SUPERVISION TRANSFERRED

The village authorities have been notified that Main Street in Pinckney, which is part of the trunk line from Detroit to Leck, will hereafter be taken care of by the County Road Commission. This will be welcome news to Pinckney, for the expense will be no longer paid by this village.

Among other improvements projected in the hollow west of Dirty Hill will be widened and a substantial railbed placed along the road.

THE FOWLerville FAIR

Are you going to the Fowlerville Fair? Sure. Everybody goes every year, rain or shine.

Ever progressive and on the lookout for new attractions, the Fowlerville Fair Association will keep up the record of having of the most popular fair in this section.

Tradition says that at one time in the dim past a lad left his home because he was not allowed to attend the Fowlerville Fair. Well, nobody blamed the lad and when he returned to the old home many years later, well-to-do in this world's goods, he made a rule that his children should be allowed to go to the great and only Fowlerville Fair.

CENTRALIZED SCHOOL SYSTEM

The people of Unadilla Township are much interested in the centralized school system. They have engaged Mr. Rockwell of Lansing to speak on this subject at Unadilla Thursday evening, Sept. 25 and at Gregory Sept. 26. Ladies are especially invited to be present.

SUDDEN DEATH

Just before going to press word is received of the sudden death of Mr. Ed. Sprout who retired to bed apparently as well as usual Wednesday night but was found dead in bed the morning.

SCHOOL NOTES

Pinckney goes to Lansing Saturday to battle the state champions. The Pinckney boys have been out in suits every night for three weeks and are in good condition. J. P. Doyle says he has a surprise in store for the Lansing team. Sport writers from the capital classed Pinckney as one of the best teams that invaded Lansing last year.

The Commercial Course under the supervision of Mrs. Doyle is proving very popular with High School students the number wishing to take Bookkeeping being so great it was necessary to divide the class.

Twenty-three students are classified in typewriting. Several others wished to take it but could not be accommodated.

Forty-five non-resident students are enrolled this year.

The Senior class numbers about eighteen. They have started the Senior spirit by ordering class pins. Watch the seniors this year.

Easy Money. A discharged soldier with his young wife recently went on a shopping tour in Washington. Ex-soldier, very tired and not having much interest in walking the aisles of a department store, sat himself down in the lobby and promised his wife to remain there until her return. Soon he was fast asleep. In a reclining position, with his hat in his hand, he was enjoying a quiet nap. When his wife returned she was shockingly surprised to see a dollar and a half in her husband's hat.

NOT MUCH TO WRITE ABOUT

Reporter Naturally Found It Hard to Make a Very Long Story Out of Happening.

The city editor of an Ohio paper said to a new reporter: "There's to be a meeting of the trustees."

The cub went away on his assignment, and the chief of the local department turned again to his desk, made entry in the assignment book that lay before him, and dismissed the cub from his mind. About eleven o'clock, however, he suddenly called

"Where's Tompkins?" "Here, sir," said the new reporter, stepping forward.

"I sent you to a board meeting at the public library. Where's your report?" "Quite finished yet. You told me to write 400 words of it, and I've written a little over 300 so far."

"What did they do?" "Nothing," called the roll and adjourned next Friday evening."

"Experience. Congratulations, Ysabelle! What a letter is this new one you've written! I admitted me with the leading unctious, strutted about the reception room with a dignified pomposity of a general, and then suddenly he came down to their produced and they began scratching themselves."

"Oh, you'll have to bear with Ritz. All the experience he has had as a butler was in the movies, where he butted for the width of the scene, and then was at ease until he got his cue again. But doesn't he do it beautifully while he lasts?"—Kansas City Star.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Jasper's Clay Man. Little Jasper Senter learned from the minister's sermon one Sunday that man was made of clay; so, after returning from church, he resolved to make him a man after his own fashion. The work proceeded in the clay bank back of the garden until his mother called Jasper to luncheon. He had completed all of the man save one leg. That afternoon Jasper and his mother, while walking along the street, met a man with one leg, walking with crutches. Jasper accosted him and grabbed his coat. "See here!" he said. "I thought I told you to stay there in the yard till I put that other leg on you."—Judge.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the

MERELY RED CLOTH TO HIM

Fact That It Was Cut From Country's Flag Meant Nothing to German Merchant.

