SOLD HIS STEERS

Farmer Keeps Cattle Many Years Before Selling

Cattle Go Wild When Driven From Old Home

Every one in these parts has heard of or saw the herd of steers owned by John Farley of West Hamburg, and many have visited the vicinity in years past to catch a glimpse of them.

The youngest of the herd is eight years old and the oldest is nineteen. Their weights have been estimated at about 3,200 pounds for the heaviest ones, but they are not nearly as heavy as they were some years ago, some having lost all their teeth. Mr. Farley has refused to sell them a great many times, but finally Cushing and Sloan of Dexter have bought the whole herd.

They ran practically wild on his farm and no stranger could ing Mr. Farley, however, could handle any of them.

When the purchasers undertook to drive them away from the Farley farm, one steer ran amuck, scattering the entire herd and hastening the footsteps of the drovers to the nearest shelter—some of whom discarded all dignity and hastily shinned up nearby trees.

As the wild one was in the road the men blocked both ends, hung out red lanterns, and Wm. Fisk, who lives on the invaded street, was obliged to tear down a neighbor's fence to get home Tuesday night.

on wagons rather than take further chance on their doing great damage.

their teeth and it has for a long time been a mystery why Mr. Farley did not dispose of them when they were young and in prime condition.

OBITUARY

Vincent Kice Baughn was born Nov. 19, 1917, and died Jan. 7, 1919 and this short year, one month and nineteen days endeared himself not only to his devoted parents, but to all who knew him.

All that loving hands and the best medical attention could do was done for him, but to no purpose and he passed away leaving a sorrowful family to remember his cheerful smile and sweet little voice singing "Over There" and "Happy Day".

Funeral was private and from the house. Interment in the Pinckney cemetery, Rev. F. S. Hurlburt officiating.

Not now but in the coming years,
It may be in the better land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears,
And then, ah, then, we'll understand
Then trust in God through all thy days
Fear not, for He doth hold thy hand, Though dark the way still sing and praise,
Sometime, sometime, we'll understand.

A POPULAR VERDICT

Last Friday at the town hall Fred Kulpici, a Russian from near Warsaw was acquitted on a charge of theft by a jury composed of Henry Gardner, Michael Lavey, Daniel Marta, Ernest Frost, N. Pacey and Thos. Shehan

Some time ago Fisk and Dennis real estate men of Ypsilanti sold Kulpici a farm formerly owned by Mr. Murningham in South Mar- ion for $8,000 on contract, taking $1,000 as first payment. They also sold him stock and tools and took a chattel mortgage as security, giving Kulpici the right to sell the personal property according to the evidence, Kulpici to pay all money so received over to the real estate men.

The prisoner claimed they did not fulfil their part of the agreement by not repairing the roof of the house which leaked and not furnishing a horse as agreed upon. So when he sold the stock he did not turn in the money, $100.00.

The firm made an effort at Howell to secure a warrant for persuaded justice to issue the necessary papers, which were served by S. H. Carr.

The prisoner, who has a wife and three small children was confined in the Howell jail for some time but finally secured bail and went back to his family.

He stated on the stand that at the time of his arrest he was given the opportunity of paying $100 to secure his liberty, but he declined the offer.

Mr. Frank Shields appeared at the trial on behalf of the people in stead of Willis Lyons, prosecuting attorney and L. E. Howlett conducted the defense.

Mr. Howlett was successful

The jury apparently accepted this view for the members were a very short time in returning their verdict of "not guilty."

The spectators at the trial endorse and many expressed their opinions that the county should not have undertaken the case on the people's behalf. One citizen says: "Less law and a little 'boss sense' would have saved the taxpayers the costs of the case."

Necklace Is Huge

Ornament Is Brought Back as a Pronounced Fashion.

Strings of Pearls Allowed to Hang Full Length Instead of Being Wrapped Around Neck.

The French designers have brought back into fashion huge necklaces from an ornamental past. They are not made of jewels, yet they are costly, and the supply of fine ones rapidly diminishes. Once upon a time our Indians bartered peltries for bright beads. Such was the foundation of some of our great American fortunes. Today, declares a fashion writer, there are women who vehemently declare that they would barter their second year fur pieces for a gay necklace. They sell old clothes in order to get one of these much desired possessions.

It is the hour of the necklace. All that has gone before is as nothing to what now exists. And, mind you, the necklace is not of precious stones. There are few well dressed women who wear any precious stones about the neck except pearls. Diamonds hold a place with some, but they are not considered among well dressed women as an ornament of parts. Costly they are, it is true, and in unique settings of carved platinum they have their place, but the bare, bald, crude diamond necklace is a bit blatant for the fastidious woman. She prefers pearls, and so it seems does every other woman who can buy a string, from six dollars up.

If the attention of the latter class is turned toward the barbaric necklaces, it may be that they will quickly fall into disuse; but one thing is certain, which is that six dollars will go a short way toward purchasing one of the rare necklaces of the hour.

An individual designer of clothes in New York found himself the fortunate possessor of a half dozen neck-

The sausage, which resembles in flavor that made from pork, is made from cottage cheese, bread crumbs and nut meats and is seasoned with herbs. Its food value is nearly equal to pork sausage. Another farmer is planning to furnish a supply of the cottage-cheese sausage for the Pittsfield market. This appetizing substitute for meat was originated by the dairy division of the department of agriculture to further the use of cottage cheese.

