An Explanation

There are always two sides to any question and altho people generally acknowledge this, they fail to apply it unless it suits them.

Regarding the closing the stores at six o'clock, it is all right for the ones that want to do so, and it sounds liberal to say that they want rest for themselves and their clerks, but the other side of it is this: The good Lord appointed one day to rest and believing that He knew what is best we keep our store closed Sunday and rest as much as we possibly can; then, as this store is as much a home for us as any we have here and as trade is not so rushing but what we have ample time for rest hours, we agree (my clerk and I) that we are not over-doing ourselves to keep the store open until we see fit to close it at a reasonable hour. I am not trying to fix any limit to my neighbors time nor strength, but kindly ask them to not try to limit me. adv.

MRS. A. M. UTLEY.

State School for Farmers

Michigan farmers are to be given the opportunity by the Michigan Agricultural College to go to school at home. Plans have been completed looking to the establishment in each county where the farmers desire it of a county school to last a week, with discussions of such topics as live stock, crops, soil, dairying, bee keeping, etc., led by college instructors.

To put the plan in operation 25 or more farmers in each county must agree to pay $1 each for the instruction, and a local organization must make all the arrangements and obtain a room suitable for holding the school session. Soil will be examined, special local conditions will be studied and efforts will be made to make the course of specific rather than general interest. President Snyder is urging the farmers to write their congressmen urging the passage of the Lever bill, which will obtain for Michigan within ten years an annual income of $100,000 for farm extension work.

Keep the dates of the M. E. Fair in mind, Friday, November 7th and Saturday, November 8th. You can buy Christmas gifts, food products and household necessities at the opera house those two days. Friday evening there will be a "Dutch Lunch" to which all may come. Music will be furnished during the evening also. Saturday night there will be a big chicken pie supper beginning at five o'clock and continuing until all are served. Price 25c for the supper. Mr. Henry Isham and son will furnish the music.

It has long been a pet scheme of Dr. H. F. Sigler that some one would make a motor buggy that would run in winter when the road conditions are such that it would be too expensive to run the ordinary automobile. C. E. Duryea of Saginaw makes a rig that seems to fill the bill and Sunday morning Art Flintoft and the doctor came into town in fine style with a Duryea motor buggy, having run the same from Saginaw. Mr. Flintoft says we knowing nothing of bad roads here. The car came through in good shape and seems to have power to go anywhere. It is easily managed and there is but little more to it than the ordinary carriage. The Duryea Motor Co. are selling all they can make. C. E. Duryea is a pioneer in auto building and an expert in the business, also consulting engineer to the American Automobile Association.

When death comes to a family after a long sickness, the grief is hard to bear, but when the grim reaper takes a life in the midst of apparent good health, as he did Mrs. Geo. Hassenchal, the shock is almost beyond bearing at all. Mrs. Hassenchal and a little girl were gathering hickory nuts in a field on their farm last Sunday afternoon, when the former complained of feeling so queer and in less than a second afterward fell over dead. The little girl at once called to the young husband farther back in the field but when he reached his wife's side, she was beyond human aid. The deceased was born in St. Johns, New Brunswick. Funeral services were held at the Cong'l church, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mitchell, officiating. Interment will be made in Detroit. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the grief stricken husband and relatives.

HOUSEKEEPERS Must be Watchful

For great efforts are being made in this vicinity to sell baking powders of inferior class, made from alum acids and lime phosphates, both undesirable to those who require high-grade cream of tartar baking powder to make clean and healthful food.

The official Government tests have shown Royal Baking Powder to be a pure, healthful, grape cream of tartar baking powder, of highest strength, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world.

MOST POPULAR AND DELICIOUS VEGETABLE

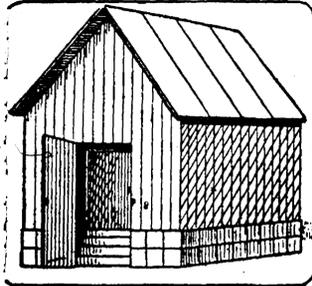

To have success with this fastidious vegetable requires a high degree of soil fertility, plenty of moisture and proper drainage. They must be protected from excessive sunshine. The cabbage root maggot is the worst enemy of the cauliflower. Plant lice bother it some, but dusting with fine tobacco dust will be found an effective remedy.

PLAN FOR ICE HOUSE

Building Should Be Located on Easily Drained Ground.

Protection From Scorching Rays of Sun is Also of Importance—Sawdust is Considered Best Material for Packing Walls.

The location of the ice house is important. It should be placed on ground that is easily drained, and if possible located beneath the shade of some large tree that the beaming rays of the sun may not beat on it in the hot summer time. Here is a good plan for building an ice house which has been used by a number of farmers; Make an excavation three feet deep and 12 by 12 feet. Wall this up with brick or cement blocks, letting the wall extend two feet above the ground. Dig a trench and put in a tile drain. Now put up the house, using two by ten studding ten feet ong for the walls. Place the studding two feet apart. Then board up the building inside and out. A cheap grade of lumber may be used for inside work. A hollow space ten inches wide will be left in the walls, and this should be filled with sawdust. Straw is not good for this purpose, and should not be used. Either shingle or felt roofing may be used for covering, but one should be certain to get the roof high enough so that he will not strike his head when putting in the ice. The door to ice house should be two feet eight inches by six feet eight inches or close to these dimensions. Cleats should be nailed to the inner and outer edges of the door facing to hold ends of boards that may be slipped in and sawdust tamped down between them. Put coarse slinders over the floor of ice house and cover them with eight inches of sawdust. Now the house is ready for

Inexpensive Ice House.

