Library Money

On July 15 of this year the Superintendent of Public Instruction will send to the county clerks of the state a statement showing the districts that are entitled to share in the distribution of the penal fines or library money in their respective counties. The apportionment of this money should be made by the county treasurer before the first day of August to the several townships in his county. The township treasurers are required by law to make a report to each director in their township of the library money due his district on or before August 15.

If the township treasurer has not received his statement from the county treasurer within a reasonable time after August 1 he should apply for same, and directors of school districts should see that their township treasurer has made a report to them on or before August 15 of the primary and library funds due their respective districts.

Keeping Up-to-date

The Pinckney Dispatch is keeping abreast with the times and is now installing a new Hoe press which will print four pages where we have only printed one at a run heretofore. The press was purchased through the Milwaukee Printers Roller Company of Wisconsin, one of the best concerns in the country dealing in printing machinery. Mr. Oscar Koehler of Milwaukee, one of their expert machinists is here this week to set up the press. He is a master mechanic, understanding every phase of his trade. He not only set up the press, but run off the papers this week, proving his work and the press satisfactory in every respect. The installation of this press certainly causes the editor much rejoicing.

We will be pleased to welcome any and all of our friends in to see this new press, which is a credit not only to the village but the rich farming section which it represents. Come in some Wednesday afternoon and enjoy it with us.

Show Failed to Appear

A one ring circus was billed to hit Pinckney Saturday, July 11, but owing to difficulties encountered near Plainfield, it failed to arrive. Several stories are afloat regarding Barteno's non-appearance. One stated that hotel bills were not forthcoming, and another, that although it was advertised that the whole show could be witnessed for 25c, that people were asked to fork over an additional sum after Barteno had given but a part of the performance. This graft game resulted in the arrest of Barteno and his actors. After paying their fine they made their way out of this section of the country at record breaking speed.

The Michigan State Fair

The Premium List for the Michigan State fair, the 65th annual exhibition of the Michigan State Agricultural Society, which will be held Sept. 7-18, is being distributed by Secretary-Manager G. W. Dickinson. The volume details $150,000 in premiums and purses which will be awarded this year, several notable additions having been made. China and Fine Arts have been added and liberal premiums are offered for amateur and professional china painting and for original paintings in water and oil. Premiums in the Livestock Department having been increased more than 25 per cent over 1913 and the Evening Horse Show will become an international contest, as a number of Canadian stables will enter their prize winning horses.

A Clara Barton Hospital is now under course of erection on the grounds and during the two weeks of the Fair, will be equipped with a full hospital staff. The hospital will provide 12 beds, an operating room, nurses' quarters, and all the other appurtenances of a modern hospital. Upon the upper floor of this building will be held the Babies' Health Contest, another new and very important feature of this year's Fair.

The horse races throughout the fortnight will be up to the State Fair standard, which places them on a high plane; and in addition there will be automobile races with "Wild Bob" Byrman, the Speed King; Dishrow, Iearne, Rainey, Heinemann and a dozen other noted drivers. The shows on the Midway will be high class and the world-famous Kilties Band will furnish music throughout the Fair.

The Boys' State Fair School will be on the same comprehensive basis as last year and nearly a hundred youths will have the privilege of attending the exhibition as guests of the management.

The premium list is an attractive volume and handily arranged with indexes. Copies of it should be in the hands of every Michigan citizen and may be had for the asking at the office of this newspaper.

Look Before You Buy

Get the habit of looking before you buy.

Get the habit of knowing when to look and where to look.

It is a habit that will save you many dollars in the run of a year.

As a habit, it is one of the principal aids to success in life.

Study the advertising pages of the Dispatch each week.

Study them with a two-fold purpose—the determining of what goods to buy, and where to find them.

If a local merchant spends money in advertising his wares, it is safe to assume that he is able to make good on every statement that he makes.

It is also safe to assume that the home man will do more good for you than a stranger will do. It is a big way, and it is a way which should appeal to you.

Get the habit of giving the name man the first chance.

It is a habit of which any person should justly feel proud.

It is a GOOD habit.

If you will bring us your prescriptions we'll fill them right.

To fill a prescription right a drug store must first have the RIGHT KIND of preparations. Ours are pure and tested. Then knowledge and care must be used. Strychnine and Quinine LOOK alike, but don't ACT alike. Our Registered pharmacists KNOW HOW to fill prescriptions and we VERIFY everyone before we send it out.

This is why we DESERVE your drug business.

We give you what you ASK for A Square Deal?

The privilege of printing the report of the Board of Supervisors proceedings has always been given to the newspaper who made the lowest bid in this county. At the recent meeting of the Board, County Clerk Miner informs us that a tie resulted between the Livingston Democrat and the Pinckney Dispatch. Without giving any chance to re-bid, the printing was given to the Democrat by the printing committee. Is that a square deal?

THREE LOSE LIVES WHEN HOUSE BURNS

PETER WUICK LOSES LIFE IN ATTEMPTING TO SAVE NIECE.

CANDLE DROPS INTO STRAW

Shanty in Foreign Quarters of Flint Goes Up in Flames and Two of Four Occupants Are Cremated.

Flint, Mich.—Two persons were burned to death and a third so seriously injured that he died a few hours later in a fire which destroyed a shanty owned by Peter Wuick, a peddler, in the foreign quarter of the city, about 1 o'clock Friday morning. The dead are:

Peter Wuick aged 43, and Carrie Copacz, aged 7, his niece.

John Capacz, aged 43, father of the dead girl, badly burned about head, face and feet died a few hours after the fire.

A candle which was left burning on the floor of the room occupied by Wuick and his niece is thought to have ignited straw which littered the place.

Mrs. Copacz, who was sleeping with her husband in the only other room of the shanty, was awakened as she choked with smoke. She screamed to her husband, who groped his way to the next room, which was then filled with flames. He sought the bed of his daughter, but it was empty and he staggered into the yard, where he dropped, writhing in agony.

The place was in ruins within five minutes, and the bodies of Wuick and Carrie Copacz were found together in a corner behind the cook stove. Both were burned to a crisp. Wuick's arms encircled the girl's body. Apparently he had tried to save her but became confused and went in the opposite direction from the only door leading from the shanty, falling over come by the flames.

MAN KILLED IN MOTOR WRECK

Party of Five in Machine Which Goes Into Ditch near Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—One man was killed and two girls and two other men were severely injured at 1:30 Thursday morning, when an automobile carrying the party of five went into the ditch at Dead Man's curve on the Plainfield road, two miles north of the city.

