Great National Movement

Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal orders and other organizations to the number of 200,000 at least will be asked to join the anti-tuberculosis workers of the country in the observance of the Fourth National Tuberculosis Day, which has been designated for December 7th, according to an announcement issued to-day by the National Association for the study and prevention of Tuberculosis.

The movement will be furthered throughout the country by more than 1,000 anti-tuberculosis societies working through various state organizations and the National Association. Personal appeals will be made to clergymen, school principals and leaders of various organizations urging them to set aside a definite time during the week preceding or the week following December 7th, for a lecture on tuberculosis.

Last year over 60,000 churches gave attention to this subject on Tuberculosis Day. It is hoped this year to swell the number of churches to 100,000 and to urge similar action besides in a large number of the schools and other societies. The Tuberculosis Day Campaign will come this year during the Red Cross Christmas Seal Sale. It is planned to urge the churches of the country to take a definite part in this movement.

The observance of Tuberculosis Day was endorsed last year by President Taft, Cardinal Farley, Col. Roosevelt and many other prominent churchmen and public officials. Proclamations calling upon the people to observe this day were issued by governors of more than a dozen states and by the mayors of a considerable number of cities.

Mail Delivery in Villages

It looks now as though free mail delivery in villages will become general in the future. Satisfactory reports having been received from the villages in which free mail delivery service was provided as an experiment, the post office department is planning to extend that branch of its work materially. Last year congress appropriated $100,000 to test the practicability of giving to towns, too small to be eligible for city delivery service, the service of one or two carriers and one or two deliveries a day. Several small towns in each state was selected, the five in Michigan being Durand, Fremont, Morenci, Reed City and Painwell. From all parts of the country favorable reports have been received.

How About That Watch?

Learning that there is an opening for a jewelry repair man in this vicinity, I have arranged to be at Monks Bros. store one day each week, Wednesday, for the purpose of doing jewelry work. Work guaranteed.

The Newspaper Exchange

There is no section of a newspaper that comes home closer to the real life of the people than the classified advertising.

The classified advertising tells of things that closely affect the daily lives of home people.

One learns more of what is going on in a town from reading these columns than from the best edited news stores. The housewife is anxious to see who is advertising for positions as servant. Working people want to know who desire help. People who own, or who want to buy or sell real estate, are interested in the transfers that are going on. It is hard to find a class of people who do not follow these notices.

Hence it is perfectly astonishing how many answers one can often get from a single little notice in the To Rent, For Sale or Want columns. Anything you can do by personal inquiry is multiplied a hundredfold through the newspaper press.

Some people will put in hours or days making inquiries and running around haphazard when they want to rent a place or sell a piece of property. They devote dollars worth of time, when a few cents spent in the newspaper would reach a hundred times as many people.

The Dispatch is strong on this kind of advertising and has always enjoyed a liberal patronage along in the "For Sale" and "Wanted" column and yet there are hundreds of people in Livingston County who could make many dollars by spending a few cents in the classified columns. The price 5 cents per line is very low. Those who use the column once universally come back if they have anything to buy or to sell.

Revival Meetings

Howell's great evangelistic campaign which was started last week bids fair to be a general religious awakening of the whole county. Exceptional interest is being shown, not only by the people of Howell, but all throughout the adjoining townships. A mammoth tabernacle has been erected for the meetings which so far has been well filled and on some nights all seats have been taken.

Evangelist Hicks is a man of power. He anticipates great results from the revival and solicits the co-operation of all christian people.

A revival, he says, means much to a community. It is a benefit to the business man in that it starts debt paying and stops dead beating. It stops trouble between man and man, bringing love into the heart to displace hatred and enmity. It is one of the best agents for moral reform, better than local option or prohibition. It restores bible reading and the family altar, awakens dead church members and sets them to work. It brings harmony and peace to the whole community.

V. W. Davis, for many years a resident of this place, recently died at his home in Lebo, Kansas. Mr. Davis was well and favorably known by the older residents here who will regret to learn of his death.

The crowd at the annual Labor Day celebration at Dexter was added too by a goodly number of Pinckney people. The ball game between Chelsea vs. Pinckney was the biggest event of the day and was a real game from start to finish the score standing 3 to 2 in favor of Chelsea when the game was called in the seventh inning on account of darkness. Although Chelsea had as many as three local men on their team, the balance being all outside men with an Ann Arbor pitcher, our boys put up a stiff game and would have probably won out if the game had not been called. The batteries for Pinckney were McClear and McClear.

Power Plant Completed

The new water power plant at Reeves mill pond, 3 1/2 miles south of town, recently purchased by the Clinton Electric Light and Power Co., was completed last week and Sunday evening the juice was turned on for the first time under the new system. The lights at present are not up to standard owing to the use of an old pulley which had to be pressed into service until a new one which was ordered some time ago arrives. It is expected that by the last of the week that everything can be put in the best of order.

We have been informed through Mr. Clinton, that nearly fifty patrons are at present paying flat rates. Under the new management these patrons must install meters at a cost to them of $7.00 each. Heretofore a rate of 16c per k. w. has been charged. Beginning September 1st, the rate will be lowered to 12c per k. w. This change will doubtless be universally appreciated.

All-night service will be commenced some time this month.

Mr. Clinton and those who aided him are to be complimented on the work they have so faithfully carried through and completed, even though they worked at times with great odds against their progress.

Cong'l. S. S. Picnic

Last Thursday the Cong'l. S. S. picniced at Silver Lake. In spite of the threatening weather a large number were in attendance. After the usual fine dinner the crowd accompanied by the Y. M. C. A. boys went out to the ball grounds. Two fine games were played between the Pinckney boys and the Y. M. C. A. boys. Both games were won by Pinckney. Juniors 8-7; Seniors 14 0. The boy scouts then gave an exhibition drill and an outline of each days program. The hours from nine to ten a. m. are always devoted to bible study. Three cheers were given for the Pinckney Cong'l. church and S. S. with an invitation to join the boys again next year. The S. S. extends a vote of thanks to the two gentlemen who so kindly took the loads out to the lake.

