Fred Road of Detroit spent Sunday with his parents here.

Rosina Mercer was in Howell one day last week on business.

Earl Tupper is spending a couple of weeks in Durand and Flint.

A band has been organized in Fowlerville with Floyd Von Richter as leader.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, of Detroit visited her parents, John Shehan and wife, east of town last week.

Jacob Mack and family have moved into the Wheeler house, now owned by Mrs. Hoard, on Mill street.

Mrs. Cook and daughter Miss Nellie Bennett of Howell are guests of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Barnard.

The frame work for Marion Reasons new residence is up and the work of laying the brick will be pushed.

Rev. N. W. Pierce, wife and daughter Mrs. Marble of Linden visited their daughters in Marion the past week.

The members of the O. E. S. are earnestly requested to be present Friday night of this week to help initiate candidates.

We learn that Ed T. Kearney of Jackson Neb. is to visit Pinckney the last of this month. Good. E. T. will always be welcome in his old home town.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Glenn, who have been spending three weeks at their Glennbrook farm, returned to their home in Detroit the last of last week. Mr. Glenn however returned this week to look after his harvest.

Mrs. D. F. Ewen entertained her son Henry and wife, of Carrington, N. D., Amos Ewen and wife of Ithaca, and B. B. Sutton and wife of Flushing, the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ewen were on their way home from the Jamestown Exposition.

Rev. A. G. Gates pastor of the Cong'l church, and wife started on their vacation Monday. They stopped at Ionia to attend the funeral of the victims of the Perre Marquette accident, many of whom were well known by them. Rather a sad start for a vacation but we hope it may end very pleasantly.

Terrible Wreck

A terrible accident occurred Saturday on the Perre Marquette railroad about two miles east of Salem when an excursion train filled with the railroads employees, bound for an outing to Detroit, ran head on into a freight, both trains running at full speed. It is reported that over 40 were killed and 150 injured. It is hard to get accurate reports even now.

Most of the killed and injured were from the little city of Ionia and business was suspended Monday and Tuesday during the funeral of those killed.

The size of the cities being taken into consideration the accident means more in loss of life and limb than the earthquake did to San Francisco.

M. E. Church Notes.

The prayer and class meetings have been well attended during the absence of the pastor. There will be the usual preaching services next Sunday when the pastor returns from his vacation to take up the work. Let everyone turn out to welcome him. Those who attend the Cong'l church are especially invited to come and feel at home with us during the absence of their pastor on his two week's vacation.

The attendance at Sunday school is as good as expected during the vacation. There was 72 present Sunday with a collection of $1.06.

Epworth League meeting as usual next Sunday evening with Nellie Fish pastor. All welcome.

Sept. 23 27 are the dates for the Fowlerville fair.

St. Marys picnic will be the next event to take place in this place. Watch for date and programs.

Glenn Tupper, foreman of the DISPATCH office, is spending his vacation visiting relatives in Durand and Flint.

The residence of Thos. Shehan presents a very neat appearance with its new coat of white paint and new porches.

The Ladies of the Cong'l church will serve Ice Cream at the Opera House, Saturday evening of this week, July 27. Everyone invited.

The DISPATCH launch which has been having a vacation at Half Moon lake the past three weeks, was returned to the pond at this place Saturday.

The Hamburg and Putnam farmers' club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Coniway Saturday afternoon of this week. Bring lap boards and dishes.

Rains the past week have retarded haying and some of the crop has been injured. The harvest is here also and the farmer has about all he can attend to.

One of the things noted while visiting Chicago was the lack of drinking fountains on the streets. In our beautiful Detroit one does not have to go much more than a block in any direction to find good pure water and in many places ice water at that in fountains. In Chicago they are few and far between, like an oasis in the desert.

Wanton Slaughter of Game.

Kill! Kill! Kill! The word is on every tongue from the time the big-game season opens in the far west until it closes, two months later. Every man's hand seems to be against the wild things of the mountains—the harmless wild things which lend to the forest half its charm. If it were the aim of the people to exterminate the deer, elk and mountain sheep they could not kill with more avidity. The question of skill does not enter into it. If an elk is close enough to slunge his hair with the powder, no matter, kill him! If the pack horses are already loaded to the limit, if not a pound of the meat is to be touched, if the head is worthless as a trophy and the horns valueless, no matter, kill just the same. The law permits each person his two elk, so take the limit! If an animal is crippled, do not bother to trail him, let him go; the wolves will pull him down eventually, or he will fall and starve—that elk with the shattered shoulder or the deer with the dragging hind leg. What does it matter to you if, a comparatively few years hence, the elk tracks and the print of the deer's pointed hoof are gone forever, if the forests are depleted and silent and a pair of antlers has become a curiosity? You have had your sport. And this, exclaims Caroline Lockhart in Lippincott's, is the way in which nine-tenths of the people reason who hunt in the big-game season. The real sportsman is not a menace to the game; he is its best friend, its protector. He is as jealous of it as though it were his own property, and he has a clearly defined code of honor in regard to the killing of it. But real sportsmen are rare in the big-game country.

New Jersey lives up to its reputation for producing original citizens. The latest case in point is that of Peter Mowry, an engineer on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad. One day when his train reached Millburn he discovered that he did not have water enough to carry him to the next water tank. He hesitated only a moment, then jumped out of his cab and disappeared. Before he climbed back to his seat the fire engines came tearing down the street toward the station. In reply to the foreman, who asked where the fire was, Mowry explained his needs, and said he had pulled the alarm because he thought maybe the fire company could run a hose to a hydrant and fill his tank. He did not judge his fellow Jerseymen wrongly, for the hose was unwound and he soon had all the water he needed.

Dr. Marade, the French inventor of voice telegraphy, says that the reason women can talk longer, and faster, and harder than men is because their larynges are narrower. He asserts that there is need for a tremendous amount of power in talking with a broad larynx—that an orator talking to a big crowd does as much work as a porter who should 400 pounds. On this basis there are several gentlemen loose in the country who are doing as much work as the average railroad.

It has taken the English five years to decide that Empire day, as the anniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday has been called since the queen's death, is worth celebrating. It has been observed in the British colonies, but home hardly any official recognition. The day has been shown, year, however, the London school children received a half holiday, and patriotic songs and saluted the before going home for the after.

The New York legislature has passed a bill which gives women school teachers in New York city the same pay as men. It has long been maintained that for equal work there should be equal pay. The lower rate of pay for women teachers has, for better or for worse, left American common school education largely in the hands of women, and tended to keep men out of the profession.

Itinerant booksellers on the East Side in New York always find a market for manuals of etiquette. The foreigners, who crowd the district, are anxious to learn how to behave in the free society of America, and eagerly read instructions on eating soup, when to rise and when to sit down, what to say and when to say it.

Japan has decided to retaliate on Korea for sending its grievances to The Hague conference by ousting the present Emperor.—Cable Dispatch.

KOREAN TROOPS IN REVOLT

ESCAPE FROM BARRACKS AND FIGHT WITH JAPANESE.

Twenty-Five of Latter Killed and Wounded—Ito Disclaims Responsibility for Abdication.

Seoul, Korea. — Bloody fighting took place in the streets of Seoul Friday afternoon. It was started by a company of Korean troops who mutinied, escaped from their barracks and their officers, and attacked a police station. After firing several volleys they scattered, continuing a desultory firing and attacking individual Japanese.

They were joined by the populace, who used stones and clubs. Ten wounded have already reached the hospital in the Japanese quarter, where the Japanese are flocking for refuge. The correspondent while on the scene noted seven Japanese and four Koreans dead, and three Japanese and two Koreans wounded. Gen. Hasegawa is sending dismounted cavalry to reinforce the police, who are now searching for the mutineers. The military have been ordered out.

All traffic has been stopped and the Japanese shops are guarded. The police report that 25 Japanese were killed and wounded in the day's rioting. The casualties among the Koreans are unknown.

The elaborate ceremony of transferring the imperial seal to the crown prince took place Friday forenoon. Some shops were closed because of the sympathy of their proprietors with the emperor, and the streets around the palace were filled with people.

At the Japanese residency, Marquis Ito and Viscount Hayashi, in answer to an inquiry regarding the effect of the emperor's action, its importance in effecting a settlement of the whole Japanese-Korean situation, and whether or not it was in accordance with the plans of Japan, said they were not prepared at the present to make a statement.

Marquis Ito, however, desired it to be emphatically stated that both before and during his audience Thursday, when the emperor and cabinet were weighing the question of abdication, he refused any participation. The emperor repeated his declaration that he was not responsible for the sending of the Korean delegation to The Hague and asked Marquis Ito's opinion of the cabinet's representation regarding abdication. Marquis Ito replied that the matter wholly concerned the emperor of Korea and not himself as the representative of the empire of Japan. Furthermore, Marquis Ito declares, the cabinet's whole course of action was based on its own initiative.

William January Set Free.

Fort Leavenworth, Kan.—William January, alias Charles W. Anderson, for whose pardon a petition containing the signatures of 50,000 persons was presented to President Roosevelt three months ago, was released from the federal prison here Friday. Anderson returned to Kansas City, Mo., where he will engage in business. The case of January resembles that of Victor Hugo's hero, Jean Valjean.

