Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday March 25, 1920

No. 13,

OBITUARY

Mary Rebecca Lambertson was born in Middlesex County, N. Y., November 27, 1856. At the age of ten years she came with the family to Michigan to the farm now owned by Grover Lambertson. January 1, 1877 she was united in marriage to George W. Culy.

They took up life's voyage together on the Joseph Culy farm in Hamburg township. On this farm they prospered and reared one daughter, Maude now Mrs. Adolph Spaulding of Battle Creek and one son, James, who preceded his mother to the better world by one year and four months.

She was always a willing and capable helper in all neighborhood and family gatherings and was loved and respected by all who knew her.

For thirteen years she has been a patient sufferer from spinal trouble and although unable to walk, she, with the help of her worthy husband, has carried on the duties of the household up to the day she was called home, March 15, 1920.

Two sisters, two brothers and four grandchildren, with the whole community of friends are left to miss the companionship of one of the most respected women in our midst.

The funeral was held at the Federated church Tuesday, March 23. Burial in Pinckney cemetery.

Olivia Crofoot was born in Simcoo, Canada, September 26, 1846 and departed this life on March 12, 1920 at Lansing at the age of 74 years, 5 months 11 days. She was united in marriage to William Crofoot in 1871, nothing of her life was spent. Mrs. Donaldson was a member of the M. E. Church at Pinckney. She was the mother of one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Pool, who died in 1903, and one adopted daughter, Mrs. Andrew Bates, at whose home she was tenderly cared for during her last few months here. Mrs. Donaldson leaves to mourn her loss one brother, Ed. Crofoot of Iosco, Mrs. Bates of Lansing and two grandsons, besides several nieces and nephews.

Burial in Pinckney cemetery.

Livingston Co. Athletic Association Organized

Superintendents of the various high schools together with the County school Commissioner and County Y. M. C. A. spent Saturday in perfecting plans for a county athletic program.

Walter Gosnell of the State Y. M. C. A. was called in for instruction in the work of the National Athletic System.

The Association plans a permanent organization that will promote a program of athletics that will include every boy in the schools of Livingston County.

Local meetings are planned for each village, that will give every teacher in the county an opportunity to attend an instruction meeting in which a detailed work of the association will be explained.

It is reported on good authority that one of our good friends in the county will put up a "Loving Cup" to be held by the school making the best record.

Supt. Allen of Brighton was elected President of the Association and County Commissioner Aldrich Secretary-Treasurer.

Next Saturday, March 27, a meeting will be held in the Howell school at 1:30 at which time it is hoped that every teacher within reasonable distance of Howell, and also those who plan to teach the coming year, will be present.

Shortage of Teachers

All over the state teachers are demanding large increases in salary, and many teachers have decided to accept positions in the commercial world.

At the meeting of school officers in Washtenaw county it was stated that of 119 teachers, 11 are uncertain whether or not they will teach next year and 37 have announced their intention of giving up teaching.

The present corps of teachers in the Pinckney School has been re-engaged for next year at a moderate increase in salaries.

Fire Near Gregory

Wednesday night the barn owned by F. A. Howlett on the Richard Mackinder, between Gregory and Stockbridge, burned to the ground. It is reported that twelve head of cattle were burned with the other contents.

A goodly number of our Democratic friends remained through the Republican caucus Monday and after adjournment the Democratic nominees for treasurer and clerk asked Wheeler if he was going to set up the cigars this year. Wheeler replied that he thought some of having an oyster dinner. This was agreed to by the aforesaid Walsh and Gardner, who said, "We are in on that", and appointed a committee of one to assign each their share of the furnishings. Wheeler made the following allotments: Walsh to furnish the crackers, Wheeler to furnish the water Fischer to furnish the salt and Reade would furnish the pepper and right and was all white pepper. "Go it", said Carr, "I will use cayenne." Chelsea Tribune.

Does the Millenium Approach?

At the caucus last Saturday afternoon, Wm. P. Johnson brought up the question of smoking in the hall on election day. He thought it a courtesy due to the ladies, who are now voters to abate the smoking nuisance at the polls and he offered a motion that a committee be appointed to take the request to the election board that they prohibit smoking at the polls on the coming election day. The motion was carried unanimously. Milford Times.

BELCHING Caused by Acid-Stomach

Let EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy, give you quick relief from disgusting belching, food-repeating, indigestion, bloated, gassy stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn and other stomach miseries. They are all caused by Acid-Stomach from which about nine people out of ten suffer in one way or another. One writes as follows: "Before I used EATONIC, I could not eat a bite without belching it right up, sour and bitter. I have not had a bit of trouble since the first tablet."
Millions are victims of Acid-Stomach without knowing it. They are weak and ailing, have poor digestion, bodies improperly nourished although they may eat heartily. Grave disorders are likely to follow if an acid-stomach is neglected. Cirrhosis of the liver, intestinal congestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach—these are only a few of the many ailments often caused by Acid-Stomach.
A sufferer from Catarrh of the Stomach of 11 years' standing writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach for 11 long years and I never found anything to do me any good—just temporary relief—until I used EATONIC. It is a wonderful remedy and I do not want to be without it."
If you are not feeling quite right—lack energy and enthusiasm and don't know just where to locate the trouble—try EATONIC and see how much better you will feel in every way.
At all drug stores—a big box for 50c and your money back if you are not satisfied.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly back-ache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

MODERN YOUTH HARD TO TRAP

Little Near-Tragedy Story That is an Example of His Quick Wit and Duplicity.

