CHANGES IN GAME LAWS

Several changes have been made on the game laws and the restrictions on the hunting of skunks have been removed, according to the new instruction sheets issued recently to the county clerk.

For instance, where a year ago a man had to be a citizen of this country to secure a resident hunting license, now he must have his first papers or have declared his intention of becoming a citizen not less than six months prior to making application for the hunting permit.

Hunting licenses are good for the period between September 1, 1919, and September 1, 1920. It is also announced that where a man has a small game license it is not necessary to secure another license to carry a gun.

Among the recent changes in the game laws are those applying to open season for ducks, which has been changed to conform with the federal open date, Sept. 15 to 30. The state law allows ducks to be shot a few days earlier. Another change concerns the taking of skunks. Up to this time certain restrictions have been placed on hunting this animal, but all have been removed and a skunk may be dug out, smoked out or blown out, as best suits the hunter, according to the new law. Last year it was unlawful to dig them out.

Fox squirrels, which have been on the banned list, may be hunted between

TUBERCULOSIS FOUND IN POULTRY FLOCKS

East Lansing, Mich.—"Tuberculosis has increased so rapidly among the farm poultry flocks of Michigan that the disease has become a serious trouble to the farmers of the state," says M. E. Dickson, of the Poultry Department at the Agricultural College. Reports from various parts of the state indicate that the disease is apparently on the increase.

It is difficult to diagnose a case of tuberculosis in poultry until the disease is in an advanced stage so that the symptoms are prominent. A rheumatic condition or "dumppish" actions on the part of the bird are among the signs of disease. The liver, spleen, intestines and rarely the lungs are covered with tubercular lesions, varying in size from a mere speck to a large pea.

"While cooking kills the disease germs in an infected fowl, the housewife is, nevertheless, exposed to contamination when she dresses the bird," declares Mr. Dickson. "The personal danger is so great that one should not attempt to keep any fowls that have been exposed to contamination. All birds that have died from tuberculosis should be completely destroyed by burning as a step in controlling the spread of the disease."

OBITUARY

Isabella Armstrong was born in County Monahan, Ireland, August 1, 1860, and passed away at her home in Unadilla township Friday evening, Sept. 12, 1919 at 9:20. She was one of fourteen children.

At the age of 20, she with her parents came to this country, settling in the township of Rives, Jackson county. The following July she was united in marriage to Joseph Dixon. To this union six children of whom five, with their father, are left to mourn their loss: Henry, of Westwood, Cal., Will of Pinckney, Mrs. Ernest Hopkins of Dexter, Clarence of Flint, Clyde of Detroit and one grandson, Robert Harlow, besides four sisters and one brother.

She was a kind and loving mother and loved by all who knew her, a devoted Christian, ever ready to serve her Master to the end.

A loving one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our hearts,
Which never will be filled.

THE JACKSON FAIR

The Jackson county fair was a success beyond the greatest expectations. The many patrons from this section are unanimous in saying they were well pleased with everything at the fair. This fair has become the greatest attractions in Southern Michigan.

St. Drusus, with his owner, James Rochas, won his race in the slow time of 2:22 the track being about six seconds slow and muddy.

This race was hotly contested, St. Drusus winning the first and second heats, losing the next two, and winning the fifth heat under one of the fiercest drives ever seen on the Jackson track.

KILLED AN EAGLE

While hunting at the Reeves mill pond Tuesday evening Mr. H. J. Norton and Stanley Mays saw a large bird flying over them. In the dusk they thought it was an owl, and Mr. Mays fired, bringing the bird down.

On examination the bird was found to be an eagle measuring five and one-half feet from tip to tip.

Department of Agriculture has caused the Department of Agriculture to start a federal survey of the state in order to find any possible location of the pest. Dr. E. F. Woodcock of the Botany Department at the Agricultural College, is in charge of the work, and will cover all the important points of both the upper and lower peninsulas.

