The executive committee for home-coming week desire to meet all interested people at the opera house Friday, evening, June 22, at 7 p. m. to talk over the arrangements that must be made at once. But few of the people living near have joined as yet and this must be attended to at once as we must have funds to meet necessary expenses. At this meeting appointments will be made in each neighborhood to solicit members. The yearly fee of 25c is small but if each one that should be interested pays this amount it will be sufficient. Two years ago the village bore the expense but this year all interested will be asked to share the expense. We had a grand good time two years ago and we will double discount it this year. Turn out to the meeting and give us the benefit of your advice and presence. Your friends are to be invited and you are interested so don't forget to come. It is not to make money for anyone but purely for a good time to renew old acquaintances and promote good fellowship, without which no ones life is worth a rush. Come out of your shell, shake of the rust and get in line for the best two days of your life.

Don't forget the date of the celebration, August 1 and 2.

Their Golden Wedding.

Saturday, June 9, 1906, surrounded by their children and grandchildren, numbering about forty-five, Mr. and Mrs. James Markey celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. In the evening at the Pines a golden wedding anniversary dinner was served.

All of Mr. and Mrs. Markey's children are living. They are as follows: D. P. Markey, Port Huron; James B. Markey, Morrison, Ill.; Eugene L. Markey, Battle Creek; Barney M. Markey, Port Huron; Louis K. Markey, Detroit; Gus L. Markey, Port Huron; Mrs. Floyd Reason, Pinckney, Mich.; Mrs. Albert Doe, Port Huron.

Mr. and Mrs. Markey were married in 1856 at Dexter, Mich. They first resided at Bunkerhill, Ingham county, Mich., where Mr. Markey was engaged as a school teacher. Later they moved to Pinckney, Mich., where Mr. Markey began a farm machinery business which he continued for 25 years. In 1891 they went to Port Huron, Mr. Markey securing the office of collector of the Supreme tent, K. O. T. M. They have resided there ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Markey were presented with a purse of gold from their children. A pleasant feature of the celebration is, that in the fifty years of their wedded life not one death has occurred to mar the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Markey.

Fred and Rex Read of Cleary's college are home for vacation.

Mrs. Wm Fitzpatrick and children of Detroit, are spending a couple of weeks with her mother, Mrs. P. Farnam.

Last Thursday was "flag day" and many were thrown to the breeze here although a great many people had to inquire why the flags were out.

Chas. Holmes and C. D. Bennett with their families from Lansing visited at Jas. Marbles and Kirk VanWinkle's Saturday and Sunday. They made the trip in Mr. Holmes' auto.

We still have a few more subscriptions to the Farm Journal and the ones who pay up for the DISPATCH and one year in advance, are the ones who will receive that excellent farm paper for five years. If you wish to avail yourselves of this offer send in quick.

Because it has been found impossible to secure teachers several schools in Nevada have been compelled to close. Almost as soon as young lady teachers arrive they marry.—Ex. We presume there will now begin a general exodus of Livingston county teachers for the west, and, well, wages are better out there any way.

Some of our exchanges are bringing out candidates for offices and some have mentioned men for county commissioner of schools in this county. We have thought the matter over a great deal and have come to the conclusion that a change in this office is not desired at this time. Mr. Knooihuizen may have a bad name to spell, but he has a good one as a man and knows his business when it comes to school matters. When it comes to educational matters we do not want to make any mistake.

Don M. Burroughs, of Dexter, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Ed. Reynolds.

Miss Florence Andrews spent Sunday with Mrs. Ruben Kisby of Hamburg.

Today, Thursday, is the school exhibit. Do not fail to attend and note the improvement.

H. G. Briggs and wife spent a couple of days with friends in Howell and Brighton last week.

This office issues bills this week for a day of sports and celebration at Hartland, July 4. A big time.

This section has been visited the past week with some refreshing rains which will help out the hay crop.

Melvin Burgess and family of Hartland visited her parents, W. H. Placeway and family a few days the past week.

The Senior class enjoyed a hay ride to Portage lake Friday afternoon and a picnic supper. Of course they had a big time.

A new cement walk now extends from the northwest corner of the public square south to VanWinkle's corner, thence east to Thos. Read's.

Little Lottie Reynolds had the misfortune to break her right arm at the elbow joint, several days ago. She only fell from the second step of the porch.

H. C. Harris and wife of Cripple Creek, Colo., are the guests of his mother and brother here. They have been making a trip to the coast in Conn., and when they get back home will have traveled about 5,000 miles. They will remain until the last of the month.

The glorious fourth comes in two weeks and this year comes on Wednesday. Will our correspondents please bear this in mind and send in their news that week at least one day earlier as we shall issue the DISPATCH on Tuesday so that our force can enjoy a holiday.

German Class Reception

The evening German class were tendered a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sigler on Friday evening last and a very fine time enjoyed. Light refreshments were served and toasts given in German. The class has made good progress during the year but will now disband until September when they hope to again take up the work. Principal Gaul has proven a good instructor in this most interesting language.

Pinckney Boy Honored.

We see by the daily papers that John Monks, better known to Pinckneyites as Jack, has been elected as captain of the Normal ball team of Ypsilanti. He has been playing third base on the team for two years and proved himself a good player as well as a good student. He was a graduate of the P. H. S. class of '04.

A Hustling Gang.

That Contractor Wm. Moran has a hustling gang of workmen with building cement walk was shown last week when they came to the DISPATCH office and in three hours laid out, excavated and builded about 200 square feet of walk.

We might say for the benefit of the inquisitive, that this piece of walk was built for the proprietors of the DISPATCH and will be paid for by them so no one need have any uneasiness about the taxes helping in the matter. We wanted the walk and we got it built.

Piano Recital.

We clip the following from the Ypsilanti Daily News of last week. As Miss Ruen is one of Pinckney's young ladies it will be read with interest.

The last and one of the best senior graduating recitals was enjoyed last evening by a goodly and appreciative audience. Miss Katherine V. Ruen, pianiste, assisted by Monsieur M. Dezzo Nemes, the Hungarian violinist, gave a delightful program, the young lady being very warmly received.

Miss Ruen is what might be termed a brilliant player, and she exhibited her musical ability in a varied and difficult program. Her technique is deserving of mention, and the handling of her selections composed of octaves, thirds, staccato movement, runs and rapid passages was artistic and delightful, and she played the difficult finale from Symphonic Etudes with a finished, brilliant smoothness.

Congregational Church.

Last Sunday services were profitable and satisfactory. At Sunday school hour a number of intermediate pupils, young ladies, were transferred to the pastor's class. Sixteen present. Women's Achievements.

There can be no reasonable complaint that women may not do nowadays anything which they can do well. The record of a single week tells of a woman elected collector of taxes; of another winning in competition the appointment as sculptor of the $15,000 bronze doors of the chapel at Annapolis naval academy; of a third who has made a country home self-supporting by the raising of chickens, rabbits and cats; and of two other women who have sent one and a half million roses to market in a year. Surely these achievements represent a wide range of employments. From the studio to the hothouse and from the town treasury to the cattery, the variety is large enough to suit all tastes. Success in any of these directions has not come by accident. It stands for a certain whole-hearted devotion to work, a study of scientific or artistic methods; in short, of a wise grasp of the results of previous experiments, and a courageous improvement upon them. No one of the four occupations implies to the thoughtful person of to-day any of the "unsexing" of the workers on which critics harped so constantly 40 years ago. It is not unlikely that the tax collector drives about her country district with her children in her wagon. Rose house and chicken yard are natural accompaniments of a real home. The sculptor's work is exacting, it is true, in its demand for personal freedom. But even that may not prevent the artist from being the most beloved of old-maid aunts. Until women acquire the habit of disobeying the heart at the command of the head, they may safely be trusted to work in any way and in any place they wish in this busy world.

Danger in Dieting.

New Yorkers who are dieting themselves to reduce their weight may drop dead from heart disease, according to Prof. Alexander Haig, the English diet expert. He writes from London to the medical fraternity of New York city warning Americans against the popular notion that the average man eats too much. "Knowing the opinion is gaining ground," he says, "it is desirable to live on a smaller quantity of albumen than has hitherto been generally acknowledged as sufficient. I feel it my duty to draw attention to the subject because I believe that (owing to what I consider erroneous teaching) people may be led to underfeed themselves, and thus enter the danger zone, where their hearts may either fall directly or do so when exposed to special strain or stress. Debility from under feeding may come on so insidiously that it is often far advanced before it is in any way recognized by the sufferer. This condition is insidious also because with the decline of strength there is very often a decline of appetite, which leads to a further loss of both, and when in this condition and weaker than he suspects the sufferer undertakes some unwarranted or violent exertion, such as running for a train, there may follow a more or less decided collapse." Nobody, says Dr. Haig, ought to take less than nine grains of albumen per day for each pound of body weight.

Melting Down the Hips.

