

PINCKNEY DISPATCH

Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday June 3, 1920

No. 23,

OBITUARY

Rosa M. Leland was born in North field, Washtenaw Co., March 6, 1851, and died May 29, 1920 at her home in Pinckney.

Her parents moved to Pinckney in 1868 and she has lived here since that time.

She was an active member of the M. E. church, having been president of the Ladies Aid Society over twenty years and her activities are responsible for many improvements.

A good friend in sickness, her loss will be deeply felt by a kind husband, loving children and three grandchildren, one sister, one brother and a host of friends.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father Michael Dolan who departed this life three years ago, April 17, 1917.

Hid from our eyes the kindly face,

The heart so gentle stilled,

And now by God's eternal grace

His place in Heaven he fills.

His Loving Children.

[These lines should have been published in the issue of April 15th but were delayed in the mail service and reached Pinckney Monday, May 31.]

RAILROAD WRECK

Six freight cars were dumped into the ditch and several lengths of track torn up near Henrietta by the freight train east bound Monday night.

Passengers from Jackson spending the day here were obliged to find some other means of transportation to their homes.

Reference to the comfort and accommodations of the Grand Trunk is made to make the necessary effort to give train service.

Some passengers were obliged to stay here until the railroad was prepared to run trains, while others engaged autos, driving to Dexter to take the M. C. for Jackson.

This indifference on the part of the Grand Trunk is getting to be monotonous. Several times in a very few months wrecks have occurred at this end of the line and no accommodations have been provided for a reasonably quick transfer of passengers.

On account of the large demand on his time in the bakery business E. D. Cappel has decided to discontinue his outside business. He has made arrangements with Wm. H. Meyer of Detroit to take over the garage business and Mr. Meyer is now installed as the head of the Pinckney garage.

He has moved his family into the house formerly occupied by A. H. Flintoft. Mrs. Meyer will be remembered as Miss Alta Bullis, a former Pinckney girl and High School graduate whose return to her old home will be welcome to her many old friends.

Hats for Late Spring

New Models Are Developed as SLEEVELESS FAD FROM PARIS the Season Advances.

Transparent Headgear of Black Silk Braid Finely Meshed Among the Latest Styles.

By this time the question of spring millinery is well settled, yet every day we see new models. It is yet a little early to attempt the charming soft straw sport hat, and yet by this time one is a little weary of the first spring chapeau purchased several months ago. And again the ingenuity of the designer has solved the problem and is offering some delightful hats for the between season.

Transparent hats of black silk braid finely meshed are among the newer models. One hat in this style shows a round beehive crown and then rolls up from top to bottom across the front to conceal the lady's lovely face. It encircles the crown with a slim jet cord and unexpectedly drops two long jet pendants at either side of the rolled head. This hat shows one's carefully combed hair to advantage and is especially good for dressy wear.

Another hat of similar attractiveness to the above is the one which shows a green and all its lovely shades is the predominant color at this time. Some times the feathers are laid across the front of a straw hat with turned-up brim and are then carefully tucked against the strong breeze.

Other an otherwise plain hat will become quite distinctive if one adds a feather or two at the right angle and chooses a becoming color. Orange, red, red, turquoise blue and violet are the colors one might consider if the green is undesirable.

We are a little tired of wool on the head, so new appear smart hats of silk or rayon, cleverly done in many colors, bright raffia scattered over the entire surface. The use of raffia has indeed been prominent from the beginning to the dignity of

This sport costume, but recently designed in Paris for sports wear this summer, won great admiration at the early races this year and is being ex-

JUST THE THING FOR SUMMER

Designed especially for summer is this hat of leghorn. It is trimmed with field flowers and black velvet ribbon, knotted gracefully over the up-turned broad brim at the back.

Furs for Summer Wear.

Summer furs will be worn more than ever this year, and in many cases dance frocks in crepe and printed gauze will be trimmed with narrow bands of skunk and squirrel.

Cotton Blouses for Summer

Garments of Dainty Sheer Materials Promise to Have Decided Vogue During Season.

Cotton blouses promise to have a very decided vogue during the coming summer. Manufacturers have been given the possibilities in the dainty sheer cottons, and the ones designed for the coming summer are certainly by reason of their very attractiveness and made apart from the question of price a big recommendation, in itself—strong rivals of silk blouses.