Of course, he shouldn't have done it, and all that sort of thing, but both Hazel and Betty were charming girls, and it was summertime, and he was young, and he had gone and got himself engaged to both of them. He was sitting on the beach pondering the various problems this situation presented, when two soft hands were laid lightly over his eyes and a soft voice whispered at the back of his head "Guess who?"

Now, the voices of Hazel and Betty were much alike, too much alike when heard as a whisper to make identification sure. And it didn't help any when the voice cooed—"I'll give you a hint—it's some one you told you loved."

Still he hesitated, his mind in a whirl. Should he name either girl and chance it? Already he felt a cooling of the air, as the voice continued: "Well, if that doesn't tell you who—"

"Of course I know who it is!" he exclaimed. "It is the prettiest, sweetest, dearest, smartest little girl in all the world!"

"Oh, you dear old boy!" she chirped in satisfied delight. "How did you really know for sure it was I?"

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Sometime ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."

—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letter, and many others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

JURY CONVICTS NEWBERRY AND SIXTEEN AIDES

SENATOR SENTENCED TO 2 YEAR PRISON TERM AND $10,000 FINE —KING AND CODY ALSO GET LIMIT.

CONVICTED MEN RELEASED ON BONDS--CASE TO BE APPEALED

Sessions Grants Ninety-day Stay in Execution of Sentence—May Take Two Years Before Supreme Court Passes Judgment.

Grand Rapids—After Judge Clarence W. Sessions passed sentence Saturday afternoon upon United States Senator Truman H. Newberry and 16 co-defendants, convicted by the jury's verdict on the first count of the elections conspiracy case indictment, the court granted a 90-day stay in execution of the sentence, pending an appeal and filing of a bill of exceptions. Sixty-eight of the respondents were acquitted on both counts by the jury's verdict.

Senator Newberry, Paul H. King, his campaign manager, and Frederick Cody, of New York, received the maximum penalty provided under the corrupt practices act—a sentence to serve two years in Leavenworth penitentiary and a $10,000 fine.

The conviction came after the jury had been in deliberation for a total of 11 hours.

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY

Previous to passing sentence, the court denied motions for an arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The men found guilty and the sentences imposed by the court are as follows:

- Senator Newberry, two years in Leavenworth and $10,000 fine.
- Paul H. King, two years in Leavenworth prison and $10,000 fine.
- Frederick Cody, two years in Leavenworth and $10,000 fine.
- Charles A. Floyd, two years in Leavenworth and $10,000 fine.
- William J. Mickel, two years in Leavenworth prison.
- Allan A. Templeton, one year and six months.
- Roger M. Andrews, one year and six months.
- Milton Oakman, one year and six months.
- Richard H. Fletcher, one year and three months.
- James F. McGregor, one year and three months.
- Fred Henry, one year and three months.
- Hannibal A. Hopkins, one year and one day.
- E. V. Chilson, one year and one day.
- John S. Newberry, fined $10,000.
- Harry C. Turner, fined $2,000.
- B. Frank Emery, fined $2,000.
- George S. Ladd, fined $1,000.

After imposing sentence, Judge Sessions, denying a motion for a new trial, granted a 90-day stay of execution in which the defense might perfect appeal and released the 17 convicted men on personal bonds of $5,000 each pending that appeal.

Martin W. Littleton, of counsel for the defense said he would at once appeal to the supreme court of the United States. Ordinarily, the procedure would take the case to the court of appeals for this district, at Cincinnati, but Mr. Littleton explained that the constitutionality of the statute limiting campaign expenditures to $3,750 is to be challenged, and that, in making this issue, he cleared the way direct to the highest tribunal.

KING HAD SOME IMAGINATION

Wonderful Story of "Waterless Sea" Would Have Done Credit to Baron Munchausen.

Prester John as a title was like the Egyptian Pharaoh and belonged to

One writer of long ago sets Abyssinia as the kingdom of Prester John. Abyssinia used to be called "Middle India." It is related that before the year 1241 a letter was addressed by Prester John to Manuel Comnenus, emperor of Constantinople, saying that in Prester John's country there is a "waterless sea," which none have ever crossed. It consists of tumbling billows of sand, never at rest, and contains fish of most excellent flavor.

Three days' journey from the coast of the sand sea is a mountain whence rolls down a "waterless river," consisting of small stones, which crumble into sand when they reach the sea.

Whoever Prester John may have been, if he invented that story, he certainly possessed a vivid imagination and considerable originality.

If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible under your present conditions, investigate what Western Canada has to offer you.

Seeing With the Soul.

What you see with your soul helps determine what you are. The mind cannot contemplate visions without reactions. The deeper the vision the more potent the reacting influence. Only some of the men of the non-dualistic type go through life without moments of soul stirring at the shrine of conscience and there weighing the problems of life. When man sees his power and appreciates that every unused vestige detresses in multiples he seeks to turn it to account. And it blesses in proportion to the enthusiasm with which it is administered. The good we do returns with greater power when it is done without thought of reward. We are in the world to make the most of it. We must see the soul if we are to make the full use of our possibilities. This is every man's right.—Gita.

Swiss "Mourning Urn."

At the death of a person in Switzerland the family inserts a formal notice in the papers asking for sympathy, and stating that the "mourning urn" will be exhibited during certain hours on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table covered with a black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends of the family drop little black-margined visiting cards, sometimes with a few words of sympathy on them. The urn is put on the table on the day of the funeral. Only men ever go to the churchyard, and then generally follow the hearse on foot.