FEEDING THE PREGNANT EWE

Should Be Supplied With Some Kind of Supplementary Feed to Maintain Suitable Condition.

It is very important in the growth and development of the unborn lamb that the pregnant ewe be maintained in a healthy, flesh-forming condition during the winter months.

As soon as the cold weather comes and renders succulent crops of forage and pasture grass less plentiful the ewes should be supplied with some kind of supplementary feed in order that they may maintain a suitable flesh condition.

The ewes should be allowed to run outside and obtain plenty of fresh air and exercise until early in the winter, providing they are fed a little clover, hay and grain food. In this way the change from grain feed to dry feed is modified by the succulent feed obtained about the farm during the fall.

This is one of the most important points to be observed in changing the ice. Cut the cakes of ice the size to fit your ice box or refrigerator, and be certain to secure the purest ice possible. At the ice house the cakes can be slid down a long board into their places. I believe it is best to set the ice up edgewise, says a writer in the Iowa Homestead. The cakes are easier to get out and they retain their usual thickness. Pack the ice to within five inches of the wall all around the building and pile ten or twelve feet high. The ice should be packed as solidly as possible, therefore all cracks should be filled with small chunks and particles of ice. Put eight inches of sawdust over top of the ice, packing it down in the five-inch space all around the house.

REVIVING DEAD SOIL SPOTS

Lack of Plant Growth Sometimes Attributed to Want of Water—Manure is Lacking Essential.

(By H. P. FISHBURN, Assistant Chemist, Idaho Experiment Station.)

On land devoid of sufficient organic matter or sand, there sometimes occur spots that are apparently dead or unresponsive to water and plant life to any marked degree. Lack of plant growth is sometimes attributed to want of water, and oftentimes such may be the case, but the spots in question are of a different nature from the surrounding soil, usually very compact and most impervious to water, indicating a too large percentage of clay.

Experiments have shown that these spots can readily be brought to a high state of fertility by the proper incorporation of manure. Such a condition could not easily be remedied if it were a case of alkali, which answers the question several times asked, whether or not this be a case of alkali.

Study Your Cows.

In learning about the individual cows in your herd you are studying a problem that is of much interest, deeper and greater than simply looking at the animal. You are endeavoring to find out some of the hidden forces of nature that produce these different results. Get acquainted with your cows, individually. Get acquainted with their different wants, their different tastes; and also find what results are obtained from the individual cows, so that you can treat them according to their deserts. Some of them deserve the very best of treatment because they are doing good and profitable work. Others should be sent to the butcher, because they are leeches on the good work of the others.

pregnant ewes from the pasture to dry winter ration.

A roughage ration of any kind is not sufficient to maintain the ewes in good flesh condition and properly nourish the growing fetus. For winter rations many good feeders prefer to feed ewes a grain ration made up largely of such home-grown feeds as oats, barley, peas and a limited amount of corn. Corn should be fed with judgment, as it has a tendency to make a surplus fat which is more injurious than beneficial to pregnant ewes. For a roughage ration clover hay and corn stlage will give the ewes a diet that will stimulate their appetites and promote their health.

Salt as a Fertilizer.

Almost any sort of material that contains soluble potash, phosphoric acid, or nitrates has more or less fertilizing value, but salt has not a trace of any of these. Sodium and chlorine are all it has to offer. Salt might possibly have some little effect on the physical condition of the soil under some conditions, but even this would be too slight to warrant its use.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1913, by the addition of 400,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. Most of these have gone on farms in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English Nobleman, says: "The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England, that it seems absurd to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they can most easily and certainly improve their position."

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessible a great number of homesteads in districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

After Dark Chores are Easy for Jones

Jones has a big enclosed Acetylene light in his barn. A big, round, brilliant, white light. A light he calls "the sun's little brother." This big light is solidly fastened to a heavy timber, and unlike Jones' old oil lantern, it can't be tipped over. Jones turns this high candle power light on—without a match, by simply pulling a little wire rod that hangs from the light. On cold winter nights (when its dark at 4:30. When he gets home from town late— Or when he has a sick "critter" to look after, Jones finds his big barn light a great convenience. He says he wouldn't take $1,000 for it. Mrs. Jones too, shares in the good thing. She has acetylene light in every room in her house, and her light fixtures are handsome ornaments of brass and bronze.

These Pilot Lighting Plants

Are not storage tanks. They make Acetylene—a very little at a time—as the burners use it. The Pilot is one of hundreds of patented Acetylene machines. All built on different principles to do the same work. The test of time has brought "The Pilot" out on top. The principle on which it works has proved to be the correct one. Today we sell more Light machines than all other manufacturers in this country put together. We sell these Pilot plants complete—through three factories and 3,000 local representatives. We have a big eastern factory in Newark—a big central factory in Chicago and a Western Warehouse in Los Angeles. A complete plant includes the machine, gas pipes, light fixtures and the cooling range. Such a plant costs much less in a water or heating system. It is as permanent as a burner, and as necessary to make your home modern. Our 3,000 representatives are residents in the districts they serve. Each one established in a permanent growing business. They are on the grounds to see to it personally that purchasers of Pilot plants get "value received" for their money. In your district we are represented by

WRECK OF THE 10:10

BY HAROLD CARTER.

