COL. ROOSEVELT DEAD

Theodore Roosevelt, the twenty-sixth President of the United States was born in New York city Oct. 27, 1858. Died at Oyster Bay, N. Y. Jan. 6, 1919.

His last message to his countrymen was a plea for unadulterated Americanism.

The funeral services were of the simplest nature and devoid of all pomp and ceremony. Only the immediate family, a delegation from Congress and a few village neighbors were present. Only one floral piece, an offering from his old comrades, the rough riders was in evidence.

In presenting formal resolutions in the senate, Democratic Leader Martin eulogized the dead man as being "a true great American who met all responsibilities of his citizenship in a most courageous manner. He was devoted to his country and hesitated at no sing and although we can't understand what they say but we don't care as long as they make a noise.

These French people sure know how to charge for stuff. A rabbit or chicken costs from two to three dollars. A towel costs a dollar and a cake of soap fifty cents. I bought a pie on the way back from the front and paid a dollar and twenty cents for it. It was the first pie I had seen since I left the U. S. A. When I get back I'm going fill up on pies and cakes.

How many times have you seen my folks since they moved? I hope I get home before they move back. My buddy lives in Detroit and he wants me to come down and stay with him.

I must close for this time.

Dear Father:

As November 24 has been set aside for the writing home of a letter of cheer and also a descriptive one of what has happened to us since our arrival in France, I guess that I had better write this at once so that I can get it into the mail, all must be despatched immediately so their safe arrival at home by Christmas is assured.

Well I guess I will write about things which up to this time have been forbidden by the censor, that may interest you to some extent.

OBITUARY

John Harrison Wylie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wylie was born in the township of Marion, Livingston County, June 3, 1875. He lived there until 1893. They then moved to the farm where he has since resided until his death, which occurred at the home Jan. 1, 1919.

He received his early education from the district school, later attending the Pinckney High School and the State Normal College. For a number of years he was one of Livingston county's most successful teachers.

He was united in marriage to Lillian Evers April 21, 1909, and to this happy union four sons were born.

Thanks to our friends and neighbors for help and sympathy during the sickness and burial of our dear husband, father, and brother.

We especially thank P. H. Swarthout for his singing and the donors of the beautiful flowers, also Rev. Gillett for his words of comfort.

RESOLUTIONS

At a special meeting of Livingston Lodge No. 76 F. & A. M. the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved—That the death of our brother the comrade who has left for his right citizen, the comrade who has left his hand and faith to the lodge, was a great and loyal comrade.

Resolved—That in the hour of bereavement and affliction we extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy.

Resolved—That the members of the lodge be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Daller in West Hamburg, about two and one-half miles from Pinckney, was burned to the ground Wednesday night.

Mrs. Daller being away on a visit, after heard a cracking like wall paper coming loose. He discovered the room on fire when the fire went through to the chimney immediately rang the dinner bell to alarm the neighbors. Guy Blair was the first to respond but the fire had gained such headway it could not be subdued and the home soon burned to the ground.

Some of the furniture was saved but Mr. Daller sustains a heavy loss as the insurance was not large enough to cover everything.

Soldiers' Letters

Dec. 11, 1918

Dear Cousin Grace: Received your letter yesterday and was very glad to hear from you. Tell grandpa I thank him for the card he sent.

I am very well and hope this finds you all the same. I suppose you have had plenty of snow back home. Although there has been no snow here there has been plenty of rain and very warm.

I am now in Anglus. Perhaps you can find it on the map. I was in the battle of the Argonne and was at the front two months and a half.

When we came across we landed at Brest. I have been in Bordeaux and all over northern and southern France.

We are going to have a show here to help. Some French girls are going to the first on, they showed the men on were the goats and had to take to the bottom. Of course we were all surprised and by no means pleased upon learning the position of our bunks, but knowing we were at last on our way to France, or at least some foreign port, we didn't mind it as much as we might have under other circumstances.

We laid around on the boat from that time until about 2:00 p. m. and then were ordered below, and the tugs came alongside and started to tow us into the river and continued to do the same until we were able to go on our own steam. We were well out to sea by nightfall and of course having a little idle talk about subs etc., but all in the best spirits. We pulled into Halifax about 11:00 a. m. on Monday morning and there waited for the rest of our convoy, who were coming from New York but had like a huge buoy. They stayed out for quite a while, but it seemed very tiresome. We started out of Halifax about 3 p. m. on Wednesday, October 31st, and everyone began to enjoy real seasickness. There had been an awful storm the night before and the rollers were just coming in. It did up a lot of the boys but I was one of the lucky ones who didn't have to go to the rail and feed the fish. Nothing important happened on the way over, but I never saw anything more welcome to my eyes than the groups of destroyers which came out to meet us from the coast of Scotland. It was about 8 a. m., November 9, and they were the first assistance we had since we left New York. They sure looked good.

