Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday January 8, 1920

No. 2

THE YEAR IN PINCKNEY

Looking back a short year shows that during 1919 an improvement in Pinckney has started. During the year the sentiment in favor of a union of the Protestant churches has crystallized into an actual union and the result is the Federated church which is now becoming more of a success from the impetus gathered from the union. There is no reason why Pinckney cannot support a really first class church organization and with a thoroughly competent pastor at the helm there is no doubt as to the ultimate outcome of the Federated church.

The Sphinx club has up to date shown that the young men of the community are better off for its existence and it is sincerely hoped this place of entertainment for the young men will continue to be in successful operation. Before its existence there was no place for students and other young men to pass away their leisure hours except the pool room. But by many who heretofore depended upon the streets to furnish congenial company and entertainment. This club is worthy of success.

The Federated Sunday school has also provided a club for its members, who may spend evenings there with a gymnasium to help develop the body and good companions for a social help.

In a business way the town has taken what looks to be the first steps toward a permanent improvement. Vacant store property is not so prevalent as one year ago. We now have a bakery established on a solid basis and with business so good that steps are already taken to enlarge the capacity. Another retail grocery store has made its appearance and reports good business up to date.

is expected to be doing business shortly. A year ago we had no meat market now we have two, and Pinckney is fast gaining a reputation for paying more for poultry, butter, eggs, etc., than other towns nearby.

With all these symptoms of enterprise there remains much to be done before the town can expect to compete with the live neighboring towns. The electric light proposition is exactly where it was one year ago — just as unsatisfactory and with the same old complaints about inadequate service. The streets remain dark and there is apparently no immediate prospect of improvement in this respect.

A business men's club is being talked of and one of the first problems will be to furnish the town with good lighting and cheap power. When this thing has been accomplished it will not be surprising to see the town progress with rapid strides and soon become a thriving business center. Small factories can then be persuaded to locate here, but of course they will not do so under present conditions.

TEACHERS' SALARIES POISONED AT WEDDING FEAST

The Chelsea board of education has offered the teachers a bonus of 10 per cent of their salaries providing they continue to work the entire year. Three vacancies have already occurred in the Chelsea school, presumably in order to accept better paying positions.

According to the state school commissioner it is doubtful whether or not a teacher who violates his contract to accept a better paying position is a suitable teacher. The time is nearly here when teachers' salaries will be large enough to encourage them to remain in the profession. We cannot imagine that a single member of the Pinckney teachers staff would violate a written or verbal contract once given. They received a 15 per cent raise this year without asking for it. Next year teachers will all demand better pay and with the prevailing scarcity of good teachers there is no option but pay. We must have school, and, if possible, good teachers.

Killed by Twin Brother

Webberville—Supervisor Fred J. Silby of Leroy township died Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Sparrow hospital in Lansing, three and one-half hours after receiving a wound from a pitchfork in the hands of his twin brother, Harry. The men had been engaged in a friendly tussle in the barn on the Silby homestead, and trying to cover each other with hay. In their excitement the men moved so close together that one of the tines of Har-

Miss Cora Bollinger and Darwin Downer of Chelsea were married at Chelsea New Year's Day. Following the ceremony and congratulations, a fine wedding supper was served, including brick ice cream, and it is supposed that the latter was the cause for the serious illness of a number of the guests last night, including the groom.

During the night 14 or 15 persons who attended the wedding were taken ill and the doctors were kept busy until an early hour this morning attending them. Fortunately, no fatalities resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. Downer will reside with his parents until spring, when their own home on the Downer farm will be completed. — Chelsea Tribune.

B SHARP CLUB

The B Sharp Club met at the home of Mrs. George Pearson Saturday, Dec. 27. The story of the opera "Faust" was read. The selections from the opera, consisting of vocal and instrumental solos and duets, were much enjoyed by all.

After a delightful luncheon the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Wm. Gardner in January.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so

LAMBS FATTENED FOR MARKETING

From 3 to 5 Months Is About Right Age Under Ordinary Farm Conditions.

