Will Print Great Story

We have an announcement extraordinary to make to our readers. Within the very near future we will run in the Dispatch the first installment of Harry King Tootle's great story, "The Daughter of David Kerr," and will print the entire story serially.

This is a most unusual piece of fiction. It is the story of the daughter of a corrupt political boss. She returns to him from school and he carefully keeps from her the knowledge of his political activities. She falls in love with the young editor who is her father's enemy. Of course love and right triumph, but in the untangling of the threads the author gives the readers an insight into those economic and social questions that are stirring the public conscience today as never before.

It is a story of the present moment. Start with the first installment and let us know what you think of it. It costs something to secure the rights of such a feature as this and we like to know that it is appreciated.

Another New Law

Under a recent act of the Michigan state legislature, every organization of whatsoever description entering into a partnership of any kind must file a regular form of certificate with the county clerk under oath as to the membership of the corporation, where doing business, the term of life of the partnership, and other data including the names of those entering into a co-partnership contract.

All persons contemplating any such co-partnership should procure a blank from the county clerk, and make their returns as early as possible.

Any persons entering into any such co-partnership, and failing to comply with this act, will be considered guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to a fine of not less than $10, or imprisonment in the county jail for a term covering each day the partnership exists without making sworn returns.

Annual Picnic

Wednesday, Jackson's Grove, south of town, was filled with people who come there annually to attend the St. Mary's Catholic Picnic. A good time is an assured thing as has been evidenced in the past and this year was no exception to the general rule.

At the picnic grounds a bountiful meal was prepared and served by the ladies of the parish.

After each and every one had partaken of the sumptuous repast, good fellowship couldn't help but make itself felt and even held out its hand to strangers in glad welcome. Speeches, sports and a ball-game between Pinckney and Chelsea topped off the day at the grounds and in the evening young and old attended the dance held at the opera house.

The result of the ball-game, and also the amount of the proceeds, will be published in next week's issue as they came too late for the edition this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Morgan, Jas. Morgan and Kate Morgan of Detroit spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. W. Harris.

Local News

John Tiplady is visiting relatives in Leasing.

Harold Swarthroat spent last week in Lansing and Jackson.

Miss Bernardine Lynch spent the week end with relatives at Gregory.

Miss Nellie Bennett of Howell is visiting at the home of W. W. Ballard.

Mrs. Chas. Fields of Whitmore Lake spent last Thursday at Wm. Dunning's.

Only three days left to secure those great bargains at Monks 20 per cent off sale on Men's furnishings. Read adv. on inside page.

A 200 pound weight found on Monks hill several days ago. Owner can have same by calling at this office and paying for this notice.

Paul Miller is now Pinckney's only drayman, having purchased the dray and business of A. Alexander. Paul is a hustler and will make good.

Lost, Saturday, August 15, a ladies gold set ring on the streets in or near Pinckney. Valuable as a keepsake. Reward if returned to this office.

There will be a meeting of the Putnam Township Board on the Gardner and Bates road, Saturday August 23, 1913, at one o'clock sharp. All those interested in the straightening of the above road are requested to be present. By Order of the Township Board.

The commercial club of Stockbridge recently held a picnic at Stillsonburg and notwithstanding the fact that over 400 attended, the newspaper of that village gave it a four inch writeup. The Pinckney Dispatch did better than that and gave it over a column.—South Lyon Herald.

In the account of a society wedding at Caro, the Adviser editor wrote, "The young people begin married life under the most suspicious circumstances." The compositor got it "suspicious circumstances," the proof-reader didn't see the error, and after the issue of July 25 was out, the editor and his force felt like taking to the tall timber.

As long as the world goes around there will be some men who will be able to tell you how to run your business; women will be able to see the faults of their neighbors while faultless themselves; the weather will be either too hot or too cold, too wet or too dry; women will continue to get off street cars backwards; ice will continue to freeze with the slippery side up; the sun will continue to rise in the east and set in the west and the dissatisfied man will continue to be able to fill the public offices better than the man who holds the office.

Miss Ruth Frost is visiting relatives in Detroit.

Katherine Bogan of Peoria, Ill. is visiting Mary Lynch.

Mary Graham is the guest of Alice and Kathleen Roche.

Mrs. Eliza Briggs of Howell is visiting relatives here this week.

LITERAL IN HIS THEOLOGY

Darky Preacher's Humorous Comment on Biblical Text As He Understood Its Meaning.

Of old the right of individual private interpretation of the scriptures was not accorded to the laity. Only the priests or preachers were authorized to say what was meant by the sacred text. That has all been changed, and no man will now be expelled from the most orthodox church for believing that Balaam's palace mule did not really address his fellow citizens of Judea on the political issues of the day, or considering that the statement of the sun's standing still at the order of Captain Joshua was an illustrative allegory and not the record of a frozen fact.

This advance in theology is illustrated by the story of the darky preacher who delivered a sermon from the text, "These eight did Milcah bear."

"Muffrinds," said he, "you is singularly blessed by de Lawd in dis generation. If you wants some milk you done goes to youah cow, and at one milk you gets enough of de laceriferous fluid foh eight people. In de olden times of which de Bible speaks it took eight folks to milk a bear, en I specs dey gets mighty little milk at dat."—Los Angeles Times.

He Meant Leonard.

Leonard W. Smith, a plumber's supply dealer in Passaic, left home Thursday evening, telling his wife he would be delayed returning. About one o'clock yesterday morning a man entered the house. Mrs. Smith thought it was her husband, but when she got no answer to her call she left her bed to investigate.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded.

"Oh, go to sleep—I'm Charley," was the answer.

And then "Charley" fled with $10 worth of silverware.—New York American.

Misunderstood.

