NOTORIOUS OTTO ROHN

Again in Limelight

Supervisor Gilbert Madden of Dexter township Wednesday presented a set of resolutions to the board of supervisors asking the state game and fish warden to remove Deputy Warden Otto Rohn from office, giving as his reasons that Mr. Rohn had been convicted of violating the state laws on several occasions and that he was guilty of malfeasance in office.

Attached to Supervisor Madden's resolutions was an affidavit executed by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thomas of North Lake, as follows:

"State of Michigan, County of Washtenaw, ss:

"Bert Thomas and Lillie Thomas of the township of Dexter, county and state aforesaid, being duly sworn each for himself, deposes and says that they are both well acquainted with Otto Rohn, deputy game and fish warden for Washtenaw county; that on one occasion in the presence of one of these deponents and in the hearing of the other, the said Otto Rohn offered the deponent, Bert Thomas, pay and reward if he would encourage one Emanuel Lowry to dynamite Patterson lake so that he, the said Otto Rohn, could arrest him, and at that time asked Bert Thomas to encourage dynamiting of said lake as much as possible. That on another occasion in the presence of both of these deponents said Otto Rohn endeavored to get Lillie Thomas to catch and prepare a mess of bass for him, which was at that time out of season. He then told the said Lillie Thomas that she could call them some other name and that there would be no trouble about it.

"Bert Thomas,
"Lillie Thomas.

"Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of October, 1918.

THE "FLU" IN PINCKNEY

Up to date there have been remarkably few cases of the epidemic in Pinckney and the immediate vicinity and so far no deaths from the disease are reported.

After one scholar had developed symptoms of the "flu" school was promptly ordered closed by Dr. C. L. Sigler and this action probably headed off the spreading of the disease.

While the doctors are very busy caring for patients at a distance from town, those living nearer are, so far, very fortunate in having very few cases to combat.

No definite action has as yet been taken regarding reopening the schools, but it is probable that if the situation continues to improve the Pinckney school will again open next Monday, October 30.

One Hundred Per Cent

Glenn Van Horn, son of Geo. Van Horn of Hamburg Township left for Rockwell Field, California last Thursday, as a volunteer in the air service. His brother Lee is with the Ann Arbor unit in the engineering service, as is also Clifford Van Horn, son of S. E. Van Horn. This makes one hundred per cent of the eligible Hamburg Van Horn families in the army.

NOTICE

I have accepted the agency for the I. E. Ilgenfritz Sons Co., Nurserymen of Monroe, Mich. I am their licensed agent here. This is the oldest, largest, and best nursery in Michigan. They put out nothing but A. 1. stock and do no substituting. Their reputation for honest dealing is unexcelled. Stock shipped from Monroe would come through fresh as it would be but a short time on the road. Will be glad to give quotations on all kinds of fruit trees and shrubbery.

F. S. Heribert
Pinckney, Mich.

Change in Time

Last Sunday the change in time took place, the clocks being set back one hour.

Detroit and Howell, however adhere to the old time which is one hour faster. Pinckney has taken no action as yet but many are in favor of following the example of Detroit and Howell.

The business men of Pinckney with only one exception are strongly in favor of conducting the town on fast time, thereby saving one hour of fuel and lights throughout the winter.

The council will probably take action on the matter in the near future.

Boxes for Soldiers

Christmas packets are now hand at Nellie Gardner's store.

No package must weigh more than two pounds and fifteen ounces before being wrapped.

No perishable, moist or explosive article must be sent.

A label from the soldier from overseas with his address must be presented before the carton is sent.

WALLACE MEETS KELLERMAN AND IMMEDIATELY RECOGNIZES HIM AS AN ANTAGONIST

Synopsis.—Lieut. Mark Wallace, U. S. A., is wounded at the battle of Santiago. While wandering alone in the jungle he comes across a dead man in a hut outside of which a little girl is playing. When he is rescued he takes the girl to the hospital and announces his intention of adopting her. His commanding officer, Major Howard, tells him that the dead man was Hampton, a traitor who sold department secrets to an international gang in Washington and was detected by himself and Kellerman, an officer in the same office. Howard pleads to be allowed to send the child home to his wife and they agree that she shall never know her father's shame. Several years later Wallace visits Eleanor at a young ladies' boarding school. She gives him a pleasant shock by declaring that when she is eighteen she intends to marry him.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

It came in the form of a letter from Colonel Howard, the first in two years. Howard had, in the past, repeatedly tried to induce Mark to take advantage of opportunities that he had put before him, but Mark had refused stubbornly, until the Major had given him up in disgust. Howard did not know, and Mark did not himself understand, the underlying idea in his own mind, the sense of subdued rancor against the man who had robbed him of Eleanor, coupled with the sense of sacrifice, that he might withdraw all his claims on the child.

Now, however, Howard made one more attempt.

"I want you to think this proposition over as quickly as possible," he wrote, "not for my sake or yours, but because your duty is to take the job. With war with Germany in plain view to the inflated, there are great things doing in Washington, and I've been offered my old post at the mobilization department, which has been enlarged beyond all knowledge. Your work in the West is better known than you think, Wallace, and we want you here. Wire if you can, and come by the first train. This is official, so don't wait for divisional notification, which may take days."

The letter reached Mark in one of his periods of helpless despondency. Impulsively he wired back, accepting, regretted as soon as the message had been dispatched, but packed his suitcase, turned over the command to the senior lieutenant, and took the train for Washington.

As he went East the years seemed to fall from him like a dream. It was a frozen labyrinth in which he seemed to have been wandering; he seemed to come to himself with a consciousness of years wasted, but of years of action ahead.

Colonel Howard gazed curiously at him as he rose from his desk in the war office and grasped his hands.

"I should never have known you, Wallace," he said.

What he was thinking was, "Good, Lord, how the years have eaten into him!"

