

PINCKNEY DISPATCH

Vol. XXXVII

Pinckney, Livingston County, Michigan, Thursday August 19, 1920

No. 34,

PICNIC DAY

An ideal day for St. Mary's annual picnic was Wednesday. The usual large crowd was present, also the usual grand dinner, the usual good speaking and the usual good time generally.

The ball game between Dexter and Fowlerville was won by the latter team 11 to 5. Claude Kennedy, Leo Lavey and Harlow Shehan played with Dexter and if the balance of the Dexter team had played as well as the Pinckney players the score would have been different.

Roche Shehan played left field for Fowlerville and batted and ran the bases like a wild man, getting three singles and a three-bagger, stealing bases and being directly responsible for nearly all of Fowlerville's runs.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY CENSUS

Below are the official figures of the county census.

It will be sure that this portion of the county has lost some during the past. Pinckney has lost 93 during that period while Howell and other county villages have gained. It is expected this village will continue to grow smaller unless cheap power can be furnished to concerns who would locate here if that problem was solved.

O. E. S. PICNIC

The Eastern Stars will hold a basket picnic at the Bluffs, Portage Lake, Wednesday, Aug. 25. All Stars and members of the Masonic fraternity are invited to attend.

HUGH J. MILLER

The death of Hugh J. Miller occurred at Providence Hospital, Denver, Colorado, August 6, 1920 due to gunshot wounds he accidentally received during the re-tramway strike staged in Denver.

Mr. Miller, wife and daughter were members of a large crowd, who at the time were watching trouble between strikers and strike-breakers at the Denver East End Car Shops.

During the trouble the police dispersed the crowd and Mr. Miller received a wound in the left lung, from which he died soon after.

He was a representative of the Calkins Packing Company of Denver.

Mr. Miller was born in Pinckney Jan. 18, 1877, where he resided until eighteen years of age, afterwards residing in Rapid City Mich., where he married Miss Grace Vargason of that place March 3, 1900.

During the year 1907 he moved to Denver, due to poor health, where he has resided since that time.

Mr. Miller is survived by his wife and four children, one brother, Sheriff W. C. Miller of Howell and two sisters, Mrs. John Croope of Webberville and Mrs. Frank Mowers of Pinckney.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

Fred J. Teeple was born in Hamburg Township 36 years ago and has always lived on the Old Homestead until the first of last June, then accepting the office of undersheriff. He has been an energetic and successful farmer and has served 8 years as deputy sheriff. Upon solicitation of friends, he has decided to become a candidate for this important office and if elected will execute his duties with fairness and justice to all.

Primaries August 31.

HUGH G. ALDRICH

I should like to mention to you some of the duties of this important office. In this county there are 128 rural school having as many teachers. It is the duty of the Commissioner to supervise the work of these schools. There is not much work for the Commissioner superintendent. No less than 7000 teachers have been granted certificates during my seven years of service.

There were enrolled in the rural schools last year 2060 boys and girls. During the seven years 1050 boys and girls have received their County Eighth Grade Diplomas.

In addition to this work of supervision the Commissioner conducts teacher's institutes, examinations, reading circle work, makes reports to the educational departments at Lansing and Washington, examines all reports from directors and township clerks, has the responsibility of recommending many teachers to school boards besides large amounts of correspondence.

Since I have been Commissioner I have always attended educational meetings and have done every thing possible to keep up-to-date and have endeavored to assist patrons and teachers in order that we should get the greatest returns for money expended for education. I do not forget, however, that much of my success has been due to suggestions and helps given me by teachers and men and women in the county who are vitally interested in education. I feel that almost without exception we have worked together harmoniously for the good of the boys and girls of the county.

If you feel that special training and experience are necessary to success in this position I shall be very glad for you to vote August 31. As there is no candidate on the other ticket probably the person nominated will be elected in November.

In our County there are three candidates for representative, two for prosecutor, two for circuit court commissioner and two for school commissioner. These men will all appreciate it if everybody will vote August 31.

Yours for service,
Hugh G. Aldrich.

CLARENCE J FULLER

Clarence J. Fuller, a farmer of Cohoctah township, candidate for State Representative on the Republican ticket, was a member of the board supervisors in 1911, 1912 and 1913. In 1911 was one of two members chosen to represent this county before the state board of equalization. In 1913 was elected chairman of the board of supervisors.

In 1916 and again in 1918 was appointed by the board of supervisors as a member of the board of county canvassers. Respectfully solicits your support at the primaries August 31, 1920.

PART II—Continued.

Four times that afternoon the wireless operator repeated at twenty-five cents a word, including the address and signature, the message to Tris Ford. But there was no reply. Win was getting desperate, and showed it, when the operator remarked:

"Here's something—mebbe this is it." Win braced up. But after a bit of the metallic chattering, Mansel again shook his head. "Not for you—for the captain."

"For the captain?" Win's tone was eager. "That's the stuff!" He was thinking of orders from the officers of the line.

The operator transcribed the message, put it in an envelope, and went off to deliver it himself. When he came back he confided the information: "I'm going to send a message from the captain—about you." That was all, but it raised the wailing spirits of the young man who would not leave the upper deck.

There was another tedious delay. Finally, along about five o'clock, there were the auditory evidences of the approach of a winged message. Then further delay while the wireless operator played his important part in the space-conquering trick.

"Sorry, but it's not for you. For the captain again," he volunteered. "Might be just as good," said Win, "perhaps better."

The operator didn't reply. He went away to deliver the message and was gone. Returning, he informed would like to see him.

Win Shute was... he might have started for second. High ran his hopes. He could almost feel the ship slowing down!

The captain invited him into the chartroom and closed the door. Without a word he handed him a Marconigram, which ran:

"Captain, S. S. Colonia:
"Must be some mistake. Our player Shute here in game today."

"TRIS FORD."
After reading it over a second time to make sure, the captain's visitor, shaking his head doggedly, spoke in no uncertain voice:

"The mistake is in the message. Tris Ford never sent it."