She was a plump widow, with two charming daughters. She had been a "relic" just a year, and was beginning to wear her "weeds" lightly. All the same, when the new curate called upon her she sighed:

"Ah! I feel the loss of my poor, dear husband very much. I never have any appetite for anything now."

The curate was all sympathy and, in the endeavor to cheer her by pointing out what a comfort to her daughters must be, replied:

"I can quite understand that, but you are solaced in—"

"S-I-r-r!" Interrupted the indignant lady. "Allow me to inform you that I am not laced at all."

So Like the Summer Girl.

"What kind of an engagement ring would you prefer, darling?"

"Well, they generally give me—I mean—oh, I am so confused—yours is such perfect taste, Harry, that I leave it all to you."

Paw Knows Everything.

Willie—Paw, what is a secret?
Paw—Anything two women do not know, my son.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

AN OLD NURSE

Persuaded Doctor to Drink Postum.

An old faithful nurse and an experienced doctor, are a pretty strong combination in favor of Postum, instead of tea and coffee.

The doctor said:
"I began to drink Postum five years ago on the advice of an old nurse."

"During an unusually busy winter, between coffee, tea and overwork, I became a victim of insomnia. In a month after beginning Postum, in place of tea and coffee, I could eat anything and sleep as soundly as a baby."

"In three months I had gained twenty pounds in weight. I now use Postum altogether instead of tea and coffee; even at bedtime with a soda cracker or some other tasty biscuit."

"Having a little tendency to Diabetes, I used a small quantity of saccharine instead of sugar, to sweeten with. I may add that today tea or coffee are never present in our house and very many patients, on my advice, have adopted Postum as their regular beverage."

"In conclusion I can assure anyone that, as a refreshing, nourishing and nerve-strengthening beverage, there is nothing equal to Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.
Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future. "There's a Reason" for Postum.

WITH FOREIGN FLAVOR

ORIENTAL DISHES WORTH ADDING TO THE MENU.

Boiled Fish, in Armenian Style, Seems Appetizing—Stuffed Mackerel—Shortcakes Made With Sour Cherries—Oven Roast.

Boiled Fish—Armenian style. Ingredients: Three pounds of fish, three eggs, two lemons, two tablespoonfuls butter, one bunch of parsley, six to eight slices of bread, salt and pepper to taste. Method: Cleanse the fish properly and leave in salt for one or two hours. Then wash well and boil in plain water, barely covering it, till nearly done. Then fry the bread slices in butter on both sides and arrange side by side in a deep, flat pan. Now take the water in which the fish was boiled and mix it with the eggs, beaten, and the juice of the lemons. Also add the parsley, finely chopped, and with one-half of this mixture moisten the fried bread in the pan. Over this lay the fish and then pour over the rest of the mixture. Now simmer the whole on a very slow fire till the fish is thoroughly done. Serve very hot.

Stuffed Mackerel—Ingredients: Six small mackerel, three tablespoonfuls olive oil, five medium sized onions, one lemon, two eggs, one bunch parsley, one pinch curry, two tablespoonfuls flour, salt and pepper to taste. Method: Clean the fish and put them in hot water for ten to fifteen minutes to cause them to become slack; then cut off the heads and break the backbone at the tail. After rolling them on a board under the palm of the hand pull the backbone out very carefully through the neck ends; then wash and they are ready for stuffing. Chop the onions and fry them nearly brown in part of the olive oil; then add the parsley, finely chopped, the curry, and salt and pepper to taste. With this mixture stuff each fish, and after mixing it in batter made of the beaten eggs or flour (or in crushed biscuits if desired) fry in plenty of hot olive oil. Serve hot, garnished with greens and lemon.

Oriental Shortcake With Sour Cherries—Ingredients: Four or six slices of dry bread, toasted; pint of sour cherries, half a cup of sugar, as much butter as may be needed for frying. Method: Fry the toasted slices of bread on both sides in butter, then, after cooking the cherries and the sugar in just sufficient water to be syrupy, place in the fried slices of bread, one by one. When all have been dipped and placed on a platter, pour the remainder of the preserves over them and, after setting in a hot oven for from five to ten minutes, serve. Any sort of fruit preserve may be used instead of the cherries if desired.

Oven Roast With Rice—Ingredients: Two or three pounds of beef, mutton or lamb, half a cupful of rice, two or three ripe tomatoes, salt and pepper. Method: Boil the meat in a little water, taking off the scum. When half done, place it and its little broth in a vessel with the rice, the rice under the meat and on top place the juice of the tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper and roast in a moderate oven till well done and all liquid has evaporated. Serve hot with vegetable salad.

Simple Wood Stain.

When the home carpenter is ready to stain the table or bench he has made, it may be quickly done at the cost a few cents. A water solution of bichromate of potassium is first applied, an ounce or so dissolved in a quart of water. Rub it on with a rag, and in a few minutes rub it off. Then apply a weak solution of water of logwood and rub off soon. The result is a rich brown. The strength of the solution and the time of application make the difference in the shade.

Chili Sauce.

Boil together one hour 18 ripe tomatoes, two chopped onions, three red peppers chopped fine, four teacups vinegar, two tablespoonfuls salt, two tablespoons ginger, four tablespoons sugar, four tablespoonfuls allspice and one of nutmeg. This makes three quarts.

To Whip Thin Cream.

When cream is too thin to whip, add the unbeaten white of an egg. You will then have no trouble whipping the cream.—Better Farming.

Iron Bedsteads.

For renovating an iron bedstead that has become shabby looking first rub all the iron parts over with a cloth dipped in paraffin. Then with a brush and a can of white enamel paint all over the bed; then let it dry, and your bedstead will look like new.

Better Than Turpentine.

If you desire to remove paint from windows without using turpentine, try moistening the edge of a silver coin and rubbing the spot of paint, and you will find it disappears like magic.

