OBITUARY.

Clifford Eugene Baughn was born at St. Johns, March 29, 1890, and died at his home in Pinckney, Sept. 25, 1907, aged 17 yrs., 5 mos., 26 days. He was a young man of exemplary habits and a genial and loving disposition, a lover of father, mother, home and family, to all of which he was entirely devoted. He leaves a father, mother, two sisters and one brother and a host of friends to mourn their loss. But our loss is his eternal gain.

The funeral was held from the home, Saturday afternoon and although it stormed all day, over 300 persons attended the funeral to show their love and respect for the young man who had so suddenly been called home.

The casket was literally buried with beautiful furnishings by the pupils of the different schools with which he had been connected, the masonic order and other friends. The music was furnished by Mrs. Emma Burgess, Miss Blanche Martin, Messrs. Percy Teeple and W. A. Nixon. Rev. A. G. Gates, pastor of the Cong'l church officiating, and the body was laid to rest in the cemetery here.

The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in this their late bereavement.

This is Oct. 3, 1907.

We can use a few tubs of potatoes on subscription.

Mrs. Grace Lavey of Jackson, visited her sister, Mrs. John White, near here last week.

Ernest White of Howell was here Saturday to attend the funeral of Clifford Baughn.

Fine weather this week and heavy frosts. Most of the corn needed a couple more weeks to thoroughly ripen.

C. A. Hesse and family have our thanks for gathering and bringing us a bushel of elder berries—we are very fond of them.

Win. Going of Pontiac, was in town Sunday.

Miss Lillian Boyle spent Sunday in Jackson.

Glenn Mack of Howell was in town Tuesday.

Miss Jennie Haze, who has been ill, is much better.

Teeple Hardware Co. took up and repaired their scales this week.

E. E. and Francis Carr of Detroit, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Geo. Hendee has the thanks of this office for a mess of potatoes. He has plenty more.

Chas. B. Eaman of Garden City, Kansas, visited at Mrs. E. W. Martin a few days last week.

In Memoriam.

Clifford Baughn, the deceased was well known to us as an upright and industrious young man of excellent principal and character. He was a dutiful and affectionate son, always courteous and considerate of others and a favorite amongst his friends.

He was a member of our Sunday Class and the Young Men's Club for several years. We know his faith and his life and and thank God for both. We extend sympathy to the mourning parents and kindred.

Blessed are they that mourn,
For they shall be comforted.

G. W. MYLNE,
Cong'l pastor.

Lainsburg, Mich.
Sept. 30th, 1907.

"One sweet flower has dropped and faded,
One sweet youthful voice has fled,
One fair brow the grave has shaded,
One dear loved one now is dead,
But we feel no thought of sadness,
For Clifford is happy now,
He has knelt in soul felt gladness,
Where the blessed angels bow.
May our footsteps never falter
In the path that he has trod,
May we worship at the altar
Of the great and living God.
Lord may angels watch above us,
Keep us from all error free,
May they guard and guide and love us
Till like him we go to thee."

M. E. Church Notes.

Although the weather was stormy Sunday morning there was a large attendance and the pastor preached as good or better than ever before. It was one that should have been heard by everybody.

The Sunday school record showed 98 present and a collection of over $1.50. The classes are ready for their program next Sunday morning at the "Religious Day." This service will commence at 10:30 and take the place of the regular service. Let all come and make this a banner rally day. The title of the program is "The Coming Hosts."

Do not forget the prayer meeting Thursday night. There was a large attendance last week and they should grow better.

Epworth League at 7 Sunday evening.

Clyde Darrow of Jackson, is visiting his parents here.

A. C. Watson of Unadilla was in town Tuesday on business. He reports business good there.

Mrs. M. C. Wilson of Flint and Mrs. J. S. Jenkins of Mason visited at W. E. Tupper's the first of the week.

There never has been a year when the worms have been so bad on trees as this. Many trees, especially walnuts, have been entirely divested of foliage.

Frank Hacker is preparing to put in three new milking machines after which he will increase his herd to about 70 milch cows. He is probably the largest dairyman in the county.—Brighton Argus.

The state Sanatorium at Howell had three patients last week one of whom gained five pounds during the week. There will be three more patients received this week. They have accommodation for about 16 men patients. They expect to build a shack for women in the near future.—Republican.

We see by the Alma Journal that during the recent heavy electric storm that the residence of Frank Erwin was struck by lightning and his little daughter was quite badly shocked. A flowing well near the house has nearly stopped running since the bolt struck the house. Frank was formerly a Pinckneyite.

The new law in regard to postoffice boxes is in substance as follows: Ten days before the last day of each quarter postmasters are requested to give notice by placing a printed slip to each rented box, notifying the renter to renew his lease to the box before the last day of the quarter or his box will be vacant on the first day of the quarter.

Andy Roche and Mrs. Jessie Hosking, both of Calumet, were married Monday morning at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. E. T. McCleer of Anderson, by Rev. Fr. Comerford. The groom was formerly of this vicinity and now a leading physician of Calumet. The DISPATCH joins the many friends in extending congratulations.

Cong'l Church Notes

The service Sunday morning was well attended. The subject, "Universal Religion," was very interesting. One of the important points was to agree to disagree on non-essentials and turn the mind to such things as will bring love, power and peace.

Good attendance at Sunday school and C. E. meeting, Prof. Gaul leader. "Life's Drama" was the subject in the evening and many thoughts were represented as we appear in the drama of life.

Services as usual next Sunday, everyone welcome to the church.

Mrs. F. L. Andrews and Mrs. H. G. Briggs were in Howell one day last week.

Farmers are now hoping the weather man will give them a few days of good weather.

Chas. Kennedy, who has been working in Detroit, is spending a few days with his parents here.

Our pages are full this week with the publication of the Anderson drain notice, which is being probated.

Last Friday and Saturday were stormy days—there was hardly a moment in both days that it did not rain and much of the time quite hard.

Chas. Campbell and Chas. Teeple are the jurors from this township, drawn to serve at the Oct. term of Circuit court. They are good and true men.

Many of our citizens have been running around with a piece of stovepipe in their hands the past week. The cold weather caused them to put up stoves.

We learn that Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Butler of Durand have been caring for a baby girl the past two weeks. Mrs. B. was formerly Miss Jennie Tupper of this place.

Livingston Lodge No. 76 F. & A. M. will convene in special session Saturday evening, Oct. 5, in Masonic Hall. A large attendance is desired.

Explosion of the Earth.

We frequently hear the theory advanced that the planets and suns explode and that our own earth might possibly explode from pent-up forces within. A high explosive exerts about the limit of pressure capable of being exerted by gases set free and expanded by the heat generated by any chemical reaction. Such a pressure, great as it is, is far too insignificant to explode the earth. Were the whole great molten interior of our globe to be replaced by dynamite and detonated, the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. We have but to calculate the weight of a column of granite of a height equal to the thickness of the earth's crust to see that the pressure of the crust on the molten interior far exceeds the pressure exerted by exploding dynamite. We have seen that the speed of the detonative wave is about four miles per second. The speed of the earth in its orbit is four times as great, declares Hudson Maxim, in the Independent. If, therefore, the interplanetary space of our solar system were to be filled with an explosive mixture capable of being detonated and consumed with the speed of dynamite, and if this were to be set off just behind the earth in its orbit, the earth would not feel it, but would rapidly rush away from the wave of explosion, pass clear around the sun, and come back again to meet it more than six months later. It would take nearly a year for such a detonative wave to reach our sun from the earth. If the earth itself were a ball of dynamite, it would require half an hour to explode; and if the sun were a mass of dynamite, it would require about two and a half days to explode.

New Customs Regulations.