"Don't think that your work has been unrecognized," he said, after a few minutes of desultory chatting. "It has been, and I know that recognition is coming to you in the fullest measure. You are to work under me here; it's a big scheme that we are preparing, my boy, and only Kellerman and I, and yourself, will be acquainted with all the details, outside of the departmental head. You remember Kellerman?"

Mark nodded, trying to piece together the pictures of the past.

"We are working out the mobilization plans for the first contingent, after it reaches France," Howard continued. "It's a bigger scheme than anything we knew in the past. You'll act as my subordinate and have an intimate knowledge of the details—a sort of understudy, in fact, but with a good deal of initiative as well. And if war comes, as it is sure to come, we'll be sent over on the first transport, to prepare things for the troops. Ah, Kellerman, here's Wallace, newly arrived to take over his duties."

Mark saw not the slightest change in Kellerman since the days of the Cuban war. Kellerman was just as florid as ever, just as burly, with the same rather sinister way of glancing; his black hair was unthinned and untouched with gray. He had borne the years much better than Mark.

If Kellerman reciprocated Mark's feelings, he showed no sign of it in his cordial handgrip.

"We were glad to get you, Wallace," he said. "You'll excuse me for a moment, I'm sure."

He drew Colonel Howard aside in conversation while Mark twirled his fingers and looked out of the window into the busy hive of the capital, and tried to make himself believe that it was all true.

When Kellerman had gone the Colonel invited Mark to sit down, and launched into business.

"I must tell you that it's a pretty stiff job that we're tackling, Mark," he said. "To begin with, we're a sort of nucleus of the whole organization. We're in touch with every division. We have to have the whole thing at our fingers' ends—and it's mainly a matter of ships, animals, and transport. And to cap the climax, you can imagine what a nest of intrigue and espionage Washington has become in these days. And, as neutrals—ostensibly neutrals—we can do nothing to put an end to it."

He stretched out his finger and pointed toward the big safe between the windows.

"Any one of some two hundred papers there, Mark, would give a valuable clue," he said. "Every night, when work is finished, your task will be to open the safe, take out the inner case containing these documents, add those on which you have been working, including every waste sheet and every scrap of the day's blotting paper, and have the day porter convey them, under your personal supervision, to the strong room, where you and either the General, myself, or Kellerman, will place them in the safety vault. In the morning the same procedure is reversed. And that is why I insisted on our getting you, Mark. I knew you, and I don't know the hundred of other officers of impeccable character whom we could have secured. We can't run risks—we simply can't. That's why it has to be just you and Kellerman and I. We had our lesson in the old days, you know."

He frowned at the remembrance, and then answered Mark's unspoken question with another.

"Where are you staying, Wallace?"

"At the Congressional."

"Well, I want you to come and stay with us as soon as we're settled. We've rented a house in Massachusetts circle, and move in on the first of the month. Eleanor and Mrs. Howard are still in New York, but they're coming here in about ten days' time—just as soon as I can get the house ready for them. Eleanor is dying to see you, and Mrs. Howard has the pleasantest remembrances, of course. And now I'm going to take you to the Brigadier."

The short interview with the head of the department confirmed Mark's impressions as to the businesslike nature of the plans of the war office. Mark went home. He was resolved, although he had not told the Colonel, not to become his guest—at least not unless he found that he could take up his life again where he had dropped it, years before. And then—but what was the use of speculating? He went home to his hotel.

He was surprised to find how easily he seemed to fit into his environment when he donned his long-neglected evening clothes and went down to the dining room of the Congressional. Almost the first face he saw was that of a man of his class; within a few minutes Mark Wallace was seated at the dinner table with a merry party of old friends and new acquaintances. And the years had slipped away from him. On the next morning, when he took up his duties, it was with the sense that he was no longer a stranger. Washington was ready to extend her welcome to him. At the Army club, to which he was posted by Colonel Howard, he found himself, much to his surprise, often the center of a respectful audience, eager to hear of the work of the army in the forlorn outposts of the West. He discovered, too, with surprise, that he was by no means as unknown as he had imagined himself to be.

Then there were invitations that had to be accepted, receptions and dinners; yet through it all Mark waited for the charmed day when the house in Massachusetts circle was to be opened, displaying the princess of his imagination, the little child of the hillside, the schoolgirl, grown into the image of his dreams.

CHAPTER V.

When at last he alighted at the door, and was shown into the reception room, he felt that he was almost trembling with eagerness.

He looked uncertainly about him, at the group of young officers, the ladies, at Mrs. Howard, and then at the stylishly dressed young woman at her side.

And, forgetting his manners, he approached her in stupefaction, ignoring his hostess for the moment.

"Eleanor!"

"Uncle Mark! It's never you, Uncle Mark!" cried the girl. "Why, I should never, never have known you!"

But would he have known her, had he not looked closely into the clear eyes to discern the face of the little waif beneath the beauty of the woman? He had often and often imagined her, grown to womanhood, and dressed as he would have dressed her, but somehow she had always had the look and aspect of the child, blended with the schoolgirl. A sudden chill went through his heart at her self-mastery, the well-bred welcome that had in it little of real eagerness. And he realized that, though he had always looked on her as lost, at the bottom of his heart he must have hoped to find her again.

He stood, a graying-haired, uncomfortable, almost middle-aged man, trying to feel at home. He saw Kellerman looking at him across the room, as if there was some message in his eyes.

"I hope I haven't changed so much as all that," said Mark, trying to smile.

"No," she answered, looking at him with a searching, direct gaze. "Not really—only at first appearance. Why, Uncle Mark, your hair is turning gray. What have you been doing with yourself?"

He felt that the unconscious shaft had gone well home. He only answered vaguely. There was a little informal dancing, and, as he felt befitted his age, he waltzed a few turns with Eleanor and sat back with Mrs. Howard, surveying the gay crowd, and recalling memories—about the most disheartening thing that he could have done.

