The House that You Built

The latest adv. of Montgomery, Ward & Company shows a picture of their building and under this are the words, "The House That You Built". This is the truest adv. they have ever sent out. Every community has contributed to this magnificent building and what has it received in dividends? Absolutely nothing. While on the other hand your community is poorer.

All will admit that a good market is the best resource for any community. If a good market is maintained the town has got to have the united support of the community. If they do have this every farm and every piece of village property in that section is increased in price. If your money goes to build homes in your own community, what you receive back in dividends helps to pay your taxes, build your roads, churches, schoolhouses and an increase in price for your real estate. On the other hand your home merchants have a duty to perform. It is their duty to keep on their shelves the goods of the quality and kind that the people of the community want and not only to sell them at a price as low as the mail order houses but also to let the people of the community know that they have the goods and will sell them for what they are worth.

No man can make a success of business today who does not advertise. If you want trade let the people know what you have got to sell. That is the secret of the success of the big mail order houses, if you are going to compete with them you must use their methods.—Ex.

School Notes

Mrs. M. Lavey, Mrs. Charles Teeple, the Misses Ruth Potterton, Bernardine Lynch and Mae Kennedy and Gregory McCluskey were among the high school callers last week.

A High School Glee Club is being organized and it is expected that a larger interest in musical affairs will grow up among the pupils.

The upper-lower class rush of last Friday morning resulted in a complete victory for the lower classmen.

Owing to the state fair, the cold epidemic and the busy season in the rural districts, the attendance in the high room has been very irregular during the past week.

Miss Mary Eamen of Garden City, Kansas, gave a very interesting talk on her trip abroad at the high room on Tuesday.

The seniors have elected the following officers: Ona Campbell, president; Bernard McCluskey, vice president; Paul Clark, treasurer and Helen Monks, secretary.

The class in physics have completed mechanics of fluids and they are now solving mechanics of solids.

The juniors have organized under the following officers: Alger Hall, president; Clair Reason, vice president; Claude Kennedy, treasurer and Madeline Moran, secretary.

Captain Kennedy has his football uniform in excellent shape, but has been unable to secure dates for games.

JOHN DINKEL

Fatal Accident

Last Saturday night as James Ryan and L. Sweetland of Hamburg were leaving Whitmore Lake they were accosted by Jno. Kearney who asked the privilege of riding with them. The request was granted and in driving home, when about half a mile from Hamburg, the horse left the road and horse, buggy and passengers went rolling down an embankment a distance of about 16 feet.

In falling down the bank Mr. Kearney was thrown in such a way that when the horse came rolling down the bank it fell on him, killing him instantly. Both Mr. Ryan and Mr. Sweetland were badly shaken up and bruised but escaped any serious injury.

The road makes a very sharp turn at this point and it was this that led to the accident. Tracks showed that the horse left the road some distance before the rig reached the point where the accident occurred.

A Farewell Surprise

Last Monday evening a large company of friends and old neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Webb, as a farewell surprise for Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Briggs and family.

Refreshments were served after which in behalf of the company Mr. J. Martin presented them a silver bread tray.

Mr. Briggs and family expect to leave for Flint where they will make their home in the future.

TWO KILLED AT GRAND RAPIDS

BANDITS ENTER JEWELRY STORE AND MURDER CLERKS.

THREE SHOT AS THEY DEFEND STORE.

Robbers Escape After Murderous Attack With Several Thousand Dollars' Worth of Valuable Jewels.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—The murder of two jewelry store clerks and the serious wounding of another by robbers who entered and rifled the store while the streets were alive with people Thursday afternoon is the latest and most serious of a series of crimes which have kept the people of Grand Rapids in terror throughout the summer.

Shortly before 6 o'clock two men walked into the jewelry store of J. J. Thomson, on Monroe avenue, and, with drawn revolvers, demanded that the employes throw up their hands. John T. Thomson, a cousin, of the proprietor, sprang forward and a bullet ended his life. Ed. Smith also started for the men and he, too, fell to the floor, mortally wounded. Paul Townsend, a watchmaker, formerly of Detroit, started from the workshop and received a bullet in the neck. He was taken to Butterworth hospital in a critical condition.

The robbers then dashed from the store and along Monroe avenue to Crescent street, where they disappeared. They took several thousand dollars' worth of jewels.

Anti-American Mexican Resigns.

Mexico City.—Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, Mexican minister of the interior, has left the cabinet, saying he has not the qualifications for the post.

Dr. Urrutia is under charges preferred by Senator Manuel Calero, former Mexican ambassador at Washington, for arresting him in defiance of his immunity as senator.

Dr. Urrutia is a surgeon and had never before had experience in politics. His anti-American sentiments have not been disguised during his term of office and the foreign diplomats here were opposed to his retention in the cabinet. Dr. Urrutia was the author of the so-called Huerta ultimatum to the U. S., which was promptly repudiated by the foreign minister.