Mrs. G. D. Bland visited her mother at Plainfield the latter part of last week.

Harry Crippen, and family of Detroit were over Sunday guests at the home of Wm. Gawley.

Acting Under Difficulties

MISS FRANCES ALDA, WHO PLAYED OTHELLO THROUGH STROKE WITH APPENDICITIS

LAURETTA TAYLOR A BLACK HAND VICTIM

MARGARET LIVINGSTON WHO FEARS MOODS MORE THAN INJURIES

In the third act of a play produced some time ago before a critical New York audience a fussy old bachelor decided to dash out into the cold night air to perform a noble act. As he rushes on the stage he cries: "Where is my shawl? Where is my shawl? I can't go out without a shawl. Ah!" The "Ah!" indicates his satisfaction at finding the desired article. Then he leaves the stage.

At one performance of the play the property man neglected to put the shawl in its proper place, and when the bachelor uttered the word "Ah!" he was embarrassed to find that there was no shawl in sight. He cast a hasty glance about him, hoping that it might be found, but after what must have been to him a long and painful wait he turned up his coat collar, and so went out to brave the storm.

Now this hitch in the performance, apparent as it was, remained undetected by all but two or three in the large audience. The other spectators showed no sign of suspecting that something had gone wrong, even when the bachelor returned later with the shawl around his shoulders. Such hitches occur often enough in the best managed plays, yet perhaps only one person in 500 ever detects them.

It would be a mistake to conclude from this that audiences, however critical they may be, are unobtrusive. It is a case not of lack of power of observation but of an overabundance of faith. The fact is that they have become so accustomed to absolute perfection in the production of plays that it seems almost inconceivable to them that an actor should be found wanting or that the smoothness of a performance should be hindered by human fallibility.

This faith in the absolute perfection of the machinery of the theater has resulted in a delicate but powerful form of tyranny which has, unknown to the audiences that exercise it, caused pain and terror and grief innumerable performers. Slaves of this relentless tyranny, they have been compelled to appear as usual in spite of tragedies and ailments unsuspected by the public. Sometimes the circumstances have been tragic and at times they have been rather comical.

Last summer Jack Norworth, the husband of Nora Bayes, was taken seriously ill and the doctors sent him off to Europe in haste. While her husband was racing with death across the seas Nora Bayes was obliged to go on with her performance at the New Brighton theater, where the pair had been appearing. When seen by the writer a few minutes before her performance she was almost in a state of collapse from anxiety and grief. Her face was disheveled, her eyes were red, and with crying, she seemed a wreck.

A few minutes later she appeared before the audience, gayly beaming and smiling as though she were the happiest woman in the world. It happened that many in the audience knew about her husband's condition and sympathized with her, being aware of how attached to each other they were. Yet she was permitted to go on with her act.

In the absence of her husband, the original act had to be abandoned, and Miss Bayes called upon the audience to name any song they might like her to sing. Some one called for a popular melody. Miss Bayes hesitated. The tears gathered in her eyes.

"I can't sing that without my darling!" she exclaimed as she bit her lip.

Another song was called for. Again the eyes of Miss Bayes filled with tears, and they came so freely this time that she had to turn her back on the audience.

"I can't sing that without my darling, either," she stammered.

It was evident that she was in no condition to go on with her performance. Yet she continued to the end. It seemed cruel to allow her to go on, but the audience had to be served. Miss Bayes would no doubt have preferred to cancel her engagement and remain by the side of her sick husband, but the tyranny of the audience was not a thing to be trifled with. They had come from all parts of the city to see Miss Bayes and they must not be disappointed. It is one of the unpleasant duties of managers to enforce this rule.

The point of this episode is somewhat weakened by later events, including the separation of Nora Bayes and her husband, but the fact remains that the incident is a good illustration of what actors and actresses have to go through to serve the tyrant known as the public.

Laurette Taylor, who has scored a success in "Peg o' My Heart," was the victim of an odd experience when she was appearing at the Maxine Elliott theater in "The Bird of Paradise." One evening, a little while before the rise of the curtain, she received a late warning her that she had only five minutes to live. It was signed with a skull and crossbones. Miss Taylor was alarmed by the tone of the note and became hysterical. However, she received her cue and bracing herself she made her way to the stage.

In the first act of this play Miss Taylor had a little speech in which she said: "Why should I be a princess? I want to live, to swim, to run, to play; I want to live, live, live!" Miss Taylor remembered the note she had received threatening her life. She became terrified again and her speech, emphasizing her wish to live became so hysterical that it was necessary for her to rush off the stage. The manager came out promptly, and, not knowing what explanation to give, said that Miss Taylor had been seized with an attack of ptomaine poisoning.

After some delay the performance was continued. In the last act Miss Taylor was to climb up a mountain and jump into a burning pit. When she reached the top of the incline on this occasion she was once more overcome by the terror of impending death, and ran back in full view of the audience.

For more than a fortnight Miss Taylor was in a nervous condition. One evening during the play a man arose to take off his overcoat. Miss Taylor, thinking it might be the writer of the mysterious note, screamed. On another occasion a small ball rolling onto the stage from behind the wings set her in a panic.

Miss Frances Alda was attacked with appendicitis several seasons ago during a performance of "Othello." She was seized in the first act, but went through the entire performance bravely. When the curtain went down on the last act she was rushed to the hospital and an operation was performed without delay.

Whatever terrors such contingencies have for most actors and actresses they seem to Margaret Livingston only trifles compared with a greater problem when public performers have to face. She underrated the inconvenience of physical disability and emphasizes the danger of temporary spiritual or mental unfitness. There is a great source of danger to the artist and to dramatic art, she thinks, in the common practice of allowing stars to play a single role eight times a week and for as many performances as the public will patronize, without considering whether the actor or actress is in the mood or condition to offer the public the best that is in her.

