New Army To Live Well

Sample Menu Takes Away Some of the Horrors of Army Life

How well America's 687,000 drafted men will be fed when they enter the cantonment camps next month, has been outlined for the United Press by Quartermaster General Sharpe's department.

Thirty-five hundred chief cooks are being mobilized. They will average 226 to each camp. About 10,000 assistants will be employed to help the chefs, new cooks will be developed among the drafted men as they are needed.

Estimated at 42 cents per day per man, it will cost the government $288,540 a day to feed the first 687,000. In the bill of fare is found the Sunday's breakfast, of cantelope, oatmeal with sugar, hot biscuit and fried pork sausage and coffee.

Dinner—vegetable soup with croutons, veal a la creole, boiled rice and fresh string beans, lettuce, salad, ice cream and cake, bread, ice water.

Supper—potato salad, bread, jam, iced tea, veal croquets.

This menu holds up in quantity and quality straight through the week.

It is not intended, said an official, that a bill of fare be blindly followed but might be used as a guide to variety quantity and costs in the localities where troops may be stationed.

The supper meal is purposely stated light to give the cooks an opportunity to use left over food for hash, hot pies, croquettes, and the like.

We shall teach our cooks that a clean kitchen and dining hall are indispensable to a successful mess, and the men in training will be asked to co-operate to this end.

Woolen Articles Wanted

The following was received by the Chairman of the Livingston County American Red Cross. All those knitting or desiring to knit take notice.

Mrs. W. P. VanWinkle, Chairman of the American Red Cross Livingston Co.

Red Cross has urgent call for large quantities of woolen articles from Major G. Murphy. Here is the cablegram from Major Murphy saying "last winter broke all record for cold and misery among people here. We fear coming winter will find us without supplies to meet the situation and you on behalf of our soldiers and those of our allies who will suffer in the frozen trenches and those Belgian refugees and children being returned through Switzerland to France. Everyone here looks to America. Begin shipping at once 3,500,000 each of the warmknitted woolen articles already requested. They must come before cold weather. In view of shortage of coal and other discomforts they will be of great value in both military and civil work. We ask your chapter to furnish a definite number of these goods. Your allotment is 200 sweaters, 200 mufflers, 200 pairs of wristlets, 200 pairs of socks. Full instructions will follow in two days. Ask your members to furnish all knitted work on hand and clear the deck for action. We want every chapter to have a chance to do its part in making good on the call for help from France.

The sewing committee desire to express their sincere thanks to those who have so generously helped in the working of the 33 garments which have been sent to headquarters and have been accepted. Sewing Committee.

Coin's Turn Sends Howell Lad to France

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 24.—They gambled with lives in Washington, and they have gambled with lives in Lansing. Because it was a gamble, Russell E. Kellogg, 25, is to remain on his father's farm at Howell, but Harry D. Kellogg, 27, the brother, is to go to France.

The father, who runs a 260 acre farm near Howell, with the aid of his two sons, asked for their discharge.

"One son is to go," said a member of the board, "One son must stay on the farm," said another member "They gambled over who should go first in Washington," said a third member of the board.

"We can gamble it out here," said a fourth member of the board.

The fifth member flipped a 1 cent piece. Harry Kellogg drew tails.

New and Unique Features

A feature which it is believed will prove popular with both old and young will be instituted in connection with the Jackson County Fair this year in the form of a big dancing pavillion. Work on the construction of the big platform will start within the next few weeks.

Many new and unique features are to be embraced in this year's fair. One free attraction, which has been booked for the week, is worth more than the price of admission. This act is Gus Hornbrook's Congress of Wild West Riders, an act which has never before been exhibited outside the State Fairs. Through a fortunate arrangement and because of the fact that Jackson County Fair is the acknowledged leader of the County Fairs of Michigan this big attraction was obtained.

As the dates of the big fair draw near the final arrangements for this years exposition are being rushed. Numerous arrangements are being made to better facilitate the proper handling of the thousands of exhibits which it is believed will be at least a quarter larger in all departments than that of a year ago. The big dining hall in which 650 persons may dine at one time is being improved. The hall will be in charge of Benjamin Hoffman of Munith this year.

Better concessions than ever are assured for this year and manager Harris states that the space is being sold very rapidly. The exhibition space in the main building is rapidly being taken up.

Norway's Maelstrom. The greatest whirlpool in the world is the maelstrom off the coast of Norway. It is an eddy between the mainland and an island, and when the current is in one direction and the wind in another no ship can withstand the fury of the waves. Whales and sharks have been cast ashore and killed. The current is estimated to run thirty miles an hour.

The M. E. picnic which was held at Portage Lake last Wednesday was a grand success. A fine crowd was in attendance, about one hundred sitting down to a bounteous dinner, served by the ladies. After dinner the ladies held their Aug. meeting of W. F. M. S. and then a ball game between the men and boys was held, which resulted in a victory for the men, the score being 15 to 8. Ice cream was sold on the grounds by the girls of the Willing Workers. All reported a fine time and were greatly in favor of a repetition next year.

DEPENDENT WIFE WILL EXEMPT MAN

PRESIDENT ORDERS THAT WIFE SHOULD NOT BE FORCED TO SUPPORT SELF.

MANY PROTESTS CAUSE CHANGE

If Wife or Children Are Dependent On Man's Earnings for Support He Will Be Discharged.

Washington—President Wilson Saturday ruled that wives of men selected in the draft should not, because they had employment before marriage, be thrown upon their own resources or upon charity of their own or their husband's parents for support.

He ordered that all men upon whose labors their wives or children depend entirely for support should be exempt.

His action was taken in response to nation-wide protests against the interpretation placed on the draft law by Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder's office that a woman whose parents or whose husband's parents were able and willing to support her and her children, or who was qualified to gain her own support, should be thrown upon those resources and her husband sent to war.