"Why not?" asked the captain indignantly.

"Why not? It shows on its face why not. It says I was in the game today. And I'm on this ship!"

"Sit down," said the captain, who paused until his invitation had been accepted. "Mr. James—"

"My name isn't James—it's Shute."
"Well, then, Mr. Shute, if you prefer it," said the captain, wishing to humor his guest, "I have made a careful inquiry about you. Your room steward reports, and the quartermaster on duty at the gangway confirms it, that you came aboard intoxicated—I may say, were brought aboard drunk."

"It's a lie! Was never drunk in my life—never took a drop of liquor in my life. What happened, I was given a knock-out—brought aboard drugged."

The captain appeared puzzled, then continued: "I hardly think so, Mr. James—"

"Shute!"
"Mr. Shute. The ship's doctor examined you, at the request of your friends, after you were assisted aboard. He reports that he found you in an advanced state of intoxication. Your friends said that you had been celebrating unwisely before sailing."

"I tell you it's a lie."
"Mr. Shute, if you are not inclined to take my view of this unfortunate circumstance, you will have to be sent where you will be looked after. I mean that if you don't stop your nonsense and behave yourself, I will order you to the hospital. Good morning."

Win Shute had never been put out of a game in his life. He eyed the "umpire" of the high seas critically and turned to go. But, like the average ball player, he couldn't leave the "field" without the last word.

"Captain, you've got me—I acknowledge that. And I'm not going to make any trouble for you—not while you're managing the ship. But once we strike dry land I promise you I'll start a brand of trouble that will bring up on this boat. I've been drugged—I repeat it. And there's been the dirtiest kind of a frame-up against me. What's more, that message you hold in your hand is a pure fake. Either the man who sent it or the man who received it is a crook—take your choice!"

Before the captain of the Colonia could reply, S. W. James, or, as he demanded to be called, J. W. Shute, was gone.

Quick thinking was a portion of his business in life. In less than the distance from home to first base he had definitely outlined his plan of action. Of course he would give the head man of the ship no cause to resort to war measures; that would be silly—worse than kicking yourself out of a big game which you might help to win. No, sir-ee! He would stand for "James"—he would be S. W. James. Quietly, but none the less decisively, he would devote himself to an unemotional consideration of his highly exasperating plight. He would see if past devotion to the stories of the Great Detective had taught him anything worth while regarding inferences and deductions from a limited array of facts. For the next nine days, or until the ship touched at Gibraltar, he would do nothing else!

On land James Winton Shute would have kept steadfastly to his resolve. But he was to find it different on ship-board. He was to discover something revolutionary about a sea voyage, something that jars one loose and cuts one off completely from ordinary life. The great white traffic which fetches up at the stern of the ship leads away from every-day existence, lengthening the space back to the confines of duty and custom and habit as one nautical mile is tossed high on another.

For the first time in Win Shute's experience the pleasing shape of a girl bending to the wind, skirts taut like a sail close-hauled, tousled wavy brown hair brushing her animated face, Irish blue eyes bright and beaming, suddenly swept his mind and he carefully planned scheme of life.

"Gee, what a swell girl!" he muttered. Then: "Why's she with that crook?"

It was Miss Riley, and she was attended by Jerrold Mansel, the wireless operator. More to the point, they were having a jolly time together.

Miss Riley and her mother, Mrs. Daniel Riley, occupied Suite A 9 and 15 on the upper promenade deck, listing at $700 for the voyage to Naples. It was the finest suite on the ship.

There was, however, nothing undemocratic about Miss Riley. Although she was the most fascinating person on the ship, she didn't let that bother her. Her mother was a subdued, almost timid, woman past middle age, who had a habit of fading into the furniture and becoming a stationary part of her surroundings. She was easily the best listener on the boat. Her daughter was devoted to her, and Mrs. Riley plainly showed that her interest was restricted to her "Girle," as she called her daughter.

Miss Riley's beauty, which, of course, endeared her to the masculine element, for some reason did not detract from her favor with the women. They liked her because she never failed to "notice" them. "She's nice to every one" was another general observation.

Win Shute was not one of those who worshiped from afar. Just as in baseball he was in the game every minute, so in this new game he played it assiduously. The day of his interview with the captain he had performed a slight favor for Mrs. Riley, the ubiquitous steward being off duty. This led to an introduction to "my daughter," and that resulted in the transformation of the voyage. From the first he got on swimmingly with Miss Riley. They seemed to "perform in the points," as he put it, "like a veteran battery."

"What's a battery?" asked Miss Riley.

Win Shute was amazed, but he cheerfully explained: "Pitcher and catcher. Aren't you a baseball fan?"

"I never saw a game in my life," she confessed.

"You're got something coming to you," said Win.

"You can't get me excited about any game to watch. I'm devoted to tennis and golf, and I played hockey and basketball at school. But I played—I didn't merely look on. A baseball fan must be the laziest sort of human being; he runs away from his business, and then he hasn't the energy or the get-up to play. He sits idly by as other persons exert themselves. It's too vicarious for me."

It was a decided shock to Win that Miss Riley didn't care for the national game.

If anything were needed to enhance Miss Riley's charm, it was the mystery that developed about or enveloped her the third day out. Win Shute heard of it from his room steward, who had picked it up from the waiter at the purser's table. The purser was the agent of publicity, and it was surmised that he had gleaned his intelligence from the captain. Anyhow, it was a matter that the captain and the purser would naturally talk over.

Via wireless had come an inquiry to the captain of the Colonia about a passenger. The inquiry was from the United States government—so much was known. It concerned a young woman who was traveling with her mother. She was described in the general terms of strikingly handsome and clever. From this the descriptions varied according to the whim or imagination of the person repeating the morsel of gossip. The nub of the tale was that the young woman was a fugitive from justice!