It was a slack evening in the office, I remember, and a group of us were sitting chatting around the reporters' table farthest from Dunning, the night editor, who had looked around rather frowningly once or twice, as if the conversation disturbed him.

Broad's fiancée was to arrive that evening on the 10:10 from Washington, and Broad, who had been celebrating in honor of the event, was telling us all the details of their recent quarrel and reconciliation.

"Sh-h!" said some one; and just then a boy entered with a late edition of the "Planet," wet from the press, and handed it to Dunning.

"Mr. Broad!" he said sharply, and then, changing his mind, left his seat and hurried toward us. "Mr. Broad, I want you to go out to Crayfield instantly. The 10:10 from Washington has been wrecked outside the station. Hurry, and telephone all the news. And say, try to get a list of the dead."

"My God!" said Broad, and sank down into his seat. He buried his face in his hands and his shoulders shook convulsively. Somebody explained the situation in a few words, and Dunning's face took on an expression of intense sympathy. He placed one arm about Broad's shoulders and drew him to his feet.

"Too bad, old man," he said. "But I guess you'll be crazy now unless you get to Crayfield as soon as possible, so perhaps it would be the kindest thing to let you cover the assignment."

"Yes, I'll go," cried Broad, pulling himself together. Then, one after another, he detailed us; one to the railroad offices, another to the president's house, another to catch the general manager at his club. I was among the few not assigned and, retreating to my desk, waited.

We did not like to think about the subject. It was too ghastly for conversation. There was nobody but liked Broad, big, generous-hearted, free-headed.

Three-quarters of an hour elapsed. Dunning sat stiffly at his desk, writing indefatigably, glancing over fancies and casting copy aside. His face was blanched; the situation seemed to have affected him as much as any of us. Once in a while the telephone would ring, but it was always local news or a report from some of the men on assignment. There was no word from Broad.

"If she's among them," began Kemp—and we knew he meant the dead—"Broad won't telephone."

"O yes, he will," I answered confidently; and at that moment the telephone rang so sharply that somehow I knew it was Broad calling from Crayfield. Dunning took up the receiver and held it to his ear a moment. Then he called me.

"It's Broad," he said. "He's calling and says he has a good story. Don't go into a booth; take it down here. I've told him to go slow. And say," he added, "don't let him get away without giving you the list of the casualties."

I took up the receiver and at the first sound I knew that Miss Phayre was safe.

"How is she?" I called. "Fine," answered Broad's voice. I thought there was the suspicion of a sob in it. "Are you ready? O, Miss Phayre? Just a trivial injury, thanks, old man. The 'Planet' story was incorrect. Now then," I began taking down the story, while Dunning looked over my shoulder.

"The 10:10 train from Washington to New York was ditched on the far side of Crayfield at 10:02," I wrote. "A broken rail is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The engine and the first three cars plunged down an embankment; the remaining cars left the rails, but did not overturn.

The passengers all escaped with minor injuries except one unidentified man who—"

Suddenly Dunning pitched over and fell to the ground. He had fainted. Kemp ran to raise him, and, temporarily diverted from the telephone by the occurrence, I found myself glancing at the copy of the "Planet" in Dunning's half-opened drawer of his desk. On the page facing me I read, among the list of the dead: "Mrs. George Dunning of Washington." (Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

Man in Burglar's Mask Was Only Introducing Patent Safety Alarm and Preventer.

As I opened the door I saw a man with a burglar's mask kneeling before the safe. The next moment he had turned and shoved a revolver into my face.

"Throw up your hands!" he said.

I did so. "You understand," he remarked pleasantly, "that I can in the present circumstances loot the premises at my pleasure?"

I confessed that he could. "You realize that you are at my mercy?"

"I do," I replied. "You acknowledge that I can blow you to kingdom come if I like?" he persisted.

"Certainly," I admitted. "Well, then," he said, "you will be interested to know that I got in without difficulty through your parlor window. Had it been equipped with Smith's patent safety burglar alarm and preventer this could not have happened. Installed, complete with batteries, for $25. Allow me to hand you a circular. Good night, sir."

Then, pocketing his revolver, he withdrew.

WHY THE PRICE WAS HIGH

Sir Joshua Reynolds' Notice of Sketch Made It Worth Vastly More, Said Dealer.

"What do you ask for this sketch?" said Sir Joshua Reynolds to a picture dealer whose portfolio he was examining. "Twenty guineas, Sir Joshua." "Twenty pence, I suppose you mean." "No, sir; I would have taken twenty pence for it this morning, but if you think the drawing worth looking at all the world will think it worth buying."

A London dealer who had made a few trifling purchases at a second-hand furniture shop in the country was leaving it, when he caught his foot in the string of a picture and fell. Having picked himself up, he examined the picture to see if it had been damaged. It had escaped injury, and he found, to his surprise, that in thus tripping he had—literally—stumbled upon a print of the duchess of Rutland, after Reynolds, by Valentine Green, in its first state. The dealer bought the print for £4 and afterward disposed of it for £1,000.—From Jerningham's "Bargain Book."