Organdies are shown in conventional waist-length models, and in the over-the-skirt models as well, the latter often being simple blouses that are slightly gathered into very wide and loose belts of self fabric, edged with lace or embroidery.

The blouse that fastens in the center back is the favorite of the moment. Many of these blouses are finished at the neck in front with old-fashioned frills, either gathered or

FASHION NOTES OF INTEREST

The cape still holds its own. Coat sleeves wider at the wrist. Plants are oftentimes marked by buttons.

Allover beaded gowns are in great favor.

The semi-fitted bodice is frequently seen.

Paris-Roman blouses are much favored.

Mosaic bead embroidery appears on evening dresses.

Double-breasted sweaters are among the newest types.

Satin and tulle are favored for spring millinery.

Mosaic brown is a new color among negligees.

Even children's dresses show the boat-out hip line.

The bouffant hip feature continues in evening gowns.

Plain stockings are noticeable in the favored sports costume.

Railways are fashionably interwoven to create toques.

Smart little bags make themselves of steel and jet beads.

Fur Coats for Summer.

With organdies, the woman of fashion wears a voluminous fur coat with a blanket effect that she winds about her figure in soft folds. The pelts of these furs have been so worked upon and scraped and treated that there is practically nothing left but a thin film to carry the fur itself. Such a wrap appears heavy. It is in reality light as a feather, and can be crushed into a mere handful.

A Dainty Accessory.

Groups of white organdie are a dainty accessory to the wee girl's school dress of wool.

If a man has no means of forgetting his troubles, he will make a note.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion. Nothing better than Cuticura Soap

WAITER ALLOWED FOR COBB

Booth Tarkington's Amusing Illustration of Student Life in Munich Before the War.

"Munch before the war" said Booth Tarkington, the famous novelist, "was an earthly paradise. For ten cents in a Munich beer garden you would get a quart of ambrosia beer and a basket of incomparable frankfurters, a treat which you would consume to the music of Wagner and Beethoven, played by a vast and magnificent orchestra.

"Of course, in Munich the art students, poor fools, sometimes drank too much. They told a story there about a Missouri student.

"Another large beer and two frankfurters for Student Cobb of Missouri," a Munich waiter sang out one night.

"Steady give Student Cobb one frankfurter," said the manager of the garden. "Student Cobb sees everything double."

"I've already attended to that," said the waiter. Cobb ordered four frankfurters."

Can't Be Solved.

"They can't live together and they can't live apart."

"Umph! What's the solution of a problem like that?"

"Chloroform, but, confound the luck, it's against the law."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FIVE-YEAR-OLDS WILL TALK

And Surely This One Came Near to "Spilling the Beans" for Poor Mamma.

"Well mamma, it's—hardly usual," demurred the proprietor. "But in the circumstances, perhaps."

The customer's five-year-old daughter, who had stood silent during the long inspection, now begged violently at her mother's skirt.

"Oh, mamma!" she piped to her father, "clear inside, didn't you better warn him to be sure and get it there in time? Our party's tomorrow, you know."

HE KNEW HIS LIMITATIONS

Small Boy Didn't Imagine He Would Amount to Much in the Better Land.

"Spiritualistic mediums in their descriptions of the next world are absurd. The next world, indeed, is a very ticklish subject to handle."

The speaker was Sir Oliver Lodge, he continued.

"A little boy was told by his Sunday school teacher that he would leave his body behind when he died.

"I don't understand that," he said in a frightened voice.

"You see," explained the teacher, "you will take all that is good with you to the better land, and leave all that is naughty here on earth."

"He thought a moment, then he said soberly:

"I guess I'm going to be pretty thin up there, teacher."

Acid Stomach Makes the Body Sour

Nine Out of Ten People Suffer From It

It sends its harmful acids and gases all over the body, instead of health and strength. Day and night this ceaseless damage goes on. No matter how strong, its victim cannot long withstand the health-destroying effects of an acid stomach.

Good news for millions of sufferers. Chemists have found a sure remedy—one that takes the acid up and carries it out of the body; of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Bloating, indigestion, sour acid, gassy stomach miseries all removed. This is proven by over half a million ailing folks who have taken EATONIC with wonderful benefits. It can be obtained from any druggist, who will cheerfully refund its trifling cost if not entirely satisfactory. Everyone should enjoy its benefits. Frequently the first tablet gives relief.

