

PINCKNEY DISPATCH

Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday August 12, 1920

No. 33,

Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Every boy longs to go camping. The active call of the wild is yet very strong in the average boy. Many boys camping with informal parties, or "bunches", however, they do not enjoy food nor proper sleeping conditions.

The moral atmosphere, too, is lacking, at the least, careless. Camp was founded to give an opportunity to camp in the woods, to enjoy nature, to learn the early morning routine and to gain the pleasure of the campfire. Being under expert supervision the moral and physical needs of the boys are well provided.

Camp Birkett consists of 15 acres of excellent camping ground and was presented to the Ann Arbor Y. M. C. A. by Thomas Burkett. The club house, with its great open fireplace, dining hall and big screened porch, is the gift of his daughter, Mrs. H. Wirt Newkirk. The tents are provided with sleeping cots. The kitchen is equipped with modern conveniences. Livingston County has the use of these grounds and equipment.

Friday, August 20th, will be visitors' day when we will plan for a big athletic field meet or an aquatic event, which will be worth while seeing, and prizes will be given at this time. You will be welcome to visit camp at any time.

Further particulars may be obtained from F. E. Weeks, Pinckney.

THE LIVINGSTON COUNTY FAIR

This fair association, under the management of R. D. Roche, secretary has become a Mecca to all Livingston people and also large numbers from adjoining counties.

This year the efforts toward making the fair even more successful than ever before have been untiring and those who are expecting big results will not be disappointed.

Racing will be a big feature, and, with $1800 purse money, will bring out good harness racers.

The base ball fan will find in this year's schedule many opportunities of witnessing fast games.

Several other free attractions are scheduled and every one is making preparations for the great county event.

ST. MARY'S PICNIC

The annual picnic of St. Mary's Church, Pinckney, will be held at Jackson's Grove August 18. The attraction, always of a high standard, will be maintained this year, as is evidenced from the program, which will be found on the last page.

An excellent chicken pie dinner will be served by the ladies. Those who are keen for sports will be nicely entertained with baseball, a game having been arranged between Dexter and Fomerville. Ice cream, cake, soft drinks, candies, enough and aplenty to satisfy the inner man.

In fact, nothing has been overlooked to make the day a memorable one. A day replete with pleasure and enjoyment. Everyone is welcome, bring your friends.

JACKSON COUNTY FAIR

The latest naval war-fare and pyrotechnic spectacle success. The historic battle of the Monitor and Merrimac in fire works as well as a vaudeville program under the auspices of the Jackson County Agricultural Society, Fair Grounds, August 19, 20 and 21, evenings from 8 until 10, to help pay for the Grand Stand.

Many persons are asking how the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Company of Chicago can produce with fidelity its huge fire works spectacle, "The Battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac" in Jackson on the Fair Grounds. To answer their questions, here is an outline to the eve in all its historic grandeur: The mammoth scenic arrangement or stage setting is three hundred feet in length and represents a scene looking out into Hampton Roads. In the foreground to the right are Fortress Monroe, the Federal Batteries and camp at Newport News, the James river in the distance. The spectacle opens showing the United States Frigates "Minnesota", "Roanoke" and "St. Lawrence", the "Congress" and "Cumberland", a French man-of-war and a number of transports swinging peacefully at anchor.

Suddenly from the direction of Norfolk a strange craft is sighted. It is the transformed confederate ironclad "Merrimac" (rechristened the Virginia) and appears as a great surprise to the unsuspecting federals. Its like has never been seen before. A good deal of nervousness and excitement is apparent among the crews of the Federal Frigates—boats are dropped astern and booms got along side, and suddenly the Cumberland opens fire with her heavy pivot guns, followed by the Congress and shore batteries. The strange craft reserves its fire and steams steadily ahead until within easy range; it now fires into the Cumberland. It passes close to the Congress and fires a broadside, which is returned with spirit. It now steers directly for the Cumberland and strikes her at right angles on the starboard side. The Cumberland continues to fight, although her side is opened wide. She fills rapidly, and while her crew works her guns she goes down with a roar, colors still flying. The Merrimac now retires to Sewell's point, flushed with easy victory. But a big surprise awaits this proud and arrogant crew; for they now discover between them and the Minnesota a strange looking craft—it is the little Monitor. The Merrimac gets under way at once and steams out toward the Monitor, opening fire with her bow pivot and then with a starboard broadside which the Monitor promptly returns with her eleven inch guns. Both vessels turn and pass closer, the Monitor firing rapidly, every shot striking. The smokestack of the Merrimac is shot away and she is working badly. The battle now rages furiously—the heavy shore batteries are in action—the fighting monsters maneuver in a most realistic manner—the bombardment is now furious and the spectator witnesses a reproduction of the most thrilling and spectacular naval battle that was ever fought. Indescribable and never to be forgotten. As the battle comes to an end the ships disappear from view, and there is a gorgeous display of fireworks including many new and novel features.

DINKLE---WEEKS

A wedding of unusual interest to Pinckney people took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dinkel on Wednesday, August 11, when their only daughter, Cordelia, was united in marriage to Mr. Floyd E. Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Weeks of Kalamazoo.

Promptly at 6:30 p. m. Miss Elsie Bock of Detroit began playing Lohengrin's Bridal chorus to which the bridal party were ushered into a well-decorated parlor of pink and white festooning and ferns. The nuptial words that made them man and wife were spoken by Rev. J. E. Cook, B. D.

