THE LYCEUM COURSE

WEDNESDAY NOV. 9

The first number of the lyceum course given recently was one of the best entertainments of its kind given in Pinckney in a long time. The second number, scheduled for Wednesday evening Nov. 9, promises to be even more popular.

The Copley Quintette, composed of three young ladies and two young-men will be seen and heard in mixed quartettes, trios, duets and solos, interwoven in a short sketch, carrying us back with songs and stories to Civil War days. A touch of the quaint and beautiful is given by an Early English setting introducing songs and instrumental music of the period.

Genuine humor is added to the program by a one-act modern comedy, up-to-the-minute music, pianologs, and impersonations.

Beautiful costumes make each group a pleasing picture of the period. Variety in arrangement, brilliancy in finish, artistry in execution make the Copleys a wonderful success in the field of musical and dramatic entertainments.

Next week Wednesday, Nov. 9. Don't fail to be there. Reserved seats now on sale at F. E. Weeks' drug store, 15 cents and 35 cents.

CURLETT—LITCHFIELD

Saturday, Oct. 29, Miss Norma Curlett of Pinckney and Mr. Raymond W. Litchfield of Dexter were married at Ann Arbor, Rev. Arthur W. Stalker officiating.

Miss Curlett is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Curlett and was prominent in literary and social circles here and an unusually popular young lady.

For several years she has been principal of the Pinckney high school and in that capacity has greatly assisted in placing the high school in its present high standard of excellence.

Mr. Litchfield is of the firm Daughman and Litchfield, hardware merchants in Dexter. He is a veteran of the late war, having been wounded in battle in France.

WHISTLE SOCIAL

The Seniors of the high school will hold a "Whistle Social" at Mrs. Robert Jacks' summer cottage, Lakeland.

NOTICE

So much dissatisfaction has been expressed regarding the resumption of "slow" time that it is decided to continue Eastern or "fast time" as official time, after midnight Saturday, Nov. 5.

WHAT WILL YOU GIVE—

for Christmas gifts this year? The question is always one that puzzles you. It is always necessary to consider what will be appropriate in each instance, and the question of economy as well. Twelve photographs will solve twelve puzzling gift problems and the cost is small in comparison with the cost of twelve other gifts of equal value. And your Photograph as a gift conveys a personal sentiment that no other gift can bring. It is the only gift your friends cannot buy.

If you wish to have Photographs made for Christmas it is far better to have the sitting made early as we can give you better service. As an inducement, we will give a fine enlargement with each order for twelve Photos if the sitting is made before Dec. 1st. With our new lighting equipment we can make sittings cloudy days as well as on bright ones and also at night by appointment. Phone 326.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

P. H. Swarthout was notified Saturday night that a car similar to the one stolen from him in Detroit was in possession of the police in that city. He went down Monday and identified the new Ford sedan as his property and brought it home with him.

By clever detective work of the police department this car was recovered after Mr. had given up all hopes of seeing it again and the alleged car thieves—two Italians—are now under arrest for the theft.

He says the car has been in storage since it was taken and that all usual identification marks were removed, but that he had no trouble in proving his property as he had marked the car with a file. This file mark was overlooked by the thieves.

RED CROSS NOTES

The examination of the pupils of Howell public schools, conducted by Dr. E. B. Pierce and assistants, was completed last week. Parents have also been notified of defects found.

This week we expect to examine pupils of Iosco township. If parents wish to attend these examinations, they are invited to do so.

A telephone has been installed in the Red Cross office, 82-W. Miss Grace I. Lewis, Public Health Nurse for Livingston county, will be glad to assist you in any way possible. Just call.

Watch Your Kidneys!

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in a dull, throbbing headache or sharp twinges when stooping. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired, nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect it—there is danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have saved themselves more serious ailments by the timely use of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Frank Frost, stationary printer, 222 1/2 St. Ludington, Mich., says: "I was doing fine work and my back was so weak I had to strap a four-inch belt around me twice to brace my back. Every time I stooped such terrible catches took me I couldn't straighten. My kidneys were weak and irregular and I could scarcely drag myself around. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely."

MAKING SPACE IN KITCHEN

Ingenious Arrangement of Requisite Furnishings Does Away With Necessity for Large Room.

In these days when rents are so high people are commonly obliged to economize space as much as possible, the family kitchen may be no more than a closet ingeniously fitted with a gas range and other essentials. Couches convertible into beds and other clever contrivances useful for more than one purpose are at a premium. The newest invention in this line, patented by a resident of South Chicago is an arrangement whereby chairs, when not in use, may be folded and stowed beneath a table. Each chair, attached by a bracket to the inner side of a table may be slid out on a rod to a comfortable sitting distance, a slot in the rod enabling this to be done, whereupon a thumbscrew makes it fast. When it is desired to get the chair out of the way, its back is folded down, the screw is loosened and the chair, after being slid inward along the slot, is turned bodily over, the rod being pivoted at the bracket. This accomplished (it takes but a moment), the chair rests on its feet beneath the table facing the opposite way. A reversal of the process brings

"There sure is," said John Pendlehaven. "Sit down, boy. We're just getting at it. This is Mrs. Devon." "And my man," she insisted, struggling up. "Uriah always was a d—d fool, mixing up with swells like Reggie Brown, but I love 'im; and, mister," she wiped her face and, shudderingly, appealed to Paul Pendlehaven, "if you give 'im to me, mister—"

"We'll see Tony first," he interrupted. "Wait." While their cousins were with Uriah's wife below, Mrs. Curtis and Katherine were talking over the events of the night.

"If Tony'll only stick to what she's said," Mrs. Curtis was repeating, "nothing could be better. She'll probably go to jail, and Reginald will forget her."

"Reggie's such a fool," commented the girl. "I wonder if she really did say she loved him. She simply couldn't care for him when she has Phillip, nor after knowing he tried to kill Cousin Paul. I'd like to know what's behind it all."

Tony received the call to the library listlessly. Nothing that anyone could say now would make her lot any easier. Nothing! Nothing! Phillip, her new father, kind Uncle John, all had vanished in the waters of bitterness that had overwhelmed her.

The room seemed full of people when she crept timidly in. Uriah Devon, with a white cloth tied around his head, lounged in a large chair. Mrs. Curtis and Katherine were seated, rigidly erect side by side. The girl's gaze passed over their glaring attention to her, she slumped back beside her daughter, who turned away contemptuously. "That settles one question," commented Doctor Paul, grimly. "You shot Devon, Reggie," and the boy sank into a chair beside his mother. "Now," continued the doctor, "who robbed the safe?"