The dead: Gerald W. Doan, 24 years old, son of Ald. J. G. Doan, of this city, neck broken, died instantly.

The injured: Katherine Lee, 19 years old, 422 Worden street, bruised and injured. Elma Lafferty, 19 years old, 742 Worden street, bruised and injured.

F. W. McGraw, 25 years old, 1158 Jefferson avenue, salesman, head cut, many bruises, rendered unconscious. He was buried under the machine.

Frank Watts, 26 years old, Howard City, agent for a Chicago trust corporation, owner of the car, head and legs badly hurt and rendered unconscious.

Perched on the rear fenders were Doan and McGraw. It was the only seat for them, as the two girls were in the driver's seat with Watts, who was at the wheel. The car pinned Doan beneath it.

Another Holdup at Escanaba.

Escanaba, Mich.—Two bandits Saturday held up two Danforth farmers as they were going home. The robbery was committed within 80 rods of the North Escanaba Soo line station, which has been held up five times in six months, the last time being two weeks ago when the agent was shot.

Highwaymen got nothing from the farmers and disappeared in the swamps.

TELEGRAPHIC FLASHES

RETIREMENT CLOSES UNUSUAL NAVAL CAREER

REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM H. H. SOUTHERLAND.

Washington—One of the very few men who rose to the highest rank in the navy from his position as an enlisted man, Rear Admiral William H. H. Southerland, was placed, on the retired list Friday by reason of having reached the statutory age of 62 years. He was born in New York and appointed as a naval apprentice in 1868 and because of peculiar aptitude and excellent service was transferred to the naval academy, from which he graduated with honors. During Theodore Roosevelt's incumbency as assistant secretary of the navy, Southerland was his naval aide.

ACCIDENT BOARD REPORT

First Six Months of Year Show Nearly Eight Thousand Cases Completed and Payments Made.

Lansing, Mich.—According to figures prepared by the industrial accident board, 5,787 cases have been closed and payments for compensation completed from January 1 to June 30. Of this number 3,936 workmen were incapacitated for a period of less than eight weeks; 1,365 were disabled for eight weeks or longer; 440 received injuries which necessitated the amputation or loss of some member, such as finger, toe, eye, etc. Of the completed cases on which payments have been reported, 46 were fatal.

These cases involve the payment of $427,233.73. The cost of medical attention has been reported in only 2,688 of these cases. This number shows a cost of $75,974.86. These figures do not include deferred payments in total disability cases, nor fatal cases other than the 46 reported. Payments of compensation in the latter classes will extend over a period of from six to 10 years, and as fatal cases to the number of 179 have been reported to the board there is a deferred liability of no inconsiderable amount.

ALL READY FORENCAMPMENT

National Guard will Go into Camp for First Time in Two Years.

Lansing, Mich.—Plans are practically complete for the annual encampment of the Michigan National Guard, which opens at the new Grayling site Aug. 3.

This will be the first encampment of the state military in two years. Just as the guards were about to start for camp last year they were sent to the copper mines strike and the idea of an encampment was abandoned.

Instead of mobilizing the entire guard at Grayling at one time, the men will assemble in three detachments. The Second infantry, C. A. of the signal corps and Co. A. of the engineers will reach camp Aug. 3. The two batteries of artillery will leave Lansing Aug. 31.

MICHIGAN NEWS IN BRIEF

TWO BIG FIRES IN DETROIT SUNDAY

ONE THOUSAND ANIMALS LOSE LIVES WHEN STOCK SHEDS BURN.

MANY BUILDINGS IN DANGER

Paper Company's Building Is Destroyed By Fire Caused By Bolt of Lightning in Fierce Storm.

Detroit—Trapped in their pens, more than a thousand dumb animals went to their death Sunday evening in a fierce fire that totally destroyed the stock sheds of the Sullivan Packing company, Michigan and Beecher avenues.

The blaze spread to a row of houses on Beecher street, burning back fences and sheds, and threatened to ignite the main plant of the Sullivan company; the Parker, Webb Packing company; the Edison Illuminating company's branch, and the Calvary Presbyterian church.

Three alarms were sent in before enough fire apparatus reached the scene to stem the flames, which, fanned by a brisk breeze, swept through the board sheds and carried blazing shingles and splinters into the surrounding neighborhood.

Paper Company Burned Out.

Several tremendous bolts of lightning, in a storm that swept over Detroit about 2 o'clock Monday morning, started a fire that completely destroyed the Choep-Stevens Paper company's building at 12-18 East Woodbridge street, burned out police and fire signal boxes, and seriously interfered with the D. U. R., Edison and telephone company's wires.

BLAME PLACED ON STORSTAD

Commission of Inquiry Reports On Empress of Ireland Disaster.

Quebec—The commission of inquiry that investigated the sinking of the Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence May 29 with a loss of more than 1,000 lives, announced its decision Saturday, holding that the collier Storstad, which rammed the Empress, was responsible for the disaster.

The principal point which the court was called upon to decide was whether the responsibility for the tragedy was divided or whether it rested solely on the officers of one of the ships. Lord Mersey said that the members of the court had taken pains to get all the enlightenment possible on this phase, and that, after deliberation over the evidence, they had come to the conclusion that the Storstad was in fault because she had changed her course after fog had settled down upon the river. Up to the time the fog appeared no fault could be found with the seamanship of either set of officers.

Working For New Road.

Battle Creek, Mich.—Lansing and Battle Creek are working together on a plan for a good road to connect the two cities and to cut off 15 miles of the present route. A good road has been begun from Battle Creek to Bellevue, which will cut part of the distance. The Chambers of Commerce of the two cities will ask the state legislature for appropriation for the road as a state truck line. If the state won't give enough to cover the total costs, Calhoun, Ingham and Estlin counties will chip in for the balance.

Shippers Win Liability Point.

Lansing, Mich.—Several weeks ago Grand Rapids shippers appealed to the state railroad commission for an order requiring the Pere Marquette, Grand Rapids and Indiana, Michigan Central and Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee railroads to eliminate from the shipping contracts the clause which removed the liability of the carriers when fruit and other perishable products was not consigned in refrigerator cars. An order to this effect was issued by the commission Saturday.

BEST METHOD FOR CABBAGE

Culinary Expert Tells How the Vegetable May Be Served Up in Appetizing Way.

