Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday March 4, 1920

No. 10.

JAMES M. HARRIS

A deep gloom was cast over this entire community by the shocking news of the sudden death of James M. Harris at his home south of town Saturday morning, Feb. 28, 1920.

He had been suffering with the flu, but had recovered sufficiently to attend a meeting of the school board of District No. 1, of which he was a member, Friday afternoon. He was there taken with a chill and returned to his home with symptoms that afterward developed into acute pneumonia, and he died the next morning about eleven o'clock.

He was born July 22, 1870 on the farm which was always his home, and was married to Miss Alma Shehan Feb. 13, 1901. When his father died he took charge of the farm and soon developed into one of the most successful farmers in Livingston county.

His father was on intimate and friendly terms with former Governor Winans, who appointed James as a messenger in the Governor's office while he was not much more than a mere lad. Thus he became interested in politics and later served his township six years as supervisor with great credit to himself and satisfaction to his constituents, and was the Livingston county member of the State Equalization Board. He was chairman of his party's township committee and member of the Livingston County Democratic committee. Although an aggressive, loyal Democrat, his majorities, always increasing at every re-election, showed that he had many Republicans

PINCKNEY THOROUGHBREDS

Our readers will be interested in learning that at the recent State Poultry Show held in Detroit the birds exhibited by S. D. Lapham of the Lakeside Stock and Fruit Farm won best display and were the centre of attraction throughout the show. Mr. Lapham is breeder of the following lines of thoroughbred stock:

Buff Plymouth Rocks, Buff Leghorns, White Pekin Ducks, Toulouse Geese, White Holland Turkeys, Italian Bees, Delaine Merino Sheep and Duroc Jersey Hogs.

Mr. Lapham's plans for the future are indeed ambitious. He says it is his purpose to make his chicken yards at Pinckney the largest in Michigan and by next fall expects to have the largest flock of single combed Buff Leghorns in the world.

He has made a study of the fertilizer question and expects to demonstrate to the farmers in this vicinity that there is good profit in using commercial fertilizer.

MR. FARMER!

Do you believe that an organization properly financed, composed of a majority of the business farmers, can do anything to make our business more profitable?

By their experience both capital and labor have taught us that it can. If we longer remain unorganized, ours will be the fate of the hindmost.

He was a man of unquestioned integrity, tireless energy and of large executive ability. Republicans and Democrats alike were glad to accept his advice on all matters pertaining to public or private welfare. It was through his efforts and by his influence that Putnam township started building good roads and now the township can boast of more miles of good roads than any other township.

He was always at the front in any movement for the good of the community and only a short time ago was unanimously chosen as president of the Pinckney Agricultural Association which society will greatly miss his activity and good counsel in its early efforts for success.

In religion he was a devout Catholic and in St. Mary's Parish, as elsewhere, he was an influential man.

He was always a devoted family man and besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Zita, now attending the Normal School at Ypsilanti, and a son, Morgan, a member of the Pinckney High School. His mother, Mrs. Agnes Harris, and also mourn his loss, with this entire community, which is deeply grieved at the untimely death of one of its most highly respected citizens.

Requiem high mass was held at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning, March 4, Rev. J. A. Crowe officiating. The burial was private.

J. W. Roberts, only son of John and Elra Roberts, was born in Unadilla township April 15, 1905 and passed away after a short illness Feb. 29, 1920, age 14 years ten months and five days.

He was of a genial, happy disposition and made many friends wherever he went.

After passing his eighth grade examination he spent one year in the Pinckney High School and last September began his tenth grade work in the Fowlerville High School.

Loving, tender care brought him safely through an attack of pneumonia following influenza. But when measles developed his weakened system could not stand the strain, and he passed away.

He leaves a father, mother, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn his death.

Little Raymond McClure Hinchey, only child of McClure and Lura Hinchey was born in Unadilla township September 11, 1917 and died February 23, 1920, age 2 years, 5 months, and 12 days.