The bride looked charming in a dress of cream georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of La France roses and sweet peas. She was assisted by Mrs. Oscar Heisig of New York, who was dressed in Copenhagen blue georgette crepe. The groom was assisted by Mr. Heisig, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony the guests, numbering about twenty-five, enjoyed a very dainty wedding luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Weeks left by auto for Ann Arbor, going from there to Detroit where they take the boat for Niagara Falls and points of interest east. The brides traveling suit was navy blue with hat to match.

Mr. Weeks occupies a popular position in Pinckney's business and civic affairs and Mrs. Weeks is no less popular in our social life. A large circle of friends join in wishing them a long and happy married life.

Mrs. Fred Bowman and daughter

Mrs. H. W. Crofoot was in Jackson Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rose of Bay City spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Teeple.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Alley of Dexter called on Pinckney friends Tuesday.

Mrs. A. H. Flintoft of Howell and Mrs. Milfred Hill of Detroit were Pinckney callers Wednesday.

REDS FREE DETROIT SOLDIER

Corporal of 339th, Prisoner 17 Months, Arrives in Finland.

Viborg, Finland.—After 17 months in Soviet Russia, where he was twice wounded and captured by the Bolsheviks on the Archangel front, March 1, 1919, Corporal Arthur Prince, 339th U. S. Infantry, arrived at the Finnish frontier July 31. On board the train with Corp. Prince, whose home is in Detroit, came 300 French, Danish and Swedish refugees from Russia, who are being repatriated by their governments.

Corp. Prince was one of four Americans sent out on this refugee train by the Bolshevik authorities in Moscow. Among the other Americans who arrived were two correspondents, who crossed Russia from Vladivostok, and Mrs. Emily Sarman, of New York, a refugee from Samara.

Russia and Siberia, are awaiting permission of the Soviet to leave, all anxious for the American Government to take steps to obtain their release.

Seventeen months ago, traversing frozen North Russia, 250 versts south-east of Archangel, over a snow shoe trail four feet in snow, Corp. Prince and his patrol of seven other Yanks were ambuscaded by the Bolshevik Corp. Prince was hit in the knee, his leg was broken at the hip and another bullet struck him in the side as he was crawling toward the American line. The corporal was captured and placed on a sleigh which started on a 250-verst trip requiring five days in zero weather, to Kotlas, without knowledge of what forces had made him prisoner or their language.

PONZI EXPLAINS HIS METHODS

Finance Wizard Says International Coupons Net Huge Profits.

Boston.—Charles Ponzi, "financial wizard" last week announced he would open up his new business in a $100,000,000 corporation with headquarters here. The corporation, he said, would control a chain of banks and steamship lines and would be an importing and exporting business.

He repeated his profits were made in international reply coupons, declared that he could now take in $500,000 a day dealing in them, despite the new postal agreements.

"It is easily done, if you know how. At the time when the exchange rates were the lowest, I would send $10,000 over to Europe and less than a month later that money would increase to $400,000. Of course I did not get the entire $400,000 as my agents in Europe went 50-50 with me. I made $200,000, however, on coupon buying and selling."

FIVE DEAD IN ILLINOIS RIOTS

Following Murder of 2 Boys Mob Drives Foreigners From Town.

STOP LANDING OF BRITISH CABLE

U. S. PREVENTS COMPLETION OF LINE INTENDED TO CONNECT WITH SOUTH AMERICA.

WOULD ESTABLISH MONOPOLY

Great Britain Already Controls Only Means of Wire Communication Between America and Brazil.

Washington.—Assurances were given the state department last week by the British embassy that the British cable ship Colonia would not undertake to land within American territorial waters the end of the cable from Barbados to Miami, Fla., until an executive permit had been issued by the United States government. The cable is being constructed for the Western Union Telegraph company and would connect with a British line to Brazil.

Instructions were sent by the embassy not only to Vice-Consul Hubbard at Miami, but also direct to the captain of the Colonia, to postpone landing until the question of a permit had been settled. Meantime American destroyers are patrolling off Miami.

Embassy officials took the view that the controversy over the cable was entirely between the Western Union company and the state department. The government has declined to act on the permit pending the meeting here September 15 of the international communications conference.

It is not certain that President Wilson would consent to the landing of the new British-South American cable even if such an international agreement would guarantee American equality so far as commercial messages in time of peace are concerned, but it would not relieve the possibility of the American cables being closed by order of the British govern-wire communication between the United States and South America. The All-American Cable Co., which is American-owned, has a line extending from New York, via Cuba, Panama and the west coast of South America, to Valparaiso. Thence the cable has been connected by land with Montevideo, Rio de Janeiro and Santos, returning to Mexico by way of the east coast.

In 1873 the Brazilian government granted to Great Britain a monopoly of all cable-landing rights in that country. The All-American Co., however, obtained a concession to bring its cable messages into Brazil by land lines from the west coast.

So the matter stood until last spring, when the Brazilian government suddenly imposed a tax of three francs a word on all cable messages coming to Brazil by way of the west coast of South America, thus virtually prohibiting operation of the American line in the transmission of messages from the United States to Brazil.

The only other means of cable communication from the United States to the east coast of South America is by way of the British cable to London and thence to Brazil.