MAKE HIGHER RATE OF GAIN

During Heat of Summer They Are More Liable to Losses From Parasites—Breeder Also Gets Use of His Money Earlier.

Under ordinary farm conditions lambs should be made ready for market at from 3 to 5 months of age. When young they make a higher rate of gain and will put on the same amount of flesh for less cost than when they are older. Then, too, they will make but small gains during the heat of summer, and at this time parasites are most troublesome and they are thus more liable to losses from this cause. Risk of accidents is always higher when the lambs are held for a long time. More feed is saved for the breeding flock, and less labor is needed if the lambs are sold early. Better prices are obtained in the spring because of not having to meet the competition of the western lambs that are marketed during the summer and fall, and in addition the grower gets the use of his money sooner by pushing the lambs to a marketable condition as fast as possible.

Teaching Lambs to Eat. Every effort should be made to keep the lambs growing from the start. The first essential is to teach them to eat. Liberal feeding of lambs dropped before pastures are ready is profitable under any ordinary grain prices. This is best done through the use of a small inclosure known as a "creep," to which especially valuable in promoting growth rather than fat.

Such feeds as middlings are too costly for extensive use. Rye is less palatable than oats or barley. Soy beans may replace the linseed meal if they cost less. Cleanliness is an important factor in keeping the lambs growing. Always feed to an empty trough, and if it becomes soiled scrub it out with limewater.

HANDY RACK HANDLES EVERYTHING ON FARM

Especially Useful in Carrying Crops to Market.

No Danger of Load of Produce Slipping After It Has Been Placed Inside of Boards—Big Saving Made in Hauling Seeds.

Several farmers here have a handy rack for handling almost everything on the farm. Especially are they meant for crops which are taken to the market or cellar in crates or boxes. The best and cheapest one I have seen is 14 feet long, 6 feet wide, with sideboards 14 inches high, writes H. E. Rogers of Ohio in Farm and Home. The floor is solid of matched lumber one inch thick. The two stringers which run lengthwise are 4 1/2 by 6 1/2 inches and 14 feet long.

Around the outside there is a piece 2 by 2 which is used for holding the

Constipation, Headache, Colds, Biliousness, Suffer to "Cascarets"

Bring back peace! Enjoy life! Your system is filled with liver and bowel poison which keeps your skin sallow, your stomach upset, your head dull and aching. Your meals are turning into poison gases and acids. You can not feel right. Don't stay bilious or constipated. Feel splendid always by taking Cascarets occasionally. They act without gripping or inconvenience. They never sicken you like Calomel, Salts, Oil or nasty, harsh Pills. They cost so little too—Cascarets work while you sleep.—Adv.

Constipation invites other troubles which come speedily unless quickly checked and overcome by Green's August Flower which is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. It is a sovereign remedy used in many thousands of households all over the the lambs have access at all times, but into which the ewes can not come. The creep should contain a rack for hay and a trough for grain, so arranged that the lambs can not get their feet into them.

All feed given, especially ground feed, should be clean, fresh, and free from mold. The lambs will begin to nibble at the feed when from 14 to 18 days of age. Pea-green alfalfa of the second or third cutting is one of the most relished feeds. Flaky sweet

Corn Ration for Lambs. The Ohio experiment station has found that for young lambs that are to be marketed a grain ration of corn is of about the same value as one of corn 5 parts, oats 2 parts, bran 2 parts and oil. Oil meal is especially relished by lambs at this time and would be side the boards. The side and end boards are held together by a short rod bolted on the end boards with a ring in the end. Another bolt comes through the side board with a hook in the end of it. These two join and are easily turned up tight.

LITTLE SIFTING WINDS HURT

On this rack, with no sides on, we hauled onions, and put on 78 bushel crates. This rack on a low wagon is hard to beat. There is hardly a place where either a rack or a box is used that this sort of rack will not do the business of both. When thrashing there is a rack with no holes to let your legs down through when you don't look where you step. In hauling seeded grain, such as clover, a tight rack means a mighty big saving in the seeds that are bound to shell.