It is a known fact that the average German will forget religion, civil laws, and even his patriotism, if they interfere with his chances to drive home a good bargain. The latest display of this tendency came during the preparations for the victory ball, which was given the Fourth of July in the Enlisted Men's club at Andernach. As no Fourth of July ball would be complete without "Uncle Sam," several "Y" girls set out to prepare a costume for the revered character. When it came to purchasing the red cloth for the stripes in the trousers, however, it seemed that their plans had could a sufficient quantity of the right colored material be purchased. Finally one German merchant announced that he had just what they wanted. Out of a closet at the rear of his shop he dug a large German flag. Quickly he cut all the red cloth from it, and sold the material to the girls with the air of one who had just accomplished a noble deed.—From the Watch on the Rhine.

One Exception. "Nobody will ever be the brighter or better for such a sour old fellow as Jim is." "I don't know about that. Glum husbands make merry widows."

GIGANTIC STEEL STRIKE STARTED

WORKERS IN TWO CLEVELAND SHOPS ARE FIRST TO WALK OUT.

EFFECT OF TIE-UP NATION WIDE

Both Sides Determined to Hold Out—Strikers Blame E. H. Gary—Riots in Pennsylvania.

Cleveland, O.—The national steel strike was launched here Sunday at midnight when two big mills ceased operations. All indications pointed to a strike of very large proportions.

Both Sides Determined.

Pittsburgh—The nation-wide strike in the steel industry finds both sides in the contest apparently prepared for the battle.

William Z. Foster, secretary of the national committee for organizing iron and steel workers, late Sunday sent a telegram to Governor Sproul protesting "unwarranted attacks" by the state police on the strength of the clashes between members of the constabulary and iron and steel workers and sympathizers at North Clairton and McKeesport.

It was expected that several hundred thousand men would heed the order to strike, although the estimates of the employers and union organizers varied.

National leaders of labor unions involved have long prepared for the strike in the event they could not make a settlement. They say they are prepared for a bitter battle and would not have gone into it if they were not sure they could sustain the struggle.

Large sums of money will be required to finance the strike. Confidence has been expressed that money will not be lacking.

Pittsburgh.—Labor leaders, after a series of conferences last week, sent a letter to President Wilson stating that the strike of steel workers, set for September 22, had to be called principally because of the uncompromising attitude of E. H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

The demands of the men are: Right to collective bargaining. Re-instatement of men discharged for union activities.

An eight-hour day. One day's rest in seven. Abolition of the 24-hour shift. Increase in wages sufficient to guarantee American standard of living.

Standard scales of wages in all trades and classifications of workers. Double rate of pay for all overtime, holiday and Sunday work.

Abolition of company unions. Abolition of physical examination of applicants for employment.

MINERS. ASK U. S. OWNERSHIP

Demand That Government Take Over

Cleveland, O.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America has developed its plan for the nationalization of coal mines, which includes purchase by the federal government of all private mines at their actual value as determined by federal appraisers and operation by the federal government with equal miner representation on the bodies administering the industry and fixing wages and conditions of employment.

Nationalization of coal mines in Canada also is proposed. The miners offer right of way to nationalization of railroads, provided the railroad brotherhood pledge themselves to continue the fight with equal vigor for the nationalization of mines.

DUCK HUNTER SHOTS WIFE

Hurried Shot At Fowl Fatal—Woman Instantly Killed.

Detroit—Aiming to bring down a last duck to equal the game his hunting partner, Woodward Lawson, 32 years old, accidentally shot and instantly killed his wife, in a marsh off Island Lake Sunday morning.

Mrs. Lawson had just espied a duck, and was pointing her finger at it, when her husband, taking hurried aim, shot in the direction of the game. His wife, who was in the immediate path of the shot, received the full discharge in the back of her head. Mrs. Lawson was 30 years old. She leaves an eight-year-old daughter.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 103 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Millions of people suffer year after year from ailments affecting practically every part of the body, never dreaming that their ill health can be traced directly to their stomach. Mr. Reuter Was Almost Helpless From Kidney Trouble, But Doan's Made Him Well.

"I was in terrible shape from kidney trouble," says D. Reuter, North St., West Chicago, Ill. "I couldn't stoop because of the awful pains in my back and the steady, dull misery almost drove me frantic. I had to be helped out of bed mornings, the pains across my kidneys were so bad and nobody knows the agony I went through. I couldn't do anything and was almost helpless; it seemed I would never get well. At times everything in front of me grew dark and I couldn't see for several minutes. I perspired profusely and I was thirsty all the time. The urine passed far too often and burned like scalding water. The passages were scanty and I had no control over them."

