

PINCKNEY DISPATCH

Vol. XXXVI

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday October 23, 1919

No. 42

OF INTEREST TO HUNTERS

Judging from the number of farmers who have bought "No Hunting" signs at the Signal office the past few weeks, hunters will have a hard time trying to find hunting grounds not protected by signs.

Many farmers have posted their farms against hunting to protect the fox squirrels and other game. They say the squirrels ate considerable corn for them a few years ago, but the law protected the animals. They couldn't kill them then and now they are going to see that no one else does. For the benefit of farmers who post their lands and hunters generally the following letter from Chief Deputy Warden D. R. Jones will be of interest:

"I herewith acknowledge receipt of yours to recent date, re status of a hunter found on lands posted against hunting, and I call your attention to Section 3 Act 275 of the Public Acts of 1911, as follows:

No man shall hunt with dog or firearms or in any other manner, in any public park or public game preserve, at any time. No person shall hunt with firearms or dog or in any other manner, on enclosed lands of another, or upon any farm lands or farm wood lots connected therewith when notices have been posted on such lands by the owner or lessee thereof forbidding hunting thereon.

This section makes hunting with firearms or dogs on posted lands a violation of the game law. The hunter also subjects himself to an action for trespass under the general laws of the State. Springport Signal.

RESOLUTIONS

Pinckney Chapter No. 44 of the Order of the Eastern Star tenters through the undersigned committee the following resolution:

Resolved: That we may hope that the influence of her life may lead us onward and upward till we meet her beyond the river where the surges cease to roll.

Resolved: That our chapter be draped in mourning for thirty days and that these resolutions be spread on the records of our chapter and that a copy be published in the village paper.

A SOLDIER-PREACHER

Commander O. W. Behrens, Lieutenant (jg) U. S. Navy, will give an address at the Community Entertainment next Thursday evening, October 30, the complete program of which is given on another page.

The Chaplain has just returned to civil life from three and one-half years in the navy and has had as thrilling an experience as it is possible to crowd into that length of time. He was with the Sixth Battle Squadron, composed of American and British vessels. Because of his ability to speak German he was made interpreter for the advance force that was sent out to bring back the German fleet when it was surrendered. The story of the surrender is a dramatic recital of one of the greatest events of the war.

Chaplain Behrens left the navy to become student pastor at the Michigan Agricultural College under the direction of four denominations: Baptist, Congregationalist, Methodist and Presbyterian.

The committee in charge deserves credit for securing the chaplain for the entertainment and for arranging an unusually good musical program, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections by local talent.

We the undersigned hereby agree to close our places of business every night for the Christmas season on December 16, 1919.

Co. Educational Rooms

The Board of Supervisors in session last week realized that we hadn't had an educational office for the last few years that was satisfactory to the public. They decided to bring the office from the basement to the supervisors' room and the adjoining office. The board being in session only two weeks in the year the educational office will be disturbed only for that brief time.

The rooms are appropriately decorated for school offices and will offer proper suggestions to teachers along this line. They are clean and nicely kept.

Patrons should remember that this office has been fitted up for you - this office is for you. Teachers, school boards and patrons should meet here and consult the Commissioner on ed-from nine to five and at any other time by appointment.

Yours for better schools,
Hugh G. Aldrich

THE SCHUBERT SEXTETTE

The first number of the Lyceum course was given in Pinckney Tuesday evening to a large audience.

Six young ladies comprise the Schubert Sextette, which was advertised as company of "young women who combine more novelty with genuine artistry than any other orchestra of like numbers ever dreamed of."

The young ladies gave a very pleasing entertainment to the eye. Many in the audience were disappointed in the the musical numbers on the program and also the readings. It is no more than just to the ladies to say that it is claimed in their behalf that one of the members "had a headache" and that the piano was not in tune with the voices and instruments.

EIGHT ESCAPE
FROM COUNTY JAIL

PRY HOLE THROUGH BRICK WALL AND CLIMB DOWN FOUR STORIES.

ONE HURT IN FALL, CAPTURED

Rope Snaps and Prisoner Hits Ground Two Stories Below,
Breaking Ankles.

Detroit—Eight prisoners, including several known to the police as desperate characters, escaped last Sunday night from the Wayne county jail by prying through the brick and stone wall, and climbing down four stories on a ladder made of roped quilts.

The prisoners picked the mortar from between the bricks and stones with pieces of hard wood ripped from their cots. They had been detained in the hospital ward on the fourth floor.

One of the prisoners has been captured. He is Edwin Fahney, held for federal authorities on a charge of violating the drug act. He was found at Beaubien and Mechanic streets, crawling on hands and knees, by Patrolman Martin Conklin, of First precinct station. At Receiving hospital, it was ascertained that both his ankles were broken. Fahney said the ladder broke when he was between the second and third stories.

Following are the men still at large:

Charles Allen, 27 years of age, held on a charge of robbery; arrested on Jefferson avenue with two pistols in his possession.

Harry Black, 29 years of age, Negro; arrested on robbery charge.

James Dolan, alias Mack, 20 years of age; sentenced Saturday by Judge was cut about the head and was badly bruised.

Saginaw—Henry Keuppers was backing towards the cash drawer in his meat market with a revolver against his back, ready to comply with request of robbers for the money in the place, when his wife unexpectedly appeared at the back door. She screamed. The robbers, two of them took flight and ran.

Kalkaska—The board of supervisors has ordered executions be given Sheriff Ed Rugg to serve on Mike Lehner, W. H. Boches and Sol Loeber, to collect shortages of $2,600 resulting when Charles Mahan, former treasurer, absconded two years ago. The trio were his bondsmen. The board then adjourned two weeks, to dig potatoes.

Pontiac—"I never have a chance to have any fun, anyway," was the reason given by Rosie Anderson, 15, of Rochester, Mich., when she was taken into custody on a charge of having been an aid to Harold Raymond, 17, when he placed stones on the railway tracks in the village to "see what would happen when the railroad engine came along."

Kalamazoo—A few weeks ago Davis John shipped a barrel of what was then sweet and legal cider to a friend in Northern Michigan. Freight delays gave the cider a decidedly illegal flavor and the man to whom it was sent, fearing legal entanglement, refused it. Growing more violent and lawless every day, the barrel and contents were returned to Kalamazoo.