His winning ways endeared to young and old alike and left him as a child of unusual attractiveness.

Although sadness prevails in the hearts of the parents and loved ones we must not forget Christ's words, "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not; for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

ature.

Please note how this movement is taking. A large majority is giving its support, an essential element of strength. This shows the confidence that others have in this proposition.

NEW HOWELL FIRM

The first change in mercantile business of Wm. McParson & Sons of Howell, in seventy years took place the latter part of the past week. Charles P. Adams and Wilson Howlett purchased the store.

This week an inventory of the stock is being taken and by March 1, the business of this department will be run under the name of the new firm. Messrs. Adams and Howlett need no introduction to our readers. They are both Howell citizens and well known throughout the county. Mr. Adams was formerly of the firm of Pettibone-Adams Co. Mr. Howlett is a son of Attorney and Mrs. L. E. Howlett and has clerked in the stores of Strobel & Schmitt and Pettibone-Wilson. During the past year he returned from overseas. The success of the new firm is the wish of their many friends.—Democrat.

WALLACE-MATTHEWS

Grace May Wallace and Mr. George Enory Matthews, both of Detroit, were united in marriage Feb. 26. Rev. Lepkie officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews will make their future home in Detroit.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our gratitude to the many friends and relatives who were with us in our hour of extreme sorrow. The loss of our son and brother, who was the class who sent him fruit, letters and cards during his illness, is a great loss. To those who gave us aid, we will never forget you.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.—Adv.

a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!—Adv.

Suffered from Catarrh

Superior, Wis.—"I had been a great sufferer for about ten years with catarrh of the head, or nasal catarrh. I used Dr. Pierce's medicine for about five months, the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and am feeling better than I have in ten years. I used to have severe headaches, but I have never had one of these spells since I took the first bottle of Dr. Pierce's medicine. I can recommend these medicines with some judgment by what they have done for me. I have also written Dr. Pierce's Invulner Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., in regard to my case and have always received prompt replies and much valuable information in regard to my particular case."—JOHN G. JOHNSON, 1217 Tower Ave.

Became Run-Down Followed by Rheumatism
Flint, Mich.—"Several years ago I became very poorly and finally had rheumatism so that I couldn't walk for several months. I doctored with four of our local doctors with very little relief, if any, and used some two or three different patent medicines. I got no better. My friends thought I wasn't going to get well at all. I was clear discouraged and when I read in the paper of someone in my same condition who had been cured by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I didn't believe a word of it but I was giving what little money I had to the doctors anyway and thought I might as well give Dr. Pierce a little, so I got $5.00 worth of the Golden Medical Discovery and the little 'Pleasant Pellets' and took them. By that time I was so much better that I kept on and I was so well I hardly knew myself. My friends were surprised. Of course I told them all I did was to take the 'Discovery' and take good care of myself. Now this is all straight truth."—MRS. THEO. PACK, 1261 Sever Ave.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR MARCH 7

JOHN WRITES ABOUT CHRISTIAN LOVE.

LESSON TEXT—1 John 4:7-21. GOLDEN TEXT—Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.—1 John 4:11. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—1 John, II John, III John. PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving One Another. JUNIOR TOPIC—Loving God and Our Neighbors. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Show Love for God and His People. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Love Upon Society.

I. The Origin of Love (vv. 7, 8). Love is of God, for God is love. God not merely loves, but he is the fountainhead of love. Love of country, love of humanity, filial and parental love, every particle of love everywhere has been derived from God; his love is infinite, eternal and unchangeable. Since love is of God, everyone who loves is born of God and knoweth God. The Christian, by his life of love, interprets God to the world. It is not enough that the world should be told that God is good and kind, it should see his nature expressed in the life and love of the disciple. The Christian's life is the world's Bible. Where love is wanting, knowledge of God is wanting. II. God's Manifestation of Love (vv. 9, 10). God's method of making known his love is through the incarnation—the sending of his only begotten Son into the world to be the propitiation for our sins (John 3:16). The coming of Jesus Christ into the world and his taking on human nature makes possible life for those who receive him. If Property Valued At Approximately $20,000,000 Divided Among 230 Corporations.