To know that her mother hadn't done the shooting relieved but one of Tonibel's worries. Uriah wasn't hurt much anyway, but the doctor's question brought vividly to her mind another danger, not a whit less serious. Edith was certainly involved in looting the safe!

"I told you once," Tony began weakly. "Child," interposed Doctor Paul, "you'll shield no one else. I shudder to think what might have happened if your mother hadn't come here for her husband."

His tones were low and stern, though much moved. His eye caught sight of the black bag at the same time his brother's did. Doctor John opened it and, amid an appalling silence, took box after box out of it.

"Plain stealing," he growled, and then he stared at Mrs. Devon in open-mouthed amazement. "What'd you bring 'em back for?" he questioned. Edith paid no attention to Doctor John's query but addressed her husband.

"Uriah, now you went and done it again!" She turned to Doctor Paul. "You got everything back, give me my man. He didn't know what he was doin', sir."

"Then he'll be taught a lesson, the same as Reginald will, madam," re-around his lips? Of course not! He couldn't smile when she was in such trouble! She shivered as she met Reginald Brown's eager eyes, and, thrusting back a sob, she went to Paul Pendlehaven because he had held his hand out to her. Then she saw her mother, and a bewildered expression spread over her face. Doctor Paul, his eyes soft and gleaming, his lips twitching nervously, drew her down beside him.

"Mummy doesn't know anything about it," gasped the girl, extending her arms to Edith. "I won't hear anyone say—Oh, Uriah," she turned to Devon, "you know. Oh, say I did it!"

"Won't say any such thing," muttered Uriah. "Of course he won't, Tony," exclaimed Doctor John. "We know the truth now."

Tonibel got to her feet, pulling herself away from Paul Pendlehaven. "Oh, you can't arrest my poor little mother," she cried. "Her whole life has been so miserable. I must help her. You must, you, Phillip!"

Phillip got out of his chair, but Doctor John put him back into it again. "Wait," he whispered into the boy's ear.

"I want to tell you, everyone," went on Tony, fiercely, "that I'll swear 'til I die my mother—"

Paul Pendlehaven took the speaker by the shoulders and forced her face up to his. "This woman, here, your mother," and he waved his arm toward Mrs.

Deven, "says you didn't have that gun in your hand, and it's loaded to the brim now. She didn't use it, either." Reggie's jaw dropped. He made a dash for the door, as Mrs. Curtis screamed. Doctor John caught the fleeing boy and wheeled him around to face his horror-stricken mother.

"It's a lie! I didn't," he mumbled. "Where'd I get a gun to shoot anyone? This woman did it herself. I saw her." "Then you were here," cried Phillip. Mrs. Curtis acted as if she were going to faint, but as no one paid any Uriah, her eyes meeting with tender, deep, and steady looking at the Pendlehaven brothers. "Mr. Paul," she said in a low voice. "don't you remember me?"

Paul looked her over with no sign of recognition, and his brother turned away from Reginald to observe this new development. "No," said Paul, and he shook his head.

"Never mind! That don't matter" was the reply, "but I'll make a dicker with you. You give me my man for keeps, and I'll give you your girl, Caroline. I'm Edith Mindil!"

You could have heard a pin drop, so deep was the silence. All were looking at the haggard woman, facing Paul Pendlehaven, who was rising unsteadily.

"Give me my man," she repeated. "Don't send 'im to jail, and I'll give you your girl." Doctor Paul had become so white that his brother went to him and swung an arm across his shoulders.

"Are you lying?" he thundered at Edith. "If— Sit down, Paul. Let me—"

"Where's my baby?" quavered Paul Pendlehaven. "Does my Uriah go free, scot-free?" questioned Mrs. Devon.

"Yes, yes," consented both brothers at the same time. Tony had dropped to the floor. Now that little Caroline had been found she could no longer be a Pendlehaven daughter. Edith went to her and knelt beside her.

"Here she is, sir," she said in husky tones, lifting a tearful face to the men, "and you couldn't have a finer girl in the world. I ain't goin' to say for you to forgive me, sir, but you've had 'er over two years! Now, gimme Uriah, and we'll go."

Tony threw her arms around Edith's neck. What a change two minutes and a few words had made! She seemed to have taken on a new dignity as, with shining eyes, she said to Paul Pendlehaven:

"Father, darling, whatever it was that separated us, I want, oh, how I want to do something for the only mother I've ever known." Of course, Doctor Paul consented he even did more. He got a promise from the confused Uriah that he'd turn his back on the old days and old ways, and begin again with such aid as the Pendlehavens would give him.

While Doctor Paul was settling the fate of the Devons, John Pendlehaven had been sizing up the Curtis family. They were grouped together, clinging to each other.

"Reggie," he ejaculated, "I reckon you did a good job when you stopped Devon with a bullet last night. As for you, Sarah, you and your children aren't safe to have in the house here!"

He stretched forth his hand and offered the five thousand dollars to her. "Here's your money. Now go, and take Reggie and Katherine with you."

Mrs. Curtis was so utterly overcome that she could do nothing but sob, but Katherine took the bills from the doctor's hand and turned to her brother. "Come on, Regs," she muttered. "Help me get her out of this. We better go." She pinched her mother's arm spitefully. "Get up, mother. Quit that crying, and come on."

The others watched them leave the room, and then Mrs. Devon spoke up. "We're next, Riah! And we're ever lastingly grateful to you, Doctor Paul and you, Doctor John, for lettin' us go. Ain't we, Riah?"

Devon straightened up from his chair and grinned sheepishly. "That we be," he agreed, "and I'll try to show it."

That evening when Tonibel and Phillip were alone together, the young man said chokingly, "You don't for a moment imagine I ever believed you did that thing, darling? I went away because I thought you didn't love me any more, that you never had loved me. You don't think—any other way?"

MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.

PUT MUCH FAITH IN ACORN

In England it is Looked Upon as Protector Against Lightning, and as Love Charm.

From Druidical times the acorn has been held to be a sure protection against lightning, as the tops of many flagstaffs, the end of cornice poles, umbrella tassels and blindcords still attest—Even to this day, in English rural districts, when a thunderstorm threatens, farm-laborers and others will take them to the roof.

Why should you follow a crooked path?

Often a cowpath has been allowed to become a village street, and as the village expanded, tradition has made the winding way an expression of a cow's will.