Arabs Kill Italian General.

Bengazi, Tripoli.—The Italian commander, General Torelli and 33 Italian officers and men were killed in a battle Tuesday with Arab tribesmen.

The Italian column, which had been operating for some time against the tribesmen, found them strongly entrenched on a high commanding the Valley of Tecniz. When attacked, the Arabs resisted with great stubbornness, being aided by the nature of the ground. But the Italian artillery served with remarkable precision, pouring a hail of shell onto the position and compelling the Arabs to retreat to the desert.

General Torelli fell at the head of his troops while urging them on to the attack.

Important Appointments in Ohio.

Columbus, O.—Governor Cox appointed Hugh L. Nichols, of Batavia, as chief justice of the Ohio supreme court. Mr. Nichols, who was serving his second term as lieutenant governor, is succeeded in that office by State Senator W. A. Greenlund, of Cleveland, who also was appointed by the governor.

Harvey C. Taft, thirty-third degree, one of the best-known Masons in western Michigan, died at Grand Rapids, aged 68 years.

President E. G. Lancaster, of Olivet college, Tuesday announced that Andrew Carnegie has given the institution an endowment of $25,000. A Saginaw man has offered to give $50,000 if an endowment of $200,000 can be reached by Dec. 1. The college now has $85,000.

By a vote of 41 to 4 the United Brethren conference in session in Grand Rapids favored merging with the Methodist Protestant denomination. In the event of consolidation Adrian college and Methodist Protestant church in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Saginaw and Flint would be affected.

A new German Evangelical church has been dedicated at Elkton, taking the place of a new edifice destroyed last January by fire resulting from lightning.

MICHIGAN MAN HONOURED

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Washington Gardner, of Albion, Mich., was Friday elected commander-in-chief for the ensuing year. Col. G. E. Adams, of Nebraska, was the candidate agreed on by a few leaders of the Grand Army at the last encampment, and the election of this year came after one of the hardest fights ever waged in a national encampment. Michigan gained a double victory, procuring not only the commander-in-chief, but the next encampment also, the delegates voting to meet in 1914 at Detroit.

Gen. Gardner's first official act was to appoint Oscar A. James, of Detroit, adjutant general.

Commander-in-chief Gardner was born in Morrow County, Ohio, in February, 1845. At the age of 16 he enlisted in Company D, Sixty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry. He was on duty continuously from 1861 under Buell in the army of the Ohio, under Rosecrans in the army of the Cumberland and under Thomas and Sherman in the campaign against Atlanta until disabled by a gunshot wound during the battle of Resaca, in May, 1864.

New Camera Is Invented.

Vallejo, Cal.—A wireless photographic instrument, which works only at night and is said to reflect everything within a radius of several miles, has been invented, it is declared, by a local inventor, formerly an expert in the government employ.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has invited the inventor to take the machine to Washington for inspections by the navy department. The impressions are made from a screen of wire on top of a tall mast.

Slavery in Islands Again Charged.

Washington—Selling of boys and girls for from $60 to $100 and regarding the practice to sell native women to the highest bidder as a right were told of in a report from W. H. Phipps, auditor of the islands, to Secretary Garrison.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that the charges of Secretary Dean Worcester that slavery in its worst forms exists in the Philippines are true," he said.

It is probable that a formal investigation will be ordered.

Two More Treaties Signed.

Washington—Secretary Bryan signed treaties putting into effect his peace proposals between the United States and Panama and Guantamaia. Like treaties now have been negotiated between this country, and three other nations, while Honduras has agreed to sign a similar pact, and it is expected that a similar agreement soon will be reached with Costa Rica. Secretary Bryan's plan has been accepted in principle by 29 nations.

Heads of Commissioners Appointed.

Washington—Secretary Bryan has appointed Henry St. George Tucker, of Virginia, formerly president of the Jamestown exposition, as the head of a commission on behalf of the Panama-Pacific exposition to visit China and Japan.

The secretary also announced the appointment of former Gov. Alva Adams, of Colorado, as the head of an exposition commission to visit Australia, New Zealand and the East Indies and the Strait Settlements.

British R. R. Strike Settled.

London—The strike of the railroad men in the British Isles was practically brought to an end Saturday.

Officials of the companies reached an agreement with the representatives of the men's unions on the basis of the reinstatement of all strikers who agree to handle all the traffic which the railroads are bound to carry under the law.

Col. J. L. Smith, 69 years old, of Detroit, retained the speed championship title by winning a sprint and a long distance race from seven challengers at the Chattanooga G. A. R. reunion. The Michigan champion took the 100-yard dash in 17 seconds. In the two and one-half mile contest, Col. Smith crossed the tape 300 yards ahead of H. G. Barnes, of Pittsburg. The elapsed time was 16 minutes 10 seconds.