"Trim hips are the rage now, madam," said the beauty doctor. "Shall I melt yours down?" "Melt them down?" The man brought forth a stiff mold, a kind of corset, that laced in two places. A long piece of flexible tubing connected the instrument with the electrical apparatus at the other end of the room. "This mold," he said, "came direct from Paris. It cost $250, though the material in it is not worth a pair of shoes. But it is very ingeniously constructed, and it works well. I'd guarantee it, in a week, to take six or seven pounds off your hips, madam. Heat and pressure, applied in conjunction, are the factors that do the work—two marvelous new factors that in local reductions exceed the wildest dreams of the past. Why, madam, if I put this mold on you, laced it tight, and turned on the electric heating apparatus, the mold's heat and its pressure together, would, in less than an hour, take an inch off your hips' dimensions. I have smaller molds, likewise electrically heated, for reducing fat backs, double chins, thick ankles, and so on. I am achieving wonderful results. The swift way I melt down my patrons in spots is amazing. Why wouldn't this treatment do for a fellow with the 'big head'?"

INSPECTION BILL OUTLINED

COST OF SUPERVISION FALLS ON GOVERNMENT.

Requires Federal Label on Meat and Meat Products as Guaranty of Purity.

Washington.—A meat inspection provision was completed by the house committee on agriculture Wednesday and will be presented to the house for action at once, which it is declared by the committee will insure that American meats and meat products are healthful, clean and in every respect wholesome and fit for food.

The important features of the legislation are that it places the cost of the inspection on the government and makes an annual automatic appropriation of $2,000,000 to pay the expenses. It requires a rigid post mortem and ante mortem inspection of all animals killed for food. It requires a government label as a passport for all meat and meat products which enter interstate commerce and in addition to this label, a certificate of purity to the carrier and to the secretary of agriculture for such products which enter foreign commerce. To secure this label the product must be handled in accordance with sanitary regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture, who is authorized to employ, without regard to the civil service law for the first year, an adequate corps of efficient inspectors to supervise the enforcement of his regulations.

It prohibits the use of preservatives or chemicals in the preparation of meat foods which are deleterious to health, and leaves the matter of determining this question to the secretary of agriculture. The label on the product is to indicate the ingredients, but the date of manufacture is not required to be stated.

The sanitary requirements which the secretary is to prescribe and enforce must insure complete sanitation as to all buildings, whether slaughter houses or canning establishments.

Washington.—Chairman Wadsworth of the house committee on agriculture Friday night made public the correspondence between President Roosevelt and himself regarding the committee.

The president in his letter says that almost every change in the house amendment was for the worse as compared with the senate amendment, and, in his judgment, so framed as to minimize the chances of roosting out the evils in the packing business.

Mr. Wadsworth declares the president is "very, very wrong" in his estimate of the committee's bill, calls attention to provisions in the bill and concludes with an expression of regret that the president should feel justified, by innuendo at least, in impugning the sincerity and the competency of a committee of the house of representatives. "You have no warrant for it," says Mr. Wadsworth, in closing.

No Bill in Asylum Case.

Kankakee, Ill.—The grand jury investigating conditions alleged to have existed and now to exist in connection with the eastern Illinois asylum for the insane at Kankakee has voted a "no bill" in the case of C. R. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the institution, who was charged with the appropriation of interest funds accruing to money belonging to the asylum.

Concurs in Banking Amendment.

Washington.—The bill amending the national banking laws with senate amendments was concurred in by the house Friday by a vote of 125 to 70. It provides that a national bank may loan to a single borrower a sum not in excess of 30 per cent of its capital stock.

PACKERS DECLARED GUILTY

Kansas City Jury Finds They Accepted Rebates—Railroad Also Convicted.

Kansas City, Mo.—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Cudahy & Co., and the Nelson Morris Packing company were found guilty in the United States district court here Tuesday of accepting rebates from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway on export shipments on packing house products.

The specific case considered, which was practically identical with the others, was that charging Cudahy & Co. with accepting a rate of 23 cents per 100 pounds on a shipment of lard to New York for export to Germany, when the legal tariff then on file with the interstate commerce commission was 35 cents.

Kansas City, Mo.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway company was found guilty here late Wednesday afternoon by a jury in the United States district court on four counts of granting concessions on packing house shipments for export to the Armour Packing company, Swift & Co., Cudahy & Co., and the Nelson Morris Packing company.

The conviction carries with it a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000 on each count. Judge Smith McPherson, the presiding judge, deferred sentencing the defendant until June 22. All four counts are practically the same.

RUSSIAN MOB SLAYS JEWS

Thirty Killed and Many Others Are Wounded in Massacre at Bialystok.

Bialystok, Russia.—A Jewish anarchist threw a bomb among the Corpus Christi procession which was in progress here Thursday, and killed or wounded many persons.

In consequence the Christians attacked and massacred the Jews and demolished their shops.

Thirty persons were killed and many others wounded.

The bomb was thrown from the balcony of a house in Alexandrov street.

A Russian clergyman named Fedoroff was among those killed by the explosion.

Immediately after the explosion Jews began to fire with revolvers from the windows of the house into the crowd. Soldiers surrounded the house and fired two volleys into the windows.

Meanwhile the enraged Christians, attacked the Jewish stores in Alexandrov and Suraz streets, demolishing the fixtures and windows and throwing the goods into the gutters and beating and murdering the Jews.

St. Petersburg.—Disorders appear to have broken out at Bialystok Friday afternoon with even greater fury than characterized Thursday's riots. Semi-official messages from Grodno and Minsk report that the excesses were started again by the throwing of several bombs. The crowds then opened fire on the police station, to which the troops replied, and there was a constant interchange of shots between Jews in their houses and soldiers in the streets.

Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans.—Secretary Heaster's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton shows a total of 3,457,373 against 4,621,040 last week. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,996,373, against 2,158,010 last week.

Vote for Lock Canal.

Washington.—In committee of the whole Friday the house by a vote of 110 to 34 voted in favor of a lock canal across the Isthmus of Panama.

TO SUE IN REBATE CASES

CRIMINAL ACTION AGAINST OIL AND RAIL MEN ORDERED.

Admissions of Concessions to Standard Is Cause—Millions in Fines Faced.

Cleveland.—Instructions have been given at Washington to begin criminal proceedings against the Lake Shore railroad, George J. Grammer, vice president of the New York Central lines west of Buffalo, the Standard Oil company, and whatever other officers may be shown to have been implicated in the payment and receipt of rebates which were disclosed in the interstate commerce commission hearing here Thursday.

The contemplated proceedings may include Edgar Bogardus, traffic manager of the Standard Oil company at Chicago, and other officers of the Lake Shore at Chicago and Cleveland.

This, together with the complete back-down of the Standard Oil company, when it was given the eagerly sought opportunity to make a defense before the commission, was the denouement of the commission's session.

Acting under instructions from the commission, Attorney J. Marchand started for Chicago with a view to preparing the cases for presentation to the federal grand jury there. His instructions are positive with respect to Capt. Grammer, and he has been further ordered to ascertain whether it will be possible to proceed also against the officials of the Lake Shore for a violation of the injunctions issued more than three years ago and restraining the railroads from paying rebates or any kind of traffic. It is the purpose to proceed under both the injunctions and the Elkins amendment to the interstate commerce act.

This decision is the result of testimony given before the commission that from 1903 to January, 1906, the Lake Shore paid rebates to the Standard Oil company, in the form of remitted charges for storage of oil. The evidence showed that this was done directly by the authority of G. J. Grammer, and was discontinued by his express authority.

Auditor Marcus C. Tully, of the Lake Shore, reluctantly told the commission that it had been the practice of Edgar Bogardus to give his bills for storage to the general agent at Chicago, who would forward the accounts to the auditor at Cleveland, who in turn would give the Chicago office credit for the amount without receiving the money from the Standard Oil company. The sum thus rebated amounted to about $500 a month and is said to have been sufficient to drive other oil dealers out of business.

The federal grand jury will be asked to indict Vice President Grammer and the Lake Shore for paying these rebates. Under the law both the railroad company and the official can be fined not less than $1,000 nor more than $20,000 for each offense, and similar treatment can be given the Standard Oil company and the officials of that corporation who may be shown to have been guilty of soliciting the payment of the rebates.

The maximum fines that could be assessed under the law would aggregate $720,000 against the railroad, a like sum against each of its officers who is guilty and a like sum against the Standard Oil company and against each of its officials found guilty. It is possible, therefore, for the Standard Oil company and the railroad company and their officials to be assessed several millions of dollars for infractions of the law.

In addition to this, if the commission's attorney finds that he can proceed under the injunctions of the courts, and he is now certain that this is possible, a charge of contempt of court might be pressed and involve a punishment by both fine and imprisonment.

The testimony in the case was so positive and clear that the commissioners felt that they could not ignore it. After communication with Washington it was determined to institute all the criminal proceedings possible against the accused and to prosecute them vigorously. The instructions are to leave no stone unturned in the attempt to bring the suspects to the fullest justice.

President's Uncle Dead.

Sayville, L. I.—Robert B. Roosevelt, uncle of the president, died here Tuesday. He had been ill for several months. Robert Roosevelt was born in New York August 7, 1829. He was admitted to the bar in 1857, and practiced law for 20 years, but inheriting a fortune, retired from practice. Mr. Roosevelt was a Democrat in politics, and for many years prominent in the councils of his party, both in the state and nation.

