Vol. XXXVI

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday August 21, 1919

No. 33

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES

One day institutes will be held in each of the following places: Fowlerville, Thursday, August 28; Pinckney, Friday, August 29; Howell Saturday, August 30. Miss Helen Edgerton, Principal of Saginaw County Normal will assist the Commissioner of Schools in this institute. Reading, spelling and penmanship will be the topics for discussion. Every teacher should attend.

BENNETT REUNION

On August 10 a family reunion was held at the home of D. J. Bennett in honor of Mrs. Bennett's niece, Mrs. A. C. Millinger and daughters, Doris and Pauline, of East Auburn, Cal., who are making an extended visit among relatives and friends in this state.

Those present were Mrs. Ida M. Lewis of Lansing, Mr. O. H. Tenny and family, Mr. W. H. Tenny and family of St. Louis, Mr. Percy Carson and family of Iosco, Mr. Albert Dinkel and family of Marion and Mark. Allison and family of Putnam.

A sumptuous picnic dinner was served and enjoyed by all, after which several kodak views were taken as souvenirs of the long to be remembered day.

ANNIVERSARY

Thirteen has usually been considered an unlucky number, but it proved to be just the opposite for Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Elliott when on August fifteenth forty-nine of their friends motored up from Ohio to help them celebrate their thirteenth wedding anniversary.

CAMP

Camp director, the Livingston county Y. M. C. camp at Silver Lake, south of Pinckney, with a capacity enrollment of nearly sixty boys and leaders, opened on the 8th and continued through the 18th.

John Strick, county Y secretary, was in personal charge of the camp. Frank M. Lansing, a Livingston County man, but now of Milford, directed Boy Scout work and other activities. Rev. F. C. Watters of Fowlerville had his entire troop of Boy Scouts there, and was in charge of religious activities. Besides these men, there was a leader for every seven. The boys ranged between the ages of 12 and 15 years.

Despite the fact that this was the first camp of the kind ever staged in Livingston county it proved a big success in every detail. The boys were anything but disappointed in fact, it surpassed their every expectation. Their only regret is that the time is gone.

The boys had a fairly hard time. The Camp Bickett (Cyclone) which was read at the campfire each night. This proved an interesting feature, as well as providing a permanent record of the camp. Baseball, scouting and swimming were favorite pastimes with the boys, which, together with the helpful instruction they received under expert leadership, combined to make an outing well worth while. Best of all, there was something doing every minute of the day.

the biggest day yet. It included a ball game with a Pinckney Sunday school team, as well as a track meet to determine the best athletes in camp.

Lift off Corns!
Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin caluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Women Dry Fish Nets.

It would appear that every line of labor is open to women. They are now seen on the wharves in Portland, Maine, as gill-net spoolers. Each day, after a trip to the fishing grounds, the gill-nets have to be dried, and these reels are so arranged that the nets lie across them and are wound up similar to a piece of thread on a spool; in fact, they are gigantic spools. One reel will hold a great many nets, which are ready for use again in twenty-four hours. Women are now doing this sort of work. Many of them are wives of local fishermen. They receive fifty cents for each box of gill-nets they spread on the reel. The women average from $4 to $4.50 a day.

ALLIGATOR HAS GOOD POINTS

South Carolina Newspaper Gives Some Reasons Why Indiscriminate Killing Should Be Stopped.

The alligator is another good citizen whose usefulness is overlooked. For killing alligators has been from time immemorial a popular pastime. In Louisiana it was found that when the alligators were killed off the muskrats multiplied and destroyed the levees; also the cotton-mouth moccasin, the garfish and the carp increased wonderfully. Whereupon protection was given to the alligators. This lacertilian, to give him his correct family name, has probably kept the muskrat away from the South Carolina coast, for the muskrat is unknown on the coast. If allowed to multiply the alligator will make inroads on the carp, the garfish and the cotton-mouth, all undesirable members of our fauna. The sum total of the alligator's evil doing amounts to this: He catches a dog now and then; once in a long while pulls a hog or bites the tail off a cow, for sundry stump-tailed cows along the Atlantic Coast Line right of way have met misfortune in this way. The cow, the dog and the hog are out of place when the alligator can get at them; but at best very little of this happens.—Charleston News and Courier.

Belgium After the War.

Statistical students of the cost of living in Brussels show that for necessities the price of which may be designated as 100 in April, 1914, Brussels paid 699 in January, 1919, or nearly a sevenfold increase. There has been a constant drop since January, reaching 564 in February, 403 in March, 344 in April and 333 in May, 1919. Articles not necessities have come down from 615 in January to 406 in May, and clothing, shoes, coal and light represented by 416 in January, have dropped to 351 in May.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

motorboat by the light of a lantern, Robert Douagal, Chicago, who is spending the summer at Gull Lake, accidentally fired some gasoline and his clothes. He jumped in the lake and saved himself.