REDS BROKE FAITH, SAY ALLIES

Threaten to Blockade Russia Unless Drive On Poland Is Stopped.

London.—It was semi-officially reported last week that the British Cabinet had decided to take action against Russia which virtually amounts to war. Premier Lloyd George considers that the Bolsheviks have broken faith in continuing their advance against Poland. It was stated.

Preparations for aiding Poland have been ordered rushed, according to this information. The blockade will be re-established and munitions will be sent if the plan decided on is carried out.

The reported plan called for the Soviet government to be notified that British aid will continue to be sent to Poland until it is certain that Russia will grant Poland a just peace, after which the sending of this assistance will be stopped.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

Can President Veto Joint Resolution?

WASHINGTON.—Suit to compel Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby to promulgate immediately the joint resolution of congress declaring the state of war with Germany at an end has been filed in the district Supreme court in Washington by Harry S. McCartney, a Chicago lawyer. The suit was based on the ground that the president has no veto power over a joint resolution of congress.

Recently McCartney mailed a printed pamphlet to the members of the executive committee of the American Bar association suggesting that the committee tender to the country at large its service in making up a "case stated" for the justices of the Supreme court, asking an advisory opinion on the three following questions:

"Was not the peace resolution adopted by congress in May a valid exercise of power and would not its acceptance by Germany legally consummate peace?"

"Have not the people at large, in their sovereign capacity, the right to consummate peace by a vote upon such issue?"

"Has congress legal power to bind the nation to accept the League of Nations or can only the electorate of the people legally adopt the same?"

He announced he immediately would institute mandamus proceedings and yield direction of the issue to the higher professional authority of the bar association should it desire.

He hoped to get action on his proposals in time to have congress called into a short session in September for the purpose of issuing the call to the people to vote upon the issue at the coming November election, providing the opinion of the justices should be against the validity of the congressional peace resolution, yet in favor of the power of the people to control the matter.

New Wage Campaign of Federal Workers

WORKING on the principle that no one can do efficient work unless he receives a living wage, officials of the National Federation of Federal Employees has opened a nation-wide drive for a re-classification of the entire civil service and a minimum wage of $3 a day. To bring concerted pressure upon congress this fall, an attempt will be made to organize every federal employee and increase the membership to 100,000.

This action follows a meeting here of the executive council of which

More than one-half of the men and for all federal government employees. Charles F. Nagl, custodian of the federal building in Chicago and vice president of the federation, has been placed in charge of organizing the central west. In his territory there are already 25 local unions of federal employees affiliated with the national federation.

"What we want," said Mr. Nagl, "is a square deal. We have not had it.

imum wage bill pass congress. We want to see the men rated according to skill, training and responsibility, on a merit system administered by a central agency on which employees have representation."

The National Federation of Federal Employees is one of five trade unions composed exclusively of government employees. Its membership comprises 162 locals.

Both Parties Have Endorsed Good Roads

REGARDLESS of which party wins in the presidential election this fall, American motorists are congratulating themselves that highway development will be continued. In their platforms both the Republican and Democratic parties have placed themselves flatly on record as favoring federal appropriations to assist in good roads work.

The Republican party's good roads plank said:

"We favor liberal appropriations in co-operation with the states for the construction of the highways, which will bring about a reduction in transportation costs, better marketing of farm products, improvement in rural postal delivery, as well as meet the needs of military defense."

The Democratic party was just as specific in the plank adopted at the San Francisco convention. The plank said in part:

"Improved roads are of vital importance not only to commerce and industry, but also to agriculture and rural life. We favor a continuance of the present federal aid plan under existing federal and state agencies, amended so as to include as one of the elements in determining the ratio in which the several states shall be entitled to share in the fund the area of any public lands therein."

This definite action of both parties, the good roads enthusiasts declare, proves conclusively that motor transportation has been recognized as a definite factor in the nation's economic fabric and that everything will be done to utilize its value to the utmost.

Good roads construction is favored, moreover, by both the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees.

So here is one thing on which both parties agree.

Heroic Western Miners Get Gold Medals

THE Joseph A. Holmes Safety association, the hero commission for the mining industry, has announced the awards of gold medals to miners for special deeds of bravery in the saving of human life during the last three years in the United States. It is expected that the formal award of the medals will be made by Dr. Frederick G. Cottrell, director of the bureau of mines and president of the association, during the international first aid and mine rescue contest at Denver, Colo., September 9, 10 and 11, at which miners will be present from all parts of the country. The men who will be awarded gold hero medals are:

John L. Boardman of Butte, Mont., safety engineer for Anaconda Copper company, who lone-handedly saved three miners from death by poisonous gas in the West Colusa mine.

Daniel Blonvitch of Biwabik, Minn., an employee of the Balkan Mining company. A fire broke out in the Belgrade mine. Four times Blonvitch drove his electric locomotive through smoke and gases, bringing out helpless men who finally fully recovered.

James Collins and James Dilmirik of Mullan, Ida., employees of the Gold Hunter Mining and Smelter company. While endeavoring to reach two entombed men in the mine, they themselves were caught by a cave in and were imprisoned for 15 hours.

Michael Conroy, Peter Sheridan and James D. Moore, miners for the North Butte Mining company, at Butte Mont., sacrificed their lives in trying to save others. The nearest living relative of each will receive the gold medals and the diplomas.