FEEDING SKIM MILK TO PIGS

Resume of Many Tests Made for Purpose of Ascertaining Most Economical Method.

A good many tests have been made for the purpose of ascertaining the most economical way of feeding skim milk to hogs. A resume of the work done along this line at the Indiana, New York, Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio Experiment Stations is given below. Young pigs, that is, pigs weighing less than 100 pounds, may be fed as much as three pounds of skim milk per pound of grain, and by grain we mean any one of the cereals fed singly, or a number of them together. As pigs grow older the amount of skim milk should be reduced to about two pounds per pound of grain. The reason for this is that less protein is required as the pigs grow older and still less is required during the fattening period.

SERIOUS NEW PEST OF WHEAT

Earworm Has Done Much Damage in Virginia and Other States—Plant Only Clean Seed.

The earworm is a serious new pest of wheat which has recently done much damage in Virginia, and to a lesser extent in West Virginia, Maryland and California. The disease may be recognized in the threshed grain by the presence of hard, dark-colored galls, about one-half the size of a wheat kernel, which are easily overlooked or mistaken for bunt, cockle seed or bin-burnt wheat. Plant only clean seed wheat from fields which have not been infested. The loss in some Virginia fields amounted to as much as 40 per cent.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Mrs. J. Christman Proved That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Remedy for this Trouble.

Binghamton, N. Y.—"I was in a very nervous condition for over a year, my mind was gloomy, could see no light on anything, could not work and could not have anyone to see me. Doctor's medicine did not help me and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended. I took it and a month well. I recommend it to all afflicted with nervous prostration."—Mrs. J. CHRISTMAN, 193 Oak Street, Binghamton, New York.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Mustarine Subdues the Inflammation and Eases the Soreness Quicker Than Anything Else on Earth.

Pay only 20 cents and get a big box of Begy's Mustarine, which is the original mustard plaster and is made of strong, real, yellow mustard—no substitutes are used.

It's known as the quickest pain killer on earth, for in hundreds of instances it stops headache, neuralgia, toothache, earache and backache in 5 minutes.

You get fast action. Mustarine—it goes after the pain and kills it right off the reel. Yes, it burns, but it won't blister—it doesn't give agonizing pain a slip on the wrist. It does give it a good healthy punch in the jaw—it kills pain. Ask for and get Mustarine always in the yellow box.

Battle Creek—Bonds aggregating $100,000 have been sold to finance Battle Creek's new country club, on the shores of Lake Goguc. The beautiful country home of Carroll L. Post was recently bought as nucleus for the new club, as well as adjoining shore line property.

Adrian—Dr. J. H. Bland, arrested here Christmas day immediately after the death of Katherine Smith, aged, 19, at her home near Round Lake, asked an examination when arraigned before Justice Bennett on a charge of manslaughter. He was released on $3,000 bail.

Ypsilanti—Roy Bissell, three-year-old son of City Patrolman and Mrs. John Bissell, 523 North Adams street, shot and instantly killed himself with his father's revolver. His father, on his return from work, placed his revolver on the dresser. Unnoticed, the little boy reached up, grasped it and started to play with it.

Pontiac—Harold West, lineman for the D. U. R., is in the City Hospital

Muskegon Heights—Dogs which insist on chasing automobiles and rigs and barking at them will be shot, according to the edict of Chief of Police Carl Holland.

Allegan—A Christmas bonus, equal to 10 per cent of their annual income, was distributed by Baker & Co. to employees at the annual banquet. The bonus totaled $5,000.

Kalamazoo—Turning over $22,000 to the Red Cross society to be used exclusively in Kalamazoo county charities, the Kalamazoo County Patriotic League has officially disbanded.

Mt. Clemens—Resale of sugar, confiscated by federal authorities in a raid upon the Riverview hotel, where an illicit distillery was found in operation, brought prices higher than the original cost.