New Mayor for Frisco.

San Francisco.—Dr. Edward R. Taylor, physician and lawyer, dean of the Hastings Law college, and of the University of California, was elected by the board of supervisors mayor of San Francisco Tuesday night, and by the open avowal of the bribery graft prosecution, the so-called "reign of the big stick" same to an end.

"COME OFF!"

HAYWOOD EVIDENCE EXCLUDED.

That Bearing on Alleged Counter Conspiracy Shut Out.

Boise, Idaho.—The field for argument both for the prosecution and defense of William D. Haywood has been limited by Judge Wood, who in a decision handed down Friday removed from consideration of the jury all evidence bearing on the alleged conspiracy of mine owners and others against the Western Federation of Miners.

Immediately following the announcement of this decision argument commenced. Judge Hawley, leading counsel for the state, spoke for two hours and fifteen minutes.

His address after the opening statement, in which he explained that he had "none of the grace of words that constitute an orator," was at times eloquently impassioned. With a plain analysis of the case, he characterized the case as the "most important ever given to a jury in the United States," and urged the jury to a serious consideration of the responsibility placed upon it. His denunciation of the defendant and his coconspirators as the "worst band of criminals that ever infested any section of this country," was forceful, and his eulogy of ex-Gov. Steunenberg eloquent in the extreme.

FOUR GUILTY; NOT TO HANG.

Verdict in Lamana Case Causes Threats of Lynching.

Hahnville, La.—The jury in the Lamana kidnaping and murder trial brought in a verdict Thursday evening finding Campisciano, Mrs. Campisciano, Tony Costa and Frank Gendusa guilty, without capital punishment.

Absolute silence greeted the foreman's announcement. The spectators listened quietly while the jury declared that the verdict was unanimous and then court adjourned. An hour afterward, it was reported that preparations for a lynching were under way. A physician of local prominence gave out a statement declaring, "that the good people of St. Charles repudiate the verdict," and calling it a "prostitution of justice."

DEADLY HEAT IN PITTSBURG.

Ten More Persons Succumb—Intense Suffering in Factories.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Ten fatalities due to the intense humidity and oppressive heat wave occurred here Wednesday, making over a score of deaths within 36 hours. The maximum temperature registered Wednesday by the United States weather bureau was 84 degrees. Street thermometers registered from four to six degrees higher.

Many persons are prostrated and their condition is serious. The suffering in the mills and manufacturing districts is worse than has been experienced for years. People cannot sleep and throng the streets and parks for a breath of air.

Koreans Fight the Japanese.

Seoul, Korea.—A company of Korean troops mutinied Friday afternoon, escaped from the barracks without their officers and attacked the police station and the main street at the Great Bell. After firing several volleys they scattered, continuing a desultory firing and attacking individual Japanese. All traffic has been stopped and the Japanese shops are guarded. The police report that 25 Japanese were killed and wounded in the day's rioting. The casualties among the Koreans are unknown.

LATEST NEWS OF MICHIGAN

MRS. WASHBURN NOW TELLS NEW STORY OF THE MURDER OF REYNOLDS.

HAD SEVEN HUSBANDS.

She Becomes Sullen and Says Very Little—Opinion of the Authorities in the Matter.

Mrs. William Washburn, who in her 59 years has been the wife of seven different men, is now going back on her story that No. 6 husband, Alkali Bill Shimmel, murdered No. 5, who was Ira Reynolds. A few days ago in the Kent county jail she told in detail a story of how one night Shimmel called Reynolds to the door of their house near Grand Haven and killed him with a club, then took the body away in a bob sled.

Now Mrs. Washburn says that she is not sure whether Shimmel was the murderer or not. "It might have been some other man. It's so long ago I can't remember clearly," is the way she expressed it.

The prosecuting authorities have long had a suspicion that Shimmel killed Reynolds. Mrs. Shimmel talked freely when brought to the jail. Now she is sullen and saying little. It is not clear now how reliance can be put in anything she tells from now on.

Storm Freaks.

The severest electrical and rain storms that ever visited Traverse City occurred Friday night. The small fruit crop is considerably damaged. At Buckley the house of Frank Rappe was struck and the chimney knocked off, bed clothes on the upper floor were torn to pieces and a partition between the dining room and kitchen was broken to splinters. The family dog was killed instantly. Rappe, with his baby in his arms, his wife and two children were seated near the dog, and the babe was thrown to the floor heavily, but was not injured. Lightning struck a cherry tree on the B. J. Morgan farm, tearing a ladder to pieces. Mrs. Michael Knoll was killed apparently dead, but was revived.

Owosso Unfortunates.

Two peculiar accidents happened in Owosso Friday, seriously injuring Richard King and John Cook. King was bitten on the shoulder by a vicious horse, a large chunk of flesh being removed. Some of the tendons were cut and it is feared the arm will be permanently stiffened. Cook, who is circulator of the Daily Press-American, was carrying the form for the first page of the paper, when he stubbed his toe and dove head first into a brick wall. The accident rendered him unconscious and the page was piled, delaying the paper three hours.

Bay City Troubles.

The bureau of public safety, provided by the last legislature to take over from the Bay City council the control of the fire and police departments, has begun mandamus proceedings in the circuit court to compel Mayor Hine and the council to turn over the books, records, etc., of the two departments. The mayor and council are contesting on the grounds that the appointment of the board by Gov. Warner is unconstitutional. Arguments will be heard and the case will go to the supreme court as soon as possible.

Gasoline Famine.

Because the Standard Oil Co. will not ship any gasoline to the Soo, the city faces a famine in the liquid fuel line. The last drop in the city was sold Saturday and all gasoline boats, automobiles and stoves are going out of commission. The tanks of the trust are empty, although a supply was ordered a month ago and it is claimed at the company's office that letters sent to headquarters regarding the trouble have not been answered. Housewives are sweetering over wood fires as a result.

Victim Walked Off.

While automobiling in Battle Creek Prof. Malcomb Watson felt a chug under his machine, but he rode on. Some one yelled "That was a man you hit," and Watson stopped. Seeing that the victim was prostrate in the road, he hurried to a telephone and called the police. When they arrived the man was gone. Neighbors say he walked away swearing at "that street car."

Many Violent Deaths.

There were 204 deaths by violence in Michigan in June, according to the health reports, leading pulmonary tuberculosis deaths by 9. There were 424 deaths of infants under 1 year and 806 deaths of elderly persons. Of the violent deaths drowning caused 43 and lightning 3, and three died from sunstroke. There were 3,679 births, a decrease of 440 from June of last year.

The High School building in Coldwater was struck by lightning during a storm and caught fire. Prompt work saved the building. The loss is covered by insurance.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

While bathing with three other boys in the Lake of the Woods, Ray Athey, a promising youth of Decatur, was drowned.

Alexander Christie, aged 77, of Port Huron, fell on the floor in the East Michigan asylum a few hours after his arrival, and may die.

Kalamazoo burglars entered the home of Michael Linhan, drugged him and his wife and stole $100 in cash and considerable jewelry.

The tail end of a small cyclone hit Allen village, nine miles northwest of Hillsdale, and did considerable damage to buildings. Nobody hurt.

Albert Goodhand, a Grace Lake painter, was arrested, charged by his wife with pouring oil upon her and threatening to set fire to her clothing.

The Big Rapids Horsemen's association will give $1,500 in purses for racing at the Mecosta County Agricultural society's annual fair in the fall.

Judd C. Wood, of Greenville, took a tumble Tuesday while moving hay at the county farm, breaking several ribs and hurting himself seriously other ways.

Forest fires have been raging near Kalkaska for several days and have endangered a great deal of village as well as country property. They are being checked by the rain.

Frank Lentz, formerly of Saginaw, is wanted there on a charge of wife desertion. He is under arrest at Albany, N. Y., and Gov. Warner granted a requisition for him.

Jerome Chapin, of Battle Creek, as a precaution against burglars, slept with a big revolver at his side, but they entered and pillaged the house without awakening him.

South Haven council has been asked to suppress the callopo on the steamer City of South Haven, which plays a wedding march when a bridal couple is discovered on board.

The Ayres Gas Engine Co. of Saginaw has purchased a mill site and will move its factory to Rochester. The company will build at once and will at first employ 25 men.

Jerome S. Harbeck, a former Battle Creek business man, who disappeared in Chicago, was found by his brother wandering demented in a park. Another brother went insane in Chicago two years ago.

Kobi Haru, a Japanese performer from the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, is dying from tetanus in Bay City. A piece of wadding was blown into his hand July 4. The show has gone on, leaving him alone.

Robert D. Graham, of Grand Rapids, president of the Fifth National bank, and recently made president of the state board of agriculture, has been appointed by Gov. Warner as a member of the forestry commission.

Jack West, reported to have made his fortune in the Nevada silver fields, and who is outdoing the noted "Scotty" in his careless use of money in New York, is unknown at St. Joseph, although he claims that city as his home.

Architects Charlton & Kuenzle have been commissioned to prepare plans for an almshouse to be erected by Gogebic county, to cost $25,000, and for a library and museum to cost $75,000, to be built at the Houghton school of mines.