We came along the western coast of Ireland and Ireland and Scotland were in plain sight all the 9th. We pulled into the Irish sea along about noon and proceeded to Liverpool. We arrived too late on the 9th so put the night in coasting around waiting for morning. We pulled in about 8 on the morning of the tenth. We passed up the river and disembarked at 3 in the afternoon. We all looked back to the boat, the Ordona, and were very pleased that we arrived safely. We were anxious to get something to eat, as the food on the boat was awful. We went to the depot, about one hundred yards from the docks and boarded the fastest looking little train I ever saw. It was small, and looked as though it might tip over, and divided into compartments where only eight can ride. It was drawn by a very small engine. We left about 6 for

After having marched to the boat in which we were to cross the channel we laid on it two days before going across. We started the first night to cross, but after getting into the channel we had to turn around and come back. I never saw men crowded together so in my life. It surely resembled to me what I had read about the "Back Hole of Calcutta." They were laying across one another, making pillows of the other fellows stomach or, perhaps, his feet. Many lost everything they had on the trip.

La Havre was a welcome sight to those who were lucky enough to be up when we came in, about two in the morning. We marched to another supposed rest camp on the outskirts of the town. We had fine beds in this camp, with mattresses of chicken wire and lice plenty. At 3 a. m. the following day we were hauled out to get a train to come here. Being our wait at the yard plenty of us were attracted to guns and all sorts of what

NO CHURCH DIES THAT WAY

Devout Colored Preacher Undoubtedly Had Right Idea, and Expressed it Eloquently.

The following story comes to us from old Virginia:

A devout colored preacher, whose heart was aglow with missionary zeal, gave notice to his congregation that in the evening an offering would be taken for missions and asked for liberal gifts. A selfish, well-to-do man in the congregation said to him before the service: "Yer gwine to kill dis church of yer goes on sayin' 'give.' No church can stan' it. Yer gwine ter kill it."

After the sermon the colored minister said to the people: "Brother Jones told me I was gwine to kill this church if I kep' a-skin' yer to give; but, my brethren, churches don't die dat way. Ef anybody knows of a

RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN LIVE STOCK INDUSTRY IN SOUTH IS REPORTED

DAIRY HERD ON A SOUTHERN FARM.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The live-stock industry in the Southern states is progressing at a rapid rate. Some of the things beef-cattle extension specialists of the United States department of agriculture are doing to encourage a combination of live-stock production with cotton growing are described in recent reports from the field. As a result of their activities thousands of pure-bred cattle are being shipped into every Southern state and carloads of fat stock are being sent to live-stock markets from farms where cotton formerly was grown exclusively.

During a recent month the specialists visited 154 farms in 113 counties in the states of Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, and traveled 32,587 miles to give specific instructions to farmers and to confer with other extension workers on beef production. They attended ten meetings, held twelve demonstrations, and through their efforts a total of

There are extensive areas in Florida that are not now being used which would graze a large number of cattle, the extension specialists say, though the farmers are fast awakening to the possibilities of the live-stock industry. It is reported that the holdings of one company alone would carry 20,000 head if completely utilized.

Reports from Georgia say that pastures are good and feed is plentiful, particularly velvet beans, and that undoubtedly there will be a large number of cattle fed in that state this year. The specialists are continually being called upon to locate feeder cattle for farmers in both Georgia and Florida, and several large shipments have already been made from the Southwest and other sections. It is estimated that 100 carloads will be brought into Georgia alone from Texas this fall.

Feeding demonstrations are being arranged on 12 to 15 farms in different sections of Mississippi, and plans have been made to conduct them

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Among the many duties of the beef-cattle specialists is to assist with the live-stock work in connection with live-stock shows, and county and state fairs. They assist breeders in making selections of feeding animals for shows, in arranging judging contests and demonstrations, and in securing better classifications and premiums for worthy exhibits, all of which has been the means of arousing interest and making live-stock exhibits a more attractive feature at the fairs.

PROPER HOUSING FOR SWINE

Important Factor in Increasing Production to Meet Demands—Reduces Feed Cost.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Serious decrease in hog marketings during 1917 has brought forth a demand that farmers and pig-club members materially increase their swine production to meet the needs for pork and pork products. Proper housing will be an important factor in such increased production, as it will reduce the amount of feed consumed and will prevent losses from exposure, especially with the early spring litters. In some sections of the country the farmers build larger and more expensive houses than are necessary, but in a great many places too little attention is given to proper houses for swine.

Besides Fostering Weeds They Make it Hard to Keep Soil Clean and Mar Appearance.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Stumps occupy valuable land; foster the growth of weeds, since in order to keep the land in their vicinity clean much hard labor is necessary; mar the appearance of otherwise smooth fields, and hence reduce the selling price of a farm; furnish shelter for harmful insects and animals; and prevent the efficient use of modern machinery.

Pure-Bred Stock in Demand.