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—“For the last four years I have doctored off and on without help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child and suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug-store to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's medicine away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman.”—MRS. MARY STENDER, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember its just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

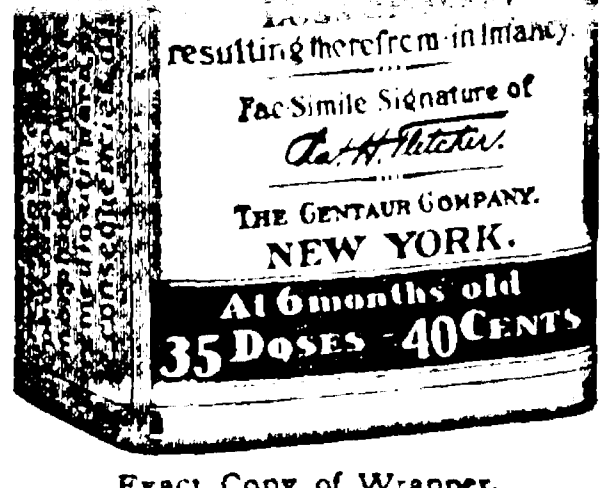

Children Cry For Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy? why you must insist on Fletcher's? For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Proud of It.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these honey spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is so simple that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

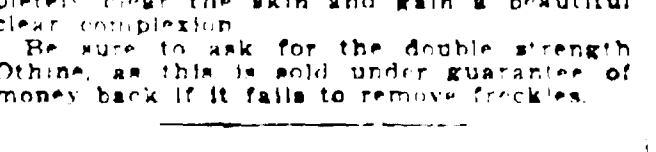

Give the boaster a chance to make good and watch him fade away.

Two Souls With but One Thought.

"I hear your husband is very strong in his convictions." "Yes, indeed, but he's weak in his head!"

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callous. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callous right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly: No humbug!—Adv.

Constipation

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Chamberlain's Tablets for constipation. When the proper dose is taken their action is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize that it is the effect of a medicine. These tablets possess tonic properties that aid in establishing a natural and regular action of the bowels. Chamberlain's Tablets have cured many cases of chronic constipation.

Chamberlain's Tablets

"Puts a healing coat on the lining of the throat."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

A COUGH that threatens to rip and tear out the lining of the throat, that seems to jolt and jerk the chest beyond endurance, and causes an echoing thump at the back of the head as if you were hit with a sledge hammer—such a cough needs a cooling, soothing medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to coat the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing balm.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in many instances of severe bronchial, la grippe and other racking coughs that debilitate.

What Foley's Did For One Man

J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Ga., writes: "Several years ago I had a terrible attack, both lungs being inflamed. After recovering somewhat my lungs never 'cleared up' and I suffered severe pains, which I had for three months and couldn't get well. I got one 60c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it alone entirely cured me. It took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs. It is the most valuable medicine I ever used. I cheerfully recommend it."

This old standard remedy seems to get right at the seat of trouble, almost instantly relieves the nervous tickling in the throat, clears the passages, banishes that persistent irritation which instigates the paroxysms of coughing. One or two doses produce a desirable and welcome result.

Are You Prepared?

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be in every home. No cold should be neglected, however slight. It should be taken in hand promptly and observed just as soon as possible. The longer it lingers the worse for the sufferer. So don't experiment. Get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar today and have it ready for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, la grippe or bronchial cough.

Just before congress assembled for the balloting, the late president, Venustiano Carranza, was buried in the Dolores Cemetery amid scenes of grief that were in contrast with the hostile feelings that were manifested against Carranza during his last days in office. More than a dozen army officers and other officials who were with the Carranza party when the late president was killed in the Hidalgo mountains, and who accompanied the body to this city, are under arrest in the Santiago prison.

It is assumed, however, the Americans were carried off at Villa's orders as a part of his tactics to extort tribute from the mining companies.

BOSTON SUGAR MEN ARE HELD

CHARGED WITH HOLDING PRODUCE FROM MARKET AND RAISING PRICES.

ACTION IS TAKEN BY THE U. S.

Federal Government Alleges Huge Profit Was Made on Sales of Sugar at Wholesale.

Boston. The federal government took action against sugar refiners here for alleged profiteering and hoarding. The Revere Sugar refinery was charged with exacting excessive prices and with holding sugar from the market, and the American Sugar Refining company was charged with selling sugar at excessive prices. The complaints asserted that the companies had made millions of dollars by hoarding and regulating the price.