PIMPLES ON FACE AND ARMS

411 Howard St., Dayton, Ohio.—"About a year ago my face, neck, arms and back were beginning to become afflicted with pimples and blackheads. My pimples would get very large and appear to come to a head. If I tried to open them the pain would be terrible, but nothing could be taken from them. They itched very badly; I suffered terribly from itching. After scratching, the pimples would swell and after the swelling was gone my face would become very red and remain so for some time. My clothing used the itching to be worse. When it was warm it was utterly impossible to sleep.

I used a cream and the more I used the worse they got. Shortly after I had the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and determined to try them. The itching stopped almost immediately. This was about three months ago and I am entirely cured now." (Signed) Miss Marguerite E. Robs, Jan. 13, 1913.

Uric Acid Is Slow Poison

Excess uric acid left in the blood by weak kidneys, causes more diseases than any other poison. Among its effects are backache, headache, dizziness, irritability, nervousness, drowsiness, "blues," rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. Later effects are dropsy, gravel or heart disease.

If you would avoid uric acid troubles, keep your kidneys healthy. To stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills—the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Wisconsin Case Mrs. Jane Smith, 6 Clay St., Menasha, Wis., says: "I could hardly get out of bed. My back ached, my body bloated and my ankles were swollen. I lost 46 pounds in weight. Doctors said I didn't know what ailed me and couldn't help me. Finally, I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. All the swelling disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life."

The farmer actually pays a premium for bad roads. He pays it in time expended in getting to market; in value of draft animals and the food they eat; and in the extra hand for their care and handling, in increased number of vehicles and wear and tear on them, and in the decreased product of land that has less attention and care. If the country had a system of smooth and hard highways it would witness a wave of prosperity.

Heart Disease Almost Fatal to Young Girl

"My daughter, when thirteen years old, was stricken with heart trouble. She was so bad we had to place her bed near a window so she could get her breath. One doctor said, 'Poor child, she is likely to fall dead any time.' A friend told me Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy had cured her father, so I tried it, and she began to improve. She took a great many bottles, but she is spared to me today, a fat, rosy checked girl. No one can imagine the confidence I have in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy." A. R. CANON, Worth, Mo.

The unbounded confidence Mr. Canon has in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is shared by thousands of others who know its value from experience. The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

by Harry King Tootle

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT BY A.C. McCLURG & CO., 1912

SYNOPSIS.

Gloria Kerr, a motherless girl, who has spent most of her life in school, arrives at her father's home in Belmont. David Kerr is the political boss of the town, and is anxious to prevent his daughter learning of his real character.

The arrival of Gloria's trunks put an end to further conversation, as she went to superintend their unpacking. Long after she had gone, David Kerr sat gazing into the fire. Many a time he had sat in that room and planned each move of a political campaign from its inception to final victory and had seen those plans carried out to the letter. But here was a campaign. If he should undertake it, which would be different. He would not be fighting on his own ground where he was sure of himself; and into it would enter those unknown, unstable factors—women.

Kerr was proud of his daughter. He recognized that she deserved to associate with the best families. If she was to remain in Belmont he would see to it that she had a social position which would be above cavil. This much decided, there came the question of how it could be brought to pass. The fire had burned low in the grate before he had considered all sides of the question. When he rose from his chair and went to the telephone he had determined upon the only course which would have as its result the launching of Gloria as a debutante in Belmont's exclusive circles.

Great was the surprise in the box office of the Belmont opera house when there came from David Kerr a request for a box. He telephoned to set it aside for him, that he did not know whether or not he would use it, but that he would send a check for the amount in the morning. The much flustered treasurer stammered that he would be most happy to put the box at Mr. Kerr's disposal and have him as a guest of the theater, but Mr. Kerr inquired the price of the box and closed the conversation by repeating that he would send a check for the amount in the morning.

And great was the surprise of the servants when at dinner the master of Locust Lawn appeared in evening clothes.

CHAPTER II.

The English surpass Americans in at least one respect; they have learned as a nation far better than has this newer country the possibilities of a dinner party. Perhaps it is their higher developed social system, more likely it is the general interest which is taken in governmental questions, which gives the dinner table an important, if unofficial, place in political life. A brilliant hostess, with heart and soul wrapped up in her husband's advancement, can do much to aid him as he toils up the ladder of political preferment by gathering at her board the leaders of her husband's party and also prominent men of the opposition. One need have only a superficial knowledge of American politics and American leaders to understand why this is not generally possible here. But there be some here, taking a leaf from England's book, who make the dinner party serve purposes not apparent to all the guests. Judge Amos Gilbert was one of these.

