The canal will enter Portage east of the creek that flows into the Huron river.

Pinckney Silk Factory

The silk industry in Pinckney is becoming an interesting one. When Miss Kate Brown came from the Chicago schools here for vacation, she brought several hundred silk moth eggs which soon hatched out into as many silk worms, which with the ones Miss Jessie Green of the primary department of our schools here had, made things lively for the mulberry trees and many a branch has been shorn of its leaves to feed these hungry, fast growing worms.

They are now about through feeding and have grown from mere specks to worms from 2½ to 3 inches long. Many of them have commenced to spin and some have finished and the cocoons are ready for treatment to kill the larvae inside so as to save the silk. It is an interesting sight to watch the spinning of the worms.

Miss Brown expects to take the cocoons back to Chicago and the school authorities will furnish reels, etc., for the spinning of the silk thread and perhaps Appalling Industrial Death Roll.

The United States is justly suffering the reproach of permitting the most reckless waste of human life of any civilized country in the world. This sad fact is amply sustained by our own statistics. Other industrial countries which we have completely outstripped in the race for the world's business have considered special regulation of dangerous trades and machinery a positive necessity of modern industry. We have done practically nothing. It is high time, declares Edgar T. Davies, chief factory inspector of Chicago, in Leslie's Weekly, that these facts became known to our people, that the conditions be understood, and the public conscience aroused so that proper remedies may be applied for at the hands of our legislatures with some promise of success. The people of the United States, somewhat inflated with an inordinate sense of their own greatness and their wonderful material prosperity, stupidly refuse in these times of peace to keep abreast of the enlightened humane countries of the world, but go on killing every four years, according to reliable estimates, some 80,000 people more than all who fell in battle and died of wounds during the entire period of our civil war. In other words, we are now killing in industrial accidents over 50 per cent. more people than two great armies would destroy in the same period of time accoutred with all the horrible implements of death which modern invention has produced.

A New Society.

The Cosmopolitan society, which has been organized in Brooklyn by members of various nationalities and races, for the purpose of promoting good feeling between such races and opposing the exploitation of any one by any other, is a little out of the general category of associations formed for serious purposes. It has the admirable object of interesting itself at once in the anti-Japanese crusade and the Jim Crow car movement. To be consistent, the Italian and the Jew must also come under its sympathetic concern. It will be interesting to see how long such a body can maintain its existence without subordinating its ideal of the parliament of man to some particular issue. It is the general opinion of those most experienced in forming leagues, we believe, remarks the New York Post, that it is unwise to hitch a wagon to more than one star. Yet the gain in efficiency and unanimity may sometimes be offset by a loss in real influence. Advocates of this or that special measure are incessantly trying to secure favorable expressions of opinion from the permanent bodies that are not formed for one special kind of propaganda, and command the more influence for that reason, like the Chamber of Commerce, the National Board of Trade, and, preeminently, the great political parties.

If faith has anything to do with church building, the future historian will characterize the present as an age of remarkable belief in higher things, for at no time in the past were so many splendid churches building or planning. The Roman Catholics of London have got their beautiful cathedral so far advanced that they are using it. The Protestant Episcopalians are at work on a cathedral in New York which, when completed, will rank with the great churches of the world, and plans have lately been accepted for a cathedral in Washington, for the same church, which will be only a little smaller than the one in New York. The German emperor has built in Berlin a "domed church," as it is called, that is a fine example of ecclesiastical architecture. There are hundreds of smaller churches going up all the time; but it is the great stone structures intended to last for centuries that will reveal to the future generations the religious spirit of the present.

The Illinois legislature has increased the salary of the governor of the state to $12,000, double the former amount. Heretofore the governors of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, with a salary of $10,000, have been the best paid. Illinois now heads the list. The customary salary is from $3,000 to $5,000. The governor of Vermont receives only $1,500.

HEAVILY FINED MORE IN SIGHT

JUDGE LANDIS FINES STANDARD OIL CO. THE MAXIMUM AMOUNT WITH SOME CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

A MATTER OF $29,240,000 IS THE NAMED ASSESSMENT AND STILL MORE MAY BE ADDED ON SEVEN INDICTMENTS STILL PENDING.

KENESAW M. LANDIS.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in the United States district court, Chicago, fined the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana $29,240,000 for violations of the law against accepting rebates from railroads. The fine is the largest ever assessed against any individual or any corporation in the history of American criminal jurisprudence, and is slightly more than 131 times as great as the amount received by the company through its rebating operations. The case will be carried to the higher courts by the defendant company.

The penalty imposed is the maximum permitted under the law and it was announced at the end of a long opinion in which the methods and practices of the Standard Oil Co. were mercilessly scored. The judge, in fact, declared in his opinion that the officials of the Standard Oil Co. who were responsible for the practices of which the corporation was found guilty, were no better than counterfeiters and thieves, his exact language being:

"We may as well look at this situation squarely. The men who thus deliberately violate this law would do so more deeply than does he who counterfeits the coin or steals letters from the mails."

He viewed the facts in the case, took up the arguments of the attorneys for the defense and answered them, and then passed judgment on the company which he declared violated the law for the sole purpose of swelling its dividends. He also held that the railroads have no more right to make a secret rate for a shipper than a board of assessors would have to make a secret assessment of any particular piece of property.

Judge Landis expressed regret that the law failed to provide more serious punishment than a fine, but insisted that the penalty should be sufficiently large to act as a deterrent and not of such a size as to encourage the offender to persist in lawlessness.

At the conclusion of his opinion, and after announcing the amount of the fine, Judge Landis directed that a special grand jury be called for the purpose of inquiring into the acts of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Co., it having proved in the case just closed that the oil company accepted rebates from that corporation. This jury is summoned for August 14.

This caustic reference to the rebate system of the oil company was received with applause: "When after all the circumstances of the trial have been brought out and the defendant persistently maintains the 'constitution of the United States guarantees to it the right to make a private contract for a railroad rate, this court is obliged to reason that he is unable to indulge in the presumption that in this case the defendant was convicted of its virgin offense." When the reading had been concluded, Judge Landis turned to Attorney Starr and declared that he was ready to hear what he had to say.

Mr. Starr said that it had been promised that there would be a delay in the execution of the judgment, but the court denied this positively. After some debate between the judge and the attorneys for the government and the company, it was agreed that the attorneys for the defense should be given 60 days in which to file a bill of exceptions.

"The court is as anxious to have this case taken to the court of appeals as anybody," said Judge Landis, "and I am willing that sufficient time be given. It must go to the higher court through the regular channels. No exception will issue until the certificate has been presented to the court and fully examined."