Orders have been placed for more than fifty carloads of breeding stock to be shipped from the Southwest to North Carolina and the total number purchased will undoubtedly far exceed this number. There is also much interest in the purchasing of pure-bred bulls, and extension specialists are planning to hold several consignment sales in the state in an effort to meet the demand. As a means of further stimulating the beef-cattle industry a campaign is being conducted for the building of silos and improving the pastures in the state.

In South Carolina also the demand for pure-bred stock as well as steers for fall and winter feeding, far exceeds the available supply. In a number of localities committees of representative farmers accompanied by a recent disbursement sale of 24 head of pure-bred cattle, 21 of the animals remained in the state, the farmers being anxious to retain them to build

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) (Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JANUARY 12

MOSES THE DELIVERER OF ISRAEL.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:1-12, 6. GOLDEN TEXT—And Moses verily was faithful in all his house. Hebrews 3:5. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Exodus 3:13-17; Acts 7:17-36.

While the oppression of God's people was heading up, in the providence of God a deliverer was being prepared to take up the task at the opportune hour. Moses was first trained at his mother's knee, then in Pharaoh's court and finally under God's immediate hand in the desert. The latter was an indispensable part of his training. His learning in the wisdom of the Egyptians was helpful, but without the immediate tutorship of God he would have been a failure. All who are used of God must spend some time in the retirement of his presence. Two notable examples are Paul in Arabia and John on Patmos.

I. The Lord Speaks to Moses in the Burning Bush (vv. 1-6).

It was while keeping the flock of his father-in-law in the desert that the Lord appeared to Moses. Had he remained in Pharaoh's palace he never could have had the vision of the burning bush. This bush enveloped in flames, yet unconsumed, symbolized the people of God enswathed in the very fire of God, or God dwelling in the midst of an elect people. Moses steps aside to behold this strange sight, but must be taught the essential lesson of the proper approach to God. We now can approach God with boldness through Jesus Christ (Hebrews 10:19). Our God is a consuming fire. No evil can be permitted in his presence (Joshua 7; Acts 5). The Lord he knew it was God who was speaking to him he hid his face. The sight of God always causes sinful men to hide (Isaiah 6:5).

II. Moses Commissioned as the Deliverer of His People (3:7-10).

In the preamble of this commission God said to Moses: "I have seen the affliction of my people." This is always true (Psalms 22:24; 34:4, 6; Isaiah 63:9). "I have heard their cry." Not a cry ever goes up from a child of God unheard by him. "I have come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians." This shows that God is actively interested in the cause of his people. He graciously obligates himself: (1) To deliver them out of the hands of the Egyptians. Egypt may be considered a type of the world; the oppression, a type of sin's bondage; and Pharaoh, a type of the devil. God delivers his own from the hands of the devil (Colossians 1:13). (2) searching appeal, "In Flanders Fields," and "America's answer" be printed in large type, framed and permanently displayed in every schoolhouse. Nothing could do more to vivify the great

III. Moses' Objections Patiently Heard and Removed (3:11; 4:1-10).

1. Personal Inadequacy (3:11). Moses realized his insufficiency for this task. His forty years in the school of God have wrought a great change in him. His hesitancy is a good sign. Men who are really qualified to do a great work are not forward to begin it; e. g., Jeremiah, Martin Luther, George Washington. Moses did not refuse to go, but pled his difficulty before the Lord. God answered this difficulty by assuring him that he would be with him. When God is with a man the impossible becomes the possible.

2. The Difficulty of the People to Understand Moses' Relationship to God (3:13, 14). Moses knew how unwilling they were to acknowledge him as their deliverer forty years before. Since God changes his name as he assumes a new relationship to his people, Moses inquired as to what that new relationship would be, and his corresponding name. The Lord promptly met this difficulty by showing him a name differing in many respects from all others previously given. This new name is "I Am." This name is from the Hebrew verb "to be." It indicates (1) God's self-existence; (2) his self-sufficiency; (3) his unchangeableness.

3. Unbelief on the Part of the People (4:1). This difficulty the Lord met by supplying him with credentials which could not be gainsaid. He was given the power to perform supernatural wonders (4:2).

4. Lack of Eloquence (4:10). This difficulty the Lord met by providing an assistant in his brother Aaron.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME IN OYSTER BAY.

DEATH SURPRISE TO COUNTRY

Theodore Roosevelt Was the Twenty-Sixth President of the United States.

New York—Col. Theodore Roosevelt died at his home in Oyster Bay early Monday morning.

News of the death of the former president was received here by Miss Josephine Striker, the colonel's secretary, in a telephone message from Mrs. Roosevelt.

Miss Striker said that the colonel had suffered an attack of inflammatory rheumatism on New Year's day and had since been more or less confined to his room.

The attack of rheumatism settled mainly in Col. Roosevelt's right hand and Mrs. Roosevelt sent at once for a nurse in the village of Oyster Bay. His condition did not at first seem to be alarming and the turn for the worse is believed not to have come until last night.