Habit is always forging chains to enslave us, so that what has been found bearable by the fathers is accepted by the sons.

Who cannot recall the coffee-pot Mother put on the stove early in the morning, warning us not to let it boil over?

As children, we were not permitted to drink tea or coffee, because it would stunt our growth or make us nervous and irritable. When older, however, we craved a hot drink with meals, and custom gave us our tea or coffee.

Finally upon the instructions of the doctor, Mother gave up her tea and coffee. But that meant nothing in our young lives. Our vitality was then strong enough to throw off any ill effects.

But our time came, and we learned by experience that we could not drink tea or coffee. When we had it for breakfast it put our nerves on edge. When we drank it at the evening meal, we tossed about in wakefulness most of the night.

And then we found Postum, a pure cereal beverage, free from the harmful drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee. We liked the rich, satisfying flavor of Postum—and also the better health which resulted. And, too, we were surprised to find how many of our neighbors had made the same discovery—had learned the value of "health first."

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in the made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water). Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the cereal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

DARLING BABY BRIGHTENS HOME

Children's Laughter a Pleasing Sound

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. Before my next one was born I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody."—Mrs. C. W. BENZ, 121 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Jansen's experience of interest to childless wives.
Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we were married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nice, strong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all the credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wis.

Mrs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. My doctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame my weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been married nine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. HELD, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

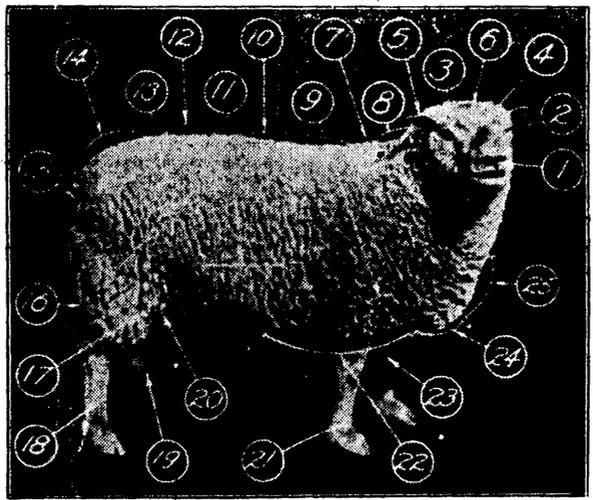

There are many, many such homes that are once childless, and are now blessed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it acts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregularities, displacements, weakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken with perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable to secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a childless old age, ask her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health and happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Can you judge sheep? If you can, you are somewhat above the ordinary run of stock raisers, because of all farm animals in the estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture, the sheep is the most difficult to appraise accurately.

With horses, cattle, swine, or poultry the eye will tell much as to the quality for any purpose desired, and by seeing the animals constantly the breeder or handler learns to estimate their worth, point by point. But a sheep with full fleeces is, like certain members of the human race, artfully dressed—its clothing may conceal defects that make it absolutely undesirable, or at least detract from its worth.

After practice in score-card judging—comparing the exhibited animal with an ideal, for it takes a good animal to score 75 and a choice animal to be marked 90—one is ready to judge by comparing animals one with another. Keep in mind the standard they should approach, and appraise them against one another, point by point, following the same systematic method as with the score card.

It is important to be able to tell the approximate age of a sheep by the teeth. Lambs have a full set of baby or "milk" teeth soon after birth. At from twelve to fourteen months two permanent teeth appear at the center; two more, adjoining, at from twenty-two to twenty-four months; a third

She Was Dumb.

An attendant at a certain institute for the deaf and dumb was undergoing a pointless rapid-fire inquisition of the hands of a female visitor.

"But how do you summon these poor mutes to church?" she asked finally with what was meant to be a pitying glance at the inmates nearby.

"By ringing the dumb-bells, madam," retorted the exasperated attendant.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP

Always Irritation; Soothes and Heals Throat and Lung Inflammation.

The almost constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucous membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which Boschee's Syrup gently and quickly soothes and heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-five years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectation in the morning. You can buy Boschee's Syrup wherever medicines are sold.—Advertisement.

YEAST NOT GOOD FOR LAYING HENS

Preliminary Tests by Government Not Satisfactory.

Egg Production is Not Increased Because Birds Soon Tire of the Mixture When It is Kept in a Moist Condition.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Preliminary tests have been carried on by the poultry husbandry division of the United States Department of Agriculture in the use of yeast as a feed for laying hens, the theory being that this material was extremely high in vitamins and particularly valuable in the dietary of laying hens. In the initial test the yeast was dissolved in warm water, added to the mash, and the mixture allowed to stand for 24 hours until the yeast had thoroughly permeated the feed. While the hens ate this mash fairly well, with the result that their egg production was slightly increased for a short period, apparently they soon tired of the mixture and did not consume it with a relish. Subsequently decreased egg production resulted and the mortality among the fowls which received the yeast was noticeably higher than the pens not receiving it.

It is thought that this mortality was due to changes occurring in the mash which developed while it was being held in a moist condition for the 24-hour period previous to feeding, rather than as a result of the yeast itself. The moist mash was discontinued and the experimental pens were put on a dry mash containing one per cent of dried fresh yeast. The condition of the flock improved materially with this change, and the birds soon resumed their normal appearance, with fair egg production.

However, the egg yield was not greater than that from check pens without the yeast. Thereafter three per cent of yeast which was air and sun-dried and fed in a ground condition was used in the mash without any perceptible increase in egg production. These tests in the feeding of yeast were not conducted on a very extensive scale, not long enough to determine thoroughly its value. The results were not promising and unless some better method of feeding the yeast is found this product is not likely to be of much value for laying hens.

Richer in Protein. Sweet clover, although slightly richer in protein than alfalfa and red clover, is not as good a hay plant as either alfalfa or red clover.

NEIGHBORING NEWS

HOWELL Roy Berry of Flint, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of owning and operating an illicit still was tried and found guilty. He was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail and pay $100 in fine and costs.

Harry Croft and Frank Wiles who were arrested at the same time plead guilty and were each assessed $50. Croft will stay with Sheriff Teeple for 90 days. It is reported that Croft and Wiles gave information leading to Berry's conviction.

MANCHESTER Chester Covell was arrested last week in Manchester father-in-law, David Bauer.

When arraigned before Justice John Thomas of Ann Arbor, Friday, Covell waived examination and was bound over to the present term of court. His bail was set at $25,000.

