Vol. XXXVI

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday November 27, 1919

No. 47

HOODLUMS INVADE PINCKNEY

Some weeks ago the Pinckney High football team played a game with the Chelsea High team. Bitter feeling resulted between the teams and some of the Pinckney boys were severely injured in the game.

Last Friday Chelsea came to play the return game. The rough element of the Chelsea team or Chelsea football fans made threats in advance that they intended not only to beat the Pinckney team but that they expected to clean up the town as well.

Before the game, while on the streets these threats were freely handed out and apparently the threats were not idle ones as the result of the alleged game shows.

When the game began to go unfavorably struck Harlow Sheehan and this was the beginning of an exhibition of fistfights that clearly demonstrated that the scrappers on the Chelsea team were not equal to the job of cleaning up the town. A delegation of Chelsea's citizens and sleuths came over to Pinckney Sunday in order to get evidence for arrests. But it is safe to say if they learned the whole truth there will be no arrests made for inciting a riot unless it is a Chelsea man arrested.

The superintendent of the Chelsea school was not present, but Supt. Doyle tried to quiet the fracas and persuaded the Chelsea team to get into their cars. However, they came over to fight and soon broke away and started to fight again. According to all reports they "got what they came after"—only with "reverse English".

A delegation of Chelsea's citizens and sleuths came over to Pinckney Sunday in order to get evidence for arrests. But it is safe to say if they learned the whole truth there will be no arrests made for inciting a riot unless it is a Chelsea man arrested.

The citizens of the village stand back of those who stopped and punished the brutality that Chelsea started and declare that Pinckney shall not be made the goat of Chelsea's tough element. The newspaper talk of warrants to be issued is on a par with the threats of cleaning up this town, and does not scare those of our citizens who were unfortunate enough to be present at the game. In fact some of our conservative citizens are in favor of prosecuting those who came over from Chelsea for the purpose of causing disgraceful trouble.

BOND ISSUE CARRIES

The special election held in Livingston County to the amount of $600,000, for the construction and maintenance of good roads resulted in a decisive victory for those in favor of bonding.

The vote in the entire county gave the proposition a majority of between 900 and 1000 votes.

The vote in Putnam township was as follows: For bonding 24 against bonding 96.

OLD CITIZEN GONE

The death of Charles Henry at his home on East Main Street in this village occurred Monday afternoon. He was taken sick last week Wednesday and pneumonia set in. It was not supposed he was seriously ill until the last.

He was about 71 years of age and had always lived in Pinckney. When a young child his mother died and he was taken into the family of his uncle, Samuel Sykes grandfather of C. P. Sykes.

He was a volunteer during the civil war and spent some time with the Fourth U. S. Cavalry which was sent to Utah after the war to pacify the Mormons at Salt Lake City. George Stocking and David D. Bennett of Pinckney were with him on this trip.

CHANGES PASTORATE

Rev. F. S. Hurlburt has accepted a call to the Congregational church at Sheridan and shipped his household goods to that town Wednesday. He came to Pinckney as the Congregational pastor in 1917 and when the M. E. and Congregational

A potluck supper in honor of the departing pastor and wife was held Tuesday evening in the Ladies Church Parlors, where many friends gathered to bid them goodby.

Rev. and Mrs. Hurlburt have made many friends in Pinckney and they depart carrying the good wishes of all.

TO INCREASE CAPACITY

H. J. Norton was in Detroit Monday in order to see about ordering new machinery to increase the capacity of the Pinckney bakery. Ever increasing demand for Pinckney-baked bread is now so large that it is impossible at times to supply the demand with the facilities now at hand.

Mr. Norton has engaged an expert to come to Pinckney and suggest such changes and addition to increase the facilities for turning out baked goods in larger quantities.

Mr. Norton reports that the retail prices of bread in Detroit are 16 and 17 cents per loaf. This gives a satisfied feeling to Pinckneyites who pay only 14 cents for a large loaf.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To Subscribers of the Livingston Co. Mutual Telephone Co.