Ann Arbor—In the death of Mrs. Louisa A. Hart Travis, 87, mother of Mrs. Junius E. Beal, of this city, one of the early settlers of the Kalamazoo district passed away. Mrs. Travis drove with her father through Ann Arbor 81 years ago.

Moorland—If Moorland residents can see where the consolidated school plan will not cost them any more than the present system, it will be installed, according to the statement of the committee appointed at a recent meeting of the voters of this district.

Lansing—The state board of health has been asked to determine whether there was any arsenic in the embalming fluid used on the body of Howard Laninger, Lake City man, who died under peculiar circumstances last August and whose widow has been held for trial on the charge of poisoning him.

Grand Rapids—One man was killed, two Grand Rapids and Indiana railway locomotives were reduced to scrap iron, one of them toppling into Plaster Creek and a half dozen freight cars were demolished in a rear-end collision of freights No. 61 and No. 51 in this city.

Grand Rapids—The entire interests of the Armour company in Michigan, amounting to more than $250,000 have been purchased by the Gleaner cor-and general manager of the Gleaner corporation.

Grand Rapids—An investigation is being conducted by City Manager Fred H. Locke of complaints made by the housing inspectors that many landlords are taking advantage of orders to make minor repairs to conform to the housing code by raising the rent on their tenants.

Monroe—About 40 employees of Boehme & Rauch Co., manufacturers of paper boxes, of this city, will receive bonuses ranging from $150 to $1,000 each, for faithful service. Foremen and 20 married men in the offices are to get $1,000 each; five single men $500 each and eight girls, from $150 to $250 each.

Rocheater—Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Haddin of Rocheater celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary. The former is 82 years and the latter 79. They have five sons, 12 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. Haddin have always resided within six miles of their birthplace and are wealthy retired farmers.

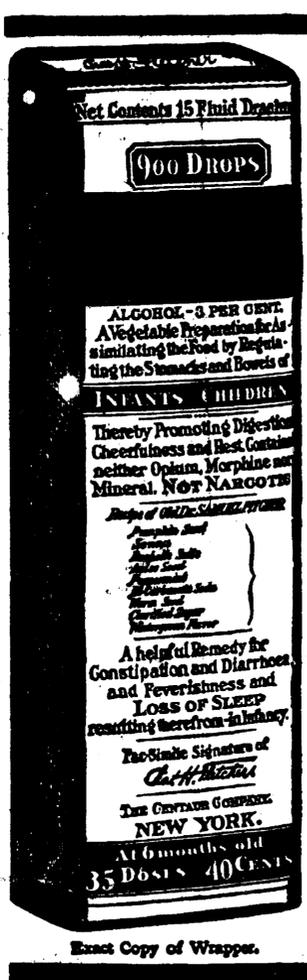

of Senator Hiram Johnston, of California, on the Michigan primary April 1 as a presidential nominee, are being of this city. Copies of the petitions will be sent to Johnston supporters about the state for the purpose of organizing a Michigan following to support the western senator in the coming campaign.

Port Huron—John Lafrance, 50, fisherman, living near Fair Haven, was found dead in his shack with gun shot wound in his abdomen. Lafrance's shotgun was found several feet from the body, together with an empty shell, which had evidently been ejected from the gun. Officers at first believed Lafrance has committed suicide, but upon further investigation it is believed, he was slain.

Hillsdale—It is reported in the southern part of the county that a smooth stranger has been swindling the people over the Ohio line, near Defiance. It is said that he took orders for sugar at nine cents a pound, asking the people to pay the express charges in advance. After securing a few hundred dollars of "express" money, he departed, but no sugar has come.

Flint—Quick action by Arthur Crooks, photographer engaged in taking a picture for a local newspaper checked a fire that threatened the Flint country club and averted danger to 75 children attending a party after a spark from flash powder ignited a cotton snow bank. Crooks saw a child point to a blaze in the cotton and began tearing down the decorations about which the children were grouped. His hands were severely burned and some damage was done to the furnishings of the club house.

Small Johnny Drew on Biblical Knowledge to Convince Mother of Danger He Was In.