At the jail, according to members of the sheriff's office, Covell made a complete confession of his alleged attempt to poison his father-in-law in order to get possession of Mr. Bauer's farm.

Covell pleaded guilty as charged in the circuit court yesterday and was sentenced to from 12 to 24 years in Jackson prison.

STOCKBRIDGE About noon last Friday the alarm of fire called a lot of villagers to what is known as the Milo Ormsby farm, now occupied by T. King.

Large barn containing hay, grain, a lot of farm tools, veal calf, and silo were destroyed.

Several farmer friends were there husking corn with a machine and the fire was discovered by a farmer who had just driven up to the machine with a load of corn. Just how the fire started is a mystery, as a gasoline engine was used for power.

The insurance carried will not more than one-half cover the loss.—Brief-Sun.

BRIGHTON Just one month after his pavilion was burned to the ground, George Williams had the wall to the first story of a new, modern, fire-proof pavilion completed on the site of the old one. The very next day after the blaze the order for material was placed.

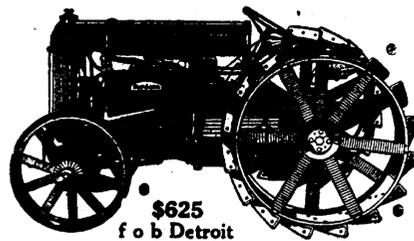

Mr. Williams is a man who does not allow things to down him. He is now determined that the fire was a benefit to him instead of a loss, because he is building a larger, more substantial and better now than he had any idea of doing before.

The new building, while going on the same location, is 20 feet longer than the other. This one measures 30x60 feet, and the kitchen and ice-house extra. It is constructed of finished tile, and will be three stories high, with probably a flat roof for spectators. The first floor will be a dining room and store. The second and third stories will be devoted to suites and single rooms—10 in number, making the first modern hotel on the lake.

Electricity is being installed and heating is being provided for, in order to make it a convenient hotel the year around. Mr. Williams says nothing will be spared to make it the most modern, and best equipped pavilion of its kind in the state. In addition to the building, two water slides have been ordered to be erected on either side of the building. One for adults and a special one for children.—Argus

Rooster Refused to Crow.

On the ground that the crowing of the rooster in her poultry run prevented school children learning their lessons, a Pottsville woman appeared before the local judge charged with being a public nuisance. The woman having declared the rooster was old and hoarse, and that therefore his crow could not be a source of disturbance to the school children, the judge adjourned the case to enable the bird to appear.

The rooster, however, which came to the court in a capacity resembling that of a co-defendant, refused to crow, and the judge, after making some remarks about the valuable loss of legal time thus occasioned, dismissed the case.—North China Herald.

By an error of omission this paper neglected to state that L. E. Howlett, the prominent Livingston attorney was associated with Louis McClellan in the Lawson murder trial. The Democrat states that "the court house rang with eloquence in defense of their client."

There are quite a number of diphtheria cases in Ann Arbor, six have developed within the past ten days. Health Officer Wessinger is advising the people to take care of "sore throat" cases by using a salt gargle and staying at home until symptoms disappear.

The estate of Myron L. Heath, Howell who was killed in an automobile accident near Island Lake, August 15th, has filed a petition for $55,000 with the state auditors as compensation for his death. It is alleged that the roadway caved in under his car, causing it to overturn and resulting in fatal injuries to Heath.

C. P. Bissel and his brother from Lansing were hunting Saturday in a woods near Hartland, when the latter heard a commotion behind him and looking around saw a big badger, which he shot and killed. The farmers in that vicinity say that for a long time they have been trying to trap the animal, but he was too cunning, taking the bait from the traps and springing them without getting caught—Holly Herald.

Dr. Louis Watkins of Detroit came near losing his life at Lakeland last week. He fell through a trap door in the second floor of his boat house, striking his side on the boat below, breaking several ribs and rendering him unconscious. He was partly in the water and partly across the boat. After regaining partial consciousness he managed to crawl upstairs and get into bed but was not able to get his wet clothes off until found the next morning.—Republican.

James Wright, 76 years of age of Willis, was gored to death Monday by a cow. The deceased had gone into a pasture field, where the animal and calf were browsing. A grandson, Earl Wright, accompanied him to the pasture lot where the cow attacked the boy. Mr. Wright hurried to his grandson's rescue and the animal then turned upon him and gored him to death before help arrived.

Asa Dodge of Ypsilanti, who has hunted extensively this fall, says that rabbits this year are infected with a cancerous looking sore or growth around the flanks. He stated that he had hunted in the vicinity of Howell recently, and killed five rabbits which were infected. He said that three rabbits shot at Shanghai, a few miles west of Ypsilanti were infected with the sores also. He intends to have an examination made of some of the rabbits by university specialists.

Michigan News Tensely Told

Ann Arbor—Final registration figures show that 11,222 are in attendance at the University of Michigan.

Monroe—After robbing the soft drink parlor of Frank Doris, an armed negro, shot and wounded three patrons of the place in making his escape.

Marquette—Harold Underhill and Fred Kappa, trustees, who escaped a month ago from the Marquette branch prison, have been caught in Covington, O.

Pontiac—A sack of first-class mail was stolen from the Pease Marquette depot at Highland by burglars who broke into the depot. There is no way of telling whether it contained much of value.

Rochester—Mrs. Roy Kiles is dead here of an illness which developed from the shock of her husband's arrest on the charge of stealing meat. She was 20 years old and had been married three times.

Iron Mountain—Patrick Jarley, 22, didn't think officials here meant it when they announced liquor law offenders who refused to divulge the source of their supplies would be jailed. He is serving a 30-day sentence.

Kalamazoo—Police say John O'Brien, of Detroit, could not resist temptation when he saw a pile of 50 $1 bills in the show window of the Desenberg store, placed there as part of an advertising offer. John is under arrest charged with theft.

Scotts—Glenn Burr, 9, was dragged to his death by an infuriated cow as his mother looked on, unable to aid the boy. He was leading the cow to pasture, one end of the rope being tied around his waist. The cow, frightened, ran through a field. The boy's head struck a boulder, crushing the skull.

Alma—Henry Vanderhoff, living northwest of Riverdale, who came to Alma to pay a mortgage, was waylaid by three men apparently about 30 miles from town.

One of the men proposed a horse trade, Vanderhoff refused to lead him to a barn, where the other two men were waiting.