Provost marshal Crowder explained that part of the law pertaining to dependents, as follows:

"It means," he said, "that if a man has been dependent for the support of his family not on his own efforts and labor, but on the assistance which was given him by his own or his wife's parents, he will not be subject to exemption. But if his wife and his children if any, are dependent upon his own earnings for their support whether either has parents able to support the wife and children, he will be discharged."

"It must be understood, however, that this does not apply if part of his income on which he supports his wife and children is derived from a continuing source—that is a legacy, an estate, land holdings, stocks, bonds or similar holdings, the income from which would continue to flow in to the wife during his absence and adequately support her. The same is true if she has such a source of income."

"But, if the livelihood of the woman and children, if any, depends entirely or principally upon the man's earnings, he is subject to discharge."

U. S. BUILDS 3 NEW SHIP YARDS

Approximately $35,000,000 to Be Spent for Sites and Ways.

Washington—Construction of three enormous government-owned fabricating plants will be undertaken at once by the United States to add to her great merchant fleet, now being built in private yards.

Approximately $35,000,000 will be expended for yard building. More than $500,000,000 will be devoted to construction of the vessels. Hundreds of vessels of from 5,000 to 7,500 tons each are planned.

Yards will be located as follows: One at Newark, N. J., which the American International corporation will construct for at least 200 vessels; one at Hog Island, near Philadelphia, where the submarine boat company will do the work, and the third at Chester, Pa., to be built by the Merchants Shipbuilding company.

All vessels in these three yards will be in addition to those on private ways recently commandeered by the government and the ships to be constructed at plants owned by private interests.

PORT OF STOLEN AUTOS FOUND

Raid on "Little Italy" Discloses Many Missing Machines.

Detroit—Twenty-seven automobiles stolen during the last six months were recovered, and six Sicilians arrested, charged with grand larceny and carrying concealed weapons, by a squad of 20 detectives, led by Edward H. Fox, chief of detectives, and Inspectors William P. Rutledge and James Sprott, Saturday. Twelve other suspects were picked up in raids.

Disappearance of automobiles in various parts of the city during the last three months were traced to the Italian district several days ago and a systematic cleanup was planned. Captain Fox is certain most of the cars being stolen are in the Italian district. After the roundup of the machines, there was a rush to headquarters by persons who had reported cars lost. Many identified theirs.

Mason—Edgar Adams, of this city, joined a Canadian unit, fought and was invalided home. Then he joined the Michigan National Guard, went to Mexico and was invalided home. Now he has enlisted in the home guard.

TRY NEGRO TROOPS ON MURDER CHARGE

RIOT, IN WHICH 17 PERSONS WERE KILLED, ENDS IN JAILING MUTINEERS.

FALSE REPORT STARTS TROUBLE

Negroes Sought Revenge When One of Their Number Was Reported Shot By White Policeman.

Houston, Texas—Blanket charges of murder were filed by District Attorney John Crocker against 34 Negro soldiers of the Twenty-fourth infantry, held in the county jail as a result of the rioting last Thursday night, in which 17 persons, four of them city police officers, were slain.

This was the first move indicative of an attempt by the state to retain custody of the soldiers rather than turn them over to the army for punishment.

As a result of the riot the Negro battalion was ordered by the war department to return at once to their station at Columbus, New Mexico.

One hundred twenty-five Negro soldiers were involved in the rioting.

The trouble started when a report was circulated that one of the men had been shot and killed by a white policeman. When night came the troopers broke into the supply house, took rifles and ammunition and started to shoot up the town.

Public feeling in Houston ran high because of the savagery displayed by the Negroes toward the white police officers, who were killed. Bodies in nearly every instance had been hacked with bayonets.

Among the Illinois guardsmen also much feeling was evident because of the mutilation of Captain Joseph Mattes, one of the first to be slain by the rioters. Mattes, disabled by a rifle ball, was attacked by the Negroes and his body hacked and stabbed with bayonets until it was practically unrecognizable.

MARRIED MEN WIN EXEMPTIONS

Appeal Board Rules Wife Should Not Be Forced to Support Self.

Detroit—No married woman shall be forced to labor to support herself by reason of selection of her husband for the national army.

This is not an absolute rule of the district draft board for Detroit and Highland Park, but it has been laid down as a general proposition.

The local boards had held that where a wife was childless, healthy and able to work, the husband had no claim for exemption. The district board held that self-support is not the wife's natural sphere, and therefore she is dependent.

The board will follow this precedent as a general rule only. Each case will be decided upon its merits and therefore no hard and fast rule has been promulgated.

Men married since the draft law went into effect will not, however, be exempted. There may be exceptions, but the "general proposition" that wives acquired since the draft law was announced will not be recognized in exemption claims is as near to a hard and fast rule as the board has yet come.

Saginaw—Johnny Baker, professional marksman and foster son of the late Col. Cody, was injured internally when his horse slipped in the parade of the Buffalo Bill Wild West show here and fell on him.

Exemption Granted By Local Division Board May Be Only Temporary.

Lansing—Every man who gains exemption from army selection should be sure of his ground, for it is not only the drafted man who can appeal when he is taken, but the government automatically appeals the case whenever an exemption is granted.

If a man is granted exemption by the local division board he is not yet free from liability to service, and the government may at any time call him back to prove his case.

SENDING MAIL TO SOLDIERS

How Letters for the Boys in Camps Should Be Addressed.

Washington—Before long several thousand young men will be in the various cantonment camps of the National army, and their relatives and other friends will wish to write to them. In order to expedite the delivery of their mail and give the boys the best service possible, the post-office officials instruct their correspondents, if they know in advance the company and regiment to which the soldier is assigned, to address mail according to this sample:

PRIVATE JOHN JONES,
A Company First Infantry,
Camp Dodge, Iowa.

If the company and regiment are not known, the mail should be addressed thus:

PRIVATE JOHN JONES,
of Minnesota,
Camp Dodge, Iowa.

When all troops are organized the mail for each man will be distributed direct to his company and regiment. Until then it will be delivered through his state section.