Cabbage, and other vegetables that form into heads, should be soaked in cold water, heads down, to which salt or a little vinegar has been added. This will drive out worms or insects if any are in hiding among the leaves. Half an hour is long enough to allow the vegetables to remain in the water. Take one-half or one-quarter of the head of cabbage, according to quantity required, and shave it down fine, as for slaw; put it in very cold water, enough to just cover it, and let it stand until crisp; pour off this water and add fresh cold water to barely cover it and place over the fire; cover and bring quickly to boiling; then remove cover and boil rapidly until it begins to look clear; pour off the water, season to taste with salt and pepper, add butter generously, a tablespoonful to two cups of cabbage, and turn into a heated dish and serve. Hot cream, cream sauce, sour cream sauce or cheese sauce may be served with it, but it is very delicate and pleasing to the taste served plain with butter and seasoning. If any is left over chill thoroughly and serve as a salad with green peppers or leftover string beans or peas or fresh tomatoes, using French dressing.—Lida Ames Willis.

If you have difficulty in making your pancakes or griddle cakes brown to a turn add a spoonful of sugar or half a spoonful of molasses to the batter and note how easily and prettily they brown. The bit of sugar or molasses does not change the taste or proportions of other ingredients.

Waxed paper is a good thing to wrap about the articles of food before placing them in the refrigerator. It should also be wrapped about cheese and like edibles that must be kept in a dry place.

Fly specks and dirt on mirror surfaces may be rubbed off with a cream made of whiting and alcohol.

When the strainer on the kitchen faucet refuses to work well try a vinegar bath. The deposit from the water has clogged the tiny openings, and no amount of brushing will clear them so well as an overnight soaking in a cupful of vinegar.

Canadian Pudding.

Make sauce of one quart sliced apples, one-third cup sugar, one-third cup water, a little nutmeg; stew gently, then pour into buttered pudding dish and pour over it the following batter: One pint flour, one egg, salt, one cup milk, two level teaspoons sugar, one-half tablespoon melted butter, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon soda; bake in a moderate oven; serve with the following sauce: One-half pint boiling water, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon cornstarch, teaspoon of butter; soak this till it thickens, then cool before adding one cup sugar beaten with yolks of two eggs. Lastly, whip in stiffly, beaten whites of eggs.

Chocolate Potato Candy.

Bake one medium sized potato, when well done scoop out the inside and put in a basin. Work in confectioner's sugar until creamy, then flatten and cut into squares and dip into unsweetened chocolate which has been melted in a saucepan. Garnish each square with half an English walnut, place on wax paper and allow to cool. This dainty sweet is inexpensive to make and is very reliable.

Braised Liver With Bacon.

For a three-pound piece of liver have ready one onion cut in thin slices, one-half cupful of carrot dice, one-half cupful of bacon cubes, one-half cupful of tomato, a bit of bay leaf, sprig of parsley, one-half teaspoonful of whole pepper and pinch of thyme. Place the liver on a bed of vegetables, lay thin slices of bacon over the top, cover and cook slowly one hour, basting with bacon fat and water. Strain the liquor remaining in pan and serve with the liver. If the liquid is too thin, thicken with flour.

Raspberry Whip.

Simplest of all raspberry desserts is raspberry whip. This calls for the whites of egg beaten very light, flavored to taste with powdered sugar and flavored with the fresh juice of crushed raspberries. It should be mixed just before serving.

To Remove Grease.

Glass can be removed from black silk by sponging it with cold coffee and ammonia. A teaspoonful of ammonia to a cupful of coffee is the right quantity.

SYNOPSIS.

Daniel Slade, suddenly advances from a penniless miner to a millionaire. He is ambitious to become governor of the state. His simple, home-loving wife fails to rise to the new conditions. Slade meets Katherine, daughter of Senator Strickland, and sees in her all that Mary is not. He separates from his wife and takes rooms at his club. Editor Merritt, who has been attacking Slade, is won over to the latter's support because he cannot otherwise supply the money demanded for a European trip for Mrs. Merritt. Katherine agrees to marry Slade when he is free. Bob Hayes, in love with Katherine, has a stormy session with her over her affair with Slade. Mary, anxious to make it up with Slade, appears at Strickland's house during a political conference. Slade informs her that separation is final. Mary declares that she will fight a divorce. She returns to the little cottage where they started out in married life.

CHAPTER IX—Continued.

Conscious of the song, Mary remembered the lamb stew that she had left cooking on the kitchen fire. Dan had always loved lamb stew; that is, her lamb stew. She remembered how heartily he always ate of it, how he never failed to pass his plate for a second "helping," and how he used to look up at her and say: "This is lapping good, Mary. I think I will have a bit more."

Just as if he needed any urging! Mary found her thoughts growing very tender when she suddenly remembered that tonight she must sit down alone at the table, that instead of two she would only serve one plateful of that stew. Her heart contracted with a pathetic, futile longing for things as "they used to be," and grew bitter as she remembered conditions as they were. She sat with her face pillowed on her arms, so absorbed in her unhappy reflections that she didn't hear the door open, didn't hear a step until someone leaned over and kissed her tenderly on the faded cheek that Dan used to pat so lovingly and declare was lovelier than their garden roses. "Oh, Rob!" Mary exclaimed, starting up in glad surprise. "I didn't hear you drive up."

"I didn't," Bob laughed, good-naturedly. "My car is stranded two blocks back," and he threw his linen duster on the sofa as Mary hastened in her fond little way to take his hand and hover about him.

"It's strange how near town this place seems to be," Bob rattled on. "When we lived here before it was clear out in the country, but with a motor car it's right next door to town.

"Well, aunty," and he stretched himself out in an easy chair, "I suppose it's like heaven to you to get back here to the old home you lived in so many years!"

"Yes," Mary agreed, rather indifferently.

"Any of the old neighbors left, I'd like to see them—some of 'em."

"I never noticed before how many questions old neighbors could ask, Rob," Mary sighed, as she recounted the curious visits of her old friends, who had inquired anxiously and repeatedly for Mr. Slade, how he was getting on, and when he would be down, and a dozen other questions in the phraseology of people who, as old friends, take the liberty of coming as near as possible to demanding that you unburden your soul to them on the spot. "You'll kind of have to dodge 'em, Bob. I don't know when I've lied so. What do you think of a man who forces a woman to lie?"