With a view to securing greater courtesy and dignity in the administration of the customs laws, the treasury department has issued a series of instructions to inspectors, copies of which will be furnished to each passenger on incoming steamers from foreign countries. For the purpose of customs administration, passengers are divided into non-residents of the United States and residents. This classification has no reference to citizenship. Non-residents are of three classes: actual residents of foreign countries; persons who have been abroad with a fixed foreign abode for one year or more, who elect to declare as non-residents, and persons who have been abroad for two years, with or without a fixed place of foreign abode, who elect to declare as non-residents. Residents include all others. There is no limit to the value of articles which non-residents may bring in free of duty, explains the Youth's Companion, provided they are articles actually accompanying the passenger, and necessary and appropriate for his or her use for the purposes of the journey and present comfort and convenience, and not intended for other persons or for sale. Residents may bring in all wearing apparel and other personal effects which they took abroad with them, if not remodeled abroad to the value of $100, if the articles are not for sale. Under the new regulations passengers are not required to make oath to their declarations. The offer of a bribe or a "tip" to a customs officer will continue to be held as a violation of the law.

The cottage in East Hampton, Long Island, where John Howard Payne lived as a boy when his father was principal of Clinton academy in the village, will be preserved for many years to come. Its site is needed to make room for a new church, and the cottage was in danger of destruction. An admirer of "Home, Sweet Home" has bought the building—it is more than 200 years old—and will move it to another site and remodel its interior for use as a summer home. The outside will be unchanged, so that those may be gratified who wish to see the place which Payne had in mind when he wrote, "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

After all, it was not shocked modesty on the part of King Edward that led him to leave the theater at Marienbad in a huff. In fact, it wasn't the naughty song at all that offended him, but another which seemed to show disrespect to a local abbot who had been his host at a recent dinner. This is another beautiful vision of monarch royalty destroyed.

CUT THROAT OF HIS SIX YEARS OLD SON BECAUSE HE WAS A CRIPPLE.

TRIED TO KILL HIMSELF

The Man Who Committed the Horrible Crime Seems To Be Sane and May Recover.

Fiendish Work.

Lying at the point of death, with chances favoring the latter, John E. Jones, a well-to-do farmer, is in his home at Bear Lake, Pleasanton township, with a jagged gash in his throat. His little 6-year-old crippled son, victim of a crazed father, lays dead in an adjoining room. Fiendish care was exercised in committing the fearful deed. Taking his son to a room in the second story of the farm house, Jones locked the door and there made the sacrifice. The child's throat was cut so that death must have been almost instantaneous. Jones was not so successful in his next attempt. He gashed his throat and then his hand failed him. He was found a few minutes later by a member of the family lying on the floor in a welter of blood. Jones's daughter, running to the road to get a neighbor, saw Dr. Norconk, and hurried him to the death chamber. "He may yet live," was the doctor's opinion after a hasty examination. Apparently Jones heard and understood for at that instant he made another savage slash at his throat with the razor, which he had kept concealed to that time. The second cut made his condition much worse. Jones's appearance lately has not indicated ill health, though his nervous condition has been such that he could do no work on the farm this season. Members of his family say that he acted a little strangely for a few days preceding the tragedy but they had no occasion to feel alarmed. He undoubtedly brooded over the condition of the child which was crippled and was also mentally deficient. Jones is about 48 years of age. He had many friends and was known as a genial, good natured man with more than the usual fondness for his children.

Queer Antics These.

When lightning tore a hole in the roof of the residence of William Money the bolt caused damage in bath room and kitchen and went crashing into the shed at the rear of the latter. Here it attacked a large cupboard and tore it to pieces. In the cupboard were four baking powder cans with tops on and filled with herbs. The tops were removed, the contents taken out and the cans filled with cloths from a basket which stood near the cupboard. The ring was melted off the dustpan in the kitchen and the paper in the cupboard and on the wall was torn as if by pince. While the family was frightened, no one was shocked except Mrs. Money, both of whose thumbs were affected.

A Scathing Rebuke.

Wellington Taylor, of Fenton, who was arrested for neglecting to provide for his wife, who is dying of consumption at the home of her sister was rebuked in scathing terms by the court when arraigned before Justice Halsey. In adjourning the case for four weeks the court rounded out his denunciation of the accused by admonishing him to hasten to the bedside of his wife and make her as comfortable as possible in her last hours. "If you go over there and say one unkind word to your poor wife," the court added by way of a parting warning, "you will be sorry for it when you come before this court again." Taylor, who is able-bodied and capable of earning good wages, was profuse in his promises to do what he could to make amends for his neglect of his wife in her helpless and pitiable condition, and the local authorities will see to it that he fulfills them to the letter.

Man Slept, Horse Wandered.

Falling asleep in the carriage after driving from Flint to Flushing, where he attended the fair, Edward Hartwell was awakened by water about his knees. The horse had wandered into the river, and was making his way upstream in a direction opposite to that which Hartwell had been going. The banks are very steep, and although Hartwell was, and was unable to find a place where the rig could be gotten out. It was a matter of several hours before the outfit with the assistance of several who happened to be in that vicinity, was hoisted back into the roadway.

Followed Her Lover.

Lucretia Johns, "the woman in the case" in connection with the suicide of A. Lamont Fogg, the Battle Creek society and singer, was found dead in bed Monday night at the home of H. H. Maatsch, on Lake avenue, where she boarded. A brief note stated that she had committed suicide, but made no mention of the reason. It directed the disposal of her personal property, and gave the address of her father, E. L. Johns, of Port Huron.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

The power house of the Branch county farm burned; loss $6,000. D. E. Crandall's saw mill at Grawn was destroyed by fire; loss $20,000. Twelve paroles were granted by the state board of pardons at the meeting held in Jackson last week. South Michigan was visited by a severe frost and late corn and vegetables ruined in some sections. Abe Druax, of Henderson, was crushed between a threshing machine engine and separator, and died. The biggest fair in the records of Arenac county closed at Standish Friday with an attendance of 3,000. A heavy frost has visited Muskegon and Oceana counties destroying crops worth thousands of dollars.

Joseph Boylan, aged 17, of Benton Harbor, was asphyxiated. He left the burners in a gas range wide open. Reed City's Tri-County fair opened with excellent attractions but poor attendance because of heavy rains. Henry Weurding, aged 72, living near Forest Grove, was struck by an interurban freight car and instantly killed.

Nine tramps who refused to obey trainmen's orders to leave a freight train were met at Vassar by officers and seven arrested. William Herrick was arrested in Gaylord by Detectives Maynard and Cunningham, of Saginaw, charged with abandoning his child. After writing a farewell letter to his grandchildren, George Jewett, aged 72, of Jackson, shot and killed himself because of ill health. Prof. M. E. Cooley, of the U. of M., has been selected as a member of the interstate commerce commission board to test railroad signal devices. Atty-Gen. Bird began suit against the Postal Telegraph Co. for a penalty of $75,000, charging that the company has not filed articles of incorporation.

Arba Holmes, aged 16, while learning to operate a Battle Creek sanitarium elevator, was crushed between the floor and the cage and instantly killed. Harlan Page Smith, 64, one of the best known real estate dealers in the Saginaw valley, a graduate in the law department in the U. of M., is dead. A widow and one son survive. From the sale of delinquent tax lands at the land commissioner's office last week the state realized $26,000. Some of the lands sold are of considerable value, and brought good prices.

Martin Poulney, the Detroit man arrested in Gaylord some time ago on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, has been found guilty in the circuit court and remanded for sentence. Oscar Labadee, not yet 20, has been bound over on a charge of stealing $50 from Paul DeLisle, of Flint, with whom he spent Thursday night. He has been within the clutches of the law twice before.

The two children of Mrs. Althea Desmond, who was recently refused a divorce from her husband, have been abducted from Port Huron by a strange man. It is said the woman's husband has disappeared. Catherine Carver, of Grand Rapids, wife of "Robert J. Carver," the dentist, who, it is charged, married 17 times and is now wanted in Battle Creek and Port Huron has sued for divorce, alleging desertion and non-support.

Charles Loder, 41 years old, who confessed to having committed an assault on his 11-year-old daughter, was sentenced by Judge Wiest, of Lansing, to the extreme penalty in such cases, a minimum of five and a maximum of ten years.

Although he has lived with his girl wife but a short time, Clarence Walker, of Detroit, has signed bonds to pay $250 per week to support their child. In 1906 Walker married Miss Bessie Hanson, then 15 years of age, in Windsor.

