Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday June 17, 1920

No. 25,

THE FIRST OBJECTION PRESENTED

WATCH OUT FOR MISLEADING STATEMENTS

COME-OUT AND VOTE NEXT MONDAY

The first objection to granting the Edison the right to come into the township has been presented. It has been stated that if this right is granted the company will cross the township with its lines and refuse to supply this village with electricity.

It is not surprising that such objections as that are presented just before elections. It is not the first time and probably will not be the last time that misleading statements have been given to the public before election.

The answer to the statement is as follows: It is necessary to get the consent of the people to enter the township before entering the village. If the election goes in favor of granting the right asked then, in order to enter the village there must be another election by the village voters to pass on the question of entering the village.

The Edison Company has stated through its special representative that when Putnam township and Pinckney village have given the consent neces-

... with electricity at the same low rates enjoyed by its Detroit patrons.

It is not necessary to advise old, experienced voters regarding rumors maliciously started before election. That is an old, threadbare trick that does not deceive very many.

The ballot to be used on election day is printed in another column of this paper. Study it carefully and you will see how to vote as you desire.

Come out on election day and cast your ballot either for or against the proposition as your duty as a loyal citizen demands, and then there will be no excuse that a small vote does not really indicate the will of the people.

This is a critical time for the future of this community.

WILL YOU DO YOUR BIT?

H. M. Thompson, Special Agent for the Edison Company has consented to come to Pinckney next Monday, the special election day and remain here all day.

Although a high official in one of the greatest of Michigan's public utilities Mr. Thompson is merely a common, every-day, good-natured fellow, guarded kind and gentle—any woman can drive him. He will be glad to meet you next Monday or any other day, and explain any point in this proposition that may interest you. And we'll venture to predict that you will also be glad that you have met him.

O.E.S. CONVENTION

Notwithstanding the sweltering heat of one of the very hottest of summer days, the County Eastern Star Convention held here Tuesday was well attended by members from all parts of Livingston County.

The program was carried out as advertised last week with great success on the part of all who took an active part and with both pleasure and profit to the appreciative audience.

The banquet provided by the Ladies of the Pinckney branch was, as usual, a credit to Pinckney, if satisfactory comments on the "feed" by those who partook thereof are a criterion.

The appearance on our streets of the members who attended places the Order on a high plane of representative Livingston County citizenship who will always be welcomed to Pinckney.

A TIP FOR CONSUMERS

Canned goods next winter are going to be sky-high in price—and scarce—despite abundant crops this summer of fruit and vegetables, according to the Michigan State Farm Bureau.

Advice received from the fruit and vegetable growing sections of the state show that labor for picking is almost impossible to obtain, and that the prospects are that thousands of dollars in these commodities will be lost because of inability of farmers to harvest them. Further reports from the canneries show that practically all are preparing for greatly curtailed operations this year, buying of fruit and vegetables by these establishments is reported as reluctant. This curtailment is due mainly to higher sugar prices, shortage of labor and scarcity of coal.

Because of these facts the Farm Bureau urges that consumers of canned goods place their orders this summer with their local dealers. This will permit these dealers to pass the orders along to the wholesalers and canners, thus eliminating much speculation as to the probable demand, and thereby enabling canners and wholesalers to operate on a shorter financial margin and reduce the ultimate cost of these commodities to consumers.

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio (at left) and Gov. Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, who were nominated for President and Vice-President Saturday evening by the Republican National Convention at Chicago, the Ohio senator being nominated on the tenth ballot and the Massachusetts governor winning on the first ballot.

G.O.P. CONVENTION PICKS HARDING AND COOLIDGE

SENATOR FROM OHIO NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENCY ON TENTH BALLOT AFTER A DEADLOCK

POLLED TOTAL OF 692 VOTES

Running Mate, Massachusetts Governor, Wins On First Ballot—Upsets Plans of Harding Backers to Nominate Sen. Lenroot.

The final check up showed 692 for Lowden, 157 for Wood and 80 for Johnson. At their best, earlier in the day, the Wood people had mustered 312 votes and the Lowden forces 311. Johnson's high point was 148, recorded on the third ballot Friday.

Coolidge Gets 674 Votes.
The plan to nominate Senator Lenroot for the vice presidency had the backing of many of the men who had helped put Harding over, but the name of Governor Coolidge stirred the delegates and galleries to repeated cheering and he was swept into the second place on the ticket before the first roll call had gone two-thirds of its length. Again it was Pennsylvania which furnished the winning votes.