It is expected that the case will be heard during the January term of the United States court of appeals. Under seven indictments still pending against the Standard Oil Co., an additional fine amounting to $88,440,000 may be levied against the company if it is found guilty on trial. There are in these seven indictments a total of 4,422 counts, and the maximum fine on each would be $20,000.

John D. Rockefeller was enthusiastically engaged in a game of golf, his usual morning exercise, when word was received that the Standard Oil Co. had been fined $29,240,000 by the federal court in Chicago. A little after 11 o'clock a message was handed to him telling of the big fine. As he read the missive with almost a mere glance, not a muscle of his face twitched in a manner that would indicate any feeling. Not a word did he speak. Later Mr. Rockefeller stated that he would not discuss the action of the court in even the slightest degree. After reading the message Mr. Rockefeller resumed his game, laughing and joking as he played. With even renewed energy he continued the game until he won a victory from his opponents.

Asked whether he had anything to say on Judge Landis' decision, H. H. Rogers, who is at his summer home at Fair Haven, Mass., said he had no comment to make.

Brig-Gen. Charles Francis Powell, U. S. A., retired, is dead in St. Paul at the age of 63. He graduated from West Point in 1867.

WARD ARRAIGNED IN DETROIT, MANSLAUGHTER BEING THE CHARGE.

TO APPEAR SEPTEMBER 6.

Bail Fixed at Three Thousand Dollars Is Furnished and Ward Is Free Till Date of Hearing.

His Appearance in Court.

Rep. Charles E. Ward, of Bancroft, who didn't look a bit as though he had a poetical soul, was arraigned before Judge Stein in police court Wednesday afternoon charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Edith Presley, the legislative proofreader whose life went out in Hope sanitarium, Detroit, last April, following a criminal operation. He stood mute while State Senator Tuttle, his attorney, did all the talking and asked for an examination. Judge Stein set September 6 as the day.

Bail to the amount of $3,000, with Fred. Postal, of the Griswold house, and Under Sheriff James Singelyn as sureties, was accepted, and Ward walked out of the court room with his attorneys and bondsmen.

"Have you anything to say?" was asked.

"Not a thing," he replied with a faint smile.

"Are you going back to Bancroft?" "I haven't decided on my plans for the next two or three days."

Mr. Tuttle expects to leave for a European trip in the near future, and may possibly not be back in time for the hearing.

"If I'm delayed," he told Assistant Prosecutor Eaman, "I'll cable."

Ward came to Detroit Wednesday morning and immediately got busy looking for bondsmen. Mr. Postal, who has known both Ward and Tuttle for many years, agreed to act as one. Who the second was to be seemed a question. Someone suggested Singelyn. Ward, Attorney James Murtha and Singelyn had lunch together and the thing was fixed up.

Just before 2 o'clock, the hour set for the arraignment, Ward hastened to the Oriental hotel, where Senator Tuttle is staying, and together they went in search of Mr. Postal. It was after 3 when the party arrived at police court.

Detective Sergeant Downey was waiting with the warrant.

"Right in here, gentlemen," said Downey, leading the way into an ante-room. It was there that the much discussed manslaughter warrant was served. Ward said nothing and passed the complaint over to Tuttle, who read it and told Judge Stein that a formal reading was not demanded by his client.

The bill of complaint charges Ward specifically with performing the operation which caused Edith Presley's death. This is merely a matter of form. It is identical with the bill of complaint against Dr. Fritch, who is now out on bail under a similar charge.

Ward looked somewhat disconsolate. He is undersized, and a big straw hat, with ill-fitting clothes, made people who hadn't seen him before, marvel that he really wrote those flowery love letters made public at the inquest.

"That operation pulled him down a bit," said one of his friends, "I must admit that Charley looks badly."

Murdered and Robbed.

The body of an unknown man, from which the head and hands had been cut, probably to prevent identification, was found in the woods near Blind river Friday. The pockets of his clothes were turned out and it is presumed that the motive of the murder was robbery. Nothing of any sort was found in his clothes by which he could be identified and any money or valuables he had were stolen. The police are working on the theory that he was a lumber jack and was killed for the purpose of robbing him of his wages.

For Mrs. Custer.

Fr. Crowley, of Monroe, received from Gov. Warner the pen with which he signed the $25,000 Gen. Custer memorial bill. It is an ordinary steel pen instead of gold which might be used for a purpose of this kind, and the governor intimates that Custer had more use for steel than gold. Fr. Crowley will present the pen to the widow of Gen. Custer, who is expected back from abroad soon.

No Watered Stock.

Upon entirely new lines, an electric railway is being projected between Detroit and Adrian. There are to be no bonds, the money paid for the stock to be used to build and equip the road, and the construction is not to start until the cash to pay for it has been secured. Thus there will be no water to squeeze out through foreclosure for default of interest on the bonds.

The department of justice at Washington has ordered a vigorous prosecution of the man who kidnaped Manuel Saragiba, a Mexican, from the jail at Douglas, Ariz., and took him across the Rio Grande while he was awaiting extradition proceedings. He has been returned to the various prison authorities.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by F. A. Sigler, druggist, 50c.

A Hard Crack.

"Well," said he, anxious to make up their quarrel of yesterday, "aren't you curious to know what's in this parcel?"

"Not very," replied his wife indifferently.

"Well, it's something for the one I love best in the world."

"Ah, I suppose it's those new collars you said you needed."—Tit-Bits.

If the Colorado mining officials failed to make out a case of conspiracy against Haywood, still they established a pretty fair case against themselves.

Endorsed by the County.

"The most popular remedy in Otsego County, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Otsego Journal, Gilbertsville, N. Y., "is Dr. King's New Discovery. It has proved to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for Lung and throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, at F. A. Sigler's Drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. is an expression as old as the race. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it is the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed by F. A. Sigler, druggist, 25c.

Detroit Salvationists have been placing barrels on the busy streets of the city and keep them full of ice water for the accommodation of the thirsty public. His "Right" Name.

From queer names and descriptions of things there follow as a natural sequence queer names and descriptions of people. Among a number of racy instances is one quoted by Mr. Fox-Davies, the well known authority on nomenclature, from Blackwood's Magazine, of April, 1842. "In one of the Buchan fishing villages a stranger had occasion to call on a fisherman of the name of Alexander White. Meeting a girl, he asked, 'Can ye tell me fa'r Sanny Flite lives?' 'Flit Sanny Flite?' quoth she. 'Muckle Sanny Flite?' said he. 'Flit muckle Sanny Flite?' 'Muckle lang Sanny Flite?' 'Flit muckle lang Sanny Flite?' 'Muckle lang gleyed Sanny Flite?' shouted the exasperated man. 'Oh, it's Goup-the-Lift ye're seeking,' answered the girl, 'and fat the de'il for dinna ye speer for the mon by his right name at ance?'