After she had failed to find her son in the morgue, Mrs. C. W. Messenger, of Battle Creek, went to police headquarters and swore out a warrant for his arrest, charging grand larceny. She hopes to locate him in this manner.

In two addresses, one before the young men, and one before the young women of Olivet college, President Lancaster denounced the "college matrimonial agency," and declared that he is going to put a stop to college engagements at his institution.

Railroad Commissioner Glasgow says the new railroad commission will take office October 15. George Dickinson, a member of the commission, is going to Ohio to study the railroad commission in that state, and Commissioner Glasgow will attend the national convention of Railway Commissioners.

Although Friday was his wedding day, Edward Morris, a Port Huron machinist, continued his work at the Northern Motor works. During the day his arm became caught in the machinery and he was injured so that the ceremony, which was to have taken place at night, had to be postponed.

Mrs. Jennie Henion and daughter, of Muskegon, were wedded at the same hour and with their husbands are living in the same house. Mrs. Henion married Joseph Kaufman and her daughter became Mrs. Lambert Christianson. The weddings took place on the birthday anniversary of the widow's first husband.

NEWS OF THE NATION

VICE-PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS COCKTAILS CAUSED HIS DEFEAT.

A NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

The Story of Cocktails and Wine Was Effective—The Mayorality Fight in Cleveland a Key-Note.

Fairbanks Defeated.

Chas. W. Fairbanks, vice-president of the United States, was defeated in Columbus for delegate to the quadrennial conference of the M. E. church. The temperance laymen refused to condone what they regard as an unpardonable offense against temperance, and the distinguished candidate went down because of having served cocktails and three kinds of wine at the dinner given to President Roosevelt on Memorial day at the Fairbanks home. There were 18 candidates for the seven places, but it was fully believed that the vice-president would head the delegation by being selected by acclamation. Just before the voting, however, a decided change of feeling was shown and temperance laymen insisted on all the names being voted on. This was decided on. Considerable feeling was manifested over the effort of some of the vice-president's friends to put the responsibility for the cocktails upon President Roosevelt. It required 97 votes to elect and on the first ballot two candidates were chosen. Mr. Fairbanks received but 79 votes. His support dwindled away and after the first ballot his friends withdrew his name.

Tom Johnson's Campaign.

A national campaign is being fought out within the narrow confines of twenty-six wards in Cleveland this fall. Victory for Tom L. Johnson will make him the largest figure in the national Democratic party, next to William J. Bryan; defeat may relegate him to the political graveyard. Victory for Congressman Theodore E. Burton will wonderfully increase his already great prestige among the national Republican figures at Washington; defeat will send him back to the house stung and crippled by a rebuke given him by the people who know him best. A congressman who cannot carry his own city for mayor, when that city normally belongs to his own party anyway, cannot be considered senatorial size, house-speaker size or even cabinet-size. So everything is at stake and every means is being used to win the stake.

San Francisco Grafters.

The inner workings of the confessed hoodlums who formerly administered the affairs of San Francisco as a board of supervisors were laid bare during the trial of Tiley L. Ford, chief counsel for the United Railways, on a charge of bribery. Thomas F. Lonergan, former supervisor, told on the stand of receiving $4,000 with the understanding that it was to be paid to influence his vote upon the application of the United Railways for an overhead trolley franchise. James F. Gallagher, former chairman of the board, related how he had received the sum of $85,000 from Arahman Reuf after the latter had requested and urged him to ascertain how the 18 members of the board stood with regard to the application for such a franchise and directed him to learn the price for which each member would return a favorable vote.

Beavers is Out.

Geo. W. Beavers, formerly superintendent of the salary and allowances bureau of the postoffice department, sentenced to prison two years ago for postoffice frauds, was released from the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., Tuesday night, and it is presumed that he departed at once for his home. Beavers is the man Machen once called the limit for nerve in perpetrating frauds on the government, because he asked the former superintendent of rural free delivery to buy an operating table for a physician friend and charge it to the free delivery department.

Bubonic Plague.

At a meeting of the California board of health, Gov. Gillett presiding, it was decided to appropriate $1,500 to fight the plague in San Francisco. Steps were also taken to establish a barge in the bay to fumigate bay and river craft. The totals in the bubonic plague situation at San Francisco to date are as follows: Cases verified, 43; deaths, 26; death percentage, 60.04; suspects under observation, 23.

Canada Wants Exclusion.

A monster petition signed by hundreds of British Columbians is on its way to the premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It prays that, regardless of foreign countries and all sentimental and political considerations, the government immediately pass such legislation as may be requisite to insure the absolute exclusion of orientals from the dominion of Canada. So far the Japanese government has made no claim on the dominion government for damages on account of the Vancouver troubles.

President Will Approve.

President Roosevelt has decided to approve the exceedingly radical constitution adopted by Oklahoma. This constitution provides for Direct legislation through the initiative and referendum.

Nomination of all state, county, district and township officers by direct primaries.

Prohibition of succession in office to state officers.

Prohibition of railway corporations from owning any productive agency of a natural commodity.

Prohibition of corporations from owning more land than is absolutely necessary in the operation of their business.

Prohibition of watered stock and provision that the books of all corporations shall be open to examination at any time.

Prohibition of the employment of children under 15 years of age in factories and mines.

Abrogation of the fellow servant law.

Elective state corporation commission with complete supervision of all corporations.

Two-cent railway fares. Labor and arbitration commission with compulsory powers.

Agricultural commission. Oil, gas and mineral commission. Prohibition for 21 years in the present Indian Territory and all Indian reservations and state-wide prohibition for the entire state as voted on a special ballot.

Eight-hour day. Establishment of a state printing plant. In announcing his decision the president said he felt that the question of his approval ought not to be based on his personal opinion of the document, but upon whether it came within the terms of the enacting act. His personal opinion of the document, the president laughingly said, was "not fit for publication."

Fear United States.

J. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, who went to Russia to investigate a project to tunnel the Behring strait and build a railroad connecting Siberia with Alaska, reports that he found that the Russian government would not grant a concession for the Siberian end of the tunnel, it being regarded by the Russians as undesirable for military reasons.

FRIDAY The 13th

By Thomas W. Lawson

CHAPTER IX.

The governing committee was holding a meeting in its room. Bob rushed in unceremoniously.

"One word, gentlemen," he called. "I have more trades outstanding, both buys and sells; than any other member or house. Before deciding whether to adjourn in an attempt to save the Street, I ask your consideration of this proposition: If the exchange will suspend operations for 30 minutes, and allow me to address the members on the floor, I will agree to buy stocks all around the room, until they have regained at least half their drop—all of it, if possible. I will buy until I have exhausted to the last hundred my fortune of a billion dollars. This should make an adjournment unnecessary. I know that this is a most extraordinary request, but you are confronted with a most extraordinary situation, the most remarkable in the history of the stock exchange. Already, if what they say on the floor is correct, over 200 banks and trust companies throughout the country have gone under, and new failures are being announced every minute. Half the members of this and the Boston and Philadelphia exchanges are insolvent and have closed their doors, or will close them before three o'clock, and the shrinkage in values so far reported runs over fifteen billions. Unless something is done before the close, there will be a similar panic in every exchange and bourse in Europe to-morrow."

The committee instantly voted to lay the proposition before the full board. In another minute the president's gavel sounded, and the floor was still as a tomb. All eyes were fixed on the president. Every man in that great throng knew that upon the announcement they were about to hear, might depend, at least temporarily, the welfare, not only of Wall street, but of the nation, perhaps even of the civilized world. The president spoke:

"Members of the New York Stock Exchange:

"The governing committee instructs me to say that Mr. Robert Brownley has asked that operations be suspended for 30 minutes; in order that he be allowed to address you. Mr. Brownley has agreed, if this request be granted, he will upon resumption of operations purchase a sufficient amount of stock to raise the average price of all active shares at least one-half their total drop—all of it, if possible. He agrees to buy to the limit of his fortune of a billion dollars. I now put Mr. Brownley's request to a vote. All those in favor of granting it will signify the same by saying 'Yes.'"