Governor Coolidge got 674 votes to 146 for Senator Lenroot and 68 for Governor Allen, of Kansas. Several others got scattering support without being placed formally in nomination. The result was greeted with another demonstration and there was renewed cheering a few minutes later when the tired delegates were told that their work was done.

While the balloting for vice-president was being done, the suffragists were active. They unfurled a large yellow banner from a balcony bearing an inscription demanding to know "why does the Republican party block suffrage?"

Within five minutes after Senator Harding had been nominated, the suffragists from their headquarters across the street were issuing statements announcing that they proposed to center their demands for action upon the constitutional amendment upon the nominee.

Convention Is Long One.
The convention of 1920 will go down in history as the second longest in the Republican party's quadrennial gatherings in point of balloting. Only one required more ballots—the convention that named President Garfield in 1880. Garfield was a dark horse, and 36 ballots were required.

The Hayes convention in 1876 required seven ballots. Harrison in 1888 was named on the eighth. Blaine was named on the fourth ballot in 1884.

Lincoln and Hughes were both named on the third ballot. Lincoln in his first term. For his second he won on the first. All other Republican presidents were named either on the first ballot or by acclamation.

From beginning to end, the big gathering, the largest in the party's history, was characterized by its lack of enthusiasm. Its failure to stir the crowd. It simply wasn't there.

Day after day of the week the record breaking crowds jammed the auditorium. The seating capacity was 14,000, and probably 1,000 more were taken care of by wall aisle space.

Amid scenes of rising enthusiasm other blocks of Lowden delegates followed suit, while many of the routed Wood supporters also went into the Harding camp. By the end of the roll call Senator Harding had rolled up a total of 374, putting him far into the lead, and scores of votes nearer the nomination than any other candidate had been before.

STATE DELEGATES BROKE IN SIXTH

OBEYED PRIMARY INSTRUCTIONS FOR FIVE BALLOTS, THEN FOLLOWED OWN IDEAS.

EIGHT STICK WITH JOHNSON

Michigan's Representatives Played Minor Part in Nominations of G. O. P. Candidates.

Chicago—At the G. O. P. convention which nominated Harding and Coolidge as the standard bearers of the Republican party, Michigan's delegation played an unimportant part. The delegates, instructed by the vote of the people at the primary, to vote for Johnson began breaking away on the sixth ballot.

True to his expressed determination to carry out the instructions imposed on the state's delegates by the primary election, Burt D. Cady, of Port Huron, chairman of Michigan's delegation arose when Michigan was called on the sixth ballot and cast 20 votes for Johnson.

The delegation was immediately in a scene of wild confusion. Mr. McLean, who is the Michigan manager of the great I. Stevenson lumber interest finally made himself heard and demanded a poll of the delegation.

Twelve Change Vote in Sixth.
The first Michigan man who cast his vote for Wood was Mr. Hamilton, president of a Grand Rapids trust company.

The delegation divided on the sixth ballot as follows: Johnson 18, Wood 11, Lowden 1.

For Wood: Claude H. Hamilton, Grand Rapids; Arthur S. Glasgow, Jackson; Donald C. Osborn, Kalamazoo; E. R. Cook, Hastings, W. H. McCarron, Sturgis; Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids; Arthur Vanduren, Holland; William J. Pierson, Charlevoix; Richard McLean, Delta; Otto C. Davidson, Iron Mountain; E. C. Bowers, Iron River.

Jerome H. Remick, Ira W. Jayne, John W. Smith, Robert Oakman, Detroit; Robert H. Shields, Houghton; Mrs. Grace G. Brown, Ann Arbor; William G. Guttman, Monroe; John C. Davis, Coldwater; Leonard Freeman, Flint; Thaddeus Seeley, Pontiac; William F. Gallagher, Owosso; Burt D. Cady, Port Huron; Fred W. Green, Ionia; Martin Brown, Leland; Harry E. Galpin, Muskegon; James E. Davidson, Bay City; A. J. Doherty, Clare.

Two More Change in Seventh.
On the seventh ballot Burt D. Cady, Port Huron, chairman, again announced the Michigan vote as "30 for Johnson," and Richard McLean, of Delta, as on the sixth ballot, demanded a poll.

The following changed from Johnson to Wood on this ballot: Robert Shields, of Houghton; Martin Brown, of Leland.