When the baby is teething it is cross and restless; it becomes feverish, and in many cases vomits a great deal and attentions cannot even keep cool water on the stomach. All the delicate little organs of the stomach are affected, bringing on colic and diarrhoea. Cascasweet for babies and children makes the stomach right and allays inflammation and prevents irritation. Cascasweet makes the baby happy and well.

A Unique Method of Proof.

(Original.)

The microscope has been used in evidence to detect human blood corpuscles, chemistry has been called upon to pronounce upon poisons in a dead body, but the senses are not considered adequate to give reliable testimony in cases requiring such delicate tests. Nevertheless there are individuals in whom a certain sense is very acute—in some instances nearly as acute as in the lower animals.

The Earl of Pinton had three sons and two daughters. The estate being entailed, it was necessary for the two junior sons to shift for themselves and for the daughters to be married. The youngest son, Edgar Crafts, realizing that with two brothers ahead of him there was little or no chance of his going into the title, left for Australia. For a time he corresponded with his family and with Lucy Harmon, to whom he was attached and who was attached to him, but since fortune did not attend his efforts the correspondence was finally dropped by reluctant mutual consent.

The earl died about ten years after Edgar's departure. His oldest son succeeded him, married, but had no children. The second son died before the first while still a bachelor. Then the oldest son—the earl—died. Meanwhile Edgar had not been heard from in many years. He was forty years old when the title fell to him if he were alive. Advertisements for him were put in the Australian papers, but elicited no response. After a two years' fruitless hunt the title was given to another branch of the family.

One day a man purporting to be Edgar Crafts appeared and claimed the title and the estates. He said he was forty-three, but looked fifty. He was swarthy and gray and bald. Archibald Crafts, the incumbent, at once took the ground that he was an impostor. One of the claimant's sisters, who was still living, did not believe him to be her brother. The quick eye of love saw what others could not or would not see. Lucy Harmon, who had not married, at once recognized him as her lover. If she had not done so, he would have soon convinced her.

There was no way for Edgar Crafts to come into his rights except by suit in a court of law. But he had no money. He claimed that he had gone from Australia to Brazil, where he had made a fortune and lost it. There did not seem to be a ghost of a chance for his winning a case, but Lucy Harmon, who had come into a small fortune during his absence, offered to risk it for his sake. He declined, but they finally determined to be married, and then suit was begun.

One would suppose that there would be many ways of proving a man's identity. So there are. But unfortunately there are as many ways of proving that he is not the man he claims to be. There was but one likeness of Edgar Crafts extant, taken when he was eighteen years old, and that looked very little like him. He and the likeness were brought before disinterested persons, who declared that they could not be one and the same. His handwriting was compared with letters of Edgar Crafts written soon after his departure, but they were not alike. Out of three experts only one pronounced the two to have been written by the same person. The preponderance of evidence was against the claimant.

Donald Beardslee, the barrister who had charge of the claimant's case, was much interested in it. He believed the man to be what he purported to be largely because Lucy Harmon believed in him. Beardslee had been working hard on the case one day without success and was sitting in his smoking room at home after dinner racking his ingenuity for the morrow when a man was announced, who gave his name as Patrick Noonan. He was shown into the smoking room.

"Well, who are you?" asked the barrister. "And what can I do for you?"

"I'm an old servant in the service of the Pinton family, sir."

The barrister pricked up his ears. "And I want to tell you about Mr. Edgar, sir. The man as has come back is him."

"How do you know?"

"I can smell him."

"Smell him? What do you mean? You're not a dog."

"I know the smell of all the late earl's family."

The next morning Noonan visited the barrister at his office. A few days later Beardslee, who had ransacked the scientific libraries, summoned Noonan for a witness, but before taking his testimony read the following to the jury from a German Archive of physiology:

Every human being has a specific odor of his own by which he can be recognized by persons of sensitive smell. The case is mentioned of a man who blindfolded could pick out each individual in a company of twenty by his odor. The smell is not born with us, but develops gradually till about the age of fourteen, after which it remains unchanged. Members of a family have a kind of common odor which exists even when they have lived apart for a long time.

Beardslee with this proof elicited folded Noonan and brought people to him to smell, asking him if each was Edgar Crafts. The fifth person brought to him was the sister who did not believe the claimant was her brother. Noonan pronounced her one of the Crafts family. The fifteenth person led up was the claimant. Noonan pronounced him Edgar Crafts.

That ended the Crafts case, and Edgar Crafts, earl of Pinton, and his countess were put into possession of the title and estates. But the earl never likes to have the fact referred to that he was proved to be an earl by his smell. — C. MORRISON TRIPP

ZOA-PHORA

For Maiden, Wife and Mother. Watch First Indication of Disease or Derangement of the Delicate Organs.

Dear daughter, sister, wife or mother, do you realize that health is more to you and your family than all other earthly blessings? Do you know that to have perfect health and keep it should be your greatest desire?

Why? Because health—a woman's normal health—will enable you to be and to do and to feel just as a woman should. That's what you want isn't it?

Now listen! Zoa Phora is made for women. It is admirably adapted to assist nature in building up her delicate and beautifully constructed constitution. For the well and slightly ailing it is a nerve tonic and tissue builder. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug to injure the system and is used with perfect safety by the young daughter, wife or mother. For the more serious afflicted—women suffering with any form of womanly weakness or disease—Zoa Phora is worth its weight in gold. It is testified by women everywhere. Hundreds of these women live in your own State—some of them right in your own neighborhood. Ask them about Zoa Phora.

On March 7, 1903, Miss Reta Griffith of Columbiaville, Mich., wrote, "I will gladly send my testimonial for Zoa Phora as the greatest, most strengthening tonic I have ever known for women. I suffered with leucorrhoea and painful menses for nearly six years. I took different kinds of medicines and doctored with three different doctors, but they did me no good. They said I would have to have an operation, but thanks to Zoa Phora, it has nearly stopped the pain and has entirely cured the discharge. I was so weak when I began taking your medicine that I could not sit up a whole day at a time, but now I am entirely well." On April 18, 1907, Miss Griffith writes, "You may refer any one to me and I will still gladly recommend Zoa Phora." Does this not prove that the results from the use of Zoa Phora are permanent.

The best way to become assured that Zoa Phora will help you is to go to your druggist and obtain a bottle and begin the treatment at once according to plain directions found in the package. Just ask for Zoa Phora no other explanation will be needed and no mistake will be made. You will receive the medicine already prepared compounded in just the right proportions, and put up in sealed, sterilized, one dollar bottles.