This practice of working a single play and a single actor to death is one of the dangers threatening the life of the American theater, she insists. This condition can be improved only by training spoiled American audiences to the point where they will be prepared to see a star role interrupted by any good artist with the name on the program of the evening.

There is a way of thinking you are in trouble by continually telling you go to worry about 'em."

CHARACTER IN DRESS

ATTIRE SHOULD BE CHOSEN TO DENOTE INDIVIDUALITY.

Slavish Attachment to Style Never Desirable—Every Woman Should Be True to Herself and Her Character of Beauty.

Why, if a fashion is pretty and becoming to a number of women, should it be abolished forever after it has been popular for a certain length of time simply to make way for a new fad, which may be neither pretty nor becoming? This is the law which governs clothes, a law for which there seems to be no good reason.

What person with any feeling for clothes has ever ransacked some old worm-eaten chest full of old lace and quaint jewelry and heavily flowered or lavender color gowns all made in the fashions of years ago without experiencing some sensation of regret?

It was, of course, absurd at any time in the history of the world for old women to wear ringlets, but it is just as absurd for no women to wear ringlets because somebody or other says they have gone out of fashion. Certain peach-bloom cheeks were made to be shaded by the soft dusk of black curls, just as certain heads were born to look perfect under the latest hat in black straw and paradise plumes. There is the woman who never looks so handsome as in hard, plain tailor made costumes, and her sister who turns us dizzy when she appears in loose draperies of ivory tinted lace sprayed with flowers.

In fact, it should be the aim of life, not to stunt character or destroy individuality. There should be a thousand fashions, where now there are only a hundred, and all these fashions should be on show at one and the same time. And every woman should be true to herself and her character of beauty. She should change her fashions every hour of the day if she were so disposed until she had succeeded in finding the exact fashion which made her a thing of perfection.

And then, by law, she would be allowed to change no more.

In choosing the individual note in dress it should be done with an eye to color. Every woman has her own particular shade, suggested perhaps by her hair or eyes, and it is the shade that suits her best once she knows it. She should let her dressmaker or tailor do the rest for the color harmony. What prettier picture could be imagined than the woman with the curious touch of amber in her eyes in a white gown with amber beads and amber waistbelt?

GIVES CHOICE OF MATERIALS

Model That Will Make Up Attractively in Blue Gingham or Other Similar Fabrics.

The model shown may be made up attractively in many materials. If a simple morning frock is desired, a plain blue gingham may be used with bordering bands of figured or checked gingham in the same shade. The blouse is gathered into a shallow shoulder yoke and opens in irregular line over a filled vest of white net. The elbow sleeves are slashed in similar style, displaying a dainty cuff of white net. The skirt has three flounces, each finished on the lower edge by a narrow band of the figured material. A dainty girdle and sash ends of Dresden ribbon in shades of blue adds a further desirable touch to this dainty frock.

Upturned Hems.

The innovation in upturned hems on the outside of the skirt has given the colorists another chance to put in a dash of tone that will contrast with the rest of the skirt. As Roman stripes and Scotch plaids continue to reappear, on the best of the new clothes, it is only natural that they should find an abiding place at the bottom of the skirt or at the edge of one of those wired tunics that are made of all kinds of thin materials.

There is a dark blue coat suit of gabardine which has a two-inch hem of red, white and blue plaid bound with a black velvet ribbon at the top; the coat does not have a collar of the plaid, which is the first thing one thinks of its having, but the Scotch silk shows up as envelope flaps to the three pockets, which are edged with a black velvet ribbon and fastened over a black velvet button.

New Gloves.

The newest gloves of white glace kid have diamond-shaped insets of pale blue, pink or tan kid at the top.

WIDE GIRDLÉS OF BEADWORK

Fashion That Lends Itself to the Conversion of Old Gowns into Good-Looking New Ones.

The shops are offering artistic pieces of brilliant beadwork, usually cut steel or jet, which may be used for wide girdles, and if a woman can afford less than a yard of this she can convert an old gown into an exceedingly good-looking new one.

The trimming is placed high on the figure, and it is often placed upward in points so the effect may not be too thick or solid. There are also beaded trimmings with one edge on the selvedge and the other arranged in battlements. The latter run well up toward the bust and hold into place the folds of tulle which now go around, and up and down, the figure.

This crosswise method of managing thin drapery is fashionable and effective, for it holds the figure securely in place as a brassiere does.

The one thing that every woman should learn in the use of jewels, real or false, is their color relation to a gown. One should be as careful about this as about harmonizing hats to frocks, and yet the majority of women wear any jewelry they happen to possess at all times and with all costumes.

BEAUTIFUL FALL GOWN.

Model of black satin with four bands of green velvet. Yoke of green chiffon with Bulgarian embroidery.

MESSAGE FOR THE ELBOWS

General Rule That if Persevered In Will Shortly Produce a Most Desirable Improvement.

In using any sort of cold cream on the elbows fill the palm of one hand with a little, place the opposite elbow in it and rub around and around; this will bring about a softening and smoothing of the skin, especially if first the process recommended for the skin of the face is carried out; soft cloths wrung out of warm water; applied until the skin feels warm and is pink; then the scrubbing with a medium brush, which is good for the elbows, if not always right for the face, and then the rinsing and drying, followed by the cold cream well rubbed in.

A fortnight would show improvement; a month a decided change for the better and so on until the tough, red, bony elbows are rounded, dimpled, white and a great beauty.

If cocoa butter must be used to make them plumper, use that in place of the cold cream, but always finish with a spray of cologne or toilet vinegar which prevents the growth of the superfluous hair. The massage is just the same, no matter which emollient is used. The rubbing of the arms, are too thin, should be from the wrists upwards to the shoulders, never downward, and while about it, begin at the tips of the fingers and rub clear to the shoulder, going around and around with plenty of cocoa butter which should be slightly warmed on the palms of the hands.

