NEARLY TEN VOTES TO ONE

SPECIAL ELECTION RESULTS IN FAVOR OF AN ADEQUATE FIRE DEPARTMENT FOR PINCKNEY

FIRE COMMUNITY PUMP AND CHEMICAL ENGINE ORDERED BY THE COUNCIL

When the votes were counted after the special election it was found that Pinckney voters are overwhelmingly in favor of a modern fire equipment and were willing to pay the price to obtain it.

Some who expressed opinions previous to the election were in favor of fire fighting apparatus but thought a less expensive equipment might be provided. But the result of the election shows emphatically that the people are back of council in the effort to reduce the fire loss in the future and are in favor of immediate action. So the council has ordered an engine like the one that Brighton so kindly sent to our aid at the last two fires. Preliminary steps for organizing the members and providing reservoirs and in a short time the Pinckney Fire Department will be ready to protect the town.

The two special elections held during the past year show that Pinckney folks are strong for improvements—that they are anxious to better conditions in the village and vicinity and it is to be hoped that this feeling will crystallize into a unanimous effort to elevate this to the most progressive, up-to-snuff

There seems to be no reason to doubt, after the two special elections, that no element is strong enough here to keep Pinckney in the has-been class when we get a good start on the up grade to advancement and prosperity.

The right feeling for a progressive town has been expressed in no uncertain language. Let's go ahead NOW—with the start already made and make this town one we'll all be proud to live in. We're all set—LET'S GO!

JAMES T. EAMAN

James T. Eaman secretary treasurer of the Detroit Scoop Truck company and manager of the Delray Insurance agency, died Tuesday night in Grace hospital at the age of 70 years.

Mr. Eaman was born in Livingston county near Pinckney, and was educated in Ann Arbor high school and the University of Michigan. He was engaged in the retail produce business in Pinckney for several years, and took a prominent part in the establishment of the Air Line railroad running between Lenox and Jackson.

Coming to Detroit in 1889, he entered the coal and lumber business and remained in it for 22 years, serving 10 years as secretary of the Michigan Independent Retail Coal Dealers' association. During the last few years he had maintained a real estate and insurance office. Mr. Eaman was long a deacon of the First Baptist church, since amalgamated with the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church.

He was married in 1875 to Gertrude Robinson, sister of George F. Robinson a former Wayne county prosecutor. Two children were born to them, Frank D., a Detroit attorney, and Benjamin, who died several years ago, leaving a daughter, (Dorothy Eaman Myers. Mrs. Eaman is still living.

Funeral services were held in the home of Frank D. Eaman, 2075 West Grand Boulevard, Thursday evening at seven o'clock. Burial was in Anderson a Livingston county village which Mr. Eaman helped to establish.—Free Press.

Mr. Eaman is well remembered by all our older readers and the younger the Dispatch about two years ago.

His father, a lad of twenty years, came to this district in 1815, finding the Marble family the only inhabitants of Pinckney.

After locating the 80 acres for which he paid $100 he returned to New York State, coming back to Michigan in 1836, and located on his "farm" which he cleared up, and built the first frame house built in the township, from timber cut on the place and sawed in to lumber in the old Reeves mill.

He became one of the most progressive farmers in this section and owned the first mowing machine, covered carriage, and McCormick reaper brought into the township.

In 1842 he married Mehitabel Dwight Wood, a direct descendant of John Alden and Priscilla of the Mayflower, Plymouth Colony, Puritan stock. Her parents came to Iosco township in 1836 and located on Section 11. This is the way Mr. Eaman tells of the journey from Ann Arbor.

Grandfather Wood removed with his family—two girls and four boys, to Iosco occupying the log hut which George and Henry had built the winter before. Those were days of real pioneering. The trek from Ann Arbor was made in a heavy lumber wagon freighted with a six month supply of flour, potatoes, salt pork, molasses and other necessary provisions packed around the big breaking plow and other tools. On top of all were seats for the mother and girls, the men and boys trudging along beside the four yoke of oxen which made up the team. What with wading around lakes, fording streams and clearing fallen timber from the trail the trip from Ann Arbor to Iosco was made in four days, being prolonged by an accident which overturned the wagon, causing grandmother to complete the journey with a broken arm. But do you think a party of joyriders ever had a merrier time than these? The woods rang with their songs and shouts and an occasional crack of the musket which added a brace of pigeons or wild duck to their table supplies. There were no hotels on that route at that time, but every settler's cabin was a free hostelry where as many emigrants could lodge as could find floor space inside the walls.