In announcing Col. Roosevelt's death, Miss Striker said:

"Mrs. Roosevelt called me on the telephone shortly before 7 o'clock, saying that the colonel had died early today. She did not give me any particulars and I am leaving at once for Oyster Bay.

"The attack must have been very sudden. On New Year's day inflammatory rheumatism developed in Col. Roosevelt's right hand which became very much swollen. Mrs. Roosevelt sent for a nurse in the village and the Colonel was made as comfortable as possible. It did not occur to me at that time that he was seriously ill." Theodore Roosevelt, the twenty-sixth President of the United States,

INFLUENZA CLAIMS 111,688 DEATHS

DEATH RATE IN FORTY-SIX CITIES INCREASED IN 1918 TO 19.6 A THOUSAND.

NATION FIGURES NOT AVAILABLE

Total Number of Deaths From Influenza is 69,429 and 42,149 From Pneumonia.

Washington.—The influenza epidemic which swept the country the latter part of 1918 caused 111,688 deaths in the 46 largest cities and increased the combined death rate for those communities in 1918 to 19.6 a thousand, according to statistics made public by the census bureau.

Total figures for the country were not available. Baltimore, with 28.8 per thousand and Nashville with 26.4 had the highest rates, while St. Paul with 13.9 and Grand Rapids and Minneapolis with 14 each were low. Grand Rapids showed the smallest increase, the death rate for 1917 having been 13.1.

There were 442,375 deaths in the 46 cities, the estimated population of 42 of which aggregated 20,514,620. There was no estimate of population for the other four. Deaths from influenza totaled 69,429, with 42,149 deaths from pneumonia. The year's total death rate in New York city was 18.8 per thousand, compared with 15.2 for 1917. In Chicago it was 17.1 against 14.9 the year before, and in Philadelphia, where the influenza epidemic was with 17.1 in 1917.

The rate in Cleveland was 16.0 for 1918 and 13.9 in 1917; Boston, 22.0 and 16.4; St. Louis, 17.6 and 15.1; Pittsburgh, 25.4 and 18.2, and Los Angeles, 19.5 and 14.5.

WHY WOMEN DREAD OLD AGE

Don't worry about old age. Don't worry about being in other people's way when you are getting on in years. Keep your body in good condition and you can be as hale and hearty in your old days as you were when a kid, and every one will be glad to see you. The kidneys and bladder are the causes of senile afflictions. Keep them clean and in proper working condition. Drive the poisonous wastes from the system and avoid uric acid accumulations. Take GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules periodically and you will find that the system will always be in perfect working order. Your spirits will be enlivened, your muscles made strong and your face have once more the look of youth and health. New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue this treatment. When your first vigor has been restored continue for awhile taking a capsule or two each day. They will keep you in condition and prevent a return of your troubles. There is only one guaranteed brand of Haarlem Oil Capsules, GOLD MEDAL. There are many fakes on the market. Be sure you get the Original GOLD MEDAL Imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are the only reliable. For sale by all first-class druggists.—Adv.

In 1848 Sir Arthur Garrod proved that in gout (also true in rheumatism) there is deficient elimination on the part of the kidneys and the poisons within are not thrown off.

Prof. H. Strauss attributes a gouty attack to the heaping up of poisons where there is an abundance of uric acid which is precipitated in the joints and sheaths, setting up inflammation. Before the attack of gout or rheumatism there is sometimes headache, or what is thought to be neuralgia, or rheumatic conditions, such as lumbago, pain in the back of the neck, or sciatica. As Prof. Strauss says, "The excretion of uric acid we are able to effect by exciting diuresis." Drink copiously of water, six or eight glasses per day, hot water before meals, and obtain Anuric tablets, double strength, for 60 cts., at the nearest drug store, and take them three times a day. If you want a trial package send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Anuric" (anti-uric) is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce and much more potent than lithia, for it will dissolve uric acid as hot tea dissolves sugar.

The Victors.

As we understand the speech made by Gen. von Elinen in the evacuation of the Rhine provinces, this is what he said to the inhabitants of the Rhineland: "Our victorious army greets you. We have protected the fatherland from its enemies. We are undefeated. We have snared the armies of the enemy into the fatherland, so that you might have a look at them. We have broken the enemy's fist with our loyal German noses. We have bruised the enemy's toes with the seats of our loyal German pants. We have broken the butts of the enemy's rifles with our loyal German skulls. We have outrun the enemy. Remain proud and German. We are victorious."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons Out of the Digestive Tract. Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a waiting for their strength to come back. If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity. Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on. Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him: "I am an old soldier, past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach

Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again. You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever, or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence. So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. The chairman of Putnam branch Red Cross calls a business meeting of all members Monday evening, January 13 at 7 o'clock in rooms over Monks Bros. store for election of officers.