Washington.—America's rail transportation systems, operated as one great public utility since December 28, 1917, were again divided among their 230 respective corporations, as the government released control March 1. Director General Hines, as the agent of the president, handed over the properties and equipment valued at approximately $20,000,000, to their old direction, free, except for the jurisdiction retained by the government in the new railroad reorganization bill.

In signing the Esch-Cummins bill President Wilson opposed both the railroad unions and the farm organizations associated with the Farmers' National Council, which requested him to veto it on the ground that it would result in delaying action on wage demands, in higher railroad rates and a consequent increase in living costs. Other groups of farmers, however, urged him to sign it. In a proclamation issued at the time the bill was signed, Mr. Wilson vested in Mr. Hines virtually all powers conferred on the executive by the bill. Mr. Hines will also continue to exercise the duties of director-general, which continue until about May 1. The White House also made public the text of the President's reply to a recent request of representatives of the railroad brotherhoods that he appoint a commission composed equally of employers' and employees' delegates to consider wage demands made by

IV. Love the Proof That God Dwells With Us (vv. 12-16).

1. No man hath seen God at any time (v. 12), but there is abundant proof of his being. The one unmistakable proof of his being is love in the heart of man. Love is not native to the human heart, for the heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked (Jer. 17:9). Out of the heart proceeds murder (Matt. 15:18). Love in the heart is proof that God dwells within.

2. Love proves that God's Spirit is within us (vv. 18-16). The fruit of the Spirit is love (Gal. 5:22). God's Spirit dwells within his children. The indwelling Spirit shows us Christ and makes us believe in him as God's Son, the Savior of the world. Those in whom God dwells will always make this confession. Those who deny the Deity of Christ have no fellowship with God, and those who have fellow-his Divine Son.

V. Love's Relation to the Judgment. (vv. 17, 18).

It casts out fear. A judgment day is coming, for God hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained (Acts 17:31). It will be a terrible thing for those unprepared to meet God at that time, but for those who are indwelt by the living God there will be a joyful meeting. He that dwelleth in God and God in him will realize the perfection of love in boldness in the day of judgment, because as he is so are we in this world (vv. 18, 17). The way to get rid of the fear of meeting God in the judgment is to be living with God now.

VI. God's Love the Ground of All Love (v. 19).

The reason we love is that our lives have come into touch with the great fountainhead of love. The incoming of God's being and nature becomes the animating and controlling principle of our lives. The one in whom love is not the master principle does not know God.

VII. The Child of God Possesses Dual Love (v. 20).

The proof that one loves the unseen God is that he loves the person visible who bears the likeness and image of God, and has become a member of the same family through the redemption in Christ Jesus. Love to God and man is united in the one breast of the Christian. The one who hates his brother while pretending to love God is a liar.

VIII. The Solemn Command From God (v. 21).

God commands that those who love him should love their brethren. Obedience to this command will eliminate all war and contentions.

proposals and does not refer directly to the memorial later presented by the brotherhood heads, asking that he veto the Railroad Bill.

Glenn E. Plumb, counsel for the railroad brotherhoods, is working on the constitutionality of the bill, preparing to attack it through the courts.

STATE PRIMARY IMPORTANT

Interest Shown By Number of Names of Presidential Aspirants.

Lansing — Michigan's Presidential primary, which has been held in so low esteem by politicians of both leading parties that delegates to National conventions have disregarded its mandates and the Legislature of 1919 came near abolishing it, has come into its own this year.

Practically every man, who has been prominently mentioned as a possible presidential candidate of any political party, will have his name on the ballots April 5. The last day for filing petitions was March 1.

The Republican Presidential primary ballot will order. Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California; Frank R. Lowden, Governor of Illinois; Gen. John J. Pershing, of Nebraska; William G. Simpson, of Highland Park; Maj-Gen. Leonard Wood, of Vermont; Senator Miles Polindexter, of Washington, and Herbert Hoover, of California.