Mr. Eaman was in the Dispatch office a few days before the last election, and told of his recollection of the first Lincoln election, when he was only a small boy.

His father took an active part in the election, working hard for Lincoln, organized a torch light brigade. This company paraded the streets of Pinckney at night with their torches burning. When the returns showed Lincoln's election the company had a grand celebration of the victory, burning much powder in an anvil in front of the post-office, conducted by a Mr. Coleman, the only anti-abolitionist in the business section of the town.

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have doctored off and on without help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child and suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug-store to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's medicine away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other women."—Mrs. MARY STENDER, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

by the medical profession. The Scientific American, in telling of its medical and surgical uses, explains that it is a tool and not a medicine. The radium gives off three rays, known as the alpha, beta and gamma rays. The first, about 85 per cent of the total ray force, can be stopped by tissue paper; the second will penetrate 35 millimeters of lead, while the third has a vibration similar to the X-ray. This ray is the one used in surgery.

The rays are sent into the body, and so powerful are they that they can penetrate to a great depth, and there destroy the useless or diseased tissue. As the good tissue has a greater resistance than the bad, the highly skilled operative can bear the gamma rays on the afflicted part until they begin to destroy the good tissue, when the treatment must stop.

the hare's foot, which was carried for luck.

Pepys notes in his diary that his hare's foot lacked a joint, and that he would obtain a proper one. It was usual for fishwives on the east coast of England to carry a hare's foot in their creel, but they were very angry when the children shouted: "Ye've a hare's fit in yer creel."

"To kiss the hare's foot" means to go without dinner. If a hare ran along a village street, the people said there would be a fire. If a hare crossed a fisherman's path when going to sea, he turned back. Seeing a hare was said to be the cause of that unhappy deformity, harepilt. It was thought that a witch could turn herself into a hare, and that a hare could only be shot with a silver bullet.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Back Given Out?

There's surely some reason for that lame, aching back. Likely it's your kidneys. A cold or strain oftentimes congests the kidneys and slows them up. That is the reason for that nagging, aching, sharp pains, that tired, heavy feeling. You may have headaches, dizziness, spells, too, with annoying bladder irregularity. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

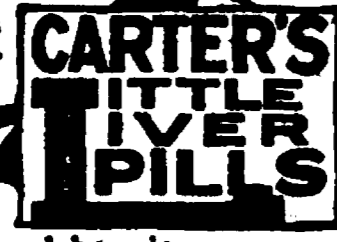

A Michigan Case

Mrs. Nelson Bush, 24 W. A St., Iron Mountain, Mich., says: "My back aches and aches and aches. When I stooped over my back hurt worse. I sit weak and worn out and work becomes burdensome. Black spots often blurred my sight and made me dizzy. My kidneys were out of it. Through a friend's advice I have Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. A few boxes rid me of kidney complaint."

AFTER Thanksgiving Dinner

The TURKEY: America's Gift to the World

... otherwise it wouldn't seem like a Thanksgiving dinner. And don't let's have too much else—and mighty little ahead of it. Just a simple dinner, you know—turkey with dressing and gravy, mashed potatoes, cranberries, pumpkin or mince pie with Herkimer county cheese and cider. Let it go at that. Enough is as good as a feast.

Which reminds us that no king or haughty potentate of any kind, even in prewar days when they were many, could by any human possibility have a more toothsome feast. They aren't made, you know.

Which also reminds us that the turkey is America's gift to the world.

The turkey is truly an American bird. It existed on the continent with the Indians before Columbus landed. Only a few years ago among the caves of Arizona the mummified remains of a turkey were found. Practically every cave once occupied by the cliff dwellers of that region contained the bones or feathers of the turkey, but this specimen is intact. Its age is a matter of speculation among the scientists of the National museum, where the specimen is on exhibition.