Potato wart has been doing great damage to European crops, and there is danger that it will prove equally destructive to American fields if it gets a good start in this country. As yet the only place where the disease has gained a foothold is in Pennsylvania, and a strict government quarantine is expected to stop its spread. The examinations in other parts of the country are a check upon a fresh outbreak in some new section.

In Potato Wart the tuber is replaced by a cauliflower-like growth which quickly rots away. Any suspicious case should be reported to the Plant Pathology department of the Agricultural College for inspection.

CALIFORNIA SENATOR SPEAKS TO A LARGE MISSOURI AUDIENCE

Hiram Johnson Makes Speech at St. Louis Against the Treaty.

DECLARES PRESIDENT TO BLAME FOR H. C. L.

Johnson Declares Treaty is Delayed Because Its Opponents Want the American People to Know the Facts—Borah Denounces League of Nations.

St. Louis, Sept. 13.—Introduced by Dr. John H. Simon, former Democratic candidate for mayor, to one of the largest audiences that ever filled the Coliseum, Senator Hiram Johnson of California pounded home argument after argument against the League of Nations until the vast assemblage was brought to its feet cheering-time and again.

Speaking from the same platform where a week ago President Wilson hurled the epithet of "quitters" at his opponents, Senator Johnson termed the president a dictator who had "arrogated to himself the right to dispose of our blood through secrecy," and pictured the proposed covenants a patchwork of secret treaties entered into during the war.

Speaks to Indiana Audience.

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—Undenially the people of Indianapolis are concerned over the arguments for and against ratification of the League of Nations covenant. When President Wilson spoke here last Friday he contributed to that concern by assuring his audience that the high cost of living would be reduced through immediate acceptance of the covenant without reservations.

and praying, too, my friends, that when he reaches that state, the balmy breezes of the Pacific and the salubrious climate of California will soothe his perturbed spirit and assuage his anguished soul.

"Now, my friends, we will let him use denunciation and abuse. Thank God, the American cause I preach needs only the expression of the truth.

As to Contemptible Quitters.

"The other day at St. Louis, in a frenzy of anger, Mr. Wilson said, 'Let them show how they will prove that, having gone into an enterprise, they are not absolutely contemptible quitters if they do not see the game through.' What game, my friends? Your game? The game of the American people? Not at all.

"The American people play their game. They played it when they sent their sons abroad to the number of 2,000,000 and these boys valiantly upheld the traditions and honor of this country.

"That was the American people's game, but it is not the American people's game to safeguard the territorial acquisitions of England or of France or of Italy or of Japan. And that is the game that Mr. Wilson speaks of and that Mr. Wilson plays today.

"Now, the American people never have been quitters. They never have in any contest, either in their own behalf or in the behalf of humanity quit the game. They have ever seen it through. Mr. Wilson began his game at Paris, and let's see who quit in that game and who it was that forgot the American rule.

"You remember, just as I did, that he had certain celestial phrases, certain idealistic statements and certain specified principles upon which he went across the water to play his game, and, my friends, I might say to you something that we learned long, long ago in the West. In our unregenerated day, before we were as civilized as you are here in this great state, there was a saying that ripened into a proverb: 'Never sit in the other fellow's game.' The trouble with Mr. Wilson is that he has been sitting in the other fellow's game. And he got there just exactly what a man always gets who sits in another fellow's game.

Father's Little Joke.

I was absent from high school one day. The next day I asked my father, who loves a joke, to write an excuse for me. He did so, and in my hurry I forgot to look at it before handing it to my teacher. She took the note, read it, looked at me, and read it again. I began to feel that something was wrong. Finally she handed me the note. It read: "Please turn Betty over your checkered apron. She needs it."—Exchange.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Infalible Sign.

"There goes another married man!" said a girl in charge of a candy counter.

"How do you know?" asked the cashier.

"He used to buy a three-pound box of candy twice a week, and now he buys a half-pound once a month."

Trace of Independence.

"There's one thing I've got to say for the prodigal son," remarked Farmer Corutossal.

"What's that?"