The government in prosecuting under the Lever act declares that the companies set the price of sugar for all New England except Connecticut.

It is claimed the refineries sold to independent companies and acted as brokers, who violated an agreement, reached at a conference in Washington, for regulating distribution of sugar to the retail trade.

The Revere refinery, which grows sugar, according to the complaint, withheld its product from the market to the extent of millions of pounds, creating a scarcity with attendant high prices. It is charged specifically that on April 14 at this port, the Revere refinery withheld 60,000 bags of sugar, and that on May 21 it exacted excessive prices on another lot.

On the latter date, the American company is alleged to have exacted a price of from 15 to 21.9 cents a pound for sugar, which cost the company only 6 1/2 cents a pound.

The government in its complaint alleges that the government has evidence of 57,000,000 pounds of sugar which had been bought at prices from 6.5 to 7 cents a pound and sold to wholesalers at a range of 15 to 22 cents a pound. These agents of the Revere refinery has withheld 10 to 12 per cent of its production.

The amount of sugar which was being held on April 24 was set by the federal investigators at 60,000,000 pounds.

The Independent Sugar company, jobbers was charged with obtaining excessive prices in another complaint. It was alleged that they sold for 24.2 cents a pound sugar that was bought for 16 cents a pound.

Probe Is Opened.

New York. An investigation of the sugar market for the purpose of remedying conditions and obtaining an equitable distribution, even if it be at the expense of some of the non-essential industries was under way before Armin W. Riley, special assistant to Attorney General Palmer. Three representatives of large sugar interests were summoned to appear before Riley in a series of "informal meetings." Mr. Riley declared "the government intended to stop the reselling of sugar based upon replacement value instead of costs."

Indicted Broker Faces Trial.

Bay City. Luther Ellison, a broker of Jonesboro, Ark., who was indicted in the federal court here a short time ago on the charge of profiteering in sugar, arrived in the city and gave a bond of $10,000 for his appearance for trial. There is a probability that the jurors for the May term of court will be recalled in June and the Ellison and Cohen cases tried at that time.

POLAND HINTS AT PEACE MOVE

Will Consider Negotiations When Objectives are Reached.

Warsaw.—The Polish government has made known that as soon as the Polish army has obtained the military objectives assigned to it, the government will declare itself ready to enter into negotiations with the Bolshevik government.

Bolshevik troops, which succeeded in crossing the upper Beresina in several places, have been driven back across the river with heavy losses, including more than 400 prisoners, according to an official statement issued here.

The enemy is attacking along the entire northern Polish front, but has been checked everywhere, it is asserted. Fighting continues along the whole front and the Bolsheviks have brought up the largest number of troops ever faced by the Poles. Sixteen divisions have been identified as taking part in the struggle.

Roscommon. Mrs. Frank Tybeck is dead and her husband is in a critical condition as a result of ptomaine poisoning. The couple drank freely from a jug of buttermilk and took sick several hours later. The churn in which the buttermilk was made was said to be in a very unsanitary condition.

Bay City. Samuel Ball, manager of the Saginaw-Bay City Street Railway, was ordered to pay a fine of $1,100 by Police Justice R. G. Phillips for violation of the ordinance which provides that cars be operated by two men each. The fine is for $100 a day for 11 days. An appeal was taken to the circuit court.

Saginaw. Explosion of the boiler on a Michigan Central train between here and Bay City, killed the engineer and fireman and wrecked the engine. R. J. Smith, Detroit, was the engineer and Frank Schmepp, Detroit, was the fireman. The train was bound for Detroit from Mackinaw and the engine had just been taken on at Bay City. No passengers were hurt.

Mt. Clemens.—Mayor A. F. Sarna has been notified by telegraph from Washington by Rep. Louis C. Crampton, that the Interstate Commerce Commission has arranged for the delivery in this state of 600 cars of coal within the next few days. Local industries have been hit hard by the coal shortage. The Mt. Clemens Gas Co. has little coal left and is making for the most part, a water gas.

Jackson. Never since the war have so many freight cars, both loaded and empty, passed through the local yards in a given period as in a recent two days, according to local Michigan Central officials. Forty-two cars of coal, said to be bound for west Michigan points comprised one train. This movement was credited to the concerted drive by the Interstate Commerce commission and railway executives.

