so perfect in its adaptability that mothers with very young infants will pour a little warm milk over two or three spoonfuls of Grape-Nuts, thus washing the sugar off from the granules and carrying it with the milk to the bottom of the dish. Then this milk charged with Post Sugar is fed to the infants producing the most satisfactory results, for the baby has food that it can digest quickly and will go off to sleep well fed and contented.

When baby gets two or three months old it is the custom of some mothers to allow the Grape-Nuts to soak in the milk a little longer and become mushy, whereupon a little of the food can be fed in addition to the milk containing the washed off sugar.

It is by no means manufactured for a baby food, but these facts are stated as an illustration of a perfectly digestible food.

It furnishes the energy and strength for the great athletes. It is in common use by physicians in their own families and among their patients, and can be seen on the table of every first-class college in the land.

We quote from the London Lancet analysis as follows:

"The basis of nomenclature of this preparation is evidently an American pleasantry, since 'Grape-Nuts' is derived solely from cereals. The preparatory process undoubtedly converts the food constituents into a much more digestible condition than in the raw cereal. This is evident from the remarkable solubility of the preparation, no less than one-half of it being soluble in cold water. The soluble part contains chiefly dextrin and no starch. In appearance 'Grape-Nuts' resembles fried bread-crumbs. The grains are brown and crisp, with a pleasant taste not unlike slightly burnt malt. According to our analysis the following is the composition of 'Grape-Nuts:' Moisture, 6.02 per cent; mineral matter, 2.01 per cent; fat, 1.60 per cent; proteids, 15.00 per cent; soluble carbohydrates, etc., 49.40 per cent; and unaltered carbohydrates (insoluble), 25.97 per cent. The features worthy of note in this analysis are the excellent proportion of proteid, mineral matters, and soluble carbohydates per cent. The mineral matter was rich in phosphoric acid. 'Grape-Nuts' is described as a brain and nerve food, whatever that may be. Our analysis, at any rate, shows that it is a nutritive of a high order, since it contains the constituents of a complete food in very satisfactory and rich proportion and in an easily assimilable state."

An analysis made by the Canadian Government some time ago shows that Grape-Nuts contains nearly ten times the digestible elements contained in ordinary cereals, and foods, and nearly twice the amount contained in any other food analyzed.

The analysis is familiar to practically every successful physician in America and London.

We print this statement in order that the public may know the exact facts upon which we stake our honor and will back it with any amount of money that any person or corporation will put up.

We propose to follow some of these choice specimens of the tribe of Ananias.

When you hear a cooking school teacher or any other person assert that either Postum or Grape-Nuts are made of any other ingredients than those printed on the packages and as we say they are made, send us the name and address, also name of two or three witnesses, and if the evidence is clear enough to get a judgment we will right that wrong quickly.

Our business has always been conducted on as high a grade of human intelligence as we are capable of, and we propose to clear the deck of these prevaricators and liars whenever and wherever they can be found.

Attention is again called to the general and broad invitation to visitors to go through our works, where they will be shown the most minute process and device in order that they may understand how pure and clean and wholesome Grape-Nuts and Postum are.

There is an old saying among business men that there is some chance to train a fool, but there is no room for a liar, for you never can tell where you are, and we hereby serve notice on all the members of this ancient tribe of Ananias that they may follow their calling in other lines, but when they put forth their lies about Grape-Nuts and Postum, we propose to give them an opportunity to answer to the proper authorities.

The New York girl wisely said that if a person would lie about one item, it brands the whole discourse as absolutely unreliable.

Keep your iron ready and brand these "mavericks" whenever you find them running loose.

The railway rate discussion in the senate has been nine-tenths argument about constitutional law, and one-tenth defense of the right of the people to fair rates. It seems too bad that a government that in its infancy could put to flight the British, and later do up the Spanish in one round, should at last meet defeat at the hands of the trusts. We believe the government should rise up and show its power in the matter by dealing with the trust managers as they did with Old England when she oppressed the citizens of the United States.

We Visit Parke, Davis & Co.

While attending the Eastern Michigan Press Club at Detroit the past week we were the guests Friday afternoon of the above company and were very much interested in seeing the manner in which the medicines we know about and the ones we never thought of, manufactured. We had not thought it a place of much interest but came to the conclusion that a visit to Detroit would be incomplete without a tour of the immense laboratories of Parke, Davis & Co., where pharmaceutical preparations of all kinds are made on a vast scale, including the modern serums or antitoxins, vaccines, and other agents used by physicians in the treatment of the sick.