Immediately a new ship's game was started—find the fugitive. The search was carried on by a process of elimination. First the sailing list was combed for a mother and daughter. It turned out, unfortunately, that in the first cabin there were exactly twenty-one pairs of mothers and daughters. As to whether these twenty-one mothered maidens were handsome and clever, opinions differed markedly. Some of the daughters were good-looking but undeniably dull; others were clever but plain. Not half a dozen could come within range of the specifications.

When the consensus of opinion was about to pounce upon Miss Riley, who headed the list of "suspects," another bit of information leaked out. The woman wanted was a stenographer.

gan all over. Miss Riley was wearing a dress denoted that—so it must be some one else. But after considering the qualifications of other possibilities for hours on end, Mistress Consensus again hovered about Miss Riley. Thus the first cabin divided itself into two camps—the partisans of Miss Riley and those of "the field." But paradoxically, in this instance, partisan meant enemy.

The ship got hectic about it, and because of it Win Shute got into trouble. He was watching the poker game in the smoking room when the loose-jointed conversation switched to the unsolved mystery of the ship—the identity of the fugitive from justice. Eventually there was an argument over the demerits of Miss Riley.

Win Shute was angry at mention of her name. To him it was contemptible that it should be dragged in and handed about over booze and poker chips.

Two men—one an ordinarily decent chap who had taken a little too much, and the other a cynical, self-contained man, the best poker player at the table—brought the unmanly discussion to a precipitate conclusion. There had been many references to Miss Riley, most of them complimentary in nature, and the decent but tanked-up chap had proved her champion. As a clincher he asked:

"That girl has the finest rooms on the boat. Does that look like she is a stenographer?"

The cynical man answered: "If she is the steng of one of them Pittsburgh millionaires, it's the kind of a suite you'd expect to find her in. Get me?"

There was a coarse laugh, which changed in the middle into an expression of concern. What happened was swift.

Win Shute said something in the gambler's ear and neatly slipped his face. The gambler, raging, jumped to his feet, scattering glasses and chips, which went clattering to the floor, and made a vicious pass at the interloper. With the celerity of dodging a wild pitch, Win Shute avoided the first and, catching the gambler off his balance, floored him with a pretty uppercut. Then the gambler, blind with rage, seized a whiskey bottle from the wreckage. But before he could use it his arms were pinioned from behind and Shute was pushed out of the smoking room.

As the loss in rum and glassware, generously estimated, was made good, and as the smoking-room steward was properly rewarded for his future reticence, the episode did not come officially before the captain. But unofficially, through the human wireless system, the story went all over the ship. In its travel it became embellished with the ship's doctor's account based on personal observation, of James' arrival on the ship—dead drunk.

WAS TO BE MORE YELLING

Safe to Say That Father's Prediction Turned Out to Be Absolutely Correct.

The sweetly peaceful scene in the little sitting room was suddenly disturbed by a loud yell, and the honored guest sprang wildly from the chair into which he had just sunk, while the daughter of the house felt her face grow pale.

She had had hopes from this visit. Alas, poor girl, were they to be blighted?

But father took the matter—and his small son—firmly in hand. With a graceful apology he removed the bent pin from the chair and the aforesaid small boy from the room.

"Now, look here, Charles," he said

"It was an experiment, father!" faltered the lad.

"An experiment?" snorted father. "The only man who has visited your poor sister for years, and you go and drive him away!"

"Well, dad," explained the boy, "he advertises that he is a painless dentist, and I wanted to find out if it was true, and it wasn't. You should have heard him yell!"

"Yes," was the father's grim comment. "And some one else is going to hear you yell now?"

"But how did you happen to meet him?"

POET'S WORD GOOD ENOUGH

Student Was Absolutely Satisfied Without the Necessity of Seeing Any Proofs.

A good story is going the rounds of Princeton about Prof. Alfred Noyes, was very much to read his works aloud to his friends, and as Princeton, with so many young men under him, he is usually able to gratify this liking to the full.

The other day Professor Noyes said to a junior, who had called about an examination:

"Wait a moment. Don't go yet. I want to show you the proofs of my new book of poems."

But the junior made for the door frantically.

"No, no," he said, "I don't need proofs. Your word is enough for me, professor."

His Favorite Time.

"Wouldn't my little man like to go and visit grandma in the country?" asked his mother.

"Yes, mamma, if the chickens are ripe now," replied the six-year-old.—Boston Transcript.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The mountain of success is steep and rough. Who gains the summit climbs a weary way. And, though brave feet grow stronger with rebuff, The rocky path a coward's steps may stay.

A HOT WEATHER LUNCHEON.

Even in warm weather a hot soup is enjoyed, especially those made of fresh green vegetables, such as peas, spinach, vegetable oysters or celery. Cucumber soup may not be so well-known but it is a most appetizing one.

Cream of Cucumber Soup.—Have ready one cupful of stewed cucumber, rubbed through a sieve. Take the liquor in which the cucumber was cooked, reduce it to half a cupful by boiling, and set aside. Put into a saucepan one tablespoonful of butter, season with salt, pepper and, when the butter is hissing hot, stir into it two tablespoonfuls of flour. Stir until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Add three cupfuls of cold milk and stir constantly until it boils. When the mixture is as thick as a thin cream sauce add the cucumber and the half-cupful of liquor. Mix thoroughly, boil up once and serve.

Eggs a la Bourgeoise.—Cut slices of bread half an inch thick and trim off the crust; lay on a buttered platter and, sprinkle generously with grated cheese. Beat eggs enough to cover the bread; season with salt and pepper and grated nutmeg; pour over the bread and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set.

Creamed Fish With Potato.—Prepare creamed salmon as usual and put a layer of the fish in a baking dish, cover with a layer of cold, mashed potato, then add another layer of fish until the dish is full and the potato on top. Dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake brown in a hot oven.

Potato Border.—Make a rim of mashed seasoned potato around a well-buttered platter. Fill the center with creamed fish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

Cheerfulness and content are great beautifiers, and are famous preservers of good looks.—"Barnaby Rudge."

WHAT TO HAVE FOR LUNCHEON.