Port Huron. County Clerk Joseph E. Vincent states that ballots of the Ford-Newberry election in St. Clair county were not destroyed but following the custom of the office of holding the tally sheets and pool books for one year only, these poll books and tally sheets now wanted by senate investigating committee, have been destroyed. Vaults in the county building are not equipped for storing election returns longer than a year.

Lansing. The state inspector of orchards has issued a warning to fruit growers against purchase of insecticides offered to obviate the necessity of tree spraying. The bug killers are "fakes," the inspector says, and offers that "a liberal amount will be sent prepaid for $1" are designed merely to obtain dollars. The insecticides are composed of sulphur, charcoal and nitrates, analysis shows, according to the inspector.

ties are inadequate. The city authorities have considered condemning the little old sheds as fire and health nuisances. Railroad employees refuse to work in them.

Kalamazoo. A $60,000 bonus for the Kalamazoo public school teachers will be voted on at the annual school election. The budget, which calls for the expenditure of $809,950 during the school year, will also be voted on at the election. The budget is $261,325 in excess of that for last year.

Ann Arbor. That Michigan should immediately begin the raising of forests on her 10,000,000 acres of idle cut-over lands is the suggestion of Prof. P. S. Lovejoy, of the Faculty of Forestry at the University of Michigan. He points out that Michigan is now importing that which her lumber dealers once said "would never give out."

Albion. The Albion Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution, which was telegraphed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, urging an advance in freight rates in order that carriers may be enabled to give local factories better service. Managers of local plants says that the present service is very poor and they prefer to pay higher rates and get real service.

Jackson. A short time ago Louis Lorensen, former superintendent of the prison brick plant, was taken ill with pernicious anaemia. Doctors advised him to undergo treatment at the hospital. When inmate 9284 heard of the former official's condition, he pleaded to be given the chance to save the officer's life. At the hospital a test showed that his blood was perfectly suited for the operation. The transfusion was performed at once. It proved successful. Lorensen is well on the road to recovery.

Bay City. It developed at a meeting of good roads enthusiasts of Saginaw and Bay Counties that the proposition of indorsing construction of a paved highway between this city and Saginaw is going to result in a fight between factions favoring different highways. State Highway Commissioner Rogers, the Bay County Road Commission and local sentiment favor a proposed River Road as a trunk line route between the two cities. John Baird, of Zilwaukee, declared that he wanted the West Side Road designated.

Paw Paw. Prospects for an abundant fruit crop in Van Buren county were never better than this spring. Cherry and peach trees are "set" full. The frosts recently did some damage, but the blossoms were so abundant and the weather in the last week so favorable that these fruits will be plentiful unless some unforeseen factor develops. Apples are in full bloom. Indications are for a fair crop, not bumper, but considerably better than the average for the last five years. The strawberry crop should be a huge one.

LADY LARKSPUR

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

"YOU SCOUNDREL!"

Synopsis—Richard Searles, successful American playwright, outlives to his friend, Bob Singleton, the fact that, inspired by the genius of a young actress whom he had seen in London, he has written a play, "Lady Larkspur," solely with the thought that she should interpret the leading character. This girl, Violet Dewing, has disappointed Singleton, an aviator, has just returned (disappointed) from France. His uncle, Raymond Bradford, had contracted a marriage a short time before his death, while on a visit to Japan. He left Singleton a comparatively small amount of money and the privilege of residing in the "garage" of his summer home, Barton-on-the-Sound, Connecticut. Mrs. Bradford is believed to be traveling in the Orient. The household at Barton is made up of broken-down employees of a New York hotel, where Bradford made his home. Singleton goes to Barton, taking with him the manuscript of "Lady Larkspur." There he finds the household strangely upset, some of its members being suspected by their comrades of pro-Germanism. Antoine, head of the establishment, informs him that he has been perplexed by the somewhat mysterious visits of a stranger, apparently a foreigner, speaking Mrs. Bradford. Antoine has formed the male members of the household into a guard for protection. Singleton leads Searles' play with approval. "Aunt Alice" arrives unexpectedly, meets with a chilly reception and turns out to be young and charming. Mrs. Fernsworth is her traveling companion. Torrence, Bradford's lawyer, supports the two women and warns Singleton "Aunt Alice" may be an impostor. The mysterious stranger, Count Montani, makes a call and is seen to be very much interested in "Aunt Alice's" ostrich-plume hat.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

I had noticed that she had substituted a tiny Japanese fan for the one that Montani had inspected so eagerly. When I spoke of the change she had said the other was too precious for everyday use, and she meant to keep it locked up.