Michael Carey, of Lapeer, is unfortunate. On Tuesday Mrs. Carey had her shoulder broken. Wednesday the horse ran away. Thursday it ran away again, wrecking a blind man's peanut stand and breaking a leg, so it had to be shot.

Nearly 15,000 men, employed by the United States Steel Corporation and independent mine owners on the Vermillion and the Mesaba ranges, went on strike Saturday, paralyzing the entire iron ore industry of the upper Lake Superior region.

There's a mix-up in regard to the new juvenile court act at Adrian. Neither circuit or justice court judges have been officially informed that the probate court has been made the juvenile court, and they refuse to recognize juvenile complaints.

Mayor John F. Corl, of Grand Haven, tendered his resignation as mayor to the council, giving as his reasons that his business in Jackson required his being there. On motion of Ald. Nyland Mr. Corl's resignation was not accepted and he will be asked to continue as mayor.

Mrs. Frank Snyder, who lives west of Camden, lies seriously ill at home, as the result of unintentionally swallowing poison. Mr. Snyder had bought some opium salts of a druggist, but got a mixture of salts and sugar of lead. The druggist says that he does not see how the two became mixed.

FRIDAY THE 13th

By Thomas W. Lawson

There was a silence, and then I heard an indescribable fluttering rush that told as plainly as sight could have done that a woman had answered her heart's call. Looking up involuntarily, I saw a sight that for a long moment held my eyes as if I had been fascinated. It was Bob bowed forward with his face hidden in his hands and beside him, on her knees, Beulah Sands, her arms about his neck, his head drawn down to her bosom. "Bob, Bob," she said chokingly, "I cannot stand it any longer. My heart is breaking for you. You were so happy when I came into your life, and the happiness is changed to misery and despair, and all for me, a stranger. At first I thought of nothing but father and how to save him, but since that day when those men struck at your heart, I have been filled with, oh! such a longing to tell you, to tell you, Bob—"

"What? Beulah, what? For the love of God, don't stop; tell me, Beulah, tell me." He had not lifted his head. It was buried on her breast, his arms closed around her. She bent her head and laid her beautiful, soft cheek, down which the tears were now streaming, against his brown hair. "Bob, forgive me, but I love you, love you, Bob, as only a woman can love who has never known love before, never known anything but stern duty. Bob, night after night when all have left I have crept into your office and sat in your chair. I have laid my head on your desk and cried and cried until it seemed as though I could not live till morning without hearing you say that you loved me, and that you did not mind the ruin I had brought into your life. I have patted the back of your chair, where your dear head had rested. I have covered the arms of your chair, that your strong, brave hands had gripped, with kisses. Night after night I have knelt at your desk and prayed to God to shield you, to protect you from all harm, to brush away the black cloud I brought into your life. I have asked Him to do with me, yes, with my father and mother, anything, anything if only He would bring back to you the happiness I had stolen. Bob, I have suffered, suffered, as only a woman can suffer."

She was sobbing as though her heart would break, sobbing wildly, convulsively, like the little child who in the night comes to its mother's bed to tell of the black goblins that have been pursuing it. Long before she had finished speaking—and it took only a few heart-beats for that rush of words—I had broken the power of the fascination that held me, had turned away my eyes, and tried not to listen. For fear of breaking the spell, I did not dare cross the room to close Beulah's door or to reach the outer door of my office, which was nearer hers than it was to my desk. I waited—through a silence, broken only by Beulah's weeping, that seemed hour-long. Then in Bob's voice came one low sob of joy:

"Beulah, Beulah, my Beulah!" I realized that he had risen. I rose, too, thinking that now I could close the door. But again I saw a picture that transfixed me. Bob had taken Beulah by both shoulders and he held her off and looked into her eyes long and beseechingly. Never before nor since have I seen upon human face that glorious joy which the old masters sought to get into the faces of their worshippers who, kneeling before Christ, tried to send to Him, through their eyes, their soul's gratitude and love. I stood as one enthralled. Slowly and as reverently as the living lover touches the brow of his dead wife, Bob bent his head and kissed her forehead. Again and again he drew her to him and implanted upon her brow and eyes and lips his kisses. I could not stand the scene any longer. I started to the corridor door, and then, as though for the first time either had known I was within hearing, they turned and stared at me. At last Bob gave a long, deep sigh, then one of those reluctant laughs of happiness yet wet with sobs.

"Well, Jim, dear old Jim, where did you come from? Like all eavesdroppers, you have heard no good of yourself. Own up, Jim, you did not hear a word good or bad about yourself, for it is just coming back to me that we have been selfish, that we have left you entirely out of our business conference."

We all laughed, and Beulah Sands, with her face a bloom of burning blushes, said: "Mr. Randolph, we have not settled what it is best to do about father's affairs."

After a little we did begin to talk business, and finally agreed that Beulah should write her father, wording her letter as carefully as possible, to avoid all direct statements, but showing him that she had made but little headway on the work she had come north to accomplish. Bob was a changed being now; so, too, was Beulah Sands. Both discussed their hopes and fears with a frankness in strange contrast to their former manner. But there was one point on which Bob showed he was holding back. I finally put it to him bluntly: "Bob, are you working out anything that looks like real relief for Miss Sands and her father?"

"I don't know how to answer you, Jim. I can only say I have some ideas, radical ones perhaps, but—well, I am thinking along certain lines."

I saw he was not yet willing to take us into his confidence. We parted,

"Bob, Forgive Me, But I Love You, Love You, Bob."

Bob going along in the cab with Miss Sands.

Two days afterward she sent for us both as soon as we got to the office.

"I have this telegram from father—it makes me uneasy: 'Mailed to-day important letter. Answer as soon as you receive.'"

The following afternoon the letter came. It showed Judge Sands in a very nervous, uneasy state. He said he had been living a life of daily terror, as some of his friends, for whose estates he was trustee, had been receiving anonymous letters, advising them to look into the judge's trust affairs; that the Reinhart crowd had been using renewed pressure to make him let go all his Seaboard stock, which they wanted to secure at the low prices to which they had depressed it, in order that they might reorganize and carry out the scheme they had been so long planning. Judge Sands went on to say that the day he was compelled to sell his Seaboard stock he would have to make public an announcement of his condition, as there could be no sale without the court's consent. His closing was:

My dear daughter, no one knows better than I the almost hopelessness of expecting any relief from your operations. But so hopeless have I become of late, so much am I reliant upon you, my dear child, and eternal hope so springs in all of us when confronted with great necessities, that I have hoped and still hope that you are to be the savior of your family; that you, only a frail child, are through God's marvellous workings to be the one to save the honor of that name we both love more than life; the one to keep the wolf of poverty from that door through which so far has come nothing but the sunshine of prosperity and happiness; the one, my dear Beulah, who is to save your old father from a dishonored grave. Dear child, forgive me for placing upon your weak shoulders the additional burden of knowing I am now helpless and compelled to rely absolutely upon you. After your letter I if there is no hope, I command you to tell me so at once, for although I am now financially and almost mentally helpless, I am still a Sands, and there has never yet been one of the name who shirked his duty, however stern and painful it might be.

When I handed the letter back to Miss Sands, she said:

"Mr. Randolph, let me tell you and Mr. Brownley a little about my father and our home, that you may see our situation as it is. My father is one of the noblest men that ever lived. I am not the only one who says that—if you were to ask the people of our state to name the one man who had done most for the state as a state, most for her progressive betterment, most for her people high and low, white and black, they would answer, 'Judge Lee Sands.' He has been, and is, the idol of our people. After he was graduated from Harvard, he entered the law office of my grandfather, Senator Robert Lee Sands. Before he was 30 he was in congress and was even then reputed the greatest orator of our state, where orators are so plentiful. He married my mother, his second cousin, Julia Lee, of Richmond, at 25, and from then until the attack of that ruthless money shark, led a life such as a true man would map out for himself if his Maker granted him the privilege. You would have to visit at our home to appreciate my father's character and to understand how terrible this sorrow is to him. Every morning of his life he spends an hour after breakfast with my dear mother, who is a cripple from hip disease. He takes her in his arms and brings her down from her room to me one morning after receiving a letter from Baltimore of the effect that Seaboard stock and bonds had advanced under his investment showed over 50 per cent profit. It is not right for us to make this money. No man in America should make over legal rates of interest and a fair profit on an investment, that is, an investment of capital pure and simple, particularly in a transportation company, where every dollar of profit comes from the people who patronize the lines. I have worked it out on every side, and it is not right; it would not be legal if the people, who make the laws for their own betterment, understood their affairs as they should."

"He was always writing to the Wilsons to conduct the affairs of the Seaboard so that there would be remaining each day only profits enough to keep the road up and the wharves in good condition and to pay the annual interest and a fair dividend. And when the Wilsons came to our house to lay before him the offer of Reinhardt and his fellow plunderers to pay enormous profits for the control of the Seaboard, he was indignant and argued with them that the offer was an insult to honest men. It was he who advised the trusteeship control of the Seaboard stock to prevent Reinhardt from securing control. I sat in the library when he talked to the elder Wilson and the directors.