Don't Wash Your Hat.
Never use a whisk broom to clean a hat, either stiff or soft, particularly a soft hat, as it gradually removes the fine surface originally on the hat. The worst effect, however, is the wearing away of the band and binding by such rough usage. The effect is more quickly shown on the best grades of wool and blinding. A fine hair brush, curved shape, made especially under the curl of the hat is best of all, however, is a thick piece of woollen cloth. Such pieces are made in the form of pads, with a strap across the back, so that they can be held securely in the hand.—American Hatter.

Cinnamon Toppers.
Both cinnamon and cassia contain tannin, and too much of either has the same effect as excessive tea drinking. There are cinnamon and cassia toppers who are as much addicted to the habit of chewing the bark as some men are to chewing tobacco. The cinnamon toppers acquire their habit chiefly from working in the woods stripping the bark from the trees and drying it. It is graded by men who taste a tiny morsel of each lot. At first this causes the lips and throat to swell, but in time this undesirable effect overcomes itself, and a genuine love for the bark is acquired.

Four Bad Snakes.
Snakes are much maligned creatures, although they are, for the most part, of considerable value to man, as they live almost entirely on insects and the small rodents that are injurious to crops. Of all the snakes that inhabit North America there are really only four that are dangerous. These are the copperhead, the moccasin, the rattlesnake and a little snake of southern Georgia and Florida known as the coral snake. Of course there are a number of different species of the rattler (about thirty), but they inhabit different parts of the country and are all to be known from the fact that they "rattle" when approached. All the rest of our snakes are absolutely harmless, and their bite is to be less feared than that of a mosquito.—Scrap Book.

On the Rack.
The expression "putting a witness on the rack" has an ancient origin. The courts had an unpleasant way of putting a refractory or unsatisfactory witness on the rack, which was an open wooden frame upon which was laid the victim. His wrists and ankles were tied to two rollers at opposite ends of the frame. The rollers were then moved with levers until the tension caused the body to rise level with the frame, and then questions were addressed to the witness. If he still proved silent or if his memory needed refreshing, the rollers were moved slowly until the wretch's bones started from the sockets.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn heavy grown backs to fish again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it really cures all curable cases of this heinous, much dreaded disease. These terrible granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer with out help. INDICT THE MAGILLS

GRAND JURY HOLDS EX-BANKER AND WIFE FOR MURDER.

CONSPIRACY IS ALLEGED

State Now Contends That First Spouse of Clinton Man Was Smothered—Defense Wants Quick Trial.

Clinton, Ill. — Fred M. Magill and his second wife, Faye Graham Magill, must stand trial on the charge of murdering Pet Magill. The special grand jury which has been investigating the death of Magill's first wife returned indictments against both defendants in Judge W. G. Cochran's court Friday. Magill and his wife were excluded from the court while the grand jurors made their presentation. The indictment against each of the defendants contains six counts. They charge that Mrs. Pet Magill came to her death: 1. By the administration of strychnine. 2. By the administration of arsenic. 3. By being smothered with a quilt. 4. By a suicide compact, with the advice and counsel of the defendants. 5. By poison with chloroform. 6. By some means unknown to the state.

Counts Are Specific. Each of the indictments covers nine typewritten pages and the two are identical in their charges. The three counts charging the administration of poison specify two drams of strychnine and two drams of white arsenic, respectively, reported to have been given to Mrs. Pet Magill in a mixture of half a pint of beer and chloroform in large quantities and administered through the victim's nose.

The count covering the smothering clause charges each defendant with exerting "a mortal pressure" and "of choking and strangling" the victim with a blanket.

The count on the suicide compact charges that Pet Magill was "persuaded" to take chloroform.

The last count alleges that Pet Magill came to her death "in some way and manner and by some means, instruments, weapons, poisons or deadly drugs unknown to the jury," and that the defendants, "willfully and with malice aforethought did deprive said Pet Magill of her life."

Magills Win a Point. Clinton, Ill.—Judge Cochran Friday sustained a motion to quash the sixth count of both indictments against Fred Magill and his wife. He overruled the motion to quash the other indictments, holding that they were good.

The defense immediately filed a motion to consolidate the two cases, so that both husband and wife should be tried together, and the court took this under advisement. The defense then asked that the cases be set for trial as speedily as possible, and Judge Cochran announced that November 9 would be the earliest possible date, but after considerable argument on this subject, the judge adjourned court until Saturday morning, by which time he will decide whether the trials shall begin next week or in November. The defendants were then arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

OHIO IS PLEDGED TO TAFT.

His Candidacy Indorsed by Republican State Committee.

Columbus, O.—The candidacy of William H. Taft, secretary of war, for the Republican nomination for president, was indorsed by the Republican state committee Tuesday by a vote of 15 to 6. The indorsement carried with it a declaration that the Republicans of Ohio are opposed "to the elimination from public life of Senators Foraker and Dick."

Although beaten by a decisive vote in all the preliminary contests, the adherents of Senator Foraker in the committee refused to accept the olive branch extended by the Taft supporters, and when the resolution, as amended, was finally adopted, no effort was made to make the action of the committee unanimous.

WON'T FIGHT LOW FARE LAW.

Pere Marquette to Accept the New Michigan Statute.

Detroit, Mich. — F. W. Stevens, general solicitor for the Pere Marquette railroad, has sent a letter to C. L. Glasgow, state commissioner of railroads, announcing in behalf of Receiver Hampton and the road's stockholders that the Pere Marquette will not contest the recently enacted two-cent fare law. The law goes into effect September 28.

Stevens says in his letter that he desires to abide by the public sentiment in Michigan in favor of a two-cent rate outweighs the "well-grounded belief of the management that such a rate is unreasonably low in Michigan where applied practically to all parts without reference to passenger earnings or territory reached."

MAN KILLED ON RAILROADS

SHOCKING FIGURES IN COMMERCE COMMISSION'S REPORT.

Deaths for Three Months in Train Accidents Number 421 and Injured Nearly 5,000.

Washington. — Shocking railroad accidents, involving great loss of life and property, occurred during the three months ending March 31st, in the United States, according to accident bulletin No. 23, issued Wednesday by the interstate commerce commission. While the number of lives lost and the number injured are somewhat less than during the previous three months, the record yet is appalling.

The bulletin shows that the total number of casualties to passengers and to employes while on duty, during the three months, was 20,563, as compared with 20,944 reported in the preceding three months—a decrease of 381. The total number of passengers and employes killed in train accidents was 421, and the number of injured 4,920, 53 less in the number killed and 20 less in the number injured, as compared with the record of the preceding three months.

The total number of collisions and derailments in the quarter was 3,991 (2,078 collisions and 1,913 derailments), of which 323 collisions and 229 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $3,536,110.