One Survivor of Wreck.

Tampa, Fla.—The schooner Thomas S. Dennison, Capt. Wade, arrived at Port Tampa, having on board Capt. A. Phinney, the sole survivor of the crew of the three-masted schooner Emma L. Cottingham, of New Bedford, Mass. Six men composing the crew of the Cottingham were lost.

LANDS OF CROW AGENCY.

Arrangements for Registration, to Begin June 14, Completed—Burlington Offers Low Rates.

Omaha, Neb.—The government has made all arrangements for the registration for the lands of the Crow reservation, which will be drawn June 2 at Billings. The registration dates are June 14 to 28 at Sheridan and Billings, and the Burlington has offered exceptionally low rates to those wishing to take a chance in Uncle Sam's big lottery.

The rate will be one fare for the round trip from nearby points, while the regular one way fare is $20 or less. From all other Burlington points it will be 75 per cent of the one way fare, but not less than $30. This will make the rate from Omaha, Kansas City and Denver much less than a fare for the round trip.

The tickets will be sold June 10 to 28 inclusive, with a return limit till July 10. All lodging places will be listed and committees at each town will meet the excursionists.

The mayor of Billings has wired the Burlington that everything will be done to take care of the registration crowd and he will take personal charge of the police force. Tents with board floors will be laid out in the streets, and booths will be constructed. The mayor says that Billings will be able to take care of 10,000 people at any time.

Sheridan has also advised the Burlington that complete arrangements are being made to take care of the crowds for registration. The location of every available room will be filed, while cots, bedding and tents sufficient to accommodate a small army will be secured from Fort MacKenzie. Fine camping grounds will be prepared. Hotels and eating houses are stocking up and will be prepared to take care of all that come. The police force is taking measures to eliminate all undesirable elements, such as thugs and gamblers. The Chamber of Commerce and city council are taking vigorous measures to insure registration visitors a safe and comfortable time at Sheridan.

NINE KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Barrel of Naphtha Blows Up Aboard Ship Setting Fire to Cargo of Linseed Oil Cake.

Liverpool.—Nine men were instantly killed and about 40 others wounded following a terrific explosion on board the British steamer Haverford Thursday.

The Haverford with passengers arrived here Wednesday from Philadelphia. The stevedores were in the act of loosening the steamer's hatches when suddenly a most violent explosion occurred. It blew off the hatches, rent the decks, and hurled dead and wounded men in all directions. Several bodies were dismembered and the deck resembled the floor of a charnel house.

The cargo, consisting of linseed oil cake, in hold No. 2, and hold No. 3, was soon blazing fiercely. It was reported that the disaster was caused by the explosion of a barrel of naphtha.

Death Laid to Wealthy Woman.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—A sensation was caused here Tuesday by the arrest of Mrs. Moses Kaufmann, wife of a wealthy brewer, on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Agnes Polreis, who was employed as a domestic in the Kaufmann home. The girl died several days ago and was buried at Parkston, her hometown.

Heavy Damage by Wind.

Anaconda, Mont.—A tornado in Chouteau county, Mont., has destroyed an immense amount of property. It is reported that Fort Assiniboine is seriously damaged. The country is a stock-growing region, and the loss is difficult to estimate. The damage reported reaches $100,000.

MICHIGAN EVENTS NOTED

ARMED SONS ATTEND FUNERAL OF MOTHER TO RESIST INQUEST.

MURDERER'S THREAT

At Things That Have Happened in the State During the Past Few Days.

No Autopsy Allowed.

Three of the children of Mrs. Dora Exner fainted at their mother's funeral in Niles when it was feared that the authorities would interfere to prevent burial. Two of the sons were armed and swore they would resist any attempt of Coroner Alonzo Platt to stop the funeral. Five citizens had petitioned the coroner to hold an inquest according to law, after an affidavit had been issued by Dr. Z. Vanoppen, who stated that he was called to treat Mrs. Exner on June 10. He administered some medicine and that same day Dr. A. G. Ulrey was also called. On June 11, Mrs. Exner died, members of the family made contradictory statements and he, Dr. Vanoppen, refused to issue a death certificate. Dr. Ulrey issued a certificate, but stated no cause of death. Dr. Vanoppen says he does not know the cause of her death and is "of the opinion that death may have been caused by means unknown to him." Dr. Vanoppen says he will take the matter to court and if possible compel the exhumation of the remains.

Threatens Another Murder.

Mrs. Maude Wiseman, or Royal Oak, has been granted a divorce from Henry Wiseman, now serving a life sentence at Marquette for the murder of Mrs. Ellen Huss at Royal Oak. The wife alleged non-support, desertion and cruelty, and when the subpoena was served on Wiseman in Marquette he sent word back that if he is ever released his first act will be to murder his wife. When arrested for the Royal Oak murder Wiseman was serving a five-year term at Jackson.

Fatal Confusion.

Becoming confused by two passing trains, two men were run down by the Grand Rapids flyer on the Michigan Central at Kalamazoo. George Hicks, aged 45, son of wealthy parents, and a brother of Robert Hicks, a hardware merchant, of Rochester, N. Y., was dragged a long distance and terribly mangled, death being instantaneous. He had been working as a teamster, Edward Reich, of Grand Rapids, lost both legs below the knees, but he may recover.

Mineral Lands Purchased.

The Winthrop & Humboldt Copper property, comprising 1,200 acres of land near the Phoenix and Central mines in Keweenaw county, has been purchased by the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. from Fred. H. Begole, trustee, of Marquette. The consideration is not announced. The mines were active for only a few years about half a century ago and have never been fully tested. They are taken over by the Calumet & Hecla interests in pursuance of a policy of assimilation adopted two years ago, since which time thousands of acres of mineral lands have been absorbed to be held to reserve and explored in future.

Said He Was Drugged.

Charles E. Manning, a traveling man, was put off a Grand Trunk train from Chicago at Lansing because he was apparently intoxicated and created a disturbance, running through the train partially disrobed and shouting that he had been robbed of $250. He was arrested as a drunk, but stuck to his story that he had been given drugged drinks and was robbed. The train officials evidently became convinced that something was wrong, as they caused the arrest of Charles Peterson on suspicion when the train reached Port Huron. Peterson, Manning and a third man, who escaped, had been "jollying" on the train.

Went Away Suddenly.

A. Johnson, of Flint, went home from his work a few days ago and found his wife missing, and the household goods gone. He traced the goods to Pinconning, and his wife and a man to Bay City. They were arrested on a statutory charge, but the woman testified that she had never secured a divorce from her first husband, though she and Johnson had lived together 19 years. The couple were discharged and the case against them dropped. Johnson says he doesn't care for the woman, but he wants the household goods.

Want the Property.

John Alexander Dowie has started suit in the Muskegon county circuit court to recover property in that county. The property was transferred from Mrs. Dowie to Deacon Alexander Granger by W. G. Voliva under power of attorney given by Mrs. Dowie on February 21. Mrs. Dowie says that at the time he made a promise not to transfer any of the property to anyone else. About a month ago Dr. Dowie began suit to recover the White Lake property, valued at $200,000.

Claims He Was Robbed.

Wilford Chalmers, a Saginaw business man, says he was robbed of $428 while spending a few hours in Port Huron Friday. He made the acquaintance of Norman Griggs a few hours after arriving there, and after spending the night with his new friend awoke to find himself without his money. Chalmers said nothing, however, and the two men went to a saloon where Griggs ordered the drinks. While paying for the liquor it is said Griggs threw an old pocket piece belonging to Chalmers on the bar. The young man was arrested and will face a charge of larceny.

Missing Man.

Michael O'Brien, liquor dealer, for over thirty-five years a resident of Bay City, disappeared with his race horse and a light Concord buggy. He had been drinking heavily. Saturday the police received a telephone message from Freeland, Saginaw county, that O'Brien's horse had been found there in the woods. The animal had broken, or been driven, through barbed wire fences and through a swamp, and was in bad shape. Nothing has been seen or heard of O'Brien.

Sensation Promised.

Sensations are promised when Frank Rollins, the alleged "Black Hand" man in the Muskegon jail, is brought to trial in the October term of the federal court, on the charge of sending threatening letters through the mails to former Senator James Flood, of Hart. His attorneys, the Turner brothers, of Muskegon, say there will be a thorough airing of Hart's social matters when the case comes to trial. Scandal that has been common village talk for years will be brought up.

AMERICANS ARE PAINT USERS

It has been remarked that the American people consume more paint, both in the aggregate and per capita, than any other people in the world. In a recently published article on the subject it was figured that our yearly consumption is over 100,000,000 gallons of paints of all kinds, of which over one-half is used in the paintings of houses.

The reason for this great consumption is twofold: a large proportion of our buildings, especially in small towns and rural districts, are constructed of wood, and we, as a people, are given to neatness and cleanliness. For, take it all in all, there is nothing so cleanly or so sanitary as paint.

Travel where we will throughout the country, everywhere we find the neat, cheerful painted dwelling, proclaiming at once the prosperity and the self-respect of our population.