CHIC SMOCK OF WHITE LINEN

This smock of white linen which is embroidered in attractive shades of blue, brown, yellow and red, is of the latest design and is a good-looking and comfortable early morning gown.

IN TRAILING EVENING GOWNS
Frocks to Be Long and Tight, According to Edict From Paris—Paradise Velvet New Fabric.

For a time at least we may trail the long train of an evening gown behind us, says a fashion writer in New York Herald. Paris is preparing for the spring openings frocks long and tight, and for our own formal evening gowns we probably will follow this lead. However, it cannot be denied that we have formed a settled habit of dancing. We dance on every occasion, and even the seriousness of a world war seems not to have changed our ways. So if Paris fails to provide us with dancing frocks we will have to develop something for ourselves.

In the meantime there is nothing more graceful than a long, tight, slightly draped evening gown of satin, silk or brocade. Paradise velvet, which is as supple as chiffon, is another fabric quite stunning in the evening. Beaded tulle, lace and ropes of pearls or jewels are among the details used costly gowns, either at the neck or at the waistline, and they added to the price he asked for the garment.

There is nothing fastidious or delicate about the new chains; they are as heavy in appearance as medieval armor. They are made of great rings or long, oblong links, and the plaque or medallion in which they end looks like a Japanese crest. It is as full of color and as massive as the Egyptian jewelry of other centuries.

All of these new chains are short. The big, carved medallion rests on the bust. They do not reach to the waist, which is the desire of the precious stones. The woman who owns a marvelous string of pearls now lets it hang to its full length, you know, instead of wrapping it around her neck several times, in royal fashion.

DRESS SUGGESTIONS

on the newest models. Some of these are being shown in brighter colors than formerly, American Beauty being one of the more conspicuous shades.

Bead Chains, Homemade.

Now more than ever is the necklace a becoming indispensable. The collarless dress has pretty well established itself, and only the most vividly colorful of persons can successfully "get away" with the uncollared neck when it is a dark frock. So here's a modish opportunity to make some fetching bead things to go about one's neck. One attractive chain is made this way: First of all, thread three No. 6 sewing needles with crochet silk. Make each strand of silk the desired length of the neck chain, then thread it closely with small beads. The next step is just a matter of running the little bead chains—three of them, remember—through a larger bead at intervals of perhaps two or three inches. Finally weight the ends with big beads and end up with a conspicuous guard, preferably one that contrasts strongly with the rest of the color scheme.

thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

VISCOUNT CHINDA AND AMBASSADOR MATSUI WILL REPRESENT JAPAN AT CONFERENCES.

PROCEEDINGS DIVIDED IN TWO

As the Statesmen Gathered It Was Seen That Powers Represented Were All Increased.

Paris.—The supreme council of the peace conference resumed their sessions at the French foreign office, with a distinguished gathering augmented by the presence of Japan among the great powers represented and a notable gathering of military, naval, economic and financial representatives of the various powers.

The proceedings were divided into two distinct stages. The first, the morning meeting, was presided over by Marshal Foch at which the military, naval and economic representatives reached an agreement on new terms for the armistice expiring January 17.

The United States was represented by Major-General Bliss, Admiral Benson and Herbert C. Hoover; Great Britain by General Sir Henry Wilson; France by Marshal Foch, General Weygand, his chief of staff, M. Klotz, minister of finance and M. Leygues, minister of marine; and Italy by General Robilant.

The accord reached is said to have been complete, embracing financial terms, whereby Germany must restore the sums taken from the cities and towns of the devastated regions; military, whereby Germany must restore the guns taken and promptly deliver up rolling stock and locomotives, and economic, whereby food relief will reach the famished regions.

It was this program, completed in the morning, which confronted the council, when it convened in the after-

Canning cows and heifers	7.25@ 8.25
Bulls, plain to best	6.50@12.50
Poor to fancy calves	6.75@15.75
Western range steers	10.00@18.00

These newspaper quotations represent live cattle prices in Chicago on December 30th, 1918.

The list shows price ranges on nine general classified groups with a spread of $13.85 per cwt.—the lowest at $6.50 and the highest at $20.35.

Why this variation in price?

Because the meat from different animals varies greatly in quality and weight.

Although the quotations shown are in nine divisions, Swift & Company grades cattle into 34 general classes, and each class into a variety of weights and qualities.

As a result of these differences in cattle prices, (due to differences in weights and meat qualities), there is a range of 15 cents in Swift & Company's selling prices of beef carcasses.

These facts explain:

different stores.

2—Why it would be difficult to regulate prices of cattle or beef.

3—Why it requires experts to judge cattle and to sell meat, so as to yield the profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to affect prices.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to break a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel, "brick dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules cleanse the kidneys and purify the blood. They frequently ward off attacks of the dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys. They have a beneficial effect, and often completely cure the diseases of the bodily organs allied with the bladder and kidneys.

SANITARY SHED FOR MILKING

Cows Should Be Kept Clean and Udders Wiped With Damp Cloth to Keep Out Dirt.

The cows should be kept clean and milked in a place free from dust. If the udders of the cows are wiped with a damp cloth it will prevent dirt, dandruff and hair from falling into the milk with their millions of bacteria. A covered or small-top milk pail should always be used in milking. It keeps out more than half of the germs.