THE RICKSHAW AND DANDY.

Primitive Modes of Travel in Hill Country of India.

In the mountain districts of India the principal vehicles of passenger conveyance are the rickshaw and the "dandy," with which Rudyard Kipling has made us familiar. United States Consul Gen. Michael, of Calcutta, writes thus about these vehicles: "The rickshaw is pushed and pulled through the streets and on the roads leading out into the country by four coolies, and the 'dandy' is carried on the shoulders of four and sometimes six coolies. Saddle ponies are also used to some extent but most of the inhabitants and quite all visitors used the 'rickshaw and 'dandy.' The latter is constructed on the plan of a sleigh box, but longer. A pole is attached fore and aft, which is long enough to give a springy motion when the coolies are walking and trotting. A cross-piece rests on the shoulders of the coolies and is shifted now and then from one shoulder to the other for rest. By the command of the coolie in charge this shift is made simultaneously. As a rule, both the rickshaws and the 'dandies' are heavier than they need to be, and they are generally lacking in finish. Yet these vehicles cost as much as light and strong ones well finished should cost. The writer would like to place alongside of the 'rickshaws and 'dandies' in use in India some samples manufactured in the United States after designs made by an American designer. The samples would attract orders."

SALT CELLAR OF LONG AGO.

Was Distinctive Mark of Caste in the Middle Ages.

"This is a medieval salt cellar," said the antiquary. "It is huge, it is shaped like a castle, it is solid silver and the price—but what is the use telling the price to you? Very magnificent, eh? In the middle age, you know, the salt cellar was the principal table ornament. Guests sat above or below the salt as they were prominent or the reverse. Where do you think you'd have sat, eh? Queer table manners they had in those days. The fastidious had individual knives, forks and spoons, but the common people ate with their fingers. You helped yourself from the general dish with your own spoon, if you had one, but if you were very, very fastidious you licked the spoon clean first. The food was queer—rich, rank food—swans, herons, porpoises, garlic, verjuice, saffron. There was mead and wine in floods and ushers stood about whose duty it was to lead to convenient couches such guests as had dined too well. These ushers, being overworked, were continually striking for more pay. The hours were queer, too. Breakfast, dawn; dinner, ten o'clock; supper, four o'clock in the afternoon."

A Campaign of "Nagging."

By constant nagging at the drabness and dinginess of masculine clothing some attempt is being made to impart a little color to it. Suits of distinct hues, like green and purple, will be urged upon man. With a little more persuasion and perseverance we may even get him in good time into something a trifle more picturesque in design than his present garments.—Lady's Pictorial.

Proof of Power.

The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain of the stupidity of his helpers, of the ingratitude of mankind nor of the inappreciation of the public. These things are all a part of the great game of life and to meet them and not go down before them in discouragement and defeat is the final proof of power.—Elbert Hubbard.

ABDICATES.

The Japs New Have Korea Where They Can Rule.

The emperor of Korea abdicated in favor of the crown prince Friday morning. The crown prince is an imbecile and the Japanese will be able to do as they please. The next step will be the calling of a convention which will so limit the power of the new emperor that he will be a mere figurehead, and can take no official step that is not indorsed by the Japanese resident general.

Deserted by his cabinet and left alone in his palace to worry for four days the emperor tried vainly to find a way out of his difficulties without abdicating. His last endeavor was in summoning Marquis Ito, the Japanese resident general, whom he hoped would help him out.

The emperor appealed imploringly to Ito to help save Korea in a manner satisfactory to Japan and not injurious to the Korean court. Ito carefully avoided committing himself and conferred with Viscount Hayaashi, who had just arrived from Tokio. The inevitable result followed. Enraged crowds assembled early in the evening at various points throughout the city and inflammatory documents against the Japanese are being freely distributed, giving rise to a forlorn hope that some active opposition is about to begin. Serious collisions, it is believed, will take place between the police and rioters.

The Koreans fear the emperor will be murdered and the report of the sudden death of one of the delegates to The Hague also causes a fear that there will be an epidemic of suicide in sympathy with the emperor. The trip there of Foreign Minister Hayaashi of Japan is believed to have been prompted mainly by a desire to get Japanese attention centered on Korea, so that the anti-American agitation will die out.

Horse Ran Away.

Mrs. William Kelly and son, Herbert, of Midland, were driving a young colt when it became unmanageable and ran away, throwing both occupants out of the buggy into a barbed wire fence. Mrs. Kelly had her legs badly torn and lacerated near the body, while the boy had both arms broken and was seriously cut.

WIRELETS.

A North Carolina jury took just half an hour to acquit John Jones, one of 20 citizens of Anson county charged with lynching a man a year ago.

Theodore Tilton, whose suit years ago against Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, brought both men into unpleasant notoriety, left no real estate, and his personal property did not exceed $3,000.

The Elks, before adjourning in Philadelphia, passed a resolution calling on all Elks to cease buying elks' teeth. This is done to stop the slaughter of the animals, who are facing extinction.

A New York heat victim, Jos. Jackson, who dropped dead in Park place, near Broadway, had $7,000 in his pockets when his clothes were searched. He was a messenger for a broker's firm and was on his way to the bank.

When the baby is teething it is cross and restless; it becomes feverish, and in many cases vomits a great deal, and oftentimes cannot even keep cool water on the stomach. All the delicate little organs of the stomach are affected, bringing on colic and diarrhoea. Casca sweet for babies and children makes the stomach right and allays inflammation and prevents irritation. Casca sweet makes the baby happy and well.

Direct government is not a new issue. It is not revolutionary; it is evolutionary. It is as much of a step ahead from representative government as the latter was from monarchial government.

A Memorable Day.

One of the days we remember with pleasure, as well as with profit to our health, is the one on which we became acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless purifiers that cure headache and biliousness, and keep the bowels right. 25¢ at F. A. Sigler's Drug Store.

The system of direct government has been in vogue for years in Switzerland, a republic from which nobody ever emigrates. Switzerland has any number of things we may well envy and emulate in Michigan.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on Dyspepsia, The Heart or the Kidneys, Troubles of Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to day for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by All Dealers.

GRAND TRUNK — GRAND RAPIDS

At the eastern approach of Grand Rapids new solid concrete bridge is the passenger station of the Grand Trunk Railway System. No better site in the city could have been selected. It is centrally located near the corner of Canal and Bridge Streets, only a few steps from the heart of the city and to the leading hotels and mercantile establishments. Four different street car lines pass directly by its door affording its passengers direct transfer to all other railroad stations, hotels, furniture exhibition buildings and other important places of business. Less than one block distant are three other street car lines, a total of seven lines distributing people in fourteen different parts of the city.

It is seldom that a site so centrally located can be approached by trains without more or less annoyance on account of so many street crossings, noise and smoke; but, in this instance, all these troubles have been overcome by the Grand Trunk System's large investment in one and one-half miles of concrete wall on the east front of the river on the top of which are located the tracks. This not only gives the city the benefit of a great improvement but affords passengers on this route a beautiful view of the Grand River rapids and many of the cities busy factories. The entire premises are attractive in appearance and are well in keeping with the many other improvements that are continually being made by merchants and factories in its immediate locality. All trains will enter the station from the rear, where suitable sheds will be placed for convenience and protection of the traveler.

The building was designed by Spier and and Rohms, Architects, Detroit, Mich., and erected by C. Hoertz and Son, Grand Rapids, Mich. It is constructed of Maine granite, semi-glazed pressed brick, laid up in Flemish bond and trimmed with Bedford Limestone. The roof is constructed of steel, covered with green glazed Spanish tile. The first story floor is made of reinforced concrete finished off with mosaic floor tiling. The main waiting room has a wainscot 13 feet high of scagliola marble finished off with friezes and cornices in white and gold. The ceiling is arched divided into three panels by girth arches extending down to top of wainscot. A series of clerestory windows along river side of this room and also a large arched window in rear furnish good and effective light for every part. The decorations of this room are a light green and cream embellished by ornamental friezes and panels. The ticket office front consists of marble ornamented wrought iron and beveled plate glass. The north-east corner is provided with a news stand, built of quarter-sawn oak. The Ladies' room is treated in white and gold, Men's smoking room in dark red, both rooms have quarter-sawn oak wainscoting, and connected with these rooms are the toilets. All plumbing fixtures are of the best and most modern design. The building is heated by steam, with some indirect radiation for ventilation.

Thousands of people are daily suffering with kidney and bladder troubles—dangerous ailments that should be checked promptly. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are the best remedy for backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder. Their action is prompt and sure. A weeks treatment for 25¢.

On a paper forming a triangle with the corner of the room, sat a cock and two hens. Under a stump bed immediately beneath was a dog kennel in the occupation of three black terriers, whose barking, added to the noise of the children and the cackling of the fowls on the approach of a stranger, was almost deafening. There was only one small window, at which sat the teacher, obstructing three-fourths of the light. It was capable of admitting. Parliamentary Report.

Nearly all old-fashioned Cough Syrups are constipating, especially those that contain opiates. They don't act just right. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates. LIBERAL PREMIUMS FOR FRUIT EXHIBITS.