Mt. Clemens—Eluding her nurse, Mrs. H. B. Gilbert, Chicago, jumped from a fourth-floor window of the Medea Hotel, where she was a guest, striking head foremost on a cement casing around a basement window 75 feet below. She died instantly.

Owosso—Manufacturers and business men who have subscribed $100,000 for a memorial hospital have given warning that unless the public responds more generously in a campaign under way to raise $100,000 additional they will cancel their subscriptions.

Kalamazoo—The General Motors Co. has purchased the plant of the Hastings Consolidated Press & Tool Co. for $1,000,000, it was announced. The capacity of the plant will be quadrupled by the General Motors Co., which will employ about 1,200 men here.

Grand Rapids—The skull and cross bones on a bottle of a mixture composed of ether and colloidum failed to warn Verry Halpin from drinking as a "chaser," but all survived to be sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Marshall—His baby in his arms, Wilbur Hess watched boxing matches at the home-coming celebration. Whenever he shifted the baby from one arm to the other, he felt of his hip pocket, in which was his purse containing $60. Noting this action, a pickpocket got the purse.

Standish—Adams township has offered an additional reward of $500, which makes a total of $700 for the conviction of the party or parties placing Paris green in the dinner of Allan Wilson, a school boy attending the Moores Junction school. The boy found the Paris green before eating his dinner.

Pontiac—Sam Lee, a Chinaman, who says he lives at 112 Cass avenue, Detroit, is under arrest here charged with violating the prohibition law. He was found on Orchard Lake avenue while driving an automobile in which the officers discovered 80 quarts of whisky. He declared he did not know the liquor was in the car.

Lansing—With paid in capital of $100,000, furnished by Columbus, O., and Grand Rapids men and the original purchase of land for their enterprise made, Attorney Foy E. Watkins, of Grand Rapids, applied to the secretary of state for permission to incorporate the Michigan Ohio Land & Lumber company. The function of the proposed corporation is to raise farm products and sell them through agencies direct to the consumer.

Dearborn—Judd A. Richardson, wealthy farmer of Novi, was instantly killed here when he drove his automobile directly in front of an approaching interurban car. Richardson was decapitated and his body badly mangled. His automobile was wrecked.

Monroe—Dean Trabbic, of Erie, a short distance from Monroe, former deputy sheriff of Monroe county, was called from his home and shot and killed by four unidentified men. Trabbic is believed to have been slain by whisky runners whom he arrested some weeks ago.

Battle Creek—Unofficial information has reached Camp Custer that its soldier population is to be increased four to six times within six weeks. The report is given credence by most of the officers. Some such step is necessary, as there are insufficient enlisted men to perform the necessary work.

Hudson—Colonel William B. Thompson, 81 years old, prominent in Michigan politics for half a century, former second assistant postmaster-general and at one time treasurer of the nation, his summer home at Hayden, near formerly lived in Hudson.

Portland—At a meeting of 60 business men it was decided to hold a town celebration September 6, steps were taken to start a home building campaign as a result of factory extensions and a housing shortage, and arrangements were made to handle the ice shortage by importing a supply. A municipal ice plant to care for Portland next year is projected.

Lansing—Despite the pronouncements of action against "profiteers," emblazoned in many public prints, there is no way of proceeding against profiteers as such, according to the prosecuting officials but only when they have gone into agreements to control prices or supplies, can action be taken. Naturally, these agreements are usually made for no other purpose than "profiteering" and undoubtedly most of the profiteers can be reached through the state's anti-trust laws, the prosecutors declare.