Fond, ambitious mothers held up to their sons as an example the rise of Amos Gilbert from a humble home in a frontier village to a position as the leading corporation lawyer of Belmont. He represented the electric light company, the street railway company, the water company and the stock-yards company. A person with an analytical turn of mind, after studying a list of his clients, might remark that each and every one, individual, partnership or corporation, could be favored by some political turn or damaged by some political machination. They found it better to employ Judge Gilbert than to trust to luck that all would go well.

All day Judge Gilbert had been trying to get in touch with David Kerr by telephone. Kendall, who represented the Chicago packers, had been called back to that city and was anxious to see Kerr before he left that night. Finding in this, Gilbert could make no definite promise as to Mr. Kerr's attitude on certain propositions set forth by the astute Chicago lawyer. On his own authority he did say, however, that the master of Locust Lawn was interested in watching the Belmont News develop its new political position under the new owner and editor who had managed to secure control of the sheet without Kerr's knowledge. That Kendall might see for himself and meet on friendly ground the new and disturbing factor in Belmont politics, Judge Gilbert invited Joe Wright, the new owner of the paper, to dinner. It was just by accident, apparently, that Mr. Kendall had been picked up at almost the last minute.

The only others present were Dr. and Mrs. Hayes. Sam Hayes, a rising young physician and surgeon, was coroner of Belmont county, an office which his society friends joked him about, but one which Hayes recognized and accepted as a political stepping stone. Then, too, it gave him opportunities to repay his political friends. David Kerr liked to have such young men hold office.

Dinner over, Gilbert and Kendall withdrew to the library for a final conference over the stock-yards situation. Again they tried to telephone David Kerr, only to receive the information that he was not at home.

"You really think the Belmont News having been bought by this outsider," queried Kendall, "puts a different aspect on the present situation?"

"Judge for yourself," answered the Belmont attorney. "I had Mr. Wright to dinner tonight so that you could meet him without arousing his suspicions. I wanted to help you that much."

What Kendall really thought he evinced by his indirect reply.

"I don't blame Dave Kerr for being angry because Wright slipped in and bought the paper."

For a minute or more the two men smoked in silence. Kendall was wondering what he could say to his Chicago principals which would make them understand that Belmont was not now the Belmont of the old days, that although to all appearances it was the same the practiced eye could detect the vague unrest which pervaded it.

Judge Gilbert had been too long in the harness to wince at a corporation request for the vacation of a principal thoroughfare and a public park, but he was tired of the long fight for grasping masters whose one demand was always for more, more, more. And yet he had no sympathy with such men as Joe Wright. He had made up his mind, however, that he would not aid the company in this new franchise grab. He was partly led to this conclusion, all unconsciously, because he knew David Kerr was not betraying any interest in it.

"The river eats up our tracks on the west," protested Kendall. "The stock-yards'll never be safe while we depend on the one line." Then he added with emphasis, "We must come down Maple avenue on the east and use Benton Park for switching yards."

"It can't be done. Dave Kerr can do anything he pleases. He's the absolute boss of Belmont."

This was said with such a tone of finality that Judge Gilbert saw no need of replying. He knew that Kerr was the absolute boss of Belmont.

There flashed through the minds of both men the thought that the Belmont News might have something to say. It couldn't prevent a franchise being passed, of course, but publicity at times was unpleasant. This was something Kerr did not court, Gilbert knew. He was the easy boss, letting every one have a share of the spoils, and thus all were satisfied. Few indeed had been the times when the town had attempted to revolt.

"You'd have the whole town up in arms," remonstrated Gilbert.

"They've been up in arms before. Once they brought ropes to hang the council, but Kerr put through the water works deal. You're the attorney for the street railway company; you know what he did there."

"Yes, yes I know," Gilbert admitted hastily. Then with a sigh of relief, "That's all past."

He ran his hand through his hair, gray long before the frost of age could come to silver it, and was thankful that such episodes were things of the past. He was weary of it all. Kendall's next remark, delivered with the chill incisiveness of a lawyer cross-examining a belligerent witness, brought him once more to the defense of the man who had made his success possible.

"Is Dave Kerr keeping out of the deal only through fear of young Wright and the Belmont News?"

"He isn't afraid of anything. Mr. Kerr merely says that it doesn't interest him at the present time. As for me, I'm out of it."

"You're still Kerr's right-hand adviser."

"Pardon me, his legal adviser," Kendall did not pause to acknowledge the distinction, but went on this time straight to the heart of the matter.

"I made what the stock-yards people consider a good offer. If that isn't enough, what's his price?"

This point-blank question irritated Gilbert. He much preferred to call a spade an agricultural implement even when talking with those who stood close to him in his manipulations for the various corporations he represented. He therefore ignored the question, preferring to tell why the matter could not be taken up at present.