The Michigan State Agricultural Society, Detroit, has recognized the opportunities and advantages of the newer section of Michigan for the production of fruits and general farm crops, and is desirous of stimulating and encouraging producers in this direction. To this end the society's executive committee has made provision for the following special prizes for grain and vegetable exhibits outside of the regular premiums offered:

For the largest and best exhibit of grains and vegetables from Arenac, Ogemaw, Alcona, Iosco, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, Charlevoix, Grand Travis, Leelanau, Antrim, Benzie, Manistee, Lake, Oscoda, Clare, Gladwin and Mason counties, $60, $50, $40 and $30.

For the best exhibit as above of grains and vegetables from any other county in the lower peninsula collected by individual or society, but one premium paid to one county, $50, $40, $30, $20.

For the best exhibit of fruit to be shown at the State Fair by an individual or society from either the counties of Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Iosco, Ogemaw, Roscommon, Arenac, Gladwin and Clare, but one premium to be paid to any one county, $50, $40, $30, $20, $15.

For the best exhibit as above from either the counties of Emmett, Charlevoix, Antrim, Leelanau, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Osceola, Lake and Mason, but one premium to be paid to each county, $50, $40, $30, $20.

For the best exhibit of fruit from any other county in the state than those mentioned above, west of the meridian line, number of varieties and quality to be considered, but one premium to be awarded to any one county, $50, $40, $30, $20.

For the best exhibit of fruit from any one county other than those mentioned above and east of the meridian line, $50, $40, $30, $20.

Freight Charges on Fair Exhibits. Farmers, fruit growers, dairymen, and stock raisers who contemplate exhibiting at the State Fair this summer will be interested in knowing exactly what arrangements have been made with the railroad officials for the handling of freight.

Every railroad entering or making connections with other roads running into Detroit will transport livestock and property on the following conditions:

The freight must be receipted for as entirely at owner's risk, and in case of livestock the usual contract must be executed.

Charges from point of shipment to State Fair must be paid at full tariff rates.

Upon presentation of the original bill of lading or contract and paid freight bill, within 10 days after close of fair, together with certificate signed by secretary of the fair, that articles tendered for return shipment are unsold, exhibits which paid full tariff rates one way, they will (with the exception of horses as noted below) be returned free over the same routes, at owner's risk to the original forwarder at the original point of shipment.

In the event of change of ownership, full tariff rates will be collected for the return.

If exhibitors wish to show at another fair before returning to original point of shipment, charges to such fair (if on the line of the original railroad which hauled the original shipment to Detroit) will be assessed at half tariff rates, and will be returned free to original point by roads that carried same.

Horses for exhibition purposes only will be returned free (except on the L. S. & M. S., Wabash and D. T. & I. roads) on the same conditions as other livestock, but this privilege is confined to the state of Michigan only, and will not apply to horses originating from beyond the confines of the state.

The Grand Trunk has established a permanent station at the grounds called "State Fair," and all shipments for exhibition should be billed for this station.

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made alone for piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 50 cts. Sold by all dealers.

We're All Leather Eaters.

"And then," said the arctic explorer, "I ate my leather belt."

"Pooh, what of that? Every mother's son of us eats a pair of shoes a year."

The explorer frowned. "This," he began, "is no laughing matter."

But the scientist interrupted him. "I am not jesting, sir. I speak the solemn truth. What is leather? Is it not albumen and tannin? Well, when you add milk to your tea or coffee, the tannin of the one and the albumen of the other unite, and leather results. The leather is in minute particles. Nevertheless it is there. And down it goes. All who drink tea or coffee daily," the scientist concluded, "consume in a year enough leather to make a pair of shoes."

The explorer sneered. "To resume," he said, "I then ate the lining of," etc.—Exchange.

High Game and Fool.
 "Never eat game high," said an antiquary. "People will tell you that high game is tenderer. What rot! Of course it is tenderer, but would you want your steak or your chop spoiled in order that it might be a little softer than an anachronism, a relic of the relic of the days of stage-foolery. In those days it was impossible to deliver game to the cities fresh—transport was too slow. All game was high, and men ate it high because otherwise they couldn't eat it at all; but now, when we eat game high nowadays, there is no necessity for it, is there?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Wonderful Happening.
 Port Byron, N. Y., has witnessed one of the most remarkable cases of healing ever recorded. Amos F. King, of that place says: "Bucklen's Arnica salve cured a sore on my leg with which I had suffered over 80 years. I am now 85." (Guaranteed to cure all sores, by F. A. Sigler, druggist 25c.)

"I liked to see my husband last night because it was a funny thing." "Why, what was the husband in it?" "He was in it because he was in it." "Why, what was the husband in it?" "He was in it because he was in it." "Why, what was the husband in it?" "He was in it because he was in it."—Baltimore American.

Extenuating.

England and France.
 It has been playfully observed that the mutual antipathies and attractions of England and France resemble to a curious degree those of man and woman, perhaps one might say of man and woman attached to each other by a marriage de convenance-geographique. "We do all naturally hate the French," Mr. Peypys observed long ago. (Does any nation, by the way, love its neighbor?) France has never ceased to interest us or indeed to inspire part of our ideas and conduct.

Rightly do her historians descant of the glorious role she has played in the general work of civilization, of the "sympathetic genius which has seized and translated for Europe the ideas of reason, justice and all the theory of life, private and public," which has "preserved even in the useful and frivolous the tradition of art," of the idealist perseverance, whose experiments have saved the world so much suffering and "made of her follies the wisdom of other nations."—George H. Powell in Portnightly Review.

The Number Three.
 Three, which since the days of Pythagoras has been the divine number, is not invariably fortunate, for, though the fates are three, so also are the furies. The graces are three, but so also are the judges in hades and the heads of Cerberus. Then there are the records of three disloyal tribes in Welsh history; there are the three robbers in Orion's belt; there were the three tyrants at Athens, and 3 in mythology is as unlucky as it is divine.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodel relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodel for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Bell, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodel cured me and we are now using it in our home."

Long Live The King!
 is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung Remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Byder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country. New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the only sure cure. Guaranteed by F. A. Sigler, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early at the onset they break or head of these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No medicine, no physic, nothing alarming. Nice for the children and thoroughly safe too. If you are chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day, Remedy probably lies Preventics' greatest efficacy. Sold in 5c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 25 Preventics. WIRE STRIKE ENDED

MEN ACCEPT COMPROMISE OFFERED BY THE COMPANIES.

GO BACK AT OLD WAGES

Managers Offer Advance But Will Receive Committee of Arbitration to Discuss Complaints.

Oakland, Cal.—At a meeting held in Oakland Friday the telegraphers' union voted unanimously to accept the terms of settlement proposed by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

According to the terms of compromise the telegraphers will return to work and the two telegraph companies will receive a committee of arbitration to discuss and settle matters affecting the telegraphers.

No Increase Promised.

San Francisco.—Superintendent Storer, of the Postal Telegraph company, and Manager O'Brien, of the Western Union, declared Friday that their companies had made no agreement with the operators in regard to an increase in wages. The men will be taken back on precisely the same terms that applied when the strike was called.

Statement by Clowry.

New York.—Col. Robert C. Clowry, president and general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company Friday afternoon issued the following:

"The differences between the Western Union Telegraph company and its former employees at San Francisco and Oakland have been settled. The company will reemploy all reliable and efficient operators who left the service, on their individual applications, and at the salaries paid when they quit work."

For the Postal Company.

C. C. Adams, a vice president of the Postal Telegraph & Cable company, gave out the following:

"The striking operators have been notified that the terms upon which they returned would be that they should make individual application for reemployment, and all who were not objectionable to the local management would be reemployed, with the distinct understanding that the same salaries and same conditions existing prior to their walkout should govern their reemployment, and upon promise to give good and faithful service, and discontinue all agitation and interference with the company's business."

RUSSIAN GENERAL BLOWN UP.

Alkhanoff, "Wild Beast" of the Caucasus, is Assassinated.

Alexandropol, Russia.—Gen. Alkhanoff, former governor general of Tiflis, Mme. Gliboff, wife of Gen. Gliboff, and the coachman who was driving their carriage were blown to pieces by bombs thrown at their conveyance at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday.

A son of Gen. Alkhanoff and a daughter of Gen. Gliboff sustained serious injuries. The party was returning to the residence of Gen. Alkhanoff from his club. The bombs were hurled in Bebutoff street.

Gen. Alkhanoff was nicknamed "The Wild Beast" by the Caucasian members of the lower house of parliament, who often referred to his cruelty in the Kutais district, where he led a number of punitive expeditions to stamp out disorders. His rigorous methods to this end brought down upon him the enmity of the revolutionists.

URNS STATE'S EVIDENCE.

W. W. Raibe Admits Conspiracy to Obtain Lands by Fraud.

Denver, Col.—W. W. Raibe, a mining man of Milwaukee, who was arrested in a federal grand jury indictment charging him and five others in connection with the Federal Coal Mining company with alleged fraudulent acquisition of Routt county (Col.) coal lands, has given a signed statement to United States District Attorney Cranston in which he goes into details of the whole conspiracy to defraud the government.

Raibe was taken before United States Commissioner Hinsdale Thursday and released on his own recognizance after agreeing to appear at the trial as a witness for the government.