AS WORN IN PARIS

New Frocks, Hats and Shoes Are Most Attractive.

Costumes Featured by Simplicity; Defy Reproach; Represent Best Kind of Dressing.

The old gaities are gradually coming back to Paris, and every day some renewal of the social season, as we formerly knew it, is announced, writes a Paris correspondent in the London Times.

In the Bois for tea and tennis most attractive frocks and hats are worn. Navy blue allied to white, to cherry color, and to copper color, is more than popular. Occasionally it is worn with vivid emerald. Numbers of smart women keep rigorously to tailor-made for all ordinary occasions. These costumes are simplicity itself, and defy the reproach of finance ministers and moralists, but they represent the best and most expensive kind of dressing. They exact the most perfect details, and a hat, which is the last thing in smartness, as well as a dress. Fine navy blue serge, embroidered lightly in jet or dull silver, in white, or in some color, is much seen. Open to the waist, where it fastens with one button, the coat discloses some striking color note in the blouse of the jumper, or short tunic pattern, low at the throat or quite high, with draped collar band. The hats vary greatly, from the ribbon toque, with a chin strap, to the wide-brimmed lace-covered frame trimmed with flowers or feathers.

Black and white are as popular as blue. Foulard, plisse silks and crepons, offer a wide choice. Lace plays an important part in gowns, and em-broiderie has lost none of its charm; but striped and checked black and white taffetas look well, and may be counted among the less expensive luxuries; for it represents less handwork, and consequently saves time and labor. It is noticeable that skirts are most moderately draped, and are de-cededly longer. A woman dressed in black and white foulard, gracefully draped on the hips and softened round the shoulders by a fine organdie fichu, looks extremely well. Her hat is in fine organdie, also embroidered in black silk, and she carries a sunshade to match. Her shoes are strapped patent leather, and the heels are not high. The sleeves of her dress are short, and she wears long white suede gloves.

Of quite a different aspect is the toilette of a vivid brunette. She wears navy taffetas, with a full tunic-skirt of tan is repeated in her sunshade, which shows a navy blue foundation, with a deep plisse tartan hem.

STRIPES IN SUMMER MODES

Dresses and Millinery With Lines of Various Widths Among the Popular Styles.

Stripes are one of the features in this summer's fashions, says a writer in the London Times. Whole dresses are to be seen in silk with colored stripes varying in width. The material is used in both ways. The skirt may have two deep plisse flounces with the stripes perpendicular, and the bodice may show them horizontally. A skirt in cloth may be plain and have a striped coat, or the other way round, and, again, there are some smart little dresses all in striped material, silk or voile, with which plain cloth coats, handsomely braided, may be worn. Striped ribbon is much used in millinery, and when ribbons of two colors and widths are used together they are made to look as if they were striped. Black and white and black and royal blue are the most favored.

Foulard Frocks Favorites

Foulard dresses are favorites this summer. Graceful trailing draperies are features of the newest foulard frocks. Many sashes are used, their long ends more often than not trailing below the edge of the skirt. Touches of red on foulards that are navy or black in their major tones are featured by some of the best designers and the effect is decidedly pleasing.

Roses on Most Summer Frocks

Roses bloom on most every summer frock and enhance its loveliness. All those little organdies, for instance, would lose half their charm if you took away the organdie roses that are scattered over the skirt. Those same roses can add a good many dollars to the frock, too, and so it might be a good plan to learn how to make them at home.

One of the prettiest frocks of the season had its roses made from accordion plaited organdie, in strips a little over an inch wide, says a writer in the Philadelphia Record. The edges had first been plicated, and the material was then plaited and wound round and round from the center out, the center being filled with knotted ends of yellow soutache braid to look like stamens.

A button mold covered with organdie and beaded with crystal beads made the center of some lovely little wild roses from deep pink organdie which framed the girdle of a pair pink organdie frock. These were five-petaled roses, the petals made in the simplest way in the world from a bias strip of organdie doubled and shirred in zigzag fashion so that when the shirring was pulled up, it shaped the band into little puffed and rounded petals.

On a very stunning frock of dotted Swiss large white organdie roses were applied. The bias material had been folded again so as to leave no rough edges, pulled into petal shape, puffed up realistically in the center and held to the material with long uneven stitches of black silk.

Even the gingham dress cannot escape the rose trimming. The cutest gingham rose can be made from plain chambray to match the gingham coloring, using the bias band again folded and the folded edge whipped over and over with a coarse white mercerized cotton. This rose is rolled cabbage fashion, rather tight in the center and looser toward the outside.

Nervous Spells—Near Heart Failure Eatonic Stopped It

Mr. C. B. Loats, writing from his home at Lay, Md., says, "I had been taking medicine from four specialists, but believe me, friends, one box of eatonic has done me more good than all the remedies I have ever tried. I was in awfully bad shape. About half an hour before meals, I got nervous, trembling and heart pressure so bad I could hardly walk or talk. One box of eatonic stopped it."

Eatonic quickly produces these truly marvelous results, because it takes up the poisons and gases and carries them right out of the body. Of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Everyone that wants better health is told to have just a little faith—enough to try one box of eatonic from your own druggist. The cost is a trifle, which he will hand back to you if you are not pleased. Why should you suffer another day, when quick, sure relief, is waiting for you? Adv.