"The election's coming on in a couple of months, and your franchise would be made an issue. We can't afford it with the News in a position to boost the opposition party."

"I've got to get it through as soon as possible. There's nothing raw in this franchise, is there?"

"That's the Chicago point of view," answered Kendall. "Stripped of legal verbiage, what you want is to lay railroad tracks, on which will run cattle trains, down a pretty residence street and use a park for terminals, all without giving property owners or the city adequate compensation for ruining or confiscating their property. I call that pretty raw."

"Well, it's our best and certainly our cheapest way if Kerr will put through a franchise for us," Kendall maintained stubbornly. "I'll come back next week, and take the matter up again. In the meantime you can talk it over thoroughly with Kerr. He may have something to say by that time."

"It hardly seems likely. He seldom changes his mind."

"He may this time. I've got to get away now and go by the hotel before I go to the train. Let's go back to the drawing-room, where I can have a few more words with Wright. We may be able to win him over."

"That's what I'm going to try to do," replied Judge Gilbert, as they rose to rejoin Mrs. Gilbert and her guests.

The attorneys entered the drawing-room to find a discussion regarding newspapers just drawing to a close with victory still uncertain on which standard to perch.

"You just missed hearing Dr. Hayes pay his respects to newspapers, Judge Gilbert," said Joe Wright with a smile.

"He May This Time."

The layman's opinions always interest and usually amuse a journalist.

"What's the matter? Have you told him you won't publish the box scores of the ball games this year?"

"I'll do that for him, and gladly."

"Then there's no occasion to kick. That's the only thing that can trouble a fat man."

"This time I was speaking generally," explained Hayes. "I don't like some of the ways reporters have."

"That's only a small part of the business," laughed Wright. "If you complain only about that I shall have you for a staunch adherent."

Mrs. Hayes saw that Kendall was at a loss to understand the drift of the conversation, and accordingly said, "Dr. Hayes is coroner, Mr. Kendall, and the Banner man calls us up at most ungrateful hours."

The Belmont Banner was the morning paper, and its editor, Deacon Jerry Withrow, was always at the beck and call of the boss. Kerr let him think that he had something to do with directing the affairs of the city. This was a harmless delusion, since its pliant attitude always made him consider a suggestion let fall by the boss as a scheme which he himself had hatched.

"I think it is dreadful for nice men to be mixed up in politics," said Mrs. Gilbert.

Perhaps it was no more dreadful than was the lack of knowledge of politics displayed by the nice women of Belmont. This would have been difficult to impress upon Mrs. Gilbert. She knew well enough that her husband was consulted by that odious David Kerr, but that was in a legal way and Kerr paid well for the advice he received. Even the same in which she spoke showed how thankful she was her husband was not in politics. Mrs. Hayes was quick to say what she thought along the same line by adding:

"And Dr. Hayes doesn't have to at all, you know. He says he does it for the good of the party."

This would have been all very interesting to Kendall if he had had the entire evening to spend in such pleasant company. Time was pressing, however, and in the few minutes still at his disposal he wished to sound Wright at greater length about the Belmont News.

Kendall looked closely at the young man whom he had already set down as an opponent. Physically Wright seemed no shirker of a combat. His shoulders were broad and his body well developed. Led to believe from his knowledge of the reformer type that he would find Joe Wright a long-haired theorist and Utopian dreamer, the lawyer found instead a self-possessed, well-balanced young man. The newspaper owner's manner, even in repose, was judicial. To Kendall's thinking he had the air of a man who would not be swayed by prejudice or liking. It was his part, however, as a special pleader, to make Wright think himself too much an idealist—if he could—in opposing the just claims of the stock-yard company.

"I suppose you found the News somewhat run down when you took hold of it," Kendall remarked casually.

"Yes, the name was about all I bought."

"I thought the paper had a pretty good mechanical plant," interjected Gilbert.

Instinctively Wright felt the concerted action masked under the innocent question and the remark by Gilbert. Just what Kendall had to gain he did not know, but since he recognized him as a representative of large interests he thought best to let him know what stand the News might be expected to take. It was just as well that Gilbert should have it clearly in mind also. If the clients of these men were playing the game fair and square they would welcome his kind of newspaper. If they weren't, and Wright knew there had been lapses from grace on the part of some of them, he hoped they would recognize in the paper the power which would first seek to prevent, and, failing in this, then try to correct. Judge Gilbert's allusion to the good mechanical plant he seized upon for a text.

"That's true, the News has a good mechanical plant." He paused to let that sink in before he continued, "Somehow or other when I think of a newspaper I never think of that side of it. I have in mind only the feeling of confidence with which a newspaper inspires its readers."

"What do you think the ideal newspaper is like?" asked Judge Gilbert. He wanted to know to what kind of star this young man had hitched his wagon.