"Look," twittered the new man, "isn't this just a lovely waistcoat? I made it myself out of one of her old hobble skirts. Ain't I saving?"
And the other new man gazed at the garment in voluble admiration.

Plea for Kitchen.

The kitchen should be the refinery, the laboratory, the factory of the home, and the pivotal point about which the activities of the home revolve. Costs should be considered thoughtfully; no scrap of food should be used again in various ways. By buying staple food supplies in large quantities from 15 to 30 per cent. can be saved. Any one wishing to do so may economize in this way. Housewives must not look upon their art as mere drudgery; they must bring education, intelligence, and concentration into practice. They should learn, as manufacturers have, that the best results are to be obtained in a workshop that is well lighted, properly ventilated, and comfortably large, suitably furnished, and sanitary in all its equipments.—Leslie's.

Constant Menace to Public Health. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis estimates that there are over a million consumptives in the United States, of whom probably at least one-third are unable to provide for themselves the necessary treatment at home. Most of these cases are a menace to the health of their families and associates, and should be in special hospitals. At the present time, however, even if every case were known, it would not be possible to provide accommodations for more than one in eight or ten. The removal of these foci of infection demands more and better hospital and sanatorium provision.

Only Way to Fly.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 80 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines. It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

She Was Founded.

Violet Jennie was a little girl who originated in a founding asylum.

A visitor who had a habit of visiting took a great fancy to V. J. This visitor had a girl of her own whose name was Frances, and permission was asked for V. J. to take tea with Frances.

Frances was having a birthday that day. So Violet (for short) wanted to be very nice, but she felt that she had an advantage over Frances, since not every girl can be an inmate of a founding hospital. Violet Jennie tried not to patronize Frances, but she could hardly help it.

"This is your birthday, isn't it?" she said sweetly. "So you were born?"

"Why, of course. Everybody is born."

"In your set, I suppose. That's what makes it so common to be born. I wasn't, you know—I was founded!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

To Be Expected.

"How that receiver of stolen goods was scored in court!"
"Well, oughtn't a 'fence' to put up with railings?"

Missing.

"Calls himself an old sea dog, eh?"
"Yes, but nobody has ever been able to locate his bark."

Natural Instinct.

"Poor Billy has had a case of puppy love."

"Evidently that accounts for his following his inamorata around like a dog."

What One Sparrow Did.

What is perhaps the most remarkable accident that ever occurred was reported last month from Germany, according to Leslie's Magazine. A large touring car was traveling at fair speed along a boulevard lined with trees. Large flocks of sparrows were in the trees and several boys were taking chances of being arrested by the police by shooting at the birds with sling shots. One pebble, particularly well aimed, struck a sparrow on the upper wing and sent him gliding through the air directly toward the driver of the car; the bird struck him full in the fact, and in the next instant things began to happen. The driver clutched at his eyes, the car lurched into the ditch, knocking down a telegraph pole, vaulted to a plowed field on the other side of the ditch and went full force into a huge haystack. Despite this wild swerve no one was even scratched except the driver, whose eyesight was damaged by the claws of the sparrow. The whole incident had taken far less time than needed to relate it.

Queer Struggle.

"There is one extremely odd thing which happens often in summer."

"What is it?"
"That there should be such a hot time over the price of ice."

The Circle.

"Why do you play so much bridge?"

"Because it's great training for the mind."

"What does it train the mind to do?"

"To play more bridge."—New York Press.

Post Toasties

Are mighty handy to have in the house as well as mighty good to eat direct from the package with cream.

Besides being the most delicious ready cooked cereal food made of corn these crisp, crinkly flakes serve many another useful purpose in home cooking.

Rolled into crumbs and used as an outer dressing for breaded veal, lamb, chicken, pork or ham; they give a zest to the 'fry' that makes the home folks ask for more.

Softened with milk and used with usual spicing and fixing as an inside dressing for baked fish or fowl they impart a delicate flavor to the finished dish, remindful of the chestnut fillings that cast a halo around the days of old-time cooking.

Post Toasties are sold by Grocers everywhere—and everywhere folks who relish good things to eat, appreciate the delicate Indian Corn flavor that makes

"The Memory Linger"

BIG JOBS REQUIRE BIG MEN

DR. THOMAS DIXON CARVER

THE position of general manager of the biggest railroad in the country, or the biggest manufacturing plant, or the biggest mercantile establishment, would sink into insignificance when compared to any of a score of positions in the government service at Washington that have just been filled by the new administration. These big jobs, nearly every one of which has to do with the well-being of millions of the people and carries with it greater responsibility than all civil life can parallel, pay, on the average, $5,000 a year. Quite naturally a five-thousand-dollar man is not big enough for such a job. So the appointive power throws out the dragnet for men big enough for the given task who place public service above profit, or who regard the distinction of a federal office as compensation, or who are men of parts despite the fact that they may not have yet gained such financial standing as to make a hundred dollars a week look unattractive. Have a look at some of these jobs, says W. A. DuPuy, in the Philadelphia Record.

Indian Commissioner.
Take, for instance, the commissioner of Indian affairs. That official is in reality the administrator of a great estate. This estate is valued at $900,000,000. It is the biggest estate in the world. There are 300,000 heirs to it. They are mostly, in the eyes of the law, minor heirs and the estate must be managed for them, their moneys must be collected, must be taken care of, must be distributed. Not only this, but each of the individuals in the 300,000 must be carefully looked after. He must be kept healthy. He must be given the advantages of schooling. He must be led toward self-supporting manhood. He must be given the rights of manhood whenever he proves himself fit.

Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior.
The man who is responsible for the administration of so huge an estate should be a man of unimpeachable character and of many parts. It fell to Secretary Lane of the department of the interior, to find such a man. He dragged the country for the individual of just the right qualifications and experience. Finally he settled upon Cato Sells of Cleburne, Texas, for the post. Mr. Sells was not a candidate for the post, but was appointed only after special agents of the department had looked into every step in his career with the idea of determining whether or not he was the right sort of man to handle one of the most trying posts in the government service.

Chief Postoffice Dispenser.
Over in the postoffice department is a man who is in the very midst of appointing 62,000 postmasters. In addition to this he is the chief of staff of an army of 66,000 clerks and letter carriers. In addition to this he is the superintendent of 60,000 postoffices and has the control of the policies that govern them. And still in addition to this he has direct charge of the development of the parcel post, which is attempting to carry packages for a hundred million people. Altogether no mean job.

First Assistant Postmaster General.
This man is Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general. The sixty-two thousand postmasters who are appointed from Washington actually receive their commissions from the president or the postmaster general. First Assistant Roper is, however, the man who handles all the detail that leads up to those appointments. That army of city letter carriers, which has increased from 10,000 twenty years ago to 30,000 at the present date, is immediately under his care, and every rule and regulation for its control originates in his office. The same is true of the 86,000 clerks, of the 62,000 postmasters and various other odds and ends that go to make up the 150,000 people who are under the command of the postmaster general. This first assistant is to the postmaster general very nearly what the chief of staff of the army is to the secretary of war. But he has a bigger force to deal with, scattered over vastly more territory and performing a service of infinitely greater detail.

Rural Organization.
In the department of agriculture a brand new job has just come into being and a brand new man has been appointed to fill it. This job is one of considerable proportions in that it has as its object no less a thing than an improvement of the conditions under which dwell all those people of the farms who furnish the food supply for themselves and the 60 per cent. who dwell in the cities as well.

This new activity in the department of agriculture is known as the rural organization service. It has as its directors Dr. T. N. Carver, professor of economics at Harvard. Dr. Carver is the nation's recognized best authority upon the subject of rural economics. He has written a number of books upon this subject which are regarded as standard. He takes up his present work upon an indefinite leave of absence from Harvard.

Uncle Sam's Real Estate Office.
This is a new commissioner of the general land office, who is a man who has 683,000,000 acres of land for sale. Sales of land are now running on pretty smoothly and amount to about $10,000,000 a year. There have been better years and there have been worse. There was the banner year of the sales through this office away back in 1836, when the land-hungry Anglo-Saxons had reached that choice tier of states including Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Mississippi and Alabama, and were buying fast.

But today there are good lands for sale throughout the west. There are gold lands and coal lands and oil lands and farming lands. Alaska has a wealth of valuable real estate, but even Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan and Florida, in the east, still have federal lands for sale, and they are selling.

The new man who has just taken charge of this monster real estate business is Clay Tallman, a young lawyer from Nevada, in the far west, where the chief activity of the people is land-booming. In this office there are 500 employes in Washington. There are 125 branch offices in as many localities, and these and the field force are responsible for an additional 1,000 men.

Mr. Tallman is not yet forty years of age. He grew up in Michigan, was educated at the state university and went to Nevada when he was ready for practice. A term in the state senate, an unsuccessful but closely contested candidacy for representative to congress, and other political stepping-stones, led to his appointment to one of the big posts in the federal executive service.

An Executive Hero.
Rear Admiral Victor Blue, under appointment by the new secretary of the navy, sits at the head of the premier branch of the navy department—the bureau of navigation. Some months ago this young naval officer held the rank of commander and was in service on the Pacific, being chief of staff of the Pacific fleet. Then he was called to Washington for service on the general board, and before long he found himself the head of that bureau which has offices immediately adjoining the secretary with the rank of rear admiral and authority to officiate as acting secretary when Mr. Daniels and Mr. Roosevelt are out of Washington.

The bureau of navigation has nothing to do with navigation but everything to do with the personnel of the navy. It is, again, the human branch at the given service. Every lad who is recruited into the service enlists through this bureau. All the training schools that work toward making him a first-class man-o-warman are under the bureau of navigation. Even the naval academy at Annapolis finds its authority here. Every captain ambitious to get command of a squadron must look to this bureau for promotion. The enlisted man who oversteers his leave, the lieutenant who has fallen a victim of the plucking board, the stout commander who has been too long on shore duty—each and all must take their cases to this bureau.

Ruler of 9,000,000 People.
Over in the sister branch of the military service sits another man who has a very human work to perform in that he is the virtual ruler of 9,000,000 people. This individual is Brigadier General Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, and therefore charged with the active control of all matters pertaining to the government of the peoples of the Philippines and Porto Rico.

General McIntyre is not as new to his task as some of the men herein mentioned, as he came to it through many campaigns in the Philippines and by work in the bureau under General Edwards, its former chief. His task is an immense one, as the bureau of insular affairs is attempting for one thing to perform the miracle of molding into one homogeneous whole the 50 chaotic tribes, speaking as many dialects, holding to many religions, harboring many animosities and unenlightened as to civilized living, who go to make up the population of the Philippines.

The Gold Guardian.
John Burke, three times governor of the great state of North Dakota, is the guardian of the greatest aggregation of actual money that has ever been gotten together in the history of the world. He is the new treasurer of the United States, and this government is the possessor of more wealth than any other institution since Adam. The other day he signed a receipt for $1,426,422,051.48 2-3. Nobody can think of a billion and a half of actual money and comprehend what the amount actually means. But that is the amount in actual money in the treasury at Washington that the retiring treasurer of the United States turned over to Treasurer Burke and for which he is responsible.