For a warm weather luncheon, and this means one easy to digest and not too heavy, try a fish dish for the main course, a salad and a light dessert with an iced or a hot drink as one prefers.

Curried Salmon.—Chop a small onion very fine and fry brown in one tablespoonful of butter. Mix one teaspoonful of curry powder and a pinch of salt. Stir into the butter. Add slowly one cupful of hot water, stirring briskly. When the sauce is thick add one cupful of flaked salmon and cook until well heated.

Currant Pie.—Bake a pastry shell and fill with the following: Mash one cupful of currants with one cupful of sugar, or use the same quantity of fresh currant jam, prepared by using crushed currants and sugar in equal measures, or slightly less sugar. Add two beaten egg yolks, two tablespoonfuls of flour, a quarter of a cupful of water; mix well and cook until smooth and thick. Cool, fill the shell and cover with a meringue made from the beaten whites with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in the oven and serve at once.

Peas and Carrots.—Clean and dice enough carrots to make two and one-half cupfuls. Steam until tender; put through a sieve; add butter and flour, one tablespoonful each; one beaten egg, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of pepper and a grating of nutmeg. Press into a ring mold, cover with greased paper and steam twenty minutes. Fill the center with cooked seasoned peas and garnish with parsley.

Tomato Hors d'Oeuvres.—Arrange slices of tomato cut one-half inch thick on thin rounds of browned cornmeal mush. Cover the tomato with a paste made of cottage cheese mixed with a few chopped nut meats and add a seasoning of chopped chives and radishes. Garnish with radish, roses or with olives. Serve at dinner.

Puts I Will In You Easy to Get Strong

Everyone wants more pep and surety needs it this hot weather. Hot weather takes away the appetite and makes one feel listless, lifeless, miserable, even when you have a strong stomach, but for those who have weak stomachs, it is really a dangerous, trying time.

Be on the safe side this kind of weather and help nature all you can, by taking an eatonic tablet about half an hour before you eat and one or two an hour after you eat; it will be of wonderful benefit. Eatonic simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. With the cause of the trouble removed, of course you will feel fit and fine—full of pep all the time. Eatonic will cool feverish mouth and stomach and give you a good appetite, even in hot weather.

Get a big box at your druggist's for a trifling cost and let eatonic help you for a few days; then you will never be without it. Adv.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been This Woman's Safeguard All That Time.

Omaha, Neb.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for over twenty years for female troubles and it has helped me very much. I have also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash with good results. I always have a bottle of Vegetable Compound in the house as it is a good remedy, in time of need. You can publish my testimonial as every statement I have made is perfectly true."—Mrs. J. O. ELMQUIST, 2424 S. 20th Street, Omaha, Nebraska.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health. To know whether Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, try it! For advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Special Care of Baby.
 That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Psychological Moment.
 "Do you mean to say that an old-timer like you feels uneasy when called upon to make a political speech?"
 "Yes," admitted Senator Sorghum, "though I won't say it's exactly stage fright. You never can tell when everything might have gone your way if you hadn't happened to spring the wrong epigram or funny story."

Fish may be a good brain food when there is something for it to assimilate with.

Statistics in the hands of a campaign orator are usually unreliable figures of speech.

Heavy Traffic.
 They seldom crowd the roads in northern Minnesota, but on our last tour, when we headed into a tamarack swamp and had to take our top off because of the low-hanging trees, we did feel a trifle uncertain about the route.

"Do many cars travel this road?" we asked some children who happened along.
 "Oh, yes," came the proud reply: "lots of 'em. One came last year and one this year, and now you're here, too!"

Constipation

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Chamberlain's Tablets for constipation. When the proper dose is taken their action is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize that it is the effect of a medicine. These tablets possess tonic properties that aid in establishing a natural and regular action of the bowels. Chamberlain's Tablets have cured many cases of chronic constipation.

Its Style.

"Somebody says a baby in the house is a wellspring of joy."

"Don't you believe it. From the amusement standpoint, a baby in the house is a screaming farce."

Wanted to Know.

"Excellent floor this," said the clumsy dancer.

"Then why dance on my feet?" asked his unlucky partner.

A VERY PRESENT HELP.

"It's when a man is in trouble that he realizes the value of a wife."

"Sure! He can put all his property in her name."

Something Cheap.

The price of everything's so dear—
It makes one almost weep;
But one thing still remains the same—
That's talk—as usual—cheap!

Sea Otter's Fur Valuable.
A coat or cloak of genuine sea otter is worth more than its weight in gold. While the skins of the ordinary freshwater otter have no particular value in the fur market, the pelt of the true sea otter is today the most valuable of all furs. The sea otter was formerly found in considerable abundance off the coast of Alaska, but it is now nearly extinct.

MY POSITION

I favor a more equitable system of taxation that will produce relief for the interest burdened home owner and thereby stimulate home owning.
I favor the initiative and referendum and believe it would produce a more perfect government by the people, of the people and for the people.
I favor the early introduction of the Torrens Land Transfer System to avoid the burden of expense attending our present system.
I believe a higher, better and purer standard of citizenship could be attained in and through eugenic legislation.
I insist upon and demand a square deal for the farmer.

THE PHILATHEAS

The class was royally entertained at the Darwin home Wednesday, August 11, the hostesses, Mesdames R. R. and Seth Darwin being acknowledged to be queens of hospitality.
After a brief business session the class partook of a bountiful potluck supper and afterward departed well pleased that they were fortunate enough to be present.
The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Heminger Thursday, September 2, and all members of this thriving class are invited to be present.

Wayne—Wayne's steering wheel and bent auto bow works were closed down for many weeks, but will resume operations by the end of August, Foreman H. Dittmer plans.

Petoskey—Light frosts did considerable damage to corn and tomato crops in many low land throughout Northern Michigan. Potato vines show signs of being nipped also.

Petoskey—Governor Harding of Iowa called President Wilson a poor horse trainer in competition with the trained diplomats of Europe in an address before Republican delegates from 35 states here.