CALL SECOND ARMY IN SPRING

Not Likely That Next Call Will Come This Year—All Camps Filled.

Washington—A full statistical report on the operations of the draft law will be prepared by the provost marshal general's office as soon as the mobilization of the first increment of 637,000 men of the national army has been completed, some time early in October.

Pending the preparation of the report, no steps toward calling a second increment to the colors will be taken. The first increment will fill all the training areas—16 national guard camps and 16 national army cantonments—to capacity, and there will be a surplus of men beside those assigned to the regular army.

It is regarded unlikely that organization of an additional 500,000 men of the national army can be begun until the early spring of 1918. Neither quarters nor personnel to train the force will be available before that time.

U. S. PLANS TO BUILD 1,270 SHIPS

Cost of Vessels to Be Bought Or Built is $2,000,000,000.

Washington—The government's shipbuilding program calls for a total of 1,270 ships of 7,968,000 tonnage.

That was revealed in estimates the shipping board has sent to Secretary McAdoo on which to base a request for a new billion-dollar appropriation.

This is in addition to nearly 2,000,000 tons of shipping now building in American yards, which has been commandeered by the emergency fleet corporation. A large part of the government fleet and of the commandeered fleet will have been completed by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1918.

MOBILIZATION TIME CHANGED

ONLY FIVE PER CENT OF NEW ARMY TO BE CALLED TO CAMP SEPTEMBER 5.

ORIGINAL ORDER CALLED 30%

Forty Per Cent to Be Called Sept. 19, 40 Per Cent Oct. 3, and Last 15 Per Cent Soon Thereafter.

Washington—Provost Marshal General Crowder sent to governors of states an order changing the proportion of the various state quotas of men, selected for the national army, that are required to be furnished on certain dates.

The new order calls for 5 per cent of each state's quota to report at cantonments September 5; 40 per cent September 19, 40 per cent October 3, and the remaining 15 per cent as soon thereafter as practicable.

Reasons for the change were given by General Crowder as follows: "In announcing the decision to mobilize only 5 per cent of the national army on September 5 instead of 30 per cent, the opportunity is taken to give to local and district boards the credit due them for the overwhelming amount of work they have accomplished in scrutinizing the thousands of cases that it was necessary for them to examine in order to have 30 per cent of their quota ready September 5."

"Reports received from practically every state in the union show that every state would have ready much more than 30 per cent of its quota September 5 and the majority of them would have been ready with their entire quotas on that date. This service has required a month of the most exacting work on the part of boards. This work was consummated under adverse conditions and is in large part uncompensated."

"It stands as one of the most significant expressions of substantial patriotism and devotion on the part of 15,000 men selected from among the best citizens of the country."

Wish to Conserve Traffic.

"In order that it may not be necessary to make any special railway arrangements and to prevent a congestion of normal railway traffic, local boards should be instructed to send approximately 1 per cent of their quotas on each of five successive days, beginning September 5."

UNIFORMS FOR NEW ARMY READY

Fifteen Thousand Expected Before Arrival of First Men.

Battle Creek, Mich.—Army officials reserve the right to change their minds. Witness, the announcement received at Camp Custer that 15,000 uniforms are on their way from Washington and drafted soldiers will not be required to drill in citizens' clothes, as given out several days ago.

The uniforms will be of the winter variety, no summer clothes to be given out until 1918, but it is intimated they will include raincoats, overcoats and campaign hats, instead of caps. The uniforms are promised now for September 1, four days before the first 12,000 men arrive.

SHRAPNEL SHELL KILLS TWO

Explodes While Soldiers Are Cooking First Meal at Training Camp.

Fort Hill, Okla.—Privates Nelson and James Kelley, of Battery A, Second Missouri field artillery, were killed, and four others seriously injured when a shrapnel shell exploded on the cantonment range here, completely wrecking the mess hall, in which they were preparing their first meal after arriving at the Oklahoma post. The shell is believed to have exploded, after having been left partially buried on the field, by the heat of a fire nearby, over which the men were cooking.

DRAFT BOARD ASKS EXEMPTIONS

Request Release of Aliens With Large Families Dependent.

Detroit—Detroit's district draft board has petitioned Gov. Sleeper to ask President Wilson to save a number of Detroiters from the draft army.

The board, discovered that a number of men of foreign birth had been certified for the national army because, through ignorance, they did not claim exemption. The men have large families.

Because the time limit allowed by the law to claim exemption has expired, there is no way out of the army for the men unless the president intervenes.

The Michigan association will try to interest bankers of other states in the same movement.

Monroe—A jury after a seven-day trial in the case of the Pennsylvania-Detroit railroad against George Nlod and George Hoeri, Ash township farmers, found the proposed road a necessity. Mr. Nlod was awarded $1,000 damages for 2.42 acres and Hoeri $3,000 damages for 3.94 acres. Out of the 125 parcels traversed by the new road, 121 have been settled for, leaving two pieces in Wayne county for condemnation besides the two pieces in the present suit. The Pennsylvania railroad has leased the Fure Marquette tracks from Toledo to Carleton, 30 miles, whence it will have its own private right of way to Detroit.

The HOME BEAUTIFUL

Their Care and Cultivation

NATIVE BULBS

By LIMA R. ROSE.

You would not think one could find enough native bulbs to stock a garden, but every year I discover some new ones and have high hope for future researches.

The first thing that opens in my wild garden is the iris. Our mountain sides are covered with it in the spring, and the flower stalks on the mountain are seldom more than seven or eight inches high, but mine are much taller and the purple flowers very much larger.

Dog-tooth violet comes next, and is one of my prime favorites. I departed from my usual rule and planted the bulbs in a large jar, which was sunk in the earth and filled with a rich soil of creek loam, leaf mold and fertilizer from the barn. The flowers are much larger than those I found growing by the brook two years ago. The leaves are very handsome, rich, dark green, mottled curiously with dark brown and white. The flower is a clear lemon yellow tinge, with recurved petals about two inches long and dark brown stamens.