A mighty roof-lifting "Yes" sounded through the room.

"All those opposed, 'No.'"

There was a deathly hush.

"Mr. Brownley will please speak from this platform, and remember, in 30 minutes to the second, I will sound the gavel for the resumption of business."

Bob Brownley strode to the place just vacated by the president. The crowd was growing larger every minute. The ticker was already hissing a tape biography of this extraordinary situation in brokerage shops, hotels, and banks throughout the country, and in a few minutes the news of it would be in the capitals of Europe. Never before in history did man have such an audience—the whole civilized world. Already arose from Wall, Broad and New streets, which surround the exchange, the hoarse below of the gathering hordes. Before the ticker should announce the resumption of business these would number hundreds of thousands, for the financial district for more than an hour had been a surging mob.

For once at least the much-abused phrase, "He looked the part," could be used in all truthfulness. As Robert Brownley threw back his head and shoulders and faced that crowd of men, some of whom he had hurt, many of whom he had beggared, and all of whom he had tortured, he presented a picture such as a royal lion recently from the jungles and just freed from his cage might have made. Defiance, deference, contempt, and pity all blended in his mien, but over all was an I-am-the-one-you-are-the-many atmosphere of confidence that turned my spinal column into a mercury tube. He began to speak:

"Men of Wall street:

"You have just witnessed a record-breaking slaughter. I have asked permission to talk to you for the purpose of showing you how any member of a great stock exchange may at any time do what I have done today. Weigh well what I am about to say to you. During the last quarter of a century there has grown up in this free and fair land of ours a system by which the few take from the many the results of their labors. The men who take have no more license, from God or man, to take, than have those from whom they sitch. They are not endowed by God with superior wisdom, nor have they performed for their fellow-men any labor or given to them anything of value that entitles them to what they take. Their only license to plunder is their knowledge of the system of trickery and fraud that they themselves have created. No man can gain say this, for on every side is the evidence. Men come into Wall street at sunrise without dollars; before that same sun sets they depart with millions. So all-powerful has grown the system of

by the manipulation of that labor and by turning pebbles into money, he took away from the laborer the money which he had paid them for the labor until all in the land were slaves of the money-maker. These few tricksters said: We will arbitrarily manufacture these chips—stocks. After we have manufactured them, we will sell the world what the world can pay for, and then by the use of the unlimited supply we still have we will win away from the world what it has bought, and repeat the operation, until we have all the wealth, and the people are enslaved. To do this there was one thing besides the manufacturing of the chips—stocks—that was absolutely necessary—a gambling-hell, the working of whose machinery would place a selling value upon such chips; a hell where, after selling the chips, they could be won back. I saw that if these tricksters were to be routed and their 'System' was to be destroyed, it must be through the machinery of this stock exchange. I studied the machinery, and presently I marvelled that men could for so long have been asses.

"From the very nature of stock-gambling it is necessary, absolutely necessary, that it be conducted under certain rules, unchangeable, unbreakable rules, to attempt to change or break which would destroy stock-gambling. The foundation rule, the rule absolutely necessary for the existence of stock-gambling is: Any member of the stock exchange can buy, or sell, between the opening and closing of the exchange as many shares of stock as he cares to. With ber at his mercy and there could be no stock-gambling. When I had worked this out, I saw that while the few tricksters of the 'System' had a perfect device for taking from the people their wealth, I had discovered as perfect a means of taking away from the few the wealth they had secured from the many. With this knowledge came a conviction that my way was as honest as the 'System's,' in fact, more honest than theirs. They took from the innocent, I took from the guilty what had already been dishonestly secured. I determined to put my discovery into practice.

"I might never have done so but for that Sugar panic in which I was robbed of millions by the 'System' through Barry Conant. In that panic the 'System,' with its unlimited resources, fleeced from the people by the arbitrary manufacture of stocks, and by their manipulation did to me what I afterward discovered I could do to them, without any resources other than my right to do business on the floor of this exchange. You saw the outcome, in the second Sugar panic, of my first experiment. In a few minutes I cleared a profit of $10,000,000. I could have made it fifty millions, or one hundred and fifty, but I was not then on familiar terms with my new robber-robbing device, and I had yet a heart. To make this ten millions of money, all that was necessary for me to do was to sell more Sugar than Barry Conant could buy.

STYLES OF 4,000 YEARS AGO.

Tend to Prove There Is Nothing New Under the Sun.

For women archeology assumes a deeply interesting phase in the question which has been raised by Signor Mosso as to styles in dress as they existed 4,000 years ago. Signor Mosso, the eminent authority on ancient Etruria, the Roman Forum, and early Crete, has concentrated his great experience and knowledge on elucidating this bypath of science from his Cretan studies. The general result has been to confirm the old dictum that there is nothing new under the sun. Even the "latest fashions" are antiquated. Signor Mosso finds that 4,000 years ago the ladies of primeval Mycenae wore hats pretty much as they are seen in the showrooms of Paris to-day. They knew what crape trimming was, had tartans before the Scotch, understood the mysteries of corsets lacing in front, short wide sleeves, metal belts, and a style of dress which an imitative nineteenth century, that considered itself original, dubbed "Empire." Their principal colors in robes were orange, yellow, blue and purple, which rather upsets the claim of the Phoenicians to have "discovered" purple.

HAD BORROWED A PAST.

Pittsburg Man's Unique Scheme for Pleasing His Bride.

There is a man in Pittsburg who will be married in a short while, and will occupy the house a few rooms of which he has used during his bachelor days. He takes the greatest pleasure in showing his intimate friends about the place, and is especially delighted at the astonishment they express when his own "den" is reached. He has always been a quiet, studious fellow, but as he fitted the room gives the appearance of the lounging place of a regular rounder. There are racks of long pipes; photographs of actresses are stuck about the chimney glass; a shelf of beer steins runs all the way around the room, and a few feminine gloves, handkerchiefs, and fans are scattered about. "Great Scott, Jack!" the last visitor gasped, "where did you get this outfit, and why?" "Bought out a college fellow," was the complacent reply. "Just think how pleased that dear little girl will be when she sees all this truck and thinks how much wickedness she has won me away from!"—Harper's Weekly.

A Plant Prophet.

There has been found recently in Cuba a strange plant which has extraordinary powers in forecasting not only atmospheric, but seismic disturbances. When these are to occur twigs and leaves perform peculiar movements, each having its definite significance. By observing them weather forecasts can be made from two to seven days ahead, and earthquake forecasts as much as 26 days in advance over an area of 300 square miles. Volcanic eruption and accumulations of fire damp in mines can also be predicted.

Scientific Farming.

A Scottish laird took his new plowman to task for the wavering furrows which were the result of his work. "Your drills are not nearly as straight as those Angus made," he said, severely. "He would not have left such a globe as this." "Angus didn't ken his work," said Tammas, calmly, contemplating his employer with an indulgent gaze. "Ye see, when the drills is crookit the sun gets in on a' sides, an' 'tis then ye get early 'tattie."

IN TOILS FOR FAIR

RESULT OF A PROPOSAL OVER THE 'PHONE.

Why Bangs Is Not as Joyful as an Accepted Man Should Be—Answer Not From His Adorer's One.

Bangs' beautiful blush lighted up Mrs. Prunes' boarding house on every occasion that sentiment was under discussion.

You see, Bangs was in love, love was in Bangs; it penetrated his whole system; he saw and felt nothing else but love.

Bangs hadn't fallen in love; he had risen, and now he was at the top notch; he was balancing on his toe on the top rung, and he found it quite hard to maintain his balance. Yet he was a cool-headed young man—except on the love proposition.

Josephine was her name, and it was enough to hear Bangs pronounce it to know that he loved her passionately.

Among other drawbacks which kept Bangs from declaring his love was that Josephine had a mother. An austere woman, she wasn't passionate over Bangs, because Bangs was only a drygoods salesman. Her husband had been a plumber before Josephine's mother got hold of him and made him raise the price and keep it there.

Several times she had snubbed him, and Bangs went as cheerfully to her house as one does to an icehouse in winter.