Again on the eighth ballot Mr. Cady announced the Michigan vote as 30 for Johnson. On the poll the vote was as follows: Johnson, 10; Wood 13; Lowden, 7.

On this ballot the Lowden contingent in the Michigan delegation broke away from Johnson. The six Lowden votes in addition to John H. Handa, Sandusky, who voted for Lowden previously, were as follows:

John C. Davis, Coldwater; Leonard Freeman, Flint; Thaddeus D. Seeley, Pontiac; William F. Gallagher, Owosso; James E. Davidson, Bay City; Alfred J. Doherty, Clare.

On the ninth ballot the vote was: Six for Lowden, 15 for Wood, eight for Johnson and one for Harding. The original Harding man on the delegation was Hands, of Sandusky. He previously had voted for Lowden.

On the next and final, the tenth ballot, the delegation was united for Harding, but the Lowden floor managers already had notified all their supporters that the Illinois governor had released his delegates and requested them to go to Harding.

The Michigan vote therefore was not needed by the Ohio man.

The eight Johnson delegates who stuck through to the end were Charles Burton, Detroit; Grace Greenwood Brown, Ann Arbor; John W. Smith, Detroit; Fred Green, Ionia; Harris E. Galpin, Muskegon; Burt Cady, Port Huron; chairman of the delegation, and Robert Oakman and Judge Ira Jayne, of Detroit.

Delegates Don't Like Primary.

One heard much about the primary method of elections at this convention. The primary, in fact, was responsible for much of the rather curious antics of the delegates and their inclination to stick to their candidates.

"How can I go about it to get a drink in this town?" asked a recently arrived gent, who looked as if he needed irrigation.

That was just before we went over an embankment, and our driver lit running in the road. It was an hour after he disappeared in the distance before we caught a ride back to the city.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

For the world in general food is prepared and eaten at home; and no matter how many farmers and butchers and sailors and teamsters and grocers have conspired to provide us with good food, the one cook in the kitchen may vitiate the product in an hour.—Heiler Campbell

DISHES WITH CHILLI.

For all who like peppery dishes the following will be appreciated:

Mexican Hash—Take one-half pound of boiled beef chopped fine, one tomato and two cloves of garlic, also chopped fine. Cook the tomato and garlic in a little fat for a few minutes, then add the meat and one-half teaspoonful of chilli powder, one onion chopped fine, salt and pepper to taste. Then add the broth in which the meat was cooked and cook for twenty minutes.

Boiled Ham—Cover the ham with water and let it come to a boil. Add half a cupful of brown sugar, one teaspoonful of chilli powder and set back to simmer for three hours, then remove the skin. Put the ham in a roasting pan, cover with bread crumbs, stick in it a few cloves and sprinkle with chilli powder. Put into a hot oven to brown.

Tripe Mexican Style—Put tripe to cook in boiling water until tender. Add one clove of garlic, chopped fine, two tablespoonfuls of chilli powder and one can of hominy. Stir and let cook until well done. Serve hot.

Kidney With Chilli—Cut up the kidney into small pieces. Add one onion cut fine, put the kidney and onion into a saucepan with hot fat and let them fry. Add salt and pepper, one bay leaf, two tablespoonfuls of chilli powder and a little flour. When smooth set in broth or hot water for a sauce, with a dash of vinegar.

three tablespoonfuls of fat, then add a teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste, two tablespoonfuls of chilli powder and one bay leaf. Put all into a casserole with a half cupful each of carrot, turnip, and one onion with three stalks of celery, all cut in bits. Then add two cupfuls of soup stock or water. Cover and cook in a moderate oven three hours. A sauce may be made with the liquor in the pan. Add flour and chilli powder to thicken and season.

A genius for orderliness is the sanity if not the religion of everyday life.

GOOD FOOD FOR THE FAMILY.

For that tired feeling which afflicts so many at this season of the year, a tonic is good, but take it from dandelion greens, spinach and tender green vegetables. For sleeplessness a hot egg nogg will be found most soothing. Beat an egg very light, add one cupful of scalded milk, a pinch of salt and a little sugar if liked, with a grating of nutmeg. Add the milk, a little at a time, beating well. Serve hot. The blood is drawn from the brain to the stomach and the sleepless sleep.

Baked Beans With Sausage and Hamburger—Take hamburger steak and pork sausage, half and half. Place parboiled beans in the bean pot, with a small onion, cover with a layer of meat, then a layer of beans, another layer of meat and beans. Add salt, mustard, molasses and water as usual to the bean pot and bake all day slowly.