Large audiences listen to Mrs. Mei Ren Yin, national W. C. T. U. organizer.

About the first of January, 1917, Mrs. Mei Ren Yin, national organizer for China, commenced her efforts in the interests of the W. C. T. U. This is not the best time of year for itinerant work in the Yangtse valley and certainly not one that any foreigner would choose for the starting of a new work. During this period it is very cold and damp and last year there was an unusual amount of rain and sleet. But nothing deterred Mrs. Mei from the work God had called her and to which she had already demonstrated that she is most signally adapted. Her long experience in organizing day schools and in evangelistic preaching and facing all manner of criticism for the Gospel's sake has surely fitted her for the great task before her.

It is doubtless known to the readers of the Union Signal that Dr. Mary Stone, president of the W. C. T. U. of China, and Mrs. Mei are cousins and that the latter was brought up in the same beautiful Christian atmosphere as Dr. Stone, in the parsonage of pastor Stone. They went to school together at the first institution of the kind for girls in Kiukiang, both graduating as high-school students.

Part of the roughage should be silage, if it is available. A heifer of six months to one year of age will consume from 5 to 15 pounds of silage a day. The grain mixture used may be made up of (1) 3 parts of cracked corn, and 1 part wheat bran; (2) or 3 parts cracked corn, 1 part wheat bran, and 1 part ground oats; (3) or 8 parts cracked corn, 1 part wheat bran, 1 part ground oats, and 1 part linseed meal; (4) or 4 parts cracked corn, 1 part wheat bran, 1 part ground oats, and 1 part blood meal. cellent grain mixture, to be used when such hay is lacking, is composed of 2 parts of cornmeal, 2 parts of linseed meal, and 1 part of bran.

The quantity of grain to be fed depends very largely upon the individual animal's growth and condition, as well as upon the price of the grain. Some feeders desire a rapid growth of the young animals, and for this reason feed heavily with grain, while others are satisfied with a slow growth and try to carry their young stock largely on roughage. Either extreme is unwise and a medium course between the two is advisable. A safe rule to follow is to feed one pound of grain for the first hundredweight of the heifer and one-half pound for each additional hundredweight.

After the heifer reaches one year of age, the following rations are suggested: Cornmeal, fed according to the rule just mentioned, together with all the alfalfa, clover, or cowpea hay that the animal will consume. If no leguminous hay is available, grain composed of 2 parts cornmeal, 2 parts linseed meal, and 1 of linseed meal, gluten meal, or cottonseed meal, and 10 to 20 parts of alfalfa, together with all the dry roughage that the animal can consume, will be found to be adequate. Under ordinary circumstances a gain of at least a pound a day from the time of weaning to the time of first calving is a good average for a dairy heifer.

POLES SWEEPING ON TO BERLIN

FORMATION OF A NEW GERMAN VOLUNTARY ARMY TO STEM TIDE A FAILURE.

HOIST RED FLAG OVER BERLIN

Germans Are In Full Retreat Before the Oncoming Poles Who Number 1,000,000 Men.

Copenhagen. — The Poles are sweeping on to Berlin, occupying new towns. Formation of a German voluntary army to stem the invading tide has been a failure, according to Berlin advices.

Dispatches from Berlin say 1,000,000 well-equipped bolshevik troops are reported moving on Berlin. Drunk with their success in the regions through which they have been tearing, they intend to hoist the red flag over this scapital.

It is believed here that the Spartacus group is waiting for the bolsheviks of east Prussia to materialize, whereupon the German extremists will stab what remains of Germany in the back.

The Germans are in full retreat before the Poles.

Agreement With Poles Ended.

Paris.—Berlin dispatches received here report agreements between the Poles and the Germans have been rescinded. Kruchwitz has been occupied by the Poles, who are advancing along the Kreuz-Danzig railway, the dispatches add.

war with Germany at a union memorial service held New Year's Day. Several women were overcome during the program. Establishment of social and international justice as the most fitting memorial that could be erected in memory of the country's dead was urged by A. P. Johnson, of Grand Rapids. Letters from General Pershing and Rev. Father Dunnigan, chaplain of the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth infantry, who extolled the record of Colonel Westledge and the Michigan guardsmen, were read by Bishop McCormick, of Grand Rapids.

PROTESTS WASTE OF U. S. BLOOD

California Senator Assails Troop Losses in Russia.

Washington.—A protest against further shedding of American blood in Russia was voiced in the senate by Senator Johnson, of California.

The senator called attention of the foreign relations committee, which is considering a resolution introduced by him recently asking the state department for definite information respecting the government's Russian policy, to press dispatches from Archangel telling of the advance of Allied troops in northern Russia.

"I do not care if the members favor the bolsheviks or the old autocratic tyranny," Senator Johnson said, "but I do say that for either to shed American blood is a crime."

GERMAN CHANCELLOR COUNT VON HERTLING DIES

COUNT VON HERTLING.