Lansing—Reports to the secretary of state's office show that 4,500 babies, recently born, are still awaiting names. Fond parents were unable to comply with the law and give the babies a name within 10 days after birth. Certificates filed here show these children will go "nameless," so far as the records are concerned.

Mt. Clemens—August Sylvester, arraigned before Justice Duse on the charge of murder, stood mute, and was bound over to the circuit court to be tried at the November term. Sylvester, according to his alleged confession, shot Julius Jock in the marshes of Lake St. Clair October 10 and Jock died October 15 without regaining consciousness.

Owosso—The supervisors voted down a resolution to revert to the old township system of caring for the poor, under which each township, incorporated village or city would aid its own needy. Under the present plan the county stands the cost, the supervisor of each township or ward, passing on the necessity for relief and the amount to be given.

Bay City—Howard Kinch, chauffeur for a prominent local family, was sentenced to the Detroit house of correction for 90 days without an alternative of paying a fine, for driving an automobile while drunk. Kinch was arrested after he had smashed into four automobiles in a funeral procession. No one was injured, but the automobiles were damaged.

Kalamazoo—A total of 214 exhibits were presented at the preliminary hearing of James Hatfield, on a charge of embezzling more than $7,000 from his own insurance company. Most of the exhibits were checks, which, it was charged, are worthless. The case was adjourned until November 30, when, the court announced, final disposition of the matter would be made.

Pontiac—In the trial of W. H. Currier, chiropractor, in Circuit Court Judge Gillespie directed a verdict of guilty. Currier is the second chiropractor to be found guilty on a direct verdict, Archibald McGill being the first. Both were convicted of practicing without a license from the State Medical Registration Board. Sentences were postponed pending appeals.

Grand Rapids—The Michigan Mothers' Pension Law will be tested in the Supreme Court soon as the result of a friendly suit to be instituted here by Cornelius Romus, prosecuting attorney. Romus recently told the board of supervisors that in his opinion the law vested too much authority in the Probate Court to spend the county's money without giving the supervisors power to check the expenditures.

Lansing—The State Administrative Board has empowered Governor Greenbeck to offer rewards for the apprehension of escaped criminals whenever he deemed it advisable. The board also left to the Governor's discretion the amount to be offered in each case. The board acted after Roy C. Vandercook, state director of public safety, explained officers would often obtain material assistance in "man hunts" when it was known a prize had been placed on the head of a criminal. Lansing—The Blaney Land and Cattle company, which is looked upon by members of the state department of agriculture as the forerunner of many similar organizations that are to develop the grazing and feeding possibilities of northern Michigan in a new way, was authorized by the securities commission to sell $57,000 of stock. The remainder of the $150,000 issue is being subscribed by the promoters.

Ann Arbor—Chester Covell, 20-year-old Manchester youth who tried to poison his father-in-law, George Bower, was sentenced to spend from 12 to 24 years at Jackson prison with a recommendation of 12 years. Covell appeared in court and changed his plea to guilty. "I got my idea of poisoning from the movies," Covell told Judge George W. Sample before sentence was passed.

Marshall—Jeremiah Craig, aged recluse who was burned to death when his shanty at Clarendon station was destroyed, lost his life trying to save his money. It is believed he had $200 hidden in the north corner of the rear room and that he raced through the fire to secure this, succumbing to the heat, fire and smoke just as he reached the point where the money might have been hidden. Several silver dollars and a number of pennies were found embedded in the floor on the hip where the pocket was burned away from the coin.

ESCAPES OUSTING BUT IS CENSURED

BLANTON, TEXAS CONGRESSMAN, PUBLICLY REPRIMANDED BY SPEAKER GILLETT.

PUT OBSCENE REPORT IN RECORD

Texan Utterly Crushed and Worn By Experience in Meeting Wrath of Colleagues.

Washington—Saved from being thrown out of the house of representatives by a bare margin of eight votes, Thomas L. Blanton, Texas Democrat, was publicly reprimanded by Speaker Gillett, in accordance with a resolution of censure, against which no man cast a single vote.

The congressman from Texas caused obscene material to be printed in the Congressional Record, according to the resolution.

Then, a moment later, as he walked out of the chamber with all eyes upon him, he toppled over in a heap. Some of his colleagues who had voted to expel him picked him up and placed him on a lounge. But he did not stay there long. Rousing himself, he stumbled out, tears streaming down his cheeks, and as he went away he was heard to express the hope he might never see the house again.

There was no doubt of the fact, as members expressed it, that the Texan was utterly crushed and worn by his experience of the day, an experience that seldom come during the life of a man in congress.

When it was apparent the resolution of censure would be adopted by a wide margin, Speaker Gillett announced he would reprimand Blanton before his colleagues immediately after completion of the vote.

The resolution of censure was passed by a vote of 293 to 0, with 28 members voting "present."

Representative Blanton then was taken before the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms and publicly censured and reprimanded by Speaker Gillett. There were a few hisses from the Republican side.

RAIL CHIEF SAYS BEN HOOPER SETTLED STRIKE

BEN W. HOOPER.

Chicago—"The man who settled this strike is Ben W. Hooper, former governor of Tennessee, and the public of the United States owes a debt of gratitude to him." T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America, declared after the conference with the railway labor board last week.

Mr. Hooper is vice-chairman of the labor board and a member of the public group.

RAILROAD STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Union Chiefs and Labor Board Reach Agreement, October 27.

Chicago—The rail strike scheduled for October 30 was averted when leaders of the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen, at a joint meeting, October 27, adopted resolutions withdrawing authorization of a walkout and officials of the railroad telegraphers organization announced they would take similar action. These were the only unions which had authorized a strike.

The vote calling off the strike was 1,000 to 100.

Chicago—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced the official wording of the resolution adopted was that the "strike be declared not effective."

The settlement was made on the offer of the Railroad Labor Board not to consider any further wage reductions until all working rule problems now before the Board had been decided. This was virtually a promise to the Brotherhoods that the wage question would not be reached for many months and possibly not for a year, as the working rules questions already under consideration can not be decided before that time.

BAN ON BEER STANDS IN STATE

Wiley Says Ruling By Mellon Not Effective in Michigan.

Lansing—Michigan today has the most stringent ruling on the sale of beer that it has had at any time since the state prohibition amendment was adopted. The tightening of the lid is a direct result of the action of the federal treasury department in permitting sale of beer as a medicine. "The ruling of the United States treasury department will not affect Michigan," Mr. Wiley instructs his department. "The Volstead act does not abrogate the Michigan prohibition laws, which do not permit or contemplate the manufacture or sale or possession of beer as a medicine, any more than it does for sacramental or mechanical purposes."