"What do you think of Eleanor?" asked Mrs. Howard. "You didn't expect to find the little schoolgirl grown up like this, did you?"

"Nor she me—like this," answered Mark humbly. But the Colonel's wife missed the allusion.

"She has been crazy to see you," Mrs. Howard continued. "She gave the Colonel no rest after he told us that he was trying to get you for the war office. I believe she had always had a sort of romantic recollection of you, and looked upon you as a sort of guardian, although, of course, it was a fortunate thing for her and us—and you, too—that Colonel Howard did succeed in inducing you to let us take her. She has been everything to us."

"Of course," said Mark mechanically.

"It would have been a terrible life for her out in the desert," sighed Mrs. Howard. "I think that you were very wise, Captain Wallace. And what a dreadful burden and responsibility you would have had!"

This time Mark did not attempt to answer.

"She has been a daughter to both of us," pursued his hostess. "And now I'm afraid—we're both afraid, Captain Wallace, that we cannot hope to have her for long. She was quite the rage in New York last season."

Wallace followed the girl with his eyes. She had just been dancing with a young officer; it had been a two-step, and as the band of three pieces broke into the wildest and merriest part of the piece he saw her, with flushed face and laughing eyes, accept Kellerman's arm and surrender herself to the dance.

Kellerman caught Mark's eyes across the room. He looked straight back with a meaning challenge which was unmistakable. Mark knew at that moment that his antipathy to Kellerman had returned, although he was inclined to believe the other was not aware it had ever existed.

Kellerman was a splendid figure, even in his civilian evening clothes. Fully six feet tall, with the chest and limbs of an athlete, florid; with crisp black hair and a sense of the pression of power, he looked at least five years Mark's junior, though they had been born in the same year. "Handsome Kellerman" had been his sobriquet in Cuba. Mark remembered it across the lapse of years, and into his mind there began to filter, too, stray stories about him.

Mark did not judge him by these, but by the intuition which sent a cold wave to his heart as he saw him with Eleanor. It seemed to him that Kellerman's look, as he turned to the girl, was one of intentional conquest—in another man it might have been called infatuation; and the girl knew it and was happy in it.

The bitterness of that moment was like a sword thrust. Had he come three thousand miles for this? But what had been his thoughts for Eleanor, his vague wishes as to her future?

He did not know. He had dreamed—dreamed of her, and never pictured her as she was.

There was an informal, stand-up supper about eleven. Eleanor came to Mark and asked him to take her to the buffet. Mark was conscious of a coldness, or hurt resentment in the girl's manner, as if he had neglected her.

He brought her a plate and sat beside her in an alcove. They were alone, measurably, for the first time that evening.

"Uncle Mark, you are disappointing me," said Eleanor.

"I know it, and I'm sorry for it," said Mark. "I suppose it's—because I am not a bit like what you expected me to be."

"You are not the least bit like what I expected, or remembered, Captain Mark," she answered.

In his jealousy he was conscious of the altered prefix. And, as Eleanor looked at him with hurt in her eyes she broke off to smile at a young officer across the room, who returned an ardent gaze across the rubicund shoulders of a very homely, but most important dame whom he was helping to champagne.

"Most of us experience disappointments in people whom we have idealized," said Mark lamely.

"You mean—Oh, I'm sure I thank you, Captain Wallace," answered the girl acidly. "Shall we go back?"

But Mark had a moment of inspiration.

"Before we go, Eleanor," he said, "don't you think we might get to understand each other a little? I suppose I have been rude—but, you see, I have been conscious of your disappointment all the evening, and—"

He stopped in bewilderment, for Eleanor was—laughing.

"But I seem at least to have the faculty of amusing you," he continued. "Dear Uncle Mark!" said Eleanor laughing with tears in her eyes. She laid her hand on his shoulder. "Now I know you are my real Uncle Mark after all," she said.

"Why?" he asked, in astonishment. "That's just like you, Uncle Mark. It's you—it's the real 'you' I've always remembered."

"You seem to remember my character very well, Eleanor," said Mark, trying not to feel, and having an uncomfortable feeling that she was an adept at hoodwinking.

"Well, you know, you paid me a fairly long visit at the Misses Harpers' school, Uncle Mark."

"You were nothing but a schoolgirl then."

Wallace comes upon the man who he believes is haunting Eleanor's footsteps. He follows him to a house where he is surprised to come face to face with Kellerman. You will not want to miss the next installment.

To Retain Friends.

To retain friends of the right sort means that one must prove a friend of similar caliber. But on the other hand, if a girl or woman is influenced only by display (which at best is an empty, shallow affair) she cannot hope to hold the sincere regard of persons who in truth are worth while. The really level headed girl will cling fast to the honest friends of other less palmy days—perhaps to the friends who make no display, but who are sterling through and through.—Exchange.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowiton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

Use Artificial Limbs Well.

New-limbed men marched past the king and queen at Southampton recently. Some of the patients not only walked with apparent ease, but ran at a very creditable pace, while one or two made an obstacle race of it and leaped over benches or other obstructions. Some of the men climbed steps, walked backwards and forwards over a ramp, and some very expert cases rode bicycles. Mechanical operations by maimed men were witnessed, and one of these men mentioned that he could use an ax or a sledge hammer. He proceeded to demonstrate with such vigor that the queen laughingly bent a hasty retreat, remarking, "I don't want you to try it on me." Digging, pile driving, golf playing, and cricket batting were all performed by men who had lost either arms or legs or both, while one man held aloft a heavy sledge hammer with his artificial right hand, and another, in a dummy boat, gave a fine exhibition of sculling.—London Times.