"The Farmer Kept Faith With the Country"

--Now Let the Country
Keep Faith With Him"

LEONARD WOOD

This is Wood's sentiment toward the American Farmer, as expressed in his Platform and speeches:

"If the farmers had not kept faith as they did we would have lost the war, we would have been unable to feed our Allies and ourselves. They sent their sons to war, and in spite of the shortage of labor they raised the biggest crop in history.

"We want to maintain our rural population because it is the basis of our most stable citizenship. To do this, we must make life on the farms more attractive. The farmer must have good roads; he pays his full share of taxes. His interests must not be permitted to suffer so that other interests may profit more. If there is anything more important in this country than Agriculture, I do not know it.

"We must have a Department of Agriculture conducted for the Farming interests by men who really know farming from the furrow to the crop.

"We must have national economy at Washington, and a budget system.

"We must have federal suppression of all dishonest business, no matter how large, no matter how small.

"We must have more producing, less spending, a saner cost of living.

"We must have a longer term of years to pay the war debt.

"We want fewer tenant farms, more owned farms."

MARNE MEMORIAL POSTER

JUST as the school children of France gave for their country's gift to the United States—the Statue of Liberty—so will American school children contribute "one cent and upward" for "America's Gift to France," a monumental statue by Frederick MacMonnies, the noted American sculptor. Mr. MacMonnies is contributing his services toward the monument which, it is estimated, will cost $250,000.

The poster shown herewith, is by Albert Sterner, noted American portrait painter. It typifies the tribute which this country will pay to the French through the Marne monument. The poster will be displayed in cities, towns, and villages, and will designate many of the places where contributions may be made during the week of March 22—a free-will offering, in which numbers of contributors, rather than size of contributions, will be sought from school children and others.

Contributions are now being received at National Headquarters, 150 Nassau street, New York, by Charles H. Sabin, president of one of New York's largest trust companies, who is treasurer of the fund.

The memorial will be erected at

Mongolians Great Meat Eaters.

Inhabitants of Mongolia are great meat eaters, living in some cases entirely on mutton. It is not uncommon for a Mongol to consume ten pounds of this meat at one sitting. He also compares other foods by asking if they are as good as mutton. The Mongol puts mutton fat in his tea, which is prepared with milk from the poorest grade of tea pressed into bricks. He drinks enormous quantities of this, 30 cups a day being no uncommon amount for an adult. The natives eat whenever opportunity comes, there

Millions are victims of Acid-Stomach without knowing it. They are weak and ailing, have poor digestion, bodies improperly nourished although they may eat heartily. Grave disorders are likely to follow if an acid-stomach is neglected. Cirrhosis of the liver, intestinal congestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach—these are only a few of the many ailments often caused by Acid-Stomach. A sufferer from Catarrh of the Stomach of 11 years' standing writes: "I had catarrh of the stomach for 11 long years and I never found anything to do me any good—just temporary relief—until I used EATONIC. # Novelty Models in Spring Hats

Liberal coats of lacquer are applied to every sort of fabric for millinery use, frayed out horsehair cloth and violently thrusting feathers vie with gaily dyed raffia and spun glass. There are not so many monkey hair scalp locks as during the winter season, notes a prominent fashion writer, but their place is taken by turbans of lizard skin. Chinese hats have imitation queues dangling from their crowns and Egyptian hats have colossal earrings dangling from each side, while naive fruits, flowers and vegetables decorate hats of every description.

The first, if not the last, word of any talk about early spring hats is news of the waxed and varnished fabrics which are so pronouncedly in evidence. Beginning with that curious substance cellophane, which is conjured into so many forms, everything glitters, ribbon, satin, feathers and straw. Cellophane, as a braid in rather wide strips, resembles a flat, shiny straw, but there are many genuine straw braids which are treated to a highly polished finish.

Raffia, which is used so extensively in a decorative way, is also finely shredded and varnished until it appears like a delicate, silky floss, of which draped turbans are made and veiled with tulle. Another strange fabric, spun glass, twisted and as tough as wire, is made use of in a similar manner.

No End to the Unique. But there is no end to the unique and interesting substances which mening with in these early hats, whether to eke out a scarcity of straw, to distract attention from a lack of originality in design, or merely from caprice, it is impossible to say. How many of them will find permanent favor and last over into the normal they, as well as straws of rougher braids, will undoubtedly appear in greater numbers later in the season. At the same time there are many satin hats and hats of faille and taffeta combined with straw.

Ribbon hats are having a great success, and the ribbon is used in many interesting and amusing ways, among them the fashioning of it into wings. Both silk and velvet ribbon are woven into a plaided fabric with strips of cellophane, and a clever little hat with a narrow upturned brim is concocted of alternate strips of ribbon and straw, which are twisted slightly on the crown and terminate at the top in a crisply tied ribbon bow.

The Egyptian Influence. The only new note in line is provided by the Egyptian influence, so much talked of. In so far as hats are concerned, the Egyptian inspiration has rather attractive results, which are only possible with the hair bunched out over the ears according to the prevailing fashion. This balances the thrusting out of the hat brim over the ears and its characteristically flattened front.