Resemblances, Fancied and Real, Have Given Rise to Some Highly Imaginative Stories.

Mothers are good friends and assist in their children being playmates. But this doesn't suit John, who wishes to get out with the boys. So he tries his best to start a quarrel whenever playtime with Edith arrives. And the explanations for this trouble, which he offers to his mother are often elaborate.

Last Wednesday he had succeeded in making Edith angry. Like a little fury she flew at him and pulled his hair. Then John went home to make the announcement that no longer would he play with his girl. "I can't—that's all," he ended. "It's dangerous for me."

His mother smiled. "Oh, I think not," she comforted. "It isn't such a calamity to lose a few hairs." "Well this is just the beginning," John returned, "and remember what happened to Samson just on account of a woman."

present shah of Persia and was discovered. His grandfather, Nasr-ed-Din, had a famous double in the person of Edmund Yates. The resemblance between these two was so striking that Yates' photographs were sold in Brussels as the shah's when Nasr-ed-Din visited that city. However, he never suffered through the possession of a double as another monarch did, if we may credit a theory of Andrew Lang's. According to that ingenious historian, Queen Elizabeth and Darnley were doubles. The second husband of Mary, Queen of Scots was not, as is generally supposed, blown up in the explosion of Kirk o' Field, but escaped into England. He then somehow got Elizabeth at his mercy and ultimately secured her throne, posing as the queen to the end of his days. Thanks to the amazing resemblance between the two, the imposture was not discovered until after Darnley's death.—Manchester Guardian.

WINTER GARDEN FOR SOUTH

Furnishes Family With Supply of Needed Green Foods—Various Crops to Grow.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Something in the form of green vegetables may be had from the outdoor garden every day of the winter months throughout the greater part of the Southern states. Perhaps it may be nothing more than turnip greens or a dish of boiled kale, but it serves the purpose of giving the family much needed green food and puts iron into the blood. There is perhaps no vegetable the universally grown collards of the Southern gardens. Fall-planted spinach may be cut at any time during the winter, even when the ground may be slightly frozen, and it may be necessary to plunge the freshly cut spinach into cold water to remove the frost.

Certain of the more hardy varieties of lettuce, like Big Boston, can be grown during the winter with slight protection by means of straw or boards set at an angle on the north side of the row. Onion sets will give an abundance of early green onions for table use. There are quite a number of crops that will make a slow growth during the winter and furnish a constant supply of green food for the table. Get the garden habit and keep the Southern garden going every month in the year.

PURE WATER IS IMPORTANT

Required by All Farm Animals, Especially by Dairy Cow for Maximum Production.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)
All animals require plenty of good, pure water. This is especially true of the milking cow, as water constitutes more than three-fourths of the volume of milk. Stale or impure water is distasteful to the cow and she will not drink enough of it for maximum milk production.

DAVE BECOMES WEALTHY.

Synopsis.—David Eiden, son of a drunken, shiftless ranchman, almost a maverick of the foothills, is breaking bottles with his pistol from his running cayuse when the first automobile he has ever seen arrives and tips over, breaking the leg of Doctor Hardy but not injuring his beautiful daughter, Irene. Dave rescues the injured man and brings a doctor from 40 miles away. Irene takes charge of the housekeeping. Dave and Irene take many rides together and during her father's enforced stay they get well acquainted. They part with a kiss and an implied promise. Dave's father dies and Dave goes to town to seek his fortune. A man named Conward teaches him his first lesson in city ways. Dave has a narrow escape, is disgusted and turns over a new leaf. Fate brings him into contact with Melvin Duncan, who sees the inherent good in the boy and welcomes him to his home, where he meets Edith, his host's pretty daughter. Dave becomes a newspaper reporter and advances rapidly to a position of responsibility.