"For two years I suffered, trying medicine after medicine without relief. I was just about discouraged and didn't think I would ever be able to work again. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills I used them and four boxes cured me. My kidneys became normal, my back got well and strong and all the other troubles disappeared."

Good Reason for Leaving. "Have you had any experience in newspaper work?" said the editor of a large paper to an agitated little man who had applied for a job. "I should just think so. I was editor of the Middlesbury Mail until yesterday." "And what made you leave the paper?" "Well, it was like this: The chief of police down our way was supposed to be a dangerous man with a revolver, and so I tried to keep the right side of him. I wrote a paragraph about him, and said he was Middlesbury's greatest asset. The intelligent compositor, of course, left out the 'et' in 'asset,' and that is how it got into the paper."

MANKIND'S DEBT TO THE DOG

Possibly Few Realize How Much the "Nobler Animal" Owes to His Faithful Servitor.

We have been accustomed lately to think of dogs, as also most other things, in terms of war; but our debt to the dog dates back to very many centuries before the black year of 1914. Dogs are our oldest friends of the animal world, and it is believed that, since the time man began to domesticate them, they have made more rapid strides in intelligence than we have ourselves.

The day may dawn when we seek to preserve all living things through altruism, but that day is long distant. A writer in London Answers observes dogs have survived to the tune of over 175 different species, because they are useful. As shepherds, Scotch collies are cheaper and more effective than the average human being. Pointers and setters are used with the gun. Other varieties are employed as protectors and comrades; while the errands of mercy achieved by St. Bernards are known to the world. A St. Bernard that died a few years ago won a medal for saving twenty-two lives.

But when a dog ceases to be of use to us it falls on evil days. The original bull dog was invaluable to man in handling cattle. When fences were invented the bull dog began to decline, and the present day bull terrier, used as a pet, marks a phase that is very likely leading toward extinction.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

GRAIN INSPECTORS

East Lansing - The increasing demand for trained inspectors to grade grain on the basis of the Federal grades has caused the Michigan Agricultural College to start a special course for its students. This course will prepare men for work as licensed inspectors of Michigan grain.

The established government grades on wheat, corn, oats make necessary a large amount of inspection work, inasmuch as both the buyer and seller must be sure of the grade on all shipments to the terminal markets. The men who do this work are licensed by the government and must be thoroughly trained, and competent. The tendency is toward increasing use of the grade system in marketing all grains, and the newly established course at the college is an effort to meet the demand for experts.

The U. S. Bureau of Markets, Grain Standardization Division, urged the establishment of such grading courses at a meeting of state agricultural college farm crops men which was held in Chicago recently. Michigan has been a

RANK HIGH IN POLITENESS

Belgians Unable to Forget Courtesies Though Death in Appalling Form Was Imminent.

The Belgians are the most polite people in the world. Yesterday seven correspondents traveled to Audenarde. We were informed that we might cross the Escaut and proceed in the direction of Ghent. As our two motor cars came over the ridge before entering the town they were spotted by an eagle-eyed observer in the German lines, and as we reached the entrance of the town and left from our cars, preparing to enter on foot, a shell whizzed over our heads and exploded dully in a rain-soaked field 50 yards beyond the road. Another followed about the same distance short. Then they came so fast that I lost count. Gas shells they were, and we donned our masks and made for the cars.

The lieutenant in charge of our party bowed to the oldest correspondent and bade him enter the car. The latter, being Belgian, in turn bowing to his neighbor, mentioned him into the car. He demurred, and then followed some Alphonse and Gaston moving pictures until some one mentioned to me to enter the car. I did. Then they all piled in. And as we raced down the road two Thielts shells spitefully splattered along the muddy road.

An abundance of good amethysts are found in the mountain region of the western United States. The best am-

NAPOLEON'S MAXIMS

Rules Laid Down by Great Were Followed Almost Literally by General Foch.

Napoleon was a prolific war maxim maker. His maxims number more than a hundred. Many of them are as true today as when they were made, observes London Answers.

"In war," said Napoleon, "there is never more than one favorable moment. The great art is to seize it and use it well."

Foch seized the "favorable moment," and in a month not only saved the situation, but turned the tables on the enemy. He "concentrated his troops and acted with energy," as Napoleon laid down.