Copenhagen.—Count George F. von Hertling, the German former imperial chancellor, died in Ruhpolding, Bavaria. He had been ill six days.

Count von Hertling was considered the most learned chancellor of Germany since 1871. He had won for himself a scholar's reputation before he entered political life, and up to 1912, when he became Bavaria's minister-president, he had combined educational and literary work with his political activities.

Von Hertling was appointed imperial German chancellor in October, 1917, succeeding Dr. Georg Michaelis. He resigned in the fall of 1918 and the then-emperor, William, conferred on him the Order of the Black Eagle and his warm thanks for the "self-sacrificing faithfulness" with which von Hertling had served in Darmstadt, of a well-known family. He passed through the gymnasium, or high school, of his home city, studied philosophy and history at Munster, Munich and Berlin and received the degree of Doctor of philosophy in 1884.

Later he visited Italy and studied the dogmatic history of the Roman Catholic church and in 1887 became teacher of philosophy in the University of Bonn. He was well known as a writer on Catholicism and political sociology.

STATE FARMERS POORLY PAID

Tiller of Soil is Scarcely Earning More Than a Living Wage.

Last Lansing.—If large profits have been accruing to anyone by reason of the current prices of food products, Michigan farmers were not been reached by the Michigan Agricultural college as the result of a close study of the cash accounts of several hundred agriculturalists.

They have long suspected—namely that the average tiller of the soil is earning scarcely more than a living wage. In the course of the investigation, Record books of the farmers disclosed that among those individuals from whom reports were secured, the average labor income obtained was considerably less than $1,000, while the very highest labor income shown was only $4,288.92.

STATE TO CLAIM 40 ACRE TRACT

Appropriation of $30,000 Made in 1913 By Legislature For Hospital Site

Lansing.—Mention by Governor Sleeper of the act of the legislature of 1913, appropriating $30,000 for the Central Michigan Sanatorium, and his request of the present legislature that it be repealed, recalls the fact that two legislatures before tackled the same problem unsuccessfully. In 1915 and again in 1917, repealing acts were introduced but were killed at the personal suggestion of members from Midland and adjoining counties.

Gilbert A. Currie, of Midland, now congressman from the Tenth district was speaker of the house in the 1913 session. About that time the question of tuberculosis sanatoriums was a potent one.

The county of Midland, through Mr. Currie, made an offer of a 40-acre section of virgin pine as a site for a tuberculosis sanatorium, provided the state would appropriate money to build it. The legislature finally authorized $30,000.

359TH INFANTRY BATTLE IN SNOW

FIGHT DESPERATE BATTLE NEAR KADISH IN SNOW TWO TO FOUR FEET DEEP.

BOLSHEVISTS ARE DRIVEN BACK

There Were Some Casualties But They Were Small Compared to Loss of the Enemy.

With the Allied Army of the Dvina—American troops, composed largely of Detroiters in the 339th infantry, fighting desperately near Kadish, have driven back bolshevik troops which made an advance thrust.

Bolsheviks also launched attacks on the Omega sector and bombarded the Allied front. Americans came into battle along the Petrograd road and in frozen swamps that border it. The battle was fought in snow from two to four feet in depth.

American forces captured Kadish after a display of gallantry that evoked admiration of the Allied commanders. Special care has been taken of the American wounded and the body of an American officer was taken back 100 miles by sledge and then shipped to Archangel for burial. There were some casualties, but they were small in comparison to those inflicted upon the enemy.

The bolsheviks opened a terrific fire from three and six-inch guns and launched a counter-attack against the buildings held by Americans in Kadish. So hot was the artillery fire that the Americans were withdrawn temporarily from the village. The line, however, was not taken back very far, and the new positions were firmly held.

The enemy did not occupy Kadish because the barrage fire from the American guns made the place untenable.

Americans Occupy Town.

Later, under protection of artillery fire, American detachments again swept forward and reoccupied the town. The men engaged in the advance were from infantry and trench mortar units.

Word came from headquarters that the American positions are now 400 meters south of the village, which is the line marking the furthest advance made by the Americans late in October before they retired to the north of Kadish.

representative of Shiawassee county, is considering introducing a bill in the legislature providing for the change in the method of deciding motor vehicle license fees.

to introduce a bill basing the amount of tax paid on the quantity of gasoline consumed instead of on the horsepower and weight and the license fee now depends. He would have a fixed charge of $1 for the license number and a tax to be determined by experts to be paid with every gallon of gasoline bought. He says that in this way the machine that is driven most, or weighs the most and therefore gives the roads the hardest wear, would pay the most in license fees, while the man with a light car who drives little would pay little.

Bailey declares that something must be done to compel operators of heavy trucks to pay for the damage they do to roads.

DETROITS MAMMOTH GROWTH.

Report Shows, Business the Last 10 Years, Equal to Preceding 70.