OLD PUFFS AND SWITCHES

Ladies of Twenty-Five Centuries Ago Made Liberal Use of Borrowed Hair.

Caesar's wife may have been above suspicion so far as her morals were concerned, but the same could not have been said about her hair, any more than it could about the hair of the fashionable matron of today.

The Greek, Egyptian, Carthaginian and Roman ladies of twenty-five centuries ago made use of the most astonishing quantities of borrowed hair, and the Roman women of the time of Augustus were especially pleased when they could outdo their social rivals by piling upon their heads a greater tower of additional tresses. They also arranged curls formally around the head.

An extensive commerce in human hair was carried on, and after the conquest of Gaul, blond hair, such as grew originally on the heads of German girls along the Rhine, became very fashionable in Rome. Caesar did not disdain to mix a little commercialism with his military enterprises and collected a vast amount of hair from the vanquished Gauls, which he sent to market at Rome, and in the Roman provinces a cropped head was regarded as a badge of slavery or at least of subjection.

The hairdressers of Rome were persons of real importance and charged exorbitant prices for forming the hair into fanciful devices, such as harps, wreaths and diadems.

Business Man Praises Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

Successful Merchant After Investigation Found a Remedy That Restored His Health.

"This is Thanksgiving day in the state of Pennsylvania, and I want to devote a part of it by writing a letter to you, On the 26th day of November, 1910, I was stricken with heart trouble. My family physician called it Angina Pectoris. I had from one to five attacks in 24 hours. In the latter part of December, 1910, I wrote to the Miles Medical Co., for information concerning my case, and in reply I received a very kind and instructive letter, which I handed to my family doctor, and he told me to use your Remedies in connection with the medicine he gave me, so I did. I used five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and seven bottles of Dr. Miles' Nerveine. I was confined to the house for about four months. The action of my heart is now, and has been normal for the last six months. I can truly recommend Dr. Miles' Nerveine and Heart Remedy to do what they are intended for, if used according to directions. I thank you kindly for your advice in answer to my monthly reports. I am now sixty-seven years of age, have been in the mercantile business for thirty-five years and lived retired for the last thirteen years." A. B. HOLLINGER, Lincoln, Penna.

We Can Save You Hundreds of Dollars on Coal-Bills

We can do it with a Favorite Base Burner. The Favorite will save at least two tons of coal every year it is in use. Two tons of hard coal cost $14.00. If properly taken care of, the Favorite will last at least 25 years. Total saving, $350.00. Perfectly clear, isn't it, and more than that, perfectly true.

The Favorite has features that make it the most wonderful and economical heating stove in existence—and these features are all patented.

You may now have some other base burner in your home. Never mind that. Come to us, and we will exchange it for you, allow you a good price and put in one of the Favorites. You may as well save the price of two tons of coal this winter as not, and the Favorite will do it for you. It is the only base burner that will. We will back all of these statements and claims with a personally signed guarantee—put it in black and white if you want it.

Place the Favorite in your home. Try it all winter if you want to. If you do not find it just what we have represented it to be, and what others have found it to be—bring it back. We will refund your money.

Ask any other dealer to put their stoves to such a test. They would not dare do it. We can, because we know what the Favorite will do, and we know what it has done in scores of homes right here in this vicinity. That is why we can make such a liberal offer and know positively the stove will make good.

Come and see us and we will talk it over. Remember, we are willing to let you have the use of the Favorite all winter for nothing if you do not find everything we have said about it to be true. We will make terms to suit—cash or easy payments.

YEGGS ROB BANK AT FALMOUTH

ROBBERS GET THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS AND MAKE ESCAPE.

ONE STANDS GUARD WITH GUN WHILE PAL WORKS.

Officers Believe That Job Was Done By Same Men Who Robbed the Bank at Harrietta Several Weeks Previously.

Cadillac, Mich.—A well planned bank robbery similar to that of the bank of Harrietta seven weeks ago, was successfully pulled off at Falmouth, Missaukee county, when the Bank of Falmouth was blown and about $3,000 and all else of value in the safe was obtained by two supposed yeggmen.

While one was working on the inside the second, safely barricaded behind large piles of grindstones and roll of wire, stood guard in front of the bank door with a gun. The inside of the bank was reduced to kindling.

A. J. Bunning, president of the bank, was awakened by the explosions and reached the bank in time to see the robbers running towards McBain. Bunning realized the men would try to make the southbound Ann Arbor train which leaves McBain at 5 o'clock. He aroused the town and pursuit was started. Telephone communication had been cut by the robbers, who also stole a team of horses from James Meyering on the outskirts of the town.

The bank is owned by A. J. Bunning of Falmouth, F. O. Gaffney and Thomas Kelly of this city, and is capitalized at $100,000. The officers believe the men who did the job are the same as those who blew the bank at Harrietta.

Fire Loss Smallest In History.