The number of employes killed in coupling accidents in this quarter shows a diminution of 25 per cent, as compared with the quarter last preceding or with that of one year ago. The other principal items in the present record show no important changes as compared with the last preceding quarter, which was marked by large aggregates of both killed and injured. However, the number of passengers reported killed in train accidents—128—is 30 per cent, smaller, but the record includes two collisions and two derailments, killing a total of 82 persons.

BIGGEST TUNNEL IN WORLD.

France Will Build It for Rhone-Marseilles Canal.

Paris. — The ministers of public works has approved the project of the department of bridges and roads for the construction of a canal to connect the valley of the Rhone with the port of Marseilles. As the hills separating the Rhone from Marseilles are too high to be surmounted by locks the project involves a tunnel seven kilometers in length at a cost of $6,900,000. This tunnel measured by the amount of dirt excavated will be the largest in the world.

The width of the canal (permitting two barges to pass at any point) together with the towpaths on either side will be 66 feet and the height will be 42 feet. It will thus involve the excavation of 2,186,000 cubic meters, against 1,058,400 in the case of the famous railroad tunnel at Simplon which is 21.6 kilometers in length but only 24 feet wide and 18 feet high. The total cost of the Marseilles-Rhone canal will be $15,200,000.

MISS MATTHEWS A SUICIDE.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in Colorado Springs Tragedy.

Colorado Springs, Col.—All suspicion against Amos R. Rumbaugh as the slayer of Miss Laura Matthews was removed through the verdict of the coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon.

The verdict reads: "We, the jury, emancipated to inquire into the cause of death of Laura Matthews, find that she came to her death from gunshot wounds inflicted with suicidal intent."

An inquest was held later over the remains of Amos R. Rumbaugh, who shot himself through the head Tuesday afternoon. The verdict was that he came to his death by his own hand. Suspicion for a time pointed to Rumbaugh as having caused the death of Miss Matthews, because of his apparent infatuation for the young woman and his failure to appear at the inquest as a witness.

THIRD VICTIM OF STRANGLER.

Little Girl Killed and Shockingly Mutilated in New York.

New York. — "The graveyard," as the foreign-populated neighborhood on First avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, is known locally, gave up Thursday a fresh crime, rivaling in atrociousness the mysterious butcheries of last week. The latest discovered victim was an eight-year-old girl, and, like the two young women murdered, she had been shockingly mistreated before death and the body mutilated when life was extinct. She was Katie Pritschler, daughter of a restaurant waiter. She disappeared a week ago and was killed that night. A ribbon placed about the throat and drawn tight, that it cut the flesh showed how she died.

SPAIN FAR BEHIND NATIONS.

Illiteracy Prevails There to a Most Amazing Extent.

Of the 20,000,000 people inhabiting Spain, only about 35 per cent. can read and write; another two and one-half per cent. of the population can read without being able to write, but the remaining 62½ per cent. are absolute illiterates. In the south of Spain it is impossible to get a servant who can read and write, and many of the postmen are unable to tell to whom the letters they carry are addressed. They bring a bundle of letters to a house and the owner looks through them and takes those which are (or which he thinks are) addressed to him. The Spanish postmen are not paid by the state; the recipient of the letters have to remunerate them according to the amount of their correspondence, and each letter costs the addressee at least one cent. It is a joke among the easy-going Spaniards that he who treats the postmen best receives the most letters—whether they are intended for him or not.

THE NEW YORK LIFE'S PROGRAM.

Economy, Publicity and the Paramount Interest of Policyholders.

President Kingsley, of the New York Life Insurance Company, says, in an address to the policyholders, that his plan of administration involves these points:

"First: Strict economy; second, the widest, fairest and fullest publicity; third, the continuance of the New York Life as a world-wide institution; fourth, such an amount of new business under the law as we can secure while practicing intelligent economy, and enforcing the idea that the interest of the policyholder is paramount."

The Tell Tale Voice.

"If you want to tell whether or not the man you are talking to is telling the truth don't look him in the eyes," said a Denver bank teller to some friends. "It is the voice, when you don't look at the eyes, that tells you whether the other fellow is lying. We use the system frequently in the bank. A man will come in to tell us some business tale. We look at his feet or his hands or his knees, but never in his eyes. If he's telling the truth his voice will be firm and straightforward, and the absence of your gaze in his eyes will not affect it. But if he's lying he'll be confused by your action, and his voice will tremble; he'll hem and haw, and clear his throat. You may rest assured then that he's stringing you."

Always in the Way.

Recently a country doctor in the north of Ireland, a bachelor, who was locally noted for his brusqueness and irascibility, was driving along a narrow lane, or "boreen," when his passage was effectually barred by an old woman, who was returning from the bog leading an ass whose panniers were filled with peats. The woman led the ass to the side of the lane as quickly as she could, but not quickly enough to please the short-tempered doctor. "Faugh!" he exclaimed, with a snort of disgust. "Women and asses are always in the way." "I'm glad ye have the manners to put yourself last," said the old woman, calmly. The doctor drove on without another word.

SOAKED IN COFFEE

Until Too Stiff to Bend Over.

"When I drank coffee I often had sick headaches, nervousness and biliousness much of the time, but when I went to visit a friend I got in the habit of drinking Postum.

"I gave up coffee entirely and the result has been that I have been entirely relieved of all my stomach and nervous trouble.

"My mother was just the same way. We all drink Postum now, and without coffee in the house for 2 years, we are all well.

"A neighbor of mine, a great coffee drinker, was troubled with pains in her side for years and was an invalid. She was not able to do her work and could not even mend clothes or do anything at all where she would have to bend forward. If she tried to do a little hard work she would get such pains that she would have to lie down for the rest of the day.

"At last I persuaded her to stop drinking coffee and try Postum Food Coffee and she did so and has used Postum ever since; the result has been that she can now do her work, can sit for a whole day and mend and can sew on the machine and she never feels the least bit of pain in her side, in fact, she has got well and it shows coffee was the cause of the whole trouble.

"I could also tell you about several other neighbors who have been cured by drinking coffee and using Postum in its place." "There's a Reason. Look in pkg. for the famous little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'"

BACK TO LONG AGO

OLD-TIME SCENE RECALLED BY

MR. PAROKEYAL.

And Understanding, He No Longer Felt Aggrieved That He Had Sacrificed His Evening Smokes—Willing Victim.

"One evening at dinner in the latter part of May," said Mr. Parokeyal, "the wife asked me if I wouldn't like to go to the May services at church that evening—with her, of course. I caught her exchanging a glance across the table with our eldest boy, a tyke of ten, when she made the suggestion to me. Therefore said I to myself right away, it was a put up job.