Port Huron—Electors will have opportunity to pass on the proposed salary increase for city officials November 4, the commission having decided to submit matter. The new schedule calls for $4,500 for the mayor and $2,400 for each city commissioner. The mayor now receives $2,000 and commissioners $1,200 each. Proposal calls for amendment of city charter and would also give commission right to increase salaries of city clerk and other officials.

Detroit—Body of Arthur F. Brown, 44 years old, 1084 Garfield avenue, killed Friday by the accidental discharge of a friend's rifle while hunting near St. Ignace in the upper peninsula, was brought to Detroit Saturday. The name of his companion on the hunt has not been disclosed. Mr. Brown had been in the employ of the D. U. R. 25 years. He had been, successively, foreman, division superintendent, superintendent of employment and, finally, disciplinary officer.

was about to deliver the cash.

Charlotte—Through the Detroit police Frank Phillips, of Hamlin, has recovered his automobile. It is thought three men from the Michigan State Prison, working at the prison brickyard near Onondaga, escaped in the machine driving it to Detroit.

Monroe—Harry Blanchard, 26, of Highland Park pleaded guilty in circuit court to the charge of burglary of furs from the Lauer store here and was sentenced by Judge Root to the state prison at Jackson from 2 to 15 years. The court recommended the minimum sentence.

Bay City—The Board of Health has begun the examination for communicable diseases of employees of restaurants, hotels and cafeterias. It is the intention of the authorities to extend the examination to meat markets, groceries and other places where foodstuff is handled.

Holly—Searching for eggs in a barn by candle light proved a costly pastime for the 4-year-old son of E. D. Norton, of Holly. The lad set fire to a haymow, and the farm barns were destroyed. Every dollar's worth of hay and 100 was about to deliver the cash. Charlotte—Through the Detroit police Frank Phillips, of Hamlin, has recovered his automobile. It is thought three men from the Michigan State Prison, working at the prison brickyard near Onondaga, escaped in the machine driving it to Detroit.

Albion—Angered at the shooting down of signs, destruction of fences and other depredations by hunters, practically every farmer around Albion is closing his farm against hunting. The squirrel season has opened and many Albion men are in the woods, disregarding the farmers' warning, it is said.

Northville—While coming down the steep grade on the Seven Mile road Saturday, F. M. Mulvaney and wife, of Tecumseh, were seriously injured when their car turned turtle on the slippery pavement, and went into the ditch. Mrs. Mulvaney received a broken collar bone and Mr. Mulvaney was hurt internally.

Muskegon—An attempted hold-up on the Mona Lake road, near Muskegon, was frustrated when another automobile rounded a curve ahead and threw its headlights on the highwaymen. C. R. Walters and C. W. Jackson, both of Muskegon, had been forced to alight at the point of a revolver, but the sudden glare of light frightened away the bandits.

month after the coal strike goes into effect Nov. 1, Government experts estimate. Most of the country will feel the strike seriously long before a month expires, even with good weather. With cold weather two weeks will be the minimum before the public feels the strike.

Figures submitted to the Senate recently show a 10-day supply on hand for railroads. Other figures show a month's supply in reserve.

Because of unequal distribution, many sections will be hit within a week.

The most vigorous steps possible will be taken by the Government, if necessary, to prevent the suffering that cessation of bituminous coal production by the strike of 400,000 workmen would cause, it is predicted by persons whose sources of information are of the best and who are usually correct in their predictions. If the utmost efforts to avoid a strike are unavailing, they say, a Presidential decree, under the Food and Fuel Act, will be forthcoming, by which the Government will take over and operate the mines, protecting them and the workers with United States troops.

however. Every dollar's worth of hay and 100 tons of coal will be lost. The situation of bituminous coal production by the owners will be exhausted before this is resorted to. The threat will be made in time to give both sides a last chance, but if everything else fails, the President will sign the decree taking over the mines in the name of the Government.

TROOP GUARD REDUCED AT GARY

Removal of Over 500 Federal Soldiers Takes Place Recently.

Chicago.—That the military situation in Gary, Ind., is considered well in hand was indicated by the removal last week of more than 500 of the federal soldiers sent to that city recently when alleged radicals among the striking steel workers staged a monster parade and are said to have threatened to march on the steel mills and "drag non-striking workers" from the plants.

Now less than 800 soldiers are on duty in the strike zone.

The strikers' executive council are emphatic in their denial that the so-called "red" element is influential in their strike movement and are planning to appear before the military authorities and demand that names of alleged radicals among the strikers be made public.

A quantity of "tear bombs" has been ordered shipped to the troops remaining in Gary. These bombs have no permanent ill effect, it was pointed out, but the gas with which they are filled produces copious tears, temporarily blinding their victims. The bombs will be used in case of further disturbances.

by the senate foreign relations committee considering the Williams resolution authorizing the president to send troops.

Legion Members Eliminate Roosevelt.

Rochester, N. Y.—The surprising feature of the closing session of the American Legion state convention was the elimination of Theodore Roosevelt from the list of four delegates-at-large to the national convention, to be held in Minneapolis. Rev. Francis A. Kelly, of Rensselaer, was elected in his stead.

Germany to Float Another Loan.

Berlin—Germany will issue a 5 per cent premium loan to America of 5,000,000,000 marks, the interests on which will be payable only with the principal of redemption of the loan, it is announced. Inducements will be offered to purchasers of the issue in the form of bonuses and drawings with a number of prizes of 1,000,000 marks.

Eagle Boats to Hunt Flyers.

Washington—Two Eagle boats have been ordered by the navy department to be employed, it was stated. There is no intention of referring to the president any matter not absolutely requiring the exercise of his official powers.

"Uncle Joe" Against League of Nations

Washington—"Uncle Joe" Cannon is against the League of Nations and will not contribute to the propaganda of the League to Enforce Peace. Senator Lodge caused to be read in the senate a letter which "Uncle Joe" wrote to the League to Enforce Peace, refusing a request for a contribution for a campaign in behalf of the League of Nations.