These vastly important government positions, that are so large in responsibilities as to appall the man who tries to measure them, are of great number, but one other should be mentioned in selecting but a few of the most strikingly interesting ones. This other is that of counselor of the state department, a post just now held by one John Bassett Moore, college professor. This is the man who advises as to the points of law arising between nations as the ordinary lawyer would give an opinion as to the points at difference between two individuals in ordinary business. Treaties and international differences are his regular diet, be they past or prospective. He is likely to patch up a little agreement any morning before breakfast that will lead to world peace or find a provision in an old treaty that will crowd some land-hungry European country off the American map.

He Should Worry.

"The man who is habitually calm is often very exasperating."
"Yes, particularly when he refuses to become excited over our latest hard luck story."

Liquid blue is a weak solution. Avoid it. Buy Red Cross Ball Blue, the blue that's all blue. Ask your grocer. Adv.

Living in Poise.

To improve yourself, the first essential is to prevent all waste of energy by living in poise. The second essential is to use your imagination in picturing those things that you want to accomplish now. And the most practical use that can be made of the imagination is to picture your talents and faculties larger, greater and more perfect. To imagine in mind a larger and more perfect talent is to give the creative forces in mind a better model; and as these forces always create after the fashion of the latest model, they will consequently create the larger and the more perfect talent.—Larson.

ECZEMA SPREAD OVER BODY.

Roxbury, Ohio.—"When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Wherever that matter would touch it would cause another pimple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several. The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so restless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly.

"We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Gigantic Piers.

In New York work has been commenced on the 1,000-foot pier made necessary by the size of the vessels which have already reached the point to demand such accommodations. The plans for the new Tilbury docks provide berths for vessels 1,250 feet long. It has been predicted that the 1,250-foot boat will be with us in 1920, based on recent strides in shipbuilding, but there are many authorities who look for it at an earlier date. In order to take care of the increased size of the modern vessel the Suez canal will be deepened to 39 feet by 1915.

Regular Attendant.

"Is your father a regular attendant at church?"
"Yes, he goes once a year, whether he thinks he needs it or not."

Many a fellow who is thrown on his own resources falls back on those of his friends.

POINTS OF SULZER DEFENSE GIVEN

CLAIMED THAT WIFE OF GOVERNOR WAS TRICKED INTO SPECULATION.

AGENT OF TAMMANY HALL WAS IN HOME.

Private Secretary Is Relied On to Testify That Horgan Gave Tip On Big Four and Urged Investigation.

That a conspiracy was hatched by Wall street and Tammany hall to get Gov. Sulzer hopelessly entangled and in their clutches—a conspiracy with a woman as its unwitting victim—will be charged as a basis of the defense of the impeached governor, if the impeachment comes to trial.

Sulzer and his counsel confidently hope that it will not. They believe the action of the assembly will be declared unconstitutional and that the impeachment court will never assemble.

The high points of the conspiracy story on which Sulzer has built his hopes of a complete vindication are these:

1—That while Sulzer was away campaigning Matthew T. Horgan, who was living at the Sulzer home, and keeping Charles F. Murphy informed of events, gave Mrs. Sulzer the tip on Big Four.

2—At that time Sulzer was in debt $48,000, and Mrs. Sulzer saw an opportunity to rehabilitate the family finances by acting on this market tip. She was assured that it could not go wrong.

3—Campaign contributions had been coming in large amounts, and she took the checks, regarding her act as a legitimate temporary loan, and bought stocks.

4—She was assured there would be an immediate and sensational rise in the price of Big Four and she could take her profits and reimburse the campaign fund.

5—That her bankbooks and memoranda of these transactions were stolen so she would be unable to furnish proof of her acts if ever called on to do so.

It is claimed that Louis A. Sarecky, Sulzer's private secretary, had full knowledge of all these transactions and aided Mrs. Sulzer in carrying out her plan to rehabilitate her husband's finances. He is looked to by the Sulzer defense to take the stand and swear that Horgan gave Mrs. Sulzer the tip, assuring her that it could not go wrong and that she would certainly make a profit of many thousand dollars.

Telegraphers Win Increased Pay.

Negotiations which have been pending between the telegraph operators of the Northern Pacific and the officials of the road concerning demands for higher wages and better working conditions were satisfactorily adjusted. The operators had voted to strike if adjustment was not made. The telegraphers gained an increase in salary, shorter hours, Sunday overtime in some of the larger offices and partial abandonment of the "split" trick.

Railroads Ask More Pay.

Officials of 17 western railroads, including the Santa Fe, Burlington, Rock Island and other trunk lines, signed a telegram that was sent to Postmaster General Burleson, urging the government to increase the compensation of the roads for handling the mail. The increase is asked on the ground that the volume of mail has greatly increased as a result of the establishment of the parcel post.

Foss Back in G. O. P.

Eugene N. Foss, three times elected governor of Massachusetts, as a democrat, and a candidate for the democrat nomination for the presidency last year, declared himself again a republican, but remained indefinite regarding his reported candidacy for the republican nomination for re-election.

A two-year-old son of V. Fay, residing on a farm three miles from Battle Creek, was drowned when he fell in an earthen crock containing three feet of water.

Fearing electrocution when there was a sudden flash as wires crossed, Lester Johnson, a lineman, at Saginaw, jumped 35 feet to the ground, escaping burns but sustaining a broken ankle.

A broken arm carried in splints did not prevent Miss Mildred Hyatt from plunging into the Huron river and rescuing little Marjorie Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Black, of Ann Arbor, from drowning.

U. S. OFFERS JAPAN DAMAGES

It is Reported in Tokio That Proposals Will Not Be Accepted By Government.

It was announced in Tokio that the U. S. has intimated readiness to favor the payment of an indemnity to Japan subjects who have been affected by the Californian alien land ownership legislation. The U. S. has also recognized the right of Japan to adopt a measure similar to the California bill.

From intimations given in official circles it appears unlikely that Japan will adopt either idea. What Japan desires is permanent friendly relations with the United States, and therefore she seeks a fundamental solution of the difficulty. If the United States has no solution to offer, it is stated, Japan will probably allow the matter to remain as a grievance.