WOMEN SUFFERERS MAY NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble. Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

KAISER ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF GEN. LUDENDORFF

KAISER'S WAR GENIUS PLACED ON THE UNATTACHED LIST BERLIN REPORTS.

UNKNOWN BEFORE THE WAR

His Resignation Will Still Further Shake the Faith of German People.

London — Official announcement was made in Berlin Emperor William had acceded to request of General Ludendorff, first quartermaster general, he be permitted to resign. It is understood in authoritative quarters Allied governments will not reveal their armistice terms until Germany has replied to President Wilson's last note. Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Balfour, accompanied by naval and military officers, have gone to France.

The German reichstag, by a great majority, has adopted a bill placing the military command under control of the civil government, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

General surprise was caused in Berlin by the fact the daily report from German headquarters was not signed, as usual, with the name of General Ludendorff. Later the following official announcement was issued:

"The emperor, accepting request to be allowed to retire of Infantry General Ludendorff, first quartermaster general and commander in time of peace of the Twenty-fifth Infantry brigade, has placed him on the unattached list. The emperor decided at the same time the Lower Rhenish infantry regiment, Number 89, of which the general has long been chief, shall bear henceforth the name of Ludendorff."

His resignation, it is believed in London, will still further shake the faith of the German people in their military machine.

In the resignation of General Ludendorff Germany loses what often has been described her "military brain."

Unknown before the war, General Erich Ludendorff sprang into prominence in the fall of 1914 as chief of staff to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, then a general, in operations against Russians. When Von Hindenburg was given chief command in August, 1916, Ludendorff was appointed first quartermaster general but his position in reality has been chief of staff and collaborator with Von Hindenburg.

FRENCH SWEEP ON FIVE MILES

Numerous Villages Have Been Captured in Swift Smash.

Paris—A marked advance by French troops in the sector between the Oise and Serre rivers is recorded in the official communication issued at the war office. Numerous villages have been captured and at points the advance amounted to about five miles.

Paris—By a sudden and powerful smash, the French army under General Mangin has almost obliterated the apex of the German salient between the Oise and Serre rivers. Germans are retreating at top speed along the 30-mile front from north of Guise to the Mortiers region. This retreat is bound to spread at least another 20 miles. The whole German pocket north and east of Laon has caved in.

The French are pushing hard on the enemy's heels. Germans are fighting stubborn rear-guard actions, but their main forces are in full retreat. Mangin's troops have crossed the Serre east of Esis-sur-Serron (seven and a half miles north of Laon) and have penetrated German trenches.

The French are making a concentric drive on Richecourt 10 miles north of Laon, which already is outflanked in the north, where the Pollus have captured Cheveris-Moncoeu, three miles above Richecourt, on the Laon-Guise railway. In the south, the attackers are only a mile from Richecourt.

General trend of the drive is north-eastward. Its immediate objectives are Guise and Marlo, important rail-intersections.

Strategic object of the drive is to push the French front up to a level with the front created by the British below Valenciennes. For the first phase of their retreat, Germans have an elaborate network of railways, but once the Guise-Marlo front is reached, avenues of escape will be limited to two main rails, running parallel toward Hirson and Mestres, respectively.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

SPANISH INFLUENZA--WHAT IT IS AND HOW IT SHOULD BE TREATED

Nothing New—Simply the Old Grip or La Grippe That Was Epidemic in 1889-90, Only Then It Came From Russia by Way of France and This Time by Way of Spain

Go to Bed and Stay Quiet—Take a Laxative—Eat Plenty of Nourishing Food—Keep Up your Strength—Nature Is the Only "Cure"

ALWAYS CALL A DOCTOR

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC Spanish influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has all the appearances of grip, or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C., which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831 this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-90.

There is no occasion for panic—influenza itself has a very low percentage of fatalities—not over one death out of every 400 cases, according to the N. C. board of health. The chief dangers lies in complications arising, attacking principally patients in a run-down condition—those who don't go to bed soon enough or those who get up too early.

THE SYMPTOMS

Grip, or influenza, as it is now called, usually begins with a chill, followed by aching, feverishness, and sometimes nausea and dizziness, and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane or lining of the air passages, nose, throat and bronchial tubes; there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night; oftentimes a sore throat or tonsillitis, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake, but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powders, etc., may be administered by the physician's directions to relieve the aching. But there is no cure or specific for influenza—the disease must run its course. Nature herself will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the bodily resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you, or if you are over 50 or not strong stay in bed four days or more, according to the severity of the attack.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the grippe germs, to aid in loosening the phlegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier, Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then VapoRub should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, attracting the blood to the surface, and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE

Evidence seems to prove that this is a germ disease, spread principally by human contact, chiefly through coughing, sneezing or spitting. So avoid persons having colds—which means avoiding crowds—common drinking cups, roller towels, etc. Keep up your bodily strength by plenty of exercise in the open air, and good food. Above all, avoid colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and render them much better breeding places for the germs.

KEEP FREE FROM COLDS

Use Vick's VapoRub at the very first sign of a cold. For a head cold, melt a little VapoRub in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or better still, use VapoRub in a benzoin steam kettle. If this is not available, use an ordinary tea-kettle. Fill half-full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

Note—Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, who found how to combine, in salve form, Menthol and Camphor with such volatile oils as Eucalyptus, Thyme, Cubeb, etc., so that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

VapoRub is comparatively new in New York State and New England and a few Western states where it is just now being introduced, but in other sections of the country it is the standard home remedy in more than a million homes for all forms of cold troubles. Over six million jars were sold last year. VapoRub can be had in three sizes at all druggists. It is particularly recommended for children's croup and colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used as freely as desired without the slightest harmful effects.

To the Voters of Livingston County:

In the October 16th issue of this paper I published a statement showing that Willis Lyons, the republican candidate, had held county office for 18 years and been paid $26,400.00 while in office. I estimated his income from the office of county clerk at $1600.00 per year. Mr. Lyons now in a back-handed reply states that I might have published the exact figures had I desired. But he knows better than that.