Roast Beef With Onions—Put a rolled roast of beef in a baking pan and surround it with even-sized onions. Bake, basting as usual, basting the onions as well. Serve with the onions as a garnish to the platter of roast. Potatoes may be added and roasted with the onions, if desired.

Stuffed Calves' Hearts—Wash two hearts, removing arteries. Parboil in salted water for 20 minutes. Drain, stuff and sew. Season with salt and pepper, roll in flour and brown in a frying pan in any sweet fat. Put into a casserole, add small onions, carrots and new potatoes with broth to cook and bake until the vegetables are tender.

Escalloped Tomatoes With Eggs—Prepare escalloped tomatoes using bread crumbs and the usual seasoning. Place in a baking dish and over the top drop as many eggs to punch as there are persons to serve. Put into a hot oven and bake until the eggs are set.

LIGHTNING KILLS FIVE IN DETROIT

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF LIVES IN ONE DAY.

FOUR ARE KILLED BY ONE BOLT

High School Ball Players, Seeking Refuge From Heavy Rain, Stricken Under Tree.

Detroit.—A severe electrical storm that swept the city last Thursday killed 5 persons and injured 13 others.

One bolt of lightning struck down the baseball team of Northeastern high school in Pingree park, instantly killing four of the boys and injuring six other players and youthful spectators. A woman was fatally struck near her home. She died shortly afterward. Three men, two at Belle Isle and one in the city, were stricken by the deadly current. They will recover.

The dead were: Killed by lightning in Pingree park, Charles Ryscavage, 17 years old, 563 Grandy avenue; Anthony F. Schornack, 17 years old, 985 Chene street; Frank Owdyk, 19 years old, 737 Theodore street; Edward Skrzycki, 19 years old, 964 Russell street.

Killed on street: Mrs. Dora Pettich, 46 years old, Dequindre street and Nine-mile road.

The tragedy in Pingree park happened near Joyce field, the baseball ground.

The boys had sought shelter under an Elm tree when the first heavy drops of rain started to fall about 5 o'clock. They were standing under it when the tree was struck, the lightning splintering the huge trunk. They had gone to Pingree park to play a final game with Eastern high, one of a series of elimination contests for the championship.

As soon as the rain became a downpour, the boys scattered, but the bolt that they were on the edge of the circle perhaps saved their lives.

According to Wilmer Lamson, Jr., 346 East Warren avenue, who was sitting under the tree, the boys were joshing about the storm when a terrific flash of lightning felled the group.

When Lamson recovered, the others were lying on the ground. They were found to be dead at Receiving Hospital.

All four of the dead boys were popular at school. Skrzycki was captain of the 1919-1920 basket ball team, and a foot ball and base ball player. Owdyk also played on the basket ball and foot ball teams. Ryscavage, who with Schornack was a senior, was business manager of the school paper.

Mrs. Pettich, also a victim of the storm, was but a short distance from her home, toward which she was hurrying, when there was a heavy thunder clap, a blinding flash and she fell to the ground. Neighbors saw that she made no effort to get up and went to her aid. She was carried home, where she died shortly after.

A. F. OF L TAKES IN NEGROES

Colored Workers Given Full Memberships In Labor Federation.

Montreal.—The American Federation of Labor in its annual convention here wiped out the "color-line" and warned its affiliated international unions that negro workers must be given full and equal membership with white men.

The federation's action came at the end of a stormy session, which nearly resulted in a "race war" between delegates from the southern states and the negroes and their sympathizers.

Rejecting the recommendation of its organization committee the federation for the first time in history threatened the autonomy of an affiliated union by requesting the brotherhood of railway clerks to give the negro freight handlers, express and station employes full membership and eliminate from its constitution the words, "white only."

G. O. P. FORGETS IRISH PLANK

Fight of Irish Sympathizers Falls to Impress Platform Framers.

Chicago.—The Republican platform omitted all reference to Ireland.

Planks proposed by Irish sympathizers were lost before the resolutions sub-committee and not pressed in the full committee or convention.

The woman suffrage plank "earnestly hopes", Republican states which have not yet ratified the suffrage amendment will do so. It was a substitute for a clause calling upon the governors or states not having ratified to summon their legislatures in extra session to ratify the amendment.

INVESTMENTS

In the present period of the adjustment of the country's industrial and commercial affairs it is well for investors to exercise the utmost caution in the selection of investments.