Mr. Hoover will be the only candidate whose name will appear on the ballots of both the Republican and Democrat parties. Along with him, on the Democrat ballot, will be Edward I. Edwards, New Jersey's wet governor; A. Mitchell Palmer, United States Attorney-General; William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, and William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury.

Out of the Federal prison at Atlanta comes the name of Eugene V. Debs, the only candidate of the Socialists.

U. S. FUEL CONTROL CONTINUES

Hines, Director of Railroads, and Commission of Four Appointed.

Washington.—Coincident with the signing of the railroad bill President Wilson issued executive orders providing for continuation of the powers of the fuel administration, but dividing them between the director general of railroads and a commission of four.

Director General Hines will retain jurisdiction over domestic distribution, while the commission will handle bunker and export coal matters.

The order said the action was taken "because of the present emergency and in order to insure an adequate supply and equitable distribution and to facilitate movement and to prevent locally or generally scarcity of coal."

President Melickjohn of Amherst was talking about the changed financial conditions that now prevail.

"I heard the other day," he said, "of a harassed college professor who, in order to make ends meet, decided to take up manual labor.

"So he visited a large building operation and said, nervously, to a red-faced man with a diamond horseshoe in his necktie:

"I am—ahem—an ex-college professor, and I would like to know if you could take me on here as a bricklayer?"

"The red-faced man gave a derisive snort.

"'Bricklayer? I guess not!' he said. 'We might start you in as an architect, though, and let you work your way up.'"

No Call.

"I saw an auto-jack at work today."

"Did you call the police?"

"No; they were only using it to put on a new tire."

Well Matched.

ward from the warmer-seaconst lands.

Among the most harrowing of the invasions was that of the Mongols in the fourteenth century, when that region suffered atrocities during which women and children were used as targets in bow-and-arrow contests, and silvers of wood were driven under the nails of the men, all this going on until "no eye remained open to weep for the dead."

Prior to the outbreak of the world war, pastoral Bessarabia offered a pleasing contrast. The Moldavian homes offered delight to the tourists. The interior of the Moldavian home was immaculate and vivid, brightly colored curtains and hangings being used. The people are deeply religious, and each orthodox home has its altar. The Bessarabian women are sprightly, bright-eyed and pretty.

SUFFERED TEN YEARS FROM INDIGESTION

Trouble Gone, Appetite Strong, and Eats Anything Without Distress.

"I had a case of catarrh and indigestion, of ten years' standing. I had been treated by the best medical men in Michigan. When I commenced taking Milk's Emulsion, I was in bed. I improved so fast that I kept the neighbors wondering. I am now up and working every day. My cough is gone. My appetite is great, and I can eat anything without hurting me."

—H. D. Lovelee, Rockford, Mich.

Indigestion is seldom cured by "helping" the stomach digest food. Digestives, like physic pills, usually make slaves of the stomach and bowels. Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physica. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. It produces remarkable results in colds, coughs and bronchial asthma.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 50c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great prescription send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

RUSSIAN SOVIET MAKES PEACE BID

REDS REPORTED TO HAVE MADE PROMISE TO ESTABLISH DEMOCRATIC RULE.

AGREE TO PAY NATION'S DEBT

Willing to Give Mining and Other Concessions As Guarantee For Fulfillment of Pledges.

Washington.—In a new peace proposal to the great powers, reported in official dispatches received here, soviet Russia pledges establishment of democratic principles in Russia and the calling of a constituent assembly.

It promises further to withdraw the decree annulling Russia's foreign debt, restoring 60 per cent of the liability and also to pay arrears of interest, giving as a guarantee for the fulfillment of its obligations considerable mining concessions of platinum and silver to an Anglo-American Mining syndicate.

In addition to the formal peace treaties soviet Russia would require Great Britain and other countries to abandon all intervention in Russian affairs. It also proposes that the United States allow a credit to Russia conditioned upon considerable concessions in that country.