Commonsense—the application of wisdom to circumstances—is Foch's maxim, as it was Napoleon's. Napoleon has written: "Plans may be modified ad infinitum according to circumstances, the genius of the general, the character of the troops, and the features of the country."

Napoleon insisted upon the study of past campaigns. "The science of strategy," he said, "is to be acquired by experience and studying the campaigns of all great captains."

Foch has been a lifelong student of military history. In the spring he was acting up to Napoleon's dictum—"the measure which is not profoundly meditated in all its details produces no result." When Foch was ready he "dared at the right moment." For 20 years past Foch has been "profoundly meditating" the details of the strategy which has given him such signal success.

East Lansing - An increase of more than $50 an acre in the value of wheat crops has been secured by the use of lime and complete fertilizers in soil fertility tests made at the Michigan Agricultural College by M. M. McCool and G. M. Grantham of the college soils department.

The following report is sent out by Dr. McCool at the finish of his test:

"On untreated sandy soil we obtained $14.55 per acre from the wheat crop. On soil where lime was used the acre value was $21.11 above the cost of treatment. Where lime and complete fertilizers were added, the acre value was $36.00 above the cost of the lime and fertilizer. The fertilizer consisted of one hundred pounds of nitrate of soda, one-half being applied at the time of seeding and the remainder in the spring as a top-dressing, two hundred and fifty pounds of acid phosphate and one hundred pounds of potash applied to the previous crop."

"BIG 5" PACKERS KILL COMPETITION

INDEPENDENT DEALERS TESTIFY THAT BARONS ARE FORCING THEM TO WALL

Witnesses Who Suffered By Alleged Unfair Practices of Big Packers Testify At Lansing.

Lansing.—Alleged efforts of the big meat packers to drive independent operators out of the various Michigan fields were revealed by witnesses in the state inquiry into profiteering, in session before Judge Howard West of the circuit court here.

Evidence given by men who had actually suffered from underselling and other methods of business, claimed to be unfair by the Chicago corporations, was designed to prove that these efforts had, in most cases, been entirely successful.

The "Big Five" tactics followed, according to the testimony, two clearly defined lines. The first was the cutting of prices in the wholesale market to a point where the independents found it impossible to follow and continue in business, and the other was the flooding of specified markets in advance of expected shipments of beef and other meats by the local dealers with the intention of preventing the disposals of stocks by the latter.

The impression gained from the recital of these facts was that such independent competition as exists now in the Michigan field is there on sufferance; that it could be wiped out of existence almost overnight by the use of the weapons said to have been used in the past by the Chicago pack-

Michigan—A. H. Grogan, 41 years old, residing between Hudson and found dead in a field on his farm when his wife went in search of him. A bull which had been showing signs of temper had evidently attacked him. His body was badly mutilated.

Three Rivers—The savings of a life-time were lost when fire destroyed the home of John Cunkle. The family had only recently paid the last installment on the house. George Jackson, fire chief, has filed a complaint with the city commission, charging the telephone company with failure to notify the department promptly.

Detroit—Detroit packers, who have been the principal witnesses at Justice William M. Heston's grand jury inquiry into food prices several days, have testified in substance, according to Assistant Prosecutor Allan P. Cox, that 14 cents to 17 cents a pound is the price being paid for beef generally by Detroit market men.

Kalamazoo—By scaling down the property investment account of the railroads from 20 billions of dollars to 10 or 12 billions, the Plumb plan for the rationalization of lines would effect a saving to the people of approximately $600,000,000 a year," according to its author, Glenn E. Plumb, who addressed a mass meeting at the state armory here.

Detroit—The Plumb plan for railroad ownership and operation was characterized as the entering wedge of a well developed plan for the nationalization of commerce and industry in the United States—"practically a repetition of the soviet government in Russia," said L. C. Boyle, of Washington, D. C., general counsel for the National Retail Lumber Dealers' association, in an address here.

George Zimmer, of the Bay City Packing company, told of the gradual reduction of the territory covered by the operations of his business through the underselling of Swift & Co., Schwartzschild and Sulzberger (now Wilson & Co.) and Hammond, Standish & Co. The final blow came when the three big packers named all cut prices as much as six or seven cents a pound, and Zimmer threw up his hands in despair and retired from the field desired by the "Big Five," never to enter again.