Besides white and yellow water lilies, I have two others that are natives. One, a delicate little white beauty, that is called the "fairy lily," the other larger, blooming in early spring and sending up a leafless flower stalk. It is also white in color.

My wake-robins and lady slippers also come on early, in colors pink, white, pale yellow and rich purple.

The violet wood sorrel is quite as pretty as its haughty greenhouse kinsfolk, its flowers being of a deep violet color instead of reddish purple, and its leaves dark green with a deep chocolate zone.

I have sometimes succeeded in getting the anemone to grow, but one variety only likes me well enough to live through the winter. Buttercups grow for me without any trouble, and I have some queer little bulbs which the colored folks call "Adam and Eve."

They have no bloom but the dark green leaves with maroon linings are very pretty. The bulbs are pearly white and look as if they might be good to eat! If you put them in water those that float are Adams and those that sink are Eves!

Over in his dark, damp den of a corner, covered with wild clematis and wild passion flower, looms up a giant Jack-in-the-Pulpit. He scorns to be called Inglin turnip, and much prefers that you should note the resemblance between his purplish-black and yellow striped spathe and the queenly calla. In the late autumn when the clematis festoons his pulpit with cream-colored sprays, the spathe will be gone and in its place will flame a spike of scarlet berries.

PANSIES

Pansies sown in midsummer will come into bloom late in the season when the weather is cool and give some very fine flowers.

Probably His Best.

Lillian's father had been traveling for his health and the little girl hadn't seen him for a year. When he went away he was thin and pale and wore a Vandyke beard and a mustache. Lillian was called downstairs and looked the big, clean-shaven man over shyly. When asked if she knew who it was, she answered thoughtfully: "I—I think it's a friend of my papa's."

Had to Be Accumulated.

Louise had some of her little friends in for luncheon the other day and among other things she had olives. She offered them to one little miss, who said she did not like them, whereupon Louise replied in a superior fashion: "Oh, I didn't like 'em at first, but you must accumulate a taste for them."

Women Must Make Study of Clothes

New York—An English paper has recently published an article dealing with the attempt and failure of American women and designers to be independent of Paris and congratulates us on our good sense, as it were, in returning to the source.

In truth, there was not a serious or concerted attempt to be independent sway is in the negative, don't let anyone persuade you to buy it.

When the ships that dodge the man-made sharks of the sea bring to us these cases of silks, brocades, metals, embroideries and velvets fashioned for the American woman, we will see that these clothes are the heirs to all the ages. China will dominate some bits of costumery, the influence of Napoleon will be there, the Russian Cossacks who threw themselves before the retreating Eleventh army in Galicia will be another motive for certain cut and color, and the recent exhibition of French clothes in Madrid is reflected in the things that were brought out of Spain.

Not only will different countries be represented in the medley of costumery that is coming to us, but various epochs in the history of places, especially of France—the First Empire, the Consulate, the swirling and transparent draperies made famous by Mme. Tallien, the Queen of Shreds and Patches, as she was nicknamed, the biblike panels of embroidery worn by the queen of Roumania when she arrayed herself in the native costumes.

The polonaise will be revived from that day when the predecessor of Rose Bertin, who gowned Marie Antoinette, made fashionable the striking garment worn by the Polish princess, Marie, whom Louis XV made queen of France. Those Chinese wraps and sleeves and tassels worn by the noblemen who represented Peking as the first embassy sent from China to France are recalled into the new fashions because China is with France and is fighting, as she fought, to be a republic.

Rakish Continental Hat.

The green coque feathers flaunting from new hats have been borrowed from the hats of the sharpshooters, the bersaglieri of Italy, because the fighters of the Vosges and the Alpine passes have a comradeship. The rakish continental hat was included in the fashions because the land of that George Washington whom General Lafayette came to assist is spreading her soldiers over the pleasant valleys of the sister republic and sending her huge guns to protect the Road of Ladies as all gentlemen, good and true, should do.

The pinched-in crown and the rollicking brim have been included in the most fashionable hats because these of Paris. It was only natural that the American people should feel that the outbreak of the war in France would stop all the wheels of her commerce in clothes and that the other countries would be compelled to go on their own.

It would take us a century to accomplish what we now buy from Paris in a week. We are too canny to give up the best source of fashion on the planet for no reason whatever. If we had to depend on our own creations for the commerce in clothes, three-quarters of the firms engaged in this industry would fall within two years.

It is a happy piece of news to report in support of this outlined sentiment that the shipments of costumes from France which will take place this fall will be as heavy as in normal times. The number of buyers who have gone abroad has been reduced, on account of volunteering, conscription and changes, therefore, in the personnel of many business houses, but the resident buyers and the important representatives for groups of houses have been able to transact the expected business.

Where America Comes In.

So much for Paris. But, with all that she will do, the war places an important task on American women. Never before in the history of commerce in clothes has this especial demand been made upon them. It is this: they must work out their own salvation. Our heads of shops and dressmaking houses are far from being aids to the dumb. They must sell what they have bought and made and they have rarely studied the needs of the individual.

The buyers who went to Paris in other days haunted the fashionable places where the women of pleasure and power foregathered. These women made and marred the fashions put out by the designers. When our buyers saw that these leaders were featuring certain fashions they brought them home for the American.

But, and this is the new situation, the women here are now confronted with the fact that thousands of new costumes will soon be unpacked from the boxes that brought them over the ocean, and as they were chosen from whatever the French houses had to offer, it will be our part to select from that heterogeneous mass that which brings out our special type and suits our environment. This is sane and sensible wartime adjustment of one's times and income, and possibly the lesson may be so thoroughly learned and digested that it will prove to be a lasting benefit to the national community.

Make a Study of Clothes.