Detroit.—A striking commentary on the growth of Detroit in the last ten years is a statement by Otto Stoil, registrar of deeds. Nearly as many instruments were copied into the record from 1909 to 1919 as in the preceding 70 years.

In the 10-year period just closed, 297,911 deeds were recorded, as compared to 132,492 for the preceding 10 years; mortgages and discharges recorded totaled 210,782, compared to 23,841, and fees returned to the county were $463,232.25, as compared with $187,259.77.

I could only fall into his arms and express myself in the grief of childhood. He hugged me close and begged me to tell him what was the matter. "That Wills boy stole my melon," I said, and the words came slow with sobs. "Oh, no, he didn't," said Uncle Peabody. "Yes he did. I saw a piece o' the rin'." "Well by—" said Uncle Peabody, stopping, as usual, at the edge of the precipice. "He's a snake," I added. "And you fit and he scratched you up that way?" "I scratched him, too." "Don't you say a word about it to Aunt Deel. Don't ever speak o' that miserable melon ag'in to anybody. You scoot around to the barn, an' I'll be there in a minute and fix ye up."

BARTON MEETS THE DUNKELBERGS, INCLUDING PRETTY LITTLE GOLDEN-HAIRED SALLY.

Synopsis.—Barton Baynes, an orphan, goes to live with his uncle, Peabody Baynes, and his Aunt Deel on a farm on Rattleroad, in a neighborhood called Lickitysplit, about the year 1826.

show her where my watermelon had lain. At the moment I couldn't think of anything else to show her. As we walked along I observed that her feet were in dainty shiny button-shoes. Suddenly I began to be ashamed of my feet that were browned by the sunlight and scratched by the briars. The absent watermelon didn't seem to interest her. "Let's play house in the grove," said she, and showed me how to build a house by laying rows of stones with an opening for a door. "Now you be my husband," said she. "Oddly enough I had heard of husbands but had only a shadowy notion of what they were. I knew that there was none in our house. "What's that?" I asked. "She laughed and answered: "Somebody that a girl is married to." "You mean a father?" "Yes." "Once I had a father," I boasted. "Well, we'll play we're married and that you have just got home from a journey. You go out in the woods and then you come home and I'll meet you at the door." I did as she bade me but I was not glad enough to see her. "You must kiss me," she prompted in a whisper. I kissed her very swiftly and gingerly—like one picking up a hot coal—and she caught me in her arms and kissed me three times while her soft hair threw its golden veil over our faces. "Oh, I'm so glad to see you," she said as she drew away from me and shook back her hair. "Golly! this is fun!" I said. "Now go to sleep and I'll tell you a story," said she. Then she told pretty tales of fairies and of grand ladies and noble gentlemen who wore gold coats and swords and diamonds and silks, and said wonderful words to such a way the scrawls of old Kate. I remember how she shook her head and sighed and sat beating her forehead with the knuckles of her bony hands after she had looked at the palm of Amos. Swiftly the point of her pencil ran over and up and down the sheet like the movements of a frightened serpent. In the silence how loudly the pencil seemed to hiss in its swift lines and loops. My aunt exclaimed "Mercy!" as she looked at the sheet; for while I knew not, then, the strange device upon the paper, I knew, by and by, that it was a gibbet. Beneath it were the words: "Money thirst shall burn like a fire in him." She rose and smiled as she looked into my face. I saw a kind, gentle glow in her eyes that reassured me. She clapped her hands with joy. She examined my palm and grew serious and stood looking thoughtfully at the setting sun. I see, now, her dark figure standing against the sunlight as it stood that day with Amos in its shadow. What a singular eloquence in her pose and gestures and in her silence! I remember how it bound our tongues—that silence of hers! The woman turned with a kindly smile and sat down in the grass again and took the sheet of paper and resting it on a yellow-covered book began to write these words: "I see the longing of the helper. One, two, three, four great perils shall strike at him. He shall not be afraid. God shall fill his heart with laughter. I hear guns, I hear many voices. His name is in them. He shall be strong. The powers of turkey with sage dressing and mice and chicken pie. What an amount of preparation we had made for the journey, and how long we had talked about it! In the spring my uncle hired a man to work for us—a noisy, brawny, sharp-featured fellow with keen gray eyes, of the name of Dug Draper. Aunt Deel hated him. I feared him but regarded him with great hope because he had a funny way of winking at me with one eye across the table and, further, because he could sing and did sing while he worked—songs that rattled from his lips in a way that amused me greatly. Then, too, he could rip out words that had a new and wonderful sound in them. I made up my mind that he was likely to become a valuable asset when I heard Aunt Deel say to my Uncle Peabody: "You'll have to send that loafer away, right now, ayes, I guess you will." "Why?" "Because this boy has learnt to swear like a pirate—ayes—he has!" Uncle Peabody didn't know it but I myself had begun to suspect it, and that hour the man was sent away, and I remember that he left in anger with a number of those new words flying from his lips. A forced march to the upper room followed that event. Uncle Peabody explained that it was wicked to swear—that boys who did it had very bad luck, and mine came in a moment. I never had more of it come along in the same length of time. After I ceased to play with the Wills boy Uncle Peabody used to say, often, it was a pity that I hadn't somebody of my own age for company. Every day I felt sorry that the Wills boy had turned out so badly, and I doubt not the cat and the shepherd dog and the chickens and Uncle Peabody also regretted his failures, especially the dog and Uncle Peabody, who bore all sorts of indignities for my sake. One day when Uncle Peabody went for the mail he brought Amos Grimshaw to visit me. He was four years older than I—a freckled, red-haired boy with a large mouth and thin lips. He wore a silver watch and chain, which strongly recommended him in my view and enabled me to out-