POULTRY FACTS

ROOFS FOR POULTRY HOUSES

Several Kinds of Material Can Be Used in Making Covering It Should Be Watertight.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are several kinds of material that can be used in making a roof for the poultry house, but it should always be kept in mind that the roof should be water tight. If it is allowed to leak, the interior of the house will get damp, the birds will become unhealthy, lose vigor and be more susceptible to fatal diseases. Shingle roofs should have a one-third pitch, while those covered with paper or metal may have a less pitch or be almost flat. However, the greater the slope the longer the life of the roof.

Specially prepared paper or shingles laid on sheathing may be used for covering the roof. Roofing papers are used very extensively for poultry houses at the present time and in many places are replacing shingles. As a rule the former are cheaper and easier to lay, while they can be laid on for the first two weeks, the pen should be fitted with feed boxes for grain and racks for hay. After the calf is old enough to run with the others it is placed with them in a larger pen. Stanchions are fixed on one side of this pen to provide for the separate feeding of the calves, so as to insure that each receives its proper care. Racks for hay should also be placed within easy reach of the calves. Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the necessity of having light, dry quarters for the calves. Bedding always should be abundant and should be changed often, in order that the pen always may be dry. Lack of attention to these matters is very likely to allow the development of the various calf diseases.

After the calf is a few weeks old, it can stand considerable cold if it is kept dry and has dry quarters. Provision also should be made to allow the calves plenty of exercise. A small spilled, and the larger calves get part of the smaller ones' share. Very simple stanchions may be constructed to prevent losses of milk and insure the equal distribution of the feed. To prevent the calves from sucking one another they should be kept in the stanchions for some time after feeding. A calf stanchion may be constructed of cheap or scrap lumber. It is usu-must be planned in advance and industry to present a smooth surface for the roofing paper, while sheathing paper is often used between the sheathing and roofing paper. Shingles may be laid from four to five inches to the weather on roofs which have one-third or more pitch, which is a rise of 8 or more inches to the foot, or one-third of the span of a gable roof. Cedar and cypress shingles are usually laid five to six inches to the weather on walls or on roofs with one-third pitch, but not generally used on roofs which have a rise of less than eight inches to the foot. One thousand shingles, or four bundles of cedar shingles, are equivalent to 1,000 shingles four inches wide. In shingling, commence at the eaves or lower edge by laying a double course, while the rest of the layers are of single courses. They are laid either to a chalk line, which is fastened at the right points at either edge of the roof and snapped to make a mark for the lower edge of the tier of shingles, or to a straight-edged stick. Each shingle is nailed with two either five or six penny nails, driven seven to eight inches from the butt, depending upon the lap, so that the heads of the nails will be covered by the next course. One thousand cedar shingles laid four and one-half inches to the weather, cover about 125 square feet, depending on their size. Shingles may be laid on narrow sheathing three to five inches wide, or on common sheathing, which is spaced from one to two inches apart to allow the roof to dry out quickly, and they should break joints at least one inch and as much more as possible.

GREAT LEADER GONE

COLONEL ROOSEVELT'S COUNTRYMEN PAY TRIBUTE TO HIS LIFE AND DEEDS.

NATION CAN ILL SPARE HIM

His Indomitable Courage, Robust Americanism and Vast Influence for Good Praised by People Who Mourn His Death.

That the country has sustained a tremendous loss in the death of Theodore Roosevelt is the expressed belief of his countrymen, hundreds of whom, in public and private life, have hastened to pay tribute to the great character and work of the former president. Following are a few of these tributes:

SECRETARY OF STATE LANSING—The death of Col. Roosevelt removes from our national life a great American. His vigor of mind, and ceaseless energy made him a conspicuous figure in public affairs. Friends and enemies alike recognized the force of his personality and the great influence he had in molding public thought and purpose. His patriotism and devotion to his country will long be remembered by all his fellow citizens, while his sturdy Americanism will be an inspiration to future generations.

ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE FRANK L. POLK—He was one of the most striking figures in the history of this country, and, in fact, of his time. It is impossible to measure today what he did to arouse the political conscience of the American people.

NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War—His relations to the navy and to the army are, of course, a part of the history of those two services, and during his terms as president he brought his powerful personality and energy to bear upon economic problems of the greatest moment. I do not know of any career which combines so many diversified and intensively pursued activities—frontiersman, explorer, naturalist, seaman, soldier, executive and publicist. In each of these relations he was conspicuous and left his mark.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy—He has blazed new paths and refused to be fettered by conventions that other distinguished men recognized. Original, forceful, courageous, he was the monitor of millions of his fellow countrymen, who will miss his inspiring leadership. Believing in himself and the cause he espoused, he threw himself into it with a vigor and has passed away. He had a truer vision, a higher courage, a wiser statesmanship than any man of our time. I cannot speak of him in ordinary terms. To me he had no parallel—none approached him in virility or force or profound knowledge of varied subjects.

SENATOR KNOX of Pennsylvania—His life was so abundant, so open, and so familiar that observations at this time upon his career as a statesman would be superfluous if not misplaced. He was America's greatest living human asset.

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN of Oregon—A truer, more loyal American never lived.

REPRESENTATIVE MEDULL M'CORMICK—He was the greatest American of our time. We are his debtors for his tremendous labors in the regeneration of our public life, for the quickening of our national spirit, for the reanimation of our patriotism.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES R. MANN—I think Roosevelt was the most wonderful individual character in the world. He was a student of mankind and so prodigiously active that his influence was tremendous and his loss will be deeply felt here and in other countries.

REPRESENTATIVE FESS, chairman of the Republican congressional committee—His death at this moment is a national calamity. Never were his talents so much needed as now.