"Well," Hayes hated the old subject, hated the thought of Mary dwelling continually on her unhappiness. "Didn't they know about Slade?" and he began to toy with the spools of thread that Mary had been using for the inevitable sewing that had so annoyed her husband.

"Either they don't know or they want to find out more than they already know," Mary answered, wearily. "So I sit here lying and lying."

"You intend to stick it out and stay here?"

"Yes," Mary answered with a quiet determination.

"Well, he can't call this desertion," Hayes went on. "You own this house together. It's your home as well as his."

"Yes," agreed Mary, "but it's awful fighting my husband. What's the matter with you, Bob? You used to tell me a lot about Miss Strickland, and lately you—have you had any trouble?" she asked, kindly, forgetting her own sorrow at the thought of the possible unhappiness of this young man whom she loved as tenderly as if he had been her own son.

"Don't let us talk about her," Bob objected.

"All right, Robert," Mary attempted to be cheery as she saw how abstracted and dejected Bob was. "Dinner will be ready in a minute and you can sit right down."

"I won't give in to him!" she declared as she put on an extra plate and knife and fork. "I'll never give him that divorce."

"Don't you ever think of anything else?" Hayes questioned, soberly.

"No; it's no use, Robert; I get hot and cold hating my husband when I think how he is treating me. I know it's wrong, but I do! Sometimes when I wake up suddenly in the night and see the old room and remember that he's living at his club and enjoying life and me here miserable, I just get sick hating him."

"Now, aunty"—Hayes was anxious to divert her attention—"I wouldn't think of that. You have the best of him. You've got him beaten. I have a good lawyer for you, and he'll be out to see you today. You know I'd take the case myself, but it wouldn't be professional. You've positively made up your mind to fight the divorce to a finish?"

"Tooth and nail!" Mary's answer came through set teeth.

"Then you've got him. He can't fight a woman in the courts in his position, with his nomination before him."

"I've got him, have I? Mary was all eagerness now.

"You're sure of it? Was he very mad about my coming here? Has my lawyer seen his lawyer?"

Hayes answered the last of her many questions first. "They met today."

"Did you get me two lawyers, Rob?"

"Yes, I got two. I got a whole firm."

"Do you think I need another—so's to be sure?"

Hayes laughed.

"You have all you need, aunty."

"Thank God, I got the telephone in so they can call me up." Mary was almost feverish in her excitement. "I couldn't go on the witness stand. He doesn't know that, though. Any signs of Dan going back to the house, now I'm out of it?"

The bell that never hesitates to interrupt at any moment rang insistently. Mary jumped about in her excitement and finally took down the receiver. She dropped it as hastily and backed away.

"You'd better answer it, Rob."

"It's Slade," Bob declared, holding his hand over the transmitter. "He wants to talk to you."

"No, siree!" Mary was vehement. "Cut him off! I ain't going to talk to him. I've got two lawyers. Tell him to have his lawyer talk to mine. My heart's so hard against him—I couldn't listen to the sound of my own voice," and she sank weakly into a chair as Hayes continued to converse with Slade. "No, she says not," he was saying. "No, I am not out here winding her up or advising her," and he hung up the receiver.

"What'd he say?" Mary was wringing her hands in her uncontrollable excitement.

"Oh, he just called me a skunk and cut off," answered Hayes, as he nonchalantly lighted a cigarette. He paced up and down the room for a moment and then turned on her:

"God! I'd like to haul him through every court in the country. The scoundrel!"

"I don't like to hear you talk like that about him, Rob," Mary remonstrated. "He's been a pretty good friend to you."

"Well, perhaps," Hayes tried to calm herself for her sake. "He's all right, I suppose."

"I dunno that he is," Mary's mood was variable. "When I think of that divorce—"

"Slade's coming down here today, aunty. He declares you're here under his very eyes, and he's determined that you shall go away, and desert him and give him the opportunity to divorce you. He says the whole country will know of the trouble unless you go away. That's what he said over the phone."

"Well, I'll stay right here. I can't get over it, Rob," and her voice quivered in spite of herself. "I can't get over the suddenness of it; his wanting that divorce happened just like that," and she snapped her fingers to illustrate her meaning. "Before that he never thought of it. It's curious," she paused, thoughtfully; "do you know that sometimes when I get to thinking about it—I—something comes over me, an idea that—shut that outside door, Rob," she commanded before she would continue. "I wonder if there isn't—I declare I'm ashamed to say it—but I wonder if it could be possible that there's—some woman," she finally managed to get the word out.

"Aunty!" It was not necessary for Hayes to feign surprise, for, although he knew the situation, he had been confident that such a thought had never entered Mary Slade's pre-meditated thoughts.

The pent-up emotion of days broke, and Mary sank sobbing into a chair, burying her face in her hands. With the expression of the thought that heretofore she had never admitted even to herself, her self-control vanished and she cried out desperately: "Well, what do you think he wanted that divorce for so suddenly?"

"People usually do get divorced when they can't get on,—don't they?" Hayes was willing to lie to shield her from the knowledge that he knew would be the bitterest part of all the wormwood that she had already tasted.

"Sometimes I wonder," Mary continued, reflectively, "sometimes I'm almost positive that—No! Slade isn't that sort of a man. My husband isn't that sort of a man, Rob."

"No, of course he isn't."

"You didn't know what I was going to say," she objected.

"Yes, I did. About women."

"He never noticed any other woman," she told herself positively.

"No," Hayes agreed.

"You haven't heard of anything like that, have you?" she questioned.

"No, no, I haven't." Hayes was finding the cross-examination extremely trying, convinced as he was that Mary must be saved from the knowledge of Katherine at any cost. "If there were anything, you'd hear it. Don't worry."

"Robert," and she looked at him intently. "Would you tell me if—"

"No, I would not!" asserted Hayes vigorously. "Haven't you got enough trouble now?"

"But, Robert, you are my friend, aren't you? You ought to—"

He was saved from any further questions along that unwelcome line by the sound of the doorbell and a moment later Merritt opened the door without ceremony.

"Well!" Hayes was far from cordial.

"I beg your pardon for entering so abruptly." Merritt was the same old talkative, suave, good-fellow, I'm-your-friend-Merritt, "but I was bound to see Mrs. Slade. I'm for the Slade family—but I'm for all the Slade family, so I hope you won't make a stranger of me."

Mary was politely indifferent and Hayes, with back turned, was tapping his foot uneasily on the floor. Altogether not the warmest welcome a man ever received.

"This man is likely to publish anything you may say, aunty," Hayes warned over his shoulder.