As the year of 1919 is fast drawing to a close, it is absolutely necessary that all rents and tolls be paid on or before the 15th of December 1919, in order that the Secretary may get out his annual report for the year. To those who have allowed their rents and tolls to get in arrears, we kindly ask that you show your appreciation of same by responding to this call at once, and save us the trouble of sending you personal statement or of calling you over the telephone for same. These accounts must be paid or your telephone service discontinued, as per order of the Board of Directors. These accounts must be paid before Dec. 15; if not they will be placed in the hands of collectors.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. "My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal. If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

BAD BREATH

How can anyone with a sour, gassy stomach, who is constantly belching, has heartburn and suffers from indigestion have anything but a bad breath? All of these stomach disorders mean just one thing—Acid-Stomach.

Suffered from Catarrh

Superior, Wis.—"I had been a great sufferer for about ten years with catarrh of the head, or nasal catarrh. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and am feeling better than I have in ten years. I used to have severe headaches, but I have never had one of these spells since I took the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's medicine. I can recommend these medicines judging by what they have done for me. I have also written Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., in regard to my case and have always received prompt replies and much valuable information in regard to my particular case."—JOHN G. JOHNSON, 1217 Tower Ave.

Became Run-Down Followed by Rheumatism

Flint, Mich.—"Several years ago I became very poorly and finally had rheumatism so that I couldn't walk for several months. I doctored with four of our local doctors with very little relief, if any, and used some two or three different patent medicines. I got no better. My friends thought I wasn't going to get well at all. I was clear discouraged and when I read in the paper of someone in my same condition who had been cured by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I didn't believe a word of it but I was giving what little money I had to the doctors anyway and thought I might as well give Dr. Pierce a little, so I got $5.00 worth of the Golden Medical Discovery and the little 'Pleasant Pellets' and took them. By that time I was so much better that I kept on and I was so well I hardly know myself. My friends were surprised. Of course I told them all I did was to take the 'Discovery' and take good care of myself. Now this is all straight truth."—MRS. THEO. PACK, 1261 Stever Ave.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is a cure, however, and it is called CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CURED through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Oppose Corset Tax.

Chicago—Rep. Mann left for Washington carrying a petition signed by 625 "legal voters" of Illinois, praying for relief from the luxury tax on corsets. The petition sets forth that corsets are "a necessity and not a luxury" and that "furthermore the said tax is a discrimination between the small and slender persons and large and portly persons, and is in violation of the constitutional rights of women."

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is enclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

SOLUTION IS PUT UP TO GARFIELD

OPERATION OF MINES WANT GOVERNMENT TO ASSUME RISK OF RESULTS.

MINERS ACCEPT WILSON PLAN

Administrator to Confer With Other Department Heads, Before Replying.

Washington—Refusing to accept proposals made by Secretary of Labor Wilson as a basis for further negotiations, soft coal operators of the central competitive field have rested their case with Fuel Administrator Garfield, whose official approval is necessary to validate any new wage agreement.

The public would not stand for a wage advance above their offer of 15 cents per ton to coal diggers and 20 per cent to day laborers, the operators asserted. They refused to make further overtures or even to reinstate their proposition, unless the government, through the fuel administration, assumed responsibility for the added burden to the nation's fuel bill.

Dr. Garfield notified the mine owners that he would not meet their committee, of which Thomas T. Brewster is chairman, until after he has consulted with Attorney General Palmer, Director General Hines and Judge C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general. It was considered likely the negotiation would be postponed until after the cabinet meeting, which it was expected, a policy to get the mines back into operation before the threatening coal famine brings disaster, will be worked out.

Operators' representatives authorized the statements that in their opinion figures on which Secretary Wilson based his proposals, showing a 15 per cent advance in the coal price, would be the basis for the work.

Dr. Garfield is said to have told individual operators that the offer made by them is as large as present conditions justify.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, charged the operators with "criminally delaying" the negotiations through a "conspiracy" on the part of "powerful interests" including both mine owners and others, who "have been openly opposing settlement."