One night Bangs worked himself up and was about to pitch into a proposal, when, suddenly, softly, with a swish of skirts, Josephine's mother entered the room and sat down between them. The hot words froze in his mouth, while Josephine's mother was gazing passively through her lorgnette and looking at him as she would have studied a water color in an art gallery.

It was all off that night. Bangs knew it.

Again he tried to slip in a word or two of love edgewise—but—no—Josephine's mother was there.

He didn't know when he could see Josephine alone.

Immersed in his murky thoughts, he sat behind his counter and tried to figure a way out.

A light broke suddenly upon him. Rushing eagerly to the 'phone, he called Josephine's house.

"O, I'm so glad it's you, Josephine. Don't interrupt me. I've something to say and I must say it quickly. I love you, Josephine, I love you. Will you marry me?"

He pressed the receiver to his ear and listened intently for her soft, cooing "Y-y-y-es-s."

Suddenly he slammed the receiver down and looked about like a hunted animal.

"Well, I'll be blamed," he gasped, as soon as he could. "I thought it was Josephine and, there, it was her mother. What shall I do?"

All Bangs did was to blush and bite his finger nails. In fact, that was about all there was left for him to do now.

Time and Sex Have Changed.

Men nowadays are ashamed—absolutely ashamed—of tendering to women any of the little delicate attentions and courtesies that in the past endeared them to womanhood. A man now raises his hat to a woman not as a tribute to the sex, a sign of respect and observance, but more as the enforced fulfillment of an irksome duty. Where are the graceful curves and flourishes of the hat, the step back, the deep bow and courtly smile of the seventeenth, nay even the eighteenth century? Then it was a pleasure to meet a man in the street; one felt one's sway of sex. Who is now inclined to acknowledge a hideous smirk and a grudging touch of a hat brim?—London Judy.

Grateful Sparrow.

A three-year-old boy killed a snake which was in the act of robbing a song sparrow's nest. Ever since then, whenever he goes into the garden, the father sparrow flies to him, sometimes alighting on his head and at other times on his shoulder, all the time pouring out a tumultuous song of praise and gratitude. It accompanies him about the garden and never leaves him until he reaches the gate. The gratitude which could change the timid, wild nature of a bird in such manner must have had its origin in a feeling whose depths can be fathomed only in the psychical habitudes of the most refined of human beings.

Justifiable Inferences.

Farmer Pasterlot (discussing literature with the new boarder)—"Ther wuz one book that my son Bill thought a heap of, when he wuz t' hum—all about swattin' an' biffin' an' blood." "One of those swash-buckler romances, I presume. Do you recall where the scene was laid?" "Well, I took it t' be a Jersey story, from the name of it. 'Twuz called 'The Three Musketeers.'—Puck.

"I Will Buy Until I Have Exhausted My Fortune of a Billion Dollars."

oppression that single men take in a single lifetime all the savings of a million of their fellows. To-day the people, 80,000,000 strong, are slaving for the few, and their pay is their board and keep. I saw this robbery. I felt the robbers' scourge. I sought the secret. I found it here, here in this gambling-hell. I found that the stocks we bought and sold were mere gambling chips; that the man who had the biggest stack could beat his opponent off the board; that his opponent was the world, because all men directly or indirectly played the stock-gambling game. To win, it was not necessary to have unlimited chips. If chips were bought and sold, on equal terms, by all, no one could buy more than he could pay for, and the game, although still a gambling one, would be fair. A few master tricksters, dollar magicians, long ago seeing this condition, invented the system by which the people are ruthlessly plundered. The system they invented was simple, so simple that for a quarter of a century it has remained undiscovered by the world at large—and even by you, who profess to be experts. No man thought that a free people who had intended to allow all the equal use of every avenue for the attainment of wealth, and who intended to provide for the safeguarding of wealth after it was secured, could be such dolts as to allow themselves to be robbed of all their accumulated wealth by a device as simple as that by which children play at blindman's-buff. The process was no more complex than that employed by the robber of old, who took the pebbles from the beach, marked them money, and with the money bought the labor of his fellows, and this rule in force his buying and selling cannot be restricted to the amount he can take and pay for, or deliver and receive pay for, because there is not money enough in the world to pay for what under this same rule can be bought and sold in a single session. This is because there have been arbitrarily created by these few tricksters many times more stocks than there is money in existence. The amount of stock that any man can sell in one session of the exchange is limited only by the amount that he can offer for sale, and he can offer any amount his tongue can utter; and he is not compelled and cannot be compelled to show his ability to deliver what he has offered for sale until after he has finished selling, which is the following day. You will ask as I did: Can this be possible? you will find the answer I found. It is so, and must continue to be so, or there will be no stock-gambling. Mark me, for this statement is weighted with the greatest import to you all. A member of this exchange can sell as many shares of stock at one session as he cares to offer. If any attempt is made at the session he sells at to compel him either before or after he offers to sell to show his ability to deliver, away goes the stock-gambling structure, because from the very nature of the whole structure of stock-gambling the same shares are sold and resold many times in each session and the seller cannot know, much less show, that he can deliver until he first adjusts with the buyer and the buyer cannot adjust until after he has become such by buying. If a rule were made compelling a seller to show his responsibility before selling, every member would have every other mem-

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by F. A. Sigler, druggist, 50c.

That thousand per cent dividend of the Standard Oil Company makes the common get-rich-quick concerns look like 30 cents.

Pain anywhere, pain in the head, painful periods, neuralgia, toothache all pains can be promptly stopped by a thoroughly safe Little Pink Candy tablet, known by Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets. Pain simply means congestion—undue blood pressure at the point where pain exists. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets quickly equalize this unnatural blood pressure, and pain immediately departs. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. and get a free trial package. Large box 25 cts.—Druggists.

There will be a substantial raise in the state tax in December according to the apportionment of the counties by the auditor general. The rate last year for the state tax was $1.95 for $1,000 valuation and this year it has been raised to $2.81 on each $1,000 valuation.

A weak Stomach, causing dyspepsia a weak heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak stomach nerves or weak heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by All Dealers.

Nervous gentlemen in Wall street, apprehensive railroad kings the Standard Oil "malefactors of great wealth," and others who view with alarm the presidents assaults upon lawlessness in high and low places, stand in fear lest he be nominated again. This ought to be enough to prove that he is the man for the place another four years.

When Congress opens in December the salary of the members will be boosted to $7,500 per year. Living is high in Washington, members claim, but so it is everywhere and assuredly congressmen could live on $5,000 a year, the old pay, more easily than the average citizen can earn enough to meet the meagre expense of living in the modest home occupied by himself and family.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by F. A. Sigler, Druggist, 25c.

Citation of Probate Court to be Served on Non-Residents Owners of Land.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, }
COUNTY OF LIVINGSTON, } ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the said county of Livingston held at the Probate Office in the village of Howell, on the 26th day of September, A. D. 1907. Present, Hon. Arthur A. Montague, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the application of the county drain commissioner of the county of Livingston in said state for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners to determine the necessity for a drain known as the Anderson Drain and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purpose thereof and the just compensation to be made therefor. Whereas on the 26th day of September, A. D. 1907, an application in writing was made to the Court by the said County Drain Commissioner for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners to determine the necessity for said drain and for the taking of private property for use and benefit of the public for the purpose thereof and the just compensation to be made therefor and whereas this Court did on the 26th day of September, A. D. 1907, upon a due examination of such application and of all the proceedings therefor taken in the presence and did thereupon by an order entered therein appoint Saturday, the 19th day of October, A. D. 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day as the time at the office of the Judge of Probate in the village of Howell in said county as the place when and where the hearing upon such application would be had and did then and there order that all persons whose lands were to be traversed by such proposed drain and who had not released the right of way and all damages on account thereof to appear at the time and place designated and to be heard with respect to such application if they so desire and to show cause if any there be why said application should not be granted and whereas there is now on file with this court the description and survey of such proposed drain from which said description and survey it appears that the lands to be traversed by such drain and the commencement, general course and terminus of such drain are as follows to-wit:

Famous Lilac Tree.
 Chief among the many objects of interest in the gardens of Easton Lodge, Dunmow, the residence of the Earl and Countess of Warwick, is the magnificent lilac tree which occupies a conspicuous position on the terrace. This tree is the finest specimen of its kind in the United Kingdom. It has a circumference of 120 feet and a height of sixteen feet, and it has so dense a growth and blooms so profusely that when in flower it forms a huge bouquet of lilac blossoms.
 The lilac is that commonly known as the Persian and described by the botanists as the Chinese, but it is not a native of either Persia or China, but was raised in the Rouen botanic garden in 1795 by the hybridization of the true Persian lilac and the common lilac of British gardens.
 It was of noble proportions at the middle of the last century and produced such a magnificent display of blossoms that in the flowering season Viscount Maynard, Lady Warwick's grandfather, used to make a special journey from London to enjoy the beauty and fragrance of the flowers.—Gardener's Magazine.