"He had the grit to walk back home instead of telegraphin' for money."

vert permanently all of the city to his point of view. Senator Hiram Johnson of California, delivering his second address on his speaking campaign in behalf of the senate reservationists, obtained from his audience definitely expressed agreement when he declared: "If any single individual can be charged with the high cost of living, that man is Woodrow Wilson."

The senator devoted a large share of his speech to answering the president's charge that delay in ratification was sustaining the living cost.

"He taxes the two months that the league and treaty have been before the American people and senate with the high cost of living," Senator Johnson said. "But he conveniently forgets the eight months he spent abroad, secretly pledging our resources and our man power to European and Asiatic governments. The living cost in December and January last were substantially the same as they are today. But he had neither the time nor inclination to deal with the problem then.

"But now the president would frighten us into immediate ratification of a treaty which he has so long delayed."

Senator McCormick's Statement.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—FIFTY THOUSAND people fought for more than an hour last night to enter the Auditorium theater to hear Senators Johnson, Borah and McCormick reply to President Wilson's defense of the League of Nations.

Senator McCormick received cheers when he declared that while "the chief spokesman for America stood there at the peace conference," his gaze enraptured by the sight, Lloyd George sat down in the cockpit and wrote the League of Nations.

Senator Johnson declared that when the treaty finally did reach the senate it was found not to be a "document responding to the idealistic phrases and altruistic doctrines," but "an instrument that spends our treasure and our blood for the maintenance of the British empire and the Japanese empire."

Californian is Sarcastic.

"I have followed, just as you have doubtless followed," Mr. Johnson said, "the utterances of the president in his recent speaking tour. I read his opening sentence delivered at the city of Columbus when he said that he chafed at the confinement for so long a time at Washington. I felt, as I read that sentence, just as you doubtless feel, wholly sympathetic for his enforced idleness in the rigors of the White House.

"I felt, just as you doubtless felt, that the confinement in Washington, of which he complained, for a few days over a month had torn his soul and made his spirit rebel at the restraint put upon it. But I observed, my friends, that he is going to a state I am reasonably familiar with, and in which I was born, and I am hoping open covenants of peace openly arrived at. You and I echoed the sentiment. All America applauded. Who quit. Who was the quitter?"

"We indorsed vociferously the freedom of the seas and the British lion growled. Who quit?"

"He talked, my friends, of adequate guarantees given and that armaments would be reduced. No armaments were ended. None will be reduced, admittedly, under the League of Nations. Somebody quit upon the reduction of armaments.

"He spoke of a free, open minded, and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial states, and we all nodded in acquiescence. But there was nothing of that sort done. The American people didn't quit. Somebody else did.

Self-Determination Forgotten.

"He told us of the destruction of every arbitrary power that can separately and securely disturb the peace of the world. He never mentioned it again in Paris. The American people didn't quit. Somebody else did. He said, my friends, self-determination, self-determination for all the peoples of the world. He never mentioned it again in Paris. The American people didn't quit. Somebody else did.

"He said to us as he went abroad that no people can be forced to live under a sovereignty under which it does not wish to live. But Japan, with an immobile countenance, shook her head and the American people didn't quit, but somebody else quit."

Picking Pockets to Poison Mind.

Senator Borah declared the people's taxes during the last few years had been spent on propaganda dedicated to telling them how powerful the people in power have been.

"We have been picking our pockets," he said, "to poison our minds."

Senator Borah opened his speech by saying he would attempt to discuss the question as broadly as "a man can do who has a pigmy mind."

"Now, our honored president has said in his appeal at Columbus, O., that if you have not time to read the treaty for yourselves, that he feels that you are under obligation to take the view and construction of those who wrote the treaty," Senator Borah continued. "That, my friends, it seems to me, is open to legitimate objection. In the first place, there are no two men who helped to write the treaty that now agree as to what it means."

Noiselessly, but with all his might, the burglar tugged away at the dressing table drawer.

In vain. It refused to open. He tugged again.

"Give it another jerk," said a voice behind him.

The burglar turned. The owner of the house was sitting up in bed and looking at him with an expression of the deepest interest on his face.