Pontiac—Pontiac's community market, opened this spring, has proven such a success that Walter G. Brade-manager, is contemplating the establishment of a branch market in the southern part of the city.

Hillsdale—Hillsdale County Farm bureau expects to establish a department to keep seed raised in the county at home. The bureau is to experiment in the county to determine fer-court has been given by the city council. The judges will receive $11,500 a year, instead of $8,500 as at present, the city to pay $6,500, the county $5,000.

Standish—Superintendent Wood, of the Standish Schools, resigned to become professor of economic and commerce of business administration at Hillsdale college at a salary of $2,500 a year, or about $900 increase over his previous salary.

Owosso—Because they were too high, the city commission has rejected all bids for the contract for installing a boulevard lighting system here and will advertise for more. The estimated cost of the work was $32,000, but the lowest bid was $40,000.

Ludington—When their mustang pony, frightened by an approaching automobile, backed their wagon off the bridge to the marsh below. Josephine, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verchueren, was killed. The mother and five older children escaped injury.

Grand Rapids—It was announced that Gleema Miller, 15, daughter of Mrs. Frank J. Miller, of Grand Rapids, escaped from Fairmount hospital, Kalamazoo, clad only in silk pajamas, was met by Edward Hart, 22, and with her mother fled in an automobile to Shelby, Ky., where they were married.

Detroit—Sergt. Custer, of the second precinct station, a member of the Detroit police department for 25 years, made his first arrest in 19 years Sunday evening. Thomas Marr, 608 Lafayette avenue east, charged with driving while drunk, is the person so honored. Sergt. Custer says Marr almost drove his car into the police machine.

Mt. Clemens—Secretary Waring, of the Business Men's Association, following a conference with Thomas Handy, one of the owners of the Handy Bros. Railroad line, now operating from Marine City to the Thumb District, announced that the extension of the present southern terminus to the line at Marine City will be continued to Mt. Clemens shortly.

Saginaw—Phillips - Elliott - Hodges Post No. 22, American Legion, is planning for the entertainment here Sept. 7 and 8, of the second annual convention of the Michigan branch of the American Legion. It is expected that more than 3,000 World War veterans will attend. Sessions will be held in the big municipal auditorium, which is being redecorated and remodeled.

Adrian—Jonathan Green, 93, who died at his home six miles north of here, was a charter member of the historic Raisin Valley Grange and is believed to have been a Grange member longer than any other person in the state. For 55 years he had never missed a meeting of his district school board and had lived in the same house for 68 years. From 1870 to 1874 he was a deputy United States marshal with headquarters in Detroit.

AIR PASSENGER PLANE, FIRST OF BIG FLEET,
ARRIVES IN DETROIT

Detroit—First of a fleet of 24 passenger hydroplanes which will provide passenger service between Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and Montreal, the No. 1 plane of the United States Aerial Express Co. landed at the foot of West Grand boulevard at 8:15 a. m. last Friday after being forced to land Thursday afternoon at Amherstburg, Ont., because of poor gasoline.

The huge plane, which carried eight passengers, was driven by Thomas F. Dunn, general manager of the company, and came here from the Philadelphia Navy Yard. It left this yard on July 21 and stopped several days in Atlantic City, then hopped to Albany, and from there to Burlington, Vt., Montreal, Toronto and then to Cleveland. The entire course was over water.

One of the principal features of the big ship is that the gasoline tanks are carried under the wings instead of in the body, thus permitting passengers to smoke without danger and also preventing any explosion if the tanks should leak while the plane is in the air. The maximum speed obtained in the trip from Philadelphia was 115 miles an hour, with an average of 100 miles an hour being maintained for the entire flying time of the trip.

The ship will carry a load of 6,000 pounds, permitting it to take from 21 to 24 passengers with baggage on each trip. It is the first of 15 big vessels which the company intends to put in service on the Great Lakes.

PONZI ARRESTED FOR FRAUD

"Finance Wizard" Owes $7,000,000 Federal Examiner Says.

Boston—Some 40,000 investors in scheme which postal officials declare to be absolutely impossible of fulfillment.

Ponzi surrendered to the federal authorities last week explaining he was unable to meet his obligations because of the closing of the Hanover Trust company, where the bulk of his funds were deposited.

He was arrested charged with having used the mails to defraud, arraigned and held in bonds of $25,000 for a hearing.

Meanwhile a warrant charging him with larceny had been obtained by the state police in the municipal court and upon leaving the federal building Ponzi was rearrested and held by the city court in $10,000 bail for appearance August 23.

As Ponzi was being arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayns, Edwin L. Pridie, who is examining the books of the Security Exchange company for the federal authorities, announced it already had been shown that Ponzi owed $7,000,000.

COAL WAGE PARLEY REOPENED

Operators and Miners Meet to Discuss Change in Laborers Pay.

Cleveland—At the request of President Wilson, the joint scale committee of union miners and coal operators of the central competitive field, comprising western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, convened here last Friday to consider a change in wages for laborers employed by the day or month in the bituminous coal mining industries. The miners seek to reopen the wage agreement made following the strike of last fall.

Upon the agreements made between the union miners and operators in this section are based the union agreements the country over.

The miners request that workers in the central field be given an increase of $2 a day over their present maximum of $6 a day.

RENT WAR STARTED IN CHICAGO

Tenants Fight Increase—Refuse to Move or Pay.

Chicago—North side tenants who have fall leases have received notice of a 25 to 50 per cent increase in rents and have started a move to make life miserable for profiteering landlords. The war was started last week by tenants of a 36-apartment building on Pratt boulevard, who posted glaring signs in their windows which announced that they would not move and would refuse to pay the increased rental.

The tenants have signed a pledge to "stand pat" and have retained an attorney to fight their case in the courts.

UNUSUAL HAPPENINGS AND OTHER BRIEF NEWS

Bees Sting Horse to Death.