Such measures should always be taken at night; the oil, whatever is used, should be allowed to remain on; it will soon be entirely absorbed by the dry, thirsty pores.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Belleve, Ohio.—"I was in a terrible state before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached until I thought it would break, I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Belleve, Ohio.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why won't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Author Poor Judge of His Work. If John Keble had had his way it is possible that his famous "Christian Year" might never have been published. He was extremely averse to it, and only yielded to the importunities of his friends and the pleadings of his father. Even so, he refused to have his name in the title page. In 45 years it went through 158 editions, and since it went out of copyright they have ceased to be counted.

AN IMMENSE NEW INDUSTRIAL PLANT FOR CHICAGO

When completed, the new plant of the Calumet Baking Powder Company, now under course of construction, at South 41st avenue and Fillmore street, will prove a fitting monument to the ability, honesty and progressiveness which have rendered possible the tremendous growth of one of Chicago's most prominent industrial institutions.

This immense plant, the estimated cost of which is $250,000, is a strictly modern five-story and basement, fire proof, re-enforced concrete building. Size, 260x100 feet. One of the novel and interesting features of this, the largest and most efficiently equipped Baking Powder plant in existence, will be a cantilever shipping platform projecting over to a switch track on a level with the second floor.

Automatic machinery, modern appliances and passenger and freight elevators of the latest type will be installed and employed in manufacturing and handling the company's product.

Plans which make possible a maximum amount of glass area and the highest degree of sanitation have been carefully and scientifically prepared. Spacious and splendidly appointed rest rooms are provided for employes.

One entire floor will be devoted to laboratory and research equipment. The installation of a modern bakery for experiment purposes insures the maintenance of the high standard of excellence for which Calumet Baking Powder is famed.

The Calumet Baking Powder Company was organized a quarter of a century ago by Mr. Wm. M. Wright. The company first began the manufacture of baking powder in a comparatively small way, with limited capital. Modern methods, combined with high grade materials and an unwavering determination to produce an article of superior quality have created a demand which necessitates the erection of the new Calumet plant—have made the Calumet Company a substantial factor in the industrial life of Chicago, and won for it a prominence which is a benefit and a credit to the city.—Adv.

LIGHT BREAKS IN Thoughtful Farmer Learns About Coffee.

Many people exist in a more or less hazy condition and it often takes years before they realize that tea and coffee are often the cause of the cloudiness, and that there is a simple way to let the light break in.

A worthy farmer had such an experience and tells about it, in a letter. He says: "For about forty years, I have had indigestion and stomach trouble in various forms. During the last 25 years I would not more than get over one spell of bilious colic until another would be upon me.

"The best doctors I could get and all the medicines I could buy, only gave me temporary relief. "Change of climate was tried without results. I could not sleep nights, had rheumatism and my heart would palpitate at times so that it seemed it would jump out of my body.

"I came to the conclusion that there was no relief for me and that I was about wound up, when I saw a Postum advertisement. I had always been a coffee drinker, and got an idea from the ad. that maybe coffee was the cause of my trouble.

"I began to use Postum instead of coffee and in less than three weeks I felt like a new man. The rheumatism left me, and I have never had a spell of bilious colic since.

"My appetite is good, my digestion never was better and I can do more work than before for 40 years.

"I haven't tasted coffee since I began with Postum. My wife makes it according to directions and I relish it as well as I ever did coffee, and I was certainly a slave to coffee."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for copy of the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with the addition of cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. "There's a reason" for Postum.

PLAN FOR TUBERCULOSIS DAY

December 7 Set Apart as Period of Special Effort in the Combating of The White Plague.

Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal orders and other organizations to the number of 200,000 at least will be asked to join the anti-tuberculosis workers of the country in the observance of the Fourth National Tuberculosis day, which has been designated for December 7, according to an announcement issued by the National Association of the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The movement will be furthered throughout the country by more than 1,000 anti-tuberculosis societies working through various state organizations and the National association. Personal appeals will be made to clergymen, school principals and leaders of various organizations urging them to set aside a definite time during the week preceding or the week following December 7, for the lecture on tuberculosis.

Last year over 60,000 churches gave attention to this subject on Tuberculosis day. It is hoped this year to swell the number of churches to 100,000 and to urge similar action besides in a large number of the schools and other societies. The Tuberculosis day campaign will come this year during the Red Cross Christmas seal sale. It is planned to urge the churches of the country to take a definite part in this movement.

"Examinitis." Let us remember that there is such a thing as examinitis, and that a brain crammed with a multitude of useless facts may show up brilliantly on an examination, but be so clogged as to be unable to put the knowledge to practical use. We know we are raising the pedagog's ire by thus stating that there is such a thing as too much knowledge, but as a fact the world's work is being done by specialists, who are densely ignorant of everything outside their respective narrow spheres—and of many things inside, too.—American Medicine.

ERUPTION ON ANKLE BURNED

Kingsville, Mo.—"My trouble began eighteen years ago. Nearly half of the time there were running sores around my ankle; sometimes it would be two years at a time before they were healed. There were many nights I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep running ones and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confined around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it, it was always so sensitive to the touch. I could not let my clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt, blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This I wore night and day.

"I tried many remedies for most of the eighteen years with no effect. Last summer I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The very first time I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I gained relief; they relieved the pain right then. It was three months from the time I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment until the sores were entirely healed. I have not been troubled since and my ankle seems perfectly well." (Signed) Mrs. Charles E. Brooke, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

A clever author says that there are three kinds of men in the world—"The wills, the won'ts and the can'ts." The first effect every thing, the next oppose everything and the last fails in everything. "I will" builds our railroads and steamboats; "I won't" don't believe in experiments and nonsense; while "I can't" grows weeds for wheat and commonly ends his days in a court of bankruptcy.