"Jerk it again. There's a lot of valuable property in that drawer, but we haven't been able to open it since the damp weather began. If you can pull it out I'll give you a handsome royalty on everything that's—"

An Apology.

Without an apology, or the Williamsville (N. D.) item is a bona fide apology, or only the work of the office humorist, it has originality:

"We wish to apologize to Mrs. Orville Overholt. In our paper last week we had as a headline 'Mrs. Overholt's Big Feet.' The word we ought to have used is a French word, pronounced the same way, but spelled 'fete.' It means a celebration, and is considered a very tony word."

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.
For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advanced years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is enclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

Carland—The young son of a tenant on the farm of William Scott having seen his father burn stubble, put a match to a stack of rye straw near the barn, burning the stack, barn and $1,600 worth of hay and grain.

Coldwater—Declaring he was an apostle and ought to ride free, a man who was riding on a New York Central train was put off by Henry King, Branch Circuit Court stenographer, when the conductor was unable to handle him.

Caro—Kathryn Tappan, 13 years old, of Grand Rapids, was injured in an automobile accident near this city. The car in which she was riding was hit by another, throwing the first car into the ditch. Miss Tappan's right leg was broken.

fact a saving to the people of approximately 10 per cent, according to its author, Glenn E. Plumb, who addressed a mass meeting at the state armory here.

Detroit—The Plumb plan for railroad ownership and operation was characterized as the entering wedge of a well developed plan for the nationalization of commerce and industry in the United States—"practically a repetition of the soviet government in Russia," said L. C. Boyle, of Washington, D. C., general counsel for the National Retail Lumber Dealers' association, in an address here.

Albion—The three-story Singer & Son's furniture store, whose stock was damaged over $10,000 worth from water in a fire in the Eslow block, next door, Aug. 31, completely collapsed when a portion of the fourth-story wall of the Eslow building crashed over upon it. The roof, three floors and the large furniture stock fell through into the basement, leaving only the brick walls standing. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Singer and Paul Burns, in the building at the time, narrowly escaped by a rear door.

Benton Harbor—Abraham Getz, 66, Michigan's only leper, is dead, after three years of intense and pitiful suffering. The case has attracted wide attention, as the victim tried to conceal his affliction. That he was not allowed to spread the contagion was due to prompt action on the part of Dr. E. R. Taylor, now city health officer, who discovered the case two years ago while serving on the draft exemption board. Getz came to ask exemption for one of his sons, and Dr. Taylor noted his condition.

Paw Paw—Ralph Dobson, Hamilton Township farmer, drove his horse and buggy over an embankment into eight feet of water in the river, but succeeded in saving his wife and two small children. The accident happened at a point where a bridge had been removed by a dredge crew.

Three Rivers—The savings of a life time were lost when fire destroyed the home of John Cunkle. The family had only recently paid the last installment on the house. George Jackson, fire chief, has filed a complaint with the city commission, charging the telephone company with failure to notify the department promptly.

Mt. Clemens—A bill authorizing the Secretary of War to donate two field pieces, captured by the American Army from the Germans, to Mt. Clemens, has been introduced by Rep. Louis C. Cramton. The bill orders that if the German guns can not be obtained, the town be given two cannon which were used by the Yanks.

Albion—Willie Hartman, 13 years old, wrote a note saying he was going away to "start life all over again," left it where his sister, with whom he lived, would read it, and disappeared. A few days later he was caught by the police for the third time. He was robbing the bakery of E. M. Mounteer. Under pressure, he admitted that he was leader of a "robber band," and led officers to the hiding place of an imposing pile of loot.

Reasonable Prices In Pinckney

With prices for all living commodities climbing higher and still higher, sometimes dissatisfaction is heard regarding prices here.

The Dispatch has investigated the question whether or not prices are higher here than elsewhere, and the result is decidedly in favor of Pinckney.

Nearly every Saturday people come here from Howell and other nearby towns to buy goods. They are careful buyers and economical in making a dollar go as far as possible these days of top prices. There's a reason why these people do a large percentage of their trading here, and you don't have to be an extra good guesser to give the right answer to the conundrum.