The county clerk gets his pay in two ways. First, he gets a stated salary from the county. Second, he gets fees for the work he does in office. If you go in to get a marriage license or a hunting license, the clerk gets a fee. He gets a fee for every civil case in the courts and there are many other things that he gets fees for. So the salary paid by the county and the fees paid in make up the income of the clerk. There is no record kept anywhere of the amount of fees the clerk gets. Former clerks have stated the office was worth $1800.00 to $2000.00.

Only one man knows exactly what the office was worth during the years from 1898 to 1910. That man is Willis Lyons and so far he hasn't told what the income from the office was. The amount that he received as clerk together with the amount he received as Prosecuting Attorney makes such a huge total that he declines to put it in print. So instead of coming out squarely and standing on his record and fairly telling the people how many thousands of dollars he has profited, he tells half the story and hopes it will be taken for all. He beats around the bush when he might have given facts.

Facts show Mr. Lyons' service record to be 18 years in office. Facts show he has received $26,000.00 in money, and this estimate is mighty low. His name has been on every county ballot for the last eleven elections. A period of nearly a quarter of a century.

I submit to the voters of Livingston County: That 18 years is enough for one man. $26,000.00 enough for one man. The custom of passing it on a good one.

Sincerely yours,

DON W. VAN WINKLE.

SERIOUS QUESTIONS CONFRONT MICHIGAN FOR DECISION IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

Are the laws made only to control the poor and to be cast out by the rich?

Will the people approve the auction sale of a seat in the United Senate—"SOLD" to the highest bidder?

The Newberry millions have been known in exclusive circles for forty years, yet Mr. Newberry's campaign managers claim it was necessary to spend $176,000 to introduce him to the people.

Within fifteen years, Henry Ford by his own ability is known to the entire world—Why? Because he believes that the welfare and happiness of all mankind is the most essential thing in the progress of a nation.

Newberry's managers paid $176,000 for his nomination—Henry Ford paid not one cent.

Fair wages—The right to live and be respected, is the Ford idea of life.

Think—Which of the two types of men would you have to represent you in the U. S. Senate?

John W. Bailey, candidate for Governor, rises from the ranks by his work. Is introduced by his home folks as absolutely fearless, because he has lived his life an honest, honorable man.

He knows no middle ground—and as Governor he would be Governor—not a neutral politician.

President Wilson needs helpers in Congress. If you send the democratic candidates to him you are helping.

Henry Ford's Visit At Howell

May Establish Factory To Make Fordson Parts

A great interest has been aroused in Howell and Livingston County since the visit of Henry Ford to Howell to look over the water-power.

It appears that Long Lake is about forty feet higher than Thompson Lake. This is a large body of water and might be utilized to increase the power at Howell.

Livingston County is filled with lakes and streams. The Huron River on the south, the dam at Pinckney, Hartland, Parshallville, Oak Grove, Deer Creek and Argentine might be developed so as to give Livingston County an unlimited amount of water-power.

It is said that Henry Ford is greatly interested in power projects, that he believes that water-power must be utilized for manufacturing purposes and that he is willing to spend millions to develop power.

Now that Bruce McPherson and others have got Mr. Ford interested the people of the entire county should cooperate. This will bring added prosperity and greatly benefit the county. Advertisement of Brighton township, the Republican Candidate for State Representative from Livingston County, was born on the farm he now works and which he has operated since he was old enough to do so. For a young man 31 years of age, he certainly has had a valuable lot of experience that particularly fits him for this office.

Graduating from the Michigan Agriculture College in 1904, (the youngest male member of his class), he returned to the farm. Since then he has served as Supervisor of his township, was elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors of his County, and has represented this county in the last two sessions of the Michigan Legislature.

Some friends of his opponent say that two terms are enough. They forget that prior to Mr. Ross' election, Mr. Farmer, a very worthy Democrat, held this same office four terms in succession.

On account of work on the farm, and the scarcity of labor at this time, Mr. Ross does not expect to be able to see many of the voters personally this fall. He has heard no criticisms regarding the way he has represented his county at Lansing, and if you think he is worthy of another term, he respectfully asks your support at the coming election. Adv.

Mr. Witty has also been a director of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Company for about 12 years. His fairness in making settlements has brought about his re-election each year.

The office of County Treasurer has always been considered as a farmer's office, in fact Elmer Braley, Edward Miller, Charles Judson, Fred Dean and Robert Wright were elected as farmers. This announcement by the war department at Washington brought the total loss of life to 213, the navy having previously reported ten officers and 102 of the crew dead and two officers carried off as prisoners by the enemy submarine that sent the vessel down.

Congress at Washington has been asked by the navy department to authorize a second three-year naval building program to provide ten additional superdreadnaughts, six battle cruisers and 140 smaller vessels at a cost of $600,000,000. This was disclosed by Secretary Daniels after his appearance before the house naval committee to explain the appropriation.

President Wilson at Washington conferred the Distinguished Service medal on Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre, Field Marshal Haig, General Petain, General Diaz, General Gillian and General Pershing.

In revising the war excess profits tax feature of the house war revenue bill, the senate finance committee at Washington struck out the alternative system of taxing war and excess profits and adopted a compromise plan designed to raise somewhat less than the $3,200,000,000 estimated from the house provisions.

All printed matter put out by or in the interest of the Industrial Workers of the World has been barred from the Canadian mails, Washington reports.

"Belgium's peace terms can be stated in King Albert's single sentence," said the Belgian legation at Washington. "We demand national integrity; political, economic and military independence; reparation; guarantees by Germany against a renewal of the aggression of 1914."

GERMANY AWAITS TERMS OF ARMISTICE DECLARES LAST NOTE

LATEST COMMUNICATION SAYS FAR REACHING CHANGES HAVE RECENTLY BEEN MADE.