FORMER SPEAKER CANNON—Colonel Roosevelt's place in history will be as one of the great presidents of the republic. He kept in closer touch with the legislative department than any other president I have known.

REPRESENTATIVE GILLET of Massachusetts—Colonel Roosevelt was the most remarkable man America has produced since the Civil war. His general knowledge was unbounded, his personal magnetism extraordinary.

REPRESENTATIVE SHALLENBARGER of Nebraska—It is inexplicably sorrowful that he should be taken away at this crisis in the affairs of government and mankind.

REPRESENTATIVE SHERLEY, chairman of the house appropriations committee—Mr. Roosevelt was one of the really great men of his age and above all else was wholly an American.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is an irreparable loss to the nation. His virility and courage were a constant inspiration. He personified the Americanism of which he was the most doughty champion. He demanded the recognition and performance of our national obligation in the war. Back of all that was done in the war was the pressure of his relentless insistence. In response to his patriotic call lay the safety of civilization and in this hour of complete victory the whole world is his debtor.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, president of the American Federation of Labor—I regard the death of Colonel Roosevelt a very great loss. He rendered service of incalculable benefit to the world. I knew him for thirty-five years in all his public activities. I worked with him and every one, even those who differed with him, conceded his ability and his courage.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order.

Prof. HEMMETER says: "The liver is an organ secondary in importance only to the heart." We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom.

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockade in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe, jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

STOCKTON, CALIF.—"For constipation, sick headache, an inactive liver, indigestion and biliousness there is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have tried other things but like the 'Pellets' best of any."—Mrs. F. CAMPBELL, 329 S. Grant Street.

Nothing Doing. "A newspaper reporter wishes to see you, sir."

"Did you tell him I was hoarse—could hardly speak?"

"Yes, sir; but he said he would only ask questions which you could answer by a nod or a shake of the head."

"Tell him I have a stiff neck."—Boston Transcript.

Suffered For Years

Had Shone But Been Removed

"My kidneys were so weak that the least cold I caught would affect them and start my back aching until I could hardly endure the misery," says Mrs. D. C. Ross, 973 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "In the morning when I first got up, my back was so lame I could hardly bend over and any move sent darts of pain through my kidneys. It was hard for me to walk up stairs or stoop, and to move while lying down sent darts of pain through me."

MRS. ROSS "The kidney secretions were scanty and distressing and the water remained in my system, making my feet and hands swell. There were dark circles under my eyes and I became so dizzy I could hardly see. I had rheumatic pains in my knees and it was all I could do to get around. For years I was in that shape and I wore plasters and used all kinds of medicine to no avail until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. They rid me of the trouble and strengthened my back and kidneys. When I have taken Doan's since, they have always benefited me."

great man, a very great man—great in his soul, great in his personality, great in his conception of America's place in the world. He will sit at one of the high tables.

CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury—Colonel Roosevelt was an extraordinary figure and leaves a legacy of patriotic endeavor and useful achievement of which those who most respected and honored him will always be proud.

DIRECTOR GENERAL MADOO—Colonel Roosevelt's prodigious activities made him one of the most conspicuous figures in public life. We are too near the event to place a just estimate on his life and career, but he will always be distinguished for one great achievement—the construction of the Panama canal.

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT—The country can ill afford in this critical period of history to lose one who has done and could in the next decade have done so much for it and humanity. We have lost a great patriotic American, a great world figure, the most commanding personality in our public life since Lincoln. I mourn his going as a personal loss.

SENATOR LEVINS of Illinois—The death of Colonel Roosevelt is the loss of a great man of a great time.

SENATOR HARDING of Ohio—He was one of the foremost citizens of the world in the most vigorous and courageous American of his time. There is no direct legatee to his vast political estate.

SENATOR KENON of Iowa—His virile American utterances were helping to bring order out of diplomatic chaos. In my judgment he was the greatest American since Abraham Lincoln.

SENATOR NEW of Indiana—Intellectually he was in the first rank among those who have figured in our public life, and for versatility and application he was without an equal. He was a true patriot, a thorough American at all times and in all respects.

SENATOR MARTIN of Virginia—He met all the responsibilities of citizenship in the most courageous manner. A characteristic of his life was his unqualified courage. He never had a conviction in his life that he did not have the courage to follow it. He was a man of unlimited courage, of limitless resources, and of unbounded patriotism.

SENATOR LODGE of Massachusetts—He was a great patriot, a great American, a great man. He was devoted throughout his life to his country. He tried always to be a servant of humanity.

SENATOR KELLOGG of Minnesota—He was a great commoner, who in his heart cherished the causes of the masses—a man of the most intense patriotism who placed the advancement of humanity and the cause of his country above all other considerations.

SENATOR JOHNSON of California—The greatest American of our generation late quantities which won for Colonel Roosevelt a multitude of devoted followers naturally arrayed against him a host of opponents, but his death puts an end to controversy and he will be mourned by foe as well as by friend. He was a great American and made a profound impression in the thought of his generation. His picturesque career will form a fascinating chapter in our nation's history.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE—Mr. Roosevelt's death brings to me a sense of deep sorrow, of personal loss. While he was president his kindly consideration never failed and many opportunities were afforded me for observing the highness of his innate ideas and his courage, all of which combined to make him the distinguished, not to say phenomenal, man he was.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WILLIAM R. DAY—Every one appreciates that we have lost one of the greatest Americans, one of the first citizens of the world, at a time when we can ill afford to lose him.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE JOSEPH McKENNA—The country has suffered a great loss in the death of Colonel Roosevelt. He was a man of very great qualities.

MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD—The death of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt for his death comes at a time when his services to this nation can ill be spared. Never was America more in need of his frankness and courage, his honest criticism and his unflinching devotion to the public good.

PRESIDENT POINCARÉ of France—Friend of liberty, friend of France, Roosevelt has given, without counting sons and daughters, his energy that liberty may live. We are grateful to him. We wish to express to Mrs. Roosevelt our most sincere condolences.

J. JUSSEFAND, French ambassador to the United States—The unexpected death of one who has upheld all his life the principles of virile manhood, straightforward honesty and fearlessness will be mourned all over the world, nowhere more sincerely than in France, whose cause he upheld in her worst crisis in a way that shall never be forgotten.

HENRY WHITE, one of the American peace commissioners—I have heard of Mr. Roosevelt's death with deep sorrow because of the loss to the nation of a great public servant and to myself of a lifelong friend.

HERBERT C. HOOVER—America is poorer for the loss of a great citizen, the world for the loss of a great man. His virility and Americanism has been one of our national treasures.

COL. E. M. HOUSE—The entire world will share the grief which will be felt in the United States over the death of Theodore Roosevelt. He was the one virile and courageous leader of his generation and will live in history as one of our greatest presidents.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN of Illinois—The nation has suffered a loss it cannot well afford at this time. Theodore Roosevelt has been a dominant force in American life for thirty years. During all his life he has sought and striven for a better, juster society. His robust and fearless Americanism was like a bugle call to his countrymen, whenever danger threatened from within or without. Whether in office or private life, he was a leader of thought and an inspirer of action.

powerman shot at him four times.

Grand Rapids—Orin Hudson and Isaac Hudson hunted with a ferret while Deputy State Game Warden Jack Johnson watched them with binoculars, and then made the arrest. They each paid $14 fine and their guns and ferret were confiscated.

Pontiac—Barney Childers, formerly of Birmingham, is being brought back from Savannah, Ga., by Under Sheriff Mack Hunt and Assistant Prosecutor George Dondero, on a charge of embezzlement from the Mellen-Wright Lumber company of Royal Oak. Childers has been sought for over a year.

Kalamazoo—Maurice Vanderville, aged 17, is being held on a charge of shooting Gerald Demink, a boy companion, with a rifle stolen from a sporting goods shop. Vanderville has confessed stealing the gun. Demink was struck in the left hand.

Manistee—Private Alex Hornkopf, Jr., Manistee county's youngest war veteran, is home from active service overseas, being the first wounded man to be discharged from the service.

Flint—Anthrax, believed to have been contracted from new shaving brush may cause the death of Normal Collins, 44, who is reported in critical condition in a local isolation hospital. The disease is common to cattle and persons working in hides or furs are often affected. The health department has issued a warning recommending that new brushes be sterilized in boiling water.

Flint—Two new United States battleships will bear the names of Flint and Detroit, the Genesee county war board was notified. The honor is bestowed in recognition of the showing made by the two Michigan cities in oversubscriptions to their quotas in the fourth Liberty loan. Flint's surplus subscription was fraction over 73 per cent, while Detroit's is given at 53 per cent. The local quota was $4,200,000, while pledges totaled more than $5,500,000.

Battle Creek—The largest inheritance tax ever paid in Michigan, was settled here when heirs of the late Charles W. Post paid $25,000 to the state, thereby completing a tax payment of $137,000. The payment represented a settlement in the case of the state of Michigan vs. the Post estate. Attorney-General Grosbeck and Attorney Ira A. Beck, of Battle Creek, represented Michigan, opposing Judge J. Murphy, Detroit, and Attorney Joseph L. Hooper, Battle Creek, for the estate.

That Selfridge Field will be used during the winter is intimated by the fact that Maj. Lackland, commandant, announces that the excess of men now at the camp will be discharged in order to make up the complement of 25 officers and 250 enlisted men.

Petoskey—Private Clarence Mishekey is home from France where he lost a hand, was wounded six times, was gassed, shell shocked and buried under two feet of earth by an exploding shell. He had his head injured in a train wreck at Nancy and was sent home.

Petoskey—The Petoskey Portland Cement company has arranged with the J. C. Buckbee company, of Chicago, for construction of docks and slips at the company's plant at this city, and with the Fuller Engineering company for plans for a large cement valued at $172,50 and 226 blankets are among the supplies which Washtenaw county supervisors demand an accounting of from former Sheriff Lindenschmidt. The supplies, it is stated, were taken from the sheriff's office at the time of his removal.

Flint—A mother, I set the home on fire. Her all-around apartment was yellow curtains, 3-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis T. Brooks, as he came running downstairs. As the mother opened the door to the children's playroom, she found it dense with smoke. The fire department checked the blaze with a loss of $25.

Lansing—The Reliance Engineering company property was purchased by the General Motors corporation for $290,000. The property has been turned over to the Olds Motor Works for future expansion of this Lansing concern. No immediate plans for the utilization of the newly acquired property have been made.

Muskegon—The police department investigation, which recently resulted in complete exoneration of Chief Charles B. Morey, and developed an attempted "frame up" to get Morey, will be resumed when Attorney R. J. MacDonald, who represented Morey, recovers from an illness, it is announced. The probe may take in municipal appropriations backed by certain city officials.