This will be really the millennium in dress. Paris, the center of art in the world, creates from a point in air, as the engineers say, and from the mass of material she sends we choose a thousand different types of costumes if we wish. Look a bit into the history of each costume, as Paris does, and say to yourself, Does my face and figure, my physical and mortal individuality reflect that period? If the an-soldiers have been smiled at and, some say, kissed by the midnettes as they strolled the boulevards at noon hour. Why try to outline the conglomeration of episodes that are reflected in these autumn clothes that we will soon be asked to buy and mold to our individuality? France has put the passing panorama of the planet into costumery. If we adopt it all, we shall look like a procession of the ages staged by some Gargantuan stage director.

A TRIBUTE TO DRY TOWNS.

Writing for the Atlantic Monthly, Ida M. Tarbell tells of her experience on a Chautauqua circuit in western Pennsylvania, central Ohio and Michigan.

"We came to know almost as soon as we reached a new place whether the town was dry or not," she says. "A town that had been dry over a period of a dozen years had a trimness about the streets and buildings, a look of freshness and energy about young people and old which stood out in almost incredible contrast to what we found in the wet town of the same size. We went to one town in Ohio which had been dry for 31 years, so the hotel-keeper told me. He claimed to be a much-traveled person, and said that in all the many towns which he had known intimately, he had never found one in which there was such a fine lot of young people as here. In health, in vigor, in initiative, he believed that the young men and women, particularly of the working classes, were tremendously ahead of the same group in the towns where liquor was freely displayed."

BEER NOT COOLING.

Dr. W. A. Evans, conductor of the Chicago Tribune's health column, and a man of high rank in his profession, gives the following facts:

All kinds of beer contain eight-tenths of an ounce of alcohol, equivalent to nearly a tablespoonful of whisky.

While cold beer tastes cool and pleasant to a hot man, it does not cool him off; it heats him up. The alcohol and solids will bring increased heat.

The effect of alcohol is to induce an excess of blood to the skin.

Whenever a large amount of blood goes to the skin, it causes a feeling of heat.

When a man drinks beer, he causes himself to feel hot.

He also actually increases his bodily heat.

He increases his chance of sunstroke at least a hundred per cent.

MORE IN WET THAN IN DRY.

The liquor interests would have the public believe that prohibition increases the number of illicit stills. What does the internal revenue office say about it? The figures for the year ending June 30, 1918, show that the number of moonshine plants seized was 3,286, or 548 fewer than in the year 1915—in spite of the fact that dry territory has been steadily increasing. Not a single illicit still was reported for seizure in the prohibition states of Arizona, Dakota, Oregon or Washington. There were only six in Mississippi, four in Arkansas, and six in West Virginia. More gallons of illicit whisky were seized in any one of the wet states of Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Ohio and Pennsylvania than in any prohibition state.

GENERAL PERSHING'S BLOW.

Gen. J. J. Pershing, commander of the first United States troops to go to the battle front in France, is an ardent advocate of prohibition. Pershing's punitive expedition into Mexico was, to quote a writer in the New York tribute, "the driest body of troops that ever marched. It traveled absolutely on the water wagon, and the going was hard. Some of those soldiers went into Mexico soft and moderately rum-soaked. But they came out lean, clear-eyed and hard as nails. The sanitary corps reports on that expedition will show some wonderful results. Despite the hardships of the first rush, the sick reports were startlingly meager."

SALOONS ROB CHILDREN.

W. H. Rice, a veteran circus man, recently put out a chart showing comparative figures of his earnings in typical cities while they were wet, and after they became dry. Decatur, Ill., wet, gave him $3,271; dry, $8,580. Bloomington, Ill., wet, $5,327; dry, $9,403. Boise, Idaho, wet, $5,794; dry, $10,811. Spokane, Wash., wet, $6,200; dry, $11,582. Seattle, wet, $3,128; dry, $6,710; Portland, Ore., wet, $3,284; dry, $3,428. Average—wet, $4,488; dry, $8,708. Prohibition means more surplus money in the family and more happiness for the children.

BUSY MR. BONE.

The story is told of a diplomat in Washington who inquired very earnestly as to the identity of "this Mr. Bone who is introducing so many dry bills."

"Oh, I've been napping there in that chair, where I could keep one eye on you. I'm terribly selfish; I can't bear to lose one minute." After a while she said: "I've made a discovery. Father O'Malley snores dreadfully! Juanito never heard anything like it, and it frightened him nearly to death. He says the father must be a very fierce man, to growl so loudly. He says, too, that he likes me much better than his mother."

It seemed to Dave that the bliss of this awakening and the sweet intimacy of this one moment more rewarded him for all he had gone through.

"I've been busy, too," she was saying. "I sent Juan to the village to learn the news, and it's not very nice. It's good we stopped here. He says Nuevo Pueblo has been destroyed, and the federal forces are all moving south, away from the border. So our troubles aren't over yet. We must reach the river tonight."

"Yes, by all means."
"Juan is going with us as guide."
"You arranged everything while I snoozed, eh? I'm ashamed of myself."
Alaire nodded, then pretended to frown darkly. "You ought to be," she told him.

"My wife!" He laid his lips against her hair.
They were standing beside the window, speechless, oblivious to all except their great love, when Dolores entered to tell them that supper was ready and that the horses were saddled.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Dawn.

Juan Garcia proved to be a good guide, and he saved the refugees many miles on their road to the Rio Grande. But every farm and every village was a menace, and at first they were forced to make numerous detours. As the night grew older, however, they rode a straighter course, urging their horses to the limit, hoping against hope to reach the border before daylight overtook them. This they might have done had it not been for Father O'Malley and Dolores, who were unused to the saddle and unable to maintain the pace Juan set for them.

About midnight the party stopped on the crest of a flinty ridge to give their horses breath and to estimate their progress. The night was fine and clear; outlined against the sky were the stalks of countless sotol-plants standing slim and bare, like the upright lances of an army at rest; ahead the road meandered across a mesa, covered with grama grass and black, formless blotches of shrubbery.

Father O'Malley groaned and shifted his weight. "Juan tells me we'll never reach Romero by morning, at this rate," he said; and Dave was forced to agree. "I think you and he and Alaire had better go on and leave Dolores and me to follow as best we can."