The plant fronts upon the Detroit river and covers an area of nearly 20 acres. The buildings are substantial brick structures, well equipped for the purposes for which they were designed, and so conveniently located that goods are not handled unnecessarily in transfering them from one department to another. Starting at one end of the plant, at the crude drug loft, the materials are gradually transported from department to department until they reach the shipping department at the other end of the route as finished preparations, ready for the consumer.

The biological work is one of the most interesting features of the whole establishment. In a splendid fire-proof structure, standing directly on the edge of the river, are the Departments of Experimental Medicine and the Biological Department. The latter was established many years ago, Parke, Davis & Co. being among the very first American manufacturers to take up the matter of antitoxin production.

The entire plant is equipped with the automatic sprinkling apparatus for fire protection besides having several fire companies of their own and their own system of water works. They called out one of the companies for drill while we were present and they had three streams of water going on the building inside of one minute from the time the alarm was sounded and the fourth in the next ten seconds. Considering that the men belonging to the fire brigade are workmen in the factory this was a very short time.

There is so much to be seen, and to the layman so much that is novel, that it is very difficult to describe a visit to the "largest pharmaceutical laboratories in the world" within the comparatively limited space of a newspaper article. One must go and see for himself, to be fully enlightened and since visitors are always cordially welcomed, tourists passing through Detroit will find it well worth while to call upon Parke, Davis & Co.

If alcohol and beer will eat off the finger ends of bartenders and eat up their shoes, what will it do to a drinker's stomach.—California Searchlight.

The city of Johannesburg, South Africa, prohibits advertisements regarding liquor and gambling on a penalty of $12 or two months' imprisonment. This law is enforced.

The Watchman calls attention to a fact, the significance of which should be heeded: "In the Saloon territory of Texas there is an average of one convict for every 50 people, while in the territory in which there are no saloons there is an average of one convict for every 1,500 people.

Gen. Noel Gaines, an army officer of long experience, throws some new and important light on this vexed question. Many officers have affirmed that the abolition of the canteen greatly increased insubordination, drunkenness and desertions in the army; but this Gen. Gaines stoutly denies, and offers other reasons for the existing condition in the army. Here is a quotation from his statement: "The truth is the inability of the soldiers to obtain liquor is not the cause of the increased desertions and poor dicipline and ill-content of the men, but rather the low standard of morals of men and officers growing out of drinking intoxicating liquors in any form, whereby their morality, sense of honor and patroitism are gradually destroyed, coupled with the tyrannical treatment of the enlisted men—all of whom are Americans and will not tolerate tyranny—by almost the whole of the young officers of the army and a great many of the elder ones, are real causes. I testify to this from personal observation. These officers have made a gulf between them and the men they command that is akin to that between foppish royalty and the poor peasantry in a despotic monarchy."

THE COLONEL'S WIFE

BY

WARREN EDWARDS

AUTHOR OF "THE DISPATCH BEARER," ETC.

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY STREET & SMITH

As he finally passed beyond the enemy's pickets and felt safe, his thoughts began to turn once more towards Lyndhurst.

He wondered whether the old darky with his snail-moving mule could have arrived and delivered the note Major Worden had so kindly written concerning his fate.

If so, how would she receive it?

Colonel John wanted to be magnanimous, but he was deeply interested here, and he never in his life wished so much for anything as a chance to witness what occurred when that note was delivered.

It would possibly settle some little matters in his mind, which were beginning to worry him.

And thinking thus, he reached the gate that opened into the spacious grounds of Lyndhurst.

Then the house loomed up.

Lights could still be seen about the house, though the hour was close on to midnight.

He wondered at this, for they retired early as a usual thing.

Upon entering the house John felt a deep satisfaction over his escape. Somehow he seemed to associate it with Mollie—why not, when she was the prime cause of his adventure?

He advanced to the library; a voice fell upon his ears, a voice that was peculiar, and which he knew belonged to the odd genius of a darky who had driven the mule by means of which Worden conducted his prisoner of war to the shell-wrecked house.

The special courier had arrived ahead of him.

Colonel John halted just beyond the door. A mirror in the hall reflected the interior of the library, and he could see that Mollie was alone with Worden's messenger, who was fumbling in the pockets of his ragged army coat.