Zimmer also told of the unfair, but effective, tactics of the same competitors in preventing him from buying in markets in which they were interested as purchasers. He had been buying hogs around Bay City for several years and had been practically unmolested by the "Big Five." One day, however, he ventured into the Detroit market as a buyer. To his consternation, by the time he had shipped his Detroit-bought hogs to Bay City and had slaughtered and dressed them and was ready to sell, the "Big Five" operators, he said, had flooded the Bay City market with hogs and had cut prices to such a point that his hogs were compelled to sell at a price which was less than the price of the hogs he had bought in Detroit.

RATIFY TREATY, SAYS LANSING

Secretary Breaks Silence Following Accusation of Peace Party Member.

Watertown, N. Y.—"The treaty should be ratified without delay and without change," Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, declared here in the first public utterance made by him since the statement of William C. Bullitt before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in which it was alleged the Secretary of State, on May 19, in Paris, said that if the American people knew what was in the treaty they would defect it.

"In the Treaty of Peace," Mr. Lansing further said, "there is nothing which invades the sovereignty of this republic or which limits in any way the full existence of such sovereignty."

BLAME WILSON FOR FIUME ROW

Rome Paper Says Other Allies Are Willing to Give City to Italy.

Rome.—The Messagero says David Lloyd George, the British premier, M. Clemenceau, the French premier, and Signor Tittoni, the Italian foreign minister are in perfect accord over a definite solution of the Fiume question insuring the Italian nationality of the town and are only awaiting President Wilson's decision on the subject.

Part of Ferdinand's territory and All War Plunder Given to Allies.

Washington.—The summary of the Bulgarian treaty of peace cabled to the state department by the American peace commission at Paris shows the pact to follow the same general plan as the Austrian treaty.

Some of the outstanding points in the treaty are:

Bulgaria must reduce her army to 20,000 men, give up her navy, surrender all airships and pay in 37 years an indemnity of 2,250,000,000 francs.

Western Thrace must be ceded to the Allies and the western frontier is altered considerably to the advantage of Serbia.

All plunder taken in the war must be returned, and, as special compensation for the destruction of Serbian coal mines, Bulgaria must deliver 50,000 tons of coal annually to the Serb, Croat and Slovene states.

Many clauses, such as the League of Nations, labor, aerial navigation, penalties, prisoners of war and graves, except for the substitution of names, are identical with the Austrian Treaty.

GRAND BANK ROBBERS

Gang Who Held Up Grand Rapids Bank Caught in Detroit.

Detroit.—Identified by two witnesses of the hold-up of the Grandville avenue branch of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank in which about $5,500 in cash and Liberty Bonds was taken and a man killed last Friday morning, three of the four men implicated—Tofi Leon, alias Tom Leon, Ally Hamden and John Herhige, were arrested here and are said to have confessed.

The name and description of the fourth man in the gang was also furnished the police. All of the bandits have police records.

The men were arrested singly, largely on information furnished by James Bright, a porter in a Grand Rapids restaurant, who had overheard the plans for the robbery, it is said.

TEXAS STORM TOOK HEAVY TOLL

List of Dead, Still Incomplete, May Reach Five Hundred.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—Rapid growth of the death list resulting from the hurricane and tidal wave that swept Corpus Christi and nearby points a week ago Sunday caused the belief among the relief workers and local officials that the total dead would approximate 500.

Reconstruction of the city is temporarily in the background, civic leaders agree, but the 3,000 to 4,000 homeless are being cared for and in most cases provided with wearing apparel, as a majority lost all personal effects.

Parachute Saves Balloon Captive.

Manistique, Mich.—R. Sales, of this city, made an impromptu balloon ascension at the fair grounds when he became entangled in balloon ropes as it was leaving the ground. After dangling from a rope for some distance he managed to reach the parachute bar and came down with the woman performer. Sales escaped un-injured.

World's Altitude Record Broken.

Minneapolis, N. Y.—A new official world's altitude record was established here when Roland Rohfs, testing pilot for the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, climbed to a height of 34,000 feet—more than six miles—beating the previous world's official record of Adjt. Casale, of the French army, at Vallacoublay, last June, by 864 feet.

Twelve States Report Cheaper Food.

Washington.—Reports to the department of justice from 12 states indicate that the price committee began their work. From four states have come reports on wholesale prices indicating a decline of 2 to 5 per cent. Virtually no reductions in clothing prices have been noted.