A dispatch from London quoting a Moscow radio message said the soviet government had made new peace overtures to the United States, Japan and Rumania.

The suggestion that the United States had been coupled with Japan and Rumania in a new peace offer was received with some surprise. It was assumed, however, that the new offer was in line with the consistent policy of the soviet government to attempt separate negotiations with the Allied and associated powers.

The supreme council at London has announced that it would not negotiate

SUCCEEDS LANSING AS SECRETARY OF STATE

BAINBRIDGE COLBY

Washington.—Bainbridge Colby, of New York, who was one of the leaders in the progressive party under Theodore Roosevelt, has been appointed by President Wilson to succeed Robert Lansing as secretary of state.

The selection of Mr. Colby came as a surprise, most officials assuming that Frank L. Polk, acting secretary, would be the president's choice.

Mr. Colby was appointed a member of the shipping board and the emergency fleet corporation in July, 1917, and also was a member of the American mission to the inter-Allied shipping conference at Paris in the same year. He retired from the shipping board more than a year ago.

INTER-CHURCH MOVE STARTS

Lansing, Mich.—With over 1,000 ministers registered, many laymen present and many denominations represented, the first Michigan State Conference of Pastors opened in Lansing last week to promote "Inter-church World Movement," providing for surveys in cities and rural communities and a study of all religious problems.

Some startling facts as to the decadence of the rural Protestant churches in Michigan, and the ruinous effects of excessive zeal in behalf of denominationalism were laid before the conference.

The country churches are not only failing to grow, but they are disappearing at the rate of 11 per cent a year.

Restricts Security Gamble—Ban On Imports From U. S.

Montreal.—Dumping on the Cana-

The embargo is regarded as necessary to stabilize the price of victory loans.

In return for their acquiescence in the embargo Canadian financial interests have asked that the Dominion prohibit the importation of non-essential commodities from the United States.

Hung for Murder; Noose Slips; Sentence Commuted; Awarded $5,000 Damages

Jackson, Miss.—The lower house of the state legislature voted $5,000 to Will Purvis, a Lamar county farmer, for having twice faced the gallows only to be ultimately exonerated of the murder charge on which he was convicted.

The killing was that of Will Buckley, a witness in a white-capping case, and occurred 26 years ago near Columbia, Miss. On the day set for execution the noose slipped and Purvis fell through unhurt when the trap was sprung. His counsel won a contention that he could not twice be punished for the same offense and sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Two years later Joe Beard, another farmer, cleared Purvis in a death-bed confession, relating to the killing of Buckley, and he was pardoned.

CHAPTER XII.

Conward paused to speak to Irene before leaving the house.

"I owe you my good wishes," he said. "And I give them most frankly, although perhaps with more difficulty than you suppose."

"You are very good, Mr. Conward," she acknowledged.

"I could not wish you anything but happiness," he returned. "And had I been so fortunate as Eiden, in making your acquaintance first, I might have hoped to contribute to your happiness more directly than I can under the present circumstances."

He was speaking in his low, sedulous notes, and his words sent the girl's blood rushing in a strange mixture of gratification and anger.

The tribute he implied—that he himself would have been glad to have been her suitor—was skillfully planned to appeal to her vanity, and her anger was due to its success.

She told herself she should not listen to such words; she should hate to hear such words. And yet she listened to them, and was not sure that she hated them.

She could only say: "You are very good, Mr. Conward."

He pressed her hand at the door, and again that strange mixture of emotions surged through her.

Conward proceeded to the business section of the town, well pleased with the evening's events. He found his way impeded by crowds in front of the newspaper offices.

He had paid little attention to the progress of the war scare, attributing it to the skillful publicity of the government.

To the last he had not believed that war was with Mrs. Hardy. He was clever enough to know that he must observe certain limitations.

At length all his plans appeared to be complete. The city was in a tumult of excitement over the war, but for Conward a deeper interest centered in the plot he was hatching under the unsuspecting noses of Irene and Eiden.