"The ideal newspaper is one which has no axe to grind, and no personal animus in the discussion of private affairs or public questions, but only a constant regard for the truth and the lasting welfare of the state."

Kendall went to what he considered the heart of the matter.

"Aren't you leaving out of consideration, Mr. Wright, that everything—this government, even—is but a compromise?"

"No, I recognize that, and I believe in compromise. Without it we would still be cave dwellers. It is exactly because of this everpresent compromise that an honest newspaper is so valuable. It must see to it that this compromise is open and above board. It mustn't be the give-and-take trade of low politicians in the back room of a saloon or the far more dangerous trades of men higher up and powerful interests; not that kind of compromise, which after all is a sale of something one does not legally own to one who cannot or will not secure it honestly. I tell you that the majority must rule fairly and with a proper deference for the rights of the minority, that's where a newspaper can be of service."

Having decided to deliver a broadside, Wright had gone about it with great enthusiasm. The sight of Mrs. Hayes gazing wonderingly at him, for she did not understand what he meant, caused the editor to break off with a laugh. He recognized that Judge Gilbert's drawing-room was not the proper place for a lengthy exposition of his views.

"I'm afraid I'm preaching," he apologized, "and there's nothing I hate more than that."

"Not at all," protested Kendall. "Your views interest me greatly, Mr. Wright. When I come again I am going to see how far along you are on the road to the ideal."

With this Kendall announced that he must be going, and made his adieux. To have a few last words about Wright, Judge Gilbert accompanied the visiting attorney even to the front gate. His very last assertion was that he himself would have nothing to do with the proposed franchise grab and that he was morally certain David Kerr was of the same frame of mind.

Practical Fashions

LADY'S ONE PIECE DRESS.

This design is very effective made up in one of the new rough materials combined with broadcloth or fine serge. Collar and cuffs show a bit of colored embroidery which is very pretty. An inset of the plain material fills in the opening in the skirt. Small crystal buttons extend down the front of the blouse and skirt. Broadcloth, serge or wool ratine can all be used with this design.

The lady's one piece dress pattern (6349) is cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Medium size requires 5 yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department" of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

LADY'S FIVE GORED SKIRT.

Straight lines are favored in the new separate skirts which have become so popular this season. This five gored model may be made with high or regulation waist line, and close either down the back or on the left side. It will be found an excellent design for broadcloth, serge, and any of the novelty suitings. To give an effectively tailored finish the seams may be stitched.

The ladies' five gored skirt pattern (6324) is cut in sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of 44 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department" of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

Stomach Overworked.
Eating between meals is a habit usually left over from childhood. Growing things need nourishing in small and frequent doses. Grown-ups merely require to repair the waste of the body—and the stomach is a comparatively small organ. Undoubtedly in many bodies it is kept stretched and in the same condition of an attached piece of rubber. How can it do its work?

SULZER IS STILL FULL OF FIGHT

FIRST STATEMENT MADE BY ACCUSED OFFICIAL SINCE TRIAL BEGAN.

FRIENDS SAY HE WILL TESTIFY BEFORE COURT.

Says He Has No Idea of Resigning and That He Is Perfectly Well in Spite of Contrary Report.

Albany, N. Y.—Gov. Sulzer Saturday broke his long silence, which he has maintained since his impeachment trial began, and declared he had no intention of resigning and would fight the battle to the end.

"Resign?" he ejaculated. "I have no more idea of doing that than I have of committing hara-kari."

And then the governor thumped his interviewer on the chest and gave other evidences of the fact that he is in a fighting mood.

Also the governor is not in such ill-health as has been rumored. The fact that he had not seen any one within the last two days led to the report that he was in a weakened condition. He is sleeping late mornings, but he also is working late at night.

"Well?" said the governor. "Yes, indeed, I am."

The governor's formal statement that he would not resign was not issued until after he had argued at great length with his counsel. Throughout the case they have been opposed to his saying anything for publication. But he has overruled them a few times, though not since the trial began.

Counsel for Gov. Sulzer refused to discuss whether he would take the witness stand, but it is said by close friends that he has no other thought. He feels, they say, that he has a story to tell that the people should hear and he is going to tell it.

One Killed in Kansas Wreck.

Manhattan, Kan.—Twenty passengers were injured one was killed, when passenger train No. 20, on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, bound from Denver and Colorado Springs to St. Louis, was derailed on a curve a mile west of here.

Eight coaches left the rails, one of them, the combined steel baggage and smoking car, rolled down a 20-foot embankment, turning over three times and landing upside down. The smoking compartment was full of passengers, most of whom were injured, but none seriously save J. P. Baldy, of Herington, Kan., who was crushed by a falling trunk.

A defective rail is said to have caused the accident. The train was running about 20 miles an hour when it left the rails.