"Why, certainly, mother, I'll go—glad to," said I, as hearty as I could make it, and then again I caught that significant exchange of glances between the boy and his mother, just as if they'd achieved some kind of a victory or other.

"Well, the boy executed his usual disappearance soon after dinner, and then, allowing me to burn up just one cigar, my wife began to hustle and bustle me around, and presently we were on our way to the May services.

"Fine work for you, little lady," said I to the boy's mother. "Do you know how many years it's been since I attended May evening services?"

"Please don't tell me," said she. "I don't want to hear. And don't ever say anything like that before the children—you know how they notice these chance remarks," and with that we were inside the cool, fragrant church and on our way up the center aisle to the pew.

"Well, well, what a long stretch of years that fragrance took me back across—that mingled fragrance of roses and drifting incense. Noticed it the minute I set foot within the church—first the smell of the roses that were heaped up on the main altar and on the side altar, and then, as we got inside, that other aroma of the incense. I declare that those two fused fragrances—and they go mighty well together, if you've ever noticed—just clean picked me up and set me back on the road a good 30 years, and a good bit of that road right hard going at that.

"I turned and looked at her, and her eyes were shining mighty bright, sure enough. And she was nodding in the direction of the altar. I thought that she meant that she wanted me to stop looking around at the decorations and things and to pay attention to what was going on at the altar, and so I followed her gaze.

"Well, then I understood the meaning of that put up job between the boy and his mother.

"For there was the boy on the altar in surplice and cassock, at the right hand of the priest, at that. I understood, all right.

"When I turned to her again her eyes were still shining away like as if they'd—but, when it comes to that, I couldn't see her very well myself, for it all came a-romping back to me in an instant that she looked just exactly, for all the world, like my own little mother had looked, away back yonder over the craggy path of the years, when she'd seen me diked out in cassock and surplice for the first time—for all the world and to the life! Same shining, starry eyes, same trembling around the corner of the mouth, same speaking pride of the features—the joy of the mother-woman when she sees one of her own taking part for the first time in a rite at any kind of shrine!

"That's why she'd got me out of my armchair to attend the May evening services. The conspiracy between her and the boy stood revealed. But I didn't feel aggrieved about those sacrificed smokes any longer!"

Unfair to the Telephone.

"Of course, the telephone service isn't always just what we would like to have it," said a telephone man, "but it would probably surprise the average subscriber if the truth were known, to learn how often the telephone is unjustly abused. People break appointments and shift the blame upon the innocent telephone instrument scores upon scores of times every day. It is much easier to say, 'I was near the phone all afternoon and it did not ring,' or, 'I tried to get you and Central said you didn't answer,' than to admit that the appointment was in reality forgotten or purposely broken."

What He Meant.

"That speech of yours was a classic," said the admiring friend.

"Your criticism," replied Senator Sorghum, "is kindly intended, but discouraging." The formal expression of a public opinion is something like the computer's of fortune.

"You mean it should fall soothingly on the ear?"

"No; you want to keep away from the stomach and get something that will be popular taste."

McKINLEY MONUMENT

To Be Dedicated in Buffalo Sept. 5. Former Residents Invited.

The beautiful, white marble shaft erected by the state of New York in Niagara Square, Buffalo, N. Y., in memory of President McKinley, is to be formally dedicated Thursday, Sept. 5, and the event will be the feature of Buffalo's Old Days Week, Sept. 1 to 7. Former residents of Buffalo and the public are cordially invited to attend the occasion.

The McKinley monument was planned and executed under the direction of a commission of prominent men, at a cost of $150,000. Gov. Charles E. Hughes, with his military staff, will take part in the ceremonies and President Roosevelt and former President Grover Cleveland have been invited to attend and speak. Military parades will be a feature of the occasion.

MONDAY UNIVERSAL WASH DAY.

Recognized as Such Over Almost All the World.

Why does nearly all the civilized world wash clothes on Monday? What has Monday to do with washing? It was originally the moon's day and was sacred to the queen of night. I read in a schoolboy's history that the Pilgrims landed on Monday and the good women immediately set about washing the clothes that had been soiled on the trip over. We might judge from that alleged fact that no washing was done aboard ship; yet the finest place for such necessary work of sanitation and blessedness is out at sea where there is plenty of water and nearly always a drying wind.

The voyage of the little Mayflower lasted 63 days, I believe, and as nearly as we can now reckon the landing was made at Plymouth Rock on a Monday, though some historians insist on Friday. It must have been a vile and filthy vessel on arrival, with 102 passengers and crew going over two months without washing their linen. Linen? What did they wear in 1620? Can you realize how big was the Mayflower? A miserable little bark of 160 tons (Capt. John Smith) or 180 tons (according to Bradford).

The Advantage of Reading.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the weary hobo as he stood at the farmhouse door, "but might I sleep in your barn to-night? I haven't had a roof over my head for ten days."

"I congratulate you," said the kindly farmer. "That is a splendid thing. I have just read in one of my ten-cent magazines that it is not too much to say that to the delicate, highly-strung, easily-knocked-up individual the advantages of sleeping in the open air are enormous. Pallid cheeks take on a ruddy hue, colds are unknown, nerves are forgotten, and irritability becomes a phase of the past. A small plot and a little perseverance are the only necessities and the result is assured. You are very welcome to the use of my potato patch, and my sky is at your disposal."—Judge.

Long Time to Sweep.

Everything, even a magnificent church, must be regarded from the point of view of the beholder. A London paper says that two country girls, who acted as if they might be enjoying a holiday from domestic service, were observed walking down the aisles of St. Paul's Cathedral. Under the great dome one of them stood and gazed around her with an air of such wonder that a spectator might well suppose that she was awestruck by her solemn surroundings. But when she spoke, the idea was dissipated. "Oh, Sarah," she exclaimed, "wouldn't this place take a long time to sweep?"

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order, it causes backache, headaches, dizziness, languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S.A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the loins and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

THE PARABLE HE LIKED.

Darkey Would Have Had Trouble Picking It from Sacred Book.

An old darkey, anxious to be a minister, went to be ordained. He was questioned thus: "Can you write?" "No, sah!" "Read?" "No, sah!" "How do you know about the Bible?" "Ma niece reads it to me!" "Know about the Ten commandments?" "No, sah!" "The Twenty-third Psalm?" "Nebber heard of him, sah!" "Know the Beatitudes?" "No, sah!" "Well, what part of the Bible do you like best?" "Parables, sah!" "Can you give us one?" "Deed, yes, sah!" "Let us have it, then." "Once when the queen of Sheba was gwine down to Jerusalem she fell among thieves. First they passed her by on de oddah side den dey come ovah an' dey say unto her, 'Fro down Jezebel!' but she wouldn't fro her down; and again dey say unto her, 'Fro down Jezebel!' but she wouldn't fro her down; and again dey say unto her for de frid and last time, for I ain't gwine to ax yo no mo', 'Fro down Jezebel!' and dey fro'd her down for 70 times and 7, till de remains were 'leven baskets; and I say unto yo', whose wife was she at de resurrection?"—Bystander.