Investors should scan these securities very carefully. Where there is the least doubt, caution will dictate looking a little farther for an investment where safety and peace of mind are absolutely assured. Preferring to sacrifice a part of big income to a greater degree of safety, the conservative investor prospers to a larger extent in the end than the investor whose first thought is income, the quality of the security being a minor consideration.

Write for booklet, "Investment Steps," and for detail circulars describing the First Mortgage 6% Real Estate Serial Notes of $100 and $500 denominations we are offering and recommend as conservative, high-grade, safe investments.

The Mercantile Trust Company is a member of the Federal Reserve System, and by reason of such membership is under the supervision of the United States Government. This means that every loan we make, including "First Mortgage Real Estate Serial Loans," is subject to examination by Government Bank Examiners. These loans are also examined by the St. Louis Clearing House Bank Examiners and the official Bank Examiners of both the State of Missouri and the State of Illinois.

We particularly invite comparison between these loans and the average real estate mortgage loans, with reference to excellence of location, class of construction and actual (not estimated) income.

Delivery of notes purchased by non-residents will be made at our own risk to any bank or post office. Send for Circulars describing the First Mortgage 6% Real Estate Serial Notes we are now offering.

Ruling Spirit Still Strong.

At a lunatic asylum one of the inmates was busily engaged catching flies, and every fresh captive he placed in a glass case with a chuckle of glee.

"Hallow!" said a visitor inquiringly: "Entomologist?"

"No," replied the attendant with a grin; "he is an inventor and his failure with an airship sent him mad. When he catches sufficient flies he is going to fasten them all together and harness them to a soapbox, and so fly over the walls and escape."

 Two sentimental spinsters live next door to a satisfied-with-his-condition bachelor. And he does have a time avoiding their conspicuous attentions.

But the worst of all was the other night after he had rolled into bed and was called to the telephone. A spinster's voice came over the phone: "Oh, Mr. Blank, there is a man at our window."

The bachelor snorted: "Doesn't he know where your door is?" he retorted.

And now their attentions have ceased.

Frantic With Pain

Doan's However Brought Complete Recovery and Trouble Has Never Returned

"My kidneys were weakened by exposure in Alaska," says Hermann Schrader, 325 Park Ave., Hoboken, N. J., "and my misery at times became so great I thought I would lose my mind. I had terrible pains in my back, and a constant desire to urinate. My back felt as if it were in sections with each crushing against the other. Finally I was taken down desperately ill. It seemed as if something were crushing out my life. Before long I passed a gravel stone the size of a pea. If the pain had been any more intense I think I would have died. I was having practically no flushing of the kidneys and my weight had reduced from 178 pounds to 125. The doctor told me I had gravel and small stones filling up the passages of the bladder. After all of this I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills and soon improved. In a short time I was well and my cure has lasted fifteen years. Today I am in perfect health."

HIS POCKET WAS BARE.

Teacher was giving a lesson on good behavior, and wanted to drive it home to the children's mind.

First she sought to point out the wickedness of stealing.

"Johnny," she said to one small boy, "if I put my hand in your pocket and took out a penny, what would I be?"

But instead of replying, "A thief," Johnny looked at her solemnly, and remarked:

"A conjurer!"—London Answers.

Driven to It.

"My boy," said Mr. Grabcoia, "are you getting ready to settle down?"

"Yes, dad. I guess I'll have to."

"A sensible decision, sir."

"Perhaps. Most of the chaps I went to college with are doing some kind of beastly work, and one hates to sit around his club all day with nobody to talk to but the waiters. Ho, hum! I'll have to go into business to amuse myself."

BEGINNING OF A ROMANCE.

Unknown Influences.

The rhythmic law of nature merits wide study. But we have collected enough evidence to show that body growth in children, body weight in adults, appetite for food, fitness for work, the recurrence of illness, periodic mental depression, tendency to crime, impulsion to suicide, rise and fall of blood temperature, and falling in love are all influenced by a mysterious revolution.

SEEK TO CURB RENT GOUGER

Organization Formed to Combat Profiteer—Demand Effective Laws.