Following a two-hour session of the miners, Mr. Lewis announced the workers had accepted Secretary Wilson's proposal. This proposition, provided for a flat increase in mining rates of 27.12 cents per ton, a flat increase in day wages of $1.58, and an increase in yards and dead work of 31.61 per cent.

Mr. Lewis also announced the miners stood on their counter-proposal for a seven-hour day, a Saturday half-holiday, and reference of all international disputes back to the districts in which they originate for settlement.

Some of the operators, including members of the scale committee of the central competitive field, Mr. Lewis said, have indicated a willingness to accept the offer.

action. He said he had agreed to sign separate contracts.

BROKEN TRAIN HITS STREET CAR

Towerman Failed to Notice Second Section in Danger Zone.

Grand Rapids—Glenn Wilson, 25 years old, street car conductor, and George Krul, 39, a railroad conductor, were seriously injured, possibly fatally, and nearly a score of passengers received minor hurts when a street car was struck by the second section of a Pere Marquette freight train.

The train, just before it reached the crossing, broke in two sections. When the first section passed through the gates the tower man signalled the car to go ahead. The second section, which was obscured in the darkness, struck the rear vestibule of the street car and turned it around parallel to the railroad track.

Wilson and Krul, who were standing in the vestibule, were badly lacerated by broken glass.

Other passengers going down town for Saturday night shopping were also hurt by glass and thrown against the side of the car.

POOR ENGLISH PLACE-NAMES

Apparent Reason.

For a people upon the whole cheery and possessed of much homely philosophy, the English have shown a surprising amount of pessimism in their choice of place-names, remarks a Canadian soldier now in England. Withal, their Mount Pleasants and the like are a good deal rarer than in

Just Rats.

For want of a pled piper of Hamelin, the British board of agriculture

The house of parliament flattered when the bill was introduced, says "A Lontoner." The flatterers did not know that the rat has been described as the most expensive animal maintained by man. He costs a damage anything up to $2000 a year—as much as the government subsidy to the fishing industry. He spreads bubonic stism the writer knows no place-name to beat that of a northern farmstead situated at the exposed end of a bleak, unkindly valley which always seems much colder and more foggy than any of the near-by heights. The name is Bad End—simply. One of its occupants was hanged, but so far as the name goes this must have been effect rather than cause, for the hanging was recent, while the name antedates the oldest inhabitant's recollections. Cackle Street, Darwell Hole, Old Hole, Bugshill, Poppinghole, Froghole, Pigstrod, Platnix, Kitchen-hour, Grandturzel, Little Nineveh, Tub-slake, Brownbread Street, are a few merely old place-names recalled at random, and all to be met with in a day's march along the beautiful Sussex-Kent border country.—Montreal Herald.

Must Have Had It All.

"I understand you have had a slight operation?"

"That's what I thought I had, but I got the bill for it yesterday and I'm inclined to think now that while I was under the ether the surgeon gave me everything he had in stock."

Prepare the ground this fall for shrubs and perennials to be set out next spring.

there the remedy is worse than the disease. The rat has gone forth; he must be exterminated wherever he shows his head—in stacks, in granaries, in warehouses, in the holds of vessels. The mouse, too, if less harmful, is just as useless as his big relative—and the only living creature which will regret his disappearance is the cat.

Japanese Have New Religion.

Japan has devised a new doctrine of life, says the secretary of the British Foreign Bible society. It is philosophical and mythical, and claims unlimited beneficence over mind and body. It professes to embrace and be superior to all religions of philosophy. Eighteen volumes are taken to explain in detail its principles. Tokyo is the headquarters, where daily lectures are given and spiritual healings demonstrated.

A Salutary Lesson.

"You've been up in an airplane?"
 "Yes," replied the prominent citizen, "and it did me a lot of good."
 "How was that?"
 "At an elevation of 7,000 feet in the air for the first time in a long and active career I realized how little I really amounted to."