"I hate to bother you, sir, knowing you're busy."

The mention of the fan had brought me to an abrupt halt. I resented having the thing thrust at me in the estate mood in which I left the house, but the visit of the German-speaking stranger was serious, and Antoine knew that his story had stumbled me. He told me further that the man had carefully outlined to Elsie just how she could take advantage of her freedom of the house to appropriate the fan when the ladies were out and the servants off the second floor. She was to be paid for her assistance; two hundred dollars had been promised; even more had been suggested. Elsie and the stranger had left the garage and passed out of earshot before Elsie fully consented; but Pierre had given Antoine the impression that she would make the attempt.

"It was to be for the Kaiser, for Germany," declared Antoine bitterly. "And she was to be careful about Flynn. I always thought Flynn was straight—I did indeed, sir."

"I think Flynn and his wife are both honest, but we'll take no chance. Warn the guards to be on the alert. We don't want Elsie to get the idea that she's being watched; so tell the men to keep away from the garage. I'll keep an eye on the flynn. You go home and go to bed."

The deep calm of the country night had settled upon the shore, and the flynn's quarters were perfectly tranquil. It didn't seem possible that an international episode was in process of incubation in that quiet neighborhood. I began to think that the general distrust of the German woman by her associates might be responsible for Pierre's story. But, viewed in any light, I had a duty to perform. If Elsie had visited the house and purloined the fan, she would be very likely to get rid of it as quickly as possible, and I determined to keep watch. I drew the blinds, got into my dressing gown and, reinforcing the lampshade with a newspaper to deaden the light, proceeded to read.

It was on toward one o'clock and I was dozing when a sound roused me. A door on the Flynn side of the hall creaked; there was silence, then I heard furtive steps on the stair. I snapped out my light and peered out of the window just as Elsie's robust figure disappeared into the shadows. I was about to follow when the creaking of the Flynn door was repeated. In a moment another peep through the shade showed me Flynn himself, and he, too, quickly vanished. Here was a situation indeed! If Elsie was keeping tryst with her co-conspirator of the afternoon and her husband was spying upon her, a row of large proportions was likely to result at any moment. I leaned from the window as far as I dared and saw the woman close to the wall at the farther end of the building. The scene was well set for trouble, and I was wondering what I could do to avert the disturbance and the exposure of the foolish woman when the whole matter was taken out of my hands.

"You fool! You scoundrel!" she bellowed in German. "That you should think me a plaything to commit a robbery for you! That I should steal from my mistress to satisfy you, you piece of swine-flesh!"

I had often heard Elsie vocally disciplining her Irish husband and knew the power of her lungs and the vigor of her invective, but she seemed bent upon apprising the whole commonwealth of Connecticut of the fact that she was vastly displeased with the person she was addressing, who was certainly not Flynn. Amid sounds of a scuffle and the continuous outpouring of hilling-gate the light over the garage door flashed on suddenly and disclosed Flynn in the act of precipitating himself into the fray. Elsie had grasped, and was stoutly clinging to a tall man who was trying to free himself of her muscular embrace. Her cries meanwhile included some of the roughest terms in the German dictionary and others—mouthfuls of frightfulness—that I didn't recognize.

When I reached the open Flynn was

Elsie continued to address her captive and the world at large in her native tongue. Flynn was rather more than sixty, and Elsie was not much his junior, while the invader was young and agile. The man had loosened one arm and drawn a revolver with which he was pounding Elsie in the face. I knocked the gun from his hand with my walking stick and shouted to Elsie to let go of him. Her shouts had roused the guards and, hearing answering cries and the beat of hurrying feet on the walks, he redoubled his efforts to escape. I had hardly got my hands on him when with a twist of his body he wrenched himself free and sped away in the darkness.

I hadn't gone far in pursuit of him before I tripped over the skirts of my dressing gown and fell into a bed of cushions. This would have been less melancholy if Flynn, hard behind, hadn't stumbled over me and, believing he had captured the enemy, gripped my legs until I could persuade him to let go.

The lights now flared on all the walks and driveways, and Antoine was bellowing orders to the guards to surround the sunken garden. I surmised that the fugitive, surprised by the attack, had lost his bearings and was now far from the boundary wall back of the garage from which presumably he had entered the grounds. With the Sound cutting off his exit beyond the residence, there was a fair chance of catching him if Antoine's veterans were at all vigilant.