Miracle in the Vatican.

Rome.—A member of the pope's household says that Pope Pius hesitated somewhat before he took the grave step of ordering the publication of the syllabus with regard to the so-called modernism in the faith, but that all his doubts were removed by a miraculous apparition of the Blessed Virgin, which extended its hand in a gesture of benediction and encouragement over his head and that the emperor rose from his knees at the decree.

BRAVERY ON THE GEORGIA

CAPT. M'CREA TELLS INCIDENTS OF THE AWFUL DISASTER.

Courage of Rescuers Who Plunged Unhesitatingly Into the Turbidity—How One Man Died.

Boston.—Capt. Henry M'Creia, of the Georgia, seated in his cabin Wednesday, told about the explosion on the battleship Monday that caused the death of the men and the injury of 13 others. Said the captain:

"I was on the bridge making the run for the practice. I was taking observations of each shot. I saw we were beating the records of the other ships. The next shot was the next shot was coming."

"I heard the shout 'Fire,' but there was no shot, and then I saw men running aft, and quickly the fire hose, that is always laid out in readiness when there is firing going on, was manned."

"I rushed to the after bridge near the turret to see what was the matter. The water was already being poured into the turret. The boatswain and Midshipman Gravescroft led the way for their men with the hose. I tell you, there was courage! No man knew what had happened and no man knew into what danger he might be rushing."

"Probably one little act, or rather one great act, of one of the men, prevented a far greater disaster. I don't know his name. He's dead. He and one other stood by the second gun that had just been loaded. The last powder bag that had been put in was protruding a little from the gun. When he saw the flash, instead of dashing to the ladder to save himself, he crowded home the charge in the gun and with the help of the other men got the gun closed before the flames reached the bag. If the flames had touched that bag there would have been an awful explosion, for the powder was confined in the gun and would not have flashed as the other did, but would have exploded. Not a man in the turret would have been left alive, whatever other damage might have been done. That man gave his life for the others."

"I am told President Roosevelt has inquired about a man that gave his life in closing the shutter from the ammunition room to save the ship from blowing up. I would be very wrong to have a story like that go out, because I cannot find that there is any foundation for it, or need for a man to make any attempt to do anything of the sort. But if the president wants heroism let him look up this brave man who stood by his gun to save the rest."

BODY OF MRS. MAGILL EXHUMED.

Grave of Mrs. Magill Opened with Great Secrecy.

Clinton, Ill.—Dr. Adolph Gehrman and Dr. W. A. Evans, both of Chicago, Wednesday night directed the exhumation of the body of Mrs. Pet Magill, wife of the Clinton ex-banker, who is now under arrest at San Diego, Cal., charged with her murder. The internal organs of Magill's first wife were taken to Chicago in sealed glass jars for chemical analysis. The unearthing of the body was performed with the greatest secrecy.

Earlier in the evening another sensational incident in this case of many sensations occurred at the grave of the woman who is declared by the prosecution to have been murdered by her husband in order that he might marry his daughter's chum.

Mrs. Mabel Parrett, said to be an old sweetheart of Fred H. Magill, was found unconscious on the grave of Mrs. Magill. She had taken strychnine it is alleged, and, despite the efforts of physicians who are working over her the attempt at suicide may be successful. The young woman was sometimes known under the name of Lilian Ryan.

"Oh, Fred, why did you do this," the woman murmured when she was revived by the use of powerful antidotes. Later in the night, when she had partially shaken off the effect of the poison, she muttered: "Fred and Fay caused this."

The woman was taken at once to the dispensary, where Dr. Campbell was called. Later she was taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. J. R. Spainhour.

Emperor of Korea to Abdicate.

Tokio.—A dispatch from Seoul says that the emperor convened the elder statesmen at one o'clock Friday morning. The cabinet ministers waited in an adjoining room while the emperor conferred with the elder statesmen. After a two hours' conference his majesty finally yielded and made up his mind to abdicate. It was decided to hold the abdication ceremony at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Much unrest prevails about the palace and a mob assaulted the office of the Daily Kokumin.

LIFE INSURANCE ACTIVITY.

The New York Life's Business Nearly Up to the Legal Limit.

The New York Life Insurance Company announces that its new paid business during the half year just ended was over seventy million dollars. As the new law allows no life company to write over one hundred and fifty millions per year, it would appear that this company is working nearly up to the limit. The New York Life gained such headway before the law was passed and suffered so little, comparatively, from the Armstrong investigation, that the question with its management has been how to keep business down to the limit, rather than how to reach it. No other company is writing nearly as much as the law allows. The New York Life has evidently become a preferred company.

The company's payments to policy holders during the six months ending June 30 were $21,660,761. It is interesting to note that this amount was almost equally divided between payments under policies maturing by death and payments made to living policy holders. Thus, while death-claims were $11,180,626, the amount paid for matured endowments, annuities, trust fund installments, for purchased policies and for dividends was $10,480,135. Modern life insurance, as practiced by the best companies, embraces a wide field, and covers many contingencies. It is money saved for the aged, as well as money provided for the families of those who die prematurely.

His Finger Imprints.

Of Count Julius Androssy, whose monument was recently unveiled at Buda-Pesth, the Neue Presse gives the following incident: Count Androssy had a habit of smoothing with his hand his richly oiled hair. One day an important document had passed the Austrian council of ministers, in the contents of which Count Androssy was interested. Shortly afterward the Austrian president of the ministry said to one of the ministers: "Count Androssy has read the latest document." "How do you know?" "I find on it the imprint of Count Androssy's fingers," responded the president with a laugh.

Europe's Extinct Aurochs.

Professor A. Martens of Magdeburg has reviewed all the early literature and documents relating to the famous wild ox of Europe, the aurochs, or urus, and shows that it was not identical with the aurochs of the present. $5,000 won't pay for the bulldog animal also lived in Europe in the time of the aurochs. It is on record that a herd of thirty aurochs were living in Poland in 1664. In 1627 a few half-domesticated aurochs were still in existence, but the race has since become extinct. The typical color of the aurochs was black, but there was a gray variety in Poland and a red one in Germany.

MEAT OR CEREALS.

A Question of Interest to All Careful Persons.

Arguments on food are interesting. Many persons adopt a vegetarian diet on the ground that they do not like to feel that life has been taken to feed them, nor do they fancy the thought of eating dead meat.

On the other hand, too great consumption of partly cooked, starchy oats and wheat or white bread, pastry, etc., produces serious bowel troubles, because the bowel digestive organs (where starch is digested), are overtaxed and the food ferments, producing gas, and microbes generate in the decayed food, frequently bringing on peritonitis and appendicitis.

Starchy food is absolutely essential to the human body. Its best form is shown in the food, "Grape-Nuts," where the starch is changed into a form of sugar during the process of its manufacture. In this way, the required food is presented to the system in a pre-digested form and is immediately made into blood and tissue, without taxing the digestive organs.

A remarkable result in nourishment is obtained; the person using Grape-Nuts gains quickly in physical and mental strength. Why in mental? Because the food contains delicate particles of Phosphate of Potash obtained from the grains, and this unites with the albumen of all food and the combination is what nature uses to rebuild worn out cells in the brain. This is a scientific fact that can be easily proven by ten day's use of Grape-Nuts. There is a Reason. Read, "The Road to Wellville," 10 pgs.

SLEEP AND DEATH

REASONING PROVES THAT THERE CAN BE NO CONSCIOUSNESS AT THE INSTANT OF EITHER—WORKING OF NATURAL LAW.

Reasoning Proves That There Can Be No Consciousness at the Instant of Either—Working of Natural Law.

The phenomenon called sleep may be summed up in the following propositions, says a writer in the Cosmo-politan:

First—Sleep is temporary death of the functions of the sensitive system, due to exhaustion by fatigue.

Second—This death is temporary because the vital system continues to perform its functions during sleep and restores the sensitive organs to their normal condition.

For our purpose death may be considered under three heads, natural death, sudden death and death from disease. Natural death is death from old age. It differs from natural sleep only in degree.

The gradual loss of sensibility by the sensitive organs which precedes sleep now takes place in the vital system, and all the organs pass into permanent sleep together. There can be no pain preceding or at the moment of such a death, any more than there is pain preceding and at the moment of passing into temporary sleep.

Sudden death may be defined as death due to a sudden injury from without or within the body sufficient to destroy at once all irritability of both sensitive and vital organs. It requires no argument to prove that a person who is suddenly stricken dead can suffer no pain. The element of time must be present in order to suffer physical pain, and in the sudden death of a person the element of time is absent.

We come now to consider the third and by far the most frequent form of death, namely, death from disease.

As soon as disease is established, dying begins, which is but a more rapid than natural ceasing of all sensibilities, accompanied with more or less suffering, according to the cause which produces it. This dying and suffering, called disease, must terminate either in so-called death, which is insensibility to it, or in recovery, which is the removal of the cause of it. But in any event the suffering has been endured, no matter whether the final termination is death or recovery.