During the following days Dave had a keener eye than usual for evidences of "industrial development." He found them on every hand. Old properties, long considered unsalable, were changing owners. Money moved easily; wages were stiffening; tradesmen were in demand. There was material for many good stories in his investigations. He began writing features on the city's prosperity and prospects. The rival papers did the same and there was soon started between them a competition of optimism. The great word of the day was "boom." And by way of the little city, Dave marvelled, and wondered how he had failed to read these signs until Conward had laid their portent bare before him. But as yet it was only his news sense that responded; his delight in the strange and the sensational. He was not yet inoculated with the poison of easy wealth.

His nights were busy with his investigations, but on Sunday, as usual, he went out to the Duncans'. Mrs. Duncan explained that Edith had gone to visit a girl friend in the country; would be gone away for some time. Dave felt a foolish annoyance that she should have left town. She might at least have called him up. Why should she call him up? Of course not? Still, the town was very empty. He drove with Mrs. Duncan in the afternoon, and at night took a long walk by the river. He had a vague but oppressive sense of loneliness. He had not realized what part of his life these Sunday afternoons with Edith had come to be.

A few days later Conward strolled in, with the inevitable cigarette. He smoked in silence until Dave completed a story.

"Good stuff you're giving us," he

"I Can't Take That Much," He Exclaimed. "It Isn't Fair."

ished. "Remember what I told you the other day? It's just like putting a match to tinder. Now we're off."

Conward smoked a few minutes in silence, but Dave could not fail to see the excitement under his calm exterior. He had, as he said, decided to "sit" in the biggest game ever played. The intoxication of sudden wealth had already fired his blood.

He slipped a bill to Dave. "For your services in that little transaction," he explained.

Eiden held the bill in his fingers gingerly, as though it might carry infection, as in very truth it did. He realized that he stood at a turning-point—that everything the future held for him, might rest on his present decision. There remained in him not a little of the fine, stern honor of the ranchman of the open range; an honor curious, sometimes terrible, in its interpretation of right and wrong, but a fine, stern honor nevertheless. And he instinctively felt that to accept this money would compromise him for evermore. As he turned the bill in his fingers he noticed that it was for one hundred dollars. He thought it was ten.

"I can't take that much," he exclaimed. "It isn't fair."

"Fair enough," said Conward, well pleased that Dave should be impressed by his generosity. "Fair enough," he repeated. "It's just ten per cent of my profit."

"You mean you made a thousand dollars on that deal?"

"Exactly that. And that will look like a peanut to what we are going to make later on."

"We?"

"Yes. You and me. We're going into partnership."

"But I've nothing to invest. I've only a very little saved up."

"Invest that hundred."

Dave looked at Conward sharply. Was he trifling? No, his eyes were frank and serious.

"You mean it?"

"Of course. Now, I'll put you onto something, and it's the biggest thing that has been pulled off yet. There's a section of land lying right against the city limits that is owned by a fellow over in England; remittance man who fell heir to an estate and had to go home to spend it. CHAPTER VII.

David Eiden smoked his after-dinner cigar in his bachelor quarters. The years had been good to the firm of Conward & Eiden; good far beyond the wiliness of their first dream. The transaction of the section bought from the English absentee had been but the beginning of bigger and more daring adventures. Conward, in that first wild prophecy of his, had spoken of a city of a quarter of a million people; already more lots had been sold than could be occupied by four times that population.

Dave had often asked himself where it all would end.

The firm of Conward & Eiden had profited not the least in the wild years of gain-getting. Their mahogany-finished first-floor quarters were the last word in office luxuriance. Conward's private room might with credit have housed a premier or a president. Its purpose was to be impressive rather than to give any other service, as Conward spent little of his time there. On Dave fell the responsibility of office management, and his room was fitted for efficiency rather than luxury. It commanded a view of the long general office where a battery of stenographers and clerks took care of the details of the business of Conward & Eiden. And

"It Would Be Mean to Put Over on Me"

Dave had established his ability as an office manager. His fairness, his fearlessness, his impartiality, his courtesy, his even temper—save on rare and excusable occasions—had won from the staff a loyalty which Conward, with all his abilities as a good mixer, could never have commanded.