Lafayette, Ind.—Thousands of bees attached and stung a horse to death at the home of Nelson Carter, at Shawnee Mound. Several church women were kept prisoners in the Carter dwelling for three hours. Soon the number of bees about them increased. The horse was stung and attempted to bolt, but was held fast by the hitch strap. The animal was soon literally covered with the insects.

Old Four Shekel Note Found.

Philadelphia—An unpaid note for four shekels in silver bearing 40 per cent annual interest for nearly 4,000 years recently was found among the clay tablets at the University of Pennsylvania Museum by Dr. Leon Legrain. The note was given by a man named Bur-Mama to Il Sinnutum in October, 1962 B. C., the year in which King Rim-Sin occupied the town of Dur-Damigilisha.

Bay City Gas Rate Increased.

Bay City, Mich.—Word was received here to the effect that the public utilities commission with whom the Bay City common council recently entered into a contract to handle local street railway and gas problems has granted an increase of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to the Bay City Gas company. The present rate is $1.20 net. The reason given for the new rate is increased cost of labor and materials.

Dog Waits For Dead Master.

Marysville, Calif.—Although his master, Lewis Irish, died at the County Hospital, his dog, Shep, refused to leave the foot of the hospital stairs, but, night and day, patiently waited for his beloved master to appear. Dr. W. J. Guinan, county physician, tried to get the dog away from the foot of the stairs, but he would not leave. Irish lived alone with the dog near German Oldest Man to Fight For U. S.

Washington—Adolph Louis Lowe, born in Germany in 1840, was the oldest American citizen to enlist in the war against his native country. Lowe was a seaman in the United States navy during the American Civil war, and with him in the United States forces enlisted in the war against Germany were two of his grandsons. Lowe was called into active service in this war May 29, 1917, was discharged on medical survey December 6, 1917.

Top of Telephone Pole Used As Bed.

New York—Strange things have happened in Newark since prohibition was supposed to have gone in effect, but nothing stranger than the picking of a bed place by William Merkel, William—he insisted that everybody call him by his first name—was found asleep atop a telephone pole. A policeman spied him and called out the reserves. The reserves called a stepladder. William was brought down. "I was out with the boys last night," he said.

Uses School As Annexation Club.

Detroit—A statement credited to the superintendent of Detroit schools, that 25,000 pupils would face half-day sessions when school reopened were pounced upon by the Mayor of Highland Park, and principal of the Willard school in that city as a "pretty fair argument against annexation." Highland Park has a seat for every pupil, and probably would do this year as it did last, take in 250 pupils, who would be "orphaned" unless the smaller city came to the rescue.

Finds Fish Without Eyes.

Hagerstown, Md.—John E. Wolf, Williamsport, while working with a gang of men who are making repairs to buildings at St. James' College, found a glass jar containing several eyeless fish that had been preserved in alcohol, but the alcohol had evaporated. A label on the jar contained the inscription: "Specimens of fish without eyes, caught in Lake Setha, Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, July, 1855." Although more than 50 years old the fish are still well preserved.

Steals $2,500 From Honest Village.

Toronto—Canard River, Essex county, Ontario, has lost its reputation for having none but honest people in its confines. Last week someone—Canard Riverites insist it was a stranger—visited the bank. No one was in when he called, so he took $2,500 from the safe and walked out, leaving $3,000 behind—perhaps to show that he was at least partly honest. The loss of the $2,500 is serious, but not as sad to Canard River as the lost reputation. Locks were unknown in Canard River village.

Anxious to Recruit Poles Here to Fight Bolshevik—French Recognize Wrangel.

Washington—Moved by the reiterated pleas for aid from the Polish government, the War Department last week took under serious consideration the request of Prince Lubomirski, Polish minister, for permission to buy war materials from the United States. Polish officials here explained that, in addition to their desire for war materials, they were most anxious to obtain authorization of the United States to permit recruiting by Poles in America for the Polish army.

It was said that not only had many offers of enlistment been received by the Legation from Polish citizens resident in the United States, but that many offers had come from American veterans of the World War.

The Polish government, it was said at the legation, had not made formal request for extension to it of so unusual a privilege. At the same time, it was conceded, the privilege was one of which Poland would gladly avail itself.

While a statute forbids enlistment of armed expeditions in the United States for employment against a friendly power, some officials claimed the President had authority to suspend operation of the law under his wartime powers.

French Recognize Wrangel Rule.

Paris—The recognition by France of the south Russian government of General Wrangel, which appears to have created something of a commotion in London, is commented upon in statements Premier Lloyd George made in the house of commons concerning it.

Reports that France's recognition of Wrangel's government had led to decided differences between Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand generally were minimized in official circles here.

Bolshevik Threaten Warsaw.

Paris—The situation at Warsaw became most critical last week. The Russian plan of campaign which proved most effective, consisted of delivering successive blows at different points along the front line which tend to disorganize the Polish defense, compelling the Polish staff to rush reserves to widely separated points.

PARTY PLEDGE ACT HELD VOID

Supreme Court Orders Name On Ballot Without Loyalty Affidavit.

Lansing, Mich.—Issuance of an order by the supreme court requiring him to place the name of William A. Harrington, of Gaylord, on the August primary ballot as a Democratic candidate for circuit judge, led Secretary of State Coleman C. Vaughan to announce that the names of other candidates, withheld from the ballot because of the absence of a party fealty pledge, would also go before the electors.

While the supreme court, in issuing the mandamus, did not rule the state law requiring the party fealty pledge unconstitutional, the effect of the latter order is to nullify the requirement of a party loyalty pledge. Mr. Harrington's name was kept from the ballot when he refused to take the oath of party allegiance, claiming the judicial officer he sought should be divorced from party politics.

D. U. R. FIGHTS MUNICIPAL LINES

Starts Proceedings in Supreme and Circuit Court to Stop Construction.

Detroit—Methods employed by Mayor Couzens and officials of his administration to finance the construction of the municipal street railway system have been made the basis of another court attack on the project. The D. U. R. filed suit in circuit court to enjoin prosecution of construction work and the further purchase of street railway public utility bonds by the sinking fund commission.