Luncheon in Germany.
 I was told at 8:30 it was time for luncheon, writes an American fin-smith working in Leipzig. On stating that I did not care to eat, he told me that it would be better if I did no work, so I sat down for half an hour and watched the others. At noon we had an hour and a half and at 4 o'clock fifteen minutes for lunch.
 It may be of interest to some readers to know what the German eats. For his first breakfast he generally has a milk roll and a cup of coffee. The second breakfast is almost always a slice of bread with lard or goose oil, a piece of sausage or cheese and a bottle of beer. For dinner he has two slices of bread as above, with a herring or large green pickle, cheese or sausage and another bottle of beer. For lunch another bottle of beer and a milk roll. For supper soup and potatoes.
 This is the general variety of foods we had for the four months I worked in that shop, and they had it day in and day out.—New York World.

When He Enjoyed Life.
 Among the tombs near the old Arlington mansion on the Chesapeake is the mausoleum of John Custis, the father of Martha Washington's first husband. It bears this suggestive inscription:
 Beneath this Marble Tomb lies the Body of the Honorable John Custis, Esq. Of the City of Williamsburg and Parish of Burton Formerly of Hungers Parish on the Eastern Shore of Virginia and the County of Northampton the Place of his Nativity. Aged 71 years, and yet lived but seven years.
 Which was the space of time he kept Bachelor's House at Arlington On the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

It is said that before his marriage Custis did have a free and easy life. His marriage was of importance to his country, for he was the progenitor of several leading families. One would like to know Mrs. Custis' version of the life they had together, which he regarded as unworthy to be called living.—Youth's Companion.

Finding a Grave With an Egg.
 The Miau-tsze, a little known tribe in Asia, are very superstitious about death and will not bury a man until they have first tested the ground with an egg. This operation is very curious. While the body is being prepared for burial a number of Miau-tsze, including the male relatives of the deceased, go out to the appointed spot bearing a large basket of eggs. Stooping down, one of the natives lets an egg drop softly on the ground. If it breaks it is considered an ill omen, and another spot is selected. In this way the party often wanders about for hours, breaking eggs over the ground until they finally strike a place where the shell does not crack.

Java's Fire Island.
 One of the greatest wonders of Java, "the fire island," a large island of boiling mud, is nearly two miles in circumference, and in the center immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling. Like great black timbers thrust forth and then suddenly withdrawn by a giant's hand. Besides the phenomena of the columns, there are two gigantic bubbles near the western edge, which fill up like huge balloons and explode on an average three times per minute.

Cause For Hurry.
 "I understand they were married in haste."
 "Yes; they told the minister to hurry because there was only a little gasoline left in their automobile, and they were twenty miles from home."—New York Town Topics.

Plenty of Them.
 Jockley—You're right. Most people worry over what they haven't got, but I know certain people who worry because of what they have. Conkley—That so? What have they? Jockley—Nothing.—Philadelphia Press.

"I had been a sufferer for a number of years with Lumbago and rheumatism in my arms and legs, and tried all the remedies that I could procure from medical works, and also consulted with a number of the best physicians, but found that they gave me no relief, and I was
"S-5-DROPS" I shall prescribe it in my practice for rheumatism and kindred diseases."

DR. C. L. GATES
Hempstead, Minn., writes:
"I have suffered for several years with rheumatism, and I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but I have

Hard Times in Kansas.
The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of to day; although citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says, "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could not find relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure." The safest and most re-

"Yo' doan' say so?" asked the other negro incredulously.
"Shore thing!" responded the first darky. "But de mos' wonderful part was dat it was only a wooden bird too!"—Harper's Weekly.

Hard Times in Kansas.
The old days of grasshoppers and

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indige themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you over load it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help, it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this.
It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat.

Rheumatism
I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will tighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible.
But I can now surely kill the pains and paus of this deplorable disease.
In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water.
And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We will, and in confidence recommend

TIRED BACKS.

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headaches, dizziness, languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S. A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the loins and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

On Wit and Humor.

Man is the only animal that laughs and weeps, for he is the only animal that is struck with the difference between what things are and what they ought to be. We weep at what thwarts or exceeds our desires in serious matters; we laugh at what only disappoints our expectations in trifles. We shed tears from sympathy with real and necessary distress; as we burst into laughter from want of sympathy with that which is unreasonable and unnecessary, the absurdity of which provokes our spleen or mirth, rather than serious reflections on it.—William Hazlitt.

A Point of View.

The new steamer City of _____ was laid up for repairs and one of the rickety old-timers of the line was sailing in her place. A passenger who was somewhat irritated by the fact remarked to another, an Irishman, by the way: "The City of _____ always gets in at two in the morning and this old tub never gets in before six."

The Irishman thought for a moment and replied: "It's all right. The distance is just the same and we get a longer sail for the money."

New and Liberal Homestead Regulations in

WESTERN CANADA

New Districts Now Opened for Settlement

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Some of the choicest lands in the grain growing belts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been opened for settlement under the Revised Homestead Regulations of Canada. There is a number of homesteads of 160 acres each are now available. The new regulations make it possible for entry to be made by proxy, the opportunity that many in the United States have been waiting for. Any member of a family may make entry for any other member of the family, who may be entitled to make entry for himself or herself. Entry may now be made before the Agent or Sub-Agent of the District by proxy, on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

"Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 5 and 30, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less."

The fee in each case will be $10.00. Churches, schools and public buildings, healthy climate, splendid crops and good laws. Grain-growing and cattle raising principal industries.

SPOT CASH

FOR SOLDIERS' HOMESTEAD RIGHTS

All soldiers who served ninety days or more in the federal army or navy between 1861-1865, and who made homestead entries for less than 160 acres on or before June 22, 1874, means that an additional right is due someone and that it can be sold to me for spot cash, no matter whether patent issued or not. If soldier is dead, his heirs are entitled. The right descends as follows: First, to the widow; and second, to the legal heirs, or next of kin. Talk to old soldiers, the widows, children, or next of kin, about this class of additional rights. Get busy right now and find some of your relatives who made homestead entries in early days. It's easy money. For further information address Comrade W. E. Moses, 81 California Building, Denver, Colo.

NELLIE'S LESSON

By VIVIAN CLAUDE

(Copyright, by Joseph H. Bowles.)

She gets up that morning with a dull headache, a miserable sense of heaviness and nervous unrest, common enough, doubtless, to young mothers who have not yet succeeded in adjusting their endurance to the various burdens of life.

She goes out into the pleasant, cozy kitchen; Charley has already built the fire in the range, and has gone on into the large shed room they call his "work-shop," where he is occupying his spare hours in constructing a set of furniture, from original patterns, for a spare bedroom Nellie is planning to arrange.

"Well, he may feel fresh and lively and like working," thinks Nellie, half-sullenly, as she listens to the cheerful, mellow whistle with which he keeps time to the music of his tools. "He slept like a rock all night. I don't suppose he ever guesses how little sleep or rest I got—or cares, either, maybe."

Which last is clearly unjust; and Charley Burt is one of the best husbands in the whole world, as Nellie herself is often heard to say.

She goes mechanically about her morning duties, preparing the breakfast she knows Charley likes best, and putting up a dainty dinner in his neat lunch-basket—for he does not come home till night—all the time hoping against hope that baby will not waken till she gets some of the most needful work done.