The only way to build up a town is for everyone to go hand in hand—every man to the wheel. Banish all feeling of discord, if any; let harmony prevail and prosperity will follow. Talk about your town, write about it, speak well of it, encourage your men at the head of municipal affairs; choke the croakers, gag the grumblers and squelch the scolders. Beautify the streets in every way, patronize its merchants, refrain from sending outside for goods, favor home enterprises always, and you can't think of some good word to say, keep quiet. RECORDS WILL GO THIS YEAR

Michigan State Fair Will Be Greatest Ever Held.

PREMIUMS TOTAL $100,000.

Increased Interest Shown by Exhibitors—Program Entertaining as Well as Instructive—Lofty Aim of Management.

THOSE in a position to know are unanimously predicting that the 1913 State Fair will surpass anything of its nature ever before staged in Michigan by an enormous margin. It will be Michigan's greatest agricultural and industrial exposition. All the pleasing features of last year's Fair will be emphasized to a greater degree and new ones introduced that cannot help but meet with the sound endorsement of progressive Michiganders. Fair week will be from Sept. 15 to 20.

The educational efficiency of the Fair will be elevated to a far greater extent than in previous years, and the entertaining and instructive standards will be higher.

All of the big attractions are not ready for announcement as yet, but there is positive assurance that 1913 State Fair visitors will be furnished with the most sensational and at the same time most instructive entertainments ever exhibited in the west.

There will be actual working demonstrations at this year's State Fair which will be of great practical value to every class of people. These exhibitions will convey knowledge to thousands of persons who could not possibly obtain it without the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

No matter in which direction a visitor cares to focus his view at the coming Fair, he will observe something worth seeing and thinking about. It will be the state's show window stocked with the resources of one of the richest commonwealths in the Union.

$100,000 Premium List.

The premium list alone, that of $100,000, is in itself enough to justify the success of the 1913 Fair. This amount is far in excess of that offered by any similar institution of the same size in existence.

This huge sum of money will be devoted toward encouraging production along the lines which will help solve the many problems which confront farmers and the business interests which are dependent upon agricultural productions.

It is the resolve of a thoroughly organized and smooth working management to make the 1913 Fair a powerful factor in the improvement of live stock, farm efficiency and country citizenship. Clean, substantial information and entertainment for all classes and all ages will be the lofty aim of those in charge of Michigan's greatest Fair.

The number of exhibitors, which can be taken as a good barometer of healthy growth, is now far ahead of last year's array. With the premium list just circulated the heads of the various departments are confident of bigger and better exhibits. Even this early adequate space for exhibitors is a problem.

In short, the management will endeavor to supplant the idea that the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 15 to 20, is going to be a superficial entertainment or a home of country vaudeville and show the visitors that it does and will continue to exert a broadening influence throughout the length and breadth of the fairest state in the Union.

Farmers Progress.

Farmers' clubs are springing up in different parts of the state, and more interest is being awakened in better farming methods than ever before. The farmers are taking an intelligent interest in the best methods to pursue so that the boys and girls will remain on the farms.—Minneapolis Journal.

CAUCUS PASSES CURRENCY BILL

DEMOCRATS OF HOUSE PLEDGE
SUPPORT TO ADMINISTRATION MEASURE.

BUT NINE MEMBERS DISSENT
FROM DECISION.

After Nearly Three Weeks of Discussion
the Bill Is Declared a Party Measure and Majority Will Pass It.

The administration currency bill, after nearly three weeks of discussion, was finally approved by the house Democratic caucus, by a vote of 163 to 9.

The nine dissenters were Representatives Henry, Eagle and Calloway, of Texas, Hardwick, of Georgia, Lobeck, of Nebraska, Buchanan and Fowler, of Illinois, Neely, of Kansas, and Sisson, of Mississippi.

After agreeing to the bill, the caucus adopted a resolution by an almost unanimous vote declaring the bill to be a party measure and that "members of this caucus are pledged for the bill to its final passage without amendment, provided, however, the banking and currency committee may offer amendment in the house."

Warner had been employed for several years in the auditor general's office at Lansing.

Miss Mitchell is the daughter of Mrs. George Currey, of Ann Arbor.

New Bird Laws Announced

The secretary of state announces modifications in the Michigan law relative to migratory birds, as made by an act of congress effective Oct. 1, 1913. The Michigan law provides an open season on duck, geese, plover, brant and jacksnipe from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31. The general law, which will govern, protects wood duck after Sept. 30 this year, making a closed season until 1918. The open season for duck, geese and brant is Sept. 1 to Dec. 15. The open season for rails, coots and gallinules is Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. The open season for black-breasted and golden plover, Wilson or jacksnipe and greater or lesser yellowlegs is Sept. 1 to Dec. 15. All other shore birds are protected until 1918 after Sept. 30.

Veterans to Dedicate Boulder.

The Twenty-third Michigan Volunteer Infantry will hold its 48th annual reunions at Birch Run, September 10 and on the following day will go to Saginaw to dedicate a large boulder marking the location of the encampment where the soldiers were mustered in.

THAW CASE TIED UP

Up to New York Lawyers to Try
Some New Method to Get Release of Prisoner.

The case of Harry K. Thaw, so far as Sherbrooke is concerned, entered temporary doldrums.

The court victory of his lawyers in quashing their own writ of habeas corpus and having him recommitted to jail, means either that he will remain there until tried by the king's bench, criminal side, in October, or that New York state, outflanked to date in legal skirmishes, must make some new move looking to his liberation and seizure by the immigration authorities for deportation.

They were working along two lines. William Travers Jerome conferred with the attorney-general of the province of Quebec, seeking some means of obtaining his authority for getting Thaw out of his cell. Other counsel for New York continued their efforts to persuade Alexis Dupuis, a magistrate or justice of the peace at Coaticook, to withdraw the commitment which he issued after Thaw's arrest there 12 days ago and on which the fugitive is held in the Sherbrooke jail.