Auto Bandits Plead Guilty.

Toledo, O.—Waiving all right to counsel, Robert Duffey, alias Dwyer, 22 years old, of Buffalo; Arthur Giroud, alias Gerow, 20 years old, of New York, and William Justice, 20 years old, of Philadelphia, auto bandits who held up an automobile party near here early Thursday, pleaded guilty to all indictments.

Four indictments of robbery were returned against each. On each count Giroud and Justice were sentenced to from one to 15 years in the Mansfield reformatory.

Duffey, who was also indicted on a charge of shooting Sheriff Wineland with intent to kill, was sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to 15 years on each of the robbery charges, and from one to 20 years on the shooting charge.

If the youths serve the full time, Justice and Giroud will be locked up 60 years each and Duffey 80 years.

Cholera Scare in Europe.

Belgrade, Servia.—The cholera epidemic is causing consternation in southeastern Europe, its extension north of the Danube being especially alarming.

The hot weather has had much to do with increasing the number of cases. The disease has spread, not so much through actual contagion as through drinking from tainted streams on the border. Field fruit is another source of infection. Moslems celebrating the feasts of Bairam are not over particular when they eat after an all-day fast.

Fresh cases are reported from numerous points in Bosnia, but they are relatively mild.

A new home for incorrigible and homeless boys to take the place of the British home at Boyne City, discontinued, is being established on the shores of Mt. Oaim lake, two miles west of Athlon.

METHODS THAT ARE NOVEL

Best Way of Cooking Ham—Suggestion for Improving the Flavor of Pickles, Etc.

Before cooking a ham, take off a thin "shaving," also the rind, and see how much nicer flavored your ham will be.

To clean black chip hats, rubbing with sweet oil is an excellent way; but be careful not to use too much, and then rub with a piece of black velvet till all the oil is removed.

All pickles should be kept at least one month before opening the jars for use. By opening them sooner they lose much of the delightful flavor which would otherwise be theirs.

Paste labels on the inside of glass jars used to hold food supplies, such as rice, tapioca, spices, etc. Thus labeled, the jar can be washed without soiling the label or pulling it off.

The best way to warm up a joint is to wrap it in thickly greased paper and keep it covered while in the oven. By having it covered the steam will prevent the meat from becoming hard and dry.

Fold a piece of emery paper in the center and draw the knife rapidly back and forth several times, turning it from side to side. This is an excellent sharpener for paring knives.

The pulverized washing powders last much longer if used from a talcum powder shaker. A baking powder can with holes punched through the lid may be utilized for the purpose.

MAKES A DELICIOUS DESSERT

Cherry Bread a Dish That Hostess May Offer Her Guests With Every Confidence.

Fill a deep earthen pudding dish two-thirds full of cherries, blackberries or green apples; add a little sugar, but not enough to make very sweet. Then add just enough water to keep them from sticking and little grated nutmeg. A piece of bread dough just ready to knead into loaf is then pulled and patted out the size of top of dish and about half an inch thick, laid over the fruit and a soup plate or another pudding basin fitted closely on the top. Place the pudding back on the range of coal or wood fire and bake or steam for an hour at least. When done, turn out on to a large round platter, upper side down and the fruit heaped on top. Serve sugar and cream with it while hot. The bread is spongy and light and tender and soaks up lots of cream or milk, and is delicious.

Corn Fritters.

These are a favorite garnish for fried or roast chicken or Belgian hare. To one cupful fresh sweet corn cut from the ear all a half cupful cracker crumbs mixed with a half cupful of milk. Add two well beaten eggs, yolks and whites, whipped separately, and season with salt and pepper. Have ready a hot sheet-iron spider or pancake griddle, well greased with butter, pork drippings or oil, and drop in the batter a spoonful at a time. When the fritters are browned on one side turn the other so they may be well cooked through. Four minutes will make them a golden brown.

Peach Leaf Flavor.

If you find a leaf in the next basket of peaches that comes from the grocer, don't throw it away. Use it for flavoring. It gives a delicious almond flavor, pungent, yet delicate. If you are making custard, boil it in the milk to bring out the extract. For blanc mange or any other milk dessert use it in the same way.

Three-in-One Pie.

Steep one cup seedless raisins until soft, then cool; add one cup cranberries, one cup rhubarb or chopped apples, one cup sugar, a little grated nutmeg, sprinkle two tablespoons of flour, place bits of butter on top. Bake between two crusts.

Dinner Nuts.

Salted Brazil nuts and salted pistachio nuts are in great favor for dinners. The pistachios have a pleasant quality, almost as acid as a lemon, which is particularly satisfactory with fish served as a second course.

Washing Lace Collars.

When washing lace collars always baste them on a piece of white muslin to dry.