If he could trap Dave the rest would be easy. If he failed in this he had another plan to give failure at least the appearance of success.

The fact that the nation was now at war probably had an influence in speeding up the plot. Everything was under high tension; powerful currents of thought were bearing the masses along unaccustomed channels; society itself was in a state of flux.

If he were to strike at all let the blow fall at once.

On this early August night he ascertained that Dave was working alone in his office. Then he called a number on a telephone.

"This is the night," he explained. "You will find him alone in his office. I will be waiting to hear from you at—" he quoted Mrs. Hardy's telephone number. Then he drove his car to the Hardy home, exchanged a few words with Irene, and sat down to a hand of cribbage with her mother.

Poring over his correspondence, Dave, with his ear cocked for the cry of the latest extra, spent the evening hours in a valiant effort at concentration.

There came a timid knock at the door. "Come in," he called.

No one came.

He rose and walked to the door. Outside stood a young woman.

"If you please," she said, "excuse

"And then I remembered what he said about you, and I just came."

"Have you help—a doctor—a nurse?"

"No, sir. We haven't any money. My father spent it all for the lots that he bought from you."

Dave winced. Then, turning to the young woman: "I'm afraid this is a more urgent case than yours. I'll call a taxi to take you to your address."

To his surprise, his visitor broke out in a ribald laugh. She had seated herself on a desk and was swinging one foot jauntily.

"It's all off," she said. "Say, Dave, you couldn't lose me in this burg. You don't remember me, do you? Well, all the better. I'm rather glad I broke down on this job. I used to be something of an actress, and I'd have put it over if it hadn't been for the kid. The fact is, Dave," she continued, "I was sent up here to decoy you. It wasn't fair fighting, and I didn't like it, but money has been mighty slow of late. I wonder—how much you'd give to know who sent me?"

Dave pulled some bills from his pocket and held them before her. She took them from his hand.

"Conward," she said. "The scoundrel!" he cried. "The low-down dog! There's more in this than appears on the surface."

"Sure there is," she said. "There's another woman. There always is."

Eiden walked to his desk. From a drawer he took a revolver, toyed with it a moment in his hands, broke it open, crushed it full of cartridges, and thrust it in his pocket.

The girl watched with friendly interest. "Believe me, Dave," she said, "if Conward turns up missing I won't know a thing—not a d— thing."

For a moment he stood irresolute. He could only guess what Conward's plan had been, but that it had been diabolical and cowardly, and that it concerned Irene, he had no doubt. His impulse was to immediately confront Conward, force a confession, and deal with him.

But his eye fell on the boy, with his shock of brown hair and wistful, half-frightened face.

"I'll go with you first," he said, with quick decision. Then to the girl, "Sorattributed to an oil lamp burning on a box. He walked over and turned the lamp up, but the oil was consumed; a red, sullen, smoking wick was its only response. Then he felt in his pocket and struck a match.

The light revealed the dinginess of the little room. There was a bed covered with musty, ragged clothing; a table littered with broken and dirty dishes and pieces of stale food; a stove cracked and greasy, and one or two bare boxes serving as articles of furniture. But it was to the bed Dave turned, and with another match bent over the shrunken form that lay almost concealed amid the coarse coverings. He brought his face down close, then straightened up and steadied himself for a moment.

HIGH PRICES FOR DIAMONDS

Value of the Highly Desired Sparklers Has Been Soaring to Unheard-of Heights.

The economic situation of the world at large is said by jewelers to be more responsible for the present high prices of diamonds than any shortage of diamonds in the South African mines or any manipulation of the output by the De Beers Diamond company.

The following figures concerning diamond prices were obtained from Antwerp, the European center of the diamond market. An uncut diamond before the war cost $23 a carat and $32 after cutting. Immediately after the declaration of war, the price slumped. In 1915 the Germans began to get nervous regarding the value of paper money and started buying all the diamonds they could find.