This week a gentleman who does a great deal of buying for a large public State institution was in Pinckney. In his position it is necessary to know prices and values thoroughly as he daily buys quantities of goods of all kinds.

This man informed this paper that prices for household necessities average considerably lower than the same class of goods can be bought for in nearby towns.

A careful comparison of qualities and prices will convince you that it is a waste of gasoline and time to visit other towns expecting to get better prices than at home for equally goods.

There are times when one article may cost less, but for your week's provisions—one week with another—we are convinced your money will go considerably farther in Pinckney.

JOKE ON CONFIDENCE MAN

Transaction That at First Glance Looked Like a Good Thing Didn't Pay Expected Dividends.

A simple-faced youth shambled along, carrying in his hand a packet which was sealed and addressed, with an inscription in the corner to the effect that it contained $100. Struck with the sheepish look of the man, a passer-by asked him what he was looking for. By way of reply the countryman held out the packet and requested him to read the address, as he had forgotten it, and was unable to read himself.

In a tone of pleasurable surprise the other replied:

"By Jove, the parcel is for me! I have been expecting it ever so long!"

The messenger appeared satisfied at having accomplished his mission, and added that he wanted half a dollar for his trouble, which was paid on the spot.

The new owner of the parcel at once retired to a dark corner to examine his treasure; he found nothing but a couple of sheets of printed paper, and in the middle a white label with the single word—"Sold."

Was Wrong Kind of Flour.

Baking foot powder, Canadian army cooks made it into pastry of all kinds. The cooks at a camp in France lately had a sudden windfall in the shape of an unexpected ton of white flour. They worked that flour for all it was worth. Some of it went into bread, more of it went into pies. And when these appeared for use the reputation of the cooks was made. But before even a sample could be taken an angry officer stormed the camp kitchen to demand the life blood of the men who had laid illicit hands on a ton of foot powder for which he had successfully Youth Likely to Have Hard Time Explaining to Fiancee the Facts About That Food Slogan.

"The action of the authorities in stamping encouragements to thrift and saving on the outside of the letters sent through the mails," said Victor Johnson, a young Australian wool merchant, in an interview at Washington, "though highly laudible, may have sometimes regrettable consequences. I can cite one from my own experience. A friend of mine, an impressionable young man, was very much in love with a lady to whom he addressed a letter full of poetic feeling. To his great surprise it was returned to him unopened by the lady, who, I may remark, weighs a respectable number of pounds avoirdupois, with a note that she did not like personal references on the outside of her correspondence. The young man, greatly puzzled, regarded the letter, which he had taken care to inscribe on the very finest stationery procurable, and found stamped across it in glaring letters 'EAT LESS. Food will win the war.' This the lady had regarded as a personal reproach and had indignantly returned the letter."

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

CANNOT BE CURED

Local applications, as they cannot reach the mucous surfaces of the ear, here is one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and it is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rattling sound in your ear, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c.

BOSTON POLICE ARE LOCKED OUT

PROPOSAL OF MEN TO GO BACK TO WORK TURNED DOWN BY AUTHORITIES.

NEW FORCE TO BE RECRUITED

Entire Militia of Massachusetts, Over 6,000 Men, Were Called Out to Maintain Order.

Boston—Police Commissioner Curtis shut the doors of the police department in the face of the striking policemen by announcing that he would not reinstate the men who had abandoned their posts. He made it known that he would proceed at once to build up a new force.

Governor Coolidge and Attorney General Bruce Wyman supported the stand taken by the commissioner.

The commissioner's action followed the strikers' acceptance of the suggestion of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, that they return to work without demanding immediate union recognition, but without relinquishing any of their claims.

Guardsmen Patrol City.

Boston—With Governor Coolidge as commander in chief of the state's forces, in complete charge of the situation, the city last Friday took on a war-like appearance. Machine guns were mounted at police headquarters and troopers, wearing "tin hats" by order of Adjutant-General Stevens, patrolled the streets. The order followed injury to several soldiers by flying missiles.