The very sunshine falls to cheer her with its brightness.

Breakfast over, he says cheerfully: "Nell, I wish you'd sew a button or two on my coat; I've missed some this day or so."

His tone is the furthest possible from a hint of fault-finding.

She says: "Yes, Charley," very quietly; but lifts the offending garment with a spiteful jerk; and goes into the bedroom to select from their box on her work-table some suitable buttons and the wherewithal to apply them. But just as she turns away with full hands, those wicked buttons escape from her hold, and with the natural perversity that animates all things some days, they cease not their rolling till they have bestowed themselves far under the dressing-case, quite beyond reach. A hasty exclamation springs to her lips, but is bravely repressed, while the vexed frown deepens. Losing temper and patience together, she puts forth all her strength and lifts the dressing-case clear away from the wall, rolling it aside while she picks up the fugitive buttons.

"Say, Nell, hold on there," calls Charley, observing this exploit through the open door. "Why don't you let me help you? You ought not to do such things; you know you'll hurt yourself."

"Oh, well, it doesn't matter," she returns, desperately, "I'm sure to be worked to death, somehow; it may as well be one thing as another."

For a moment honest Charley looks at his young wife with eyes and mouth open; never has he heard such words from her before. In that moment it seems to dawn upon him for the first time how much sharper is the outline of the still pretty face, how pale the once pink cheeks, what dark lines under the blue eyes, how tired a look about the child-like mouth. He sits down suddenly, in the completeness of the shock.

"Nell," he says, presently, "if you are working too hard, why don't you have a young girl to help, or put out something—the washing, for instance? It isn't absolutely necessary that you should do everything; you mustn't overwork, if we don't make up that last payment this year."

"I shall do all my own work—unless I'm sick—until we are quite out of debt and have laid something by," is the firm reply—she is somewhat calmer now. "Didn't I agree to, when we laid our plans at first?"

"But not unless you are able, Nell; I won't have you over-work; you are not looking very well, it seems to me."

"Of course I am able," stubbornly, yet struggling to keep back the weak tears at these words of sympathy. Of course I am well; what should ail me? And as for what I do, you never see me doing much, do you?" with somewhat bitter emphasis.

She gives him the coat, proceeds to clear away the breakfast things, but just then baby Carl's shrill notes ascend.

"That baby!" she exclaims, with no very tender infection; and dropping cups and saucers, she hastens to relieve his sufferings. Charley has his coat on by this time, and is about to start; he has a 15-minute's ride to his work. He steps into the bedroom and stoops over little Carl.

"Come, Nell, my girl," he calls, cheerily, "fetch us the good-by kiss."

"Oh, I'm busy," replies Nell, tartly, from the depths of the closet where she is selecting baby's clothes, "kiss Carl instead, that will do as well. I don't doubt you think a good deal more of him than you do of me anyway," with perversely bitter intonation.

If she thinks he will hasten to her and coax her out of her pet, she is greatly mistaken; he is not used to any such moods in his bright little helpmate, so does not know how to take them. There is a sudden silence, then she faces round just in time to see him give baby Carl one long kiss, and he turns away mute and hurt, and is gone. She hesitates a moment, too proud to call to him even then, till at last her heart conquers and she runs after him; but it is too late; he has passed out of the side-door, gone down the walk and is just stepping on board the waiting horse-car.

How heavily the day passes after this, only a tender-hearted woman mastered by the same failing can know. Never before has she spoken such words to the husband she loves so dearly; never before since their wedding-day have they parted for even a few hours without a kiss and a loving word.

There has been a very happy marriage, too, having in it all the elements of prosperity and content. Charley Burt is a house-carpenter by trade, a first-rate mechanic, sober, industrious, earning good wages, and constantly advancing at his work. They have a cozy little home, a pretty cottage in the suburbs.

To-day she goes about the pretty rooms tidying everything as usual, and for the first time takes no pride or pleasure in them.

She gets through her routine-work somehow, doing all she thinks of or finds time for, because to leave anything undone would only add to the suffering of a mind ill at ease; but there is a heavy weight of misery at her heart.

Will night ever come—and bring her Charley home? At last everything is done; she has prepared a most inviting supper for her "good man," saying to herself:

"I'll take baby Carl and run down to the gate and meet him when he comes—then we'll kiss and make up."

Still he does not come, and it is quite past his usual hour. She sits patiently holding her boy, her face growing all the time more white and drawn and anxious.

"Oh, how I wish I had said good-by just as ever to-day!" she whispers for the twentieth time; then as the slow minutes creep along, "I am afraid—oh, so afraid something has happened," for though he is sometimes a little late, it is very seldom that his time of coming varies a half-hour—and now it is two hours, and her vague presentiments of evil are growing to a dreadful certainty.

She gets up and walks the floor, tired out as she is; another hour passes, and in the extremity of her distress and terror she is about to run across to her nearest neighbor, when a muffled tramping approaches and stops—"the feet of them that bear him are at his gates."

It seems to Nellie Burt that she dies a dozen deaths in that moment, while she stands rooted to the spot and sees them bring in the man she loves, senseless, bleeding, broken; then she rouses herself, and it is her ready hand that arranges the bed and smooths the pillow under the poor unconscious head.

Now, dead—no—that would have been a punishment greater than poor Nellie deserves, and more than she could bear; but there has been an accident—a scaffolding has fallen, and among the half-dozens men killed or injured Charley Burt has fared best of any—only a broken arm, a dislocated shoulder, and some cuts and bruises. He has been well cared for, too, and only conveyed to his home when the attending surgeon has decided that there are no internal injuries, and that he can safely be moved.

But the dread "might have been" stands out before her then so clear and plain that it leaves its impress on her very soul; and in all the rest of her life it helps to teach her the great lesson of patience and self-control.

So matters might have been much worse, after all; as it is, Nellie Burt's bad day ends with a perfect reconciliation between husband and wife, and a most grateful thanksgiving to God from one tender heart that she has been spared that sharpest pang of all—the utter misery of knowing that for this world her penitence has come too late.

TRAMP PROVES A HERO.

Loses Sandwich, Rescues Boys, Gets $10 and a Suit of Clothes.

Centerville, N. J.—Certainly heroism is measured by the sacrifice the hero willingly makes. So what greater hero than a tramp who dropped a sandwich he was eating and took a bath to save two boys from drowning. John Phelps, a farmer near here, the boys' grateful father, offered the tramp a good home and good wages as a farm hand.

"Anything," said the tramp, shuddering, "anything but work."

William Phelps, 13 years, and Charles, 11, went swimming in a basin of the Morris canal near their home. Charles dived, struck his head on a sunken canal boat, and floated, nearly senseless. William jumped to his rescue. Charles seized the brother and, struggle as he might, William could not free himself. The brothers were sinking the second time when around a bend of the road jumped the hero hobo. He was devouring a sandwich a farmer's wife had just given him, and wondering, probably, where his next meal was coming from.

"Dusty Roads" saw the brothers writhing and choking in the water. The sandwich fell in the dust, and, without as much as throwing off his ragged coat, the tramp ran to the canal, jumped in, and dragged the boys ashore. Mr. Phelps gave "Weary Willie" ten dollars, a suit of clothes, a hat, and a pair of shoes.

"Where are you going?" asked Mrs. Phelps, pityingly, as the tramp took up his journey.

"Nowhere," said he, dreamily.

Nicknames of American Cities.

A purely western designation is that of Duluth as the Zenith City of the Upper Seas, given to it from its situation at the head of the waters of Lake Superior. Another city which derives its name from its situation is North Adams, Mass., called the Tunnel City, from the fact that it is at one end of that "great bore," the Hoosac tunnel, which was so many years in course of construction until its length of about four miles was completed. Pekin, Ill., rejoices in the title of the Celestial City, from the fact that it was named for the capital of the Chinese empire. Racine, Wis., is known as the Bell City, from the nature of the articles made there. The Shoe City is Lowell, Mass., for a like reason, as is Holyoke, in the same state, the Paper City.