France, Switzerland, Italy and England followed suit and the price went up rapidly. On the eve of the armistice, an uncut carat diamond was worth $70. Since the war ended, the diamond market has boomed, owing to the difficulty of exchange and the embargo on the export of currency from one European nation to another. Today a carat of uncut stone finds a ready market at $150.

"Yes. Can I help you in any way?" The woman tittered a moment, but resumed soberly: "You will wonder at me coming to you, but I'm from the country. Did you think that?"

"I suspected it," said Dave with a smile. "You knocked—" He paused.

"Yes?"

"Like a country girl," he said, boldly. She tittered again. "Well, I'm lost," she confessed. "I got off the train a short time ago. My aunt was to meet me, but there are such crowds in the street, I must have missed her. And I saw your name on the window and I had heard of you. So I just thought that I'd ask—if you wouldn't mind—showing me to this address."

She fumbled in her pocket, and Dave invited her into the office. There she produced a torn piece of paper with an address.

"Why, that's just a few blocks!" said Dave. "I'll walk around with you." He turned for his hat, but at that moment there was another timid knock on the door. He opened it. A boy of eight or ten years stood outside.

"What is it, son?"

The lad looked shyly about the office. It was evident he was impressed with its magnificence. "Are you Mr. Eiden that sells lots?"

"Yes. Were you thinking of buying a few lots?"

"Did you sell lots to my father?"

"Well, if I knew your father's name perhaps I could tell you. Who is your father?"

"He's Mr. Merton. I'm his son. And he said to me, before he got so bad, he said, 'There's just one honest man in this city, and that's Mr. Eiden.' Is that you, Mr. Eiden?"

"Well, I hope it is, but I won't claim such a distinction. I remember your father very well. Did he send you to me?"

"No, sir. He's too sick. He don't know anybody now. He didn't know me tonight." The boy's voice went thick and he stopped and swallowed.

"That's all right," she said. "I'm used to being turned out." And before he knew it she was in the street.

"All right, son," said Dave, taking up the matter now in hand. "What's your name—your first name?"

"Charlie."

"And your address?"

The boy mentioned a distant subdivision.

"That is out, isn't it? Well, we'll take the car. I guess I'd better call a doctor at once."

He went to the telephone and gave some directions. Then he and the boy walked to a garage and in a few moments were humming along the by-streets into the country. Dave had already become engrossed in his errand of mercy and his rage at Conward, if not forgotten, was temporarily dismissed from his mind.

He chatted with the boy. "You go to school?"

"Not this year. Father has been too sick. Of course, these are holidays, and he says he'll be all right before they're over."

Dave smiled grimly. "The incurable optimism of it," he murmured to himself. Then outwardly: "Of course he will have to turn up in the end with a good doctor and a good nurse."

They drove on through the calm night, leaving the city streets behind and following what was little more than a country trail. Here and there they bumped over pieces of graded street, infinitely rougher than the natural prairie; once Dave dropped his front wheels into a collapsing water trench; once he just grazed an isolated hydrant.

"And this is one of our 'choice residential subdivisions,'" said Dave to himself. "Fine business! Fine business!"

As the journey continued the sense of self-reproach which had been static in him for many months became more insistent. The intrusion of Conward into his mind sent the blood to his head, but at that moment his reflections were cut short by the boy.

"We will have to get out here," he said. "The bridge is down."

Investigation proved him to be right. A bridge over a small stream had collapsed and was slowly disintegrating amid its own wreckage. Dave ran the car a little to one side of the road, locked the switch and walked on with the boy.

"Fine business!" Dave repeated to himself. "And this is how our big success was made. Well, the 'success' has vanished as quickly as it came. I suppose there is a law somewhere that is not mocked."

They were passing through a settlement of crude houses, dimly visible in the starlight and by occasional yellow blurs from their windows. Before one of the meanest of these the boy at last stopped, pulled the door open and Dave entered. At first he was conscious of a very small and stuffy room, with a peculiar odor which he

Dove Valuable in Warfare.