Bulgaria Still Holds German Love.

Saloniki—Dispatches from Sofia say demonstrations favorable to the Germans took place recently at a moving picture theater in that city at which pictures of the signing of the Versailles Treaty were exhibited. The crowd was silent when the Allied delegates were shown in the Hall of Mirrors, but applauded vigorously when the German representatives appeared.

Kaltschmidt Now Seeks Freedom.

Leavenworth, Kans.—Albert Kaltschmidt, Detroit bomb plot leader sentenced by Judge Tuttle in Detroit, has filed a habeas corpus suit to obtain his release. He says he was sentenced to two years on one count and one on another and contends the sentences are void because federal law provides that a sentence must be for more than a year. Kaltschmidt is to be deported to Germany when released.

of Lenevieve Granger, when she shot and robbed a pedestrian.

Henry Davis, Negro, 34 years of age; held on a charge of breaking and entering.

Charles Foster, 30 years of age, breaking and entering.

Nikola Vitello, 23 years of age, charged with robbery of a Highland Park bank.

Robert White, 23 years of age, charged with grand larceny. White it is alleged, stole jewelry and clothing valued at about $3,000 from the Hotel Cadillac last August.

PRESIDENT SLOWLY RECOVERING

Operation Will Not Be Necessary to Reduce Swelling of the Glands.

Washington—President Wilson is recovering nicely. No operation will be necessary to relieve the swelling of the prostate gland which has complicated the case and the president is making slow but satisfactory progress toward recovery from his nervous exhaustion.

The program of complete rest from to be enforced, it was stated. There is no intention of referring to the president any matter not absolutely requiring the exercise of his official powers.

Dr. Grayson indicated he would not favor referring any bill to the president for signature at present, unless it was one on which he desired to exercise his veto power. Otherwise measures will be allowed to go upon the statute books at the expiration of the 10-day period provided by the constitution.

The prohibition enforcement bill now is awaiting presidential action. The impression prevailed that it would be allowed to become effective without Mr. Wilson's signature.

LUIKART CHILDREN HAVE BIG DAY

Take Auto Ride in Park and Enjoy All Kinds of Sweets and Dainties.

Chicago.—Sunday was a red-letter day for the Luikart babies, Shirley and Edna, who have practically recovered from the poison administered by their demented mother. Both showed so much improvement that Dr. Carter ordered up a big car and took them to Lincoln park refectory, where they indulged in ice cream and other dainties. After this, the two little girls danced for them.

Thousands of children were in the park and the word spread rapidly that the Luikart babies were in the refectory. Children were admitted until the great room was filled, except for the little semi-circle where the tiny dancers gave their entertainment.

Dempston's pale lips opened, but no words came forth. A little shiver ran through him.

"We have learned everything, Dempston," Stanway went on in his whispering voice. "Even to the hiding-place. There is the door." He pointed to the panel with the thumb-print upon it. "I think that we can send you to the penitentiary for a long time with very little trouble. Will you talk now, Dempston?"

Dempston hesitated, dental upon his lips, growing fear in his eyes.

"What do you want to know?" he asked in a shaking whisper. "I—Oh, my God! This has gone further already—"

"I want to know how many men are with Torre in this thing?"

"There—there is Juarez—and—and—"

"Don't be a fool as well as a coward, Dempston!" muttered Stanway. "You are such a petty little thief that nobody is going to want to prosecute you if you help us now. There is Torre and Juarez and you. Who else?"

"I—I don't know." Dempston licked his dry lips and swayed between Vidal and Mendez as though he were going to fall. "Oh, I was a fool—"

"Granted. But tell what you know while you have the chance. How many?"

"Seven, I think," chattered Dempston. "Seven besides Torre and Juarez. Five inside, two—outside with the horses."

"Outside?" queried Stanway.

rough-walled room some eight or ten feet square.

Across the room was a heavy barred door; in the center of the floor was a couch, and on the couch a man was lying upon his back, his hands clasped behind his head, a cigarette between his lips.

Stanway was in the room, noiseless in his stocking feet, Vidal at his side. Gaucho was entering when the men heard, turned quickly, and saw them. He sprang to his feet.

But the cry rising to his lips was choked back in his throat by the hard hands of the rancher. The struggle ended almost as soon as it began.

But some sound of the brief scuffle must have penetrated to the other side of the oak door. Before the rest of the vaqueros could crowd into the little room the door had been jerked open, a dark, bearded face showed at the crack.

There was a snarled curse, the door slammed shut, and there was the sound of other bars lifted across it upon the other side.

"Your axes!" shouted Stanway, leaping to one side to make room. "Vidal, you take one. Get it down, quick!"

But, even to the attack of the great arms of Vidal and another of the cowboys, the great thick door stood defiant as the swift seconds fled by. From the other side came the sound of quick, snapping voices, of scurrying feet, the sound of a cry which tingled through Stanway's blood and sent Vidal with redoubled vigor to the onslaught on the door.

At last the door fell. Stanway and Vidal, side by side, leaped through.

been. A glance showed that the room was empty of human occupants; a second glance found one man lying close to the wall, limp and inert, a red stain upon his breast.

Stanway ran to him, stooped, stood straight with a little grunt of satisfaction. It was not any one of the De la Guerra household.

"Shot accidentally by one of his fellows," he muttered. "Or else De la Guerra has got his hands on a revolver!"

A door at the far side of the room stood open; a candle still burned brightly upon a little stand. There had been no time lost in leaving.

"I hear men running yonder!" Vidal's big finger pointed through the open door. "Come, compadres!"

They ran with him, crowding together.

Again there was a hallway, this one far down under the main floor and so wide that three men might pass abreast through it. There came a sharp turn, the footsteps were louder, men were running toward them. And then, as several men shot into view:

"Stop!" cried Stanway, loudly, his hand knocking Vidal's weapon upward. "It is Gaucho and his men!"

"Where are they?" cried Gaucho, excitedly. "The master? The senorita? You did not find them?"

"You did not meet them?" in a sharp cry from the rancher.

"We met no one!" Gaucho answered, a look of wonder in his eyes.

"Then there is another door. They have fooled us. Come! They can't get out of the house."