The public feeling of humiliation in this connection continues to be fanned by inflammatory comments in the newspapers. The Hochi Shimbun, which is often sensational, urges as an object lesson to the United States the expulsion of American missionaries from Korea on that the ground that they are undesirable aliens.

Election Officers Are Indicted.

Seventeen men were indicted in five true bills returned by the special grand jury investigating alleged election frauds before Judge Cooper in Chicago.

All the indicted men are precinct election officials, representing either the Democratic or Republican party, in the Twelfth and Nineteenth wards. Among them are officials of the sixth precinct of the Twelfth ward, in which Special State's Attorney Northrup asserts that ballots were "double-marked" for State's Attorney Herins, Democrat, and that the tally sheets were falsified so that Herine was credited with 84 more votes than he received legally.

Eleven Democrats are accused and half as many Republicans. Among the 17, three were election clerks, one a committeeman and the rest election judges.

Castro Rebellion a Failure.

The uprising led by Cipriano Castro in Venezuela is officially reported by American Consul Voetter at Caracas as a failure. He confirms earlier reports that Gen. Torres and his officers, who headed the revolution in the eastern part of the country, have been captured.

Women Gamble in Philadelphia.

Three hundred women gamblers, working in mills and spending their money in baseball pools, have been counted by Detective Charles Lee, head of the vice squad in Philadelphia. Harry Reed, of 4470 Germantown avenue, has been held in jail by Magistrate Coward, having been charged with operating a pool. Lee says 1,800 persons gambled on ball games in Reed's place each week, most of whom were women. The chances cost 25 cents each.

The building of a mile stretch of state reward road on the main trunk road east of Albion is to be carried out immediately, the county road commissioners promising to start their gang at work September 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rufus, Albion college graduates, have returned after five years in Korea as missionaries. They expect to return in a year. Mr. Rufus will study for a doctor's degree at the University of Michigan.

German will be taught in the eighth grade of the public schools in Ann Arbor, beginning in September. It is also planned to offer German in the lower grades as soon as the system can be arranged to fit the new requirements.

MEXICAN OUTLOOK MORE HOPEFUL

JOHN LIND DISPLAYS GREAT SKILL IN CARRYING OUT WILSON'S PLANS.

IT IS BELIEVED THAT HUERTA MAY BE ELIMINATED.

Presidential Election will Probably Be Called for October 26 and It is Hoped That Huerta Will Not Be a Candidate.

Optimism over the outlook for the consummation of the president's plans for bringing peace to Mexico are becoming stronger.

The official dispatches from Mexico City gave the president and Secretary Bryan further ground for hoping for the success of John Lind's mission.

The president's views, which Mexico City announces were communicated to Foreign Minister Gambaio at a conference with Special Representative John Lind, has as a basis the elimination of General Huerta from the provisional presidency and the holding of a constitutional election either at the regular date, October 26, or earlier.

The unofficial intimations from the south that Huerta was considering resigning the provisional presidency almost immediately so as to comply with the constitutional requirement for participation in the election for the president, were regarded here as of great significance. It was interpreted in some quarters as indicating that the president's plan does not only include a suggestion that Huerta eliminate himself completely from the situation by resigning now, but by consenting not to become a candidate at the regular election.

It is the opinion in Washington that John Lind has done skillful work in presenting the president's plan to the Huerta government. Mr. Lind is believed to have given a convincing description of the unselfishness of the United States and of her friendly attitude toward the southern republic and to have removed from the mind of Huerta's advisers the lurking suspicion that the Washington administration had allowed itself to be prejudiced in favor of any faction or individual in Mexican politics.

Two names have been mentioned as the men in whose favor Huerta might resign the provisional presidency pending the elections. They are Foreign Minister Gambaio and former Ambassador to the United States Calero.

Harry Thaw Escapes Asylum.

Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, escaped from the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Mattawan.

A dart for liberty through an open gate, a dash into the open door of a powerful automobile that stood quivering outside, and a fight like a rocket for the Connecticut state line, 30 miles away, accomplished his escape.

Once beyond the boundaries of the state, Thaw was free. Only months, perhaps years, of litigation can bring him back to Mattawan and then only in one event—that he be adjudged insane in the state to which he had fled.

Five confederates manned the car in which Thaw escaped, and a big black limousine which trailed it past the asylum gate. The police have their descriptions and the names which they registered at a local hotel, and are seeking them.

Doctors Man By Wireless.

The steamer Maheno was proceeding from Sydney to New Zealand when a wireless message asking whether there was a doctor on board was received from the steamer Wimmera, going in the opposite direction. On being told that there was a doctor among the passengers the Wimmera sent a wireless message saying that the captain was ill and giving details of the symptoms. The doctor made up a prescription which was sent by wireless to the Wimmera.

May Cost Eastman Large Sum.

Thomas W. Stephens, president of the Aneco company, of Binghamton, which controls the Goodwin Film & Camera company, said that as a result of the decision by District Judge Hazel in the United States court in Buffalo, declaring the Eastman Kodak company infringers on the Hannibal Goodwin Film patent controlled by the Aneco company, the Eastman company will be compelled to account for the profits on films amounting to between $5,000,000 and $25,000,000 made in the last 21 years.

Huron county now has a large new hospital, just completed in connector with the poor farm.

Livingstone's Resourcefulness.

David Livingstone, explorer and missionary, was a man of varied accomplishments. Besides getting himself taught on board ship, and later by Sir Thomas Maclear, to take with great accuracy astronomical observations for fixing latitude and longitude, besides acquainting himself with botany and geology, with patristic literature and Egyptology, Livingstone was an excellent mechanic, a steersman and a mariner. His resourcefulness was at all times remarkable. When he was hard up for fuel on his first steamer journey up the River Shibe he landed in the elephant marsh. Here no trees existed and no fuel was obtainable, but his men found many bones of slaughtered elephants, Livingstone at once took the bones on board, burned them in the furnaces of the Marobert, and so continued his journey.