Big Steamship War in Sight.

The passenger and freight war between the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American Steamship companies will disorganize the Atlantic shipping pool and force all the English lines into the fight as well, according to information obtained at New York.

Both Carl Von Helmont, general manager of the North German Lloyd, and Julius T. Meyer, vice-director of the Hamburg-American, have been in Germany for four weeks at the request of the home offices. Confidential notices already have been sent to their agents throughout the United States and Canada, and sweeping reductions in Cabin, steerage and freight rates may be announced.

Joint Penology Commission Meets.

The joint penology commission created by the last legislature held its first meeting at the executive office and organized. The commission is composed of the wardens and members of the boards of control of various Michigan penal institutions. All wardens and most of the members of the control boards were present. The act provides that the secretary shall be the secretary of state board of corrections and charities and Marl T. Murray, who is that official, was in attendance.

John F. Bently, chief marshal of the Calhoun County Agricultural society, was kicked in the face by a horse at the fair ground and received injuries which may cause his death. He fell as he tried to mount the animal.

Reports from various parts of the upper peninsula bring the information that harvest hands are badly needed in all parts of the territory. Thousands of dollars worth of timothy is standing uncultivated in the fields and will probably be a waste for the lack of men to cut it. Laborers are getting big wages as a result of the shortage of men.

IMPERATOR IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

LARGEST PASSENGER BOAT ON SEAS IS DAMAGED BY FLAMES.

ONE OFFICER LOSES HIS LIFE
CLOSING DOORS.

Panic Breaks Out Among Twelve Hundred Passengers and Many
Are Hurt in Attempting Escape From Steerage.

The Hamburg-American liner Emperor, the biggest passenger-carrying ship afloat, which arrived in port with 3,100 passengers on board, was swept by fire as she lay at her pier in Hoboken, N. J.

Second Officer Herman Corbrecht lost his life while trying to close the fire doors and confine the flames to the fifth deck, or provision room. It was reported that two seamen had been burned to death, and for a long time they were missing, but subsequently were found.

Panic broke out among the 1,200 steerage passengers, and many were hurt. The damage is estimated at $350,000.

While half of the crew of 1,180 men fought the spreading blaze, the balance got all the steerage passengers to safety on the pier.

The fire was discovered in the provision room on the ship about 5 o'clock. Fed by the oils of the food-stuffs, it spread rapidly and at 7:30 some expressed fears that the luxurious $7,500,000 liner was doomed. At that hour the crew was assisted by trained fire fighters from Hoboken, Jersey City and New York, and Capt. Ruser, commander of the giants, said the loss would not be complete, but would be very serious.

Pre-cancelled Stamps to Be Sold.

Postmaster General Bursleson signed an order which provides that pre-cancelled postage stamps may be sold to the public, on and after September 1. Pre-cancelled stamps have printed on them the name of the postoffice before they are sold. Such stamps will be valid for postage on second, third and fourth class mail—newspapers and magazines mailed by the public, books and other printed matter and merchandise or parcel post matter.

The stamps will be recognized only at the office named on them.

By the use of pre-cancelled stamps, not only will the transportation and delivery of mail bearing them be expedited greatly, but it is estimated that the government will save in expense of labor in cancellation $250,000 a year.

Druggists Complain of Doctors.

At a session of the National Association of Retail Druggists' convention in Cincinnati, the members went on record as favoring a federal law changing the selling of narcotics and poisons. The druggists claim that dispensing physicians are allowed to sell narcotics and poisons without any legal restraint and claim that this is a source of great harm.

The law which they favored would confine the sale of these drugs to regular pharmacists and they could sell them only on a physician's prescription, each sale requiring a new prescription. The druggists also passed resolutions condemning the sale in drug stores of alcoholic beverages.

Governors Meet in Colorado.

Madison, Wis., was selected as the next convention city for the conference of governors of the United States, at a session at Colorado Springs.

The time of meeting was left to the executive committee.

The entire executive committee, consisting of Governors McGovern, of Wisconsin; O'Neal, of Alabama, and Ammons, of Colorado, was re-elected. The office of secretary-treasurer was abolished, separate offices being created.

M. C. Riley was re-elected secretary, and J. F. Fort treasurer for the coming year.

Oil Lands Thrown Open.

Oil lands to the extent of 12,000 acres in the Osage Indian reservation in Oklahoma were offered for lease by the interior department through Cato Sells, Indian commissioner.

The leases will be for tracts of from 40 to 160 acres, and bidders for the privilege of boring holes in search of riches will be compelled to make sealed proposals. Commissioner Sells incidentally remarks that the lands lie close to large wells now in operation, "which now have a natural daily flow of from 500 to 1,000 barrels."

ECONOMY IN THE HOME

HOUSEWIFE MUST APPROACH
IDEA WITH COMMON SENSE.

Many Methods of Avoiding Waste Really Are More Costly Than the Ways They Supplant—Saving
Must Be Worth While.

There is a great deal of talk about the waste which constantly occurs in the household. Housewives, some critics assert, do not understand the fundamental principles of economy. Waste which would never be tolerated in the running of a big business goes on in the homes of the land every day.

In a big rubber factory a little while ago there was a chemist who thought that he could obtain sulphur, which is needed in the manufacturing carried on in this plant, from old rubber. The sulphur used cost a few cents a pound. The chemist finally perfected a method of extracting sulphur from the old rubber, and he submitted his method to the factory heads.

It was a perfect method. The sulphur was perfect sulphur. But the method necessitated the expenditure of a couple of dollars for every pound of sulphur saved. And the factory heads, remembering that sulphur cost only a few cents a pound, refused to consider the young man's plan.