They turned, rushing back toward the room they had just quitted. And at the instant Stanway plunged back quero whispered anxiously. "They have killed him!"

"And the senorita?" cried Gaucho. They ran about the room, seeking a sign of that other passageway which had led these men directly into the drawing room.

"We had better go back," commanded Stanway crisply, after a short search which showed nothing. "We can break down the door into the room where they are. Gaucho, Mentor, Vidal, you men stay here so that they cannot play hide-and-seek with us again."

"Pardon, senor. You are very kind. I already owe you much. But now I shall take care of these bandits."

It was the old Spaniard, Senor Don Antonio de la Guerra, his old-fashioned black coat faultlessly clean of a speck of dust, his fine white mustache curled nicely, his eyes glowing very brightly, for a moment gentle and full of gratitude as they rested upon the rancher, then very hard as they turned toward the ceiling.

His vaqueros cried out sharply at the sight of him standing there so unexpectedly in their midst. From him they looked to the slender form of the white-faced girl at the door of a little closet which De la Guerra had suddenly thrown open.

"You, senor!" cried Stanway, astounded. "Not hurt?"

"I, senor?" De la Guerra lifted one white hand, showing for a moment the revolver in it. "At your attack I seized this. One man I quieted. In the rush I got Teresa into the closet there. She, too, is unhurt. And now—"

Again his fine old face hardened, his eyes were burning black pools of merciless rage. He stepped across the room, set his hand to a spot which his thumb found readily, and a narrow door flew back, showing a stairway.

Chaucer.

His best tales run on like one of our inland rivers, sometimes hastening a little and turning upon themselves in eddies that dimple without retarding the current; sometimes loitering smoothly, while here and there a quiet thought, a tender feeling, a pleasant image, a golden-hearted verse, opens quietly like a water-lily, to float on the surface without breaking it into a ripple.

the story, sets out a pearl of every other word. . . . If character may be divined from words, he was a good man, genial, sincere, hearty, temperate of mind, . . . thoroughly humane, and friendly with God and man.—Lowell.

Daydreams.

Dreams will at times reveal to us how little we have forgotten; but the value of dreams as a key to remembrance is distorted and diminished by what seems their lack of selection. They blend the past with the present, or with sheer impossibility, in such a hopeless medley.

At their best our dreams seem fantasies, based upon the real yet wandering from it with erratic inconsequence, of which the possible meaning eludes us. And yet a dream sometimes will revive so much, with miracle as of resurrection. But it is in our daydreams, when reason still retains the controlling hand, that we most surely touch the past; and daydreams are the poetry of memory.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Never give a moment to complaint, but utilize the time that would otherwise be spent in this way in looking forward and actualizing the conditions you desire.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

SALADS AND SANDWICHES FOR VARIOUS OCCASIONS.

A sandwich is never out of season, for it is the substantial part of a meal at whatever time or place it is served.

If one desires a large quantity of filling for sandwiches, the following recipe will be a good one to follow. It may be easily divided. The dressing may be used on potato or other vegetable salads:

Cheese Sandwich Filling.—Mix together one cupful of sour cream, three eggs, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, a few grains of cayenne, one teaspoonful of mustard and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat all together in a double boiler until the eggs are broken; set over hot water and stir until it begins to thicken. Add three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, hot, to the cream mixture. When cooked until it coats the spoon, set aside to cool. Put one and one-half pounds of cheese, two green peppers and two sweet red peppers through a meat chopper. Mix together, and add enough of the dressing to make the mixture spread easily. Use on thin slices of bread.

Carrot and Nut Sandwiches.—Mix together one-half cupful each of ground carrots and nuts (peanuts, walnuts or pecans may be used). Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of olive oil, one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Mix thoroughly and spread on slices of buttered bread.

Pressed Egg and Ham Sandwiches.—Chop the six hard-cooked eggs, one green onion and one-half a green pepper. Mix with one-half teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of prepared border. To leave the trail which you followed south. The other five to do the work inside."

"And De la Guerra was never to be taken from the house?"

"No. It seemed safer this way."

"There was every hazard in it—"

"Simply because you happened to be at the rancho," returned Dempston with a little flash of bitterness. "Had there been only the senorita, it would have been easy to have worked on her love for her grandfather."

"And Torre?"

"Killed a man a month ago in San Antonio—is running away from the gallows. With the money he expected to make from this he could buy the silence of the one man who can identify him as the murderer. It was his only chance."

"Juarez?"

"Is actually a rebel captain. Torre was to give him his share. Then Torre was to have a commission in the rebel army. He looked to distinguished favors when the rebels fought their way into power. Now—"

"Now what?"

"Now, if he goes into Mexico the rebels will shoot him as a traitor. That was another chance he was taking. He was to give five thousand dol-

He was to give his life if he lied to them, if he tricked them or—if he failed. He could never get across the border without their spies finding him."

Then Gaucho returned with word that everything was ready. Vidal, at Stanway's command, bound Dempston securely once more, hand and foot, and tossed him to the bed as one might toss a sack of wheat. The men had kicked off their shoes and boots, and stood eager and expectant.

Stanway, his revolver in his right hand, pressed with the left thumb upon the spot in the paneling where another thumb had pressed.

There was a little click, and the panel slid back into the wall, showing a narrow doorway, a narrow passageway beyond. There were candles burning there, their steady flames casting a clear, yellow light.

"Each man keep three feet behind the man in front of him," whispered Stanway. "We must have room. Vidal, Gaucho, come just behind me."

He stepped through the door into the two-foot wide hallway which ran along inside the wall, its trend eastward and downward. There were no steps, but the slant led quickly under the foundations of the great adobe building.

Stanway passed the first candle set into a niche in the rough wood wall. Already he felt that he must be below the level of the floor when he came to the second candle. Here the flame was less steady, a little breath of air playing with it.

He turned a corner, the hallway opened up suddenly into a small,

There was another hall, wider than the first, shorter. At the end of the hall another door, studded with nails, barred upon the farther side.

Evidently there had been a second guard here, evidently in the next room were the prisoners.

"De la Guerra!" shouted Stanway. "Teresa!"

There was no answer, no sound.