Fifty years ago this was not so; painted dwellings, while common in the larger cities and towns, were the exception in the rural districts; because, on the one hand, a large proportion of those buildings were temporary makeshifts, and, on the other hand, because paint was then a luxury, expensive and difficult to obtain in the out-of-the-way places, and requiring special knowledge and much preparation to fit it for use.

The introduction of ready mixed or prepared paints, about 1860, changed the entire aspect of affairs. As the Jack-of-all-trades told the Walking Delegate in one of Octave Thanet's stories, "Anyone can slather paint." The insurmountable difficulty with our predecessors was to get the paint ready for "slathering." That the country was ready for paint in a convenient, popular form is shown by the immediate success of the industry and its phenomenal growth in 50 years from nothing to 60,000,000 gallons—the estimated output for 1900.

Some pretty severe things have been written about and said against this class of paints, especially by painters and manufacturers of certain kinds of paste paints. Doubtless in many instances these strictures have been justified and some fearfully and wonderfully constructed mixtures have in the past been worked off on the guileless consumer in the shape of prepared paint. But such products have had their short day and quickly disappeared, and the enterprising manufacturers that produced them have come to grief. In the bankruptcy courts or have learned by costly experience that honesty is the best policy and have reformed their ways.

The chief exceptions to this rule are some mail order houses who sell direct to the country trade, at a very low price—frequently below the wholesale price of linseed oil. The buyer of such goods, like the buyer of a "gold brick," has only himself to blame if he finds his purchase worthless. With gold selling at any bank or mint at a fixed price, owners of gold do not sell it at a discount; and with linseed oil quoted everywhere at 50 to 70-cents a gallon, manufacturers do not sell a pure linseed oil paint at 30 or 40 cents a gallon.

The composition of prepared paints differs because paint experts have not yet agreed as to the best pigments and because the daily results of tests on a large scale are constantly improving the formulas of manufacturers; but all have come to the conclusion that the essentials of good paint are pure linseed oil, fine grinding and thorough incorporation, and in these particulars all the products of reputable manufacturers correspond; all first-class prepared paints are thoroughly mixed and ground and the liquid base is almost exclusively pure linseed oil, the necessary volatile "thinners" and Japan driers.

The painter's opposition to such products is based largely on self-interest. He wants to mix the paint himself and to be paid for doing it, and to a certain class of painters it is no recommendation for a paint to say that it will last five or ten years. The longer a paint lasts the longer he will have to wait for the job of repainting. The latter consideration has no weight with the consumer, and the former is a false idea of economy. Hand labor can never be as cheap or as efficient as machine work, and every time the painter mixes paint, did he but know it, he is losing money, because he can buy a better paint than he can mix at less than it costs him to mix it.

Prepared paints have won, not only on their actual merits, but on their convenience and economy. They are comparatively cheap and they are incomparably handy. But when all is said, the experienced painter is the proper person to apply even a ready mixed paint. He knows better than anyone else the "when" and "how" and the difference between painting and "slathering" is much greater than it appears to a novice. Everyone to his trade, and after all painting is the painter's trade and not the householder's.

To see a mill and say you saw it, seek to see a saw mill.

TRADE OF EGYPT

FOREIGN CAPITAL BUILDING UP COMMERCIAL ENTERPRISE.

American Manufacturers Beginning to Reach Out After This Field with Good Prospects.

Egypt, the ancient land of Biblical story, is just now offering to the world of trade a field for exploitation which presents many favorable features for the exporters of other nations. In many things she is no less conservative to-day than she was in the days when Jacob used to send his sons to her to buy corn during a famine in Palestine. "If you want my produce," says the modern Egyptian, "come here and purchase it; if you want me to buy yours bring it to my house and I will examine it." He buys and sells on the old conservative lines, but to the energetic exporter he gives promise of becoming an important factor if he is approached in the proper way and "worked" skillfully.

Egypt always has been and still is a purely agricultural country. Her produce is required by all other countries and the Egyptian cultivator is well aware of that fact. Just as in the ancient days under the guidance of Joseph he made the first corner in the world's corn, so at the present time he makes a corner on his own individual account. At the present time the Egyptian cotton raiser is literally sitting upon his bales and holding out for high prices. He can afford to wait, but the intending purchaser cannot, and the Egyptian knows it.

Foreign capital has been slow in making an invasion of Egypt, but now it is there in large quantities, and under its influence trade is advancing in bounding leaps. Before the British occupation there were, exclusive of the Suez Canal company and two banks not primarily established in Egypt, only 12 companies in which foreign capital was invested. Their combined capital can be ascertained, but it was not extremely large. From 1882 to 1887 nine commercial companies, with a combined capital of $5,000,000, were formed. Between 1889 and 1891 three more were floated, with a combined capital of $3,000,000, and in the next four years the number was swelled to 13 new companies, with a total capital of $30,000,000. After the battle of Atbara in 1898 foreign capital began to see the advantages of the Egyptian field and flowed into it with a rush. European manufacturers followed the stream of gold, and to-day the trade of Egypt has become a prize well worthy the pains necessary to secure its control. The American manufacturer is just beginning to take steps to capture at least a fair share of this trade. Their distance from Egypt and the cost of transportation are, no doubt, serious handicaps for American exporters, but with the advantages held by American manufacturers in the production of goods and the superior quality of their products these disadvantages lose half their terrors.

Names of Kings.

Denmark's kings for 384 years have all been named Christian or Frederick. It is the law of Denmark that Christian must be succeeded by Frederick and Frederick by Christian. To attain this, every Danish prince, no matter what other names he may receive, always has Christian and Frederick among them.

Aged Actress.

Frau Marguerite Wank, one of Hamburg's most popular actresses, celebrated recently the sixtieth anniversary of her appearance on the stage at the Covent Garden theater, London, playing the part of Aunt Grunstein in "Hamburger Leiden," and was nearly buried in flowers by the audience. She is 80 years old.

New Commandment.

Secretary Wilson does not agree with those who say that the eleventh commandment is "Do not be found out." A day or two ago he had occasion to reprimand a subordinate who in conversation with a friend let slip some information which was of a confidential nature. "Never forget the eleventh commandment again," said the secretary, "and in case you do not know what it is, I shall write it on a slip of paper for you." The subordinate looked at the slip, on which Mr. Wilson had written: "Keep your mouth shut."

Doctors Want Cash-Fee.

Physicians in New York are endeavoring to inaugurate a cash-fee system and quite a few have done so. The idea was originated in London by a specialist, who used to place a pile of gold on his desk in order to show patients what was expected of them.

Man's Meanness.

If a man is saying anything he shouldn't, and his wife gives him a little punch under the table, he takes it for an encore, and says it again.—Aitchison Globe.

FADING AWAY.

The High Standing of the Boys Who Wore the Blue.

Commander-in-Chief Corporal Tanner, speaking at the Grand Army campfire in Saginaw, said: "Recently the moral sense of the country has been shocked. We have seen men who stood high in the front ranks of the financiers of the country exposed and convicted of most flagrant crimes. But take the whole disgraceful list of names, search it from top to bottom, and I defy anyone to find the name of a man who wore the blue."

If the percentage of decrease in the membership of the Michigan G. A. R. during the past two years continues, the order will pass out of existence in this state within about 16 years. Since 1900 there has been a marked increase in the annual losses. In 1901 the loss was only .01 per cent; in 1902 it was .035 per cent; the next year it rose to .05; in 1904 it was .066 and last year it was .058. The membership on January 1, 1908, was 11,560, while two years ago it was 13,168. During the past year 440 members died. There are today 340 posts in Michigan, a decrease of six in a year. These facts are shown by the annual report of the retiring department commander, Ellery C. Cannon. Financially the G. A. R. is in a prosperous condition, Mr. Cannon said:

"The G. A. R. is an organization that must grow less. It reached its height in 1892, and has been gradually growing smaller ever since.

"It is a curious fact that only about one-third of the men who fought in the rebellion belong to the G. A. R. Many of the veterans claim that they cannot afford the dollar a year, etc."

The Customs Receipts.

Receipts from customs during the present fiscal year will far exceed those of any previous year in the history of the government.

Up to Wednesday, with 15 days of the fiscal year yet remaining, the receipts aggregate $285,351,323, nearly a million dollars in excess of any other full fiscal year, and the prospect is that by June 30 the excess over any previous year will approximate $25,000,000 and exceed those of last year by at least $40,000,000.

Receipts from internal revenue by June 30 are also expected to be nearly $250,000,000, or $15,000,000 in excess of last year.

A spike driven between the rails of the Pennsylvania railroad near Elba, O., derailed the engine, baggage car and two coaches of a passenger train, scalding Engineer Vaughn and injuring Fireman Shackles so that he may die.

The world may be growing better but here in the United States we are just beginning to find out how bad it is.

When it comes time for another campaign contribution the beef trust will be pretty sure that it does not go toward electing Theodore Roosevelt for a third term.

If the packers had had as much consideration for the constitutions of their customers as they now display for the constitution of the United States there would have been no meat scandal.