Observing Intellect Has Discovered How the Brain That Names Sleeping Cars Works.

Real Reason Why the Red Trousers of the French Infantry Have Been Discarded.

I used to be awed, writes Inobetta, at the thought of the intellectuality of the man who names the Pullman cars. To what storehouse of classical or historical lore did this mentality have access, that he could exhumate therefrom such names—names that seemed to mean something, but yet just eluded analysis? I used to think I'd like to meet that bird.

But I've pegged him at last! He's no giant intellect at all. He's just a pathological specimen—one of these wrong-foot cases the medical journals have been discussing lately, whose cerebral or spinal connections seem to be crossed. Their handwriting goes from right to left—it's called "mirror

The red trousers of the French army are to be no more. There is a political and economical tragedy about it which which very few people are familiar. The originator of the red trousers was Napoleon, who was prompted in his "reform" by a desire to help the native cultivation of madder root against the Dutch and Italian rivals.

But then came the Græbe-Liebermann discovery of the alizarine dyes, and in less than ten years, between 1870 and 1875, the production of madder root in France shrank from 25,000 to 500 tons, and then it disappeared. This was a great German victory. Nevertheless, the army trousers continued to be dyed red, only this time the dyes

FRUIT GROWERS' CONVENTION

Hundreds of Michigan fruit growers will attend the Annual Convention of the Michigan State Horticultural Society to be held in the Hotel Statler, Detroit, December 2, 3 and 4. This will be the most important convention from a grower's standpoint and a very strong program has been arranged.

present at the business meeting to be held Wednesday forenoon. Programs have already been mailed and extra copies may be received by making application to the Secretary, George M. Low, Bangor, Mich.

Michigan growers are considered one of the liveliest bunches that can be brought together, and the convention promises to hum with enthusiasm and pep. Everybody interested in the fruit industry is urged to attend this convention.

Many poultry growers, especially beginners, have the impression that oyster shells make a good grit for fowls, but such is not the case. Oyster shells, in some respects do help to grind the fowl's food, but the chief mission is to make bone, muscle and feathers. They form the shell of the egg, or assist in this matter and at the same time aid in making a complete ration when fowls are fed charcoal and grit together with their grain rations. If you keep them before the hens and do not feed fat-producing feeds, they will prevent soft-shelled eggs and keep them from acquiring the egg-eating habit, which is one of the greatest losses ever experienced by any poultryman. In almost every feed given to fowls we find a shortage of ash. The oyster shells supply this want of ash and the hens lay their full quota of eggs.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

"Puts a healing coat on the lining of the throat."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

A COUGH that threatens to rip and tear out the lining of the throat, that seems to jolt and jerk the chest beyond endurance, and causes an echoing thump at the back of the head as if you were hit with a sledge hammer—such a cough needs a cooling, soothing medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to coat the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing balm. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in many instances of severe bronchial, la grippe and other racking coughs that debilitate.

What Foley's Did For One Man

Several years ago I had a terrible attack, both lungs being inflamed. After recovering somewhat my lungs never "cleared up" and I suffered severe pain, which I had for three months and couldn't get well. I got one 50c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it alone entirely cured me. It took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs. It is the most valuable medicine I ever used. I cheerfully recommend it.

This old standard remedy seems to get right at the seat of trouble, almost instantly relieves the nervous tickling in the throat, clears the passages, banishes that persistent irritation which instigates the paroxysms of coughing. One or two doses produce a desirable and welcome result.

Are You Prepared?

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be in every home. No cold should be neglected, however slight. It should be taken in hand promptly and checked just as soon as possible. The longer it lingers the worse for the sufferer. So don't experiment. Get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar today and have it ready for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, la grippe or bronchial coughs.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional cure. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c.