"Oh, come now, Hayes," objected Merritt, "I'm here on a perfectly friendly visit. I well remember this little place," and he looked about. "I stopped here some years ago and Mr. Slade brought us a drink of water. Slade was in his shirt-sleeves, I remember. Big man, Slade!" and he eyed Mrs. Slade inquiringly. "Big man!" he exclaimed again as Mary remained silent, her features giving no clew to her feelings.

"Well, my wife has gone off to Europe on a long-extended tour." Merritt was determined to make conversation if he had to do it alone. "I'm quite alone. In fact, we're in the same boat—alone."

"I'm not," Hayes burst forth. "Thank God, I've got my troubles, but

"You Are Going to Oppose the Divorce?"

"I'm not married, so I'm not quite alone."

Merritt laughed good-naturedly, glad at any kind of response.

"Pardon me, Hayes," he cleared his throat nervously. "I'd like to talk with Mrs. Slade."

"Oh, all right," and with his hands thrust into his pockets, Hayes strolled leisurely into the kitchen.

"My dear little woman," Merritt began in his most engaging manner, as soon as Hayes had left the room. "You have my deepest sympathy and most profound respect. Your position is touching, if you'll excuse me for saying it. I can see your side of it, too. Now the point is this: A week ago when you called at the senator's house, Slade had just said you were going East to live permanently. I must say very few women—very few—would do as much for a man. For instance, Mrs. Merritt, I know, wouldn't. I needn't tell you that the whole community will admire you for your reserved dignity—if you go, Mrs. Slade."

"I'm not going," Mary's voice was ominously quiet.

"You're going to oppose the divorce?"

"Yes," came the soft answer.

IN THE FLAMES OF THE PYRE

Disposal of Brahmin Dead a Matter of Infinite Paths to the Relatives Who Watch Rites.

Even as we came opposite, the bearers lifted one of them; all cool and dripping, from the river, and laid it, the slim, small figure, so quietly, so content, on a half-burnt pyre. Brushwood and fagots were built over it, and at head and foot and sides the fire was applied. A Brahmin directed the rites, and once, as the flames mounted and aspired, the brother, who was watching, clutched at his heart as there appeared for a moment, at the top of the pyre, a girl's face, with closed eyes, and mouth that seemed to smile; then the radiant veil of flame shrouded it again. The smoke rose in gray whorls and streamers against the stainless and tender blue of the sky, and still the brother watched, quiet again and composed; he had given only that one sign to show that he loved her whose ashes now lay among the charred and smouldering logs. Or rather it was only for the moment that, thinking of days of childhood and dawn by the riverside, he forgot that it was not she who had been consumed in the flames of the pyre. Then he remembered again, and looking up from the pyre to the dazzling river, he saw there on our boat his friend, the Brahman, and smiled to him.—From "The Heart of India," by C. F. Benson, in the Century.

GOING IN SAME DIRECTION

One Fact Doctor Was Willing to Admit to Hypochondriac Patient Who Had Become a Bore.

Once there was a hypochondriac who used to think that he was dying about three times a week. One day he was driving out in his automobile, and one of these spells came over him. On the road ahead of him he happened to see his family doctor speeding along in his roadster. He felt so sick that he applied all his power in order to catch up with the doctor as soon as possible.

But the doctor saw him coming and he used all the gas he had to get away from him. For about three miles they had a close race. Finally, however, the doctor had some tire trouble, and the hypochondriac drew up alongside.

"Doctor," he shouted, "stop a minute! I am dying. Darn it all! I'm dying!"

"You must be," grunted the physician. "I never saw anybody going so fast as you are!"

Hard Task in Railroad Building.

Russia is within measurable distance of executing well within the projected time the Amur railroad, which is to connect, by means of a line entirely within Russian territory, the Siberian railway system with Khabarovsk, and thence by the already existing Ussuri railway with Vladivostok. The formidableness of the undertaking, covering a distance of 1,248 miles, is realized when it is understood that the line passes through country much of which was previously untrudged, and nearly all was uninhabited. Natural obstacles in the form of swamps and mountain ranges are met with all along the line except in the Zey-Bureya district; the climate is extremely rigorous, and large tracts lie within the zone of perpetually frozen ground; moreover, it has been necessary to bring the whole working staff from great distances, mostly from European Russia. The difficulties to be overcome were underestimated at the beginning, and the expenditure has exceeded the original appropriations by 20 per cent, or about $21,110,000.

Some Country.

"What part of Europe pleased you most?" asked the American.

"Germany," replied the returned tourist.

"Why Germany?" asked the American.

"Why, in Germany a man is still considered as being as good as a woman," replied the returned tourist.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Guard Your Children Against Bowel Trouble

Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Luzerne, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them:

"Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that we like them very much. Their action is excellent and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in every case and the children are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter who is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give the average child medicine, even though the taste is perfectly disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection.

The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste, make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children.

THE HOYT BROS.

The ENCHANTED MESA

WALPI—ONE OF THE ROCK-PERCHED TOWNS OF ARIZONA

It was in the sixteenth century that the Spaniards first invaded what is now the states of Arizona and New Mexico. Fabulous tales of the wealth and treasure of great cities in the unknown North found eager listeners among the adventurous Spaniards in the central valley of Mexico. Report followed report, each more lurid than the last, until the viceroy of New Spain, inflamed by the tales of Pizarro's brilliant conquest of Peru, organized a great expedition and sent it out to discover and conquer the far-away Eldorado and bring back the treasure they so fondly hoped to find there. The great Coronado was chosen commander-in-chief, and on Easter morning of the year 1540 began the most remarkable journey of discovery in America. For months they traveled over the deserts, mountains, and plains, meeting with all the vicissitudes and dangers of an unknown country, until at last they reached the "land of standing rocks," the home of the cliff-dwelling Indians in the present states of Arizona and New Mexico.

Here they found not only wild and warlike Indians but a gentler race of aborigines much further advanced in culture than any other Indians they had met since leaving central Mexico. They were an agricultural people, dwelling in many-storied stone or mud houses, and their descendants to this day live in many instances, on the same sites and in a few cases in the identical buildings that their ancestors occupied when the Spaniards first saw them over three and a half centuries ago.

The old buildings, called pueblos by the Spaniards, are the oldest continuously-inhabited structures on the American continent, and their inhabitants are more nearly in their original condition than any other American Indians today.