Lansing, Mich.—"Never since the organization of the state fire marshal's department has there been so few fires reported to the department during any one month as in October," said John T. Winship, state fire marshal. Commissioner Winship says that during the month there were only 136 fires reported as compared to 249 for the preceding month, and 236 of the corresponding month a year ago. Fifty-three of the 136 fires were caused by defective chimneys, careless use of matches, etc. Property valued at $487,883.01 was involved with damage amounting to $113,878.19 and insurance on the same amounting to $402,576.03. Fifty fires were of unknown origin, 10 were caused from lightning and two were caused from candles. In October the department made 170 inspections of moving picture theaters, issued 124 orders, approved 111, issued 104 licenses, making the total number of licenses issued to date, 336. Thirteen theaters were closed.

Federation to Open Stores.

Calumet, Mich.—Officials of the Federation of Miners are making efforts to keep their men in line and checkmating, as far as possible, efforts of the Commercial club to induce the men to return to work. They are establishing stores at Calumet, Laurium, Allouez and Painesdale, where goods will be sold strikers at cost. They claim they can support 5,000 strikers and families through the winter.

Fearing they will be discriminated against the non-socialistic Finns, headed by Finnish business men of the district, have applied to the companies for re-employment. They have been assured they will not be discriminated against if they renounce the federation.

Judge O'Brien has decided to admit affidavits as testimony in cases against strikers charged with violation of the injunction.

At the annual convention of the third district W. C. T. U. at Mason, Maude Holmes, of Eaton Rapids, was elected president. Grand Lodge was chosen as the place for the next convention.

The Independent Congregational church of Battle Creek, announces that as soon as a booth can be built for the machines, it will enter the "movies" field and show only high class films.

Carl Pearsall, 13 years old, son of a farmer east of Benton Harbor, while hunting with other boys, fell from a stump on which he was standing and in the fall discharged the gun, the full charge entering his breast. He died a few minutes later.

Head of the Salvation Army has arrived for his first visit in America. He is 57 years of age and was his father's chief lieutenant for a number of years.

AUTO CRASH KILLS THREE

Bay City, Mich.—Alex. Turpin, night clerk at the Forest City house, died at the West Side hospital Saturday morning from injuries received a few hours earlier in a motor car accident in which Marvin Luke and George Jones of Detroit were instantly killed. Olive Lee, Kate Papiński and Mary Williams, dining room girls, were all badly bruised, and Miss Lee sustained a broken arm. J. Greeley, driver of the machine, and C. F. Dittman, also of Detroit, escaped without injury.

Creeley invited the party for a ride, promising to bring them back in an hour. They were driving in Marquette avenue when the machine left the pavement and ran into a row of trees "sideswiping" two or three of them before it stopped, a mass of wreckage with the victims caught beneath it. Luke was crushed under the steering apparatus and Jones had a fractured skull.

The Detroit men were employed by the Vinton Co. and had been engaged in decorating Trinity Episcopal church here for several weeks.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

At the bankruptcy hearing in the case of the defunct Fox & Mason Furniture Co., of Corunna, it was decided to sell the plant to the highest bidder, Nov. 19.

The three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stevens, of Rochester, was burned to death in an upper room of the family home. The child was playing alone and it is believed she got hold of matches and set her clothing afire.

The law making it a misdemeanor to have dogs in the woods during the deer-hunting season will be rigidly enforced from now on, according to William R. Oates, state game warden. Dogs found running at large will be shot on sight.

Thomas Roberts, one of the four survivors of the 15 men who were in the cage that dropped from the top of the Jones & Laughlin mine shaft to the bottom in 1907, a distance of 662 feet, died at Iron River. Roberts never walked after the accident on account of injuries sustained.

Precautions for the stalling and care of cows during the winter have been summed up on printed instructions and are being distributed to the farmers of the state by State Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme. The instructions make clear the importance of clean stalls in relation to pure milk.

The Michigan Central railroad has announced that it intends to construct new car shops and build a new freight depot at Bay City and that ground will be broken in a few weeks. The work will cost more than $500,000. The road has just spent about three-quarters of a million for new round houses and yards at this point.

President W. S. Linton, Saginaw board of trade, has appointed a committee of 15 to promote a campaign for pure water. The common council committee has started a movement to obtain a filtration plant, and both business and municipal bodies promise to unite so the Saginaw public shall not depend on corner pumps for drinking water.

PRISON REFORM PUT INTO EFFECT

CONVICTS IN ATLANTA WILL BE KNOWN BY NAMES HERE-AFTER.

LETTERS ON UNIFORM ALSO ADOLISHED.

Measure to Remove Humiliation From Men in Penitentiary, Long Advocated by Warden Moyer, is Sanctioned.

Atlanta, Ga.—Prisoners at the Atlanta federal penitentiary hereafter will be known by names instead of by numbers, and their letters "U. S. P." Announcement of this radical departure from prison custom was made by "Good Words", the paper which is edited and published in the penitentiary.

Ever since the establishment of the federal prison here convicts have lost their identities immediately on entering, being designated only by registration numbers. They also have been requested to wear on their clothing the prominently displayed lettering branding them as United States prisoners.

For more than a year Warden Moyer has urged upon the officials of the department of justice at Washington that these degrading marks of prison life be abolished and recently, according to "Good Words", his plan was given official sanction. Hereafter, while his registration clothing will bear his registration number it will be for identification only and will be concealed from sight.

Receipts Show Little Decrease.