Alfalfa Acreage Increase In Michigan

East Lansing, Nov.—The acreage of alfalfa has increased more rapidly in Michigan during the past year than ever before, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, farm crops department, Michigan Agricultural College. This increase in production comes at an extremely fortunate time because of the fact that a general shortage of clover has brought the state face to face with the greatest need for dependable forage crops it has ever known.

The marked increase in alfalfa production is due to the fact that more is now known about how to grow the crop is used. In the early days of alfalfa growth in Michigan, great waves of "alfalfa enthusiasm" swept over the state, but many of these efforts failed because of wrong cultural methods. At the present time, however, alfalfa is held as a dependable crop. In fact during the last year the percentage of successes with alfalfa has been greater in many Michigan localities than with clover.

The following points are set forth by Professor Cox regarding alfalfa growth in Michigan:

1. Apply ground lime stone, marl or other form of lime as soon as possible this fall or early winter on land to receive alfalfa.
2. Order northern-grown seed immediately, preferably Grimm, Baltic and Cassack.
3. Select well-drained field which carried cultivated crop during past year.
4. Apply dressing of manure or rotten straw on very light soils.
5. In spring, prepare firm, clean seed bed.
6. Plant alfalfa seed alone during spring on clean land for best results. If companion crop is used make lighter seeding than usual per acre of barley or oats. On land in proper condition alfalfa will often catch well with wheat or rye.

Special bulletin No. 97 of the Michigan Agricultural College sets forth in detail methods of handling alfalfa and results of experiments at the Michigan Agricultural College Experiment Sta-

Author of 'Kitchener, and other poems'

"WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER?"

Synopsis.—David Elden, son of a drunken, shiftless ranchman, almost a maverick of the foothills, is breaking bottles with his pistol from his running cayuse when the first automobile he has ever seen arrives and tips over, breaking the leg of Doctor Hardy but not injuring his beautiful daughter Irene. Dave rescues the injured man and brings a doctor from 40 miles away. Irene takes charge of the housekeeping. Dave and Irene take many rides together and during her father's enforced stay they get well acquainted.

CHAPTER II—Continued.

For the first time he looked her straight in the face. His dark eyes met her gray ones and demanded truth. "Irene," he said, "do you mean that?" "Sure I do," she answered. "College courses, and all that kind of thing, they're good stuff, all right, but they make some awful nice boys—real live boys, you know—into some awful dead ones. My father says about the best education is to learn to live with your income, pay your debts and give the other fellow a chance to do the same. They don't all learn that at college. Then there's the things you do, just like you were born to it, that they couldn't do to save their lives. Why, I've seen you smash six bottles at a stretch, you going full gallop and whooping and shouting so we could hardly tell which was which. And ride—you could make more money riding for city people to look at than most of much shocked over this mingling of the classes.

"Well, you youngsters must have this country pretty well explored," said Doctor Hardy, as they entered the house. "Where was it today—the prairies, the foothills or the real fellows behind?"

"The canyon up the river," said Irene, drawing off her sweater. "What's the cats? Gee! I'm hungry! Getting pretty supple, Daddykins, aren't you?"

"Yes, an' I'm sorry for it, miss," said the old rancher, "not wishin' him any harm, or you, neither. We was jus' talkin' it over, an' your father thinks he's spry enough for the road again. Ain't ever goin' to be like it used to be after he's gone, an' you."

"We'll be sorry to go," said the doctor. "That's what I've been saying all day, and thinking, too. If misfortunes can be lucky, ours was one of that kind. I don't know when I've enjoyed a holiday so much. What do you say, girl?" he asked, as he rested an arm on her round, firm shoulder and looked with fatherly fondness into the fine brown of her face.

"I've never known anything like it," she answered. "It's wonderful. It's life." Then with a sudden little scream she exclaimed: "Oh, daddy, why can't you sell your practice and buy a ranch? Wouldn't that be wonderful?"

"Your mother might not see it that way," he replied and her eyes fell.

Yes, that was the obstacle. She would have to go back to the city and talk by rule, and dress by rule, and behave by rule, and be correct.