What reason is there to believe that the railroads will accept a new statute in good faith and obey it better than any former law? On the contrary, the probability is that if the Hepburn bill becomes a law, the main effect will be to compel railroad managers and counsel to sit up nights for a while planning methods to evade and overcome the new provisions.

The disgusting discharge from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. The Japanese Language.

The Japanese language has some features which puzzle beginners in its use. In English when one has learned the name for rice that ends it. Not so in Japan. Begin with cooked rice, meshi. When eaten by a child it is called mama. In speaking to another person of eating rice you call it gozen. As a merchant sells it, uncooked, it is kome, and as it grows in the field it is ine. So a carpenter's foot, or shaku, is about twelve inches, but a tailor's is fifteen. A kin or pound of beef is fourteen ounces, of flour twenty-one, of sugar over thirty. The ri, or mile, varies in different provinces, and on the Fushiyama ascent half a ri is marked a ri because it's so much harder work going uphill.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach, once overworked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA takes up the work for your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it a rest. Puts it back in condition again. You can't feel good with a disordered stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by F. A. Sigler, Druggist.

Well Planted.

The beetle in a rural district in Perthshire had become too feeble to perform his duties as minister's man and gravedigger and had to get an assistant. The two did not agree well, but after a few months Sandy (the beetle) died, and Tammas had to perform the last service for his late partner. The minister strolled up to Tammas while he was giving the finishing touches to the grave and casually remarked, "Have you put Sandy weel down, Tammas?" "I hev that, sir," said Tammas very decidedly. "Sandy may get up, but he'll be among the hindmost."

When the baby talks, it is time to give Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. It's the greatest baby's medicine known to loving mothers. It makes them eat, sleep and grow. 35 cents, tea or tablets. Ask your druggist.

Gigantic Earthworms.

The giant of the earthworms is a creature of Australia known to the scientists as Megascopidius australis. Although it is a monster, from four to six feet in length and from one to one and three-quarter inches in diameter, it is as harmless as our common angleworm, which it much resembles both in color and bodily structure. Like our common angleworm, it can only be removed from its burrows with great difficulty. If a portion of the creature's body be uncovered and grasped with the intention of pulling it from its sinuous burrow the experimenter is likely to be disappointed, because the worm can hold to the sides of his den until his body is pulled in two.

There is no need worrying along in discomfort because of a disordered digestion. Get a bottle of KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA, and see what it will do for you. Kodol not only digests what you eat and gives that tired stomach a needed rest, but is a corrective of the greatest efficiency. Kodol relieves indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, flatulence, and sour stomach. Kodol will make your stomach young and healthy again. You will worry just in the proportion that your stomach worries you. Worry means the loss of ability to do your best. Worry is to be avoided at all times. Kodol will take the worry out of your stomach. Sold by F. A. Sigler, Druggist.

Why Beverly Was Called Beantown.

The town of Beverly, Mass., was set off from the town of Salem more than 200 years ago. About that time, it is said, a schooner with a full cargo of beans entered that port. This supplied the whole town with beans; hence the name given to the inhabitants, "Beverly Beaners." In 1687 the town of Beverly voted to impose a tax of 10 shillings on all future absentees from town meetings. In 1754 twenty-eight slaves were owned in the town. The first Sunday school in America was established in Beverly in 1810.

Animals and Pain.

A correspondent furnishes to a London journal some curious instances of the apparent lack of highly developed powers of feeling pain in animals. He has, he says, seen a sparrow shot flying fall to the ground and in less than two minutes begin picking up grains that happened to be lying near it. On another occasion a tame rabbit was deprived by a spaniel of its tail, bone and all. It took not the slightest notice of its loss and began feeding again directly it returned to its hutch.

Following The Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at F. A. Sigler's, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. DRIVING BEHIND OXEN.

Bullock Traveling in India is Both Common and Comfortable.

"Nowhere else in the world," says Dr. Francis E. Clark in Everybody's Magazine, "is bullock traveling so comfortable and so common, probably, as in some parts of India. The bandy is often fitted up in very comfortable style, and, though the springs might be improved, the comparatively slow pace of the oxen makes them less important to one's comfort.

"The patient little white oxen trot along at a rate of three or four miles an hour, and especially if it is the evening and the refulgent Indian moon is shining down upon you, if the nightingales are singing and the fragrant jasmine is blooming in the hedgerows, you think that India is not so far removed from paradise after all.

"But, after a night of such travel, when you come out in the broad light of disillusioning day upon a collection of filthy mud cabins and see the naked children, hungry and famished, the gaunt specters of men and women munching the uncooked grain dealt out to them by generous hands—in too much of a hurry even to cook the food which they crave—you revise your opinion and make up your mind that India, in famine time, is nearer the inferno than any other country in the world."

Breaking the Trail.

Winter in the mountains is severe in its restrictions. Sledging and travel over the snow banked trails are limited to bare necessity. In the colder seasons the trails are kept open by shoveling and packing them down. When the runners sleet intermittently in high, thin voices, the teamster, with a belt tight around his overcoat and flopping his arms to keep warm, faces his greatest hardships, but when the heavy snows and rapid thaws of spring come teaming means a battle and a venture with a sudden termination hanging just above. Thousands of tons of snow up the mountain sides hang on a trigger that can be sprung by the sigh of a breeze or the rolling of a pine cone, and in summer many a barren slope and pile of rock and timber at the bottom tells a skeleton tale of the winter's night. Floundering, swearing and persevering open the trail—a little ruffed thread of white from up above, but a hard day's work for a man.—Outing Magazine.

Utterly Unreasonable.

In Womanly Ailments and Weaknesses

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure Soothes, Heals and Cures while the Patient Sleeps.

The best remedy which physicians know for Female Weaknesses is composed of parts of a certain white lily. To this are added other remedies which draw out the poisons and heal the inflamed membranes. This soothing and antiseptic local application is known by druggists and physicians everywhere as DR. SHOOP'S NIGHT CURE—because it cures while the patient sleeps and the morning finds the pain, the inflammation, the discharges, abated. The lives of many women are records of martyrdom. They suffer, they are sick, they never know a well day—yet all this suffering and sickness is unnecessary. Every ailing woman may be made to exult in the vigor and vitality of a robust and perfect womanhood. It is to these suffering women that DR. SHOOP'S NIGHT CURE will come as a Balm of Gilead. You may not know your trouble by the name physicians give it, but remember DR. SHOOP'S NIGHT CURE may be relied upon in all cases of womb ulceration, falling of the womb, pains in the womb or ovaries, leucorrhoea, (whites), inflammation, congestion, irregular or painful menstruation. Ask for DR. SHOOP'S NIGHT CURE. Recommended and sold by

"ALL DEALERS."

CURES RHEUMATISM LUMBAGO, SCIATICA NEURALGIA and KIDNEY TROUBLE

"DROPS" taken internally, rids the blood of the poisonous matter and acids which are the direct causes of these diseases. Applied externally it affords almost instant relief from pain, while a permanent cure is being effected by purifying the blood, dissolving the poisonous substance and removing it from the system.

DR. S. D. BLAND

Of Brewton, Ga., writes: "I had been a sufferer for a number of years with Lumbago and Rheumatism in my arms and legs, and tried all the remedies that I could gather from medical works, and also consulted with a number of the best physicians, but found nothing that gave the relief obtained from 'DROPS.' I shall prescribe it in my practice for rheumatism and kindred diseases."

FREE

If you are suffering with Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Trouble or any kind of disease, write to us for a trial bottle of "DROPS," and test it yourself. "DROPS" can be used any length of time without acquiring a "druggist habit," as it is entirely free of opium, cocaine, alcohol, laudanum, and other similar ingredients.

Large Size Bottle, "DROPS" (500 Doses) $1.00. For Sale by Druggists. SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY, Dept. 86, 140 Lake Street, Chicago.

The sincerest tribute that can be paid to superiority is imitation. The many imitations of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve that are now before the public prove it the best. Ask for DeWitt's. Good for burns, scalds, chaffed skin, eczema, tetter, warts, bruises, boils and piles. Highly recommended and reliable.

The Bird That Wouldn't Sing.

Gabrieli, the great prima donna, once "suffered" a twelve days' imprisonment for a whimsical refusal to sing in her usual first rate style. It was the occasion of a state dinner given by the viceroy at Palermo. Gabrieli had been engaged for the function, but as she did not put in an appearance the dinner was delayed and a messenger dispatched to ascertain the cause of her absence. The messenger was promptly informed that Gabrieli was in bed, where she had become so absorbed in a favorite author that she had forgotten the engagement. Receiving the command for her appearance, the lady began by singing her very worst, and when the viceroy urged her to be less foolish she refused to sing at all.

"The viceroy may make me cry," said she, "but he can never make me sing." For this freak Gabrieli was sent to prison, as we have indicated, for twelve days, during which time, having liberty to do as she pleased, she feasted her friends in great style and enjoyed herself in a variety of ways.

Jimmy's Wife

By T. JENKINS HAINS

(Author of "Wind Jammers," "Crises of the Petrol," Etc.)

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

We were about 50 miles south of Cape Horn, hove-to in a high, rolling, northwest sea, which made the main deck uninhabitable.