Bay City—After brief deliberation a jury in Circuit Court returned a verdict in favor of the contestants in the will of James H. Potter. An estate of $25,000 was involved in the action. Potter, who was a local milk dealer, cut off each of the four children with $250 and left a 40-acre farm to the widow. He left $1,000 each to eight brothers in England and willed a 96-acre farm to the city for experimental purposes.

BARTON RUNS AWAY AND MAKES THE ACQUAINTANCE OF SILAS WRIGHT, JR.

Synopsis.—Barton Baynes, an orphan, goes to live with his uncle, Peabody Baynes, and his Aunt Deel on a farm on Rattleroad, in a neighborhood called Lickitysplit, about the year 1828. He meets Sally Dunkelberg, about his own age, but socially of a class above the Bayneses, and is fascinated by her pretty face and fine clothes. Barton also meets Roving Kate, known in the neighborhood as the "Silent Woman." Amos Grimshaw, a young son of the richest man in the township, is a visitor at the Baynes home and Roving Kate tells the boys' fortunes, predicting a bright future for Barton and death on the gallows for Amos.

CHAPTER II—Continued.

"We'll draw him up on it—it won't hurt him any," he proposed. I looked at him in silence. My heart smote me, but I hadn't courage to take issue with the owner of a silver watch. When the dog began to struggle I threw my arms about him and cried. Aunt Deel happened to be near. She came and saw Amos pulling at the rope and me trying to save the dog. "Come right down off'n that now—this minute," said she. When we had come down and the dog had followed, pulling the rope after him, Aunt Deel was pale with was untenable. I came out. Shep began trying to clean my clothes with his tongue. Uncle Peabody stood near with the horses. He looked at me. He stuck his finger into the honey on my coat and smelt it. "Well, by—," he stopped and came closer and asked. "What's happened?" "Bee stung me," I answered. "Where did ye find so much honey that ye could go swimmin' in it?" he asked. I heard the door of the house open suddenly and the voice of Aunt Deel. "Peabody; Peabody, come here quick," she called. Uncle Peabody ran to the house, but ing the dishes in the kitchen. I got out of bed very slyly and put on my Sunday clothes. I went to the open window. The sun had just gone over the top of the woods. I would have to hurry to get to the Dunkelbergs' before dark. I crept out on the top of the shed and descended the ladder that leaned against it. I stood a moment listening. The dooryard was covered with shadows and very still. The dog must have gone with Uncle Peabody. I ran through the garden to the road and down it as fast as my bare feet could carry me. In that direction the nearest house was almost a mile away. I remember I was out of breath, and the light was growing dim before I got to it. I went on. It seemed to me that I had gone nearly far enough to reach my destination when I heard a buggy coming behind me.

"Hello!" a voice called. I turned and looked up at Dug Draper, in a single buggy, dressed in his Sunday suit. "Is it much further to where the Dunkelbergs live?" I asked. "The Dunkelbergs? Who be they?" It seemed to me very strange that he didn't know the Dunkelbergs. "Where Sally Dunkelberg lives." That was a clincher. He laughed and swore and said: "Git in here, boy. I'll take ye there."

I got into the buggy, and he struck his horse with the whip and went galloping away in the dusk.

By and by we passed Roving Kate. I could just discern her ragged form by the roadside and called to her. He struck his horse and gave me a rude shake and bade me shut up.

It was dark and I felt very cold and began to wish myself home in bed.

"Ain't we most to the Dunkelbergs?" I asked.

"No—not yet," he answered.

I burst into tears and he shook me roughly and shoved me down on the buggy floor and said:

"You lay there and keep still; do you hear?"

"Yes," I sobbed.

I lay shivering with fear and fighting his sorrow and keeping as still as I could with it, until, wearied by the strain, I fell asleep.

What befell me that night while I to his own porridge and bread and butter.

When he had finished eating he set aside the dishes and I asked:

"Now could I go and see Sally Dunkelberg?"

"What in the world do you want of Sally Dunkelberg?" he asked.

"Oh, just to play with her," I said as I showed him how I could sit on my hands and raise myself from the chair bottom.

"Haven't you any one to play with at home?"

"Only my Uncle Peabody."

"Don't you like to play with him?"

"Oh, some, but he can't stand me any longer. He's all tired out, and my Aunt Deel, too. I've tipped over every single thing on that place. I tipped over the honey yesterday—split it all over everything and rooend my clothes. I'm a reg'lar pest. So I want to play with Sally Dunkelberg. I want to play with her a little while—just a wee little while."

"Forward, march!" said he and away we started for the home of the Dunkelbergs. The village interested me immensely. I had seen it only twice before. People were moving about in the streets. One thing I did not fail to notice. Every man we met touched his hat as he greeted my friend.

It was a square, frame house—that of the Dunkelbergs—large for that village, and had a big dooryard with trees in it. As we came near the gate I saw Sally Dunkelberg playing with other children among the trees. Suddenly I was afraid and began to hang back. I looked down at my bare feet and my clothes, both of which were dirty. Sally and her friends had stopped their play and were standing in a group looking at us. I heard Sally whisper:

"It's that Baynes boy. Don't he look dirty?"

I stopped and withdrew my hand from that of my guide.

"Come on, Bart," he said.

I shook my head and stood looking over at that little, hostile tribe near me.

"Go and play with them while I step into the house," he urged.

Again I shook my head.