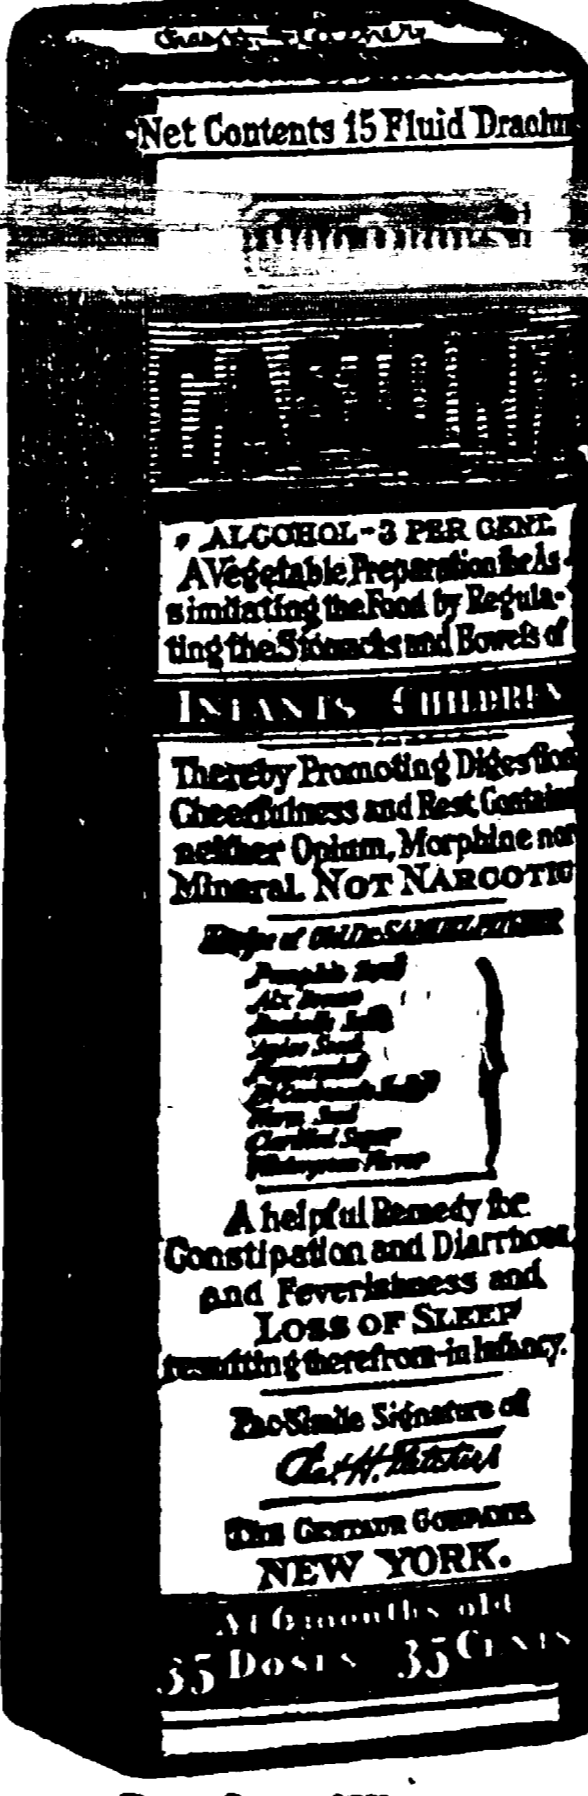

Detroit—Henry Ford's gasoline-driven street car is rapidly nearing completion in the Dearborn shops and is expected to make its trial run within the next 60 days. Two hundred and fifty men are at work in the tractor plant on various parts, while hundreds more are busy in Cleveland building the special body. The model car is of the suburban type, which he intends building. However, it is planned to immediately start constructing the smaller type for city service as soon as the test run is completed.

Imitations Are Dangerous.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine? If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

Don't Go From Bad to Worse!

Are you always weak, miserable and half-sick? Then it's time you found out what is wrong. Kidney weakness causes much suffering from backache, lameness, stiffness and rheumatic pains, and if neglected, brings danger of serious troubles—dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Don't delay. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Mrs. Wm. Eadyvean, 610 N. Second St., Ishpeming, Mich., says: "About a year ago I was suffering from weakness in my back. I felt tired out and languid all the time. I hardly had ambition to go about my household and my kidneys caused me annoyance. Specks floated before my eyes and blurred my sight. I had dizzy spells, too. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and soon relieved me."

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor

for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of ugly hollows, the rounding off of protruding angles with attendant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many and varied suggestions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1914, says: "The amount of phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout English speaking countries as Bitro-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content when absorbed in the amount normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in our body and mind. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole body soon loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

HEARTBURN

Caused by Acid-Stomach

That bitter heartburn, belching, food-repeating, indigestion, bloating after eating—all are caused by acid-stomach. But they are only first symptoms—danger signals to warn you of awful troubles if not stopped. Headache, biliousness, rheumatism, sciatica, that tired, listless feeling, lack of energy, dizziness, insomnia, even cancer and ulcers of the intestines and many other ailments are traceable to ACID-STOMACH.

Thousands—yes, millions—of people who ought to be well and strong are mere weaklings because of acid-stomach. They really starve in the midst of plenty because they do not get enough strength and vitality from the food they eat.

U. S. FLIER HELD BY MEXICAN BANDITS

RANSOM OF $15,000 DEMANDED FOR RELEASE OF TWO ARMY AVIATION OFFICERS.

DEATH PENALTY THREATENED

Outlaw Band Also Sends Threat That Men Will Be Killed if Troops Are Sent to Find Them.