Close Confinement.

The new phonograph had just arrived, and in her husband's absence, Mrs. Jones thought she would give her parrot a treat, so she set the machine working on a record of "In Old Madrid," sung by Mr. Jones in his best style.

At the very first bar Polly opened her eyes in surprise, and rocked herself to and fro in deep and speechless wonder.

She was evidently thinking deeply, and her excitement was intense. She cocked her head on one side, with an expression that indicated interested conjecture, and irritation at not arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. As the song finished, an idea dawned upon her.

"Well," said Mrs. Jones with pride, "what do you think of that, Polly?"

Then the bird found words: "Great Scot!" she shrieked. "You've got the old man boxed up this time."

Brains are Built from certain kinds of

FOOD

Try Grape-Nuts

"America has become a land of nervous opionalists, largely owing to our use against the delicate health level of nature."

"Only outdoor exercise in a cold climate would enable vigorous individuals of our species to digest the vicissitudes forced upon alimentary organs caused by sedentary occupations," wrote Dr. Felix Oswald.

Brain workers must have different food than laborers, because brain work uses up parts of the brain and nerve centers, while physical labor uses up other parts of the body.

Grape-Nuts, a food for brain workers, prepared by scientific food makers, is a natural food made from selected kinds of field grains known to contain the natural phosphate of potash and other elements required by the brain in rebuilding and repairing itself. It is naturally cooked at the factory and ready to be served instantly. It is sold in all first-class grocery stores by the Postum Co., at Seattle, Wash., and by the Postum Co., at Buffalo, N. Y.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

TREATING SANDY ROADS.

Method By Which Good Roadbed May Be Secured.

Probably no other theme has been so universally discussed as that of good roads, and it certainly is one which deserves the uttermost consideration from the agricultural world, especially in sections where the soil is of a sandy nature a stone crusher is almost a necessity, and when the farmer awakes to the realization of just what this implement can do for him he will favor an appropriation for one almost immediately. A very bad piece of road in this section, writes a Niagara county (N. Y.) correspondent of the Rural New Yorker, was put into fine shape last summer by the addition of a dressing of crushed stone and clay. The stone was obtained at a small expense from a large building which was being torn down; crushed, and after the roadbed was scraped down to a depth of about 18 inches, applied heavily and thoroughly clayed; then the sand was replaced and graded down smoothly at the sides to allow the water to drain off. This spring, after an application of the steam roller and a little more grading, the piece of road which has been a terror for years, is in ideal condition.

The diagram shows how a troublesome sand hill was disposed of, and a new road opened up last fall. The cut was made about November 1, and was about 15 rods long and five or six feet deep. An appropriation of $50 from the town and about $50 or $60 in road work was applied, and although the hill is improved considerably, it is still in bad condition on account of the loose sand constantly drifting down the sides and filling the road. The work was done with two-wheel scrapers, one lever and four wagons. The scrapers were used only on the short hauls, and none of the sand was hauled more than 30 feet each way. If a right of way around the hill could have been procured the cutting would have been unnecessary, as it simply needed leveling, and the grade would have been about 10 feet lower. But a right of way was unobtainable, even at the rate of $200 per acre, for common June grass land. The cut will have to be cleaned, and recleaned, until the sides stop caving, then the roadbed must be dressed with crushed stone or gravel and clayed in order to make a permanent roadway.

THE LIQUID MANURE.

Save It By Cutting Up the Straw and Using it as an Absorbent.

There is scarcely a farmer that has not an unlimited amount of straw left over in the spring. If this straw were used more freely and the animals were bedding with a bedding of one or two feet of clean straw every day the most of the liquid would be saved, but the straw alone is scarcely sufficient. If the straw is used alone it would be well to use a cutting box, cutting the straw into half-inch or inch lengths and scattering half a bushel of it under each animal twice a day, and then bedding on top of this. In this way practically all the liquid would be saved.

If you have use for the cutting box for no other purpose than this the expense of such a machine should not be to exceed $15 or $20, and it can be worked by hand power or with a small engine of not more than two horse power, and at a small expense you can more than double the value of your manure yearly.

I beseech you to take some steps to save the liquid manure, urgently writes Charles Vernon in Farmers' Review. It is far too important a subject for you to overlook. On a farm carrying 30 cows, four horses, 50 sheep and ten pigs the value of the liquid manure will amount approximately to $600. You can save it for the expense of $15 or $20 a year. It will of course amount to more than this if you have a larger number of animals.

hire a man and let him spend one month cutting up straw or corn stover for this purpose. In half of this time he would certainly cut up enough to supply you during the year, and this expense could not exceed $30. Besides this, you will not only save $300 as outlined above but you will make more manure, and you will convert the straw stack into the best possible shop for manure.

There is no question of more importance than the saving of the liquid manure and utilizing the straw pile by converting it into a valuable fertilizer, unless it be to see that your manure is spread every day, as fast as it is made, and see that it is spread on the land evenly.

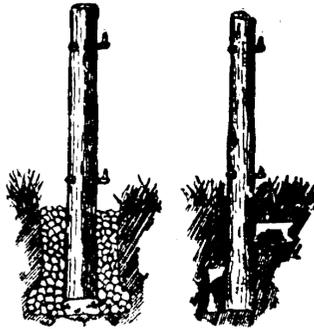

Remember that it is always best to spread less per acre and cover more acres than to spread a heavy application over a few acres.

It has been demonstrated that a ton of barnyard manure is worth $3. You can figure to double your output every day, certainly through the winter months, and there is no question but that the average farmer can make more money by giving this subject a little thought just at the present time than he can in any other way.

SETTING GATE POSTS.

Use of Stones In Soft Ground Will Make Them Firm.

The matter of setting gate posts is one that should interest every one who has a gate to hang, for no matter how strong the post may be and how carefully it may be braced it is bound to sag sooner or later so that the gate catches on the ground. It is often desirable to set a gate post in soft ground, such as around the barn yard, or just after a heavy rain when the ground is too soft to do any work in the field. In such cases it is almost impossible to set the post firmly but even in such cases this work can be done very satisfactorily by packing small stones in the hole around the post. This work might be even more effectually accomplished if the post were set in concrete which is a little more expensive but will hold the post more firmly than the stones alone. In setting the post in concrete it should be tamped firmly as the hole is being filled up. After the hole is filled with concrete the post should not be disturbed for several days so as to give the cement time to "set." Care must be taken to have the post exactly plumb all the time while the work is going on as it can never be straightened after the cement hardens. As gate posts are usually much heavier than ordinary posts and are therefore expected to last much longer than the rest of the fence, it is always well to use thoroughly seasoned wood so as to make the work as permanent as possible.