"Smash in the door!" he yelled. "Quick! Gaucho, go upstairs. Tell them what has happened. Let them watch out. Order the first man who appears to be shot if he makes a move toward a gun or to escape. Run, Gaucho!"

Before Gaucho had turned to obey, before Stanway's echoing words sank into silence, there came from beyond the door an exclamation of terror, a sudden cry, and the reverberating crack of a revolver.

Then brief silence again for a moment which seemed long, and the blows of two axes, ripping and tearing at the oak planks of the door.

CHAPTER XII.

The Senor Again.

With splinters flying, shocked upon its heavy hinges, the great oak door was open. Stanway slipped through; Vidal, his deep chest panting from his herculean labor, ax still gripped in an enormous hand, came after him, his fellows crowding after them.

A large room this time, some thirty feet square, furnished well; blankets, scattered morsels of bread and meat, showing that here Torre's men had

For he heard Torre's voice shouting loudly just above his head where he had already judged the drawing room must be; he knew that through some other passageway the men they had thought to trap had made their way there, and he remembered that his own orders had been for one man only to watch over the bound Torre and Juarez.

"Nunez! Castro!" Torre was calling, his tones ringing out clear, the tones of command, calling for haste, for swift obedience. "There is one man here only. Kill him! Ah!"

There was the crack of a revolver, a cry, the sound of a body falling.

"Now!" and again Torre's voice rang triumphant. "Cut these damned ropes, Castro! You others free Juarez. Watch the doors. Guard the passageway. By the lord of hell, we'll win this game yet!"

"They are too many," panted a dis-senting voice. "We—"

"Coward and fool!" cried Torre's echoing voice. "Give me that gun. Now, listen. I have found where the De la Guerra banco is! It's just yonder in the old man's bedroom. It's full of gold, compaeros. And then—watch the doors, amigos! Then cross the border with our pockets full!"

There came answering shouts, the Torre's voice giving commands.

HISTORIC BERMUDAN CHURCH

St. Peter's Has Many Mementoes of Interest to Both Englishmen and Americans.

One of the most interesting churches to be found anywhere is old St. Peter's in Bermuda. It is in the old town of St. George's, and was built in 1713 on the same site as the first church, built in 1630. It is built of the native white limestone, as are all the buildings in the Bermudas, and it shows the marks of time. Everything in and about St. Peter's is intensely interesting. Its churchyard contains, among others, the grave of Hester Tucker, the "Nea" beloved of Thomas Moore, the poet, who was an official at St. George's at one time, and promptly fell in love with pretty Hester. Every square inch of the old church walls, inside, are covered with memorial tablets, many of them being the work of famous English sculptors. Not a few of the tablets perpetuate the memory of members of the English nobility, and it makes one realize what a scourge yellow fever and smallpox were before science got in its beneficent work, for allusions to smallpox and yellow fever being the cause of the deaths are very numerous. St. Peter's has a massive silver communion service presented by King William III of England, and a christening basin, the gift of Gov. William Browne of Salem, Mass., in 1788. The pieces presented by the king all have the insignia of the Order of the Garter.

Salzburg.

Salzburg lies on both sides of the Salzach river, hemmed in on either bank by precipitous mountains. A large fortress overlooks it on the south, from the summit of a perpendicular rock, against which the houses in that part of the city are built.

The streets are narrow and crooked, but the newer part contains many open squares adorned with handsome fountains. The variety of costume among the people is very interesting. The inhabitants of the salt district have a peculiar dress; the women wear round fur caps, with little wings of gauze at the side. I saw other women with beadresses of gold or silver filigree, something in shape like a Roman helmet, with a projection at the back of the head, a foot long.

The most interesting objects in Salzburg to us were the house of Mozart, in which the composer was born, and the monument lately erected to him.—Bayard Taylor.

Why Should He?—The World is His. "An Englishman comes into a drawing room as if he owned it. An American comes into a drawing room as if he didn't care a damn who owned it."—London Sketch.

then add a layer of chopped nuts, using one and one-half cupfuls, finely chopped. Finish with the rest of the egg mixture; pour over two tablespoonfuls of soup stock and place in a cool place until molded enough to slice.

And you who judge so harshly. Are you sure the stumbling-stone That tripped the feet of others Might not have bruised your own? Are you sure the sad-faced angel Who writes your errors down Will ascribe to you more honor Than him on whom you frown?

WHOLESOME GOOD THINGS

Frostings for various cakes have not been the usual thing during the months of sugar shortage. The following are two desirable frostings which may be covered and kept in a cool place for weeks and, by adding a bit of moisture or heating over water, will be ready for use:

Fondant.—This recipe has appeared before as candy foundation, but makes very satisfactory frosting. Use four cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water and one tablespoonful of glucose. Boil until until creamy. Put into a jar or bowl, cover with waxed paper and let stand until wanted. Take out what will be needed for icing, melt it over hot water, add flavoring, coloring or chocolate and spread on the cakes.

Another Frosting.—Use confectioners' sugar and milk or cream. To two cupfuls of sugar add a tablespoonful of cream, adding a few drops more until soft enough to spread. Try it on a small cake until of the right consistency; use what is needed and cover the rest, setting it in a cool place where it will not dry out. It will keep for three weeks or longer.

Bachelor's Buttons.—Rub together four tablespoonfuls of butter and ten tablespoonfuls of flour. Divide ten tablespoonfuls of sugar; stir five into the flour and the other five into two well-beaten eggs; flavor with anise and add to the flour mixture. Make into small walnut-sized balls, place on a buttered baking sheet and bake in a hot oven. Dip in fondant and sprinkle with nuts.

Sunshine Cake.—Take the whites of eight eggs and the yolks of six, one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, salt and vanilla. Beat the yolks until thick, add vanilla; beat the whites until foamy, then add the cream of tartar; finish beating, until stiff; add the sugar, a little at a time, then add yolks and fold in the flour. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

BURGLARY AND SHOOTING

With a gaping bullet hole just over his heart Allen Hart of Lyndon township staggered into the home of George Frazer Saturday night. An examination showed the bullet had glanced from one of the breast bones and passed from the body. It is not expected the results will be serious.