In the dog-watch the carpenter took mercy on Gantline and myself and allowed us to share his room in the forward house for an after-supper smoke. We had started forward when the man on lookout hailed. Through the gloom of the flying drift and twilight a shadow bore down upon the ship, grey-white above black. Then there suddenly loomed out the shape of a great ship tearing along under t'galant sails dead before the gale.

Then in an instant she was gone. The drift had closed upon her as she swept astern before anyone could read her name. She had vanished as quickly as she had appeared, passing on into the dismal sea behind us like a salt-streaked mystery.

We stood gazing at the whirling drift in the gloom astern for some minutes, and then we followed Chips into his room. Gantline could not recall the vessel by her shape or rig and asked the carpenter about her.

"Do I know her?" he hissed fiercely. "Would I be apt to forget her?" And he thrust out an arm, pulling up his sleeve until a long livid scar showed clear to his elbow. "It isn't likely anyone would forget the Morning Light if they ever sailed in her. Man! I'd know her in the depths of perdition, the deepest hole in devil-dom, where she'll sail in the hereafter."

"No, I didn't intend to ship in her. Jimmy Turner an' I got into her after we left the navy. When we went broke a fellow wanted hands for the Morning Light, Cap'n Sam Smith, master. We hadn't heard of any particular Sam Smith, so on we signed with shaking hands an' dry throats, willing to go anywhere or do anything for enough grog to keep alive.

Jimmy had gone in the navy, because he couldn't live ashore. He'd married and was sorry for it—made a mistake. But he'd never said anything to me about his wife or family, and I never asked. Nobody asks questions of anybody aboard men-o'-war.

When we dropped down the bay a tug came alongside and Cap'n Smith went to the rail to greet a little hatchet-faced fellow who jumped aboard. He was with a woman.

"Sammy Smith an' niece," said an old shellback standing on the fore-castle head, "I thought so."

"What's the matter?" we asked. "Matter! Don't you know that fellow? That's Morrill, the worst thing in man's image that ever trod a deck plank. Come it on us as Sammy Smith! Man, if ye can get ashore, swim fer it afore it's too late. I'm too old." But Morrill didn't ship men to have them do the pier-head jump. We were in for a western ocean cruise in one of the packet ships who will leave her memory a black and bloody track in the minds of sailor men.

Before we'd crossed the stream, Morrill had begun on us. But—well, never mind. It would make the tales of old-time horror seem like play to tell one-half of what took place in a week. Save ye, Gantline, I could sit here and tell you things till morning—and each one would make you shiver. We had five men "missing" before the voyage was half over. Jimmy and I came in for some of it but even that tiger-shark aft knew when he had reached the limit—and we were men-o'-war's men.

"One night there was a row aft and there were cries of a woman. Jimmy heard them and started out on deck with his sheath knife, but we held him, and four of us got the marks of the knife to remember how we saved him.

"After that Jimmy was quiet and ugly. He never spoke to anyone. There were no more men in the crew, only square-heads and Dutchmen, and they never go aft.

"I wouldn't consent to go alone when Jimmy gave me a look that told his game. Soon I noticed he wouldn't turn in at night and then I knew, it was coming. I stole aft to see the end.

"I found him standing close under the break of the poop, talking in a whisper to some one. Then I caught the glint of a skirt and recognized the voice of the woman.

"It's no use, Jim, let me live it out," she said. "It won't last long." Her voice was like that of the dying.

"Then Jimmy answered her slowly and quietly. His words came deep and low like the smothered roar of the surf on the shore. Man, it was like the great sea rolling over an outlying reef, bursting, gathering again and then rushing with that mighty power to the end. When he stopped she was choking, gasping for breath. Man, it seemed like her heart would break. I couldn't help listening, hearing her pay for what she'd done. But Jimmy never blamed her, no, not he.

"Jimmy stood there waiting for his answer.

"Ho—go! Go and forget." She was choking, but it came plain and distinct. There was a long silence, and I looked hard into the gloom. She had gone. Jimmy was standing there away in the night like an unstayed mast and I led him forrads, his head hanging down and sagging like he was asleep.

"The next day it came on heavy from the northwest. Jimmy was sent aloft to put an extra gasket around the bunt of the crow's jack where it had been blown out by the gale. Something went wrong with the foot-ropes. Looked like a clear case of cutting, for it was all right when we furled the sail a few hours before.

"Jimmy fell with the dull wallop that generally means death, and he landed right across the cabin skylight. It was a long fall and he was still. Morrill was watching his ship and saw the fall. He started for Jimmy. Just then the woman below rushed on deck and flung herself upon the poor fellow. I reached his head and started to raise him. The woman was sobbing and calling for him to speak just once more to her; and, man, it was terrible to hear her what she said.

"Morrill stood looking on, and then burst into a laugh.

"So that's him, is it? Ho! ho! ho! So that's the fellow?" And he went to the dying man.

"She was upon him before he knew it, striking him a blow that sent him reeling. Then he went mad and had his pistol out firing and cursing like a maniac. It was all over in a minute."

Here Chips stopped awhile and cut some fresh plug for his pipe.

"Before the morning watch I had talked Hellgoland over, and he talked to a Dutchman named Langter. Anderson finally joined, but Jacques was afraid to go without his watch behind him. There were just four of us started aft out of that crew of 20 men.

"Hellgoland took the starboard side and I took the port, both getting into the mizzen channels when the watch was called. The rest were to rush when they heard firing.

"The second mate bawled for his watch to clew up the mizzen lower topsail, as it was now snoring away worse than ever and the short seas were coming aboard us. This was our signal.

"We crawled along the deck strike outside the rail, holding on like death with our finger tips. Morrill was nearest to me. When we were near enough to get behind our men, Hellgoland gave a cry and jumped over. I followed. The next second I had broken my knife short off in the back of the captain that ever cursed a ship's deck. He jumped back and ran forward, I after him, trying to close before he could get out his pistol. He dodged about the mizzen and fired as he swung. The shot hit me there on the arm and split it to the elbow. Then something flung out of the darkness to leeward and there was a dull smash. That was all. Hellgoland stood leaning upon his hands while I picked up the pistol.

"The day dawned upon a storm-torn ocean, all grey-white, and a hove-to ship staggering off to the southward with her lower topsails streaming in ribbons from her jacks. As the blow wore down toward evening we could hear the piteous cries of a dying woman calling for her husband."

Chips waited for a few minutes and puffed hard at his pipe. Then he went on in a low voice I could hardly hear:

"We buried Jimmy and his wife the next day. Old Jacobs sewed them up together and weighted them. All hands uncovered as they went to leeward. I didn't know any service, and there wasn't any such thing as a Bible aboard. 'Good-by, Jimmy,' I said—and let him go."

There was a long silence. Gantline stood up and then sat down again. He seemed to want to ask a question, but would not. Chips watched him.

"Yes," he went on, "we got five years apiece for that. Five long years behind the bars, where the memory of the blue water and the hope I would get out again kept me from going mad. Is it likely I'd forget the Morning Light?"

CONCERNING DRESS

LOOK OUT WELL FOR HEALTH—ABOUT DAININESS.

A Schoolgirl's Thin Waist That Invited Pneumonia—If You Would Have Soft, Beautiful Hair, Go Without Hats in the Hot Months—Change Your Out-of-Door Shoes for Others as Soon as You Are Indoors—Dainty Underclothing Characterizes the Refined Schoolgirl.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

In order to be healthful, the dress we wear must be suited to the season, the weather and the business we have in hand. We are now in the midst of spring with soft airs, sudden showers, bright sunshine, and every other delightful thing that belongs to the most charming part of the year. But last December, although we had what is called an open winter, there were piercing winds and sullen skies, and much of the time the temperature was somewhere in the neighborhood of the freezing point.

A friend of mine had occasion to take a train one December afternoon from New York to Albany. Midway on the journey the train stopped and among the passengers who stepped aboard was a pretty girl with a jacket over her arm, no hat on her head, and protected from the weather only by a thin shirt-waist, with short sleeves. The shirt-waist was dainty and pretty and trimmed with lace and embroidery, but, nevertheless, on that day and in that atmosphere, the girl's dress was an invitation to grippe or pneumonia.

All last winter, any one who chose to look might see beautiful New York girls walking on Fifth avenue, in the afternoon, with furs around their necks while their feet were shod with low shoes and their short skirts left visible the most elaborate open-work stockings. This was certainly not a healthful style of dress. I trust not a single school-girl left her mother's home garbed in so stupid a fashion.

Now that warm weather is here, the problem has less difficulty and the element of protection from cold is eliminated. You are rather better off without hats than with them in summer, unless the sun is blazing and you need to be screened from its direct rays.

If you would like to have thick, soft and beautiful hair, you will run about without a hat whenever you can. Mornings and evenings a jacket may be necessary and a golf cape in the mountains or at the shore is a very comfortable addition to a girl's wardrobe. When sitting out of doors on a summer evening, it is always well to have a wrap and either a golf cape, a railway rug or one of those sensible cloaks with hoods and pockets made so neatly by our Shaker friends, will fill the need to perfection.