Dolores plaintively seconded this suggestion. "I would rather be burned at the stake than suffer these agonies," she confessed. "My bones are broken. The devil is in this horse." She began to weep softly. "Go, senora. Save yourself! It is my accursed fat stomach that hinders me. Tell Benito that I perished breathing his name, and see to it, when he remarries, that he retains none of my treasures."

Alaire reassured her by saying: "We won't leave you. Be brave and make the best of it."

"Yes, grit your teeth and hold on," Dave echoed. "We'll manage to make it somehow."

But progress was far slower than it should have been, and the elder woman continued to lag behind, voicing her distress in groans and lamentations. The priest, who was made of sterner stuff, did his best to bear his tortures cheerfully.

In spite of their efforts the first rosy herald of dawn discovered them still a long way from the river and just entering a more thickly settled country. Daylight came swiftly, and Juan finally gave them warning.

"We can't go on; the danger is too great," he told them. "If the soldiers are still in Romero, what then?"

"Have you no friends hereabouts who would take us in?" Dave inquired. The Mexican shook his head.

Dave considered for a moment. "You must hide here," he told his companions, "while I ride on to Romero and see what can be done. I suspect Alaire's troops have left, and in that case everything will be all right."

"Suppose they haven't?" Alaire inquired. All night she had been in the highest of moods, and had steadily refused to take their perils seriously. Now her smile chased the frown from her husband's face.

"Well, perhaps I'll have breakfast with them," he laughed.

"Silly. I won't let you go," she told him, firmly; and, reading the expression in her face, he felt a dizzy wonder. "We'll find a nice secluded spot; then we'll sit down and wait for night to come. We'll pretend we're having a picnic."

Dolores sighed at the suggestion. "That would be heaven, but there can be no sitting down for me."

Garcia, who had been standing in his stirrups scanning the long, flat road ahead, spoke sharply: "Caramba! Here come those very soldiers now! See!"

Far away, but evidently approaching at a smart gait, was a body of mounted men. After one look at them Dave cried:

"Into the brush, quick!" He hurried his companions ahead of him, and when they had gone perhaps a hundred yards from the road he took Juan's repeater, saying: "Ride in a little way farther and wait. I'm going back. If you hear me shoot, break for the river. Ride hard and keep under cover as much as possible." Before they could remonstrate he had wheeled Montrosa and was gone.

This was luck, he told himself. Ten miles more and they would have been safe, for the Rio Grande is not a difficult river either to ford or to swim. He dismounted and made his way on foot to a point where he could command a view, but he had barely established himself when he found Alaire at his side.

"Go back," he told her. But she would not, and so they waited together. There were perhaps a dozen men in the approaching squad, and Dave saw that they were heavily accoutred. They rode fast, too, and at their head galloped a large man under a wide-brimmed felt hat. It soon became evident that the soldiers were not uniformed. Therefore, Dave reasoned, they were not federals, but more probably some rebel scouting band from the south, and yet—He rubbed his eyes and stared again.

Dave pressed forward eagerly, incredulously; the next instant he had broken cover with a shout. Alaire was at his side, clapping her hands and laughing with excitement.

The cavalcade halted; the big man tumbled from his saddle and came straddling through the high grass, waving his hat and yelling.

"Blaze! You old scoundrel!" Dave cried, and seized one of the ranchman's palms while Alaire shook the other.

"Say! We're right glad to see you all," Jones exclaimed. "We reckoned you might be havin' a sort of unpleasantness with Longorio, so we organized up and came to get you."

The other horsemen were crowding close now, and their greetings were noisy. There were the two Guzman boys, Benito Gonzalez, Phil Strange, and a number of Jonesville's younger and more adventurous citizens.

In the midst of the tumult Benito inquired for his wife, and Dave relieved his anxiety by calling Dolores and Father O'Malley. Then, in answer to the questions showered upon him, he swiftly sketched the story of Alaire's rescue and their flight from La Feria.

When he had finished Blaze Jones drew a deep breath. "We're mighty glad you got out safe, but you've kicked the legs from under one of my pet ambitions. I sure had planned to nail Longorio's hide on my barn door. Yes, and you've taken the bread out of the mouths of the space writers and sob sisters from here to Hudson's bay. Miz Austin, your picture's in every newspaper in the country, and, believe me, it's the worst atrocity of the war."

"War!" Father O'Malley had joined the group now, and he asked, "Has war been declared?"

"Not yet, but we've got hopes." To Alaire Blaze explained: "Ellsworth's in Washington, wavin' the Stars and Stripes and singin' battle hymns, but I reckon the government figures that the original of these newspaper pictures would be safe anywhere. Well, we've got our own ideas in Jonesville, so some of us assembled ourselves and declared war on our own hook. These gentlemen—Blaze waved his hand proudly at his neighbors—"constitute the Jonesville Guards, the finest body of American men that has invaded Mexican soil since me and Dave went after Ricardo Guzman's remains. Blamed if I ain't sorry you sidetracked our expedition."

It was evident, from the words of the others, that the Jonesville Guards were indeed quite as heedless of international complications as was their commander. One and all were highly incensed at Longorio's perfidy, and, had Alaire suggested such a thing, it was patent that they would have ridden on La Feria and exacted a reckoning from him.

Such proof of friendship affected her deeply, and it was not until they were all under way back toward Romero that she felt she had made her appreciation fully known. When she reflected that these men were some of the very neighbors whom she had shunned and slighted, and whose honest interest she had so habitually misconstrued all these years, it seemed very strange that they should feel the least concern over her. It gave her a new appreciation of their chivalry and their worth; it filled her with a humble desire to know them better and to strengthen herself in their regard. Then, too, the esteem in which they held Dave—her husband—gratified her intensely. It made no more difference to them than to her that he was a poor man, a man without authority or position; they evidently saw and loved in him the qualities which she saw and loved. And that was as it should be.