As an example of the canyons one may be mentioned, known to the Indians as Isays, the walls of which rise sheer from the sands of its river-bed over 1,000 feet, and where erosion has sculptured the most stupendous natural monuments in stratified sandstone in the world. Alternating with the canyons are mesas, flat-topped mountains, many of which are crowned with living Indian towns, such as the pueblos of the Hopi Indians in Arizona and the superbly situated Acocoma in New Mexico, while others reveal the broken-down walls of ancient cities of the Stone Age people.

Among the living Indian tribes that call this wondrous land home are the Hopi and Navajo, the most interesting of all the remaining Indian tribes in the United States. The Hopi people are town-builders and live on the top of the cliffs in the midst of a great desert, sustaining themselves by agriculture and small bands of sheep. Eight little rock-built villages are the homes of this tribe; they number 2,000 souls, and they have probably lived in their fortress-like cities for 1,000 years. They have no chiefs in the strict sense of the word but are governed by men who have shown by their lives and characters that they are good leaders. They are a splendid and fearless people who represent today but a remnant of the once-powerful Indian nation, a phase of humanity rapidly passing away before the aggressive march of Western civilization.

The Hopi Indians are experts in the art of basketry and pottery, as well as in the weaving of cotton. Their religious life is marked by elaborate ceremonials, of which the best known is the snake dance. They look upon rattlesnakes as messengers to the gods, and in the snake dance formally charge them with requests and prayers. The ceremony begins in an underground chamber, known as an atsita, and ends when the dancers emerge carrying the serpents in their mouths.

The Navajos are a progressive tribe of Indians of Athapascan linguistic stock. The name of Spanish derivation, is said to signify "the people with large fields." In features the Navajos resemble the Pueblos rather than the Northern tribes with which they are affiliated in language. They are hardy, proud and independent, but shun no form of industry which offers remuneration, and show much agricultural skill. They thrive without subsidy from the government, which provides them school houses. The general culture of the Navajos is similar to that of the Pueblos, but there are some striking differences, particularly as to dwellings. Instead of the peculiar storied structure of the Pueblo, the Navajo house, or "hogan," is a conical construction of poles stood on end and covered with earth, with a low, projecting entrance porch at one side and a smoke hole at the apex.

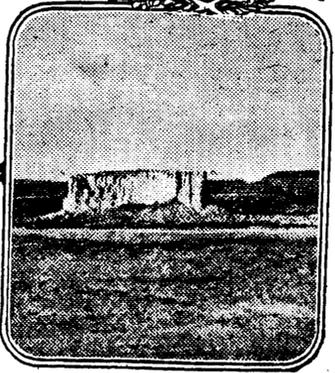

The Navajos are highly religious, with many divinities, and a vast lore of myths, legends, songs and prayers. They have also hundreds of musical compositions and a series of complex ceremonial dances known only to the medicine men. Socially the Navajos are characterized by a well-developed clan system, with descent in the female line. Many of their women are possessors in their own right of large agricultural and personal wealth. In government they are controlled by the older influential men who meet in informal council for the transaction of tribal business.

The tribe is best known for its blankets, ponchos, rugs, belts, garters and saddle girths, which are woven by hand from the wool of their flocks, and which no power loom has been able to imitate. They have also acquired from the Spaniards the art of working silver and turn out many creditable ornaments.

The Navajos first appear in history under the present name in 1629, and Christian missionaries worked among them in the middle of the eighteenth century. They were decidedly warlike at the time, fighting constantly with the Pueblos on the one hand and with the white settlers of New Mexico on the other. In 1849 a United States expedition entered their country and forced a treaty of peace. This treaty having been frequently broken, Col. Kit Carson was sent against them in 1863 and took the greater part of the tribe captive to Fort Sumner, where they were kept until 1867 when they were allowed to return to their original country. In 1868 a treaty was made with them whereby, in return for the cession of their land to the government, they were established on their present reservation. The Navajos are remarkable in being the only Indian tribe which has increased in numbers. In 1869 there were less than 9,000. According to the United States census for 1910 there were 22,455 members comprised in nearly fifty clans.

MAY CROSS THE ATLANTIC

Dutch Aviator Seems to Have the Right Idea in Project He Has in Mind.

Between Brazil and Guinea the Atlantic ocean is only about 1,800 miles wide. From Newfoundland to Ireland, the narrowest breadth north of the equator, is nearly twice as far. From New York to the nearest point of France is nearly three times as far. Hitherto most schemes of aerial flight across the Atlantic have contemplated some northern route. That suggested by the authorities of the San Francisco exposition is by way of Labrador, Greenland and Iceland. It has remained for the Dutch aviator, Van der Born, to make the first preparation to cross the ocean from continent to continent without stop, and he proposes to take the southern route, where the Atlantic is narrowest.

Van der Born is now supervising the construction of a new type of hydro-aeroplane. When it is complete he will go to the port of Konaquey, in French Guinea, whence he promises to fly to Pernambuco, Brazil.

The scheme is more plausible than any of the other discussed trans-oceanic flights. It is natural and sensible that the first crossing should be attempted at the narrowest place, even though the flight must be longer than any one of the stages of the Greenland route. There is, of course, the danger of tropical air currents, but these are not much more to be feared than the storms of sub-Arctic regions which are suggested for the northern route.

No one who has observed the progress of aviation doubts that before long the Atlantic will be crossed by some venturesome flyer. There is no reason to maintain an attitude of scepticism toward the aviators of our own day, who have done so much in so brief a time, and who may do as much more within the next few years.

TAFFETAS ALL LOVELY

DESIGNERS WOULD SEEM TO HAVE WROUGHT WONDERS.

Easily the Favorite Material for Calling Gowns and Deserves All the Popularity Which Has Been Accorded It.

Some of the most effective summer calling costumes show a combination of taffeta with chiffon and odd touches of embroidery, writes Lillian Young in a letter from Paris to the Washington Star. As the embroideries come mostly in strange, even garish, colors, they have, of course, to be used with discretion even in this season when delicate, harmonious colorings have given place to bolder treatments.

And as for the taffetas—all that the designers promised of them has been fulfilled, and more. They have never been so lovely. Delightful things that were never thought of in the old days of this material are accomplished, and its popularity is increasing every day.

The silks themselves are so beautiful that even a moderate amount of ingenuity is sufficient to transform them into ravishing frocks, suits, or hats, or coats, for they are put to many purposes. No other fabric lends itself with such grace to unique trimming effects or unusual designs. With no other material has originality such free play. Each individual maker works out her own scheme, as she would not feel inclined to take the liberty of doing with satins or worsteds.