Quickly Corrected. She (sharply)—I trust you're coming home tonight promptly at 9 o'clock. He (hesitatingly)—I had thought about 10— She (interrupting very sharply)—What did you say? He (quickly)—About ten minutes to nine.

BACK HURT ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Hill Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed The Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn.—"My back hurt me all the time, I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me all caused by female trouble. I was three weeks with doctors did me no good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicines. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicines did for me."—Mrs. PEARL HILL, 418 Jacksboro St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

PESKY BED BUGS

(Pesky Devils Quietus) P. D. Q. is a new chemical that puts the everlasting to the Pesky bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants and ooties—impossible for the pesky devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

Recommendations of Hotels, Hospitals, Railroad Companies and other public institutions are a guarantee to the public that the safest, quickest and most economical way of ridding the pesky insects is by the use of P. D. Q. as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing.

A 5c package makes a full quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas or ooties—and also contains a patent sprout to get the eggs nests in the hard-to-get-at-places, and saves juice. Your druggist has it or he can get it for you, or sent prepaid on receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Works, Terre Haute, Indiana.

MY POSITION

I favor a more equitable system of taxation that will produce relief for the interest burdened home owner and thereby stimulate home owning.

I favor the initiative and referendum and believe it would produce a more perfect government by the people, of the people and for the people.

I favor the early introduction of the Torrens Land Transfer System to avoid the burden of expense attending our present system.

I believe a higher, better and purer standard of citizenship could be attained in and thru eugenic legislation.

I insist upon and demand a square deal for the farmer.

FOBES C. JEWELL,
Candidate for Representative at the primaries August 21.

GEORGE CONRAD

George A. Conrad of this village is one of the nominees for the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket to be voted on at the primary election the last of this month.

Brighton people certainly feel no hesitancy in presenting the name of Mr. Conrad: 1st, because in the "memory of the oldest inhabitants" this township, the banner Republican township of the county, has never had the honor of furnishing a sheriff; 2nd, because Mr. Conrad has the qualifications of a first-class chief executive. He has served this immediate locality as marshal and constable and the county as deputy sheriff. Active, fearless and ever ready to do his duty regardless of the consequences, he has proved his mettle and, at the same time, his ability as an officer of the law.

Mr. Conrad will appreciate any help his friends may feel inclined to give him at the primaries.—Brighton Argus.

BIG CROPS ASSURED IN WESTERN CANADA

Need of Farm Labor Urgently
Required for Harvest.

Rains of the past week which have been general throughout all portions of Western Canada, covering MANITOBA, SASKATCHEWAN, and ALBERTA, have placed beyond all manner of doubt the certainty of vast grain crops throughout the entire district.

Reports from all points indicate marvelous and rapid growth. The conditions of a week or so back, which were decidedly less promising and led many to think that there might be a partial failure, have disappeared altogether and now there is a wave of optimism circulating throughout the entire country.

In 1915 there were enormous yields reported from all parts, and it would appear now as if in many places the yields of 1915 would be equalled if not beaten.

What might appear to be a drawback, is the apparent shortage of farm help. The Province of Manitoba through its Employment Bureau in Winnipeg, is asking for 10,000 harvest hands and over, offering from $5 to $8 per day. The Province of Saskatchewan is asking for 15,000 extra hands to take care of the immense harvest that is certain to be reaped in that Province. In Alberta the crop area is somewhat less, the labor conditions somewhat better, and is making a request for 5,000 extra farm hands.

Interviewing the officials of the different Governments, they are inclined to the opinion that as the crops in Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Illinois and other Central States are harvested there will be a movement northward that will materially help to take care of the labor situation. With the low railroad rates that may be secured on application to the Employment Offices at Winnipeg and at boundary points...

ices at Chicago, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Kansas City, Mo.; Omaha, Neb.; Des Moines, Ia.; Watertown, S. D.; St. Paul, Minn., and Grand Forks, N. D., will give to those seeking employment the opportunity to reach the harvest fields at a low cost.—Advertisement.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

The Double Squeeze

This turned his attention to his own means of identification. Putting his hand in his pocket, he drew out four envelopes contained bills—one an "account rendered" from a liquor dealer for $87.25; the other a bill for cigars and cigarettes amounting to $23.50. The third was a letter from the steamship agents of the Hambard line, reading:

"Dear sir: We have booked you for passage from New York to Naples on the S. S. Colonia, sailing from pier foot of West Thirteenth street, N. R. We have assigned to you Cabin C 89, on the salon deck, and have arranged that you are to have it entirely to yourself.

"We beg to call your attention to the fact that, owing to the tide on the day of departure, the Colonia will sail at one o'clock in the morning, October 7."

The fourth envelope inclosed a ticket calling for one first-class passage, New York to Naples, on the steamship Colonia, and made out to S. W. James. There was nothing else in the pockets of his coat.

Robbed! was his first thought, and he searched in his trousers pocket for the cash which he had with him—less it was in a silver holder, because the bottom was round. Of course—ginger ale—it came in such bottles. He remembered, too, it was imported ginger ale, not so sweet as American. Yes, the first taste had been almost bitter. And then?

Blackness! He could recall nothing, try his best, until he woke up on the ship.