School Election Vote Is Small.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Only 21 votes were cast at the school election to vote on the proposed $30,000 additional bond issue. Two negative votes were recorded. The total number of qualified school electors is more than 3,000. The additional bond issue was necessitated by the sharp advance in the cost of building materials and labor since the $110,000 additions were ordered.

Wireless Phone to Europe Soon.

New York.—Peter Cooper Hewett, inventor, predicts that America and Europe will soon be "connected" by wireless telephones. He states that installation of the wireless telephone connecting Europe and America depends only on the length of time required for private enterprise to settle arrangements and erect stations. This may take from two to five years, he said.

Search For Boats, Find Robbers Roost

Pontiac.—While searching for an illicit still, raiders stumbled on thousands of dollars worth of loot and four automobiles, on the farm of C. V. Lesman, Green Oak Township, Livingston County. The stolen goods were concealed all over the farm. One car was found under a pile of brush in a wood lot. An automobile body was discovered between two loads of hay. Two more were found in a barn rented from a neighbor.

Dice of Destiny

"IT'S PERJURY!"

Synopsis—Senor Antonio de la Guerra, a fine old Spaniard living on his ancestral estate on the American side of the Mexican border, is informed by his American lawyer, Dempton, that there is a technical error in his will. He thereupon signs a new will, without reading it. In the meantime his adorable granddaughter and heir, Senorita Teresa, is out on her rose-covered balcony, listening to American love-making from Billy Stanway, owner of the Painted Rock ranch. Teresa, going to join her grandfather, finds him gone, with the drawing room in disorder and blood on the floor. The American takes command of the situation. Senor Eduardo Ramon Torre, a hated kinsman of the De la Guerra, arrives. Stanway and the De la Guerra ranch hands return from vain pursuit of the bandits. The new will disinherits Teresa and makes Torre sole heir. Captain Juarez, nominally representing the bandits, appears and demands $20,000 ransom for De la Guerra. Torre, as heir, tries to assume control and demands that Teresa produce the ransom. Stanway detains Torre and Juarez and his men kidnap Dempton and bring him to the ranch. Stanway demands a confession from the lawyer.

CHAPTER VII.

A Rat in a Trap?

Eduardo Ramon Torre, lounging before one of the deep windows of the drawing room, smoked his cigarettes and hummed gay snatches of song, evidently quite happy, seemingly unaware of the presence of Gaucho Morales and a brother vaquero, who, on them. "I shall have Dempton's confession within twenty-four hours!"

Torre shook his head, smiling his inscrutable smile.

"I have a counter-offer to make," said Torre. "Teresa is to pay to Captain Juarez the money which he demands—twenty thousand dollars. Within twenty-four hours from the time that the money is paid her grandfather will walk into this drawing room unharmed."

"And if she refuses your offer?"

"Then, twenty-four hours after her refusal, her grandfather will be dead. Then I shall be the heir to the entire property. You will accuse me of having murdered him, and I shall deny. It will go to the courts. In the end I shall be cleared. You see, senor, times are fortunately turbulent along the border, and what has happened may so easily be laid at the door of the poor devils of insurgents. You can create suspicion, you can make trouble. But then there is the will, properly drawn and witnessed, and—there is something else!"

"And that?"

"Curiously, wondering how far Torre would go in showing his hand."

"There will be other witnesses of whom you do not guess yet—witnesses carefully selected, who will not be shaken in a point they make. And they will swear that Senor de la Guerra became very angry with his granddaughter upon the very day of his disappearance; that he quarreled openly with her; that he vowed he would disinherit her, and that he sent immediately for his lawyer to make the new will. Do you care, senor, to know what these witnesses will prove tion, senor. You do not guess how embarrassing. And I am very modestly asking merely twice my actual needs."

"True, there is more to gain by slitting the throat of my esteemed kinsman and inheriting the whole. You see, I don't mind speaking frankly, between friends."

"But, on the other hand, the danger of which you speak would be much greater—and I need the money now, not after the courts can have had time to huddle over the will for a year or two. So, senor, you have my offer. What do you say?"

"I say," cried Stanway hotly, "that you are a scoundrel, and I believe only so much of what you say as I judge wise. If Senor de la Guerra dies, why then you go to the hangman—provided Gaucho and his men allow you to go that far. You will save him to save your own neck. Do you absolutely refuse to accept my proposition?"

"Absolutely. I shall make better terms."

Stanway went to the door.