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels needs a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. went on for a long time and gathered intensity as it continued. One June day Uncle Peabody and I, from down in the fields, saw a fine carriage drive in at our gate. He stopped and looked intently. "Jerusalem four-corners!" he exclaimed. "It's Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dunkelberg." My heart beat fast at thought of the legendary Dunkelbergs. Uncle looked me over from top to toe. "Heavens!" he exclaimed. "Go down to the brook and wash the mud off yer feet an' legs." I ran for the brook and before I had returned to my uncle I heard the carriage blow.

the mystery by which its meanings were partly hidden. I had many questions to ask and she told me what were fairies and silks and diamonds and grand ladies and noble gentlemen. We sat down to one of our familiar dinners of salt pork and milk gravy and apple pie now enriched by sweet pickles and preserves and frosted cake. A query had entered my mind and soon after we had begun eating I asked: "Aunt Deel, what is the difference between a boy and a girl?" There was a little silence in which my aunt drew in her breath and exclaimed, "Why!" and turned very red and covered her face with her napkin. Uncle Peabody laughed so loudly that the chickens began to cackle. Mr. and Mrs. Dunkelberg also covered their faces. Aunt Deel rose and went to the stove and shoved the teapot along, exclaiming:

"Sally, This is Barton Baynes. Can't you shake hands with him?" said Mrs. Dunkelberg.

over and I slyly touched the chain with my tongue just to see if it had any taste to it, and Amos told me that his father had given it to him and that it always kept him "kind o' scared." "Why?" "For fear I'll break er lose it, an' get licked," he answered. He took a little yellow paper-covered book from his pocket and began to read to himself. "What's that?" I ventured to ask by and by. "A story," he answered. "I met a ragged ol' woman in the road 'other day an' she give me a lot of 'em and showed me the pictures an' I got to readin' 'em. Don't you tell anybody 'cause my ol' dad hates stories an' he'd lick me 'til I couldn't stan' if he knew I was readin' 'em." I begged him to read out loud and he read from a tale of two robbers stopping mustache and side whiskers, and deep-set eyes and heavy eyebrows. He stood for half a moment looking down at me from a great height with his right hand in his pocket. I was not a little startled. He took a step toward me and I saw that he was a little taller than the Hon-like man. My fears left me suddenly when he spoke in a small squeaky voice that reminded me of the chirping of a bird. "Little boy, come here and I will make you a present," said he. It reminded me of my disappointment when uncle tried to shoot his gun at a squirrel and only the cap cracked. I went to him and he laid a silver piece in the palm of my hand. Aunt Deel began to hurry about getting dinner ready while Uncle Peabody and I sat down on the porch with our guests, among whom was a pretty, blue-eyed girl of about my own age, with long, golden-brown hair that hung in curls.

Uncle Peabody laughed louder and Mr. Dunkelberg's face was purple. Shep came running into the house just as I ran out of it. I had made darkness shall fear him, he shall be a lawmaker and the friend of God and of many people, and great men shall bow to his judgment and he shall—

She coaxed me into the grove where we had another play spell. I needed just that kind of thing, and what a time it was for me! A pleasant sadness comes when I think of that day—it was so long ago. As the Dunkelbergs left us I stood looking down the road on which they were disappearing. That evening my ears caught a note of sadness in the voice of the katydid, and memory began to play its part with me. Best of all I remembered the kisses and the bright blue eyes and the soft curly hair with the smell of roses in it.

CHAPTER II. I Meet the Silent Woman and Silas Wright, Jr. Amos Grimshaw was there in our dooryard the day that the old ragged woman came along and told our fortunes—she was called Rovin' Kate, and was said to have the gift of "second sight," whatever that may be. It was a bright autumn day and the leaves lay deep in the edge of the woodlands. She spoke never a word but stood pointing at her palm and then at Amos and at me. Aunt Deel nodded and said: "Ayes, Kate—tell their fortunes if ye've anything to say—ayes!" She brought two sheets of paper and the old woman sat down upon the grass and began to write with a little stub of a pencil. I have now those fateful sheets of paper covered by