It didn't accord with any experience he knew at all well—of course not with any he had ever gone through himself. He couldn't believe that he had taken an alcoholic drink by mistake unless it had been very thoroughly disguised. The odor from his clothes tended to prove that he had, but his reason told him otherwise. Nothing remained, therefore, but to conclude that he had been given a knockout!

As the only bit of documentary evidence in his possession, the letter from the steamship company seemed to impel his attention. He read it over again, and the last sentence, in its full significance, made him start: "The Colonia will sail at one o'clock in the morning, October 7."

October 7! There was a feeling of depression at the pit of his stomach. It was not due to seasickness. The heartbreaking realization of his situation had come at last. With the Giant-killers fighting for the victory that meant everything to players, manager low-backed hills. Five hundred dollars.

The sight of the five hundred dollars immediately brought to mind what had happened before the long, dreamless sleep just ended on the ship. This money—or five hundred dollars just like it—was lying on a table in a suite of rooms in the Belmont-Stratworth hotel. He was about to come into possession of it—all for signing a contract to report the world series on behalf of the Transcontinental Newspaper syndicate, Metropolitan tower, New York city.

He sat down again upon the berth to puzzle it out, beginning with the letter from the syndicate—it was on engraved stationery, he remembered. The secretary, Walter Noble, gave him as references three well-known New Yorkers. But the letter had come, special delivery, on Sunday—the day after the championship was clinched—and reply was requested by telegraph on Monday. Anyhow, what need was there of references, he had argued, when he couldn't lose! For he was to receive five hundred dollars every day he turned in a story. No, he couldn't lose, and he could make thirteen hundred dollars at least—nineteen hundred dollars at most. Yes, he had looked upon it as "very easy" money and had kept his own counsel, not even confiding in Tris Ford, because of the reports in the newspapers that the national commission was to prohibit the players from writing for the papers; certainly all those who hadn't contracts.

He remembered that he had gone to the Belmont-Stratworth, and the clerk at the desk knew him—had seen him play. He could repeat his words: "Mr. Noble is expecting you—go right up to Suite 1142." He had gone up, had been admitted to the parlor of a suite, and had met a nice young fellow, obviously a gentleman, who greeted him cordially.

The contract—it had the name of the Transcontinental Newspaper syndicate printed in, he was sure. He had read it very carefully, and the terms were precisely what had been offered him. While he was reading it, he remembered, Mr. Noble had taken from his bill case without any flourish five hundred dollars. He could remember seeing the money lying on the table, the bills folded over once.

The bills in his hand now were folded once!

But something was going wrong with his memory. It had been spinning the tale of events without effort, but suddenly it had begun to flag. He had to prod it. What was it Mr. Noble had said? Oh, yes—"I'm going to have a drink. What'll you have?" He had declined, of course, because he didn't drink. And then? Mr. Noble had said, walking over to the telephone: "Wise man—wish I didn't," and had added: "I'll order you a soft drink." The drink—what was it? For some reason he was very uncertain on that score. Slowly he began to form a mental image of it—a brown bottle—baseball, registered by many as "the kingpin of the defense, the leader of the offense," was far from the scene of combat, probably bound for Naples! Even though there certainly had been no malice premeditated on his part, he was a deserter, nothing better, for the world series was to start this day!

He looked at his watch. Twelve o'clock, noon! In thirty minutes the team, every man of the squad, was expected to report at the ball park. In thirty minutes! Where was he now? James Winton Shute rang the bell to find out.

The steward came promptly, a smile that was both knowing and respectful upon his face. He spoke with marked cordiality.

"Mr. James—good morning, sir. "Ope you are feeling better, sir."

"My name is Shute—good morning."

"Mr. Shute—very well, sir." The steward puckered his lips.

"Where are we now?"

"About one hundred and fifty miles out, sir."

"Out?—you mean from land?"

"From New York, sir."

"I've got to get off! Where's the captain? He'll have to stop the boat!"

The steward placed a soothing hand upon the passenger's shoulder. "I'd lie down if I were you, sir, and rest a little more—get your sea legs on, Mr. James."

Without taking notice of the persistent error in nomenclature, Win Shute announced: "I'm going to see the captain. Where is he?"

"On the bridge, sir."

"Take me to him!" His inflection compelled obedience.

Once in a championship game Win Shute had worked the pitcher for a free pass in first, had stolen second and then third, and when pitcher was winding up had raced home, hooking his leg over the plate and eluding the catcher who tried to put the ball on him. This is the only explanation that can be offered why and how "Mr. S. W. James" succeeded in getting to the captain of the bridge. The governor-general of the ship was so surprised that he didn't ask the determined-looking young man how he had managed it. "Captain, my name is Shute—mostly called Win Shute."

The captain nodded, but without a glimmer of understanding.

"You've probably heard of the world series—championship of the big leagues?"

"American baseball?"

"Yes—games to decide the best team in the world," explained Win eagerly.

"What of it?" was the captain's rejoinder.

"This," said Shute, pausing for emphasis: "I'm the second baseman, heavy hitter, and leading base runner on one of the teams—the Giant-killers, folks call us."

"What of that?" varies the captain. His tone was not unkind, but he showed a wretched lack of interest.

"First game's today—in two hours."

"I take it you are not going to play."

There was amusement in the captain's eyes.

"Not play? I've got to play!" The captain looked at him searchingly, shook his head, and turned his eyes to the sea.