No one is conscious of or can recall the moment he passes from waking into natural or temporary sleep. Nor shall we, by a "supreme agony" or in any other way, be conscious of passing into permanent sleep. Being born and dying are the two most important physiological events in the life history of our bodies, and we shall know no more about the latter event at the time it occurs than we did about the former.

Monster Philippine Snakes.

In the Manila Times of May 16 appears the following: "Callers at the Paris building this morning enjoyed the sight of a snake skin of mammoth proportions. It was that of a boa constrictor shot 40 miles north of Zamboanga by two American prospectors, Bell and Newman. The skin measures 29 feet, but Mr. Wickerham, who brought the skin to Manila, says when first killed the snake measured 30 feet six inches."

"At the time it was shot the constrictor had just seized a deer by the nose and was choking off its wind. The constrictor received a charge of buckshot full in the neck and fell without a struggle. The wound is now represented by a jagged hole in the skin about three inches in diameter."

"Mr. Wickerham says he has seen one constrictor even larger, 36 feet. For the purpose of convincing the skeptical that there are such monsters in these islands he has agreed to place the skin on exhibition."

Use Cars to Sweep Streets.

The thrifty Scotch authorities of Aberdeen do not believe in letting anything go to waste. It occurred to them that the equipment of their electric tramways was necessarily idle for part of the night, and they looked round to see how it could be utilized. As a result of their cogitations two large brushes belonging to the streets department were recently fitted to one of the corporation tramscars, and were arranged so that any width of street from seven to 14 feet might be swept. The experiment is reported to have proved satisfactory.

Rich in Love.

We lightly value our wealth in love. Multitudes of us are fuming in a false sense of poverty when close at home are faithful hearts that, if taken from us, as they might be next week, would leave a void that not the wealth of Indies would fill. J. Brierly.

A FRANK STATEMENT

From a Prominent Medical Man of St. Louis, Missouri.

I have used the French Dr. Light, or Doan's Kidney Pills, for many years.

Knights of Pythias, Third Battalion, Second, Royal Missouri Brigade says: "I am pleased to endorse the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine of great merit. Having had personal experience with many kidney medicines, I am in a position to know whereof I speak, and am pleased to add my endorsement and to recommend their use."

Courtesy at Home.

We are all creatures of habit, men and women alike, and the habits and surroundings of daily life have a powerful influence on the character of both. The root of all bad manners is selfishness; when self ever is first, foremost consideration for others always lags much in the rear, and drops so far behind in time that it disappears altogether. "One cannot keep up the ceremony and etiquette of society when at home." True, for between friends these can be laid aside. They merely are the rivets that keep society together, but not courtesy and consideration. The latter ought to be so much the habit with each of us that it will become our second nature, and therefore can be no more laid aside than can an arm or a leg.

Her Pointed Retort.

When the old lady put her head out of the window and inquired of the young railway porter what the train was stopping for the young man thought he would have a little fun at the old lady's expense.

"Engine was out late last night, ma'am," he remarked with a smile, "so she's got a thirst on her this morning; they're giving 'er a drop o' wine."

"Ah! it's water," said the old lady. "If you'll wait a minute, ma'am," he grinned, "I'll inquire whether they're givin' her port wine."

"Never mind," came the answer, "don't you trouble, young man. I thought perhaps by the way we've been getting along she was a 'sloe gin'!"—London Tit-Bits.

Two Advertising Truths.

A soap millionaire and an actor manager were talking business.

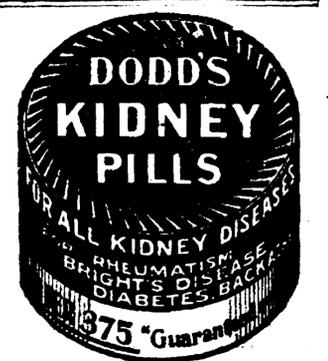

"I," said the actor manager, "have discontinued the use of posters. My announcements appear in the newspapers exclusively. I have learned that those who don't read the papers don't go to the theater."

"You are wise," said the soap millionaire. "And I do like you. Long since I discarded every form of advertisement save that of the press, finding that they who didn't read a daily paper had no use for soap."

Not Comfortable.

"I'm going off into the mountains this summer and get close to the heart of nature," said the dreamy girl.

"I once went off into the mountains to get close to the heart of nature," said the matter-of-fact man. "I sought the woods and lay down close to her throbbing bosom. But I found she was full of red bugs and other penetrating insects. So I arose and gloomily sought the artificial city."

SPOT CASH

FOR SOLDIERS' HOMESTEAD RIGHTS All soldiers who served ninety days or more in the federal army or navy between 1861-1865, and who made homestead entries for less than 160 acres on or before June 22, 1874, means that an additional right is due someone and that it can be sold to me for spot cash, no matter whether patent issued or not. If soldier is dead, his heirs are entitled. The right succeeds as follows: First, to the widow; and second, to the legal heirs, or next of kin. Talk to old soldiers, their widows, children, or next of kin, about this class of additional rights. Get busy right now and find some of your relatives who made homestead entries in early days. It's easy money. For further information address Comrade W. E. Moses, 31 California Building, Denver, Colo.

THE DAISY FLY KILLER destroys all the flies and all the mosquitoes, and all the annoying insects that annoy you. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all flies, mosquitoes, and all other annoying insects. It is easy to use. For further information address Comrade W. E. Moses, 31 California Building, Denver, Colo.

PERE MARQUETT'S AWFUL WRECK

FORTY-ONE KILLED, AND ONE HUNDRED CRUALLY MANGLED.

DETAILS ARE GHASTLY.

Insurance Men From Iowa Are the Victims of the Catastrophe and That City is Stunned By It.

The Scene of Death.
Rushing down the steep grade, four miles west of Plymouth shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning, a special Pere Marquette passenger train, consisting of ten coaches and a baggage car, piled with employes of the road from Iowa, and friends, crashed into a westbound local freight, piling the trains up in a hopeless mass.

The wreck snuffed out the lives of 31 persons and seriously injured about 100 others. Six coaches and a baggage car were smashed to splinters. The accident occurred in what is known as VanSickle cut, the road making a sharp curve between high embankments that block the view in either direction. The passenger train, in charge of Conductor E. J. Pixley, and carrying 800 employes of the Pere Marquette and their families on their annual excursion to Detroit, left Salem at 9:10 and was due in Plymouth ten minutes later, according to the statement of railroad officials.

A local freight, running so as to avoid the special, which was given the right of way over everything but first class passenger trains, pulled out of Plymouth just about 9. Stories as to how the mix-up in orders occurred differ. Engineer W. I. Rogers and Fireman Robert Fitch, both of Plymouth, state that the special was forgotten. This is in a measure borne out by the fact that the freight was not traveling rapidly at the time of the collision.

On the other hand, it is asserted that Conductor William Hamilton, in charge of the freight, admitted knowing that his train was running off schedule, but believed there was sufficient time to reach Salem, letting the special pass there.

Where the trains met there is a cut some twenty feet deep. Never was a more thorough job done in the way of demolishing, rolling stock, and the wonder is that any of those in the six coaches survived, some of them to unrecognizable masses of debris, managed to escape instant death.

The Wreck.
Pinned in like rats in a trap, without a chance to save themselves, the occupants of the coaches were thrown hither and thither. In the twinkling of an eye the trainload of happy excursionists were converted into a horrible morgue. The deafening roar as the two engines came together, the crashing of splintering timbers, the hiss of steam, contributed to make a scene of indescribable horror. Pandemonium reigned. Above the crash there came the groans of the dying, mingling with the shrieks of the injured. It was all over in a second. Those on the trains were unable to describe the sensation. There was a sharp blast of the whistle, a grating as the airbrakes were applied and then came the crash.

The Dead.
William Gott, John Tofel, Ed. Gallagher, Jas. Vizard, Albert Trautweir, Henry Reynolds, Charles McCauley, W. J. Cornell, Frank Douse, Wm. Evans, Mrs. Richter, Ed. Durling, Chas. Hess, Herman Hess, Daniel Hess, Frank Lathan, Mrs. Eddie, Ben Durling, E. Jones, Harry Williams, L. K. Merrill, Don Rogers, Fred Fitzgerald, man named Smith, Chas. Broad, Albert Herbert, E. J. Pixley, Ed. Cowan, Harle, A. Knowles, Willard Stager, Kansas City, Mo.; Chas. Fenton, Grand Lodge.

The Injured.
Of the hundred people injured there are some who will not recover, others will be crippled for life, some disfigured and others will go through life practically nervous wrecks. Fifty-nine of the victims of the wreck are cared for in Iowa and there are forty-one in the hospitals of Detroit.

The Blame.
The railroad officials blame the crew of the freight train for the calamity. The wounded engineer, Rogers, is now technically in the custody of a deputy sheriff under orders of the Wayne county coroner. The prosecuting attorney was unable to see the engineer. Conductor Hamilton in a measure is considered responsible. Rogers says he lost his orders and forgot the special. It is claimed that the freight left Plymouth in defiance of the orders.

Bitter Feeling in Iowa.
Citizens of Iowa who tried to reach the wreck to give such aid as they might are very bitter and claim they were unnecessarily delayed. It is claimed that some whose relatives were killed were held at South Lyon till the train with the dead had passed. The city is stunned by the awful catastrophe.