MEADOWLARK A PEST?

Belongs to Same Family as Blackbird and Oriole.

Amount of Damage Done by This Bird Varies With Depth of Planting, Condition of Soil and Proximity to Pastures.

(By H. C. BRYANT.)

The meadowlark is not a true lark, but belongs to the same family to which the blackbird and oriole belong. Since the meadowlark of the eastern states differs from that found in the western states in both song and coloration, the bird of the west is termed the western meadowlark. This is a common bird from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Texas, etc., west to the Pacific coast, also ranging north into Canada and south into Mexico.

The meadowlark is well known because of its size, bright plumage and cheerful song. It is a conspicuous bird of treeless areas and a frequenter of the meadow and pasture. In California it is found from sea level to altitudes of 7,000 feet in the mountains. It is most abundant in the great central valleys where, in some places, the birds may be seen congregated in flocks of fifty or more, feeding almost entirely on the ground.

This meadowlark appears to be one of the few birds which is profiting by the increased cultivation of land. Alfalfa furnishes particularly good food and cover for the bird and grain fields are often chosen for a home. With the furnishing of still more good food and cover, combined with the destruction of some of its enemies, the western meadowlark may be expected to still further increase in numbers.

Oats appear to be preferred. In the fields inspected, damage was greatest in sandy soil, for here the grain is more easily obtained. Next to the condition of the soil, the factor governing the extent of damage appears to be the proximity of the natural habitat of the bird. Fields bordering on marsh grass lands and pastures suffer most. In some instances the meadowlark have followed the drill row for distances of four to six feet and apparently pulled every sprout. Barley and wheat are attacked to a less extent than oats. Field corn and sorghum are not damaged.

Meadowlarks can succeed in pulling the sprouting grain only when it first appears above the ground. After the second and third blades appear the plant is well rooted and the kernel no longer essential to the life of the plant. Only the grain which is within one and one-half inches of the surface is obtainable. Hence the difficulty of obtaining the kernel and the termination of the time during which the kernel is essential to the life of the plant soon makes destruction impossible. Hard, dry soil precludes attack. Damage is greatest after the soil has been softened by rain. Investigation shows that fields apparently greatly damaged while the grain was sprouting have shown but little damage at harvest time. In some cases a certain amount of thinning may be beneficial so that unless the damage is great the birds may perform a real service. The fact that oats is most seriously damaged and that, with the exception of barley and wheat, other grains are not attacked

Holes Bored by Meadowlarks in Obtaining Kernels of Sprouting Grain.

CARE FOR STACKED ALFALFA

Best Way to Cure Hay is to Rake it into Small Winrows and Let the Crop Dry Out Slowly.

Sometimes weather conditions make it almost impossible to put alfalfa hay in the stack in good condition, and heating and burning results. A. H. Leidligh, assistant professor of crops at the Kansas Agricultural college, says a comparison will show why the water does not readily cure out of the stems. If a tree is cut down on a cool, cloudy day, said Professor Leidligh, the leaves remain green and fresh for some time. They take water from the trunk and pass it off into the atmosphere. If the weather is reasonably cool for a few days, the water will all be taken out of the tree.

Now, if the tree is cut down on a hot, sultry day the leaves will dry up and fall off. The water is still in the trunk of the tree, and there is no way for it to get out quickly. It is the same with alfalfa.

When it is impossible to bring also minimizes the amount of possible damage.

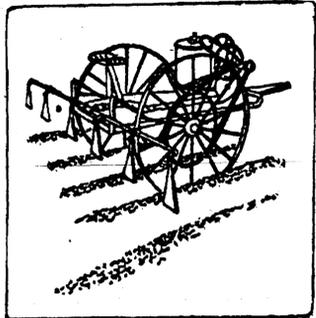

When the benefits conferred by the meadowlark are balanced with the injuries, there remains no doubt that the bird deserves protection. Its value as a destroyer of injurious insects far exceeds its detriment as a destroyer of sprouting grain. The value of one of these birds living to one dead is as five pounds of insects and one-half pound of weed seeds is to one and three-fourths pounds of grain, a considerable part of which is made up of wild oats and waste grain.

A strong point favoring their protection is to be found in the fact that the damage to sprouting grain fields can be largely prevented by planting grain deeply and drilling instead of broadcasting, two measures highly advocated as favoring larger crops.

SPRAY MACHINE IS USEFUL

Power Pumped Through Nozzles as Cart Moves Over Field—Used for Sowing Grass Seed.

Two Missouri men have patented a useful farm machine in the spraying apparatus shown in the illustration. It is merely the water-sprinkling idea put to other uses. A light cart has a tank mounted in the front and con-ected with a cross pipe with a series of nozzles depending from it in the back. The powder that the tank contains is forced through the nozzle under sufficient pressure to spray it in all directions. The machine is designed primarily for the purpose of spraying insecticide over growing plants and is a big improvement on the hand method of doing this work, being not only much more thorough, but much more speedy, as it sprays seven or eight rows at once. Such a machine might also be used to sow certain kinds of seed, like grass seed, that did not have to be dropped in rows.

Spraying Machine.

Tillage is Manure.

The old maxim that tillage is manure has been shown to be true at Cornell university farm, where experiments were made in that direction. Some plots of potatoes were cultivated as many as eight times, and in every case the greater the number of times the plants were cultivated the larger the yields compared with plots on which fewer cultivations were given.