Washington.—Although the new tariff act with its lowered rates of duty has been in effect practically a month, the customs receipts have so far shown little falling off. According to the treasury statement November 1, the customs receipts for October amounted to $30,138,000, just about $80,000 less than those of October, 1912. The deficit for the fiscal year to date, the statement shows, is $5,757,627, about $3,900,000 more than the deficit at the corresponding period last year.

Pension payments under the Sherwood act are apparently largely responsible for the larger deficit.

The payments in 1912 through October amounted to about $2,500,000 and for the same period this year nearly $7,000,000, an increase of more than $4,000,000 in this one disbursement item.

Judge Lindsey is Vindicated.

Denver.—After six weeks of search for proofs and many sessions given over to quizzing of witnesses who refused to indorse their statements with their signatures, the committee appointed by the Taxpayers' Association to probe the record of Judge Lindsey of the juvenile court, which has formulated and signed a report which is a complete vindication. Judge Lindsey was accused by the Woman's Protective league of mismanagement and lax methods in conducting the juvenile court.

Governor Ralston Refuses Aid.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Gov. Samuel M. Ralston emphatically refused Saturday to take any action in the street car strike, which completely tied up service here. He told Mayor Shank, who admitted that the situation was beyond control by the city authorities, that the police were not doing their full duty and that if they would not do their duty to appeal to Sheriff Theodore Portteus, of Marion county, for aid.

Great Coal Fields are Sold.

Charleston, W. Va.—Control of the vast output of the New River coal field amounting to 7,000,000 tons annually, passed from American to English hands when, according to advices received here by interested coal operators from London, England, negotiations for the sale of 500,000 acres in Fayette, Raleigh and Nicholas counties to an English syndicate were completed by the New Virginia syndicate, headed by Morgan Davis, of Scranton, Pa.

United States Senator Charles E. Townsend was the principal speaker at the ceremonies attending the laying of the cornerstone of the Carnegie library at Owosso.

Hal Warner, 21 years old, of Kalamazoo, is dead as the result of being hurt in a football game. The boy's heart was injured by a fall, say physicians.

Wild Honey.

The honey that comes out of a bee tree is not always as sweet as the old-time compliment, "sweet as a bee tree," might lead one to suppose. The bees that run wild do not seem to have the fine taste in nectar that their domesticated cousins have. Sometimes there are poisonous spots in wild honey—at least there are legends to that effect—and often, if the colony is old and the comb large, the honey is black as night.

But the bee-hunter now, alas, to be classed with professionals that have passed on, cared little about discoloration and worried not at all about poison. To find a bee tree meant the exercise of keen eyesight, woodcraft, patience and judgment. The wandering bee seemed to have a prejudice against going straight to the hive. He moseyed along from flower to flower, stopped to talk or fight with a fellow bee, or, if he knew he was being followed, dived into thickets and hummed straight across some bottomless bog. So when the right tree was located, and the comb laid bare, it was well won. It was as treasure trove, earned by the blisters on the shoveler's hands.

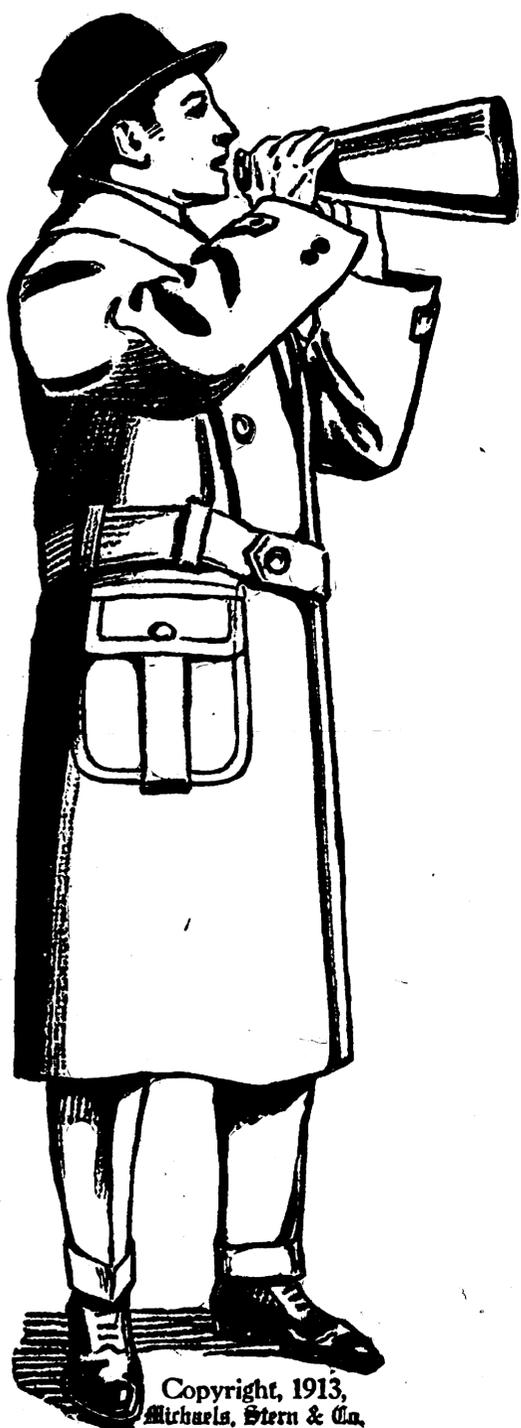

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Experience of a Southern Man.