"It's been a good time," the doctor continued, when they had commenced

"The horses are tired, so let's walk. . . It's our last chance."

She ran for her sweater and rejoined him in a moment. They walked in silence down a path through the fragrant trees, but Dave turned from time to time to catch a glimpse of her face, white and fine as ivory in the soft light. He had much to say, but he was tongue-tied under the spell of her beauty.

"You squelched him, all right," he broke out, at length.

"Just in time, too, I think," she replied. "I was watching your hands."

He smiled a quiet but very confident smile. "Reenie," he said, "that fellow makes me sick. All the way out he talked about girls. He's a city chap an' wears a white collar, but he ain't fit to speak your name. Another minute an' I'd 'a' had 'im by the neck."

He seized a spruce limb that stuck across their path. It was the size of a stout stick, but he snapped it with a turn of his wrist. It was very tough; it oozed sticky stuff where he broke it. "His neck," he said, between his teeth, "jus' like that."

They reached an open space. Something black—or was it red?—lay on the ground. Dave bent over it a mo-

"You know I've had a good time with you, Dave," she said, "and I've gone with you everywhere, like I would not have gone with any other boy I ever knew, and I've talked and let you talk about things I never talked about before, and I believe you're true and clean and—and—"

"Yes," he said. "What's your answer?"

"I know you're true and clean," she repeated. "Come to me—like that—when I'm a woman and you're a man, and then—we'll know."

He was tall and straight, and his shadow fell across her face, as though even the moon must not see. "Reenie," he said, "kiss me."

For one moment she thought of her mother. She knew she stood at the parting of the ways; that all life for her was being molded in that moment. Then she put both arms about his neck and drew his lips to hers.

Dave goes to town to seek his fortune.

READING THE BIBLE ALOUD

Much Truth in Charge That Beautiful Text is Too Often Interpreted in Unintelligent Manner.

It is strange that the reading of the Bible aloud in an acceptable manner should present—apparently—almost insuperable difficulties, remarks a writer in the London Spectator. It is written in the finest English of the finest period. It concerns subjects of universal and undying interest. It is endeared to every listener by tradition and recollection. But the evidence proves it is hard to read well. Men especially interested in philosophy and religion, especially trained in Hebrew and Greek literature, specially anxious to bring the truths of Scripture home to their audience, read it for the most part in abominable fashion. We cannot insult them by supposing their weekly task an easy one. We cannot, on the other hand, deny that to make it that way. There are more useful things to do."

He was comforted by this speech, but he referred to his accomplishments modestly. "Ridin' an' shootin' ain't nothin'," he said.

"I'm not so sure," she answered. "Father says the day is coming when our country will want men who can shoot and ride more than it will want lawyers and professors."

"Well, when it does it can call on me," he said, and there was the pride in his voice which comes to a boy who feels that in some way he can take a man's place in the world. "Them is two things I sure can do."

Years later she was to think of her remark and his answer, consecrated then in clean red blood.

They talked of many things that afternoon, and when at last the lengthening shadows warned them it was time to be on the way they rode long distances in silence. Both felt a sense which neither ventured to express that they had traveled very close in the world of their hopes and sorrows and desires.

The shadows had deepened into darkness, and the infinite silence of the hills hung about them as they dropped from their saddles at the Elden door. A light shone from within, and Doctor Hardy, who was now able to move about with the aid of a home-made crutch, could be seen setting the table, while Mr. Elden stirred a composition on the stove. They chatted as they worked, and there was something of the joy of little children in their companionship. The young folks watched for a moment through the window, and in Dave's heart some long-forgotten emotion moved momentarily at the sight of the good-fellowship prevailing in the old home. Irene, too, was thinking of her own butlered days, and then this background of domestic simplicity, where the old cow-puncher set the plates on the bare board table, and then beck of it all her manner, habits and correct, and very

the time I am back east. If Dave will oblige us by going to town tomorrow and bringing back some one who can drive a car, we will be able to start the following morning. I will just take the car to town, and either sell it there or ship it."