He claimed he had been making a call at the home of George Judson who formerly lived in Pinckney, but finding nobody at home, was on his return held up by bold, bad robbers. When the Judson family returned they discovered that someone had entered the house during their absence and several articles were missing including a revolver.

Hart's statements regarding the hold up are conflicting. At first he stated he was shot by robbers, afterwards admitting he might have shot himself accidentally. Rumors of disappointment in a love affair are rife.

He was twenty-five years old and has been in active army service abroad.

East Lansing, October 23.—That most Michigan farmers, in certain sections of the state at least, own their own automobiles is shown by the report of a farm census in Washtenaw County, which was issued recently by the extension division of the Michigan Agricultural College. Automobiles are owned on 1337 of the 1758 farms covered in the county canvas, or by practically three-fourths of the farmers.

These figures come as a distinct shock to those who have imagined that the cities own a corner on the automobile game, for it seems that their rural neighbors do a full share of riding these days.

On these 1758 farms, 61 trucks, and 82 tractors are owned. Most of the farmers are shown to own their own their own their own land, although there are 256 share croppers, 79 cash renters and 30 paid managers on the farms on the list.

While Washtenaw is listed as one of the wealthier counties of the state, and it is certain that a census in most of the other localities would not show so great a percentage of automombiles and farm improvements, the extension men of the college point out that the farmer is coming to be a full-fledged business man, and that in most cases he has the accessories that go with a business life.

ENGLAND MUST IN- CREASE WHEAT YIELDS

According to the editor of the United States Experiment Station Record,
Director Russell of the Rothamstead (England) experiment station says that "the English farmer's task in the future will be to increase his yield."
But he further states: "We must strengthen the straw, improve the tillering, regulate to some extent the development of grain and control the pests. Until these are all solved we cannot hope to get much further with increased wheat yields."

The interesting part of this is that so good an authority sees the necessity of still further increasing the English yields of wheat per acre. In this country, although we produce less than one-half the English yields per acre, some of our would-be agricultural economists tell us that we have solved our production problems, have even already given too much attention to production. So long as American farmers produce only about 14 bushels of wheat per acre while England produces for an average of ten years 32.8
bushels of wheat per acre, it is ridiculous to suppose that, while in competition with English farmers, we have no further production problems calling for solution. The great American agricultural problem is greater soil fertility and greater yields per acre.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR

SIX-YEAR-OLD or sixty-year-old, man or woman, will find in this fine, old family medicine a pure, pleasant, wholesome, safe and successful remedy for coughs and colds—particularly if taken promptly.

You wouldn't neglect a small fire that had started in your home, no matter how tiny the blaze, no matter how strong and big the house. It is just as foolish to neglect a cold, however slight.

Even if one has been so careless and unwise as to neglect a cold and it has hung on for weeks, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will give quick relief if none of the dangerous diseases like bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia or consumption (which a neglected cold often runs into) has gained a foothold.

Easy To Do The Right Thing

Be prepared. Keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in your home. You might need it some night when stores are closed and delays are dangerous. You can't tell. It has relieved spasmodic croup. Its action is prompt. It quickly overcomes coughs, colds, whooping cough, bronchial and la grippe coughs.

Mr. William F. Thomas, Summerville, Ga., writes: "I find your Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most efficient remedy for coughs, hoarseness, etc. I have used it with excellent results for several years. In addition to being so pleasant to take, I find it gives better satisfaction than other remedies I have tried. Yours for continued success in its manufacture."

"FIDDLE-FIT"

Keep Liver and Bowels Clean and Active with "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, sour, gassy stomach—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will have you feeling clear, rosy and as fit as a fiddle by morning. They work while you sleep.—Adv.

Electro-Therapeutical Brush.

A novel electro-therapeutical brush, instead of being connected to the usual battery, carries its own tiny generator. EXTREME CARE IS MOST ESSENTIAL FOR PRESERVATION OF POULTRY IN TRANSIT

Be Sure to Use Only Suitably Equipped Cars for Shipping Dressed Poultry. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Scrupulous care in pre-cooling a refrigerator car for shipping dressed poultry, always a matter of importance, is doubly so now, in the opinion of food-research experts. The greater necessity for care comes, in the first place, of the fact that there is a nation-wide ice shortage. The second important element is that, following the stress of war-time transportation, the refrigerator equipment of the country is in a run-down condition. The car should be carefully examined, the experts say, to see that it admits not even a pin point of light. Then it should be tested and, if it fall short of standard, there should be no hesitation about rejecting it and calling on the railroad agent for a car that will meet the requirements. Extreme care, the experts believe, is essential just now for the preservation of poultry in transit, and the chief of the department's food research laboratory has just issued the following definite information as to how satisfactory re-temperature is right for loading, a man provided with a thermometer should enter as quickly as possible by opening one side of one door, which should be tightly closed immediately. The man should stand midway between the doors holding the thermometer about 4 feet from the floor until the mercury has responded to the car temperature, which ordinarily is accomplished in from three to five minutes, depending on the quality of the thermometer. The temperature of the car at this point should not be above 34 degrees F. If it is more than 38 degrees at this point, it is dangerous to load the car for a haul requiring intensive refrigeration. Unless the shipper is willing to take chances on the condition in which his load will arrive at the market, he should communicate with the railroad agent and request a car which is able to refrigerate the dressed poultry properly.

"All refrigerator cars should be provided with a floor rack 4 inches in the clear, built of lengthwise stringers wise sials are nailed to the lengthwise stringers. They do not interfere with trucking the load into the car. They should extend across the doorway, since it is this part of the car which is hardest to refrigerate and where air circulation is most needed. All railroad owned refrigerators as rapidly as possible are being equipped with racks which are fastened to the side walls so that they can be turned back for cleaning."

TREES GROW BEST ON SLOPES

Roughest Areas on Farm Present Most Favorable Localities for Successful Growth.

(By W. J. MORRILL, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)

Trees, especially cone bearing trees, seem to prefer newly eroded soil. Steep slopes are exposed to comparatively rapid erosion and here trees do the best. Level ground indicates old soil, old in the sense that it was derived from rock, as a rule, longer ago than soil found on steep slopes. Old soil probably contains an excess of soluble salts, too much for best tree growth.