They were gentle and considerate men, too, as she discovered when they told her, bit by bit, what had happened during her absence. She learned, much to her relief, that Ed's funeral had been held, and that all the distressing details of the inquiry had been attended to. Jose Sanchez, it appeared, had confessed freely. Although her new friends made plain their indignation at the manner of Ed's taking away, they likewise let her know that they considered his death only a slight loss, either to her or to the community. Not one of them pretended it was anything except a blessing.

THIS SEAL HAD CURIOSITY

Mammal Got Into Trouble Through Nosing Around Too Promiscuously Among Strangers.

Seals are very plentiful among the Orkneys, and are sometimes caught when asleep on the skerries. They are attracted by musical sounds, and at one time a considerable number were said to make their appearance in the bay of Hoy when the bell of the parish church close by was rung.

Seals are usually much on their guard against the approach of men, but when unmolested frequently come close to boats or people ashore. An instance of this occurred recently off Skrall bay, in Sandwick, where some yawls were at haddock fishing, a writer in the Edinburgh Scotsman says.

A seal made its appearance, and showed great curiosity as to what was going on. It swam repeatedly between two boats a short distance apart, and ultimately devoted its attention to one of them, diving under the boat and coming up first on one side and then on the other. At last it made a spring at a fish which was being hauled out of the water on a hand line. It failed to get a proper hold, but the fish was thrown back to afford another chance, which the seal quickly seized. It kept so near that eventually one of the fishermen got hold of its tail, and by the assistance of another it was taken into the boat.

It was a young one, about three feet in length. It did not seem to appreciate its new quarters, and made strenuous efforts to escape, but was kept a prisoner until the fishing ceased, and then taken ashore. Subsequently the seal was restored to its native element, which it seemed to appreciate all the more after its detention.

Blaze Jones was the last to leave. With especial emphasis upon her name, she said: "Miz Austin, Paloma and me would like to have you come to our house and stay until you feel like goin' back to Las Palmas."

When Alaire declined with moistened eyes, explaining that she could not well accept his invitation, he signified his understanding.

"We're goin' to see a lot of you, just the same," he promised her, "cause we feel as if you sort of belonged to us. There's a lot of good people in this part of Texas, and them that ain't so good, God and the rangers is slowly weedin' out. We don't always know the ones we like best until something happens to 'em, but if you'd heard the prayers the folks of Jonesville have been sayin' lately you'd know you was our favorite." Then, with a meaning twinkle in his eye, he told her, gravely: "It seems a pity that I ain't younger and better-lookin'. I would sure cut short your grief." Then he raised his hat and rode away, chuckling.

Alaire turned to Dave in dismay. "He knows!" she cried.

"I'm afraid they all know. But don't worry; they'll respect our wishes."

Father O'Malley had ridden on ahead with Benito and Dolores; Dave and Alaire followed leisurely. Now that the moment of their parting was at hand, they lingered by the way, delaying it as long as possible, feeling a natural constraint at what was in their minds.

"How long—will it be?" he asked her, finally. "How long before I can really have you for my own?"

Alaire smiled into his eyes. "Not long. But you'll be patient, won't you, dear?"

He took her hand in his and they rode on silently, a song in the heart of each of them.

(THE END.)

What Came From Reading a Pinkham Advertisement.

Paterson, N. J. — "I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me well and healthy. Sometime ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the above-said ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles as they did me." — Mrs. ELSIE J. ## SHAKESPEARE AT THE FRONT

Famous English Actress Declares Every Performance She Gave for Soldiers Was a Joy.

Miss Lena Ashwell, the distinguished London actress, who has been giving a number of dramas and Shakespearean plays to soldiers at the front, waxed eloquent upon her strange and wonderful auditory. "No Tommy is stodgy, as a West end audience is," she remarks. "Every performance was a joy."

The Tommies show their devotion in all sorts of ways. Some Tommies, hearing she was coming, built her scenery out of odds and ends of canvas and wood, painted red and yellow, exactly like the framework of a Punch and Judy show. Another group of men, working with the forage supplies in Rouen, on the railway side, where there is scarcely any blooms of any sort, managed to get her a little tight bunch of flowers, arranged with a bit of paper like an old-fashioned bouquet.

Still another devoted group gave her a little box of silver, beautifully chased. But what she treasures most is a lucky bean. The young soldier who gave it to her stood grasping her hands in the dark, saying blunderingly that he had been eleven months in the trenches and that she could not imagine what it meant to him to see a lady, much less hear her speak; that this bean had been all over the world with him and had brought him good luck—he hadn't been wounded yet—and now he wanted her to have it. The boy was simply giving her everything. No wonder she set his bean in the best of gold and wears it always.

GAINED 12 POUNDS ON TWO BOTTLES

Packard Employee Couldn't Find Anything That Would Relieve Him.

FEELS LIKE NEW MAN

"I Have Been Entirely Relieved of My Troubles and Wouldn't Be Without Tanlac for Anything."

"I have gained twelve pounds on my first two bottles of Tanlac and I feel that it has made a new man of me," was the remarkable statement made the other day by J. J. Smith, a valued employee of the Packard Motor company, who lives at 134 Thirty-first street, Detroit.

"My stomach has been in such a terrible condition," he continued, "that for the past seven months it has almost run me distracted. I had no appetite at all and everything I would eat disagreed with me and formed gas that made me miserable night and day. My head ached awfully most all the time and I could hardly sleep an hour at a time for pain and worrying about my condition. My head was all stopped up with catarrh and I was hawking and spitting all the time, trying to get rid of the mucus dropping into my throat. I felt that I was getting worse every day and I was simply rundown and worn out and not fit for a thing. I was constantly taking something or other trying to get relief, but nothing hit the mark until I got hold of Tanlac.

I read of a case similar to mine that had been relieved by Tanlac so I got a bottle and never in all my life have I seen anything like the way it took hold of my troubles. Why, I began to feel better before I had taken half the first bottle and now I can eat anything I want and it all agrees with me. I don't have any trouble with gas and all those headaches are gone. I sleep like a healthy child and I seem to be able to work better without getting tired like I did before. In fact, I have been entirely relieved of all my troubles and I wouldn't be without Tanlac for anything and be like I was a few months ago."