The following morning found Dave early on the trail, leading a saddled horse by his side. The hours were leaden for the girl all that day and, looking into the future, she saw the specter of her life shadowed down the years by an unutterable loneliness. How could she ever drop it all—all this wild freedom, this boundless health, this great outdoors, this life, life—how could she drop it all and go back into the little circle where convention fenced out the tiniest alien streamlet, although the circle itself might lie deep in mire? And how would she give up this boy who had grown so imperceptibly but so intimately into the very soul of her being—give him up with all his strength and virility and, yes, and coarseness, if you will, but sincerity, too—an essential man, as God made him—in exchange for a machine-made counterfeit with the stamp of Society? Deeply did she ponder these questions, and as the day wore on she found herself possessed but she would not throw the best trail, let the by-paths lead where they might.

Darkness, save for a white moon, had settled over the foothills when the boy returned with another young man. The stranger ate a ravenous supper, but was not too occupied to essay conversation with Irene. He chose to call her cook.

"Swell pancakes, cook," was his opening remark. "Can you find another for yours truly?" She refilled his plate without answer.

"Used to know a girl mighty like you," he went on. "Waitress in the Royal Edward. Gee! but she was swell! A pippin! Class? Say, she had 'em all guessing. Had me guessing myself for a while. But just for a while." He voiced these remarks with an air of intense self-approval more offensive than the words.

Irene felt the color rise about her neck and cheeks and run like an overflowing stream into her ears and about her hair. It was evident that, for a second time, Dave had chosen to say nothing to strangers about her presence at the ranch. Her father and Mr. Elden were in Dave's room; Dave had stopped eating, and she saw the veins rising in his clenched fists. But the challenge was to her, and she would accept it; she felt no need of his protection.

"Fill your stomach," she said, passing more pancakes; "your head is hopeless."

He attempted a laugh, but the meal was finished in silence. The stranger lit a cigarette and Irene went to the door with Dave.

"Come for a walk," he whispered.

"It's a calf," he said, as calmly as he could. "Half set up. Wolves, I guess."

"The poor, poor thing!" she breathed. "The poor, innocent thing! Why did it have to die?"

"It's always the innocent things 'at suffers," he answered.

"Always the innocent things," she repeated mechanically. "Always—" She sprang to her feet and faced him. "Then what about the justice of God?" she demanded.

"I don't know nothin' about the justice of God," he answered bitterly. "All I know is the crittur 'at can't run gets caught."

There was a long pause. "It doesn't seem right," she said at length.

"It ain't right," he agreed. "But I guess it's life. I see it here on the prairies with every livin' thing. I guess I was like that, some. I've been caught. I guess a baby ain't responsible for anything, is it? I didn't pick my father or my mother, did I? But I got to bear it."

There was something near a break in his voice on the last words. She felt she must speak.

"I think your father is a wonderful old man," she said, "and your mother must have been wonderful, too. You demanded. His eyes were looking straight into hers.

"Absolutely," she answered. "Absolutely I mean it."

"Then I'm goin' to say some more things to you," he went on rapidly. "Things 'at I didn't know whether to say or not, but now they've got to be said, whatever happens. Reenie, I haven't ever been to school or learned lots of things I should 'a' learned, but I ain't a fool, neither. I didn't learn to break all those bottles in a day. Well, I can learn other things, too, an' I will, if only it will take me across. I'm goin' to leave this old ranch, some way, jus' as soon as it can be arranged. I'm goin' to town an' work. I'm strong; I can get pretty good wages. I've been thinkin' it all over, an' was askin' some questions in town today. I can work days an' go to school nights. An' I'll do it—if it'll get me across. You know what I mean. I ain't askin' no pledges, Reenie, but what's the chance? I know I don't talk right, and I don't eat right—you tried not to notice but you couldn't help—but, Reenie, I think right, an' I guess with a girl like you that counts more than eatin' and talkin'."