Marfa, Tex.—Letters purporting to be from Lieutenants Paul H. Davis and Harold G. Peterson, American army aviators missing for a week, were received here August 17 at military headquarters. The letters stated the aviators were being held by bandits for $15,000 ransom somewhere in Mexico, and were threatened with death unless the ransom was paid.

The demand for the ransom was received here and a report made at once to Major General Dickman, commanded of the Southern department.

A message from a former Villa follower, now a member of the bandit band, was received at the border Sunday threatening to kill the American aviators if any evidence of military movements to search for the Americans was seen on the American side of the border. This message was addressed to Dawkins Kilpatrick, it was announced here.

Mr. Kilpatrick at once sent a message to the Mexican bandits urging them to postpone the time limit fixed in the demand for the payment of $15,000 ransom for the release of the aviators until Wednesday because of the delay in receiving their demand at the border.

The whereabouts of the bandit rendezvous, from which the American aviators were believed to have sent their message, is unknown here. Be-

Belgium Recuperating.
The rapid growth of the railway services in Belgium is helping restore normal conditions in that country, which was regarded as having among the best means of communication before the war. At the beginning of December, 1918, Belgium had available only 305 cars with a tonnage of 3,700. At the beginning of June, 1919, Belgium had in service 9,104 cars with a tonnage of 123,361. Now 1,056 freight trains run daily in Belgium.

Agitation for a plebiscite in Dutch Limburg under the direction of the League of Nations is going on in Belgium, where expressions in favor of this movement are being made by every commune under the leadership of the committee on national politics. They set forth that the Belgians in Dutch Limburg are in the majority and never were Dutch.

Stung.

Harry and Grace each received a nickel with which to buy candy. They hurried down the street to a little shop, where the tempting array of chocolates in the window and the inviting sign, "The Busy Bee," above the door, lured them within. They made their purchases and left. Once out on the sidewalk, Harry held up his sack, in which rattled wee particles of candy.

"Busy Bee," he snorted. "No wonder they call it that if everybody who goes in there gets stung like we did."

AUTO DITCHED; 3 DEAD, 2 HURT

Occupants Are Under Machine An Hour Before Found.

Detroit—Three men were killed and two seriously injured, when the automobile in which they were driving crashed into a tree, on the Dixie highway, two and a half miles west of Trenton at one o'clock Sunday morning and overturned.

Two of those killed were returned soldiers, as were the two injured. The third man killed was the Michigan Central agent at Dearborn. The men were on their way to a dance at Rockwood. The victims of the wreck were discovered an hour later by a Detroit citizen on his way home from Toledo.

The dead are: Arthur Kraemelein, 28 years old, Trenton; Clifford Henry Telfer, 24 years old, Trenton; Roy Rix, 35 years old, M. C. agent at Dearborn. The injured are: Ross Telfer, Thomas Donahue, 30 years old.

According to William Telfer, posttwo Telfer boys, the survivors say autoist, coming from the opposite direction, flashing his searchlight in the eyes of Rix, the driver. Why the driver with the searchlight, did not stop after the wreck, has not been learned.

Rix had just bought the auto, a new touring car.

ARMY FOOD SALE IS STARTED

Postmasters Take Orders for Shipments of Surplus Supply.

Detroit—Postmaster William J. Nagel began taking orders August 16 for surplus army foods to be sold Detroit consumers in small or large lots at greatly reduced prices and delivered to the consumers' homes by parcel post. Purchasers must pay for the goods and the postal charges in advance.

In the list of foods offered for sale are baked beans, dry beans, bacon, corn, tomatoes, fruits, corned beef hash, roast beef, corned beef, soups, flour, rice, peas, string beans and pepper. With the exception of certain grades of bacon, flour and rice, all this food is canned.

Samples of food can be ordered by the purchaser who desires to know the quantity. All goods are sold at list price, plus the postal charges. The parcel post weight limit has been raised to 125 pounds.

Bulk supplies, such as flour and rice, will not be sold in quantities less than contained in the original packages.

WIFE

Has always been the bread baker for the home. From childhood she has been trained in breadmaking until she has become expert and her bread is usually first-class—at least when the flour was good, the "emtins" all right and the stove doing its best.

The farmer's wife has usually scorned "baker's bread" as being inferior to her own bread.

Now however, many farmer's wives are using

MOTHER'S

...with home made bread when the latter is at its very best.

MOTHER'S BREAD is always always ALL RIGHT.

That so many farmers' wives are now using Mother's Bread is its highest recommendation. A practical endorsement which comes from women who are not only the very best judges of bread, but who are also experts in home economy.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c.

MEXICO WARNED OF CHANGE IN POLICY

CARRANZA TOLD THAT UNLESS AMERICANS ARE PROTECTED U. S. MAY TAKE HAND.