A school-girl's dress should be well fitting and its weight hanging from the shoulder, should never be allowed to become an impediment. An elderly lady whose girlhood was passed 50 years ago, in a southern state, tells me that she remembers when every girl's mother did her best to squeeze her daughter's waist into very small compass, and that a girl sometimes wore tied around that same slender waist eight or nine very stiff starched petticoats at the same time. It was small wonder that the girls of those days too often went into a decline and early faded out of existence. Those who survived were delicate and fainted away at any slight shock, had very precarious appetites, and would have been amazed at the rude health of the girls of our time.

Whatever you do, girls, be sure that you have ample room to breathe. Any form of dress that contracts your powers of breathing is unhealthful and far from beautiful. For all-round wear, few fashions exceed in common sense the loose costume insisted upon in the gymnasium; with a little more length in the skirt than is permissible when one is playing basketball, running or jumping, this dress is ideal for the schoolroom. For walking, and every school-girl should take a long walk every day as a matter of course, the only healthful dress is one that easily and thoroughly clears the ground.

You girls who read this possess a great advantage over girls who lived a century ago. I suppose it is hard for you to realize that women who, were they still on the earth, would be more than a century old, were once girls like yourselves. They had pretty hard times under the regime then in vogue, for they often had to spend hours lying flat on their backs, strapped fast to a board in order that they might be perfectly straight and, when they did not recline in this tortured fashion, they were equally compelled to be uncomfortable, for they had to sit or walk with a stiff board fastened to their shoulders. In the end, most of them gained what is a great beauty for any girl—a flat back and a graceful carriage of the head—but they did not usually have such health as you are born to possess.

They wore wretchedly thin shoes with soles like paper, pointed toes and pointed heels. The roads in those days were muddy and the girls were afraid to go out when it rained. Their dresses were of muslin, close and clinging, with baby waists that ended under the arm-pits, and in the house and out most of them wore either turbans or caps of muslin and lace trimmed with flowers, velvet and ribbon.

Your fashions are less picturesque, but are really finer and better adapted to your tramping out of doors in rain and sun, and to your varied occupations when in the house.

A girl who would like to be splendidly well must always wear shoes that are neither too loose nor too tight. A shoe that wobbles about and does not nicely fit the foot, is as little to be desired as one that distorts it by cramping and pinching and crushing the toes together, or otherwise deforming one of the prettiest features of the body.

A chiropodist told me one day that in his opinion nearly all dealers in shoes hired lunatics for salesmen.

I said: "Isn't that an extreme statement?"

"Not at all," he said. "If you could only see the feet that I do, the young girls who have bunions and corns and hobble about in shoes never intended by Nature for their wearing, the older women whose feet were ruined before they were 16, you would understand what I mean. Of course," he added, "if everybody had sense enough to adopt hygienic shoes, with broad soles and low heels, I should have to choose another profession, for my vocation would be gone."

Never neglect to change your outdoor shoes for indoor ones when you come in, expecting to spend the evening at home. The shoes last longer and the feet feel better if this precaution is regarded.

I have not said anything about underclothing, because most girls wear what is most agreeable to the skin, and are influenced in their choice by the judgment of their mothers. Whatever you adopt, notice that it should frequently be changed and be careful to have it good of its kind. Dainty underclothing is one of the characteristics in dress of refined and fastidious girls.

It is rather remarkable that, notwithstanding the disturbed condition of affairs in Russia last year, the British and Foreign Bible society reports a banner year in the circulation of scriptures, over 500,000 copies being distributed in European Russia, besides a very large number in Siberia.

STRAWBERRIES AND INSANE

Eastern Expert Makes Some Interesting Observations on the Subject.

Denver.—Do more persons go insane during the strawberry season than at any other period of the year? If so, why?

According to Dr. E. P. Blomer, a Buffalo physician and alienist of reputation in the east, the statistics regarding the insane of the country in general show that each year there is a marked increase in the number of persons who become insane by the time the strawberry season is well under way. When the fruit disappears from the daily table, he asserts, records of different asylums show the number of cases decreases.

Dr. Blomer advanced his views on the subject to C. E. Hagar, secretary of the state board of charities and corrections, during a visit to the state house. He is on his way to the Pacific coast to get definite statistics from insane hospitals in California and other western states, and will visit the Colorado asylum on his return journey.

Dr. Blomer said he was unable to explain why insanity cases should be more numerous during the time when shortcake and berries and cream are in general use, but added that he was firmly convinced there was some peculiar influence exerted on persons of a certain nervous temperament by strawberries. Their effect on some persons physically, he said, was shown to all physicians. Many are unable to eat one dish of strawberries without suffering from a rash which covers the entire body. Dr. Blomer believes that in the case of some persons the mind is affected instead of the body.

Secretary Haber had never heard the theory before, but declared that the next time he visited the state hospital he would go over the records carefully in search of corroboration of the views of Dr. Blomer.

"HE RAN FOR LAWYER."

But There Was a Doubt as to Whether He Had Ever Caught the Office.

A man from Pennsylvania went to Vineland on a business errand. The town was strange to him, and he was unacquainted with the man (a lawyer) he had gone to see. The directions he received were so indefinite that he found himself on the edge of the town without having come to the house he sought. Then he met an old negro and asked the way of him and learned that the house lay about a quarter of a mile farther down the road.

"The man I want to see is a lawyer," he said to the old man. "Is this Mr. Dash down the road a lawyer?"

"He ain't no lawyer that I ever heard tell of," answered the negro.

"You're sure?"

The old negro scratched his head in deep thought. Then a gleam of remembrance lighted his eyes.

"Now I think of it, boss," he said, "pears like I do recollect he ran for lawyer one time."

"Be Pleasant Every Morning Until Ten O'clock; the Rest of the Day Will Take Care of Itself."

This is one of the best little sermons we know. Have you ever stopped to think that the morning is the time when your temper is usually ruffled, and have you ever stopped to think that the cause of bad temper in the morning is nearly always because your stomach has not been working properly during the night? It has contained a lot of indigestible substances that form gas and makes you have dreams. It breaks up your rest and you wake up in the morning tired, instead of refreshed, as nature intended you should.

Our grand sires required no admonition to "Be pleasant every morning until 10 o'clock; the rest of the day will take care of itself," for they digested their food and woke up full of life and energy ready for the day's duties, and this was because they lived on simple foods instead of highly seasoned palatable concoctions, which contain no nourishment. Nature gave us milk, wheat and eggs, and on these foods a person can live indefinitely, but if the milk is skimmed, and if the outside of the wheat is taken off the kernel, and if the lime, the salt, and the iron, which is in the outer part of the wheat berry, if these are all removed, you have simply starch alone; the starch goes into the stomach and becomes sugar.

Do you know that a person would starve to death on plain white bread and water? Do you know that he could live indefinitely on whole wheat bread or on whole wheat food and water? These interesting facts are all set forth in a book called "Back to Nature," which tells about proper living and gives recipes for meals of the simple kind—the kind that makes you strong and well; the kind that makes you "Pleasant every morning until 10 o'clock." This book is published at a great expense, but it is given free to every reader of this paper. It is an advertisement of "EGG-O-SEE," the great food—which is made from whole wheat, which is baked and predigested and is all ready to serve from the package you buy at your grocers. You get more life and energy from a 10-cent package of EGG-O-SEE than you will get from a thousand dollars' worth of white bread. This is no idle claim. It is a scientific fact. We want to tell about this simple food question, so write us and say "Please send me a copy of your book 'Back to Nature,'" and the book will be sent you at once without charge. INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color
Editor of the Woman's Belief Corps,
Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1225 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, of 25 West 12th St., Denver, Colo.:

"I am 35 years of age and have been afflicted with a tumor of the uterus for several years, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope.

"I could not bear to think of an operation, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and nothing of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only meant temporary relief; but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

"The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease has been advising sick women free of charge. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't follow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

HIGH SPEED SHIPS WANTED

Rapid Transit in Ocean Travel Is the Popular Demand of the Day.

Among the advantages claimed for the increasingly popular passenger ships of large size and moderate speed should be mentioned the fact that many of them are showing in regular service a rate of speed which is fully as high as that which they maintained on their trials in smooth water, states the Scientific American. Moreover, because of their great weight and momentum and their moderate speed they are not so greatly affected by adverse weather conditions as the faster ships and their coming and going is marked by great regularity and a close adherence to the sailing schedule.

If a 23-knot ship runs into a heavy head sea it must make a much greater reduction in its speed than is necessary in a vessel of say 15 to 17 knots speed; and, consequently it will be more liable to miss a tide and suffer a night's detention, say at Quarantine, New York, than a ship of the slower type. As showing how the big vessels of the intermediate type are running well up to their trial speeds, we may take the case of the Amerika, which in a recent passage from Cherbourg to Sandy Hook of 3,140 miles maintained an average speed of 17.31 miles an hour, while on its preceding hasty passage it covered a distance of 3,088 miles in seven days, six hours and 24 minutes, which works out as an average speed of 17.71 miles an hour. The high-speed liner, however, is not in any danger of being forced out of the field by its slower sisters, as witness the fact that the North German Lloyd has under construction a twin ship to the 23-knot Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, and that the Cunard company will shortly put a pair of 24 to 25 knot vessels in service.