PEACE DISCUSSIONS UNDER WAY

Peace Negotiations Are Being Made By a People's Government Says Latest Answer.

London.—Germany's answer to President Wilson's latest communication declares Germany is awaiting proposals for an armistice.

Copenhagen.—Germany's answer to President Wilson's latest communication says:

"The German government has taken cognizance of the answer of the president of the United States.

"The president is aware of far-reaching changes which have been carried out and being carried out in the German constitutional structure, and that peace negotiations are being conducted by a people's government in whose hands rests, both actually and constitutional, power to make deciding conclusions.

"Military powers are also subject to it.

"The German government now awaits proposals for an armistice, which shall be the first step toward a just peace, as the president has described it in his proclamation.

(Signed) "SOLF."

Washington.—The question of an armistice and peace already is being considered by Allied governments and the United States. Colonel E. M. House and Admiral W. S. Benson, ranking officer of the American navy, recently arrived in France, the former to represent the president in discussions to be held at Versailles, where the supreme war council sits.

Admiral Benson will represent the navy in matters relating to an armistice insofar as American naval forces may be affected. General Tasker H. Bliss, former chief of staff, is the American military representative at the council.

U. S. REPLY TO GERMAN NOTE

The text of the president's reply to the German note follows:

"The secretary of state makes public the following:

"From the secretary of state to the charge d'affaires ad interim in charge of German interests in the United States: Department of State, October 23, 1918.

"Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your note of the 22nd transmitting a communication under date of the 20th, from the German government and to advise you that the president has instructed me to reply thereto as follows:

"Having received the solemn and explicit assurance of the German government that it unreservedly accepts the terms of peace laid down in his address to the congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses, particularly the address of the 27th of September, and that it desires to discuss details of their application and that this wish and purpose emanated, not from those who have hitherto dictated German policy and conducted the present war on Germany's behalf but from ministers who speak for the majority of the reichstag and for an overwhelming majority of the German peoples and having received also, the explicit promise of the present German government that the humane rules of civilized warfare will be observed both on land and sea by the German armed forces, the president of the United States feels that he cannot decline to take up with the governments with which the United States is associated, the question of an armistice.

"He deems it his duty to say again, however, that the only armistice he would feel justified in submitting for consideration would be one which should leave the United States and the powers associated with her in a position to enforce any arrangements that may be entered into and to make a renewal of hostilities on the part of Germany impossible.

"The president has, therefore, transmitted his correspondence with the present German authorities to the governments with which the government of the United States is

LINER CARRIES 343 TO DEATH

Canadian Pacific Railway Just Announced Sinking of Steamer.

Vancouver, B. C.—With 343 persons aboard, the Canadian Pacific liner Princess Sophia foundered in Alaskan waters, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the ship's owner, have just announced.

Her 268 passengers are lost, said a wireless message from the U. S. S. Cedar, which figured in heroic efforts to reach the sinking vessel through northerly gales, heavy seas and a blinding snowstorm.

The crew of 75 men is also believed lost, the Cedar reporting "no survivors so far as known." The Government vessel reported finding of one woman's body and four upturned life boats on Lincoln Island but no sign of life.

The Princess Sophia struck the treacherous reef at 3 a. m. Thursday only a few hours after leaving Skagway with a large passenger list of Klondikers on their way out for the winter. The U. S. S. Cedar reached the scene Thursday evening and was joined later by the U. S. S. Peterson. Other smaller vessels had been standing by helpless to aid because of the storm.

Battling against the blizzard Friday morning, the Cedar got within 400 yards of the Sophia, but anchors would not hold and the Cedar was driven back.

associated as a belligerent, with the suggestion that, if those governments are disposed to effect peace on the terms and principles indicated their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States be asked to submit to the governments associated against Germany necessary terms of such an armistice as will fully protect the interests of the people involved and insure to the associated governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce details of the peace to which the German government has agreed, provided they deem such an armistice possible from the military point of view.

"Should such terms of armistice be suggested, their acceptance by Germany will afford the best concrete evidence of her unequivocal acceptance of the terms and principles of peace from which the whole action proceeds.

"The president would deem himself lacking in candor did he not point out in the frankest possible terms the reason why extraordinary safeguards must be demanded. Significant and important as the constitutional changes seem to be which are spoken officially by the German foreign secretary in his note of the 20th of October, it does not appear that the principles of a government responsible to the German people has yet been fully worked out or that any guarantees either exist or are in contemplation that alterations of principle and of practice now partially agreed on will be permanent.

"Moreover, it does not appear that the heart of the present difficulty has been reached. It may be that future wars have been brought under control of the German people, but the present war has not been; and it is with the present war that we are dealing. It is evident that the German people have no means of commanding acquiescence of military authorities of the empire in the popular will; that the power of the king of Prussia to control the policy of the empire is unimpaired; that the determining initiative still remains with those who hitherto have been masters of Germany. Feeling that the whole peace of the world depends now on plain speaking and straightforward action, the president deems it his duty to say, without any attempt to soften what may seem harsh words, that the nations of the world do not and cannot trust the word of those who hitherto have been masters of German policy, and to point out once more that in concluding peace and attempting to undo the infinite injuries and injustices of this war the government of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany.

"If it must deal with the military masters and the monarchical autocrats of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to international obligations of the German empire, it must demand, not peace negotiations, but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration,

(Signed)

"ROBERT LANSING."
"Mr. Frederick Oederitz,
"Charge d'Affaires of Switzerland,
"ad interim. In charge of German interests in the United States."

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

WISDOM OF MAMMA.

The two girls were talking about their best young men, of course. At least one of them was.

"Charley was up to see me last night," she said.

"That's twice in a week, isn't it?" inquired the other.