MURDERS MUST BE STOPPED

Mexican Government in Reply States That Everything Possible is Done to Protect Foreigners.

Washington.—Warning that there would be a radical change in the policy of the American government regarding Mexico if the Carranza government continued to fail to protect Americans in that country was contained in a note sent to the Mexican foreign office.

That the note had been dispatched was disclosed last week by the state department, together with the information that, in its reply, the Mexican government had said that everything possible already was being done to protect foreigners. There was a suggestion that unless foreigners concentrated in populous places it would be impossible to afford them the protection demanded.

Notification of a possible change of policy was made by the American embassy at Mexico City on instructions from the state department, which determined upon this course as a result of the long series of murders and outrages of Americans in Mexico, culminating in the murder of Peter Catron in San Luis Potosi last month.

In connection with the death of Catron the usual representations regarding the capture and punishment of those responsible were made.

RETAIL SUGAR PRICE 11 CENTS

Department of Justice Sets This As

Washington.—Eleven cents a pound has been adjudged a "fair" retail price for sugar by the Department of Justice, C. W. Ames, assistant attorney-general, announced. "Dealers charging more will be investigated," he said. "Ten cents a pound is a fair wholesale price. The additional penny should be enough profit for the retail dealer."

Mr. Ames asked consumers who are charged more to write, either to him at the Department of Justice, Washington, or to the nearest United States district attorney.

All sugar now being sold by the United States is controlled by the Government, through the United States Sugar Equalization Board, with headquarters in New York. This board buys all raw sugar produced and imported. It then sells the raw sugar to the refining companies.

The board stipulates the price at which the refining concerns shall sell to wholesalers. Wholesalers are under license, but their selling price is not fixed by the board.

RAIL SHOPMEN'S STRIKE IS OFF

Men Return to Work After Holding

Chicago.—The railway shopmen's strike is off, the men returned to work last Saturday.

This decision was reached at a meeting of representatives of the strikers from widely scattered points throughout the country.

While the shopmen's representatives were in session, a mass meeting of car repairers, representing about 27,000 strikers, also decided to return to work.

A resolution adopted asked that the president invite a committee of three from the district council to go to Washington and sit in the negotiations with the director general.

ARMY BLANKETS TO BE SOLD

Can Be Bought in Lots of 1 to 20, Price $1.25 to $6.

Washington.—The War Department has offered for sale to the public its surplus supply of wool, cotton and mixed fabric blankets, of which approximately 2,000,000 are available for the market, under conditions which will make them directly available to the ultimate consumer.

In addition to distributing the blankets between 16 designated sales centers, they will be made available to other communities through bulk sales to municipalities.

The prices run from $6, for new, all-wool blankets, to $1.25 for re-stained cotton blankets. Prices in bulk lots are cheaper.

The complaint, which charges the actors with conspiracy, follows the general line of the famous Danbury Hatters' case.

Auto Stalls On Tracks, 4 Escape.

Marshall, Mich.—Miss May Sturt, Miss Ethel Prior and Claude Essenhauer, narrowly escaped death when the latter's automobile, crashed into the Michigan Central gates at the Marshall avenue crossing. This stalled the engine directly on the track, with a fast westbound freight train only 50 feet distant. All jumped over the back of the automobile just as the train struck it and escaped injury but the automobile was carried 100 yards and demolished.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble. The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim. Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago. All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning. After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

WIFE GAVE HIM INSPIRATION

Author, at His Wit's End for Plot, Got Excellent Idea From His Better Half.

How the idea of a new book was suggested in an unexpected manner to the author is told by William J. Locke in "The Rough Road."

"One evening a couple of months after I had finished 'The Red Planet,' I was tearing my hair and saying that this time I really had come to the end of things and would never again have the ghost of an idea for another book, when my wife, who was sitting on the divan in the drawing room playing unconcernedly with our little Pekinese—she had heard this cry of woe so many times before—addressed this little beast—I love him dearly, by the way—in the maudlin tone of which we both are guilty: 'Why doesn't he write a nice book about you, darling?' Whereupon I clapped my hand to my forehead and cried: 'Will I write a story about my dear, beautiful wife?'"

What Father Missed.

I had been married almost a year and knew all of my husband's people except his father, who lived in another town and who is fond of a joke.

One day we received word that he would arrive on a certain train, so several of my husband's relatives went with us to meet him. While waiting one of them suggested that they point him out to me and that I should meet him alone.

When the train arrived they saw him and told me he was wearing a gray overcoat and soft hat. I, thinking I had the right one, in fun rushed out, threw both arms around him, and gave him a big kiss, only to find my father-in-law with the rest when I returned.—Exchange.

When a fellow is stuck on himself it's a mighty difficult matter to get him apart.