The line is accentuated by spreading wings, by clumps of flowers and in a rather spectacular manner by large pendant glittering ornaments resembling earrings. In a general way any hat which points out over the ears confesses Egyptian inspiration, a hat which is draped with a gracefully flung back veil inherits from the Spanish and a hat with a peaked brim turned back from the face has found so much favor with women of all sorts and conditions that it is still a feature of the vast majority of the new hats, whether their

Use Fruit and Vegetables.

Large turbans are not unusual, and all manner of little toques and berets have made their appearance in their accustomed manner. Among these are extraordinary embroideries in brightly dyed straws and applied silken figures, the latter outlined with a gay Chinese cord. A curious decoration makes a thing of wonder of a soft full beret in gray blue raffia. The color is produced by sprinkling the surface with pears, peaches, plums and cherries in soft yellow leather, painted in the most realistic manner by hand. The vines and leaves which connect these products of the orchard are worked in colored raffia.

Contrary to the usual practice, the early spring models are frequently flower trimmed, and extraordinary fruits and even vegetables are to find favor, the latter of course on sport hats. Large flat flowers are applied to the entire surface of a hat or flower petals may decorate the upturned brim. Little rosebuds border a close fitting toque of blue straw and two discs are solidly packed with roses over the ears, thus proclaiming itself an Egyptian hat.

The remarkable flowers and fruits which trim the spring hats are made by hand of bits of silk and velvet. Wheat and grapes are made of shot taffeta and velvet plums of natural size and coloring are arranged with sprays of wheat and small velvet flowers to produce a subtle and lovely bit of color. A huge pink silk rose with foliage and a long soft stem is frequently the only decoration of which a hat can boast.

Somber Blue and Black Tailleur of Former Years is Showing Elaborate Embroideries.

American women will go clad in brighter colors this season than they have heretofore, if the creators can induce them to do so.

The somber blue and black tailleur of former years is showing elaborate embroideries this season and trimmings of bright colored leather. One handsome tailleur from Michael done in a navy blue velour shows arrow-shaped insets of cherry-red leather in both jacket and skirt.

Another leading creator is fashioning the spring suits in shades of red that include Egyptian red and the American Beauty shade, the latter a color that lends itself admirably to the tailored mode.

Men's wear suiting is being featured by the creators of the severely tailored mode, one of the handsome tailleurs seen recently being of navy blue men's wear suiting that showed a pin stripe of white, says Daily Garment News. The jacket was in 40-inch length, and cut with a narrow shawl collar and one-button fastening at the waistline. Both skirt and jacket were decorated with bias straps of self-material.

The slightly bloused back that the Parisian creators favor is not being generally accepted by the American makers of tailored garments, as the greater number of the spring tailleurs show a semi-fitted back, with the skirt of the jacket cut to finger-tip length. When stripes are used they are confined to the skirt, with a jacket of solid color. Many of the new tailored suits show a flat back panel that hangs from the shoulders, with the sides slightly shorter and the front panels barely clearing the waistline.

Heavy silk embroideries are extensively used on straw.

MODERN YOUTH HARD TO TRAP

Little Near-Tragedy Story That is an Example of His Quick Wit and Duplicity.

Of course, he shouldn't have done it, and all that sort of thing, but both Hazel and Betty were charming girls, and it was summertime, and he was young, and he had gone and got himself engaged to both of them. He was sitting on the beach pondering the various problems this situation presented, when two soft hands were laid lightly over his eyes and a soft voice whispered at the back of his head "Guess who?"

Now, the voices of Hazel and Betty were much alike, too much alike when heard as a whisper to make identification sure. And it didn't help any when the voice cooed—"I'll give you a hint—it's some one you told you loved."

Still he hesitated, his mind in a whirl. Should he name either girl and chance it? Already he felt a cooling of the air, as the voice continued: "Well, if that doesn't tell you who—"

"Of course I know who it is!" he exclaimed. "It is the prettiest, sweetest, dearest, smartest little girl in all the world!"

"Oh, you dear old boy!" she chirped in satisfied delight. "How did you really know for sure it was I?"

The Contrary Sex. "How would you answer the objection to equal suffrage that every woman would think and vote just as her husband does?"

"That the user of that argument was not a married man."

FASCINATED THE FAIR SEX

Marat, Repulsive in Person and Manners, Was Noted for His Attractiveness to Women.

Jean Paul Marat, one of the leading and most infamous figures of the French revolution, was described by a contemporary as "beyond any question the ugliest man in the whole of France—and not merely ugly, but positively repulsive in person, habits and manners." And yet, in his early years, he was the most popular physician in Paris, not because of supposed professional skill, but on account of his attractiveness to women, the most wealthy and beautiful women of France daily crowding his consultation rooms, pushing, almost fighting, to get a word or perhaps, a single from him. That he turned a cold shoulder to their attentions seemed only to inflame their ardor, and at one time he contemplated flight, so embarrassing became their attentions. Even when he contracted a loathsome skin disease while hiding in the sewers of Paris, fair women continued to adore him.

Danger All Around. "Here is a rum go!" "For heaven's sake, don't let the prohibitionists find you in such a predicament."

Took Him Literally. Renpeck—"That woman is unspeakable." Henpeck—"Then she's just the woman for me."

AFTER 6 YEARS--STILL WELL

Now Strong and Hearty Though Case Looked Hopeless

"Six years ago I was in awful condition," says E. K. Chase, 38 E. Cross St., Ypsilanti, Mich. "My family was told I couldn't live more than two months. I was in constant pain from the uric acid and was so bad with rheumatism my legs seemed all drawn up. My back never stopped hurting. The kidney secretions were held back until only a few drops came and I bloated until I thought my skin would burst. My legs were twice their normal size. The water seemed to fill my chest and press against the heart. For three months I never moved out of the chair and I choked and gasped for breath like a dying man. All the doctoring failed, and my weight went from 185 to 125 pounds. "Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life. Eleven boxes cured me of every complaint. I have been well six years and able to work as hard as any man."