"Yes." And she blushed and giggled.

"I suppose he'll come three times in the next week?"

"I suppose so."

"And four times the next?"

"That's what brother says."

"And five times the next?"

"That's what sister says."

"And six times the next?"

"That's what auntie says."

"And seven times the next?"

"That's what papa says."

"Then we'll get married; that's what everybody says."

"And then what?"

"Then I won't see him any more on an evening, that's what mamma says."

WHITE OAK.

"Listen, young Oaks," said the old Oak tree to the ones which had only quite recently been planted—that is, they were very much younger than the old Oak tree.

And the young Oaks rustled and waved about a little in the breeze and said, "We are listening."

"Well," continued the old Oak, whom we will call Mother Oak, for she was just like a mother to the little Oaks, "we belong to the White Oak family, and we also belong to the great and mighty Oak family."

Now Mother Oak really could be called a mother oak, for she had given the little Oaks shade on the very hot days before they had grown enough to be able to stand the heat themselves.

"What do you mean, Mother Oak, when you say we belong to the White Oak family and also to the great and mighty Oak family. Aren't the White Oaks great and mighty?"

"To be sure," said Mother Oak, "but I meant the great family of Oaks is so enormous. We are just a part of it."

"Suppose," continued Mother Oak, "everyone had the same name; wouldn't it be confusing? But trees, all of which are alike, should have the same name because that makes it easier for those who want to find out about them."

"Now we belong to the White Oak family. Suppose each of us had a different name; how hard it would be for those who wanted to know the different kinds of Oaks. Suppose you were Susy Tree," she said, waving a branch at one near-by young Oak, and suppose the tree next to you was called Sammy Tree; it would be extremely hard for people."

"It would," agreed the little Oaks; "it most certainly would be very, very difficult."

"So we are all called the White Oaks and that is what I meant when I said we belonged to the White Oak family. We are very much alike. We have sturdy, strong trunks and arms."

She Had Given the Little Oaks Shade, and we have such good roots that we can stand storms.

"We are very popular with the men who gather lumber and the people who care for trees. And we live to a very great age. Oh, we become so old!"

"Then we've a long, long time to live, eh, Mother Oak?" asked the little Oaks.

"You may live to be more than two hundred years old," said Mother Oak. "Yes, you will probably live to be far older than that."

"How wonderful!" the young Oaks whispered.

"And then I told you," continued Mother Oak, "that we belonged to a very great and mighty family of Oaks. By that I meant that there are many different kinds of oaks, like us in many ways and again unlike us in a good many ways."

"They say that there are three hundred different kinds of Oak Trees!" "Oh dear, what lots of Oaks," said one of the young Oaks. "How thrilling to belong to such a very big family. I know what it's like, Mother Oak."

"What?" asked Mother Oak. "It's just as though we were all people of one country and there were three hundred different families of us, one named the Brown family, one the White family, one the Black family, and another the Jones family. And so on," the young Oak added.

"Right, right," said Mother Oak, waving delightedly. "And you speak the truth when you refer to us as a branch of a family, for that's a very sensible way to speak of a tree!"

The young Oak was much pleased that it had been right in what it had said. "And we are going to have our own cups, too, when we're the right age, the wonderful acorn cups of the Oak trees, eh?"

And Mother Oak nodded to let the young oak know it was right once more!

Victory in the Air.

Crushing defeat for the enemy, peace in six months, and conservation of allied lives are possible only through the air, according to the message brought to America by Frank Carrel, proprietor of the Quebec Telegraph, just back from an official tour of the front as the guest of the British government. The victory air program, as outlined by Mr. Carrel's statements formulated on talks with overseas leaders, calls for America to build bigger, faster airplanes and to build them more abundantly.

The feathers of the bird are said to give the greatest degree of warmth with the least weight.

WAR WORK

American women nurses are installed eight miles in the rear of the fighting lines "over there." Right here at home many women should learn nursing to take care of the sick, or, in emergencies, the wounded. You can learn a great deal by obtaining the "Medical Adviser," a book of one thousand pages, bound in cloth, containing chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe. 200 prescriptions for acute and chronic diseases; profusely illustrated by wood cuts and colored plates. Ask your druggist or send 50c to Publisher, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Then, for the liver and bowels nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Kalkaska, Mich.—"I cannot write enough to express my thanks for being able to recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. At motherhood I was left in a very bad condition of which my doctor could not help me, but 'Favorite Prescription' has done wonders for me. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and have been helped wonderfully, being able now to do my own housework and work out besides. I also had displacement and am relieved of it. I feel like a new woman. I will do all in my power to help other sufferers. I wish I could speak to the thousands of suffering women who have tried so many other remedies and advise them to try the 'Prescription,' for it is a god-send to weak, suffering, run-down women."—Mrs. W. C. Hinds.

It's Acid-Stomach That Makes Millions Sick and Suffer

Life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman with an acid stomach. Acid-stomach kills Hope, Ambition, Energy, Courage. It saps the strength of the strongest body—impoverishes the blood—brings on splitting headaches, millions weak, unit and brings on premature old age.

You know what acid-stomach does to teeth and gums, how the acid attacks the teeth through the hard enamel, causing the teeth to decay. Just imagine, then, what havoc an acid-stomach must do to the delicate organization of the stomach.

Millions of people are weak and unwell, suffering all the time, in one way or another, from superacidity or acid-stomach. They don't seem dangerously sick. Just ailing. Going through life weak, listless, dragging one foot after another. They're nervous and irritable; lack power and punch; frequently have severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches; subject to fits of melancholia and mental depression. And nearly always their stomachs are out of order, even though many experience no actual stomach pain—digestion poor—never getting anywhere near the full strength from their food.

So, you see, it's just this—acid-stomach—that is holding so many people back—sapping the strength they should get from their food—taking away their life and leaving them listless, weak and inefficient.