The company, Washington dispatches indicated, also has filed with the United States supreme court a petition asking a permanent injunction restraining the City of Detroit from building the proposed municipal lines.

All Women Like Pretty Clothes

Standardizing Fashions to Gain Saving Sure Not to Meet Milady's Approval

COMBINATIONS ARE IN FAVOR

Materials Used Together Afford Frock Which Needs Little Trimming—Frisils for the Slender Young Woman.

We may talk of overalls and uniforms as much as we like, observes a prominent fashion authority, but the love of pretty clothes inherent in every woman never will be suppressed. Those who work toward standardizing fashions for women cherish a vain hope. It is not because women are extravagant that they insist on pretty clothes, for a woman will really work to get what she wants in her dress. She will shop carefully to be sure of the best values and search for dress-makers who will carry out her ideas inexpensively.

Why should we wear overalls? If we adopt overalls and uniforms even to help reduce the cost of living—and it is doubtful whether it would make any great difference in this—we would in time feel as stupid as the overalls look. In a dress of this sort we are limited in the choice of both design and color—and color and pretty clothes may both be said to be synonymous with charm.

Make Their Dresses Over.

One way of economizing in dress is by giving thought to our selection in the first place and choosing a style that we can easily change. The idea of making a dress over from one fashion to another is typically English. Thus it is quite easy to understand why many English novelists have dressed their heroines from trunks in the family garret. One can imagine that no dress is ever thrown away by an Englishwoman, for she expects that either she or some of her descendants will wear it.

English Sateens Again in Vogue

There was a time when we would have scoffed at the idea of wearing a sateen dress. Now dresses of English sateens are quite in the mode. It is amazing the beauty certain materials acquire directly they become fashionable. We might all become style creators if we had the courage to buy materials when they are not popular and make frocks so pretty that everybody would want to copy them. Of course, when a material such as sateen becomes fashionable its makers give more attention to bringing out pretty patterns. The sateens of this season look like fowlards. There are some with white backgrounds and small conventional designs in bright reds and blues, with here and there a dash of black, that are charming. Then, there is a brown sateen, with a conventional design in white, with accents of black, that is smart.

Design Adapted to English Prints.

In a model of English sateen the background of the material is white and the little spots are bright red outlined with black. The sash and

In decided contrast to ours, the Parisienne who makes any pretense of being smart would not wear a second season dress. Whereas, the Englishwoman wears her clothes year after year because they are good clothes and becoming to her, the French woman has absolutely the dress of the hour, which is always a model or a copy of one from a well known firm and which bears the cachet of the best designer's approval for the moment. The smart Parisienne wears this dress almost continuously for a short period. Then she is never seen in it again, but takes up the next smart thing. The Englishwoman during the same period will wear a different dress every day and will keep on wearing this same dress intermittently for a period of months. The American woman makes a happy compromise between the two.

For Summery Dresses.

A great many of this summer's dresses show a combination of two materials. There is more back of this idea than might appear on the surface, for such a frock needs very little in the way of trimming. As it is always easier to visualize a frock with some definite color in mind, I would suggest a slip of white Swiss dotted in soft blue, with a narrow sash and a long collar of plain white organdie continuing to the bottom of the skirt. Or the entire dress may be of bright red Swiss, with white dots and a long white organdie collar caught in at the belt and under the hem of the skirt. A hat of peanut straw, bright red in color, the brim bound with white organdie and the crown swathed with a scarf of the same material, may complete the costume. Or the straw crown may be removed and one of white organdie substituted.

Another pretty effect is achieved through using two different materials, for a frock by making a plain bodice of white organdie. Over the skirt is placed a side-plaited tunic of coral-colored Swiss, which is open at the front, and a coral overwaist almost like a bolero. The latter is gathered at the waistline and opens at the front so that a wide white panel is revealed from the neckline to the hem. Still more color is introduced by a sash of inch-wide gros-grain ribbon of real ocean blue. You may like to work out this model in beige Swiss over white, with a navy sash, or in lavender and white, with a green sash.

For the Slender Woman.

Young girls like frills. So, for the slender young woman the frock in bright colored Swiss organdie is evolved. The hues in which the organdies may be had are ravishing. For instance, there are various flame shades, and as the material is thin a pretty effect is attained by making one shade over another. That is, if a light flame color is chosen the slip may be a bright red. Two pastel shades, such as pale green over a soft blue, give a lovely effect. Brown over coral and brown over yellow are suggested as combinations. All the frills are picot edged, so it is not such a task to make this frock as one would suppose. If one wishes, the fichu may be of white organdie for becomingness, although a smarter effect is attained by making it the same color as the dress.

Since organdie is distinctly a hot weather material, still another model evolved from it is of a very soft green, just a bit lighter than the shade known as jade. It has an apron skirt. A very fine old-fashioned looking white braid and a white sash make the trimming.

Wax Porch Floors.

Thoroughly scrub the porch floors and when dry have them waxed with any of the good floor waxes. After this treatment the floors should be polished with a polishing brush just as one would do in polishing hardwood floors. This method preserves the floor, and after the porch is treated in this manner one does not have to put water on it during the entire season. Have the porch gone over daily with a broom or a floor mop. Much time is saved thus in hot weather, and a porch treated in this manner always looks well.

QUEEN BEE.

"Ah," said Queen Bee, "I do not work, but I lay the eggs, and so I am called the Queen Bee, for all the little eggs are my subjects and all around me do everything they can to help me and to wait on me."

"When I tell you how many eggs a day I lay during the time when I feel in the mood for laying, you will be surprised."

"You are used to hearing of a few eggs laid by hens and a few eggs laid once a year by birds or something like that. But when I'm laying I lay from two to three thousand eggs a day."

"You see, buzz, buzz, I don't like to do anything that is small. I don't care about doing little bits of work. I like to do a lot. That is why I'm a queen, I am an important creature, and not just like all the rest!"