In the mountains one sees the steep occasional flat spot is likely to be bare of trees. The roughest areas on the farm present the most favorable localities for successful tree growing.

Popular Strawberry.

Everbearing strawberries are becoming most as common as spring bearing varieties. Progressive does well on most soils and fruits until the ground freezes.

Preparing Honey for Market.

After honey is removed from the hive it should be prepared carefully for market by proper cleaning of the sections, and especially by grading and packing in strict conformity with established grading rules.

Best Place for Manure.

Manure is often placed very near to the trunks of trees. This may not hurt the trees, but it is far better to have it put where the fine roots get the benefit.

Cut Out Old Canes.

Cut out all old canes of raspberries and thin the new ones now. Thorough cultivation about the plants will reduce the insects that are apt to work on the plants.

Shipping Comb Honey.

Comb honey that is to be sent to a distant market should be shipped before cold weather, since the combs become extremely fragile when cold.

Good Late Forage.

Millet is good late-sown forage substitute.

BREAKS YOUR COLD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" instantly relieves stuffiness and distress

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all gripe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness. "Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—Insist upon Pape's!—Adv.

Origin of "Tommy."

The English Tommy is no stranger. The custom was in England at one time to supply every British soldier with a small pocket manual. In it were entered the name, age, date of enlistment, the length of service, the wounds and the medals of honor of the individual soldier.

The war office in sending out forms for information used the hypothetical name "Tommy Atkins," just as we might have said "John Smith" in America. In this way "Tommy Atkins" came to designate the English soldier. It happened in the same way that "Jack Tar" came to designate any British sailor.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the "reat kidney, liver and bladder medicine."

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Plant That is Shunned.

One of the most interesting plants in the Atlantic states is the Virginia wild ginger. It is found in both the Virginias and as far south as Georgia. There are several other species in the Atlantic states as far south as Florida and northward to Connecticut. The plant grows in very hilly and wooded places, and is easily recognized by its kidney-shaped leaves and curious purple-brown flowers. These flowers grow one to a stem. No living thing will eat its bitter leaves and one rarely see the flower unless one hunts for it, for it hides itself out of sight if possible.

Serious Kidney Trouble Had Made Life Miserable, But Doan's Removed All the Trouble. Hasn't Suffered Since.

"I had such severe pains in my back," says Mrs. Albert Akroyd, 304 W. Indiana Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., "that they almost doubled me up. Many a day I could not do my housework and at every move it seemed as if my back would break in two. My feet and ankles swelled until I had to wear large-sized slippers and sometimes I couldn't stand up."

"I had dizzy spells and dreadful headaches and fiery flashes passed before my eyes. Had a heavy weight been resting on my head, the pain could not have been more distressing. The least noise startled me, I was so nervous. I couldn't control the kidney secretions and the pain in passage was awful."

"It began to look as though my case was beyond the reach of medicine until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box benefited me and four boxes cured all the troubles. I have had no further cause for complaint."

BILIOUSNESS

Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people who are bilious are treated according to local symptoms they seldom get very much better. Whatever relief is obtained is usually temporary. Trace biliousness to its source and remove the cause and the chances are that the patient will remain strong and healthy.

Doctors say that more than 70 non-organic diseases can be traced to an acid stomach. Biliousness is one of them. Indigestion, heartburn, belching, sour stomach, bloating and gas are other signs of acid-stomach. EATONIC, the marvelous modern stomach remedy, brings quick relief from these stomach miseries which lead to a long train of ailments that make life miserable if not corrected.

WANTED TO SEE THAT PIG

"Animal" Had a Strange Fascination for the Thirsty Easterners of a Century Ago.

The present prohibition law is much more stringent than was the dry law of Massachusetts of 100 years ago, when the "Striped Pig" gained its fame. At that time the law read that liquor could not be secured, save in 15-gallon lots. That gave the "pig" its chance.

An enterprising resident attended the military muster on the Readville fair grounds, and established a side show. A banner before the tent flaunted the likeness of a red and black pig, which, a sign said, could be seen for four pence. Many men went in to see the strange animal, and returned many times. As the law did not prohibit the exhibitor from giving away liquor he gave each patron a generous large stock he had laid in. The "striped pig" became famous over night. Songs were written about the animal, a beverage was named after it, and a burlesque play in New York adopted the absurd title.

SHANTUNG AFFAIR SETTLED AT LAST

SENATE VOTES 55 TO 35 AGAINST AMENDMENT TO RESTORE PROVINCE TO CHINA.

DEMOCRATIC ORATORS ELATED

Republicans, However Say Result Has No Possible Bearing On Line-up For Ratification.

Washington.—The Shan-Tung Amendment, which provided that the Chinese province of Shan-Tung, taken from Germany by Japan, be restored to China, was defeated, by 55 to 35. Republican leaders said the result had no possible bearing on the line-up for ratification. They pointed out that many of the 14 Republicans announced they would demand reservations which would serve substantially the same purpose as amendments.

Democratic spokesmen were elated, especially for the reason, they said, that the vote was bigger than opponents of the treaty had expected.

Fourteen Republicans voted with the Democrats against it, while three Democrats voted for it.

Democrats—Gore, Reed, Walsh (Massachusetts)—3.

Against adoption: Republicans—Cott, Cummins, Hale, Kellogg, Kenyon, Keyes, Lenroot, McCumber, McNary, Smoot, Spencer, Sterling and Townsend—14.

The roll call, in reality swept away six amendments instead of one, each change in the treaty text having been numbered separately by the committee in its decision to strike out the word "Japan" and substitute the word "China" throughout the sections relating to the provision of Shan-Tung. By unanimous consent, however, the LESSON TEXT—Matt. 14:22-33. GOLDEN TEXT—I believe; help thou mine unbelief.—Mark 9:24. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Mark 4:24; 9:43; Luke 17:18-23.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Help in the storm. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus comes to the help of his disciples. INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Help when most needed. SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—An ever-present helper.

The storm-tossed disciples on the sea at night is an example of the struggling followers of the Lord in the darkness of the present age, as they are tossed by the tempests of the evil one.