So rapid is the increase in the number of those who can afford to pay the highest rates for Atlantic travel and so great is the demand for rapid transit on the part of those to whom time is an object that we look to see a limited number of 25-knot vessels built from time to time for the Atlantic service. The majority of the trans-Atlantic liners of the future, however, will undoubtedly be of the Amerika and the Baltic type, for not only are these ships upon which the companies depend for the greater part of their revenues but because of their steadiness, absence of vibration and the more lengthy sea trip which they afford, they are becoming increasingly popular with the traveling public.

BIRDS SHUN THE DEEP SEA

They Seldom Cross Waters of Great Depth in Their Flight from One Land to Another.

Frank Chapman, of the New York museum of natural history, has been writing about the birds of England, which he finds more numerous but of fewer species than those of this country. Curiously enough only one of hundreds of varieties is common to both countries.

A writer in the London Outlook points out that no birds cross deep, even if narrow, seas. The Madagascar straits are impassable to birds, though the north seas are a highway for them. Godwits pass from the Nile to the shores of Norfolk, though neighboring islands in an archipelago may show no common stock.

All birds, with the possible exception of the sparrow, are stirred to movement by different causes—wind, weather, food, the bullying of parent and other birds. Birds of prey drive off their young. Martins love familiar eaves; successive ravens have built on the same ledge for centuries.

The longer passages are only made over shallow seas that once were land, and when once a journey is made the memory is strong enough to urge a repetition. The change of home then becomes not a fashion but an inherited habit.

CHILD'S AWFUL SKIN HUMOR

Screamed with Pain—Suffering Nearly Broken Parent's Heart—Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

"I wish to inform you that the Cuticura Remedies have put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot, and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. The longer the doctors treated him the worse it grew. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. When I think of his suffering it nearly breaks my heart. His screams could be heard down stairs. The suffering of my son made me full of misery. I had no ambition to work, to eat, nor could I sleep. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up for a bad job. One evening I saw an article in the paper about the wonderful Cuticura and decided to give it a trial. I tell you that Cuticura Ointment is worth its weight in gold; and when I had used the first box of Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

REASON OF HIS GRUDGE.

And It Was Good and Sufficient, According to His Construction.

"Sir," we said to the stranger whom we were endeavoring to enlist in our society for the preservation of Niagara falls, "now that we have outlined the motives and principles of our organization will you not put your name in the roll?"

"Not by a long shot," he growled, relates Judge.

"But, sir," we argued, surprised at such a callousness toward the beauties of nature, "surely you, like all other patriotic citizens, wish to see this majestic spectacle of grandeur preserved from the ruthless hands of commercialism."

"Don't care a hoot about it," he muttered, turning, as though to leave us.

We clutched at his coat lapel and begged him to wait a moment.

"Do you mean to say," we continued, "that you do not care if this mighty cataract were changed from a marvelous, inspiring, awe-compelling sight to a measly, factory-dotted cliff?"

"As I told you," he answered, shaking himself loose, "I don't care a continental cuss what becomes of Niagara. I went there on my wedding tour."

Then we noticed a large bump where his bald spot is growing toward his neck.

"As near as I kin make de difference out," said Uncle Eben, "it's dis way. De speculations dat wins is investments, an' dem dat loses is gamblin'." — Washington Star.

KNOWS NOW

Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me although I had palpitation of the heart every day.

"Finally one day a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried a small quantity of coffee which caused severe irritation and proved to me I must let it alone.

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak—that was because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full 15 minutes which gives it the proper rich flavor and the deep brown color.

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off coffee and drink Postum, in fact I daily give this advice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients. "There's a reason."

IN LOVE WITH THE SCHOOLMA'AM

[Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]
"Well, Abe, go and get on your Sunday suit and grease your hair and boots."

"What for?"
"She's come, and she's just peaches."
"The new schoolma'am?"
It had become known throughout School district No. 5 that a new schoolma'am would take hold on Sept. 1, and it had leaked out that she was young and pretty. She would board around, as all schoolteachers do in the country, but would put in the first two weeks at the home of Farmer Ross, where Abe Botsford was hired man.

Abe was twenty-five years old, as steady as grandfather's clock and as timid as a girl. He had been almost of a mind to run away for those two weeks and only the fact that the farmer was not feeling well and the work was driving had kept him from going. The day had been set for the teacher to arrive and a neighbor had driven over to the railroad town and fetched her in his buggy. Abe was cutting corn along a roadside field when the neighbor stopped and addressed him as above. It was 4 o'clock in the afternoon and supper would not be ready until 6. Those were long and uncomfortable hours for Abe. He realized that he was homely, ungainly and uncultivated, and the idea of meeting a real young lady and having to sit at table and converse with her set his heart to pounding.

"You comb your hair, put on a collar and a coat, and I'll introduce you," said Mrs. Ross. "She's a girl that shines over any one in this county for looks, but she won't be snippy. You'll just be glad that she came. I'm fat and homely and don't know beans when the bug's untied, but she just put her arms around my neck and kissed me when she came, and I feel as if I'd known her for a year."

Abe would rather have had six of his front teeth pulled, but it was all over in a few minutes. She called him Mr. Botsford and began asking about farm work, and in ten minutes the thumping of his heart had ceased. When supper was through and he went to the barnyard to milk she followed him and asked many questions.

Abe felt that he was living in a different world for the next two weeks.

and when Miss Hattie Messmore went to board with another family it seemed as if she took all the sunshine with her. It was then that the hired man discovered that he was in love.

Abe was dazed and frightened by his discovery. He didn't hardly dare to admit it to himself, and not for the best farm in the state would he have put anybody next. He loved the pretty schoolma'am, and he knew he loved her, and yet when he thought that to get her for a wife he must some day stand in her presence and tell his love a cold shiver went up his back.

There is always more or less trouble for the country schoolma'am. There were three "big boys" in District No. 5 who set the rules at defiance. There were three or four farmers' daughters who were jealous. There were parents who thought the teacher showed partiality. There were two widowers and three young men who wanted to marry her. She went the even tenor of her way as well as she could, but as the weeks slipped past and her troubles did not diminish she shed tears.

She was soon to return to Farmer Ross' to board for another two weeks when Abe drove past the schoolhouse one day and stopped to give her a message. The pupils had gone, and she was alone and crying. The young man's heart swelled at sight of her tears. It also swelled with indignation when she told him of her tribulations. Then he forgot who he was, his timidity vanished, a great courage took possession of his soul, and he asked for the right to protect her.

He never could recall the words he used, but she understood. She brushed away her tears, gave him her hand and then talked to him like a sister. She pointed out things to him that hurt, and yet in their hurting he had to acknowledge that they were facts. She spared him all she could, knowing what a big, honest heart he had, but she made him see that marriage between them was impossible. When he left her he had been dealt a hard blow, and yet he said to himself that she was the very best little woman in all this world.

Few men can face a woman after finding that their love has been in vain. At least they must have time to get over the hurt.

The schoolma'am had no idea that Abe would take it so seriously, but he went home to give notice that he should go away in two weeks. Then he took the trail. The widowers and young men who were buzzing around the girl were either knocked out or had to give their solemn promise to haul off. The jealous girls were told that they were red headed, cross eyed and freckle faced and couldn't even take third place, and the parents who were complaining of partiality were given recipes for a certain ailment common to children in the country who don't wash often enough and who eat too many buckwheat cakes.

It was an exciting two weeks. In that particular community the old farmers almost forgot to predict a hard winter. Then on the day before she was to return to Farmer Ross' the schoolma'am received a scrawl at the hands of one of her pupils. It read:
I have licked the hull caboodle of 'em, and they won't make you any more trouble, and this is to inform you that I am well and hope you are the same. I am join' west to fite Injuns. Goodby. A. B.

A Jewish newspaper tells the story of a rabbi who expounded and interpreted the Jewish law to the faithful observers for a stipend which a junior clerk would scorn. The learned man was asked by a friend how he was getting on. "Slowly," he answered, with a sigh. "If it were not for the numerous farts which our religion prescribes I am sure my family would die of starvation."

No Cause For Fear.

Husband—That's a foolish habit you women have of carrying your purses in your hands when in the street. Wife—Why is it? Husband—Because a thief could easily snatch them and get away. Wife—Well, if the husbands of other women don't give them any more to put in their purses than you give me to put in mine the thief would starve to death.

Last Wednesday Harry Parker and Miss Ethyl Peavy of Howell were united in marriage. To escape the rice shower of their friends they drove over to Pinckney and arrived at the hotel at about 10 p. m. Several of their former Howell friends, now residents of this place were on to the move and gave the young couple a serenade. The next morning they were afraid they were up against another rice deal and engaged a team to drive them to Lakeland. We understand however that there was one or two traveling men on the train who were in the deal and had plenty of rice.

Fine weather this.

Nothing has been done about Annual Field Day, largely on account of the fact that some of our prominent athletes have been unusually busy preparing for graduation at school and consequently have lacked interest in the subject.