I found Antoine, armed with a club and swinging a lantern, majestically posed at the nearer entrance to the garden. With a swallow-tail coat over his night-shirt and his nightcap tipped over one ear, he was an enthralling figure. As he strode toward me his slippers flapped weebly upon the brick walk. "There's somebody in the garden, sir," he whispered huskily. "The troops has it surrounded." No general in all history, reporting in some critical hour the disposition of his army, could have been more composed.

"You have done well, Antoine. Shall you dig in until morning or go over the top now?"

"As you say, sir. It's better you should take charge."

I walked round the garden and found his men well distributed, but the old fellows were exceedingly nervous. "It's a bit suspicious, sir, that he broke for the garden," remarked Antoine.

"He broke for the garden," I suggested, "because his line of retreat was cut off and he had to go somewhere."

"It's queer, though, sir, when Dutch has been sleeping on the long bench down there by the fountain. You know how we feel about him, sir, he being of that race."

"Dutch told me he was camping in the toolhouse," I answered.

"The boys drove him out, sir, and he took to the garden."

"Nasty of the boys, I should say. If that interloper should murder him—"

A yell rose from the midst of the garden, followed by a crash and an instant later by a splash that interrupted another yell. I snatched Antoine's lantern and ran down the steps toward the scene of commotion. When I reached the circular pool the jet was still playing gayly, but the waters on one side were in furious agitation. Two men were rolling and tumbling about as though bent upon drowning each other. I swung the lantern over them just as Dutch set upon his feet, gripping his antagonist by the collar. He flung him backward over the stone curbing of the pool and fell upon him, in the wall, with a swish of wet garments. The guards from the outer edges of the garden had clambered down and they gathered about us as I began questioning Dutch.

Dutch, undoubtedly enjoying his victorious encounter, was tearing open the prostrate captive's collar to give him air and with his knees clamping the man's legs was disposed to delay the story of his adventures to increase its dramatic effect.

"It happens this evening," he began, spouting water, "that I seen Elsie, who's been sneakin' me meals to the old stables, an' she says to me: 'Dutch, she says, 'they's all agin us here, callin' us Huns, an' we gotta show 'em we's good Americans,' she says. An' she tole me a feller been to see 'er 'at-wanter 'er to rob the house fer 'im, he thinkin' 'er likely to do ut fer love of the Kaiser. She said as 'ow she'd nail 'im when he comes tonight to git a fan she's promised to lift fer 'im. She said that'd prove she wasn't an' wuz sleepin' on me bench here in the garden when the hollerin' at the garage woke me up. I sits quiet, listenin' an' this guy drops into the garden an' wuz crawlin' past me bench an' I pinches 'im. He wuz fer havin' a fight an' we knocks over one of the big urns an' lit in the tank. He says it's a thousand bones an' ye turn me loose, he says, an' I soused 'im agin for that."

The man was still choking from the sousing and Dutch turned him over and pounded him vigorously on the back, assisted by Zimmerman, the obliging valet, who had seized the occasion to show his hand on the side of the allies. "Shall I telephone for the Barton police, sir?" asked Antoine, with an extreme exaggeration of his professional manner.

This was obviously the thing to do, but I felt not to hear the question while I debated the matter. It was plain that many things relating to the capture were veiled in mystery; that if Mrs. Bradford and her companion were involved in an international tangle and had in their possession something that vitally concerned the nations at war, common chivalry demanded that I handle the arrest of Montani's agent in such a manner as to shield them. I was thinking hard and in my perplexity even considered sending a messenger to Torrence; but he was already suspicious and would be very likely to summon Raynor immediately and precipitate a crisis I was not prepared to face. To invite the attention of the American state department to the increasingly complex situation would not be giving my aunt the chance I meant she should have to clear herself.

The captive had got upon his feet and stood dazedly staring at us. He refused to answer my questions, even when I suggested that if he could give a satisfactory account of himself he would be released. He only doggedly shook his head. When I asked if he had been hurt in his bout with Dutch he smiled and extended his arms in denial. He was a very decent-looking fellow, blue-eyed and smooth-shaven, who seemed to accept his plight with a degree of good humor.

I decided that as nothing would be gained by sending him to the Barton calaboose that night, I would assume the responsibility of detaining him until I had groped my way through the haze of suspicions and circumstances that enveloped him.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BILLY BUGLER'S RIDE.