I. The Disciples on the Storm-tossed Sea (vv. 22-24).

1. They were sent across the sea by Christ (v. 22). Doubtless his reason for this was to keep them from entanglement in the movements of the people to make him king, for in John 6:14, 15 it is shown that the people were so excited by the feeding of the five thousand that they were about to make him king by force. Though they were somewhat unwilling to go, it was a mercy for him to constrain them.

2. Christ dismissed the multitude (v. 22). This may be taken as typical of his rejection of the nation whose rulers had already rejected him.

3. Christ praying alone in the mountain (v. 28). Temptation to earthly honor and power had come to him, therefore he went to the Father in prayer for relief and strength. The need of prayer is greatest at such times. While his prayer was in part for himself, yet it was for his disciples.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism. Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes—Adv.

Why pay high prices for Liver and Bowel remedies when none are better than Dr. Carter's K. and B. tea, which is purely vegetable, can be brewed at home, and a small package will last a long time.

Thousands of old people will tell you they have been drinking it for years, and after the liver and bowels have been put in fine condition in a few days by a before bedtime cup, that only an occasional cup is afterwards necessary to keep one feeling fit and fine.

New York.—Delegates representing more than 40,000 striking longshoremen of the 53 locals in the New York council, international association of longshoremen, assembled at City hall, Sunday, Oct. 19, to meet the "conciliation committee," a committee composed of Mayor Hylan, James L. II. Jesus Walking on the Sea (vv. 25-27).

1. It was in the fourth watch of the night (v. 25). He did not come to them immediately, but waited till almost dawn. It was, however, the darkest part of the night, and physical danger was great, but their perplexity of mind was greater. They knew that the Lord had sent them, but why should they be in such straits if he sent them? A stormy sea is no evidence that we are not in the Lord's appointed way. The disciples' concern should be to obey the commands of the Lord, being assured that while doing his will he will protect them.

2. The disciples alarmed at his coming (v. 26). It was the coming of their best friend to deliver them from danger. He comes to us today in such ways that sometimes we are affrighted.

3. Jesus' words of comfort and good cheer (v. 27). In the midst of their distress they heard the Master's words, "Be of good cheer; it is I, be not afraid." This changed their fear into joy.

III. Peter's Venture and Failure (vv. 28-33).

voice of Jesus he cried, "And me come to thee on the water." Jesus said, "Come." Peter obeyed, and for a time he walked upon the waves without sinking. His simple faith linked him with divine power and he was upheld; but as soon as he took his eyes off his Lord and considered the raging sea he began to sink. If we will but keep our eyes on the Lord instead of the waves we can outride the storms of life.

When Peter began to sink, he did the sensible thing; he cried to the Lord for help. Jesus reached forth his hand and saved him. He has never lost one who honestly cried for help. When Jesus entered the ship the wind ceased. The people worshiped him as the Son of God. No ship can go down with Jesus on board.

Hath Not Where to Lay His Head. People are to be pitied who have no home. John Howard Payne in Paris, homeless and miserable, uttered the universal longing of the human heart when in a cold and dreary garret he wrote the words of "Home, Sweet Home." There are many people in the world who are driven from pillar to post, and who can say of no spot on earth, "This is my home." Think particularly of him who had come from his Father's House to this inhospitable earth and who said, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head."

These expressions of appreciation, at times, carried the enthusiastic audience to its feet and, at such times, President De Valera was compelled to stop and wait until the demonstrations of approval had subsided.

SCHOOL NOTES

The football game last week with Byron was an exceptionally good game. Pinckney was outweighed several pounds to the man but succeeded in turning in a victory with a score of 18-6. The home team is very light this year and must resort to brains rather than brawn in order to make ground against their heavy opponents. This week we meet Howell, a very heavy team which outweighs Pinckney 30 pounds to the man. Their goal line has not been crossed this year and they claim it never shall be, but the boys believe they can turn the trick. Howell is out to win this year to even up the severe defeat handed them last year by Pinckney. We do not hope to win from them this year but we do believe we can score on them.

The teachers report a fine county institute this year.

Not an absent mark was recorded in high school the second week in October. This is a fine record for the students and all should try to keep it up.

The following students were absent from the high room part of last week because of sickness: Bonita Ahrens, Hazel, Myrtle and Florence Gallup and Harlow Shehan.

Erma Read spent Saturday in Lansing. Harold Doody and Mary Cain have been absent the past week.

The fifth grade have finished the study of South America.

Floyd Campbell spent last Sunday with his father in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Crotty visited school one day last week.

On account of the delay in getting the drawing books the drawing classes in the intermediate rooms have just begun their drawing lessons.

Freda Breda was absent last Wednesday.

Dwight Cain entered school last week. We now have eight boys and one girl in the horticulture class.

Good Corn Crop Evens 1917 Loss

East Lansing, Oct. 13. The splendid corn crop of the present season will go a long way toward balancing up for the disastrous fall of 1917, when the majority of Michigan's seed corn was lost, and many farmers of the State are making the most of the favorable situation by field selecting their seed for next year's planting.

"It should be kept in mind that corn is Michigan's most important crop,"

Prof. J. F. Cox, of the Michigan Agricultural College, "Increasing the yield to the wealth of the State, and the most effective work to bring this about can be done in the fall in the fields, selecting the right kind of seed".

Only about one farmer in one hundred field selects his seed corn, according to the estimates of the College Crop Department, and yet careful selection usually increases the yield several bushels per acre. The necessary labor is not great enough to offer any obstacle to the work, as one man can select enough seed in a day to plant twenty acres. Neither does the selection require any special skill, for the rules for good selection are simple and quite easily followed.

Field Selection: Enter field of standing corn in late September or October carrying a sack or basket. Husk and pluck for seed mature, well filled ears which are borne on vigorous plants. The plant should be growing under average field conditions. Selections from plants that have grown in favorable spots of the fields will not give a true estimate of the value of the seed.

Storing: Seed corn should be dried immediately and stored properly. Hang by strings or wire trees, or place on racks with no ears touching. Place in a freely ventilated, dry room where freezing will not take place. The vitality of moist corn is snapped by molds and is injured by freezing, whereas properly dried corn resists injury from freezing and molding.