A charming idea was developed in the model sketched, which reproduces a calling costume of hydrangea blue taffeta and chiffon to match. The latter made its appearance only in the second flounce of the tunic, which, with the skirt proper, was mounted to a hip-length foundation of china silk, this, in turn, being covered by the interesting upper tunic flounce of taffeta. It was laid in box folds under the belt, with the spaces between slightly gathered and the end of each box fold was oddly scalloped and effectively, though simply embroidered in blue and rose colorings.

The blouse was cut with elbow sleeves and in front and back the material was gathered a little on the line of the shoulders, then covered with a scalloped and embroidered medallion of the taffeta, repeating the design of the tunic border. The V-neck was filled in with white chiffon ruffling, and a crushed girde of black satin drew the fullness of the blouse in at the waist line and was caught up under the bust in front and tied in a flat bow, the space just below being filled in with a section of embroidered taffeta.

Silver and Gold Laces.

Silver and gold laces, woven with an extremely open mesh and showing large flower designs, are favored for trimming the evening frocks of the more expensive class.

Tassels of silk or beads of unusually large proportions appear on suits, afternoon frocks and evening costumes. The latter are adorned with handsome white silk tassels.

Buckles play an important part in trimming the pretty frocks. They are jeweled with brilliants or colored stones and enamelled in designs which suggest the dainty Dresden china patterns. Other buckles are embroidered with heavy silk or bead, or fashioned of silk in odd design.

BABY'S NEEDS IN SUMMER

Lightness of Clothing is One of the First Requisites During the Hot Weather.

Warm weather is a dangerous period for children, and all mothers dread the summer for their little ones. As the weather grows warmer and warmer, fewer and lighter clothes should be worn by the baby. So many mothers have a mistaken idea that flannel bands must be kept around baby's abdomen, next to the skin, no matter what the weather. The treatment is not only wrong, but actually cruel.

To keep flannel next to the young sensitive skin when the weather is so hot that every turn of the little body against the flannel causes severe irritation is almost barbarous. Yet how many mothers believe in it! There are fewer each year, for which we should be grateful, but still there are left a large enough number of such deluded mothers to keep a great many babies in comparative torture during the summer time.

The little body should feel nothing but the sheerest, softest materials next to it. When it is very hot the young baby may be totally undressed, except for his little shirt. During the hottest hours of the day the little one should be placed on a wide bed dressed in this garb, or rather lack of garb, and allowed to play or sleep until the sun is setting.

TO DECORATE DINING ROOM

Pottery and Chinawares Should Be Selected With a Good Deal of Taste and Discretion.

If you have a blue dining room and have some really good Japanese or Chinese porcelain, or china in blue and white, use it, and use nothing else, unless it be some interesting little Japanese or Chinese knickknacks in brass—a gong or a tiny idol perhaps.

Wedgwood is a beautiful plate-rail decoration if it is used alone; but unfortunately, there are few who possess enough of it to furnish a whole plate rail.

If modern pottery is used, it is well to choose the whole furnishing of the plate rail at once. There is a certain brown and cream colored ware in the market now that could be used effectively in the room where yellow or brown predominates. The ware is decorated with peasant scenes.

There are many good designs in royal doulton of various sorts that can be chosen. Only they should be selected with a definite idea in mind of the other pieces with which they are to rank and of the room they are to decorate.

Smartening Black Frock.

To brighten and smarten a black frock in satin or crepe de chine, there is nothing equal to golden-colored material on the collar, the cuffs and the sash end. Depending entirely upon the age of a woman and the occasion for which she needs the frock, these golden touches must be applied. The collar, the cuffs and the sash end may be wholly of gold lace veiling cloth of gold; the satin or crepe may have gold motif and medallion incrustations, applique, or there may be merely bands of gold cloth.

On Summer Days.

A sweater coat and cap that are lovely, and seem exactly planned for the outdoor girl or woman in the summer are knitted of silk in mauve and silver-gray. The coat is gray with a belt at the back, and cuffs, neck and front border in the mauve. The gray cap has a deep round band of mauve with the points of the square crown caught down on the band by mauve silk buttons. The colors reversed would be good, too.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work." When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said "Saved from the Grave," and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, "Why don't you try it?" So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, "I don't need any more," and he said "You had better take it a little longer anyway." So I took it for three months and got well and strong." —Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

ECZEMA ON HANDS AND ARMS
 1321 Douglas St., Omaha, Neb.—"My trouble began from a bad form of eczema all over my hands, neck and arms. I could get no sleep for the itching and burning. The small pimples looked red and watery and my skin and scalp became dry and itching. The pimples irritated me so that I would scratch until they bled. I could not put my hands in water and if I once tried it they burned so that I could not stand it. I had to have my hands tied up and gloves on all the time for nearly two months. Sometimes I would scratch the skin off it irritated so and I could do no work at all. I tried all kinds of remedies but nothing did any good. Then I saw in the newspaper about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got some. I was completely healed in five or six weeks. They have not troubled me since." (Signed) Joe Uhl, Jan. 31, '14. WAYS TO MAKE BROOM LAST

Care of the Article Will Result in Prolonging Its Usefulness a Considerable Time.

Buy a good one. Before using, bring water to a boiling point, add salt, pour over broom to toughen and make stronger. Do this at least once a week afterward.

Cut top of old stocking and run down over broom beyond the lines of stitching, to hold parts together, and prolong usefulness.

Cut groove around top of handle; tie twine in same and always hang up. Do not stand it up, as that spreads it, loosening parts and wearing it out more quickly.

A screw eye inserted into top of handle is even a better convenience for hanging it up.

When worn short, cut last row and second row of stitching. Pull out twine loops. This will make it last a couple of months longer. Then cut third last row and prolong usefulness another few weeks.

An old sweater or piece of flannel made in shape of bag with drawing at top, dipped in kerosene, wrung out and then slipped over an old broom and drawn up will make an excellent nap and dust gatherer on painted floors, under beds, etc.

A clean cotton bag made and used in the same way will dust down side walls and remove cobwebs without soiling paper or paint.

COVERING FOR SMALL TABLE

Case Where Scrap of Otherwise Unserviceable Material May Be Employed With Good Effect.