SENATE RETURNS TREATY TO WILSON

AFTER EIGHT MONTHS' FIGHT, UPPER HOUSE FAILS TO RATIFY PACT.

NOW MADE CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Final Attempt to Pass the Amended Document Fails By 7 Votes to Muster Needed Two-Thirds.

Washington.--After a troubled eight month's sojourn in the senate, the treaty with Germany is back in the keeping of President Wilson with a note appended saying that ratification had been refused.

The treaty was taken back to the White House in pursuance of an order adopted after a fourth vote on ratification had failed to muster the necessary two-thirds.

Ratification of the amended pact was defeated by a vote of 49 to 35, the lineup being 28 Republicans and 21 Democrats for and 23 Democrats and 12 Republicans against. Seven more votes were needed owing to the two-thirds rule.

The net result of four months of compromise negotiations was the addition of 17 Democrats to those voting for ratification.

The treaty question is regarded as already injected into the presidential campaign as one of the main issues on which Republicans and Democrats will fight for national indorsement this fall.

taken by congress or the president to end the war status legally, the technical position of the country remains, officials say, just what it was the day the armistice was signed.

War legislation continues in force and under the war department interpretation...

troops at whatever posts in Germany he thinks necessary to enforce the armistice terms.

With the treaty again in his possession three courses are open to Mr. Wilson. He can return it to the senate, in which case the Republican leaders declare it will probably be held indefinitely; await the verdict of the people in the election, or he can treat the treaty as a dead issue, so far as international diplomacy is concerned, and proceed to negotiate a separate peace with Germany, a step which he alone under the constitution could initiate.

Whichever of these he chooses, a long delay seems inevitable before he can bring the country to a full peace status, and the state department holds that until such a status is attained the present diplomatic and trade relations with Germany must be continued.

REBEL SPIRIT RULES GERMANY

Conditions Reported to Resemble a "Barrel of Gun Powder."

London.--All Germany with the exception of the southern states is rebellious, and Berlin is a "barrel of gunpowder which may be ignited at any time," says a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company filed at Berlin.

Dr. Kapp's descent on Berlin, and now his retreat, precipitated parliamentary chaos, which promises indefinitely to clog the legislative machine and the activities of the National Assembly. The coalition parties must construct a new cabinet, which is expected to reveal at least half a dozen new faces, with the prospect of further ministerial changes after the June elections.

DEEP WATERWAY MEET IN JUNE

Lakes-to-Ocean Project to Be Subject of Big Conference.

Detroit.--The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress, expected to be the most important maritime convention in the history of the country, will be held in Detroit, June 3 to 5 inclusive, as planned at a meeting of the inland waterways committee of the Board of Commerce.

The subject before the congress will be the proposal to make navigable the rapids in the St. Lawrence River and thus open up Great Lakes ports to Atlantic Ocean shipping.

Fourteen states including Michigan, east of New York States, are member states of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, an organization formed to further the project. The governors or other representatives of the member states will speak at the congress.

Former Submarine Officer Dives into Detroit River in Sedan, Breaks Way Out and is Rescued

Detroit.--Crashing through the railing at the foot of Woodward avenue, a Ford sedan driven by Travis Field Beal, former navigation officer of the U. S. Submarine K-8, somersaulted into the Detroit river and disappeared.

Four minutes later Beal, who with his fists had smashed his way through the windshield of the submerged automobile, appeared on the surface, still wearing his cap, and was rescued by Patrolman Archie Watson, who witnessed the accident.

The river at the foot of Woodward avenue is 30 feet deep and the former officer says his machine had struck the bottom before he gained presence of mind enough to attempt to escape.

Beal was taken to Receiving hospital after being rescued. His wounds, received when he broke the windshield and forced his body through, were dressed, and he went home unassisted.

SENATE URGES IRISH FREEDOM

Adopts Reservation Asking Self Rule For Emerald Isle.

Washington.--During the debate on the peace treaty last week, the senate unexpectedly swept into the Republican reservation program a declaration of sympathy for self-government in Ireland.

The proposal won out in committee of the whole by a vote of 38 to 36 after a long debate. On a necessary second vote, the senate was unanimous later 45 to 38.

The text of the Irish reservation as introduced by Senator Gerry, Democrat, of Rhode Island, and adopted by the senate follows:

"In consenting to the ratification of the treaty with Germany the United States hereby declares its sympathy for the determination and to the resolution of Irish people for a government of their own choice, adopted by the senate June 6, 1919, and declares that when such government is attained by Ireland, a consummation it is hoped is at hand, it should promptly be admitted as a member of the League of Nations."

Irish people for a government of their own choice, adopted by the senate June 6, 1919, and declares that when such government is attained by Ireland, a consummation it is hoped is at hand, it should promptly be admitted as a member of the League of Nations."

U. S. BUILDING BIGGEST NAVY

Twelve Super Dreadnaughts and Six Cruisers Under Construction.

Washington.--The United States, American naval experts say, is building more warship tonnage than any other nation.

Twelve super-dreadnaughts and six great battle-cruisers, aggregating 665,400 tons, are under construction in private and navy yards. They will carry a total of 152 16 inch rifles and 14 14 inch rifles and all will have the new electric drive engines.