"I've been asked," said Billy Bugler, the Boston Irish dog, "to tell you about the ride I had the other day in the automobile."

"I don't know why I should speak of it if it's the automobile, for of course there are other automobiles in the world, though that day I hardly felt as though there were. It just seemed as if we were in the only automobile and as though I were the only lucky dog in the world. Of course I know that isn't so."

"How we dogs do like in automobile ride. My missy used to own a little one and we used to ride about all the time, but she hasn't had one lately, though within the last week or so I've heard a good deal of automobile talk going on in our house and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Billy Bugler owned an automobile before long. Of course it really wouldn't be mine but it would be almost the same."

"My missy and I share everything together. And I've heard talk about which sorts of horns were the best, or which horn made the loudest and at the same time the most pleasant noise of all."

"It strikes me that when they begin to talk of horns there must be something going to happen in the way of getting an automobile. Now I heard them speak of which engine was better than another and of which make required least repairs. Really, you know, are things being minded. Automobiles have to be mended just like ladies' dresses and little dogs' jackets and blankets."

"And there was talk about which one went more smoothly than another. But I was going to tell of the ride I had the other day. I sat up in the front seat very proud and feeling very fine. I sniffed the air and thought it was delicious air. One goes through the air in such a fascinating way in an automobile when helps to run the automobile, or whatever it does do, at his something to do with an automobile that is most important. I do not even mind that. In fact, I like it."

"I know when I've been riding in an automobile we've stopped for gasoline. I've always been glad of that, for that has meant that we were going on riding and we wouldn't stop in a hurry."

"On this ride of the other day I sat up and looked about me and my missy talked to me, too."

"Billy Bugler," she said, "do you see a kitten?" I pricked up my ears, and there, true enough, was a kitten walking along the side of the road."

"Then she said, 'Billy Bugler, do you see a bossy cow?' And I looked and there was a bossy cow."

"Billy Bugler," she said, "after a moment, 'do you see a little chicken?'"

"I looked where she pointed and I put up my ears to let her know I had heard and to let her know too, I had seen what she was pointing out to me."

"Billy Bugler," she said, "do you see another little dog?" And true enough I did."

"Oh, it was a fine ride, simply fine. And it was so nice to have one's missy point out all the things of interest to see along the road."

"You know how folks will talk to each other about the scenery and such things. They will say, 'My dear, do look at that old-fashioned rosebush. Isn't it glorious?'"

"But my missy knows just what is the sort of talk I like to hear. I love to see the animals in the fields and along the roads and the little birds on the telegraph wires. It is great fun to see the sights when riding! And it makes a dog feel of a good deal of importance, too, when someone talks to him like that and speaks of the things that will interest a dog most. "And," ended Billy Bugler, "this is almost a cover-fairing ride."

"The more you love your little dog the more he will love you."

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Toupanik, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief."

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PE-RU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

DEATH WAS NEAR

Florida Woman in Critical Condition From Dropsy, But Doan's Brought Recovery

"Dropsy brought me right down to the shadow of the grave," says Mrs. Ida B. Atwell, 904 William St., Key West, Fla. "For fifteen years I was a hopeless wreck, struggling between life and death. The pains were so severe in my back I screamed in agony. My head ached so severely I thought my skull was being crushed. Black specks floated before my eyes, and I had to grasp the bed to keep from falling."

The kidney secretions burned and scalded and I could pass only a few drops at a time. My body bloated. The pressure of so much water on my chest almost smothered me. My feet also swelled and large veses of water hung beneath my eyes. My skin had a shiny, white appearance and anywhere I pressed a dent would remain for hours. I became a nervous wreck.

"A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and oh! I felt so happy when I found they were helping me. Continued use of Doan's completely cured me." Sworn to before me.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

the bringing of goods from the docks or stations to his place of business, and for traversing the country and bringing in produce. For years the Ford One Ton Truck with its splendid manganese bronze worm-drive, powerful Ford Model T Motor, strong Vanadium steel frame, has been serving in every line of business activity, and we have yet to hear the first complaint as to rear axle trouble or motor trouble. It has the lowest purchase price on the market, and the cost for operating and maintaining is exceedingly small. In fact, the Ford One Ton Truck has become a business necessity. Leave your order with us without delay. We will give you prompt attention and assure you reasonably prompt delivery, and give you an after service that will insure your continuous operation of the Truck.