Another interesting fact in this same connection resulted from a scientific expedition which Dr. C. Hart Merriam made among the mountains of Arizona; he came across a living species of bird identical with the one found mummified and which is known to the scientific world by his name.

Another recent discovery in connection with the turkey was a Maya hieroglyphic. This piece of parchment shows a grocer's account in which is mentioned, with other things, ten turkeys and five turkey cocks. The distinction between the two is quite apparent in the crude drawings. This is thought to be the first record of the turkey in this country and antedates the expedition of Cortes to Mexico in 1519.

But the turkey goes back further among the Indians than even the probable date at which the specimen found in the cave existed. Among the Zunis, for instance, there exist many legends handed down from time immemorial, which have for their subject the turkey.

Perhaps none is more interesting than the one which tells why his tail feathers are dark, showing, as it does, not only the place he held in the estimation of the Indians, but also a noticeable similarity to the fable story from our Bible.

Once upon a time, so the legend runs, there was a flood and the face of the world was covered with water. And the turkey, weary of continually flying, decided to seek some spot on which he might light and rest. But the other birds and animals advised him not to; and the very gods themselves warned him.

... sippi. His explorations were chiefly in what is today Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. In all the Indian villages, according to those early explorers, turkeys were to be found, both wild and tamed.

Cortes, in one of his famous letters to the king, described the turkey as a key. He carried specimens of the bird to Spain in 1520, where they came into immediate popularity, and the breeding of turkeys soon became established. It was then that the turkey became known as "pavos," on account of his relationship to the peacock, which was then called "pavo real"—the fowl of kings.

It was a long time before the turkey reached France, as far as can be learned from history, for the first turkey eaten there was at the wedding of Charles IX and Elizabeth of Austria, June 27, 1579, or 50 years after Spain had first tasted the bird. The turkey supplied for the wedding came from "somewhere in the American wilderness."

Its introduction into England seems to have been in 1524. But, whenever it was, it soon came into popular favor and was given such local names as Black Norfolk and Large Cambridge.

It is an interesting fact that these descendants of the parent stock were carried back again across the Atlantic ocean to New England, where, crossed with the original turkey already there, they began the breed that has spread from one end of the country to the other.

Many have been the explanations made as to how the bird now so popular at Thanksgiving came to be called the turkey, most of which, to the true scientist, are nothing but fanciful. The bird was called turkey because it was supposed to come from Turkey, where it was known as an Egyptian hen. The markets of north Europe received this fowl as coming from south Europe, directly or indirectly from Turkey. In France, however, the bird was called "dindon," or in the feminine "dinde," as though it were the fowl d'Inde—from India.

But whatever dispute has arisen as to the name of the turkey, the fact yet remains that the turkey is indigenous to America. Although scientists believe it is possible that there was a species, the original of the present turkey, indigenous to the West India islands, it is generally conceded that all turkeys have descended in some way or other from the three forms known today as the North American, the Mexican and the Honduras, the ocellated variety.

The Mexican turkey is found wild throughout the republic. It appears to be the species first taken to Spain and other European countries. It is thought that the white markings of the variety of domestic turkey known today as the Narragansett come from this species.

Whatever the turkey may have missed through falling to secure that place of honor suggested for it by Benjamin Franklin—as the national bird—it has nevertheless found a place in the regard of the American people which is held by no other fowl—at least at Thanksgiving.

COULDN'T STAND WORK UNTIL HE TOOK A TONIC

Lost 20 Pounds in the Army—Appetite Fell Off and He Became Weak, Run-down.

TOOK HYPO-COD KNOWING FORMULA WAS GOOD

"I was in the Army and exposed to all sorts of weather, and to that, always having an inside job, it nearly put me down and out. I wasn't used to the exposure and grind and lost twenty pounds in weight. My appetite fell off and I became all weak and run down. I surely looked bad and nights even after I got back on the job I couldn't sleep and would toss and roll half the night. My appetite didn't come back either and my digestion was upset, but just as soon as I started on a bottle of Earle's Hypo-Cod I began hitting on all cylinders and feeling tip-top," declared N. C. Clarke, a popular pharmacist and manager of Cunningham's Drug Store, 155 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.