The fool wouldn't get so much fun out of life if he were wise enough to realize his own folly.

Time is a great corrective.

by the famous naturalist C. L. Camp, who has been studying them in the Colorado desert. He tells of some reptiles, the burrowing snake sonora, the gridiron-tailed lizard, the ocellated sand lizard, and the desert "horned toad," which actually swim in the loose sand by the strong lateral movements of their heads. The gridiron-tailed lizard is very swift and agile, and when chased will race over the sand at fifteen miles an hour. Most of the desert reptiles of Colorado are colored like their surroundings, and are difficult to detect. Others can change their colors to suit their surroundings, while not a few of the desert lizards are able to part with their tails very readily when they are seized. There is humor in the ways of desert tortoises. When one meets another, unless both are males, when a fight invariably takes place, each nods its head rapidly up and down as though in salutation, and sometimes noses are touched as they pass.

ON THE MEXICAN BORDER

Action, always action, is the outstanding feature of this stirring romance by Jackson Gregory. "Dice of Destiny" is a tale of the Mexican border, about as lively a spot as there is in the world. The actors in the story are interesting for themselves, aside from their thrilling story—a fine old Spaniard living on his ancestral estate this side of the border; his villainous kinsman, with his rascally accomplices; his entirely charming granddaughter; his efficient young American neighbor, and various Mexican bandits from across the border. Love, danger, fighting, a just retribution and a happy ending—all the elements of a thrilling tale are here. Add the tale is well told.

CHAPTER I.

An Error Rectified.

Pedro, the mestizo, having lighted the wax tapers in the massive candlesticks, having placed bottle and glasses upon the great mahogany table, tobacco and papers upon the small mahogany table, withdrew silently, as was his way, swiftly, as was his training.

His old master, Senor don Antonio de la Guerra, looking as genuinely antique in his old-fashioned black coat, small, high-heeled boots and curled

"You do not even care to have me go into detail concerning the flaw which I allowed to creep in?"

Dempton had leaned forward a little in his chair, his eager eyes upon the other's. De la Guerra laughed softly and shook his head.

"You would force me to appear stupid." He put his hand upon the bell cord hanging from the edge of the big table and a bell tinkled from beyond the door. "Let me have the papers you wish me to sign."

Pedro brought pen and ink, retreated upon another errand, and once more returned, bringing with him two of the other servants about the great adobe house to witness the signature.

The old man looked at the new will carelessly and signed carelessly, asking merely if the will were in all essentials the same as the original one.

The servants withdrew with their master's thanks and loose silver, and De la Guerra, returning to Dempton one copy of the paper which was intended after his death to dispose of the hacienda, a great range heavily stocked and an indefinite sum in gold and silver, folded the other and placed it upon the shining table top.

"I shall read it tomorrow," he said lightly. "You know that I do not read after the candles are lighted, señor."

Dempton, his errand done, was already upon his feet, his eyes roving for the hat which Pedro had taken from him a few minutes ago.

"But," cried De la Guerra, "you are not going back tonight, señor? Surely you would not think of putting my hospitality so to shame! You must spend the night with us."

close-herd my steers, and yet Gaucho, my foreman, reported to me this morning that the rebels had crossed over and had driven off half a dozen cows for me."

Again he spread out his hands and lifted his shoulders.

"In the daylight it is one thing—after dark it is another. I should be glad to send some of my vaqueros with you, señor."

Still Dempton protested. There was a moon, his way ran across a wide open level land, and the rebels were not looking for complications with Uncle Sam.

De la Guerra, too courteous a host to insist, smiled gravely, rose and went into the patio with the lawyer, directing Pedro to have Mr. Dempton's horse brought up from the stables.

"Miss Teresa, I did not see her," Dempton remembered to say from the saddle. "She is well, I hope?"

"Very well, thank you, señor. I shall tell her that you inquired. And it was kind of you to take this long ride to tell me about the mistake in the will."

"Good night, Mr. de la Guerra."