"I done speck I lost 'im missy. De majah he skin dis darky alibe if dat be true. I'd jest as soon be dat Yank wif de rope round his neck as dis ole coon. Dar's on'y one last chance dat I put it in de linin' ob my hat. Shore ossifer he smoke um cigar jest as cool as a cucumber," returned the ebony messenger, showing his ivories.

She wrung her hands in distress.

"It is too late then. He has before now suffered the extreme penalty of the court-martial. If I had only known of it in time I would have saved him, even as he did me from the burning house. Oh! I shall never forget the clasp of his strong arm as he bore me out of the flames. I awoke then to a knowledge of the fact that I no longer hated him as formerly."

Sweet words to the man who stood at the door and strained his hearing to catch what she said.

He saw her press a small kerchief to her eyes—she was weeping for him. Ye gods! how it thrilled John Ridgeway—he had never before felt the influence of the divine spark, and as is natural, when a man reaches the age of thirty without having given any time to love matters, then the shock when it comes has an irresistible force.

Then her frame seemed shaken with emotion, and the tears could be seen glistening in her eyes as she turned to the negro.

"Do you really believe they—hung him, Pomp?" she asked, with a tremor in her voice.

"I specks dey did, missy. Dar was a look on de majah's face dat mean business. I done reckons him goose cooked shuah."

"The contemptible wretch, to think the way to a woman's heart is over the body of her husband—for he was such to me by law, even if I did say I hated him. Poor John! I did not know—prejudice blinded me. As for Basil Worden, I shall never speak to him again. He has created an abyss between us that will live forever, and cannot be bridged. Oh! John, why did you come to arouse these strange feelings in my heart! I thought I was devoted body and soul to the cause, but now I feel strange doubts arising. We are losing the game—perhaps his side is the right one after all."

She seemed to sadly muse, and the unseen witness was wondering how he could disclose his presence without giving her too great a shock, when suddenly she looked directly at him.

WORDEN'S MESSAGE

He advanced.

Her pallor gave way to a rosy blush—she even looked glad for a moment, though quickly allowing a shade of anger to sweep over her face.

"So, you are alive after all—was this a trick on your part to unmask my feelings? It would be contemptible if true," she flashed.

"What you say is quite just. As it happens I have just escaped from your friends, leaving them in the old house with some wounds to care for and an empty noose on their hands. Hence, you see I don't merit your sarcasm."

She looked into his face eagerly as if desirous of reading the truth.

"Can it be possible—you would not deceive me?"

"Why should I? See, my six-shooter is empty—upon my wrists notice the marks where the cord cut into my flesh, and here we have the burn that inevitably followed when I applied the fire of my cigar to my bonds at the last minute. To clinch the matter you have the major's message."

"It is true. I am glad you escaped, John Ridgeway," averting her eyes.

"Is that all, Mollie?" advancing another step.

"Why, what more can I say?" trembling.

He picked up her kerchief.

"This is moist—I saw you cry—tears shed for me! Ah, Mollie, I dare not say more—that oath prevents my making advances—they must come from you. I pray you let no false modesty stand in the way to wreck our lives."

She suddenly held out her hand.

"How can I help it, John Ridgeway? I hate you no longer. We are friends—yes, you may even hope. Let me go now, please. Good night, John."

CHAPTER XXIV.

War in the Mountain Passes.

Though strongly tempted to take her in his arms John forbore, and it was just as well, for Mollie had not yet realized that she loved him, this man whom a strange fate had made her husband.

He squeezed the little hand, while his eyes eloquently declared the burning language his dumb lips dared not speak, for there was no clause in that contract prohibiting the language of the soul.

Then he dropped her hand.

"Good night—God bless you, my dear girl. I shall hope, yes, more, I will believe that when this cruel war is over, and the North and South are again united as of old, you will not deny me the privilege of calling you by that blessed name of—wife. I shall say no more—good night."

She was gone, and Colonel John, left alone in the library, paced up and down for half an hour wrapped in thought, and judging from the smile upon his face, he must have had pleasant cogitations.

Then he went out to give more positive orders to the men on guard, having an idea that the venomous Major Worden might make still another attempt to unhorse him.

Morning came without further adventure, and with it a sudden order from headquarters calling for Colonel John's presence.