"Well, then, you wait here a moment," said my new-found friend.

NO ROOM FOR PESSIMISM

Canada as a Nation Builder.

With Canada's great task in the war before the public, the burdens that she so willingly took and so ably carried, and her recent victory in subscribing $175,000,000 to the 5th Victory Bond Loan more than she asked, he would be a skeptic who would associate the word pessimism with her present condition. Canada deprecates the heavy human loss which she has suffered, but even those who to those lost in battle say with cheerfulness that while the sacrifice was great, the cause was wonderful, and accept their sufferings with grace. It may well be said there is no room in Canada today for the pessimist. The agricultural production of the country has doubled in four years. $140,000,000 are the railway earnings today or 3½ times what they were ten years ago, while the bank deposits are now $1,733,000,000 as compared with $133,000,000 thirty years ago.

There is a wonderful promise for the future.

It is with buoyancy that Canada faces an era of peace. She has triumphed over the soul-testing crisis of war. Before the war Canada was a borrower, and expected to continue so for many years. For the past year and a half we have seen her finance herself. She has also been furnishing credits to other nations.

A recent article in the "Boston Transcript" says:

"The people at home have not been lagging behind the boys at the front in courage, resourcefulness and efficiency. The development of Canada's war industry is an industrial romance of front rank. American Government officials can testify to the efficiency of the manufacturing plant Canada has built up in four short years. In Department after Department where they found American industry failed them they were able to turn to Canada. The

it is from Canada that emerges from the world war in 1918—a nation transformed from that which entered the conflict in 1914. "The war has taken from Canada a cruel toll. More than 50,000 of her bravest sons lie in soldiers' graves in Europe. Three times that number have been more or less incapacitated by wounds. The cost of the war in money is estimated to be already $1,100,000,000. These are not light losses for a country of 8,000,000 people. Fortunately there is also a credit side. Canada has found herself in this war. She has discovered not merely the gallantry of her soldiers, but the brains and capacity and efficiency of her whole people. In every branch, in arms, in industry, in finance, she has had to measure her wits against the world, and in no case has Canada reason to be other than gratified."—Advertisement.

take me up with the horses," said Amos.

"Ye can use shanks' horses—ayes!—they're good enough for you," Aunt Deel insisted, and so the boy went away in disgrace.

"Where are your pennies?" Aunt Deel said to me.

I felt in my pockets but couldn't find them.

"Where did ye have 'em last?" my aunt demanded.

"On the haymow."

"Come an' show me."

We went to the mow and searched for the pennies, but not one of them could we find.

I remembered that when I saw them last Amos had them in his hand.

"I'm awful 'fraid for him—ayes I be!" said Aunt Deel. "I'm 'fraid Roving Kate was right about him—ayes!"

"What did she say?" I asked.

more. Boys that take what don't belong to 'em—which I hope he didn't—ayes I hope it awful—aye apt to be hung by their necks until they are dead—just as he was goin' to

Uncle Peabody stopped as he saw me when he perceived how Amos had

"Don't ye say no more about it," said he. "Mebbe you lost the pennies. Don't mind 'em."

Soon after that, one afternoon, Aunt Deel came down in the field where we were dragging. While she was talking with Uncle Peabody an idea occurred to me, and the dog and I ran for the house. There was a pot of honey on the top shelf of the pantry and ever since I had seen it put there I had cherished secret desires.

I ran into the deserted house, and with the aid of a chair climbed to the first shelf and then to the next, and reached into the pan and drew out a comb of honey, and with no delay whatever it went to my mouth. Suddenly it seemed to me that I had been hit by lightning. It was the sting of a bee. I felt myself going and made a wild grab and caught the edge of the pan and down we came to the floor—the pan and I—with a great crash.

I discovered that I was in desperate pain and trouble and I got to my feet and ran. I didn't know where I was going. It seemed to me that any other place would be better than that. My feet took me toward the barn and I crawled under it and hid there. My lip began to feel better, by and by, but big and queer. It stuck out so that I could see it. I heard my uncle coming with the horses. I concluded that I would stay where I was, but the dog came and sniffed and barked at the hole through which I had crawled as if saying, "Here he is!" My position longer and I won't—not another day—ayes, I can't stan' it. That boy is a reg'lar pest."

They came out on the veranda. Uncle Peabody said nothing, but I could see that he couldn't stand it either. My brain was working fast.

"Come here, sir," Uncle Peabody called.

I knew it was serious, for he had never called me "sir" before. I went slowly to the steps.

"My Lord!" Aunt Deel exclaimed.

"Look at that lip and the honey all over him—ayes! I tell ye—I can't stan' it."

"Say, boy, is there anything on this place that ye ain't tipped over?" Uncle Peabody asked in a sorrowful tone.

"Wouldn't ye like to tip the house over?"

I was near breaking down in this answer:

"I went into the but're and that

"No," I drew in my breath and shook my head.

"Liar, too!" said Aunt Deel. "I can't stan' it an' I won't."

Uncle Peabody stepped to the door and said:

"Boy, I guess you'll have to—"

Uncle Peabody stopped. He had been driven to the last ditch, but he had not stepped over it. However, I knew what he had started to say, and sat down on the steps in great dejection. Shep followed, working at my coat with his tongue.

I think the sight of me must have touched the heart of Aunt Deel.

"Peabody Baynes, we mustn't be cruel," said she in a softer tone, and then she brought a rag and began to assist Shep in the process of cleaning my coat. "Good land! He's got to stay here—ayes!—he ain't got no other place to go to."