"Captain, you don't appreciate what this means—not to me alone, but to our club and to the fans of our city. Why, it's the biggest event of the year I got to be there."

There was another scrutinizing look from the master of the vessel, who said nothing.

"How can I get you to stop the ship?"

The captain smiled. "If you pressed for an answer, I should have to say that you couldn't get me to stop the ship."

"For whom would you stop her?"

"The officers of the line," replied the captain, smiling amiably.

"Very well, then," said Win quietly, "you'll get orders from the Hambard line to stop her. See you later, captain."

The steward, in the expectant attitude of a curious person anticipating trouble, was surprised when "Mr. James," who wanted to be called Mr. Shute, returned from his encounter with the captain in perfect composure, though a trifle hurried. He plucked the steward by the arm, and again spoke authoritatively:

"Now take me to the wireless operator—and what's his name?"

"Mr. Mansel—Jerrold Mansel. You may have heard of 'im, sir."

"Mansel? Not Jed Mansel, the man who saved the steamship Regent?"

"Yes, sir, the hoperator who saved the Regent. E's not the regular 'wireless' on this ship—our regular's sick, and Mansel is making the voyage for 'im, sir."

The quarters of the wireless operator were temporarily unoccupied, however. The "Hero of the Regent" was not at his post of duty.

It was after much searching that they came upon the operator. Jed Mansel was seated in an inconspicuous corner of the library, engaged in what seemed to be an intimate conversation with an uncommonly pretty girl. After politing him out, the steward made a hasty retreat. Win Shute didn't lose a moment's time.

Mansel scowled and nodded impatiently.

"I want to send a message, please."

"I'll be in my room on the boat deck in about fifteen minutes." And Jed Mansel turned to the pretty girl.

"Fifteen minutes won't do," said Shute positively. "I must get it right off—it's very important."

Mansel was inclined to put up an argument, but a certain look in the eye of James Winton Shute—that or something else—caused him to think better of it.

"An S. O. S. from duty, Miss Riley. May I hope to see you after luncheon?"

"You may hope," she replied half jestingly, and turned to select a book.

Jed Mansel laid the course, but Win Shute set the pace.

This was the wireless message which was given to the operator of the steamship Colonia to transmit to the nearest station in the United States: "Tris Ford, Philadelphia."

"Was probably drugged last night and carried aboard steamship Colonia, Hambard line. We are one hundred and fifty miles out of New York, bound Naples. Have officers line wireless captain to stop ship and you send fast boat for me. Well and able to play. SHUTE."

"How long will it take to get that off?" inquired Win.

"Can't say—no telling how long it'll take to raise 'em."

"I'll wait," said Shute.

It was an hour before the wireless operator reported that the message had been transmitted to the shore. He then announced that he was going to lunch.

"But how about the reply? Who'll be here to receive it?"

"It'll be two hours at least before we get an answer," said Mansel.

An hour later Jed Mansel returned and found the persistent passenger waiting at his cabin door. Slowly a half-hour passed.

"Can't you raise 'em?" asked Win impatiently.

"Here comes something," said the operator encouragingly. After much clicking, Mansel shook his head "Sorry, but it's not for you."

He was an endlessly long time receiving and transcribing the message. Then he summoned a deck steward and told him to find Miss Riley and give her the Marconigram.

"Repeat my message," ordered Shute, "word for word. Here's for both." He paid the operator with a yellow-backed bill.

BREEDING MALE OF IMPORTANCE

Cockerels Can Be Bought More Advantageously Now Than Later in Season.

SEEK HIGH EGG PRODUCTION

Flock Average of 150 to 160 Eggs a Year is Excellent—Trapnest Record of Mother Should Always Be Insisted On.

Progressive poultrymen are already looking forward to the mating of their flocks next spring. Cockerels which have been hatched this spring are now available for sale on many farms for breeders. They may be bought more cheaply now than they can be late this fall. A breeding male that will command from $5 to $10 in November may be purchased now for about $3.

Head of Breeding Flock

In purchasing cockerels one should insist that an exact pedigree be given on delivery of the bird, says O. W. Harvey of the University of Missouri college of agriculture. It is believed that the male bird is more important than the female in transmitting the character of high egg production. Not all male birds transmit the character. Ordinarily, a hen which lays 30 eggs or more during the winter season of November, December, January and February, will lay approximately 200 eggs a year. Of course, some environmental factor, such as a late spring, which we have been having this year, may affect the summer laying cycle, and thus reduce the production of the hen to a figure below 200, even though the winter cycle has been 80 eggs or more. The fact remains, nevertheless that with our present knowledge of breeding poultry for egg production cockerels from hens that have exhibited this 80-egg production during the winter laying cycle are the ones to buy to head the breeding flock.

Secure Trapnest Record.