Detroit—Fifteen men, representing some 20,000 members of social, beneficial and labor organizations of Detroit and Highland Park, held a snappy organization meeting which seems to spell trouble with a large T. for the rent profiteer and the ruthless landlord. While the main object of the meeting was to enlist all fraternal and social organizations possible, in demanding a special session of the legislature to pass laws to curb the orgy of rent raising and evictions, the meeting, in very business-like style, set the machinery in motion for some effective work against the rent evil. Those delegates present, as representatives of organizations with membership running into the thousands, will not only ask their organizations to pass resolutions demanding a special session of the legislature to curb rent raising, but also their organizations to make application to the courts for any member guilty of rent profiteering or unjust eviction of a tenant.

SHIPPERS URGE RATE INCREASE

Say Railroads Should Have Greater Revenue to Meet High Costs.

Washington—The National Industrial Traffic League, an organization of shippers, through its chairman R. M. Field, of Peoria, Ill., has urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to act without delay in granting increased freight rates to railroads. "The present transportation system is deplorable in the extreme," Mr. Field said, "and we are paying indirectly for a lack of service, more than we would be called on to pay in rates made sufficiently high to enable an adequate service to be maintained." Mr. Field said a fair and proper earning capacity was necessary to enable the roads to meet expenses, establish their credit on a basis which would make possible the negotiation of loans and attract capital investment. "This program should be worked out as speedily as possible, for it is clearly apparent that an increase in rates is necessary to bring the revenue of railroads up to the basis prescribed by law," he stated.

LEVER FOOD LAW HELD INVALID

U. S. Court Decides Profiteer Clause Is Too Vague.

Philadelphia—That section of the Lever law, commonly known as the food control bill, which makes it an offense for a merchant to charge "unjust or unreasonable prices" was held to be unconstitutional by United States District Judge Thompson. The ground for invalidating section 4 of the act, Judge Thompson holds, is because its description "of unjust and unreasonable price" is vague, indefinite and uncertain, and in violation of the sixth amendment to the constitution guaranteeing any defendant the right to full information of the nature of the charge against him. The section of the Lever act relating to prices must fall, Judge Thompson decided, because it does not set up a standard upon which a jury can determine, while trying a defendant accused of profiteering, whether he has made an unjust and unreasonable charge for necessities.

Private Control Helps Railroads.

Washington—Not operating income of the railroads increased by nearly $1,000,000 during March—the first month after their return to private control—compared with March, 1919, when the Government controlled the lines, according to a partial summary issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

As they resumed their talk Alice, it seemed, was relating something of moment for Arrowsmith's benefit, referring now and then to Mrs. Farnsworth as though for corroboration. The scene in the box was almost as interesting as any in the play, and the audience watched with deep absorption. Alice, the least self-conscious of mortals, was, I knew, utterly unaware of the curious gaze of the house; whatever she was saying with an occasional gesture of her gloved hand or a shrug of her shoulders possessed her completely. I thought she might be telling Arrowsmith of her adventures at Barton; but the length of her narrative was against this, and Arrowsmith's attitude was more that of a critic appealed to for an opinion than of a polite listener to a story. He nodded his head several times, and finally, as Alice, with a slight dip of the head and an outward movement of her arms, settled back in her chair, he patted his hands approvingly.

In my absorption I had forgotten Montan's existence, but as the third act began I saw that he had gone. Whether I should put myself in Alice's way as she left the theater was still an undetermined question when the play ended. With Montan hanging about I felt a certain obligation to warn her that he had been watching her. I was among the first to leave, and in the foyer I met Forsythe, the house manager, who knew me as a friend of Searles.

"You notice that we're still turning 'em away," he remarked. "We don't have to worry about this piece; everybody who sees it sends his friends the next day. Searles hasn't looked in know when he'll be back." I answered, "I must write him that Sir Cecil Arrowsmith enjoyed 'Who Killed Cock Robin?' just as much as common mortals."

Forsythe had paused at the box-office, and in my uncertainty I stuck to him as the crowd began to surge by. Arrowsmith's approach was advertised by the peculiar type of tall hat that he affected, and the departing audience made way for him, or hung back to stare. At his left were Alice and Mrs. Farnsworth, and they must pass quite close to me. "Who Killed Cock Robin?" was a satisfying play that sent audiences away with lightened hearts and smiling faces, and the trio were no exception to the rule.

Listening inattentively to Forsythe, I was planning to join Alice when the trio should reach me. She saw me; there was a fleeting flash of recognition in her eyes, and then she turned toward Arrowsmith. She drew nearer; her gaze met mine squarely, but now without a sign to indicate that she had ever seen me before. She passed on, talking with greatest animation to Arrowsmith.