FUGITIVE OFFICIAL BELIEVED FOUND

CALIFORNIA POLICE HOLD FORMER VAN BUREN ROAD COMMISSIONER.

SHOCKED PAW PAW SOCIETY

Muddled Accounts and Disappearance of Dentist's Wife Discovered At About Same Time.

Paw Paw, Mich.—The arrest in lower California of Charles F. Cox, former Van Buren county road engineer, wanted for embezzlement, is expected shortly, Sheriff Dwight Barker here was advised Monday.

Arrest of Cox will end a country-wide search inaugurated last December when he vanished, leaving the Van Buren road department topsyturvy, in connection with which the county has offered a $2,000 reward.

Cox's disappearance not only stirred county officialdom to action, but it shook Paw Paw's society leaders when, simultaneously, Mrs. Wilma Racette, 30, wife of Dr. Felix A. Racette, a dentist here, vanished.

Cox took with him his seven-year-old son, Maynard, while Mrs. Racette had with her, Ellen, six-year-old daughter. Dr. Racette and Mrs. Hazel Cox held a consultation over the situation that left them mateless and childless. They decided to ask authorities to apprehend the couple, but without publicity. Dr. Racette believed Cox had persuaded his wife to go automobiling and that she would return. He said he was willing to take her back.

After three months, Dr. Racette decided that he would divorce his wife. A decree recently was handed him by the Van Buren county circuit judge. Mrs. Cox has not instituted divorce proceedings.

Sheriff Barker was instructed by the supervisors to institute search for Cox. He had police circulars printed, which contained photographs of Cox, Mrs. Racette and their children. These were sent broadcast.

Sheriff Barker has just received word from a town in lower California and that he had been unsuccessful in an attempt to locate the fugitive in Mexico. He wired back to apprehend Cox and hold Mrs. Racette if she were with him. The supervisors have renewed the $2,000 reward.

Cox and Mrs. Racette with their children, drove from Paw Paw on December 17, in a big touring car Cox had just purchased. He left this at Kalamazoo and boarded a train, it is said.

HOLD MAN ON DERAILING CHARGE

Officers Claim Wreck at Lapeer Was Result of Four Attempts.

Lapeer, Mich.—The derailing of a Grand Trunk express train near here after Friday midnight, with three persons seriously injured and scores of passengers imperiled, was one of a series of four similar attempts on the same railroad at different points in Michigan perpetrated by the same train wrecker within the last two months, railroad detectives and county officers are convinced after an investigation of the crime here. Three of these attempts were frustrated.

Acting on this theory, officers arrested Henry Gates and took him to Port Huron where they will attempt to prove their claim that he was in the vicinity on two previous occasions when derailing attempts were made.

DAWES HAS NEW SAVINGS PLAN

FEDERAL TRAFFIC BOARD FOR CHECKING OF LEAKAGE IS CREATED BY HIM.

EFFICIENCY ALSO IS SOUGHT

Government's Shipments Are to Be Re-classified and Reclassified and its Business Correctly Routed—Practical Railway Men to Help.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Leakage of thousands of dollars of government funds into the railroad coffers through wrong classification of shipments and wrong routing is to be checked through the formation of a federal traffic board provided for by Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, director of the bureau of budget.

Every department and independent bureau of the government is to appoint a member of the traffic board, which will come under the United States co-ordinator for traffic, who in turn will be under the chief co-ordinator for general supply.

As soon as the board is formed a committee of practical railroad men will be invited to confer with the government's representatives regarding the changes, which will involve a complete reclassifying and reclassification of government shipments.

Under the present system, according to General Dawes, the classification committees of the railroads in specifying rates applicable to thousands of articles listed in the classification have given the government little or no consideration as to the volume or nature of its business.

In addition to the expected saving of government funds through these practices, the work of the board is expected to bring about greater efficiency in handling government shipments and prevent much duplication now found to prevail.

The report of R. C. Caples, the expert who has been examining the situation for the budget bureau, estimated that the government transportation bill annually is $200,000,000.

eral Dawes, no attention is given to the proper classification of articles shipped by the United States and government business. This board will check government property under commercial names. Raw materials now shipped by the government are many times billed as finished products.

The general said that the saving to be effected through proper handling of the government's traffic, including reclassification, the correct routing of its business and a reduction in number of the various rate groups and departmental traffic departments, is difficult to compute, but should be large.

The board not only will have jurisdiction over freight shipments, but will have general supervision of handling express, parcel post and passenger traffic.

"It shall be the duty of the federal traffic board to make a complete study of the traffic problems confronting the various departments and independent establishments of the government," the order says.

In cooperation with representatives of the interstate commerce commission and the carriers, it will make uniform classifications for all commodities, including raw materials, as well as finished products, shipped by the government, so that shipments may be made at the lowest tariff rates.

The board will draw up plans for improving and standardizing methods of shipping, and for the settling of accounts. These plans will be submitted to the chief co-ordinator, general supply, who will take the necessary action in each case.

Other Rules in Order.

"The classification of commodities and the instructions governing shipments and methods of settling transportation accounts that are adopted by the board and approved by the co-ordinator for traffic shall, as far as applicable and in conformity with law, be binding upon and govern all departments, bureaus, agencies and offices of the government in all shipments by them.

Questions pertaining to the classification of materials or terminal, switching, freight rates, etc., which require the application of remedial measures will be submitted to the co-ordinator for traffic, either for adjustment with the classification committee representing the carrier or for the presentation of a complaint with the interstate commerce commission.

In the event of disagreement as to classifications, instructions governing shipments and methods of settling transportation accounts or on method of procedure, the case will be submitted to the chief co-ordinator for general supply, whose decision shall be final as to the action taken, subject only to an appeal to the head of the department concerned."

Won't Stop Building Ships.

The Navy department plans to continue immediately for additional appropriations to build aircraft carriers for the navy, and will go ahead with its building program regardless of the arms conference. Official announcement to this effect was made by Secretary Denby to the house naval affairs committee. The department sees that decisions by the conference cannot be anticipated and realizes that the navy is lacking in certain elements of a well rounded fleet.

The secretary's statement is an answer to those who expect the conference to "disarm," and shows that the best that can be expected of it for armament is a limitation which will lessen economic burdens and eliminate the danger of competitive building among nations.