The entire militia of the state of Massachusetts, about 6,000 men, were called out when the policemen struck. Several hundred civilians were also meanwhile, snipers, supple-

tion by means of their own barricaded the windows of their places of business, as if to withstand a siege. Boards were nailed in front of the glass to protect it from hands of hoodlums who have been roaming the streets.

A fight to the finish between the constituted authorities of state and city and the labor unions was indicated by developments in the strike. While Governor Coolidge was exercising his authority as commander-in-chief of the state forces, Mayor Peters was making it plain to labor leaders who visited city hall that the policeman's union would not be recognized.

The labor men were firm in their insistence that the police be permitted to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor and offered to guarantee that the police never would be called out on a sympathetic strike.

The strike of policemen was called by the policeman's union, Sept. 9, to compel recognition of their organization.

KILL ARMY BILL---CHAMBERLAIN

cratic Ever Proposed.

WASHINGTON—The administration army re-organization bill proposing a regular force of 500,000 men as "militarism run mad," Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, Oregon, has submitted to the senate military committee, of which he formerly was chairman, an "analytical and explanatory statement" proposing that the measure be rejected entirely and congress prepare a new bill.

The bill is denounced as a "preposterous scheme," which "spells one man dominance, staff despotism and militarism to a degree never surpassed in the palmiest days of the great general staff of the German army."

The spirit shown by the framers of the act, he charges, throughout is one of "consuming desire for despotic, unrestricted power—militarism run mad."

It will be one of a chain of five stores similarly operated. The others are located at Columbia and St. Paul government's determination to give the public easier access to its vast surplus stores. Business will be done on a cash and carry basis. BIG FIRE SWEEPS LONG ISLAND

Standard Oil Co. Plant Destroyed; Loss Runs Into Millions.

New York—Fire, which was fanned by a strong easterly wind completely destroyed the big plant of the Standard Oil company at Greenfield, Long Island, causing millions of dollars in damage. The fire was spread 42 engine companies and two fire boats looked like a scene in war devastated France or Belgium. Tanks were crumpled up; huge steel girders lay in tangled mass, few walls were left standing, and burning oil continued to flow along the surface of Newton creek.

A fleet of 10 fireboats pumped torrents of water from Newton Creek. Several dozen tanks, which contain from 50,000 to 70,000 gallons each of crude oil, benzine, gasoline and naphtha, near the blaze were drenched in an effort to prevent the fire spreading.

JUDGE DIES IN LAKE MICHIGAN

Chicago Jurist Drowns While Wife and Son Look On, Helpless.

Muskegon, Mich.—Thrown from his motor launch into a heavy sea when the rapidly revolving fly wheel caught his trouser leg, Judge of the Superior Court Henry Guerin, of Chicago, drowned before the eyes of his wife and son in the storm-swept waters of Lake Michigan, Thursday of last week, after making a futile attempt to swim against the terrific undertow which has been prevalent on this side of the big lake.

The strain on the engine, when Judge Guerin was thrown from the boat, stalled it and it was impossible for his wife to steer the wildly tossing craft towards her drowning husband.

Judge Guerin had been spending several weeks at his cottage at Sylvan beach.

Joseph Hergeshelmer was talking at the Authors' club in New York about the copyright law, which deprives a writer and his heirs of any remuneration from his work 58 years after its copyright.

"We authors," said Mr. Hergeshelmer, "have little to fear from the bolsheviks. Our work has always been treated as under bolshevik regime."

"But, then, literary artists," added the talented writer whimsically, "have the consolation that their work lives after them. Look at Rubens! He painted a thousand pictures, yet there are something like four thousand in existence today!"

Disappearing Service.

"No," said the commuter. "I'm not making any complaints about the road."

"Then you are satisfied?" "I won't say that. But the last time I complained about my trip they took that train off the next day."

INSISTED ON QUICK ACTION

This Father About as Sensible as Many Who Expect Wonders From Correspondence School.