"And I am waited on by my helpers who digest the food, the pollen which I eat."

"I am the only queen working and ruling in my surroundings, and that is another reason why I am called a queen."

"I haven't a lot of other queens about me. I am the only one. I rule over this colony of bees and all the bees do as I wish."

"I am fed royal jelly, a most deliciously sweet food made only and served only to a queen bee who has been brought up in the Queen's royal chambers, or in the Queen bee cell, as it is usually known."

"But I never leave the hive, though I may live to be several years old. Sometimes it is true I go off upon a flight with my mate or with a swarm of bees, but Queen Bee is a home-body."

"Yes, most decidedly."

"If I saw another queen I would know her, that is the way I am. When take my place that is all right, but while I am strong and young and all that no queen will take my place unless she wins in the battle which we would fight."

"From the time I was an egg until I became a queen was only two days over two weeks. That is the honor shown to one who is to be a queen bee. The other worker bees take longer to become their regular size."

"If I am off with a swarm of bees they will not settle anywhere until I do. The queens are the ones who decide on the homes."

"Yes, the Queen Bee is the one who decides things and I plan where the swarm shall live, where the hive shall be."

"Then I see about the laying of the eggs, and all of my workers wait on me, as I've said."

"And I am given special food which they cannot have, and neither do they look as perfect and finished as I look!"

"But not only am I an interesting creature, but all bees are interesting and the honey we give is good—oh, so good."

"We are great workers and everyone has their special work to do."

"We don't go all about saying:

"What shall I do next? Everything like that is arranged and so it saves time and thought and waste of doing things which some one else could do better."

"We work whether we have enough honey on hand or not. We have the habit of work. We cannot stop. We must keep right on."

"When the day is over and the honey gathering is through for the day our workers attend and care for all that they have gathered throughout the day."

"There is never a wasted moment in a bee's life, and every bee has its purpose. A Queen Bee, I was told to be, and so a Queen Bee I am. I do the work of the Queen Bee, the work I can do best."

"And so do we all, all the bees of this hive and all the bees of every other hive!"

Rate Board Bill $35,000,000 a Year.

New York.—The board bill of New York's rats amounts to $35,000,000 a year, according to Dr. Victor G. Heisler, of the Rockefeller Foundation. Dr. Heisler, in an address here, said one rat would eat at least $10 worth of food in a year, and he estimated the rodent population here to be 3,500,000. He advocated amendment of the building laws to make all structures rat proof.

OATS BEST CROP

Statistics Show Advantages Over Corn Growing.

On Comparatively Cheap Land in Western Canada Farmers Get Record Yields—Cost Per Acre Much Less Than Corn.

How much more does it cost to grow an acre of corn than to grow an acre of oats? To get a proper comparison it is necessary to take an illustration from a farm on which both crops are grown successfully. An example has just been brought to the writer's attention of the comparative cost of growing corn and oats on a Minnesota farm. It is furnished by Albert Inmer, a well-known farmer in Cottonwood county, Minn., in an article which appeared in the Cottonwood Citizen.

Mr. Inmer says: "I had a curiosity to know how much it would cost to raise an acre of oats and corn. To find out I kept account, during the year, of the time required and the cash expended to grow the above mentioned crops." His figures show that it cost him $31.49 to grow an acre of corn and $18.13 to grow an acre of oats, or a difference of $13.00 an acre in favor of oats.

Provided the respective crop yields are not altogether out of proportion to the cost of growing the crop, this seems to be a good argument in favor of growing oats. But to grow oats successfully it is not necessary to use $150 or $200 land. In western Canada some of the best out-growing land in the world can be bought for about $20 an acre. On this land good yields and a high quality of grain is obtainable.

Fifty to sixty bushels to the acre in properly prepared land is a fair average yield for oats in western Canada in a normal season but yields of up to 100 bushels, and even more, to the acre have been frequent in good years. The quality of oats grown in western Canada is attested by the fact that at all the international exhibitions for many years past oats grown in western Canada have been awarded the leading prizes. There is on the dominion grain inspector is authority for the statement that 85 per cent of the oats examined by him in western Canada weigh more than 42 pounds to the measured bushel. The standard weight for a bushel of oats is 34 pounds.

Samples of these oats weighing upward of 45 pounds to the bushel are on exhibition at the Canadian government information bureau, located in various cities in the United States.—Advertisement.

YOUNGSTER MADE WORD GOOD

Though, as It Turned Out, It Was at the Cost of Some Personal Discomfort.

Marshall, who is five, lives in a flat building. He is a real boy and although he has a rear yard and a sand pile in which to play, his mother has more or less trouble keeping him off the streets. A neighbor saw him across the street one morning and the next day called his attention to the fact that he was out of the zone mapped for him. He was one of the busy ones about a vegetable wagon. "Yes," he said, "I had to get some sings." The next morning he asked his mother for the market basket. He immediately disappeared and soon returned, accompanied by the vegetable man. In the basket were three pounds of potatoes, a box of berries and two centaloupes. Mother had to settle whether she needed the goods or not. At any rate, Marshall made his word good with the neighbor that he had to get "some sings." When questioned by the same neighbor about his shopping expedition he said: "Yes, and mother spanked me, too."

Face Looked Familiar.

Dinah was a product of New Orleans, a big, plump "yaller gal," who could cook the finest dinners for miles around. One day a new butler appeared on the scene, and Dinah's mistress noticed that she took a great interest in the man.

At last her mistress could stand her curiosity no longer and asked: "Dinah, do you know that new man?"

Dinah took another long and scrutinizing look and then slowly and remissly replied: "Well, I dunno, Miss Alice; but I think he was my first husband!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Neither Satisfactory.

Edwin—Which'll we see? There's an awfully funny Charley Chaplin at the Bijou. You'll split your sides. Then there's "Shrieking Souls" at the Scarehead. It'll make your hair stand on end.

Angelina—Can't you think of something else? I'm wearing my new georgette waist and I've just had a permanent wave.