In regard to ships provided for most of which are in a fair way of completion—the speed of construction has been greatly lessened by diminished appropriations. The department is going ahead as fast as it can with its limited funds. The work of construction is being distributed among the vessels now under way.

Not Knocking the Conference. The decision to go ahead with building, it is explained, does not express lack of confidence in the accomplishment of the arms conference. It merely demonstrates that the conference is not a disarmament meeting.

Information received here from other countries, notably Great Britain and Japan shows that these countries are completing construction under way, and in some instances authorizing new construction. Neither these countries nor the United States proposes to lead in limiting armaments until all are agreed on the proportion of arms to be stacked.

So far as the American navy is concerned, Mr. Denby made it plain that the building of aircraft carriers is regarded as essential. This confirmed belief is the result of the recent bombing tests, which demonstrated the new effectiveness which the airplane is acquiring in naval strategy.

The navy has not changed its belief that the capital ship remains the basic unit of the fleet. Naval officers believe there has been much misconception on the views of the navy general board, owing to the debate precipitated over the relative merits of the capital ship and aircraft.

Result of Bombing Tests.

Naval officials guiding the construction program think the bombing tests have demonstrated the increased possibilities of aircraft. No one has been quicker to recognize this than the capital ship. It is their belief that carried on with a large complement of aircraft for bombing and for long distance gunfire.

The navy is daily developing new possibilities in long range guns and sees the time when navies will fire at each other over the horizon, making airplanes necessary for range finding.

Airplane construction has not reached the point where the heavier than air craft can operate far from their base and carriers are essential to transport them with the fleet. Experiments are being made also to have each war ship carry its own complement of aircraft. With the exception of the converted aircraft carrier Langley, the American navy is not equipped with carriers.

The determination to go ahead with construction has in mind in part the other elemental weakness of the navy shortage of light fast cruisers. Any limitation of armament at this time would find the American navy lacking in this important requisite.

Washington Cleans House.

In an endeavor to put Washington "on dress parade," so that the city will be spick and span when the delegates to the world conference on limitation of armaments arrive, Col. Clarence O. Sherrill, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, has launched another "clean-up" campaign. With only a short time in which to finish the work, Colonel Sherrill hopes to enlist every civic club under the banner, "Make Washington the Cleanest City in the World."

The Century club pledged its support to Colonel Sherrill's office and, in the near future, a mass meeting of all civic organizations interested in this activity will be called. It is known that President Harding is vitally interested in the proposed campaign; that the President wishes to see Washington cleaned up from one end to the other so that there will be no cause for complaint on the part of any American that the nation's capital failed to make a good impression during the arms conference.

Letter Cites Cleanup Need.

Colonel Sherrill is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. R. Gibson, a guest in the city, in which attention is called to uncleanness in certain parts of Washington. Colonel Sherrill was much impressed with the letter, coming as it did from a woman who had traveled the wide world over and who, as a patriotic American, wants to see Washington surpass any other capital city in the world from a cleanliness standpoint.

Colonel Sherrill is enthusiastic about a campaign at this time, believing that he will have the hearty support of each and every citizen.

"I wish that every man and woman in Washington would pledge to keep clean their own little ball-rooms," said Colonel Sherrill, "and if this is done there is no doubt that the district government and the office of public buildings and grounds will do the rest. We shall see to it that every street, every highway and byway, even every alleyway is as clean as it is possible to make them during the stay of our distinguished visitors.

Paris Adopts Longer Skirts

Paris sends us beauty in the ways of fashion for 1921 that surpasses even her previous efforts, observes a fashion writer. The designers there in the heaven of good dressing have created costumes and coats and suits to rival even their own efforts of the past.

The word is that there is nothing radically different, and yet each thing is so different in itself that it deserves a paragraph—a eulogy—all its own. The Parisian designer cannot repeat himself. His every effort is a distinct achievement, and the French gowns that are shown for this season only serve to accentuate that fact. One can look at them forever and not run the risk of being bored by any bald repetition.

But as for the points of style. Yes, there are these in some abundance, and when one starts to assemble them one finds that they are much more numerous than they promised to be.

The skirts are longer. That in itself is an established fact. Some of the designers have chosen to leave the suit skirts at a moderate length, say ten inches from the floor, but the more dressy the frock, the longer it grows, until we find them for evening touching the floor in some few cases. However, if it is smart, it is long.

Sleeves Are Much Longer.

Then, to follow the lines of the dropping skirts, every other line, by force of suggestion, has also taken a drop. There are the sleeves. They are much longer, and they are broader, too, just as the skirts have taken to themselves more fullness.

Sleeves, in fact, are the sensation of the season. We hardly expected them to be. We had looked to skirts to provide the thrill of change, but here are the sleeves most beautiful, most wonderful to behold. Dressmakers and designers had had a rest from sleeves for some time, so they came back to the problem with a zeal that shows itself gloriously in the things they have put before the public. And the women who love to dress—they, too, come back to sleeves with enthusiasm, glorying to show the graceful many of long lines. The French dresses blouse over the hips at a low line, which, a year ago, we would have believed impossible to wear. But they have done it and done it well and it is really surprising how becoming the longer waistline, not to mention a bulging waistline, can be. Even on the evening gowns the waistline is accentuated by thick and protruding trimmings. One no longer makes a fetish of the fairy waistline, but one adds on interminably with no thought for fineness just at that particular place.

The evening gowns are draped and draped again, with one portion of the drapery obliterating another portion.

Gray Caracul and Blue Velours Are Used for the Construction of This "Tailleur."

They look always as though the maker had revealed in the draping of the fabrics and as though she had let her whim carry her along as she pinned and shaped.

Make the Lines Long.

So, Paris says, for these new gowns and coats and wraps and suits make the lines long and the figure tall, and to gain this effect use every trick and fable known to the dressmaker's art. Even the collars are high and tight to add to the general lengthening scheme. And the hats, too, are apt to go straight into the air in another elongated line.

Color is rife among the winter things, for Paris seems to have broken away from the binding spell of black and still more black. Many of their models are, of course, in black, but that somber tone is not entirely prevalent, and we see many of the fuchsia shades, with a decided leaning toward all of the shades of violet used either alone or in combination with other colors. The taupe and gray shades are still good, and we find splashes of more brilliant reds, oranges and greens. A certain dull rust color is one of the French favorites, and they use this in masses uninterrupted by other tones, or they employ it for trimming where it lends a most interesting color note.