With the completion of this fleet, probably in 1923, the United States will have a battle force of 19 super-dreadnaughts and six battle-cruisers in the first line and eight dreadnaughts and a number of smaller battleships in the second line.

HOUSE PASSES ARMY BILL

Approves Peace-Time Force of 316,800 Officers and Men.

Washington.--A peace-time army of 299,000 enlisted men and 17,800 officers has been approved by the house, in passing the army reorganization bill by a vote of 246 to 92. The measure has been sent to the senate.

The principle of flexibility of organization, adopted during the war, is carried in the permanent establishment, tactical organization being left to presidential regulations.

While an army of more than 300,000 is authorized, the debate disclosed that it was not expected to reach that strength for some time and that appropriations would be on a smaller basis.

BRITISH SEIZE TURK CAPITOL

Constantinople Occupied--Resistance to Peace Treaty Claimed.

Constantinople.--Constantinople has been occupied by Allied forces under General Sir George F. Milne, of the British army. This long looked for military demonstration by the Allies against Turkey was carried out with only one untoward happening, a serious clash at the war office, where the Turks resisted the Allied troops.

Turkish resistance to the terms of the peace treaty which has been framed by the peace conference and continuation of the massacres of Armenians are given as reasons for the occupation.

Sick for Five Years and Given Up

Pontiac, Mich.--"A few years ago I was in a very bad state. I had been sick for about five years. Had several good doctors but kept getting worse all the time. Some said I had consumption; some one thing, and some another. I finally made up my mind they did not know what did all me. I began to think I was never going to get better.

I had tried several different kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to give me any relief. One day I saw Dr. Pierce's medicine advertised and I got a bottle of Golden Medical Discovery and it began to help me. I felt that I had some other weakness so I got the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' also, and these medicines cured me completely in just one year when I had doctored five years before. I feel very grateful to Dr. Pierce for my good health and keep his medicines in my home for immediate use. I consider they saved me lots of suffering and doctors' bills as well. I have recommended Dr. Pierce's remedies to many people and will gladly reply to anyone wanting to know about these medicines and what they did for me."--MRS. E. J. BALDWIN, 248 Norton Ave.

STOMACH TROUBLE Can Now Eat Anything

Grand Rapids, Wis.--"I have used Dr. Pierce's medicines and found them very beneficial. I had stomach trouble for about eight years. I had to be very careful what I would eat or I would be down sick. I suffered something terrible about a year ago. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two bottles put me in fine condition. I can eat anything and not feel distressed. I had taken many medicines previous to this and had doctors prescribe for me but nothing seemed to give me any relief until I started taking the 'Discovery'. It gave me great relief. I take pleasure in recommending it."--MRS. EMIL OESTREICH, 212 14th Ave., North.

"Irene," said Mrs. Hardy, "what way is that to speak to Mr. Conward? You are out of your head, child! Such a scene, Mr. Conward! That cow puncher! I always knew it would come out some time. Oh, if the papers should learn of this!"

"That's all you think of," Irene retorted. "A scene, and the papers. You don't trouble to even wonder what was the occasion of the scene. You're afraid of the papers. I'm not. I'll give the whole story to them tomorrow. I'll tell that you insulted him, Conward, and how you stood there, a grinning, gaping coward under the muzzle of his gun. How I wish I had a photograph of it!" she exclaimed, with a little hysterical laugh. "It would look fine on the front page." She broke into peals of laughter and rushed up the stairs.

In the morning she was very sober and pale, and marks of distress and sleeplessness were furrowed in her face. She greeted her mother with cold civility and left her breakfast untouched. She gave part of her breakfast to Charlie; it was a saving balm to her to have someone upon whom she could pour affection. Then she went to the telephone. She called Dave's office. Nothing was known of last night; he was not down yet. She called his apartments. There was no answer. Then she tried a new number.

"Hello, is that the office of the Call? Will you let me speak to—"

Her mother interrupted almost frantically: "Irene, you are not going to view, what a reversion of all accepted things came with the realization of that truth which roots down into the bedrock of all nature!

"Won't you come in?" Irene was saying. Her voice was sweet and musical, but there was a note of sadness in it which set responsive chords a-tremble all through Edith's heart.

"I am Edith Duncan," she managed to say. "I—I think I have something to say that may interest you."

There was a quick leap in Irene's eyes; the leap of that intuitive feminine sense of danger which so seldom errs in dealing with its own sex, and is yet so unreliable a defense from the dangers of the other. Mrs. Hardy was in the living room.

"Won't you come up to my workshop?" Irene answered, without change of voice, and they ascended the stairs together. "I draw a little," Irene was saying, talking fast. "Oh, yes, I have quite commercialized my art, such as it is. But I haven't lost my soul altogether. I daub in color a little—yes, daub, that's the word. But it keeps one's soul alive." She trembled, and her voice choked; she put out her arm to a chair. When she turned her face there were tears on it. . . . "Tell me—Edith," she said. . . . "You know?"

"I know some things," Edith mannot know all. Dave and I are old friends. My father took a liking to him and he used often to be in our house. And we got to know each other very well, and he told me about you long ago. And last night I found him at his rooms, almost mad and swearing to shoot Conward. And then he told me that—that—"

nite blue. "He told me he saw Conward here . . . upstairs . . . and Conward made a boast. And he would have shot him, but you rushed upon him and begged him not to. He said you would have taken the bullet yourself rather than it should find Conward."