He was not even given a chance to see Mollie again, but looking back as he galloped down the avenue he saw a fluttering white kerchief held in a hand that protruded from the shutters of her room, and raised his cap in answer.

Reaching Sherman's quarters, he received instructions to get his command in readiness for immediate action.

Already a relief detachment had gone forward to assume the guardianship of Lyndhurst, and John would thus have all that was left of his command.

Upon leaving Atlanta their course was almost directly northwest, through the rugged defiles of the great chain of mountains that guards the border line between the three states, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

Few knew whither they were going.

Sherman kept his secret well.

Among the officers, however, the facts were known.

In his march from Chattanooga to Atlanta the Federal general had been compelled to fight almost every foot of the way.

To accomplish this, indeed, to remain even at Atlanta for months it was necessary that his line of communication with Chattanooga remain intact.

Of course, once Atlanta fell, the Confederates saw the chance to reduce their victorious enemy, and for the time their energies were devoted to the task of cutting of his line of communications.

If this could be done, Sherman would be in a serious condition indeed.

There promised to be some lively times on the scenes of former desperate battles.

Colonel John and his regiment had been ordered to join the column about to move back to the relief of the brave general who had been left among the mountains of Georgia to guard Altoona Pass, a point of immense value to Sherman in keeping up communications with his base of supplies at Chattanooga.

Messages had been received from General Corse, messages that told of overwhelming foes against which he and his little command were holding out with a bravery born of desperation.

So abrupt was their departure, owing to the need of haste, that Colonel John was not given a chance to have another interview with the girl whom the fortune of war had made his wife.

He sent her a message, however, just as they were leaving the city.

The march was one of haste.

Should Altoona Pass be taken by the enemy, much of Sherman's hard work must be done over again.

That meant desperate fighting, climbing the granite-faced hills in the midst of a deadly fire, of awful hand-to-hand fights—all this and more if brave Corse had been compelled to surrender before Sherman arrived to succor him.

There were not many obstacles in the way.

Negro Baptists.

There are more than 2,000,000 negro Baptists in this country, with fifty institutions of learning and forty-five denominational papers. They have a national organization, with boards for missions, home and foreign, education, publication and the young people's societies.

Puts Eyes in Boats.

The Chinese always paint an eye on either side of their junks' bow, so that the boats can see their way.

Decapitation of Words.

A writer in the London Chronicle says: "Our language's trick of decapitating words, as in 'bus, 'phone, and 'wig' is not at all a modern failing. Take the common words 'spend' and 'sport.' Our very early ancestors had the verb 'spendan,' and yet 'spend' is really a disguising abbreviation of the Latin 'dis-pendere,' to pay out. 'Sport' is another very old English word, yet it is really 'disport'—'dis-port,' to carry apart, which acquired the metaphorical sense of pleasure or amusement precisely as 'divert' and 'transport.'"

Toast Better Than Bread.

Toast is better as an article of diet than ordinary bread, says Health, for the simple reason that it is better cooked, and, therefore, more easily digested. The toasting destroys the life of the yeast and eliminates some of the harmful products of yeast fermentation, and the action of the heat converts the starch into a more digestible substance.

SKIN ERUPTIONS 35 YEARS.

Suffered Severely With Eczema All Over Body—A Thousand Thanks to Cuticura Remedies.

"For over thirty-five years I was a severe sufferer from eczema. The eruption was not confined to any one place. It was all over my body, limbs, and even on my head. I am sixty years old and an old soldier, and have been examined by the Government Board over fifteen times, and they said there was no cure for me. I have taken all kinds of medicine and have spent large sums of money for doctors, without avail. A short time ago I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, two treatments in all, I am now well and completely cured. A thousand thanks to Cuticura. I cannot speak too highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John T. Roach, Richmondale, Ross Co., Ohio, July 17, 1905."

Attraction of Light.

Recent discoveries indicate that moths do not fly about candles out of mere curiosity, but simply because there is an irresistible power compelling them to come to the flame. This force is called heliotropism, and is exactly the same attraction that makes flowers turn toward the sun. The blind earthworm, because of its well-known tendency to crawl away from the light, is said to have negative heliotropism. The stronger the source of light, the greater is the attraction of repulsion.

"Hi's" Report on the Sap.