"There is going to be no more making of terms," he said briefly. "I shall talk to you henceforward as I'd talk to a rat in a trap!"

Torre sprang up swiftly, his face flushing darkly with a rush of angry blood.

"You shall see," he cried harshly, "that even a rat in a trap may have sharp teeth. You fool, it is I who will offer terms—or dictate—at my pleasure!"

He turned away with a short, ugly laugh. Stanway for the first time felt her grandfather's hatred of all Americans, had fallen in love with one of them; that she defied De la Guerra, and swore that she would marry—you!"

"Why!" gasped the rancher. "It's perjury!"

"Certainly." The smile merely deepened upon Torre's handsome face. "But let us think not of the legal morality of it but of the effect upon a jury. Who, when this point is made, will seem the one who would be desirous of the disappearance of the old gentleman?"

"Who then will appear in the light of the abductor? I leave it to you," busy over a new cigarette, "if the point will not hold."

Stanway's mouth hardened.

He saw that if Torre had made one mistake—if Dempton were in reality what he appeared, a weak tool—yet the young Spaniard had planned painstakingly elsewhere.

"You may mark a certain seeming discrepancy," went on the Spaniard. "I suppose the De la Guerra estate is worth a million. And I am asking only twenty thousand dollars to renounce all claim, free the old gentleman, go away and leave you, senor, to pay your court to the heiress!"

He laughed softly at Stanway's quick, angry frown, and continued swiftly:

"It is because I have very urgent need of ten thousand dollars. It would save me from an embarrassing position. For there was something in Torre's voice which told him that the man was making no idle threat.

CHAPTER VIII.

At Three O'clock.

The questions perplexing Stanway were these: "Is there a large force of men backing Torre and Juarez? Are they alone in the thing?" And there was only one way to answer them.

As the afternoon slipped by and dusk came down upon them, sweet and warm, through the groves of orange and olive trees, Teresa sent word to the men's quarters for all, excepting a half dozen of them, to come to the house.

TAKING HIM DOWN A PEG

Visitor's Comment on the Intelligence of His Host Verged on the Caustic.

Two old men, one a bachelor and the other a widower of many years' standing, have lived on small adjoining farms in the southern part of mediately put it to use by building a row shack on his land.

When the house was completed he asked his old friend and neighbor to come over to spend the night. After supper they sat by the fire and smoked and talked, and finally, when conversation began to lag, the visitor turned to his host and said:

"You say this home is all done and paid for?"

"Yes," was the short reply.

"And you planned it all yourself and hired the carpenters and everything?" the guest insisted.

"Why, yes, of course, I did. What's the matter with you?"

"Oh, nuthin' much," yawned the visitor. "Only if I was smart enough to buy a house and build it and then'd ast folks to come to see it, I'll be dum'd if I wouldn't know when it was time to say something about going to bed."—Indianapolis News.

Household Suggestion.

A Los Angeles woman says now that men have been taught to cook and keep house in the army, they should go ahead and cook and keep house indefinitely, leaving the women free to reform the world. Will the women agree, then, not to bring guests home to dinner without first calling up to find out whether there is enough food in the house to feed them?

Flattery and the Impossible.

"Don't fall for flattery, my son."
"Why not, father?"
"Because flattery makes you think you are better than you really are, and no man living can ever be that."

Those not coming in were to remain on guard over the corrals into which the saddle-horses had been herded, and to serve as sentinels along the border. The guard over Torre and Juarez was doubled; the two men were disarmed and assigned to couches upon the opposite side of the drawing-room.

Doors were fastened, windows locked, shutters drawn, and the hacienda was like an old fortress in time of siege.

"I do not anticipate an attack," Stanway smiled into Teresa's grave face. "Surely the insurgents are not looking for complications with this country. But we are taking no chances. It would take a whole regiment of them to trouble us here tonight."

"But are we doing right?" she whispered a little fearfully. "If we gave them the money—it is so small a part of papa grande's estate—he would be out of all danger. And as it is—"

"It is a bluff of Torre's, pure and simple," he told her. "If anything should happen to Senor de la Guerra, Torre and Juarez would not last fifteen minutes with your little army of retainers, senorita. They talk big both of them, but I am not afraid."

But when she had given him her hand and a wan smile by the way of "Buenas noches," he was not content until he himself had seen to the watchfulness of the men stationed here and there throughout the big house. And, by the way of final precaution, he saw that another man slept that night at Pedro's side, in front of the senorita's door, and that both men were armed.