She had thought she could say yes or no to any question he could ask, but as he poured forth these plain, passionate words she found herself enveloped in a flame that found no expression in speech. She had no words. She was glad when he went on:

"I know I'm only a boy an' you're only a girl. That's why I don't ask no pledge. I leave you free, only I want you to stay free until I have my chance. Will you promise that?" She tried to pull herself together.

Back Lame and Achy?

Don't let that bad back make you miserable. Find out what is wrong, if you suffer with a constant back-ache, feel lame, weak and all-played-out; have dizzy nervous spells, you may well suspect your kidneys. If kidney irregularities distress you too, you have additional proof. Don't wait! Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy people everywhere are recommending. Ask Your Neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Mrs. P. Cornwall, 179 N. Front St., Mt. Clemens, Mich., says: "My back would feel as though it were going to break with a dull, heavy ache. My ankles swelled also, and dizzy spells would come over me. Doan's Kidney Pills cured that ache in my back, the dizzy spells no longer annoyed me and the swelling left my ankles."

W. C. Bullitt, an expert on foreign news, was talking about the bolsheviks.

"The bolshevik leaders," he said, "in a bad way. They will probably abandon the bolshevik game shortly, but first they will smash up everything."

"It will be like the case of the two boys who were sent out to buy a pitcher of milk," Mr. Bullitt continued. "The boys helped themselves to the milk freely on the way home; then at the last minute their courage failed them."

"Gosh," said the first boy, "we've drunk too much of it! What shall we do, Joe?"

"That's easy," said Joe. "We'll drop the pitcher."

FLU CAUSED PRESIDENT WILSON'S SICKNESS

Physicians claim that President Wilson is suffering from neurasthenia or nervous exhaustion. This, they claim, is the after effect of an attack of influenza which he had last April while he was in Paris attending the Peace conference.

Doctors are agreed that the Flu is coming back this Fall, and now that cooler weather is here, they are afraid it will break out any time.

Influenza can be prevented; last year's results prove that. As a preventive for Flu, Turpo has been a pronounced success.

The fact that there have been cases of "flu" already reported makes it important that you prepare now.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

Don't blast your Liver and Bowels, but take "Cascarets."

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach and colds.

Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or shocking your insides every few days with Calomel, Salts, Oil and violent pills?

Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the accumulated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

POULTRY FACTS

GREEN FEEDS FOR POULTRY

There is Much in Proper Curing and Handling—Beets and Mangel-Wurzels Also Good.

If you have fed clover or alfalfa to poultry in its green state or dry you know its value. If you have not used it as a hen feed do so this winter, even if you have to buy some, and in future seasons you will lay in a good supply. There is much in curing and handling this food to have it right for hens. If it has been done properly, cut into one-quarter-inch lengths, and place it in a tub or barrel, then turn on steam or hot water, which at once brings back the aroma of the harvest field. Next spread out in the mixing box and sift on some cornmeal, middlings and animal meal, salt a little and you have as good a mess for laying hens as can be prepared. In some respects alfalfa is better than clover. It is very rich in protein, yields more in a year than clover, and hens like it better.

For poultry it should never be allowed to become woody. A good field of alfalfa will produce more hen feed than the same amount of space put to any other crop.

Next in order for a dependable winter feed come beets and mangel-wurzels. There are different sorts, red, yellow and white. All make a good winter hen feed. They are composed largely of water, but it makes an excellent winter food, being easily grown and kept and is very handy to feed. By feeding plenty of green food to the hens in winter there is a profit derived in two ways. The hens will be more healthy, therefore lay better, and by working it into the daily ration the cost of feeding the flock is lessened considerably.

HINTS ON HANDLING POULTRY

Among Other Things for Farmer to Remember is That Male Doesn't Influence Number of Eggs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is urged that all farmers and poultrymen adhere strictly to the following principal rules in handling their poultry and eggs:

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

One Hundred Hens Should Be on Every Farm.

so as to produce infertile eggs. The male bird has no effect on the number of eggs produced.