Another method of setting posts, says The Farmer, is by using two large flat stones to hold them in place. The hole, of course, must be dug much larger and before it is set in the hole one stone is laid edgewise in the bottom upon the side which is to receive the greatest pressure at the foot of the post. The post is then set in the hole, half filled with earth and the other stone placed against the side of the post to receive the drawing weight from the gate. In this way both stones receive the pressure holding the post firmly in position.

ALL AROUND THE FARM.

Have good shade during the warm weather.

Farmers are reading more and more because it pays.

A farm properly handled is worth more money every year.

Think of the strength wasted drawing wagons that need greasing!

Pile hay high with a power fork, there's always room at the top.

Give the hogs salt and ashes, especially hard-coal ashes, and an occasional dose of copperas and sulphur in the slop. Be particularly careful about this with the hogs that are in the feeding pens.

Improving.

It used to be thought that the cow which could give a pound of butter fat per day was an excellent animal. Last year, however, there were no less than 30 cows which averaged nearly two pounds of butter fat for every can of the 56 lbs.

NO GAIN AND SOME LOSS.

Neighbor's Comment in Which There Seems a Strain of Sarcasm.

"Yes," the leader of the amateur brass band was saying, "it's curious to see what an effect learning to play a horn has on some persons. I used to be a pretty good bass singer, but I can't sing worth a cent now."

"Does learning to play a horn spoil the voice?" asked his next-door neighbor.

"It did mine."

"How do you account for it?" "I don't know how to account for it. Strains the vocal chords, perhaps. All I know is that I blew my voice out through the mouthpiece of my cornet."

"Did you have a good voice?" "Everybody said so."

"Then it's a great pity you ever learned to play a horn," rejoined his neighbor, shaking his head sadly. "I—er—think I should have enjoyed hearing you sing."—Youth's Companion.

FEARFUL BURNING SORES.

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema in Rough Scales, Itching and Inflamed—Cured by Cuticura.

"Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up. I decided to give Cuticura a trial. When I had used the first box of Cuticura Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Remedies my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

DeWITT'S WITCH HAZEL SALVE For Piles, Burns, Sores.

"All Are not Thieves That Dogs Bark At."

A cleansing, clean, cooling, soothing, healing household remedy is DeWitt's Carbolyzed Witch Hazel Salve. For burns, cuts, scratches, bruises, insect bites and sore feet it is unequalled. Good for piles. Beware of imitations. Get DeWitt's. It is the best.
Sold by F. A. Sigler, Druggist.

Appearances are not always to be relied on; neither are all kinds of advertising. Electrical clock and similar catch-penny devices are apt to entrap the unwary. They are better than no advertising, but the same money spent in the columns of a local newspaper would yield a hundred fold better returns.

This is the local newspaper in this community that reaches the homes of the best people. It is therefore the medium the advertiser should use.

We take pride in our paper. We study the needs of our advertising patrons and are pleased at any time to aid them in any manner possible.

His Idea of Water.
At one time the bailiff in charge of an English jury was sworn to keep them "without meat, drink or fire." It was Justice Maule who gave the classic reply to the bailiff, who inquired whether he might grant a jurymen's request for a glass of water: "Well, it is not meat, and I should not call it drink. Yes, you may."

ADDITIONAL NEWS.

Born to James Harris and wife a son, Monday night.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cavanaugh the past week.

Miss Madeline Bowman entertained six little friends Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her sixth birthday.

At the primary election August 18, vote for Jay C. Walton for delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

Claude Haigler has moved his family from Howell to Pinckney and is now settled in the Chas. Grimes house on Portage street. He will work for the Reasons during the threshing season and then work by the day.

Judge Landis in the United States district court landed a fine on the Standard Oil Co. of $29,240,000 for violation of the anti-trust act. We understand that John D. says "that Landis will be dead many years before the fine is paid." This may be construed as a threat on the life of Jud. Landis as the Standard Oil Co. will stoop to anything to bring about their desires. At any rate we may look for another advance in the products of this company. As long as Rockefeller lives to make costly presents, the common people will have to pay the price.

Placing the Responsibility.
For six months or more the druggist's assistant had occupied his leisure moments by writing verses for the village paper, in the "poets' corner" of which publication they appeared anonymously every Thursday, says the Youth's Companion. On opening his copy of the Weekly Bugle one morning, and, turning first, as was his regular habit, to that particular corner, he was surprised and gratified beyond measure to see his name in full appended to his latest poetical debut.
He hastened to call at the office of the Bugle.
"Mr. Stires," he said to the editor, "I want to thank you for signing my name to my poem in this week's paper. It encourages a fellow when he gets proper credit for his work."
"Oh, that's all right, Johnson," responded the editor. "We thought it was about time to place the responsibility for that poetry where it belonged."

American Regard For Women.
Toward women the American man's attitude is fine. She is neither his deity nor his doll. He simply treats her with deference. His chivalry has as little to do with saccharine utterances, scraping feet and bended knees as has his patriotism with hysterical shriekings and the waving of ensanguined flags.—Lippincott's.

"We never repent of eating too little," was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to everyone without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol for Indigestion and Dispepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself.

All the news for $1.00 per year.

Miss Myrtle Hill returned to her home with her husband and sister before returning to her school at Williamston.

The storm of last Thursday was a severe one in different parts of the state, and much damage was done to corn, oats and other late crops by hail, besides many window panes were broken. On the road south of this village it was more severe than here and several lights were broken. The greatest damage was done several miles north on a line of Owosso, Orion and Northville.

The editor of a local newspaper should know all the news about town but does not always have the chance to find out many happenings unless some one is kind enough to hand such items in or inform the editor. Of course most editors know of a good many items of news that he does not care to publish, if he did publish them he would need a bullet-proof cage to live in. However, good clean news is always acceptable and help make the home paper interesting.

M. E. Church Notes.

The church was well filled Sunday morning, even the seats in the gallery being taken. At the close of the service twelve members were taken into full membership and the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered to over 100.

The Sunday school is getting back to its normal condition as there was 119 present and $2.57 collection. Try and be in your place each Sunday as that is what helps make an interesting school.

The Epworth League was well attended and the lesson interesting. Leader for next Sunday, Willis Tupper. All are invited, especially the young people.

The evening service was largely attended and the pastor delivered an excellent sermon as usual.

If you are not a regular attendant at some church you are cordially invited to come with us. All seats are free and you will be made welcome.