"Please allow me to thank the originator of Postum, which in my case, speaks for itself," writes a Fla. man.

"I formerly drank so much coffee that my nervous system was almost a wreck." (Tea is just as injurious because it contains caffeine, the drug found in coffee.) "My physician told me to quit drinking it but I had to have something, so I tried Postum. "To my great surprise I saw quite a change in my nerves in about 10 days. That was a year ago and now my nerves are steady and I don't have those bilious sick headaches which I regularly had while drinking coffee. "Postum seems to have body-building properties and leaves the head clear. And I do not have the bad taste in my mouth when I get up mornings. When Postum is boiled good and strong, it is far better in taste than coffee. My advice to coffee drinkers is to try Postum and be convinced."

Name given by Postum Co.—Battle Creek, Mich. Write for copy of the little book, "The Road to Wellville." Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds. "There's a reason" for Postum.

State Sanatorium Report

Dr. E. B. Pierce, superintendent of the Michigan State Sanatorium at Howell reports that there are 38 beds for men and 48 beds for women in the sanatorium. There were 79 cases Sept. 1, and the number of applicants waiting was 24.

The average number of patients for the year ending June 30, 1913, was 78 15, and the average net cost per patient per week was $11.27.

Sixty-six were admitted between 21-30 years; 128 between 16-40 years of age. Sixty-four had the disease from 4 to 12 months before entering, while 21 had had the disease from 1 to 12 years.

The records show that 8 per cent of the patients are discharged apparently well, in 35 per cent the disease is arrested; 32 per cent are improved. These reports show that there is great delay in getting patients under treatment early. This of course retards the work of the sanatorium in benefitting the patients. No records are made of patients remaining at the sanatorium less than 30 days.

Saved His Foot

H. D. Ely, of Banton, O., suffered from a horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctors advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. After Dark Chores are Easy for Jones

Jones has a big enclosed acetylene light in his barn. A big, round, brilliant, white light. A light he calls "the sun's little brother." This big light is solidly fastened to a heavy timber, and unlike Jones' old oil lantern, it can't be tipped over. Jones turns this high candle power light on—without a match, by simply pulling a little wire rod that hangs from the light. On cold winter nights (when its dark at 4:30. When he gets home from town late— Or when he has a sick "critter" to look after, Jones finds his big barn light a great convenience. He says he wouldn't take $1,000 for it. Mrs. Jones too, shares in the good thing. She has acetylene light in every room in her house, and her light fixtures are handsome ornaments of brass and bronze.

These Pilot Lighting Plants

Are not storage tanks. They make Acetylene—a very little at a time—as the burners use it. The Pilot is one of hundreds of patented Acetylene machines. All built on different principles to do the same work. The test of time has brought "The Pilot" out on top. The principle on which it works has proved to be the correct one. Today we sell more Light machines than all other manufacturers in this country put together. We sell these Pilot plants complete—through three factories and 3,000 local representatives. We have a big eastern factory in Newark—a big central factory in Chicago and a Western Warehouse in Los Angeles. A complete plant includes the machine, gas pipes, light fixtures and the cooling range. Such a plant costs much less in a water or heating system. It is as permanent as a car, and as necessary to make your home modern. Our 3,000 representatives are residents in the districts they serve. Each one established in a permanent growing business. They are on the grounds to see to it personally that purchasers of Pilot plants get "value received" for their money. In your district we are represented by

WRECK OF THE 10:10

BY HAROLD CARTER.

It was a slack evening in the office, I remember, and a group of us were sitting chatting around the reporters' table farthest from Dunning, the night editor, who had looked around rather frowningly once or twice, as if the conversation disturbed him. Broad's fiancée was to arrive that evening on the 10:10 from Washington, and Broad, who had been celebrating in honor of the event, was telling us all the details of their recent quarrel and reconciliation. "Sh-h!" said some one; and just then a boy entered with a late edition of the "Planet," wet from the press, and handed it to Dunning. "Mr. Broad!" he said sharply, and then, changing his mind, left his seat and hurried toward us. "Mr. Broad, I want you to go out to Crayfield instantly. The 10:10 from Washington has been wrecked outside the station. Hurry, and telephone all the news. And say, try to get a list of the dead." "My God!" said Broad, and sank down into his seat. He buried his face in his hands and his shoulders shook convulsively. Somebody explained the situation in a few words, and Dunning's face took on an expression of intense sympathy. He placed one arm about Broad's shoulders and drew him to his feet. "Too bad, old man," he said. "But I guess you'll be crazy now unless you get to Crayfield as soon as possible, so perhaps it would be the kindest thing to let you cover the assignment." "Yes, I'll go," cried Broad, pulling himself together. Then, one after another, he detailed us; one to the railroad offices, another to the president's house, another to catch the general manager at his club. I was among the few not assigned and, retreating to my desk, waited. We did not like to think about the subject. It was too ghastly for con-

The passengers all escaped with minor injuries except one unidentified man who— Suddenly Dunning pitched over and fell to the ground. He had fainted. Kemp ran to raise him, and, temporarily diverted from the telephone by the occurrence, I found myself glancing at the copy of the "Planet" in Dunning's half-opened drawer of his desk. On the page facing me I read, among the list of the dead: "Mrs. George Dunning of Washington." (Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

Man in Burglar's Mask Was Only Introducing Patent Safety Alarm and Preventer.