W. H. Harrison of Pittsford, Vermont, had in his employ a man who will never be famous for his brilliancy. During the sugaring season Mr. Harrison sent this man, "Hi," to find out how the sap buckets had been filling. "Hi" investigated, and then submitted this report: "Some is full, some half-full, and some runnin' over, but average about full."

Tobacco and Nicotine.

Prof. Hirschberg of Johns Hopkins: "Tobacco is not a narcotic; an ordinary cigar, used in the ordinary way, containing the usual amount of pure nicotine, will not kill two flies. The odor, strength and flavor of tobacco depend upon a fixed volatile oil present in the dried leaves, and have nothing to do with nicotine. Pure nicotine has no flavor or odor."

A WOMAN DOCTOR

Was Quick to See That Coffee Poison Was Doing the Mischief.

A lady tells of a bad case of coffee poisoning and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it.

"I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weighed 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110. I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till one day in 1904, a woman doctor told me to drink Postum Food Coffee. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned.

"So I began to drink Postum and I gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headache began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks—long enough I expect to get the coffee poison out of my system.

"Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum Food Coffee, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that cured me. Before I used Postum I never went out alone; I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is as clear as a bell. By brain and nerves are stronger than they have been for years." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

FOR NERVOUS PEOPLE

A Michigan Mother Preserved to Her Family by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

When the blood is impoverished the nerves starve and neuralgia or something more serious swiftly follows. Nervous people are generally pale people. By supplying through the blood those vital elements that the nerves need, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have performed those remarkable cures that make it impossible for any nervous sufferer to neglect them.

A recent case is that of Mrs. Peter Morrissette, of No. 815 Eleventh street, Alpena, Mich., who writes as follows: "My trouble started with childbirth. After one of my children was born I had a kind of paralysis. I was very weak and my mouth was a little crooked. I was always tired and was so nervous that I could not bear to hear a dog bark or a bell ring—even the little bird in its cage would annoy me. My heart fluttered a great deal and I had dizzy spells. I was not able to be left alone.

"My doctor gave me different kinds of medicine, changing it several times. When it was evident that he could not help me he said he did not understand my case. This was three years ago and I was very much discouraged, when my brother, who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, recommended them to me. I tried them and noticed a change for the better when I was taking the second box. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I have been well ever since. I now do all my own housework, sewing and washing for seven of us."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also cured diseases caused by impure or impoverished blood such as rheumatism, anæmia and after-effects of the grip.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or the remedy will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The less a woman has to say about being a lady the more confidence a man has in her.

Never was a man too poor to give a smile and a kind word and never was a man too rich to receive them.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

Chicago, Ill.—The Passenger Department of the Chicago & North Western Railway announces that the opening of the Wind River or Shoshone Reservation public lands in Wyoming has been postponed until August 15, 1906, by joint resolution of congress.

Railroad construction to the Reservation border is being pushed rapidly, and will probably be completed within a few weeks.

Blind People as Gas Consumers.

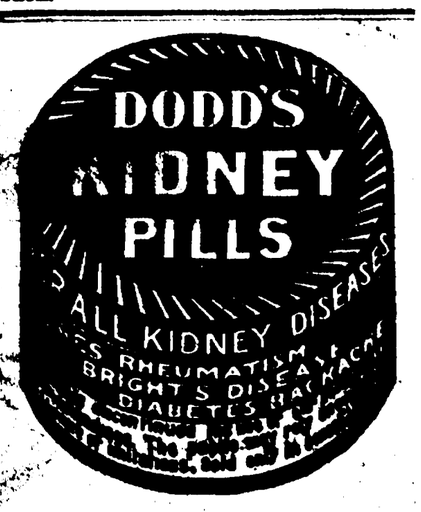
"When it comes to consuming gas in large quantities blind people take the lead," said an inspector of the gas company. "I know two families where both husband and wife are blind. Every jet is turned on full tilt in their homes at night and is kept going at that rate clear up to 12 o'clock. And that partiality for light is not a whim peculiar to those two couples. All blind people feel that way. They demand the light and in all private homes and institutions where the blind are cared for the gas bills vouch for this strange fancy."—New York Sun.

Spanish Sunday Laws.

In Spain drug stores are permitted to sell drugs all day on Sunday, but to deal in perfumery on that day is unlawful. Candy cannot lawfully be sold later than 11 o'clock in the forenoon unless no clerks or assistants are employed. Proprietors may keep open all day if they do the work themselves.

His Original Idea.