It is odd to realize the practical use of the dove, generally accepted as the symbol of peace, in carrying on war. And it has probably surprised many people to learn that the homing pigeon differs materially from the carrier pigeon so long associated with the bearing of messages. As a matter of fact, the carrier pigeon has practically ceased carrying and is nowadays raised for its fine looks rather than its homing instinct. The homing pigeon used in the United States army and navy is of another type, which has been trained through many generations to fly. Training begins when the birds are about three months old, and the flying distances are gradually increased to 500 miles, when the bird is held to be qualified for real work.

Savages' Salt.

has extracted salt from ocean water by evaporating it in pools, and distant inland tribes have journeyed far to trade with him for it. The salt works that are in operation in Rizal province of the Philippine Islands have been worked for centuries, at first in a very crude way by allowing ocean water at high tide to flood a slight natural depression and then roughly damming the narrow neck where the overflow occurred to keep out succeeding tides until the water in the "pan" dried up. This left a mass of muddy salt crystals, which were scooped out with coconut and calabash shells; and then the process was repeated.

The Almighty Dollar.

Bribery has been the downfall of many public men during the course of history. Francis Bacon, the greatest thinker of his age, was ruined by his cupidity. Lord Chancellor Maclesfield and Waterbury were destroyed by the same vice. Benedict Arnold sold a fort in New York to the enemy for $31,575. For this same sin Gorgel betrayed Austria, Abithopol forsook David and Judas delivered up Christ.

What's a Husband, Anyway?

"Did the fair defendant introduce any character witnesses?" "A dozen at least." "And did they say anything good about her?" "They all swore she was kind to her poodle."

Standard for Radium.

Scientists in Europe are trying to determine and agree upon an international standard of strength and purity for radium.

"Even the armament people don't want to fight. All they want is to frighten more money out of the taxpayers of Europe." To Conward this explanation seemed very complete. It covered the whole ground and left nothing to be said.

But tonight he was aware of a keener tension in the crowd atmosphere. They were good-natured crowds, to be sure, laughing and cheering and making sallies of heavy wit; but they were in some way more intense than he had ever seen before.

There was no fear of war; there was, rather, an adventurous spirit which seemed to fear that the affair would blow over, as had so many affairs in the past, and all the excitement go for nothing. That war, if it came to war, could last no one dreamed; it would be a matter of a few weeks, a few months, at the most, until a thoroughly whipped Germany would retire behind the Rhine to plan ways of raising the indemnity which outraged civilization would demand.

Conward elbowed his way through the crowds, smiling in his superior knowledge, over their excitement.

At his office Conward used a telephone. Then he walked to a restaurant, where, after a few minutes, he was joined by a young woman. They took a table in a box. Supper was disposed of, and the young woman began to grow impatient.

"Well, you brought me here," she said, at last. "You've fed me, and you don't feed anybody, Conward, without a purpose. What's the consideration?"

"I'm pulling off a little joke, and I want you to help me. You know Eiden—Dave Eiden?"

"Sure. I've known him ever since that jolt put him out of business up in your rooms, ever so many years ago. He was too rural for that mixture."

"I want you to get him down to your place some night to be agreed upon—I'll fix the date later—and keep him there until I call for him, with his fiancée."

"Some joke," she said, and there was disgust in her voice. "Who is it on—Eiden, me, or the girl?"

"Never mind who it's on," Conward returned. "I'm paying for it. Here's something on account, and if you make a good job of it I won't be stingy."

He handed her a bill, which she kissed and put in her purse. "I need the money, Conward, or I wouldn't take it."

This part of his trap set, Conward awaited a suitable opportunity to spring it. In the meantime he took Mrs. Hardy partially into his confidence. He allowed her to believe, however, that Eiden's habits would stand correction and he had merely arranged to trap him in one of his favorite haunts. She was very much shocked and thought it was very dreadful, but "of course we must save Irene."

But concerning another part of his program Conward was even less frank