"Well, remember me to Searles if you write him," I heard Forsythe say. I clutched his arm as he opened the office door.

"Who are those women?" I demanded.

"You may search me! I see you have a good eye. That girl's rather nice to look at!"

Crowding my way to the open, I blocked the path of orderly, sane citizens awaiting their machines until a policeman pushed me aside. Alice I saw for a bewildering instant, framed in the window of a big limousine that rolled away uptown.

I had been smudged! No smudge had ever been delivered more deliberately, with a nicer calculation of effect, than that administered to me by Alice Bashford—a girl with whom, until a moment before, I had believed myself on terms of cordial comradeship. She had cut me; Alice who had asked me at the very beginning of our acquaintance to call her by her first name—Alice had cut me without the quiver of a lash.

I walked to the Thackeray and settled myself in a dark corner of the reading room, thoroughly bruised in spirit. In my resentment I meditated flying to Ohio to join Searles, always my chief resource in trouble. Affairs at Barton might go to the devil. If Alice and her companion wanted to get rid of me, I would not be sorry to be relieved of the responsibility I had assumed in trying to protect them. With rising fury I reflected that by the time they had shaken off Montan and got rid of the prisoner in the tool house they would think better of me.

"Telephone call, sir."

I followed the boy to the booth in a rage that any one should disturb my gloomy reflections.

"Mr. Singleton? Oh! This is Alice speaking—"

I clutched the shelf for support. Not only was it Alice speaking, but in the kindest voice imaginable. My anger passed, but my amazement at Alice and all her ways blinded me. If she had suddenly stepped through the wall, my surprise could not have been greater.

"You told me the Thackeray was your usual refuge in town, so I thought I'd try it. Are you very, very cross? I'm sorry, really I am—Bob!"

The "Bob" was added lingeringly, propitiating. Huddled in the booth, I doubted my senses—wondering indeed whether Alice hadn't a double—even, whether I hadn't dreamed everything that had occurred at Barton.

"I wanted to speak to you ever so much at the theater, but I couldn't very well without introducing you to Sir Cecil, and I wasn't ready to do that. It might have caused complications."

If anything could have multiplied the existing complications, I was anxious to know what they were; but her voice was so gentle, so wholly amiable, that I restrained an impulse to demand explanations.

"Are you on earth or are you speaking from paradise?" I asked.

"Oh, we're in a very nice house, Constance and I; and we're just about having a little supper. I wish you were here, but that can't be arranged. No; really it can't! We shall be motoring back to Barton to-morrow and hope you can join us. Let us remember that I shall be in the city."

And next time we shall run away, which was very naughty, I suppose when you begin a story you just have to keep it going or it will die on your hands. That's the way with our story, you know. Of course it's unkind to mystify you; but you are in the story just as we are."

My mystification was certainly deep enough without this suggestion that I was a mere character in a tale whose awkward beginning aroused only the gravest apprehensions as to the conclusion. She looked at her watch and continued: "I'm so absurd—really I am, in ever so many ways, that no one would ever put me in a book. Everyone would say no such person ever existed! It's incredible! And so I have to pretend I'm in a story all the time. It's the only way I can keep happy. And so many people are in my story now, not only Montan and the poor fellow locked up at Barton—oh, what if he should escape! Constance, it would be splendid if he should escape!"

"You didn't finish your enumeration of characters," I suggested. "Is my part an important one or am I only a lay figure?"

"My dear boy," cried Mrs. Farnsworth, "you are the hero! You have been the hero from the hour the story began. If you should desert us now, whatever should we do?"

"If I'm the hero," I replied in my own key, "I shall begin making love to Alice at once."

Alice, far from being disturbed by my declaration, nodded her head approvingly.

"Oh, we had expected that! But you needn't be in a hurry. In a story like this one, that runs right on from day to day, we must leave a lot to chance. And there are ever so many chances—"

"Not all on the side of failure, I hope?"

"We must be going," she laughed. I wished she hadn't that characteristic little turn of the head that was so beguiling!

Folly rode with us all the way to Barton. If anything sensible was uttered on the drive, I can't recall it. Our talk, chiefly of knights and ladies, and wild flights from imaginary enemies, had the effect of spurring Flynn to perilous spurts of speed.

"I love you that way," said Alice as I stared vacantly at my plate. "But you really are not making yourself disagreeable to us—really he is not, Constance!"