"Oh! oh!" the girl cried, in the pain of one mortally hurt. "How could he think that? I didn't care for him—for Conward—but for Dave. I knew there had been a quarrel—I didn't know why—and I knew if Dave shot him—it wasn't in self-defense—whatever it was, he couldn't plead that—and they'd hang him, and that was all I saw, Edith, that was all I saw, and I would—yes, I would rather have taken the bullet myself than that that should happen."

"You poor girl!" said Edith. "You poor girl!" And her arms found the other's neck. "You have been hurt, hurt." And then, under her breath, "more than me."

"What has he done?"

"He had already been convinced that he should offer his services to his country, in these times. He said he couldn't remain here, and he has already left for England. I am afraid I encouraged him to leave at once. You see, I didn't understand."

Irene had taken a chair, and for some minutes she sat in silence. "I don't blame you," she said, at length. "You gave him good advice. There remains only one thing for me to do."

"What?" said Edith after a moment's hesitation.

"Follow him! I shall follow him and make him understand. If he must go into battle—with all that that means—he must go in knowing the truth. You have been very kind, Miss Duncan. You have gone out of your way to do me a great service, and you have shown more kindness than I have any right to claim from a stranger. . . . I feel, too, the call for vengeance," she exclaimed, springing to her feet, "but first I must find Dave. I shall follow him at once. I shall readily locate him in some way through the military service."

She accompanied her visitor to the door. They shook hands and looked for a moment in each other's eyes. And then Edith burst away and hurried down the street.

Irene had searched London for two weeks. The confidence of her earlier inquiries had diminished with each successive blind trail, which, promising at first, led her into a maze of confusion and disappointment. Her little store of money was fast dwindling away; she looked into the face of every man in uniform with a pathetic earnestness that more than once caused her to be misunderstood.

The organization of the military service commanded less enthusiasm than she felt a month before. She saw it struggling with the apparently impossible; it was as though she, in her little studio, had been suddenly called upon to paint all the portraits in the world. . . . In some degree she understood the difficulties; in equal degree she sympathized with those who she hung on from day to day in her search with a dogged determination which set its teeth against admitting that the search was hopeless.

At last one great fear had settled on her heart. Suppose Dave should not enlist under his right name? In such a case her chance of finding him was the mere freak of accidental meet-there was nothing to do but keep on.

She had sought a park bench where groups of soldiers were continually moving by. The lights shone on their faces, and her own tired eyes followed them incessantly. Always her ear was alert for a voice that should set her heart a-pounding, and more than once she had thought she heard that voice; more than a score of times she had thought she had seen that figure with its stride of self-reliance, with strength bulging in every muscle. And always it had been to learn that she had been mistaken; always it had been to feel the heart sink just a little lower than before. And still she kept on. There was nothing to do but keep on.

Often she wondered how he would receive her. That cold look which had frozen his features when she seized the revolver in his hand, would it still sit there, too distant and detached to be even scornful? Would she have it to break down? She could not know; she could only hope and pray and go on.

As she turned her eyes to follow a group of men in uniform she became aware of a soldier sitting alone in the shadow a short distance away. Some quality about him caught her attention; his face was not discernible, and his figure was too much in the shadow

ISLAND OF MANY MEMORIES

Visitor to St. Helena Almost Sure to Find Something to Remind Him of Home.

St. Helena, the island where Napoleon Bonaparte spent some six years of exile and where he died in 1821, has one of the most peculiar landscapes in the world, and by reason of the great variety of trees and plants that grow there.

For many years the island was a sort of ocean crossroads where all ships plying between Europe and the East stopped for supplies. It was uninhabited when discovered and most of its population is made up of the descendants of persons who deserted from passing vessels. European, African and Asiatic peoples are all represented.

Nearly all of these settlers of many races and nationalities tried to introduce into the island plants and trees from their home countries, as people are wont to do the world over. Some of these failed to survive, but a surprising variety of crops and trees thrive in the semi-tropical climate and rich soil of the little island. As a result the English oak tree today grows beside bananas and palms. Raising dates is an industry of the valleys, while Scotch pines grow on the uplands, and some of the level land is covered with English gorse. Lemon and orange trees are to be found not far from patches of bramble and to more than suggest its outline, but she found herself regarding him with an intencness that set her pulses racing. Should she dare risk it again? And yet there was something. . . . She had a sudden plan. She would make no inquiry, no apology; she would walk near by and call him by name. If that name meant nothing to him he would not even notice her presence, but if it should be—

"Dave," she said. He turned quickly in his seat; the light fell on her face and he saw her; he was on his feet and had taken a step toward her. Then he stopped, and she saw his features harden as they had on that dreadful occasion which now seemed so long ago.

"Well?" he said. His voice was mechanical, but in it was something which quickened her hope; something which suggested that he was making it mechanical because he dared not let it express the human emotion which was struggling for utterance.

"Let me talk to you, Dave," she pleaded. "I have followed you around the world for this. Let me talk. I can explain everything."

He stood still so long that she wondered if he never would speak. She dared not reach her hands to him; she could only stand and wait.

"Irene," he said, "why did you follow me here?"

"There is only one answer, Dave. Because I love you and would follow you anywhere. No one can stop me doing that; no one, Dave—except you."