He had prospered, of course. His statement to his banker ran into seven figures. Dave was still a young man, not yet in his thirties; he was rated a millionaire; he had health, comeliness, and personality; he commanded the respect of a wide circle of business men, and was regarded as one of the matrimonial prizes of the city; his name had been discussed for public office; he was a success.

And yet this night, as he sat in his comfortable rooms and watched the street lights come fluttering on as twilight silhouetted the great hills to the west, he was not so sure of his success. He was called a success, yet in the honesty of his own soul he feared the coin did not ring true. He felt that the crude but honest conception of the square deal which was the one valuable heritage of his childhood was slipping away from him. He had in common with Conward outside of their business relationship. He suspected the man vaguely, but had never counted on being counted on for his suspicion.

He was turning the matter over in his mind and wondering what the end would be, when a knock came at the door.

"Come," he said, switching on the light. "Oh, it's you, Bert! I'm honored. Sit down."

Roberta Morrison threw her coat over a chair and sank into another. Without speaking, she extended her shapely feet to the fire, but when its soothing warmth had comforted her limbs she looked up and said: "Adam sure put it over on us, didn't he?"

"Still nursing that grievance over your sex?" laughed Dave. "I thought you would outgrow it."

"I don't blame him," continued the girl, ignoring his interruption. "I am just getting back from forty-seven teas. Gabble, gabble, gabble. I don't blame him. We deserve it."

"Then you have had nothing to eat?"

"Almost. Only insignificant indigestibles—"

Dave pressed a button, and a Chinese boy (all male Chinese are boys) entered.

"Bring something to eat. Go out for it, and be quick. For two."

"You've had your dinner, surely?" asked Bert.

"Such a dinner as a man eats alone," he answered. "Now for something real. You stick to the paper like the ink, don't you, Bert?"

"Can't leave it. I hate it—and I love it. It's my poison and my medicine. Most of all I hate the society twaddle. And, of course, that's what I have to do."

Dave said, suddenly, "why don't you get married?"

"Then she laughed. "It would be mean to put over anything like that on a man, and a girl wouldn't have me."

"Well, then, why don't you buy some real estate?" he continued, jocularly. "Every man should have some disipation—something to make him forget his other troubles."

"A little late in the meal for that word, isn't it? But the fact is, I have invested."

A look came into his face which she did not understand. "With whom?" he demanded, almost peremptorily.

"With Conward & Eiden," she answered, and the roguishness of her voice suggested that her despised femininity lay not far from the surface. "Were you about to be jealous?"

"Why didn't you come to me?"

She realized that he was in deep earnest. "I did," she answered candidly. "At least, I asked for you, but you were out of town, so Conward took me in hand and I followed his advice."

"Do you trust Conward?" he demanded, almost fiercely.

"Well, he's good enough to be your partner, isn't he?"

The thrust hurt more than she knew. He had his poise again.

Now we pick up Irene Hardy again.

Why Not Drive Poison Out?

DO you realize that the kidneys never have a moment's rest? They work all the time, day and night, year in and year out, filtering poisonous waste products from the blood. Is it any wonder the kidneys get out of order, weak, or too tired to keep the blood stream clear of impurities?

When the kidneys falter, trouble begins. The waste matter accumulates in different parts of the system, and back-ache, swollen joints, aching muscles, pains inside, biliousness, blurred vision, puffy pouches under eyes, or rheumatic pains result.

Foley Kidney Pills

Help weak, tired, disordered kidneys to do their work. They strengthen and heal the kidneys, soothe and regulate the bladder and have a splendid tonic action on the liver.

Mr. Louis Flint, 182 S. Jefferson Ave. Battle Creek, Mich., writes:

"For years I suffered intense pain. The doctors told me it was my kidneys and gave me medicine which did me little good. A friend induced me to give Foley Kidney Pills a trial. In a few weeks I was feeling much better. Inside of a year I found out I had a permanent cure. I am now 76 years old, a veteran of the Civil War, on my feet ten hours a day six days a week."

You can help your kidneys keep your system clear of poisons by taking Foley Kidney Pills.