Feed the Fighters! Win the War!!

Harvest the Crops - Save the Yields

On the battle fields of France and Flanders, the United States boys and the Canadian boys are fighting side by side to win for the World the freedom that Prussianism would destroy. While doing this they must be fed and every ounce of muscle that can be requisitioned must go into use to save this year's crop. A short harvest period requires the combined forces of the two countries in team work, such as the soldier boys in France and Flanders are demonstrating.

The Combined Fighters in France and Flanders and the Combined Harvesters in America WILL Bring the Allied Victory Nearer.

A reciprocal arrangement for the use of farm workers has been perfected between the Department of the Interior of Canada and the Department of Labor and Agriculture of the United States, under which it is proposed to permit the harvesters that are now engaged in the wheat fields of Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin to move over into Canada, with the privilege of later returning to the United States, when the crops in the United States have been harvested, and help to save the enormous crops in Canada which by that time will be ready for harvesting.

Lost His Protection.

A Kansas City man, who is very active in the affairs of his lodge, was passing the week-end at Excelsior Spring, a near-by mineral water resort. He confided to a friend that he would like to scrape an acquaintance with a striking-looking woman they were both admiring.

"Why don't you try?" asked the friend.

"Couldn't think of flirting with her," came the horrified reply. "Her husband and I are brother lodge members."

The next week-end the friend again went to the springs. In one of the prominent promenades he soon saw the lodge member and the striking-looking woman they had admired, walking arm in arm, and apparently much taken up with each other. At the first chance he asked his friend for an explanation.

"Thought her husband was a lodge brother of yours," he said.

"Oh, that's all right," was the answer. "I looked him up on the books, and he hadn't paid his dues!"—Everybody's Magazine.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezezone tell him to order a small bottle from his wholesale drug house for you.—adv.

STATE HAS SPENT $319,210 FOR WAR

FUND APPROPRIATED BY LAST LEGISLATURE BEING USED CONSERVATIVELY.

STATE TROOPS BIGGEST EXPENSE

Federal Government Will Reimburse State for Equipping Guard and Naval Brigade.

Lansing.

Michigan's war preparations have so far cost the state $319,210.01. The legislature placed $5,000,000 at the disposal of the war board.

The important items follow: War preparedness board, $8,458; food preparedness board, $27,208; Michigan state troops, $112,754; state naval brigade, $4,869; Michigan national guard, $63,414; Grayling military reservation, $49,901; home guards, $2,812; dependents' relief, $6,055; registration and draft boards, $2,635; Selfridge aviation field road, $40,049; women's war committee, $628; Battle Creek cantonment road, $367.

Of these amounts, it is expected that eventually the state will be reimbursed by the federal government for expenditures on the naval brigade and national guard, which went for equipment the federal government did not have; on the military reservation; and for the draft and registration boards.

Clothing for Guard Below Par.

New clothing issued to the national guard at Grayling is reported as of very inferior quality.

In the last lot distributed the quality and make of the clothing varied to such an extent that breeches, made of one material in front and another behind, were found. Yet these breeches were in boxes which bore the names of government inspectors.

The cotton breeches used by the army, and issued on the border last year, were of good, heavy cloth. In some cases the dyes were inferior, but this did not interfere with the wear. In this issue the breeches ran from the old serviceable material to breeches of cloth lighter than that used in boy scout uniforms and therefore practically useless in the field. There were many shades.

Defective workmanship was not confined to the breeches. The woolen shirt must stand hard wear. In this issue there were shirts rotten with shoddy. The packing cases showed that these had been inspected, yet there were shirts on which the elbow protection was in front.

Light wool socks are another necessity for infantry. A soldier cannot wear a sock in which there is a hole or a sock that has been darned. This rule is imperative because of the value of the men's feet. In this issue there were some excellent socks, made by a nationally known firm. But the socks were not all of this same make, so while some of the men drew socks that wear twice as long as ordinary stockings, other got some of poor material. On the whole, however, the socks were far ahead of the shirts or breeches.

Shoes were unusually good, being of finest quality leather, selling at retail from $7 to $8 a pair. They were charged to the men at $2.81 a pair.

Underwear ran about the same as the socks. Some was extra good and some was not.

Budget Board to Conduct Audit.

The bogie men of the budget commission have their plans all laid to swoop down on every state department after September 1 and investigate its system of spending money.

For years expense accounts of employees who are kept on the road has been one of the sticking points for the state officials. When it is remembered that each circuit judge who travels has to have his expense account audited by the state board of auditors, and when it is noted "hat the same board with the same set of rules also gets the account of the man who goes out to examine sheep, the range of expenses can easily be seen. Certain fixed expenses for each day, for hotels, meals, etc., have been in vogue for years, and they have always caused a kick.

Some of the state departments insist that their representatives have to go to the best hotels to "make a front." Then again certain departments, whose expenses are directly paid from fees have insisted that inasmuch as they got the money why shouldn't they spend it as they pleased without the O. K. of the state board of auditors?

Compliments of the Day.

Soldiers have to do their own mending, when it is done at all, and it appears—although few persons would have guessed it—that the thoughtful war office supplies them with outfits for that purpose. Otherwise, this joke from the Journal of the American Medical association would be impossible:

Everything was ready for kit inspection; the recruits stood lined up ready for the officer, and the officer had his bad temper all complete. He marched up and down the line, grimly eying each man's bundle of needles and soft soap, and then he singled out Private MacTootle as the man who was to receive his attentions.

"Toothbrush?" he roared.

"Yes, sir."

"Razor?"

"Yes, sir."

"Hold-all?"

"Yes, sir."

"Hm! You're all right, apparently," growled the officer. Then he barked, "housewife?"

"Oh, very well, thank you," said the recruit, amiably; "how's yours?"