Henry P. Davison was talking about the numerous correspondence courses to become a Napoleon of finance:

"You can't learn to be a Napoleon of finance or anything else so easily," he said. "These courses remind me of the man who brought his son to the school of mines and growled:

"I want you to learn, this here boy to be an expert minin' engineer, but look a-her—I don't want him to waste his time over a lot of book nonsense about strata and denudations, and don't bother him with mineralogy and crystals, neither. What I want him to learn is how to find gold and silver and copper in payin' quantities—payin' quantities, mind you—and I'll call for him and put him to work Monday a week."

Objected to "Parking."

My laundress' young son brings my laundry home in his little wagon, writes a correspondent. The other evening he had his little baby sister along, and left her sitting in the wagon while he brought the basket in the house.

The baby started to cry and I said: "What's the matter with her?"

"Oh, she wants to come with me; she never does stand for being parked," he replied.

SATAN WOULD KEEP HIM BUSY

Father of Evil Well Knew the Value of Spreader of False Rumors Among Peoples of the Earth.

Imagine this scene to be at the iron gates of Sheol. Over the entrance you see the horrible sentence: "Lasciate ogni speranza—" or whatever it was that Dante said when he meant there were no excursion tickets to be had. And as soon as you are past the portentous portals, imagine that Satan himself greets the party, as follows:

"Well, what's this bunch?"
"We," says the spokesman, "are a company of rumor-spreaders. These other fellows simply pass the rumors along, not knowing where they come from. But I'm the one that starts 'em."

"Fine," says the father of infamy. "Leave the party to me, but you go back for another load. I believe in encouraging merit."

Boy's Few Years Busy Ones.

The crowded life of a boy who at the age of twelve could neither read nor write and was placed in a special school for backward boys was told by Councillor Black at a meeting of the Brighton (Eng.) Education committee recently. The boy, whose name is Munnery, turned out to be one of the first boys in the practical class, and on leaving school at fourteen he joined the training ship Arctusa. Here he became the champion swimmer in the ship, and was next professional boxer in the Impregnable. In August, 1914, he was sent to a submarine tender, transferred to the Glory, and went through the fighting at Gallipoli. He has been on continuous crowding of events and not by years Munnery's record would be hard to beat.

Worse Than Pulling Teeth.

Wild and disheveled, watery of eye, and trembling of limb, he burst into the dentist's consulting room and addressed the molar merchant in gasping tones:

"Do you give gas here?"
"Yes," replied the dentist.
"Does it put a man to sleep?"
"Of course."
"You could break his jaw or black his eye without him feeling it?"
"My dear sir, of course."
"It lasts about half a minute, doesn't it?"

"Yes."
With a wild whoop of joy and relief the excited man threw off his coat and waistcoat.

"Now," he yelled, as he tugged at his shirt, "get your gas engine ready. I want you to pull a porous-plaster off my back."—Tit-Bits.

Queen Saw a Difference.

Queen Victoria, as a young girl, was betrothed to the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, who later became King of Belgium. Queen Victoria was queen of England. Politicians of the two countries cherished an illusory hope of strengthening by dint of a secret political entente, the now discredited principle of the balance of power in Europe. Queen Victoria was indeed, by way of calling the newly devised machinery, to pay a six days' visit to the French court. It was her first visit to the continent of Europe, and the brief experience drew from her the naive comment: "Everything is very different to England, particularly the population."

The Adventure of Youth.

All the amazing science of war flying is in the hands of boys and youths. Rarely is a successful airman found who has reached the age of forty. Lieutenant Colonel Piccio of Italy, with a score of 17 airplanes brought down to date, is the only ace in the world who has reached this age. On the other hand, fully a score of celebrated fighting aces are under twenty. It is a young man's game and by the experience and invention of these young men will this important arm of warfare evolve and become perfected.

Had Forgotten the Art.

James had just started kindergarten. One evening he came rushing home with a sheet of paper containing his first attempt at penmanship and asked his mother to read it for him. She looked at the illegible writing and said, "James, I'm afraid I can't read that for you," whereupon James assumed a dignified air and said: "Oh, that's right. It's been such a long time since you went to school. No wonder you can't read it."