Beak Too Much for Her.

Minnie was a nice, well-behaved little girl, but she was "awfully particular" about what she ate. Of course her mother tried every means to break her of this habit. So when she saw Minnie eyeing the egg before her suspiciously, she said, rather sharply: "There's nothing the matter with the egg, my child; you must eat all of it." Minnie said not a word, but resignedly commenced to test the contents of the egg. Presently she appealed to her mother. "Mamma," said she; "must I really eat the beak, too?"

Hard Fate of Aged Paupers.

A census was taken recently of the St. John's road workhouse, London, which showed that the number of inmates was 1,613, and of these 1,159 were over 60 years old. The particulars: Between 60 and 70, 486; between 70 and 80, 511; between 80 and 90, 159; between 90 and 100, 11. There was also an inmate aged 101.

The Piratical Flea.

There is no creeping, crawling or flying insect which can approach the pestiferous, piratical flea in strength. Size considered, he is the Samson of the insect kingdom, and his bites will make a lazy man get a pay-day movement on him.

In a Bad Way.

Wealth without religion, says Cardinal Gibbons, is an unsatisfactory condition. But what is the condition of the man who has neither?

HOME-MADE REMEDY

INEXPENSIVE AND EASILY PREPARED BY ANYONE.

is Said to Promptly Relieve Backache and Overcome Kidney Trouble and Bladder Weakness Though Harmlless and Pleasant to Take.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement in the following simple prescription; if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known authority, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

NO NEED FOR WORDS.

Brief Pantomime Told Everything to the Onlooker.

Harrison Grey Flske discussed, at a dinner in New York, the art of acting.

"I believe," said Mr. Flske, "in subtlety and restraint. A nod, a shake of the head, a silent pause—these things are often more effective than the most violent yelling and ranting.

"Life is like that, subtle and silent. What, for instance, could be more expressive than this scene, a scene without a spoken word, that I once witnessed in the country?"

"An undertaker stood on a corner near a noble mansion. He elevated his brows hopefully and inquiringly as a physician came from the house. The physician, compressing his lips, shook his head decidedly and hurried to his carriage. Then the undertaker with a sigh passed on."

FURIOUS HUMOR ON CHILD.

Itching, Bleeding Sores Covered Body—Nothing Helped Her—Cuticura Cures Her in Five Days.

"After my granddaughter of about seven years had been cured of the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious itching and painful eruption all over her body, especially the upper part of it, forming watery and bleeding sores, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered a great deal and for three weeks we nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help. We tried the Cuticura Remedies and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, had been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. Mrs. F. Rufenacht, R. F. D. No. 3, Bakersfield, Cal., June 25 and July 20, 1906."

Full of Knots.

The lanky tramp removed his tattered hat and displayed his intellectual brow.

"Ah, lady," he confided, "I have brains to burn. There is nothing I like better than to tackle knotty problems."

The busy housewife reached for the ax.

"Indeed!" she said. "Well, go down to the woodpile. You will find that last load the most knotty problem you ever tackled during your career."

Ten thousand of the greatest faults in our neighbors are of less consequence to us than one of the smallest in ourselves.—Whately.

What, indeed?
A duchess requiring a lady's maid had an interview with one, to whom, after having examined her appearance, she said, "Of course you will be able to dress my hair for me?"
"Oh, yes," replied the girl; "it never takes me more than half an hour to dress a lady's hair."
"Half an hour, my child?" exclaimed the duchess in accents of terror. "And what on earth, then, should I be able to do with myself all the remainder of the morning?"—Dundee Advertiser.

Trying the Wrong Man.

An unusual verdict was rendered by the jury in a case tried in a California town a good many years ago. The question was as to the ownership of several head of cattle which the defendant was accused of having stolen from the plaintiff. As the case proceeded and different witnesses gave their evidence, it became apparent to all listeners that the defendant was an innocent man. When it came time for the jury to retire to consider their verdict, they did so, but returned to the courtroom in a few moments. The foreman looked the judge straight in the eye and said with a drawl and twang which betrayed his New England origin:

"Judge, we find the plaintiff guilty."
"The court is not trying the plaintiff, but the defendant," said his honor hastily, and the matter being explained, the foreman was at length induced to express the jury's opinion that the defendant was not guilty.

"Howsomever," added the foreman solemnly, "pears to me we're considering the wrong man, your honor!"

Holy Land a World Center.

It used to be a fancy that the Holy Land was the center of the world. In a sense not then meant it was indeed central. It occupied a strategic position. Three continents converge here—all the continents known as the ancients—Asia, Africa and Europe. Contiguous to Palestine on the south lies Egypt and on the north Syria. Or, taking a wider view, on one side of it were India, Persia, Assyria and Babylonia, while on the other side of it were Egypt, Greece and Rome. A babe among giants the land of Jesus was indeed little among the geographical tribes; but, like a babe, it was monarch of the household of lands.

From its central vantage tiny Palestine saw through the march of centuries the procession of these mighty empires—Assyrian, Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek and Roman, being itself during much of the time a center of influence and determining force that have helped form the character and history of the civilized world.—Exchange.

A Clash of Prayers.

Maggie, with her fair face and blond hair, and Nina, with dusky skin and kinky wool, had played together at mud pies and had swung on the same gate ever since they could remember, for Nina's mammy was Maggie's nurse, says the Housekeeper. They were now seven years old. Maggie loved Nina in spite of her color, yet she had a feeling that her friend deserved to be white, so she added to her prayer each night:

"Please, God, make Nina white."

As the weeks went by and Nina remained unchanged Maggie felt that her petition needed re-enforcement, so she confided in Nina, begging her to pray for the greatly desired bleaching. But Nina in surprise looked at Maggie with wide open eyes and exclaimed: "Me? No, stree. Fo' de Lawd, Maggie, I don't want to be no white child, an' I's jes' prayin' with all my might fer you to come black!"

A Rebuff.

"Do you think your father would like me as a son-in-law?"
"Yes, I believe he would."
"Oh, joy! I!"
"Papa and I never agree about anything, you know."

Feminine Nerves.

There are nervous women; there are hypernervous women. But women so nervous that the continual rustle of a silk skirt makes them nervous—no, there are no women so nervous as that!

Erros of vision may be corrected where no other means will combat it.—Joffe.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Milford fair this week.

Better weather for ducks than beans.

We have heard no complaint this season of dry cisterns.

John Lynch landed several pickerel from the mill pond Saturday, one weighing 6½ pounds.

A large town clock was installed in the Glazier building at Chelsea the past week. It will strike the hour on a chime of four bells.

Janitor work keeps Jeff Parker busy these days and he will be more so as the season lengthens. He is janitor of the school, opera house and M. E. church.

Our readers who desire to take the afternoon train east, want to come earlier than before as a change went into effect Sunday night and that train leaves here now at 4:38.

The Fowlerville fair people put the dates of their fair this year several weeks earlier than usual so as to avoid bad weather and there has not been a worse week than last when the meeting was held. However Thursday was a fine day and the attendance was large.

A woman in a neighboring town made the clerk of a store turn the wrapper of a package on which was the advertisement of the firm in glowing letters. She said she did not propose to be a walking advertisement for any firm, that if they wanted to advertise let them use newspapers.

In the game law item that is going the rounds of the state papers, the DISPATCH included, the time for quail is given as Oct. 15 to Nov. 30. We have since heard that the season for quail has been closed for three or five years and warn our readers to make sure of the law before bagging any birds.

The North American Development Co., which is along the Haron river, has added two new purchases. The company has bought the Butler and Clark farms near Hamburg, showing that they intend to cover the territory from Rawsonville to Hamburg. Not until all water rights and flowage rights are secured will the dams be put in the different points. It will mean a big industrial boom in this section.—Chelsea Tribune.

A man in Milford is going to make a business of raising squabs, mushrooms and ginseng. He already has harvested about 100 pounds of ginseng root, which when dried, will make about 30 pounds and is worth from $5.50 to $7 per lb. His ginseng bed is 5 feet wide and 80 long and has been set out three years. This is a good yield for so young plants and will continue to get much better each year.