The level culture was better than hilling. Two lots, cultivated eight times, left perfectly level through the season, produced at the rate of 384 bushels and 357 bushels per acre, and three lots cultivated five times, produced 349 bushels, 325 bushels and 288 bushels, the last lot being hilled at the final cultivation.

Fruits and Vegetables.

Fruits and vegetables not only increase the healthfulness and attractiveness of the daily bill of fare, but they save a great deal of expense, and are far better than the canned goods from the store. The farmer who sets a good table, well supplied with fruits and vegetables, is making a high bid to attract and keep good farm help.

Busy Bees.

Now watch the bees work on the golden rod and sweet clover.

water out of the hay, says Professor Leidligh, it is dry enough to stack. The best way to cure hay is to rake it into small winrows and let it dry out slowly. If the ground is damp, or if the air is very moist, the winrows must be turned frequently to expose all the hay to the sun.

Hay often heats in the stack because it is rained on, or because it absorbs moisture from the ground. Not less than $5 to $10 worth of hay is spoiled on the top and bottom of a 25-foot stack of alfalfa, put up in the usual way. This loss may be avoided by stacking on a foundation of poles, or under sheds. The money saved on a few stacks will pay for the shed.

Opinions differ on just how much the feeding value of alfalfa is affected by heating. Some argue that while it lowers the feeding value, it improves the taste. Cattle usually eat brown and black alfalfa with more relish than they do the bright green hay.

Secret of Pruning.

The secret of pruning is never to allow a useless limb to grow.

UNINVITED PLAYER IN GAME

Safe to Say Hawk Achieved No Popularity Through His Appearance on Golf Links.

After making a long shot from the tee on the Hackensack golf links, H. O. Yerkes watched the ball as it sped through the air. It was one of those drives which the average player thinks that he ought to make all the time.

Mr. Yerkes had not bargained for interference with the ball, and he was amazed to see a big hawk follow the white speck. When the ball fell to the fair green the hawk was seen to alight on it and carry it away. Mr. Yerkes was dumfounded, as was also his opponent, George W. Lyle. But even they had not bargained on evil intentions of the bird. Therefore, they were still more surprised when the hawk dropped the ball farther down the fair green, but in a very bad spot in a bunker. Mr. Yerkes was displeased that such a fine drive had been spoiled, and his friend was somewhat gratified.

Mr. Yerkes thought he ought to be permitted to put the ball back where it landed before the bird picked it up, but Mr. Lyle declared that he thought his opponent ought to let his ball lie where it was and count an extra shot. However, it was determined that it was a rub of the green, and Mr. Yerkes took more than one to get out of the bunker.

Just Her Husband.

A woman mounted the step of a car, carrying an umbrella like a reversed saber.

The conductor touched her lightly saying: "Excuse me, madam, but you are likely to put out the eye of the man behind you."

"He's my husband," she snapped, with the tone of full proprietorship.

Such a Foolish Question.

"My wife lost her purse with $15 in it today," said a sad-looking man.

"While going to town or coming home?" inquired a sympathizer.

"Didn't I say it had some money in it?" answered the sad-looking man, and every one knew when she lost it.

SYSTEM DOWN TO A SCIENCE

Absent-Minded Art Show Director Compelled to Unwind a Lot of His Own Red Tape.

John Purroy Mitchell, the new customs collector for New York, praised system at a dinner.

"There's nothing like system," he said. "System will accomplish the impossible."

"The director of a recent art show was a fine chap for system. One day he arrived at the show without his pass and the gateman, a stranger, held him up.

"I have no pass nor ticket," said the system exponent, "but I am the director of the show."

"You'll have to produce your ticket, sir."

"But I tell you I'm the director—high mucky-muck—boss."

"I can't help it, sir; I'm forbidden to let—"

"Yes, I know," said the director impatiently, "but my good fellow, as the director, I give you permission to let me pass."

Epigrams on Youth.

Lillian Russell in a toast on "Youth" at a luncheon in Pittsburgh scattered epigrams like pearls.

"In the end," she said, "in our struggle to keep young, we are all, alas! defeated. The scene of our defeat is marked with a white stone.

"We fight against time, but time fights twenty-four hours a day.

"More people fall in the attempt to become centenarians than in any other business."

Notice of Letting of Drain Contract

Notice is hereby given, That I, John McGivney, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Livingston and State of Michigan, will on the 9th day of September, A. D. 1913, at the K. O. T. M. Hall in the Village of Gregory, in said County of Livingston, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, proceed to receive bids for the cleaning out of a certain Drain known and designated as "Gregory Drain," located and established in the Township of Unadilla in said County of Livingston, which drain has heretofore been established and constructed and is recorded in Vol 7 Drain Record page 664.

Said job will be let in one or more sections. The section at the outlet of the said drain will be let first, and the remaining sections, if any, in their order up stream, in accordance with the diagram now on file with the other papers pertaining to said drain, in the office of the County Drain Commissioner of the said County of Livingston, to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids will be made and received accordingly. Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work, in a sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids. At the same time and place I will let the contract for the furnishing of a quantity of sewer pipe the exact size and number of rods will be announced at the time and place of letting. No person will be permitted to bid upon the construction of the drain or the furnishing of the tile unless such person deposits with the County Drain Commissioner the sum of twenty-five dollars conditioned that if such person is awarded the contract he will enter into such a contract and bond, with such sureties and in such amount as may be suitable and satisfactory to the County Drain Commissioner, otherwise the amount of his deposit will be forfeited to the funds of the drain. The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefor, shall and will be announced at the time and place of letting.

Notice is further hereby given, That at the time and place of said letting, or at such other time and place thereafter, to which I, the County Drain Commissioner aforesaid, may adjourn the same, the assessments for benefits and the land comprised within the "Gregory Drain Special Assessment District," and the apportionment thereof will be announced by me and will be subject to review for one day, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon.