Have you a favorite small table whose top is hopelessly marred? If so, don't relegate it to the attic, but try to cover its top neatly with some sort of substantial material that is in the house. Look about and see if there isn't something which will answer perfectly. Nearly always precisely such a scrap can be found. Figured damask fitted smoothly over the top of a table and secured to it with short, slender tacks concealed under a narrow tinsel gimp makes a pretty cover and so do any of the printed cretonnes edged with cotton gimp. Some people use the attractive square pillow tops if the table's surface is not too large for them to cover, and others use hand-embroidered canvases. If one does not mind the expense of having a sheet of glass cut to the required dimensions, a really choice piece of handwork or an old print may be used under the protecting transparency. A wide strip of gimp pasted partly over the edges of the glass and partly over the edges of the table will firmly hold the double covering in position.

Sliced Rhubarb. A way to prepare rhubarb for using with meat is asked by a reader. Rhubarb pickled according to the following directions would be suitable: Wipe, skin and cut up two and a half pounds of rhubarb. Put this in a preserving kettle with two pounds of sugar, seven-eighths cup vinegar, one teaspoon cinnamon and half a teaspoon ground cloves. Bring to boiling point and let simmer until as thick as marmalade. Fill jelly glasses with mixture, cool and seal.

Combination Salad. Pare and slice potatoes that have been cooked with their jackets on. Wash and remove the seeds from one green pepper, then cut in narrow shreds with a pair of scissors. Toss the potatoes and pepper lightly together, season with salt and pepper and dress with French dressing. Pile lightly in the center of a salad bowl and surround with a circle of thinly sliced tomatoes, also marinated. If preferred this salad may be arranged on individual plates.

Cinnamon Cake. Two cups of brown sugar, half cup of butter, three eggs, reserve one white for frosting; one cup of water, two teaspoons of cinnamon, half teaspoon of ginger, three cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder. Icing—Make a sirup of one cup of brown sugar and one-quarter cup of water. Add two teaspoons of cinnamon. When the sirup strings pour it over the beaten white of one egg and beat until thoroughly blended. Level measurements.

Quick Corn Bread. One cupful Indian meal, sifted; one-half cupful flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoonful melted butter and one egg; put all together with sweet milk, make medium batter, bake in greased pie pan in hot oven and serve with butter.

Sanitary Hint. When baking cake use a toothpick a test instead of a straw from the room.

Where He Had Seen It. Traveling in Donegal not long ago, a clergyman engaged a loquacious boatman to row him on one of the lakes and show him the sights. They inspected a ruined castle with the legend of a banshee. The clergyman, thinking he would put a poser to the loquacious Irishman, who knew everything, inquired:

"Have you ever seen a banshee, Pat?" "Aye, bedad, that I have, your reverence."

"Indeed!" said the clergyman, with an incredulous smile. "And pray, where did you see one?" "Stouffed, in a museum," replied the unabashed Celt, without any hesitation.

Training in Shooting. "Live targets," an English invention by which one may shoot at kinematograph reproductions of human beings and animals, are to be introduced into the German army and navy in consequence of experience just carried out at Dobortz camp by the kaiser. The newspapers state that the apparatus is to be installed at the military schools and naval training ships for the purpose of improving the marksmanship of cadets. The kaiser, fascinated by the "sport," spent half an hour at the "range" fitted up at Dobortz. His majesty particularly enjoyed "shooting" deer, seals, and men and women on the tops of omnibuses and elsewhere. He said that the scheme was undoubtedly valuable for military purposes.

WRONG BREAKFAST. Change Gave Rugged Health. Many persons think that for strength, they must begin the day with a breakfast of meat and other heavy foods. This is a mistake as anyone can easily discover for himself.

A W. Va. carpenter's experience may benefit others. He writes: "I used to be a very heavy breakfast eater but finally indigestion caused me such distress, I became afraid to eat anything. "My wife suggested a trial of Grape-Nuts and as I had to eat something or starve, I concluded to take her advice. She fixed me up a dish and I remarked at the time that the quality was all right, but the quantity was too small—I wanted a saucerful. "But she said a small amount of Grape-Nuts went a long way and that I must eat it according to directions. So I started in with Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft boiled eggs and some crisp toast for breakfast. "I cut out meats and a lot of other stuff I had been used to eating all my life and was gratified to see that I was getting better right along. I concluded I had struck the right thing and stuck to it. I had not only been eating improper food, but too much. "I was working at the carpenter's trade at that time and thought that unless I had a hearty breakfast with plenty of meat, I would play out before dinner. But after a few days of my "new breakfast" I found I could do more work, felt better in every way, and now I am not bothered with indigestion."

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphia. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and always cures.

Remember Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Stops Neuralgia—Kill Pain
Sloan's Liniment gives instant relief from Neuralgia or Sciatica. It goes straight to the painful part—Smooths the Nerves and Stops the Pain. It is also good for Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Chest Pains and Sprains. You don't need to rub—it penetrates. Mr. J. R. Swinger, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I suffered with quite a severe Neuralgic Headache four months without any relief. I used Sloan's Liniment for two or three nights and I haven't suffered with my head since." Get a bottle to-day. Keep in the house all the time for pains and all hurts. 25c., 50c. and $1.00. Recommended by C. G. Meyer, the druggist.

Noxious Weed Notice
To owners, possessors or occupants of land, or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given, that all noxious weeds growing on any land in the township of Putnam, Livingston county or within the limits of any highway passing by or through such lands, must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first of August, A. D. 1914.

Failure to comply with this notice on or before the date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected.

Dated this 9th day of July, 1914
Jas. Smith, Commissioner of the Highways of the Township of Putnam, Livingston County 2843

You're Bilious and Costive!
Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach; Furred Tongue and Indigestion, Mean Liver and Bowels clogged. Clean up to-night. Get a 25c bottle of Dr. King's New Life Pills to-day and empty the stomach and bowels of fermenting, gassy foods and waste. A full bowel movement gives a satisfied, thankful feeling—makes you feel fine. Effective, yet mild. Don't gripe. 25c. Recommended by C. G. Meyer, the druggist.

A Heavy Rain
Monday afternoon July 13, this village suffered a veritable cloudburst, which did much damage. Merchants were forced to remove goods from the show windows and it would have been easier to row about town than to have walked through the miniature rivers and lakes. Pinckney seems to be getting more than her share of severe storms this summer.

Village Tax Notice
The village tax roll for the year 1914 is now in my hands for collection. Fred Swarthout, Village Treasurer. adv.