He had not again gone to where Dempton fumed and worried in the library. It was his thought to leave the lawyer to chew upon the cud of suspicion his own parting words had given him, to make the night long and uneventful for him, so that his trembling little soul might have time for thought.

It was late when Teresa heeded his urging and went to her room. He left her at the foot of the stairs leading up to her chambers; saw Pedro preparing to spend the night at her doorway, and then went to his own room, decided to sleep until the stiller hours of the night came; then to superintendent in person the watch which was being kept throughout the house.

On his way to the wing of the build-

Juarez seemed to be asleep upon the couch. Half a dozen of Gaucho's vaqueros, all armed, were scattered about the room, their quick eyes showing how alert was the spirit within them. Torre, sitting at a table idly turning the leaves of an illustrated book of poems, rose quickly when Stanway came into the room and stepped to his side.

Torre makes threats which seem to mean an attack by bandits in the night.

SENATOR JOHNSON QUILTS PRESIDENT'S TRAIL AT DULUTH

California Solon Returns to Washington to Lead Anti-League Fight.

MAKES TWO SPEECHES IN MINNESOTA STATE

Announces the Conclusion of Trip Regardless of Telegrams From Senators Lodge and Knox Urges Him to Continue His Tour on Coast.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 20.—Senator Hiram Johnson announced at the conclusion of his speech here that he would not complete his speaking engagements in the West, but would return to Washington to lead the fight in the senate for the adoption of the amendment to the League of Nations covenant relative to the voting of the United States and England. He made the decision regardless of telegrams from Senator Lodge and Senator Knox urging him to continue on the coast and assuring him that they would champion his amendment.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 20.—As Senator Hiram Johnson's speaking campaign against unreserved ratification of the League of Nations covenant approaches its termination, it becomes evident that the Californian has definitely sounded the bugle of the middle West on the subject of ratification.

In his two addresses in Minnesota—in the morning at St. Paul before the state legislature sitting in joint session and at night here before an audience that packed the local armory—the attitude of those who heard him was positive, and apparently representative of that of the people of the state. And the mem-and the men and women again and again answered his attack upon the league and the peace treaty by getting on their feet and showing approval of his arguments.

The senator believes that the situation as he seems to have found it in Minnesota is similar to that in every other state he has visited. He is convinced, he says, that the people here are against ratification of the covenant and against its majority, although the way for the league two or three

Doing the Big Things.

Most people stand in awe of the big things of life. The great mass of mankind is satisfied if it can stand on speaking terms with genius. Only the few realize that genius is consecration to a task until it's mastered. The great inventions of the age are matters of discovery and patient experimentation. If they were "plain as day" everybody would be in the limelight. It's only when men have advanced beyond the recognized bounds that they come to the realms of great things. That brings them into undiscovered territory. There is where the new things are. If you are afraid to advance you just naturally fall into the ranks of the ordinary and the commonplace.

Two Minds in Accord.

NOT ABOVE CARRYING BUNDLE

Spirit Shown by New York Man May Explain Why He Has Become a Millionaire.

The following story, which suggests that some millionaires are no more "stuck up" than the rest of us, is printed in Forbes Magazine: A Broadway (New York city) street car conductor was about to forbid a man carrying a huge roll of carpet to enter his car—the bundle was so huge that the conductor feared it would block the aisle. The bearer of the burden, however, smiled at him so amiably and deposited his long parcel promptly at the far corner of the platform that the conductor hadn't the heart to remonstrate. This was at Thirty-third street, opposite a department store.
At Forty-second street the passenger shouldered his bundle and walked off.
He carried it to one of New York's newest skyscrapers and immediately proceeded to lay it upon the floor of one of the reception rooms there.

He was the owner of the skyscraper!
He was Irving T. Bush, millionaire creator of the famous Bush terminal, a veritable city within the city of Brooklyn, owner of a large shipyard and of other projects.

To friends who chaffed him, Mr.
Bush explained that the rug caught his fancy while in the store, and he particularly wished to have it laid down before a reception that was to be held at the Buyers' club (in the Bush building) that day. But as the store could not make immediate delivery, why, the only and the natural thing for him to do was to shoulder it himself. The spectacle of a millionaire lugging along such a burden in a street car and in the street did not strike this particular millionaire as in any way funny.