Mrs. Farnsworth affirmed this. I knew that I was merely being rude, and the consciousness of this was not uplifting. At the luncheon hour the influx of shoppers gives the Tyringham a cheery tone, and all about us were people apparently conversing sanely and happily. The appearance of Uncle Bash's ghost in the familiar dining room would have been a welcome diversion. I was speculating as to just what he would say about his widow and the whole mess at Barton when Mrs. Farnsworth addressed me pleadingly.

"If you knew that we want you to play with us only a few days longer—three days, shall we say, Alice?—if you knew that then we'll untangle everything, wouldn't you be nice—very nice?"

In spite of myself I couldn't resist this appeal. I was more and more impressed by the fineness, the charm of Mrs. Farnsworth. When she dropped the make-believe foolishness in which she indulged quite as amusingly as Alice, she appeared to be a very sensible person. The humor danced in her eyes now, but her glance was more than an appeal; it was a command.

"If you knew that our troubles are not at all the troubles you're thinking about, but very different—"

"Please pardon me," I muttered humbly, and wished that Alice were not so bewitching in a sailor hat. It may have been the hat or only Mrs. Farnsworth's pleading tone that brought me to a friendlier attitude toward the universe and its visible inhabitants. The crowd thinned out, and I was alone with Alice. "And next time we shall run away, which was very naughty, I suppose when you begin a story you just have to keep it going or it will die on your hands. That's the way with our story, you know. Of course it's unkind to mystify you; but you are in the story just as we are."

Analyzing Waste Food.

America leads all other nations in analyzing the value of the foods we eat and the best way to make them nourish us. Scientists have found that we often get little of the real value of our foods so that a great deal goes to waste. It is exactly as if we took just one squeeze out of a juicy orange and then threw it away. The new science has been developed largely since the outbreak of the war. Many interesting experiments have been carried on in Teachers' college in New York which are being watched by scientists throughout the world. Others with much more waste than we have, has utilized this information in fixing the rations for our soldiers. In a few years people will look back upon our wasteful, unscientific habits of today with amazement.—Boys' Life.

History of Petroleum Industry. The story of the petroleum industry in the United States dates back to 1859, when, on August 28, oil was struck in the Drake well, near Titusville, in northwestern Pennsylvania. When the pumping began the oil flowed in a tiny stream of 40, and later only 15, barrels a day; 5,000,000 barrels were produced in 1870, 20,000,000 in 1880, 45,000,000 in 1890, 63,000,000 in 1900, 200,000,000 in 1910 and 330,000,000 barrels in 1918. The output last year is perhaps 30,000,000 barrels in excess of the 1918 record.

The Producer.
A man worth while, beyond a doubt,
That person is,
Who does not rant, or roar or shout,
But tends to his bit.

Defined.
"What is artistic temperament, anyhow?"
"I'll tell you what is," answered the veteran stage manager. "It's what enables a star to make her exit with every woman in the house crying over her because she's so sweet and good and then swear at a stage hand who interrupts her stately progress to her dressing room."

A Mean Man.
"Would you mind telling me what the upkeep of your limousine amounts to?"
"Certainly not," replied the prosperous citizen. "But may I ask why you want to know?"
"My wife's been after me to buy a flyver and I'm going to argue against it on a limousine basis."

"Puts a healing coat on the lining of the throat."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

A COUGH that threatens to rip and tear out the lining of the throat, that seems to jolt and jerk the chest beyond endurance, and causes an echoing thump at the back of the head as if you were hit with a sledge hammer—such a cough needs a cooling, soothing medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to coat the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing balm.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in many instances of severe bronchial, la grippe and other racking coughs that debilitate.

What Foley's Did For One Man

J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Ga., writes: "Several years ago I had a terrible attack, both lungs being inflamed. After recovering somewhat my lungs never 'cleared up' and I suffered severe pains, which I had for three months and couldn't get well. I got one 60c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it alone entirely cured me. It took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs. It is the most valuable medicine I ever used. I cheerfully recommend it."

This old standard remedy seems to get right at the seat of trouble, almost instantly relieves the nervous tickling in the throat, clears the passages, banishes that persistent irritation which instigates the paroxysms of coughing. One or two doses produce a desirable and welcome result.

Are You Prepared?

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be in every home. No cold should be neglected, however slight. It should be taken in hand promptly and checked just as soon as possible. The longer it lingers the worse for the sufferer. So don't experiment. Get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar today and have it ready for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, la grippe or bronchial coughs.