This is very good, as they can be ironed without difficulty and do not tear from being washed.

Ice Cream Cake.

One cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1/2 cup butter, 1 spoon cream tartar, save out two whites for frosting, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, 1/2 cup milk, 1 small teaspoon vanilla in the cake and also small teaspoon of vanilla in the frosting. Frost with 2 whites, beaten stiff, powdered sugar and a little cocoanut. Put nut meats on the frosting.

For Grease Spots.

Eucalyptus oil will remove grease spots without injuring the most delicate fabric.

Something Else Again.
"How's the doctor today?"
"Gardener—Very poorly, sir."
"Has he got a locum tenens?"
"Gardener—No, sir. I think he has got a touch of influenza."

Fishing for Fish.
Many people there are who delight in just fishing for fish. Such a one was John Quincy Adams. The story was told by one of his clients, whose case was to be tried on a certain morning, that he could not get his counsel to leave his fishing boat except long enough to write a note to the judge which read: "Dear Judge—For the sake of Isaac Walton please continue my case until Friday. The smelt are biting, and I can't leave." And the judge having read the note, announced to the court: "Mr. Adams is detained on important business."—Christian Herald.

In the Police Court.
"Were you intoxicated?"
"No, your honor; on the contrary, I was ostentatiously sober."

One Obstacle to Happiness.
"No," declared the young man, with a touch of sadness in his voice—"it may be that some day I shall be happy, but at present it is beyond me."
His companions were interested. "There is a girl I love dearly," he continued. "She would have me if I asked her, but I dare not. I really cannot marry and live on $10,000 a year."
Consternation and pity were depicted on the faces of his friends.
"You can't marry on $10,000 a year?" asked one. "Why not?"
"Why not?" echoed the youth. "Simply because I haven't the $10,000!"

Turkish Crops All Good.
Turkish crops this year are to be exceptionally good. In the farmer districts the crops have already been gathered in and in the hilly parts of Asia Minor a beginning is now being made. Although nearly all the males capable of bearing arms in Asia Minor were called to the front, 20 per cent. more land was put under cultivation than in 1912 and many of the grain crops will be four or five times as big as last year.

In the Singlar.
George Ade, at the Chicago Athletic club, listened to a youth's passionate paenegyric on love.

"Wait till you've married her," said Mr. Ade. "Wait till you've been married to her fifteen or twenty years. Then you'll be like Sinnickson."

"Sinnickson's wife looked up from a novel the other evening and said dreamily:

"I've been thinking, dear, of our courtship—those ecstatic days!"

Pinckney Lyceum Course

The Pinckney Citizen's Lecture Course for the coming year will be as follows:

The Raweis, October 14.
Dr. Wm. A. Colledge, November 11.

Mrs. L. M. Lake, December 5.
Dr. Huelster, January 15
Barnard's Orchestra, February 4.

Reserved seats will be placed on sale at Meyer's Drug Store, Saturday afternoon, October 14, at 3 o'clock. Season tickets are now on sale and may be secured at the Drug Store or of any member of the committee.

The price of the season tickets this year are $1.25, the same as last year. The course provided for this season is one of the very best and includes much expensive talent.

Detailed programs of each lecture will be printed in this paper as each number occurs on the course. The following will give you an idea of what the Raweis program consists.

THE RAWEIS.

The Raweis comprise a company of three native New Zealanders who present in music, pictures and story a fascinating portrayal of native life in the south sea islands. In this interesting company are Mr. and Mrs. Rawei and their son. They have been in this country three years, speaking to great audiences everywhere. They have appeared twice in the Art Institute, Chicago, and in widely known Lyceum courses.

The Rawei family are native Maoris and are handsome specimens of their race. In their public exhibitions they wear the queer but picturesque costumes of the native islanders. Mr. Rawei himself was born in the wilds of northern Zealand, among the most savage people, was adopted by an English lady of wealth when about twelve years old, given a thorough education and enabled to graduate with high honors and the degree of master of arts from Christchurch University.

The presentation of "From Savagery to Culture" is so cleverly and artistically done and is so full of the interest of novelty and wonder that it compels the utmost enthusiasm. It is captivating to the last degree, full of delight and surprises.

The audience is held under a spell of fascination by the weird ballads, the love songs, the canoe choruses, the war chants and incantations and the numerous beautiful pictures of the marvelous island scenery.

How Thackeray Regarded Scott.
Though Thackeray thought Dumas greater than Scott, yet for the latter he felt much admiration and even reverence. When a popular novelist one day justified himself for something he had written by urging that Scott had written it also Thackeray replied: "I do not think that it becomes either you or me to speak of Sir Walter Scott as if we were his equals. Such men as you or I should take off our hats at the very mention of his name."—"Some Aspects of Thackeray," Louis Melville.

In Some Places.