"I picked out Hypo-Cod because I know the formula is right, and to show how strong and quick it is from the first dose my appetite picked up and my digestion was so good in a couple days I could even eat anything—even Army beans," laughingly asserted this endorser. "I began sleeping better, too, and feeling better all over, and today I feel as good as I ever did in my life. It has my endorsement and I recommend it to everyone needing a tonic," continued Mr. Clarke, Ph. G., who has many friends that say he looks like a different man now.

When a regular druggist selects a tonic from among all the various ones on the shelf to take himself, one may be quite sure that the formula is right, absolutely reliable and then when he right to expect, he is sure to be enthusiastic. Drop in at the drug store tonight and read over the formula which is on each bottle. Take home a bottle for the whole family to try. We are sure you will be delighted the way it works, and with its pleasant taste.

Earle's Hypo-Cod is sold here by all good druggists, and the leading druggists in all nearby towns.—Adv.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

PAINT FRAUD

During the recent membership campaign of the state farm bureau near Lansing solicitors found some men who were selling "farm bureau paint" according to the state farm bureau.

It seems that there "ain't no such animal" since the state farm bureau issues a warning this week to its members that they should report any use of the name of the farm bureau by irresponsible parties and that before they buy anything in the name of the farm bureau they should call the matter to attention of their local county agent. Instances of making use of the farm bureau to sell farm implements have also been discovered.

Snaps Eruption Ten Yards Away.

An unnerving but fruitful incident occurred recently as the volcano of Kilauea, H. I., described as the most continuously active in the world, was being examined by scientists of the Hawaiian Volcano Research association. At the climax of this expedition they had determined to photograph a towering crag of solidified lava that rises, Gibraltarlike, from the surface of a swelling, overcrusted lava lake, declares an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. But at the instant the cameraman was squeezing the bulb, an explosion within the uneasy mass threw into the air a tumbling mass of white hot lava. Crashing back, and so breaking the surface crust, these erupted fragments roused the entire lake into a "seething, bellowing mass of fountains."

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Following the custom established by our fathers nearly three hundred years ago, it is entirely fitting that we should set apart one day in the year as Thanksgiving Day.

We have gathered this year a most abundant harvest. We have enough and to spare. Our own people will be fed, and out of our abundance we shall help to satisfy the world's hunger. For the and for other blessings, for peace at home and abroad, for the general spirit of content, for work to do and the will to do it, the people of Michigan may well give thanks and make solemn and public acknowledgement of their debt to the Most High.

Therefore, I, Albert E. Sleeper Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby join the President of the United States in designating Thursday, the twenty fifth day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty, and of the Commonwealth the eighty fourth.

Albert E. Sleeper,
Governor.

John was visiting his grandmother, who has a candy store. On being told he would be sick from eating so much candy, he replied: "Oh, that's all right. Mother has pills to make me well."

AN APPEAL!

To the People
Of this Vicinity,
Men and Women:

When the representative of this paper called on the Teeple Hardware Company to see what they had to say about advertising this week Mr. John J. Teeple said they were too busy to attend to the matter and requested us to write an ad. using our own judgment about what to say.

You all know what this firm is up against right now

THEY NEED MONEY

Just imagine yourself in their predicament and ask yourself if you too, would not need it. And we are sure, knowing the community as well as we do, that every man or woman who owes this concern—the oldest mercantile firm in this part of the county—will come down this week and pay their accounts in full if possible. If this is not possible, give them what you can on account, and if you are not just at present in a position to do either, you surely can come down and give them a hearty, sympathetic hand-shake and tell them you will do the best you can as quickly as possible.

The future of this concern is largely in your hands at the present critical time. What are you going to do about it?

They are at home under the opera house with a small stock of hardware. The stock of implements was not destroyed, and they will be glad to see their many friends at all times.