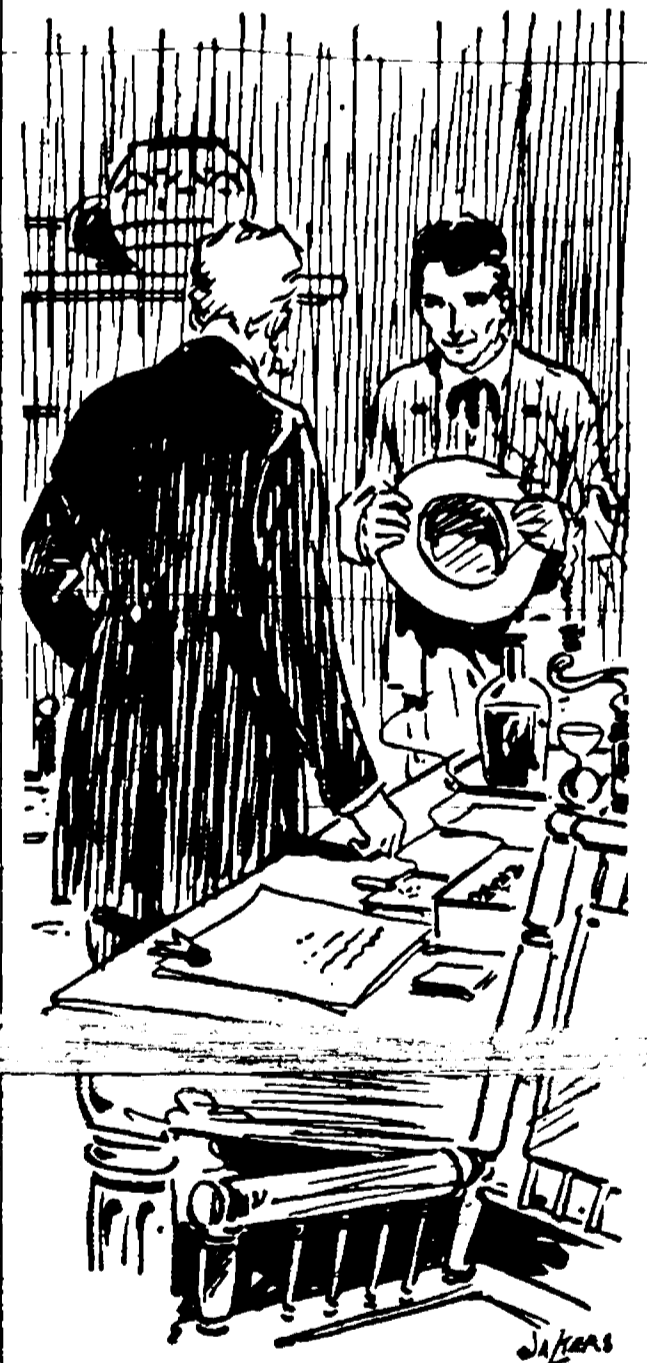

"Buenas noches, señor."

And Lawyer Dempton, his horse's mane and tail flying, was on his way through the moonlight night, and the old man, leaving Pedro to close the door after him, had gone back to his chair and wine and cigarettes.

"Los Americanos," he muttered when he was alone again, "they are all alike. You cannot trust them. That Dempton has the eyes of a rat, the face of a liar, the manner of a convict. Americanos on the one hand, Mexicanos on the other! Sangre de Dios! I must take Teresita away from them. Pedro!"

"Thank you, Mr. de la Guerra," he said hastily. "But I must return to La Panza immediately."

He managed a bow with a poor trial at the Spaniard's dignified grace, put out his hand quickly as though to have the farewells over and done with, and retreated to the door which gave passageway through the three-foot adobe walls from the drawing room to the patio.

De la Guerra looked at him with a curious smile.

"You are incomprehensible, you Americanos," he said softly. "You will insist on riding a dozen miles through the dark when there is a warm bed and bright candle light inviting you to stay. Your business must be urgent, Mr. Dempton, to take you out tonight—alone. Your ride is not without danger, and—"

He put his hand again to the bell cord.

"At least, if you insist, you must allow me to send some of my vaqueros with you."

"No, no!" cried Dempton, already at the door. "It is unnecessary, Mr. de la Guerra. There is no danger."

"As you will," Senor don Antonio spread out his white hands and lifted his shoulders slightly. "But you must remember that we are only half a mile from the border, and that those rascally Mexicanos are a thieving, treacherous lot."

"I have already given orders to

"Buena. Convey to her my affectionate compliments, and tell her that I shall be for the half-hour adding a certain note to my American memoirs. After that I shall be pleased if she will come to me."

"Si, señor." Swift and silent, Pedro went upon his errand.

Senor don Antonio de la Guerra, pushing the will to one side, drew a thick manuscript from the table drawer, and, writing in a fine, scholarly hand, began to add certain highly insulting commentaries to the chapter dealing with the vitriolic description of the character of "Los Americanos." (The book he planned to print in Spain.)

Meantime the Senorita Teresa de la Guerra, his demure granddaughter, was not in her room but upon her little rose-twined balcony, and the moonlight, bright about her, was not more bright than the laughing eyes she turned downward toward the adoring face of an Americano!

CHAPTER II.

Abduction.

The hacienda where Antonio de la Guerra had lived for the fifty-odd years of his exile from his beloved Spain, where his granddaughter had been born and reared, was one of the landmarks which linger on in stately white walls under dark red tiles from the time of the Spanish occupation.