"But if you can't stan' it," said Uncle Peabody.

"I've got to stan' it—ayes!—I can't stan' it, but I've got to—ayes! So have you."

Aunt Deel put me to bed although it was only five o'clock. As I lay looking up at the shingles a singular resolution came to me. It was born of my longing for the companionship of my kind and of my resentment. I would go and live with the Dunkelbergs. I would go the way they had gone and find them. I knew it was ten miles away, but of course everybody knew where the Dunkelbergs lived and any one would show me. I would run and get there before dark and tell them that I wanted to live with them and every day I would play with Sally Dunkelberg. Uncle Peabody was not half as nice to play with as she was.

I heard Uncle Peabody drive away. I watched him through the open window. I could hear Aunt Deel wash-had reached the village of Canton and got rid of me. He had probably put me out at the water trough. Kind hands had picked me up and carried me to a little veranda that fronted the door of a law office. There I slept peacefully until daylight, when I felt a hand on my face and awoke suddenly. I remember that I felt cold. A kindly faced man was leaning over me.

"Hello, boy!" said he. "Where did you come from?"

I was frightened and confused, but his gentle voice reassured me.

"Uncle Peabody!" I called, as I arose and looked about me and began to cry.

The man lifted me in his arms and held me close to his breast and tried to comfort me. I remember seeing the Silent Woman pass while I was in his arms.

"What's your name," he

"Barton Baynes," I said as soon as I could speak.

"Where do you live?"

"In Lickitysplit."

"How did you get here?"

"Is she the daughter of Horace Dunkelberg?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dunkelberg,"

"Oh, yes, I know her. Sally is a friend of mine. We'll get some breakfast and then we'll go and find her."

He carried me through the open door of his office and set me down at his desk. The cold air of the night had chilled me and I was shivering.

"You sit there and I'll have a fire going in a minute and get you warmed up."

He wrapped me in his coat and went into the back room and built a fire in a small stove and brought me in and set me down beside it. He made some porridge in a kettle while I sat holding my little hands over the stove to warm them, and a sense of comfort grew in me.

He dipped some porridge into bowls and put them on a small table. My eyes had watched him with growing interest and I got to the table about as soon as the porridge and mounted a chair and seized a spoon.

"One moment, Bart," said my host. "By jingo! We've forgotten to wash and you're face looks like the dry bed of a river. Come here a minute."

He led me out of the back door, where there was a wash-stand and a pail and tin basin and a dish of soft soap. He dipped the pail in a rain barrel and filled the basin, and I washed myself and waited not upon my host, but made for the table and began to eat, being very hungry, after hastily drying my face on a towel. In a minute he came and sat down with Mrs. Dunkelberg, who kissed me, and asked me to tell how I happened to be there.

"I just thought I would come," I said as I twisted a button on my coat, and would say no more to her.

"Mr. Wright, you're going to take him home, are you?" Mrs. Dunkelberg asked.

"Yes, I'll start off with him in an hour or so," said my friend. "I am interested in this boy and I want to see his aunt and uncle."

"Well, Sally, you go down to the office and stay with Bart until they go."

"You'd like that, wouldn't you?" the man asked of me.

"I don't know," I said.

"That means yes," said the man.

Sally and another little girl came with us and passing a store I held back to look at many beautiful things in a big window.

"Is there anything you'd like there?"

"I wisht I had a pair of them shiny shoes with buttons on," I answered in a low, confidential tone, afraid to express, openly, a wish so extravagant.

store I could hear my heart beating. He bought a pair of shoes for me and I would have them on at once and would have them for him to buy a pair of socks also. After the shoes were buttoned on my feet I saw little of Sally Dunkelberg or the other people of the village, my eyes being on my feet most of the time.

The man took us into his office and told us to sit down until he could write a letter.

DOG TAXES NOW DUE

Payable at Township Clerks Office in Pinckney.

Notice is hereby given to all owners of dogs who reside within the limits of the Township of Putnam, County of Livingston, State of Michigan, that the tax is now due and should be paid not later than February 1st.

Section 2. It shall be the duty of each owner of any dog over four months of age on or before the first day of February of each year to secure from the clerk of the township in which he or she may reside a metal registration, bearing the name of the owner, the clerk's registration number thereon, and such tag or device shall be securely fastened to the collar of the dog.

Exception is made where dogs are strictly confined to the premises where kept and safely secured, except when accompanied by owner, caretaker or custodian.

Failure to pay taxes promptly is made a punishable offense.

Amount of Taxes

Male dogs, $2.00. Female dogs, $1.00. Spayed female dogs, $2.00. Male dogs kept solely for breeding purposes and confined to kennel, $1.00. Same, female $2.00.

(Note that the reduction for spayed female dogs can only be allowed upon presentation of certificate from a veterinary surgeon stating that such dog has been spayed.)

Fine or Imprisonment

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for anyone to permit any dog owned by him or her to be at large without a license tag. Any person violating any of the provisions of this law shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a FINE not exceeding $25.00, or to imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The tags can not be transferred from person to person nor from dog to dog.

Tags shall be good for only one year from January 1st of the year issued.

(Note that the dog tag year now begins January 1 and ends December 31.)

Section 6. Any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, or police officer shall have authority to destroy any dog or dogs, found at large in violation of the provisions of this act.

Dated January 1, 1919.
 D. W. Murta
 Township Clerk.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.