It is but a small proportion of the flock that lays 200 eggs or more during the year. The day of the 200-egg flock has not yet been attained. Poultrymen must not be misled by advertisements that have been appearing in the poultry papers by large fanciers offering birds for sale which have exceptional fancy points and at the same time are claimed to be from a 200-egg strain. A flock average of 150 to 160 eggs a year is excellent production. Of course there are exceptional individuals in every flock. Approximately ten per cent of the White Leghorn pullets on the University of Missouri poultry farm show a trapnest record of more than 200 eggs a year. It is this small proportion of the flock that is used in pedigree breeding. Cockerels from this selected number are the ones that are believed to transmit the character of high egg production. If the farmer buys a cockerel without securing a trapnest record of its mother's pullet-year production he has no means whatever of knowing whether or the bird can transmit the ability for a 30-egg production during the winter season, in other words, 200-egg daughters, or whether he will transmit an ability for producing no eggs at all during the winter season when eggs are highest in price. A trapnest record which shows that the mother of the cockerel has laid 80 eggs from November to March inclusive should always be insisted upon when purchasing new male birds for breeding. To buy on any other basis is a very uncertain procedure, and the chances are less than half for increasing, even in a small degree, the general flock average.

SHEEP REQUIRE PURE WATER

Regular Daily Supply is Important in Winter as Well as Summer for Best Results.

Some farmers seem to think that sheep do not need water and will do just as well without it. Although not heavy drinkers, sheep certainly need a regular daily supply of water in winter as well as in summer. If they cannot get clean water they will find dirty water, or in winter, will eat snow.

Experienced sheep men see to it that water for sheep is always and easily accessible. The best of feeding with hay and grain is useless without water. The body suffers without water, the appetite is lessened and a poor, run down animal is the result. Besides water, the sheep need salt. All these things are necessary to keep sheep in good condition.

SYSTEMS OF FEEDING FOWLS

Danger of Bowel Trouble Lessened Where "Dry" Plan is Used—Also Saves Labor.

There are two systems in use for the feeding of fowls, in one of which all the feed is given dry and in the other for convenience they may be termed the "dry-feed" and the "mash" systems, although in the dry-feed system a dry mash is often fed. Dry feeding is used by many where it is not convenient to make and feed a moistened mash. The greatest advantage to be derived from the dry system are the saving of labor and the lessened danger of bowel trouble resulting from sloppy or soured mash.

CONVENIENT STABLE RAKE

The improvement claimed here is that the rake has two working edges; the toothed edge is used to rake loose litter, and the smooth edge to take up the finer particles which pass through the teeth. It is made of a single piece of metal.

PLAN FOR PURCHASING FARM

Advantageous to Also Buy Equipment, Live Stock and Materials on the Place.

Often it is a distinct advantage when purchasing a farm to buy the equipment, live stock and materials already on the place. In this way an income is yielded almost from the outset, which usually makes possible the operation of the farm without a loss.

beans through the lack of care in grading and packing. Choice re-cleaned pinto beans was a technical trade name that came to mean nothing, for the beans often contained splits and dirt, as a result of which the trade could not depend upon the quality of the product.

Now the farmers do their own marketing through the association. Sixteen warehouses, properly equipped with grading and packing machinery, have been erected. The beans are carefully graded and then packed in new, even-weight 100-pound bags, which are neatly sewed and branded. The association demands clean cars from the railroad, and in loading the sewed ends of the sacks face one way. The association believes in the bureau of markets' proved theory that when a buyer throws open the door of a car he is instantly impressed if the contents present a clean, orderly appearance. The New Mexico association has 1,500 members and marketed 250 carloads of beans last year. It is constantly calling on the bureau of markets for assistance, which is cheerfully given.

Not That Kind of Exchange.

A man and his wife at a fair were looking for the so-called women's exchange, the wife having some fancy work she wished to barter for the work of others.

"Will you direct us to the women's exchange?" the husband asked of a man they met.

The man gazed at the wife, whose good looks were proverbial in three counties. "Great Scott, man!" he exclaimed impulsively. "You don't want to swap off that woman, do you?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Stock Raising In WESTERN CANADA

is as profitable as grain growing. Successes as wonderful as those from growing wheat, oats, barley, and flax have been made in raising Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Hogs. Bright, sunny climate, nutritious grasses, good water, enormous fodder crops—these spell success to the farmer and stock raiser. And remember, you can buy on easy terms

Farm Land at $15 to $30 an Acre

—land equal to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre—grazing land convenient to good grain farms at proportionately low prices. These lands have every rural convenience: good schools, churches, roads, telephones, etc. close to live towns and good markets. If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible

MUST STRIVE FOR IDEALS

Highest Type of Citizen is He Who is Always Able to See Better Things Ahead.

No citizen will ever come fully into his own until he strives to reach a high ideal. The boy who is satisfied to pamper himself in the hope of reaching the top by magic is doomed to failure. The exceptional happens sometimes. Usually the man who rises is the fellow who dares work and wait and strive against odds. He must not be satisfied with attainment, however complimentary it may be. There are always better things ahead if he is willing to strive for them. He will rise as he adds intelligence to vision, sympathy to character and self-mastery to both. Then he will crown the ideals with faith in God and its resultant faith in his fellow men. He will believe in himself enough to dare the limit and try a dozen times to redeem former failures. He is a citizen who looks upon failures as opportunities and makes them stepping stones to power. The biggest business in the world today is the making of citizens. And the nation with the best citizens will rule the world.

Pinto Bean Growers of New Mexico Making Money.

Farm Organization, Eliminating Local Buyers Who Were Rapidly Destroying Industry Through Careless Packing.

Before the association was formed the beans were purchased by local buyers who practically controlled the market and therefore paid almost any price they chose. These buyers were rapidly destroying the possibilities that offered in the marketing of pinto