The old Spaniard was overlord of what had once been a grant from his grandfather's king, the boundaries carelessly marked in leagues instead of miles.

He bred cattle and fine horses, entrusted Gaucho Morales, his foreman, with the business details, and yet managed, so large and fertile was his empire, to go on from year to year swelling his wealth.

The wide-verandaed house with none of its walls less than three feet thick, with great, spacious rooms, spread out across a wide extent of the shaded land among the olive and pear and pepper trees. In the time of the father of Antonio de la Guerra there had been fourteen rooms—now there were twenty. No less could suffice for the master of the estate and his cherished granddaughter.

There was the patio with its flowering garden and leaping fountain. About it were the rooms, all on the ground floor with the exception of the three rooms added by the old man for the use of the senorita.

Here at the southeastern exposure of the rambling dwelling, a wide and winding staircase had been constructed to lead upward to a spacious landing.

Then came broad doors, a deep window, and beyond the senorita's private sitting room. Her bedroom was high-ceiled, with much ornate embellishment after the Moorish fashion, and a lavish display of gilt under the domed roof.

Upon the landing a couch where each night Pedro lay across his mistress' doorway.

And then the balcony.

once there she was all but lost behind the bank of flowering roses, swallowed by a dim dusk through which the moon had difficulty in filtering, lapped in the perfume of the flowers which clung about the balcony in the warm June night.

And from here, while her scholarly grandfather annotated his remarks concerning the hated Americano, Teresa leaned out, her beauty as soft and delicate a thing as that of the rose brushing her cheek, and talked with one particular Americano.

Reader, meet the adorable Senorita Teresa and the adoring Billy Stanway.

OLD LAW ON STATUTE BOOKS

If British Judges Were Guided by It There Would Be Some Confusion in the "Island Empire."

Many curious acts of parliament still remain on the statute book, remarks the London Daily Mail. Every little while these appear in the courts, the law they cause very little trouble.

Three acts have been quoted this week. One referred to an act of George II, which allowed the landlord to charge a tenant he wished to leave his premises double rent. The plaintiff claimed, but lost his case.

Another was a claim by the admiralty for freight on bullion carried from South Africa on a warship. This claim was decided in favor of the bankers, who got their freight free owing to an act that was passed in 1819 for the purpose of stopping the abuse of the privilege of conveying bullion in king's ships by the commercial community.

An act that is still enforced is one of James I, dated 1424, a Scottish statute. It reads:

"If any mine of gold or silver be found in any lord's lands of the realm and it may be proved that three half-peppies of silver may be fined out of the pound of lead, the lords of parliament consent that such mine may be the king's, as is usual of other realms."

Original "Yeomen."

The title "yeoman" is of military origin, and the yeomen were so styled because, besides the weapons fit for close engagement, they fought with arrows and the bow, which was made of "yew," a tree that has more repelling force and elasticity than any other. After the Conquest the name of yeoman, as applied to their original office in war, was changed to that of archer.

1919 Jackson County Fair

Every year we have told you the Jackson County Fair would be "Bigger and Better" and have made good. This year will be no exception.

We are spending $60,000 for new buildings and equipment and have sold more space for concessions and attractions than any previous year in our history.

We are providing not only the best, but the largest amount of exhibition space in good buildings of any Fair in Michigan outside of the state fair.

One building alone, 220x220, two stories high in the center, new this year will house 60,000 square feet of exhibits including fruits, vegetables, grains, machinery, school exhibits, automobiles and many other educational features.

A new sheep barn containing 200 pens is being constructed. These new buildings with all our other buildings enlarged and improved, will give the exhibiting public 200,000 square feet of floor space and will guarantee the best of accommodations and conveniences.

With all these improvements and efforts on the part of the Fair Management, and with the most loyal supporters and producers behind us, we feel we can promise the public this year the best Fair ever held in southern Michigan.

Look over this post-war Maxwell

You get the accumulation of war years in rare automobile ideas. There's the new Lemoine type front axle, which gives a new delight at the wheel in its easy, casting effect in steering.

Then there's the heavy new rear axle with the extra large, indestructible four pinion differential. And two universal joints of the oilless disc type. They require no attention whatever.

Brakes—The emergency is now found on the transmission, as on so many foreign cars. The service brake is the larger toggle type, equipped with equalizers to prevent skidding.

In the rear now is slung the gas tank, large and with vacuum feed. No more gas fumes or gas leakage up in front.

Also equipped with Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn.

There are many more rare treats in store for you, but remember this Post-War model is the continuation of the original Maxwell chassis as laid down 5 years ago.

To date more than 300,000 have been built. The public has paid $200,000,000 for previous Maxwells. This Maxwell is a greater car.