It is just this sort of wasteful economy which goes on in some households—and which should be condemned much more energetically than the actual waste that occurs.

A certain housewife heard that dried potato parings made excellent kindling for fires, and she spent an appreciable amount of time each day rescuing the skins from oblivion and spreading them out so that they could dry properly.

The woman who knows how to distinguish between real wastefulness and expenditures for legitimate needs is the really good housewife.

Creamed Eggs on Toast.

Take two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls (scant) of flour, one pint of milk, four eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper one-half of a small onion, six slices of toast. Boil the eggs twenty minutes and lay them in cold water. When cold, remove the shells and cut each egg into six pieces. Cut the onion fine. Place the butter in a small frying pan, and when it is hot slowly cook the onion in it until of a light yellow hue, taking care, however, not to brown either butter or onion at all. Remove the onion, add the flour and stir until the paste is smooth and frothy, but do not let it brown in the least. Draw the pan back, gradually add the milk, return to the heat, and when the sauce boils put in the salt, pepper and eggs. As soon as the eggs are well heated, turn all out upon buttered toast, and serve at once. A few drops of onion juice may be used instead of the onion.

To Remove Mildew.

Take one teaspoonful of chloride of lime and one teaspoonful of washing soda. Put this and the mildewed article into two quarts of cold water and let it boil for about four hours; then skim off the scum, add two pailfuls of cold water and let it stand over night, with the article well covered. If this is not long enough, put the article back again and soak it until the mildew entirely disappears; then rinse well and wash in the usual way. Be sure to take off the scum, for that is what burns the material in so many of the recipes given.

Carrot and Pea Salad.

Seasoning Vegetables.
A teacher of cooking says that for every quart of cooked vegetables four even tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of salt and an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper should be used for seasoning.

English Biscuits.

Sift together one and one-half pints of flour, one cupful of corn starch, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of salt. Rub in three-tablespoonfuls of butter, add one well-beaten egg, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of currants and one tablespoonful of caraway seed. Mix into a smooth, soft dough, roll one-half inch thick, cut in rounds and bake in buttered tins in a hot oven for 20 minutes. When done, rub over with a little butter on a clean bit of cloth.

Rice With Bacon and Tomatoes.

Spanish rice with bacon and tomatoes. Cut up two or three small slices of bacon into small bits and fry until crisp, but not blackened. Cook with the bacon a half of a small onion also sliced fine, but be careful it does not get scorched. Now add one cupful of cold tomatoes, with some pepper and salt, to taste. Cook until hot and well blended. This is fine for breakfast or luncheon. A few green peppers chopped fine can be added instead of the onion.

WILSON DECLARES "HANDS OFF" TO BE THE POLICY TOWARD MEXICO

Nonintervention, Neutrality, and Stoppage of All Shipments of Arms Declared For by the Executive—Will Protect All Americans—Talks Kindly of Nation.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Emphasizing the fact that the United States must remain the firm friend of the people of Mexico in their present stress and trouble, President Wilson today read his long-awaited message on Mexican affairs to congress.

The message was distinctly specific in tone and contains little in the way of recommendation for future policy except the single one that this government must urge earnestly that all Americans should leave Mexico at once and that the United States should assist them to get out of Mexico in every way possible.

The president counsels delay before further action is taken, and says:

Impatience Would Be Childish.
"Impatience on our part would be childish and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. The door is not closed against the resumption, either upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly co-operative action, should fortunate occasion offer.

"So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only await the time of their awakening to a realization to the actual facts. We cannot thrust our good offices upon them. The situation must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances, and I believe that only a little while will be necessary. The circumstances are new. The rejection of our friendship makes them new and will inevitably bring its own alterations in the whole aspect of affairs. The actual situation of the authorities at Mexico City will presently be revealed."

Text of President's Message.

The message follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress: It is clearly my duty to lay before you very fully and without reservation the facts concerning our present relations with the republic of Mexico. The deplorable posture of affairs in Mexico I need not describe, but I deem it my duty to speak very frankly of what this government has done and should seek to do in fulfillment of its obligation to Mexico herself, as a friend and neighbor, and to American citizens whose lives and vital interests are daily affected by the distressing condition which now obtain beyond our southern border.

U. S. a Friend of Mexico.

"Those conditions touch us very nearly. Not merely because they lie at our very doors. That, of course, makes us more vividly and more constantly conscious of them, and every instinct of neighborly interest and sympathy is aroused and quickened by them; but that is only one element in the determination of our duty. We are glad to call ourselves the friends of Mexico, and we shall, I hope, have many an occasion, in happier times, as well as in these days of trouble and confusion, to show that our friendship is genuine and disinterested, capable of sacrifice and very generous manifestation. The peace, prosperity, and contentment of Mexico mean more, much more, to us, than merely an enlarged field for our commerce and enterprise. They mean an enlargement of the field of self-government and the realization of hopes and rights of a nation with whose best aspirations, too long suppressed, and disappointed, we deeply sympathize. We shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves.

World Wants Mexican Peace.

"But we are not the only friends of Mexico. The whole world desires her peace and progress, and the whole world is interested as never before. Mexico lies at last where all the world looks on. Central America is about to be touched by the great routes of the world's trade and intercourse running free from ocean to ocean at the isthmus. The future has much in store for Mexico, as for all the states of Central America, but the best gifts can come to her only if she be ready and free to receive them and to enjoy them honorably. America in particular—America, North and South, and upon both continents—waits upon the development of Mexico; and that development can be sound and lasting only if it be the product of a genuine freedom, a just and ordered government founded upon law. And so can it be peaceful and fruitful of the benefits of peace. Mexico has a great and enviable future before her, if only she choose and attain the paths of honest constitutional government.

No Peace is in Sight.