By the falling of a tree, which was assisting to hold up the bridge, of Flint, was seriously injured. The heavy weight of the tree, crashing in the jaw bone, caused the serious bruising of the head.

CROP CONDITIONS IN WESTERN CANADA

Lateness of Spring Couvents by Excellent Growing Summer Season.

Once more the farmers of Western Canada rest at ease and grow rich while they slumber. Their season of anxiety is over. For a time it looked as though a backward season was for once going to prevent the western country from maintaining its preeminent position as leader of the grain growing countries of the world. The unusual lateness of the spring coupled with the rapid advance in the price of food-stuffs gave the pessimists some reason for their gloomy forebodings, and among even the optimistic Westerners impinged as they usually are with a spirit of buoyancy and hope, there commenced to glimmer a fear that perhaps this year their sanguine expectations were not to be realized. On May day when a large proportion of wheat had usually been sown there was this year very little seeding done. Finally, however, winter which had tarried so late in the lap of spring in all parts of the Continent vanished before the vertical rays of the sun, and the hurry and bustle of spring work commenced on the western prairies.

By the 20th of May 85% of the spring wheat was sown and the fall wheat in the districts devoted to its cultivation was covering the fields with a mantle of green. Wheat sowing finished on May 30 and by June 10 the coarser grains were also in the ground. The heavy snowfall during the winter left the ground in excellent shape when once seeding operations commenced and from the time weather conditions permitted the commencement of work until planting was completed, the farmers were a busy class. The area in wheat is not much larger than last year, but oats, barley and flax are much in excess of past records, the farmers deeming it wiser on account of the lateness of the season to put in a heavier proportion of the coarser grains. From the most reliable reports to hand it appears that the acreage as compared with 1906 will show an increase of 12% in oats, 19% in barley and 13% in flax.

Around Akotoks, High River, Nanton, Claresholm and other winter wheat centers, if the present weather conditions continue, the winter wheat will be in head by the middle of July. The backward weather in the early part of May allowed the newly sown grain to get a firm root in the ground, and now with an abundance of moisture and warm weather the growth is remarkable. All danger of injury from droughts is practically over as the green crop covers the ground retaining the moisture required for its growth and preventing the too rapid evaporation which might otherwise take place.

Crops in Western Canada mature in one hundred days of good weather, and as the weather conditions have been ideal since seeding, and with spring wheat now from 14 to 18 inches above the ground, a full average crop is confidently expected.

In addition to the cheering prospects of this year's yield the farmers are to be congratulated on the fact that they still have in their possession five million bushels of wheat from last year's crop which they are now disposing of at high prices.

The splendid yield of 90,000,000 bushels of wheat raised in 1906 in the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, together with the almost certain assurance that this year will see a considerable increase, is, as in the past, calling the attention of the world of the "Last Best West," and thousands from the United States and the agricultural districts of Europe are each month securing free grant lands or purchasing farms in the land which has proved itself peerless among the grain growing countries of the world.

The Goat Comes First.
Switzerland is the only country in the world where the goat is placed ahead of all other animals, and even of human beings. If a boy plagues a goat he can be fined and sent to jail. If a person meets a goat on a path, and drives him aside he can be arrested.

If a goat enters the yard of a person not his owner and is hit with club or stone the person guilty of the offence must pay 30 cents. If a railroad train sees a goat on the track the train must halt until the animal can be coaxed to remove himself. There's many a boy in America who wishes he were a goat in Switzerland.

Unkind Advice.
Two Irishmen were eating their lunch, when one asked the other: "Pat, an' what be you thinking about?" Pat replied: "Shure, Mike, I was a-thinking how I would be getting me clothes over me wings when I would get to heaven."
"You would better be thinking how you would be getting your hat over your horns when you get to the other place," answered Mike.—Ally Sloper.

PROUD IN HER POVERTY.

Young Woman's Brave Answer to Insulting Landlord.

Frank P. Sargent, the United States commissioner of immigration, said one day in Washington:

"There is one stuff in some of these poor people who come to our shores. I heard recently of a young Swedish woman. Brave, witty and honorable, she could bring splendid young Americans into the world. A short time after she arrived among us, her husband got out of work. Naturally, then, the rent fell behind. The landlord called for it one day in her husband's absence. He listened to the young woman's tale of misfortune, regarding the while her yellow hair, her clear blue eyes, her red mouth and white teeth. Suddenly, bending toward her, he said: 'Give us a kiss!'"

"She drew back, and her blue eyes, as cold as ice, dwelt on him disdainfully.

"No," she said, "my husband and I may be too poor to pay our rent, but we are not so poor that we can't do our own kissing."

AWFUL EFFECT OF ECZEMA.

Covered with Yellow Scabs—Grew Worse—Parents Discouraged—Cuticura Drove Scabs Away.

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor called it. We took her to three doctors but by this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Doctor No. 3 said that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone. We were nearly discouraged, but I thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in-time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., Aug. 17, 1906.

Quite the Contrary.
"Borus, I haven't had time yet to read that last novel of yours. How did it end—happily?"
"No, Naggus; it ended tragically. The total sales were 17 copies."

WOMEN WHO CHARM

Health Is the First Essential Toward Making a Woman Attractive.

MISS HULDA KUGLER

MISS ELIZABETH WYNN

There is a beauty and attractiveness in health which is far greater than mere regularity of feature.

Miss Hulda Kugler, of No. 22, West 15th Street, New York City, writes:

A sickly, irritable, and complaining woman always carries a cloud of depression with her; she is not only unhappy herself but is a damper to all joy and happiness when with her family and friends.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For months I was ill with an internal trouble. I suffered terrible agony, was nervous, irritable, and sick all the time. I took different medicines without benefit. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and within six months I was completely restored to health and I want to recommend it to every suffering woman."

It is the bright, healthy, vivacious woman who always charms and carries sunshine wherever she goes.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacements, inflammation or ulcerations, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, indigestion, or nervous prostration, may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging and that everything tires her; if her feminine system fails to perform its allotted duties, there is nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, headache, bearing-down pains, and irregularities, causing constant misery and melancholia, she should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs will dispel all these troubles. By correcting the cause of the trouble it cures where other treatment may have failed.

Mrs. Pinkham's invitation to Women.

Miss Elizabeth Wynn, of No. 205 8th Avenue, New York City, writes:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"For months I suffered with dreadful headaches, pain in the back and severe hemorrhages. I was weak and out of sorts all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me when all other medicine had failed. It seemed to be just what I needed and quickly restored my health."

Foreign-Born Bohemians.
The foreign-born Bohemians in the United States in 1906 are estimated to have numbered 517,300, of which 40,000 are in New York, 48,000 in Texas and the remainder scattered throughout the west and southwest. One-half are in the large cities.

Special bulletin No. 38 from the Agricultural experiment station at Lansing is out and has to do with the insect that is effecting the oat crop. The insect is found to be what is called thrips and is a small flea like creature, very quick in its movements. There seems to be nothing that can be done to stop the pest at present. As usual the thrip thrives best in a hot dry season. A good thrifty growth of oats does not seem to be as badly affected as a poor crop.

Question Box

A Quaint Scotch Wedding Custom.

A quaint wedding custom still prevails in many of the little country towns and mining villages in Scotland. When a wedding is held the contracting parties make their guests pay in full for the eating, drinking and dancing facilities which are usually provided on such occasions. The practice still seems to survive even in Glasgow. A correspondent observed a notice posted up in the Cowcaddens, a low class Glasgow thoroughfare, informing the public that a soldier would shortly enter into the bonds of wedlock and that twopence would be charged for admission to the ceremony and an additional sixpence imposed for attendance at the wedding feast. The practice seems to be peculiarly Scotch, but sixpence certainly seems moderate enough for a marriage supper.—Westminster Gazette.

The Reader Who Skips.

A good work of fiction, whether in prose or in verse—we are here speaking only of good works—is a work of art and can be rightly enjoyed only by entering into sympathy with the artist's mind and accepting his work according to his intention. In a perfect poem the place of every word, in a perfect novel the place, if not of every word, of every episode and of every paragraph, is important, and the reader who skips throws away the pleasure he has meant to derive from the harmony of composition, in which very possibly the beauty of the whole may chiefly consist, and despises the best part of the artist's labor. He might as well go to see a good play and then willfully miss every alternate scene.—Exchange.

School district No. 5, Green Oak, has but one pupil, George Richard, aged 7. The school trustees decided not to have any school the coming year but school commissioner Woodruff, says yes, and demanded that a school be maintained for at least five months. Of course the boy is entitled to an education as well as if there were 50 there to attend, but it would be cheaper to send or take him to a village or other district school; the district could do it and save money.

Every little while the DISPATCH publishes something about the success of some former Pinckney boy and there are quite a good many who have climbed well up on life's ladder. We would suggest to any young man starting out in life that these same young men never got to where they are without an effort and did not work for wages alone. They worked for all that was in them and were advanced to better positions for their worth. We heard one young man say "what is the difference whether you do your work or not as long as you draw your wages." Such young men if they persist in that course will never get higher than a mere day laborer and a poor one at that.