And again he stood, and she knew that he was turning over in his mind things weightier than life and death, and that when he spoke again his course would be set. Then, in the partial shadow, she saw his arms slowly extend; they rose, wide and strong, and extended toward her. There was a quick step, and they met about her, and the world swooned and went by. . . .

when she could talk. "You need explain nothing," he returned. "I have lived the torments of the damned. Edith Duncan was right; she said if it were real love it would never give up. 'Endureth all things,' she said. 'All things,' she said. . . . There is no limit."

"But I must tell you, dear," she said,

Edith Duncan had told her, and Dave filled in what neither had known, including the incident earlier on that fateful evening. She could see his jaws harden as they pieced the plot together and she knew what he was thinking.

Java Home of Quinine.

Cinchona bark yields quinine, one of the most valuable of all drugs. Quinine is a deadly poison to malaria germs, and, when taken internally, attacks them in the blood, killing them and soon putting a stop to their multiplication in the vital stream.

The bark is that of a lofty tree native to the slopes of the Andes in Peru and Bolivia. Indians of that region in pre-Columbian days had discovered its peculiar property for the cure of malaria and were accustomed to make medicine from it by steeping it in water. This fact was brought by chance to the attention of Countess of Cinchon, who visited Peru in 1630. She carried back with her to Europe some of the bark, and the tree that bears it owes its botanical name to her.

The cinchona is cultivated at the present time on a considerable scale in India and Ceylon, but 90 per cent of the world's supply of bark is exported from Java.

groves of willow. A visitor from almost any part of the world may look about and find a bit of landscape to remind him of home.—"Niksah," in Chicago News.

It Surprised Her.

One of the domestic pets in a certain English country house was a tortoise. As his time for hibernating drew nigh, he selected a quiet corner in the dimly-lighted coal-cellar, and composed himself to sleep. A new cook was appointed soon afterwards. She knew not tortoises. In a few months, with the lapse of time, the tortoise woke up and sallied forth. Screams soon broke the kitchen's calm. Entering that department the lady of the house found the cook gazing in awe-struck wonder, and exclaiming, as with unsteady hands she pointed to the tortoise: "My conscience! Look at the stone that I've broken the coal with all winter!"

First Moving Picture.

The first real moving picture was produced by C. Francis Jenkins, a stenographer at the treasury department, Washington, and shown by him at Richmond, Ind., his home town, on June 6, 1894. The picture portrayed a butterfly costume dance performed by a vaudeville artist named Annabelle, who received $5 for her work.

During the last year nearly 1,000,000 acres of woods in England were felled.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has not an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Wife Had Decided, in View of Scientific Advancement, Hubby Might Go to the Front.

"I am going to enlist," he announced, without preface, "in some unit that is going to the front immediately!"

"But your wife," we began. He interrupted us.

"Bah! My wife! She wants me to go. I hope I get killed! My wife has insulted me and—"

"Tell us about it."

"Listen. Last night I was reading to her from the paper about the wonders of plastic surgery during this war. I read to her about how the surgeons are actually giving wounded men new faces."

"Yes—and what did she say?"

"She didn't say anything, but about an hour later I noticed her looking intently at me. I asked her what was the matter, and she said she had been thinking it over, and if I wanted to join the army she would withdraw her objections!"

Moroccan Ruler Found in the End That He Paid for His Hours of Bridge.

How the sultan of Morocco, Mulat Haïd, played bridge with his dentist has been amusingly told.

A close friendship sprang up between the sultan and an English dentist, and as often as not, bridge took the place of dentistry. The dentist would arrive with his timid lady assistant, and all his implements of fortune, only to be invited to sit down at the table and play cards. The lady assistant was very young and very shy, and was more accustomed to play children's card games than bridge. A fourth player would be found and the ill-assorted party completed. The ex-sultan enjoyed himself immensely. He generally won, perhaps by never permitting the trembling lady assistant to be his partner. The points were one franc a hundred, so no very serious damage could be done; but rich as the sultan was, he rejoiced more in his humble winnings at bridge than over his many thousands in the banks. Not a little of his enjoyment was owing to the fact that he felt that he was "doing" the dentist. "He comes," the ex-sultan would say, "to mend my teeth and to take my gold, and in the end I win his francs." But one day the climax came. The teeth were excellently repaired—the work was of the best—there was no more to be done but to pay the bill—and the bill very naturally and rightly included all the bridge hours, at so much per hour. It was the most expensive bridge Mulat Haïd ever played.

"What is the name of this new dance?"

"A name hasn't been found for it yet."

"But that must be done."

"Of course. A committee is going out to the 'zoo' this afternoon and watch the antics of the animals. An appropriate title is sure to suggest itself."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Surest Thing in the World

Two and two have always made four. There would not be more than three million, five hundred thousand Ford cars in actual service—which is just about one-half of all the automobiles in America—if the Ford, as a reliable motor car, did not meet the demands of all classes of people everywhere and under all circumstances.

Two and two have always made four. If the material, the iron and the marvelous Vanadium steel used in the construction of the Ford chassis, were not of the highest quality known to the science of Metallurgy, then the Ford car could not have won its world-wide reputation for reliability.

Two and two have always made four. When replacements and repairs are required on Ford cars, the Ford owner will be wise in bringing his car to our place, because we use only the Genuine Ford Parts, and we have the Ford skilled mechanics, and all the Ford knowledge that goes to maintain the high standard of quality which is original in the Ford car.

When you want a Ford car or a Ford Truck, and when you want replacements or repairs for the same, we earnestly solicit your business, assuring you of prompt attention, real Ford service and economical Ford prices.