"The present circumstances of the republic, I deeply regret to say, do not seem to promise even the foundations of such a peace. We have waited many months, months full of peril and anxiety, for the conditions there to improve, and they have not improved. They have grown worse, rather. The territory in some sort controlled by the provisional authorities at Mexico City has grown smaller, not larger. The prospect of the pacification of the country, even by arms, has seemed to grow more and more remote, and its pacification by the authorities at the capital is evidently impossible by any other means than force. Difficulties more and more entangle those who claim to constitute the legitimate government of the republic. They have not made good their claim in fact. Their successes in the field have proved only temporary. War and disorder, devastation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country. As friends we could wait no longer for a solution which every week seems further away. It was our duty at least to volunteer our good offices—the offer to assist, if we might, in effecting some arrangement which would bring relief and peace and set up a uniformly acknowledged political authority there.

Tells of Instructions to Lind.

"Accordingly I took the liberty of sending the Hon. John Lind, formerly governor of Minnesota, as my personal spokesman and representative to the City of Mexico with the following instructions:

"Press very earnestly upon the attention of those who are now exercising authority or wielding influence in Mexico the following consideration and advice:

"The government of the United States does not feel at liberty any longer to stand inactively by while it becomes daily more and more evident that no real progress is being made towards the establishment of a government at the City of Mexico which the country will obey and respect.

"The government of the United States does not stand in the same case with the other great governments of the world in respect to what is happening or what is likely to happen in Mexico. We offer our good offices, not only because of our genuine desire to play the part of a friend, but also because we are expected by the powers of the world to act as Mexico's nearest friend.

Acts in Interest of Mexico.

"We wish to act in these circumstances in the spirit of the most earnest and disinterested friendship. It is our purpose in whatever we do, or propose in this perplexing and distressing situation not only to pay the most scrupulous regard to the sovereignty and independence of Mexico—that we take as a matter of course, to which we are bound by every obligation of right and honor—but also to give every possible evidence that we act in the interest of Mexico alone, and not in the interest of any person or body of persons who may have personal or property claims in Mexico which they may feel that they have the right to press. We are seeking to counsel Mexico for her own good and in the interest of her own peace, and not for any other purpose whatever.

"The government of the United States would be itself discredited if it had any selfish or ulterior purpose in transactions where the peace, happiness and prosperity of a whole people are involved. It is acting as its friendship for Mexico, not as any selfish interest, dictates.

All America Cries for Settlement.

"The political situation in Mexico is incompatible with the fulfillment of international obligations on the part of Mexico, with the civilized development of Mexico herself, and with the maintenance of tolerable political and economic conditions in Central America. It is no common occasion, therefore, that the United States offers her counsel and assistance. All America cries out for a settlement.

"A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on: (a) An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice, solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed;

(b)—Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part.

Huerta Must Not Be Candidate.

"(c)—The consent of General Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election as president of the republic at this election; and (d)—The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and co-operation in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration.

"The government of the United States will be glad to play any part in this settlement or in its carrying out which is honorable and consistent with international right. It pledges itself to recognize and in any way proper to assist the administration chosen and set up in Mexico in the way and on the conditions suggested.

Taking all the existing conditions into consideration the government of the United States can conceive of no reasons sufficient to justify those who are now attempting to shape the policy or exercising the authority of Mexico in declining the offices of friendship thus offered. Can Mexico give the civilized world a satisfactory reason for rejecting our good offices?

Lind Showed Great Tact.

Mr. Lind executed his delicate and difficult mission with singular tact, firmness, and made clear to the authorities of the city of Mexico, not only the purpose of his visit, but also the spirit in which it had been undertaken. But the proposals he submitted were rejected, in a note, the full text of which I take the liberty of laying before you.

"I am led to believe that they were rejected partly because the authorities at Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled upon two points. They did not realize the spirit of the American people in this matter, their earnest friendliness and yet sober determination that some just solution be found for the Mexican difficulties; and they did not believe that the present administration spoke, through Mr. Lind, for the American people.

"Meanwhile, what is it our duty to do? Clearly, everything that we do must be rooted in patience and done with calm and disinterested deliberation. Impatience on our part would be childish, and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. We can afford to exercise the self-restraint of a really great nation which realizes its own strength and scorns to misuse it. It was our duty to offer our active assistance. It is now our duty to show what true neutrality will do to enable the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendly counsels. The door is not closed against the resumption, either upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly co-operative action, should fortunate occasion offer.

Urges Americans to Leave.

"We should earnestly urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once, and should assist them to get away in every way possible. Not because we would mean to slacken in the least our efforts to safeguard their lives and their interests, but because it is imperative that they should not take any unnecessary risks if it is physically possible for them to leave the country. We should let everyone who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning.

Will Remain Neutral.

"For the rest, I deem it my duty to exercise the authority conferred upon me by the law of March 14, 1912, to see to it that neither side to the struggle now going on in Mexico receive any assistance from this side of the border. I shall follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality by forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico.

"I am happy to say that several of the great governments of the world have given this government their generous moral support in urging upon the provisional authorities at the city of Mexico the acceptances of our proffered good offices in the spirit in which they were made."

Mexico's Side of It.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The following is a synopsis of the reply of Senor Gamboa to the proposals of the American government conveyed through Hon. John Lind, as transmitted to congress by the president:

In his reply to the American proposals Senor Gamboa, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, urges the following points:

That President Wilson's imputation that no progress is being made toward the restoration of peace in Mexico is not true.

That the fact the Mexican government enjoys the recognition of nearly all the great nations of the world is proof that it is a true and honorable administration.

That the proposal of an armistice is impossible, because nations do not propose armistices with bandits. To grant an armistice would be to recognize the belligerency of the rebels.

That the request that General Huerta should not be a candidate for the presidency is "strange and unwarranted."

That the election of General Huerta was legal.

That the American proposals are "humiliating and unsound."

That Mexico's ambassador should be received in Mexico and that the United States should send a new ambassador to Mexico.