Get rid of the excess acid. That's the surest way to obtain good digestion and assimilation. It is the right way to be well and keep strong. Ordinary tonics won't do any lasting good. The best thing you can do is to spur up your appetite. When the stimulating effects wear off, you are worse off than ever.

A modern remedy makes it possible to remove excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, in the form of pleasant tasting tablets. Their action in the stomach is a good deal like a piece of blotting paper taking up a drop of ink—they literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines.

Begin using EATONIC right now—today—and get on the road to bounding, vigorous, vibrant health. Thousands upon thousands of people who have used EATONIC are enthusiastic in their praise. They say they never dreamed that anything could bring them such quick relief.

EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed to get a big 50c box from your druggist. If it does not help you your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, send your name and address to the Eaton Remedy Company, 1015 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., and they will at once mail you a 50c box and you can send them the money for it after you receive it.

JOHN A. HAGMAN

Republican Candidate for COUNTY CLERK

Owing to the amount of work, in the office, this year it has been impossible for me to make a personal campaign, without neglecting my work, which the people would not want me to do, and trust that I will not be censured on election day for doing my duty.

The people are acquainted with my work, and I don't know of anything I might do or say that would change the result.

Your Support on November 5th is respectfully solicited. Adv.

Newberry Ship Is Sinking

Leading Republicans Boosting Ford

The State Republican chairman wired the Michigan Congressmen, a few days ago, to get their aid to elect Newberry for United States Senator.

Congressmen Kelly, Smith, Mapes James refuse to indorse the expense of $176,000 in the primary. United States Senators Kenyon, Cummins, Norris and Borah refuse to lend their aid in Michigan.

This attitude has been very gratifying to the best citizens of Michigan regardless of party. In fact many of the leading Republicans in the state are now following the advise of Lieutenant Governor Dickinson believing that it is better for the party to defeat Newberry then to bring Michigan into the disgrace of a contest in Washington.

Henry Ford was the choice of Michigan Republicans for President in 1916, winning over William Alden Smith. The London and Paris papers say that he has done more than any individual in the world to help win the war.

The Ford interests gave $15,000,000 for Liberty Loan at one time. His success has built up Detroit and Michigan. Every farmer and business man has been benefited to some extent by the Ford prosperity. An Attorney General Crossbook said: "The people know his heart is right." Ex-Governor Warner refused to contest for Senator with Ford believing that he has done so much for the state.

That is the reason that the people, regardless of party, are supporting Henry Ford. His interest lies with that of the farmer, the laborer and small business man and will be able to see that they get a square deal in the reconstruction after the war. A advertisement.

JOHN R. DAMMANN

CANDIDATE FOR

County Clerk

ON THE Democratic Ticket

Has held the office of Township Clerk and now serving his second term as Supervisor of the Township of Hamburg. He is 42 years of age and was born and raised on a farm in the Township of Genoa. He obtained his education in the district school and the Brighton high school. He is a good penman and well qualified for the position.

He was a candidate for this office two years ago but as his opponent was running for a second term he made no special effort to be elected. This time Mr. Dammann is running the second time for the office against the same opponent who is seeking a third term.

It will be remembered that when the Republican candidate made a former campaign, against a Democrat, he used the third term argument as an issue, believing at that time that the office, after two terms, should be passed along.

Mr. Dammann comes from a township that has not been represented with a County office for many years and he says that if he is elected that at the end of two terms he will quit and allow the office to go some other young man, believing that the office should be passed around to encourage young men who are fitted for the position. For Sheriff

WILLIAM C. MILLER

To the Voters of Livingston County:

I have been your sheriff for one term and during that time have tried to do my duty. I am required by the Government to be a member of the Local Draft Board during the duration of the war whether elected or not.

My duties have not always been pleasant nor easy to perform.

If I have intentionally done any man a wrong I am willing to suffer for it, but if you believe I have been sincere in my work then I ask your support for another term which is all the law permits. Adv.

TO THE VOTERS OF LIVINGSTON COUNTY:

Having been born in this county and having lived here all my life, the people of Livingston county are well acquainted with me and I with them. In the past, I have served them in various official capacities and have always found that the public is a considerate master if it believes that the official is sincere and honest and his acts are characterized by a desire to serve the public, not self or selfish interests.

In presenting myself as a candidate for Representative in the Legislature, I frankly confess that I desire to be elected not alone for the honor of the position nor for the emoluments of office but because I believe I can be of service to the people of the county and state.

The election of United States Senator by direct vote of the people has shown the position of representative of much of its political significance. I had hoped to discuss with you in a public way the questions of taxation, social relations and other economic questions but owing to the condition of public health such meetings cannot be held.

If you believe me honest and capable, energetic and faithful, I solicit your suffrage.

Respectfully yours, Arthur E. Cole.

For

Prosecuting Attorney

WILLIS L. LYONS

Out of 535 cases disposed of, only 7 have been acquired (criminal) expenses of the county reduced $3,000 to $4,000 per year. Not one dollar has been paid another attorney for assistance by the County.

The above is not a knock on anyone and in reply to knocks made by others the following clippings are submitted:

Howell, Mich. Oct. 23, 1918. Editor Livingston Republican:—

"It is being circulated that Willis Lyons' petition for nomination for Prosecuting Attorney was filed early by him. I circulated Mr. Lyons' petition unknown to him while he was sick. The petition was circulated the last afternoon for filing petitions as every one knows who signed it.

Respectfully, Frank Wilson"

"Yes Willis Lyons drew sixteen dollars per month in the Spanish American war in which he nearly lost his life. In civil life he has drawn the modest salary of the office to which the people have elected him and not one cent more. By his careful methods he has saved the county two dollars and more for every dollar of salary drawn.—Livingston Republican.—Advertisement.