As I opened the door I saw a man with a burglar's mask kneeling before the safe. The next moment he had turned and shoved a revolver into my face. "Throw up your hands!" he said. I did so. "You understand," he remarked pleasantly, "that I can in the present circumstances loot the premises at my pleasure?" I confessed that he could. "You realize that you are at my mercy?" "I do," I replied. "You acknowledge that I can blow you to kingdom come if I like?" he persisted. "Certainly," I admitted. "Well, then," he said, "you will be interested to know that I got in without difficulty through your parlor window. Had it been equipped with Smith's patent safety burglar alarm and preventer this could not have happened. Installed, complete with batteries, for $25. Allow me to hand you a circular. Good night, sir." Then, pocketing his revolver, he withdrew.

WHY THE PRICE WAS HIGH

Sir Joshua Reynolds' Notice of Sketch Made It Worth Vastly More, Said Dealer.

"What do you ask for this sketch?" said Sir Joshua Reynolds to a picture dealer whose portfolio he was examining. "Twenty guineas, Sir Joshua." "Twenty pence, I suppose you mean." "No, sir; I would have taken twenty pence for it this morning, but if you think the drawing worth looking at all the world will think it worth buying."

A London dealer who had made a few trifling purchases at a second-hand furniture shop in the country was leaving it, when he caught his foot in the string of a picture and fell. Having picked himself up, he examined the picture to see if it had been damaged. It had escaped injury, and he found, to his surprise, that in thus tripping he had—literally—stumbled upon a print of the duchess of Rutland, after Reynolds, by Valentine Green, in its first state. The dealer bought the print for £4 and afterward disposed of it for £1,000.—From Jerningham's "Bargain Book."

versation. There was nobody but liked Broad, big, generous-hearted, free-handed.

Three-quarters of an hour elapsed. Dunning sat stiffly at his desk, writing indefatigably, glancing over flimsies and casting copy aside. His face was blanched; the situation seemed to have affected him as much as any of us. Once in a while the telephone would ring, but it was always local news or a report from some of the men on assignment. There was no word from Broad.

"If she's among them," began Kemp—and we knew he meant the dead—"Broad won't telephone."

"O yes, he will," I answered confidently; and at that moment the telephone rang so sharply that somehow I knew it was Broad calling from Crayfield. Dunning took up the receiver and held it to his ear a moment. Then he called me.

"It's Broad," he said. "He's calling and says he has a good story. Don't go into a booth; take it down here. I've told him to go slow. And say," he added, "don't let him get away without giving you the list of the casualties."

I took up the receiver and at the first sound I knew that Miss Phayre was safe.

"How is she?" I called. "Fine," answered Broad's voice. I thought there was the suspicion of a sob in it. "Are you ready? O, Miss Phayre? Just a trivial injury, thanks, old man. The 'Planet' story was incorrect. Now then." I began taking down the story, while Dunning looked over my shoulder.

"The 10:10 train from Washington to New York was ditched on the far side of Crayfield at 10:02," I wrote. "A broken rail is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The engine and the first three cars plunged down an embankment; the remaining cars left the metals, but did not overturn.

Business Man Praises Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

Successful Merchant After Investigation Found a Remedy That Restored His Health.

"This is Thanksgiving day in the state of Pennsylvania, and I want to devote a part of it in writing a letter to you. On the 26th day of November, 1910, I was stricken with heart trouble. My family physician called it Angina Pectoris. I had from one to five attacks in 24 hours, in the latter part of December, 1910.

I wrote to the Miles Medical Co., for information concerning my case, and in reply I received a very kind and instructive letter, which I handed to my family doctor, and he told me to use your Remedies in connection with the medicine he gave me, so I did. I used five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and seven bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I was confined to the house for about four months. The action of my heart is now, and has been normal for the last six months. I can truly recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Remedy to do what they are intended for, if used according to directions. I thank you kindly for your advice in answer to my monthly reports. I am now sixty-seven years of age, have been in the mercantile business for thirty-five years and lived retired for the last thirteen years." A. B. HOLLINGER, Lincoln, Penna.

OLD PUFFS AND SWITCHES

Ladies of Twenty-Five Centuries Ago Made Liberal Use of Borrowed Hair.

Caesar's wife may have been above suspicion so far as her morals were concerned, but the same could not have been said about her hair, any more than it could about the hair of the fashionable matron of today. The Greek, Egyptian, Carthaginian and Roman ladies of twenty-five centuries ago made use of the most astonishing quantities of borrowed hair, and the Roman women of the time of Augustus were especially pleased when they could outdo their social rivals by piling upon their heads a greater tower of additional tresses. They also arranged curls formally around the head.

An extensive commerce in human hair was carried on, and after the conquest of Gaul, blond hair, such as grew originally on the heads of German girls along the Rhine, became very fashionable in Rome. Caesar did not disdain to mix a little commercialism with his military enterprises and collected a vast amount of hair from the vanquished Gauls, which he sent to market at Rome, and in the Roman provinces a cropped head was regarded as a badge of slavery or at least of subjection.

The hairdressers of Rome were persons of real importance and charged exorbitant prices for forming the hair into fanciful devices, such as harps, wreaths and diadems.