Orrin Case, of Winsted, Conn., who is estimated to be worth $100,000, was asked what he intends to do with his money when he comes to die. "Take it with me," he replied, "so if I don't like the place, I can buy my way back."



PRUNES IN A GOOSE.

How to Cook This Bird So It Will Be Voted the Most Delicious Ever Eaten.

To stuff a goose with prunes will seem a rather startling innovation to conservative housekeepers, yet the combination is distinctly pleasing and has much more to recommend it than its novelty. It is no more difficult to prepare than the usual bread and onion stuffing, and requires only those ingredients which are at hand in almost every home storeroom.

Before the goose is drawn, it should be very thoroughly scrubbed on the outside, using a brush and soap suds. Rinse it well and wipe dry. Singe it before washing. Then draw it, wash the inside, and wipe dry. For the stuffing cook one-quarter pound of choice prunes (which have soaked over night) in boiling water to cover until partially cooked. Cook one cup of well-washed rice in four cups of rapidly boiling water for 15 minutes. Drain, and add to the rice the strained prune juice, to which has been added sufficient water to make three cups. Add salt to taste, and cook the rice in this liquor until almost done.

The prunes should be stoned and cut into rather small pieces; mix them with one-quarter pound of shelled and blanched almonds which have been chopped moderately small, and one-half cupful of melted butter. Season rather highly with salt, paprika and nutmeg. Mix thoroughly with the rice and fill the goose with the mixture; truss it neatly, and place on the rack in the dripping-pan.

The oven should be very hot at first to brown the goose richly, then reduce the heat, and baste frequently. Dredge the bird lightly with flour after each basting the last half hour it is cooking. It should be cooked until the joints will separate easily. If it browns too deeply cover with paper. Serve with apple sauce, baked or fried apples, and brown gravy.—Country Gentleman.

NEW LINEN PETTICOATS.

A Novelty Is Heavy Undressed Linen Trimmed with Bands of Heavy Lace on the Circular Ruffle.

Now that silk skirts are not considered the top notch of elegance as they once were, the white ones are made in the most splendid designs for evening and many novelties are introduced for those worn on the street.

For instance, for the latter heavy undressed linen is used with a deep circular ruffle intersected with bands of heavy lace and finished with a two-inch edge of lace.

These are cut two inches shorter than the skirt, hold enough starch and are used for all the skirts that have not a lining.

The fancy ones are made of fine Paris muslin with two ruffles of lace at hem and a 20-inch ruffle put on full, cut into sharp points, which are edged with full ruffles of three-inch lace. These are the very prettiest skirts used for dancing.

They are cut to the ankle. Other elaborate petticoats have a panel down the front of all-over embroidery with tiny tucks at the side and three ruffles of the embroidery edged with lace from knees to hem.

The fashion of putting the initials in embroidery on each garment is very much adopted and I forgot to add that another novelty is to put a tiny pocket on the breast of the nightgown on which the monogram is embroidered.—Anne Rittenhouse.

Aid to Swimmers.

A new float in the form of a tube, three yards long, is inflated by the swimmer and wound around his body. At each end is a tube which is stopped up with a plug, and a leather strap, which serves to fasten the float to the body. It is wound around the waist, then the neck, and finally around the arms.

Got Chummy.

Henry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown exhibition, told a congressional committee about his audience with King Edward. He said he and the king had a very pleasant talk. "As near as I can gather," said a committee member, "the king was calling him 'Tuck, old boy,' before he left."

Post Mortem Arrest.

A splendid funeral procession was proceeding from Hongo, Japan, to bury the remains of Tarofi, the head of a gambling den, when the police stopped the ceremony, as the dead man was believed to be an escaped convict. This was found to be true, and the body was taken to the prison burial ground.

Town Sliding Down Hill.

Stockton, Cal., like everything else, is following the course of empire. Its city surveyor has discovered that in 50 years it has moved 15 inches westward. In other words, the adobe soil in which it is built is gently sliding down hill to the San Joaquin river, three miles away.

Great Men Unhappily Mated.

Lord Eldon enjoyed but little domestic bliss, and "loved not to be with his partner." Dryden "married discord in a noble wife." Addison sold himself to a cross-grained old countess. Rousseau lived a most wretched life with his partner. Steele, Sterne, Churchill, Coleridge, Byron and Charles Dickens have been recorded in history as "indifferent husbands."