Parisian designers are using a great deal of velvet for the winter models, and they cling to the soft weaves of duvety and the thicker woolly fabrics, but they have done many interesting things with fine serges and woolen crepes, while a number of them show broadcloth as the very latest idea in the making of gowns and coats.

For evening the metal cloths are as good as ever they were, and while there is a good deal of brocade, it is not nearly so universally used as it was last season. Tulle and chiffon are good, but mostly when they are combined with other materials.

Copy the Russian Blouse.

Most of the jackets on the French tailors follow the lines of the Russian blouse, but the interpretation is so pliable that there are many dozens of expressions of the same idea. These little, bloused coats are held around their lower edges by twisted and corded belts and tassels with ends that dangle either at the side, at front or directly in the middle of the back. Some of the Russian suits are modified and adjusted in very interesting fashion. For instance, a gray costume has a tiny jacket which ends at an extremely short length and falls over a continuation of its own line which fits the figure rather more closely and is made of brick-colored velours re-embroidered in gray. The whole gives the effect of a rather interesting lampshade drooping over the crushed belt. Another costume has a skirt of black velvet and a long, soft, gray jacket that is appliqued with black velvet figures, making altogether a Grecian design.

wise and those where the stripes run lengthwise. But the most amusing sleeves of all are those that are made of materials quite contrasting to the gowns themselves—brilliant sleeves of flowing graceful lines attached to frocks of neutral tone. Just as we expect to see brilliancy of color worked into a belt or a girdle, so we are having it this season flashing from the sleeves. It is a new note and one that is quite satisfyingly becoming.

Loose and Wrappy Coats.

Paris has a feeling for loose and wrappy coats worn with dresses to harmonize or to match exactly. This fashion, she declares, is one that is so really feminine that for beauty and charm it can find no equal. When they make suits over there they employ more or less trimming, making them look as much like street dresses as they do like tailored suits. They call them tailleurs, but they bend every effort to take any hardness of a tailored look away from them.

The dresses among the Paris showings are "indian," as a class, so have long waists, again presenting the ha-

MARKET REPORT

FURNISHED BY U. S. BUREAU OF MARKETS, WASHINGTON, D. C.

(For the week ending October 27, 1921)

Grain. The grain markets displayed a firmer undertone during the week and although there was weakness in the last two days, prices at the close were higher than a week ago. Sellers were in market during the week with red winters scarce and in good demand. Argentine wheat crop estimated 307,000,000 bushels as compared with 250,000,000 bushels this time last year. Country corn offerings to arrive not large. Chicago cash market strong and a little higher.

Closing cash prices: No. 2 red winter wheat $1.19; No. 2 hard winter wheat $1.18; No. 2 mixed corn 47 1/2c; No. 2 yellow corn 46c; No. 2 white oats 31 1/2c. For the week Chicago December wheat advanced 2 1/2c; closing at $1.06 1/2c; Chicago December corn 1 1/2c higher at 47 1/2c. Closing prices: Minneapolis December wheat $1.19 3/8; Kansas City December wheat 99c; Winnipeg December wheat $1.07; Chicago May wheat $1.10 1/2c; Chicago May corn 53c; Minneapolis May wheat $1.17 3/8; Kansas City May wheat $1.08 1/4c; Winnipeg May wheat $1.12 1/2c. Average price to farmers in Central Iowa for No. 2 mixed corn around 32c; to farmers in central North Dakota for No. 1 dark northern wheat $1.08 1/4c; to farmers in central Kansas for No. 2 hard winter wheat, 35c.

May. Receipts of hay fairly heavy. Minneapolis market becoming overstocked. Prices are steady. Demand good but not active enough in most markets to advance prices. Tracks fairly well cleaned up. Good demand in Chicago for timothy and southern western prairie. Straw also wanted. Country loading light. Trading reported less active than last week. Quoted Oct. 26th, No. 1 Timothy, $20.50; No. 2 Timothy, $19.50; No. 3 Timothy, $18.50; No. 4 Timothy, $17.50; No. 5 Timothy, $16.50; No. 6 Timothy, $15.50; No. 7 Timothy, $14.50; No. 8 Timothy, $13.50; No. 9 Timothy, $12.50; No. 10 Timothy, $11.50; No. 11 Timothy, $10.50; No. 12 Timothy, $9.50; No. 13 Timothy, $8.50; No. 14 Timothy, $7.50; No. 15 Timothy, $6.50; No. 16 Timothy, $5.50; No. 17 Timothy, $4.50; No. 18 Timothy, $3.50; No. 19 Timothy, $2.50; No. 20 Timothy, $1.50; No. 21 Timothy, $0.50.

Feed. Demand for feeds continues slow. Trading light. Market unchanged but firm on wheat feeds. Few distress offerings in evidence. Gluten feed situation unchanged. Hominy offerings moderate but not urgent, demand light. Market for white hominy firm, yellow hominy is weaker. Stocks and movement generally good. Quoted October 26: Bran $12, middlings $13, flour middlings $31; Minneapolis; white hominy $20; St. Louis, $20; Chicago; gluten feed $26.85; Chicago; alfalfa meal $16.50; Kansas City.

Dairy Products. Butter markets were easy in early part of week, but have gained firmness during the past few days and prices are higher than a week ago. Quoted Oct. 26: Chicago 48c; Philadelphia 49c; Boston 47c.

Live Stock and Meats. Chicago hog prices were practically steady throughout the week; beef steers and butcher heler advanced 25c; 25c; Butcher cows and feeder steers up 25c. Fat lambs gained 50c/75c; feeding lambs 25c/30c higher.

Transplant Eyes to Blind.

Paris.—Dr. Koppanyi, of Vienna, who has successfully cured blindness in animals by transplanting eyes, believes that it is possible to restore human sight in the same manner. He believes that by engraving the eye of an animal, preferably a dog, sight may be restored to blinded humans. He declares that the transplanted eye will rapidly take on the appearance of a human eye and will function normally.

OUR BRIDES

Dame Norma, who married lately
A secret—just a hint;
It spread amongst our little class,
And caused a ruddy tint
Upon the cheeks of one fair lass—
A member true and true;
(To prove Dame Norma told us wrong
My dear, "It's up to you.")

Becoming somewhat reconciled,
(For Norma's own best good),
We had another crushing blow—
We never thought we should!
She could shoot his arrows
Unerringly and true,
Nor was content with one success,
But needs must capture two.

Our class must be the loser,
And make no man, but smile,
When Katherine grasped the Shepherd's crook
Without a thought of guile.
They little know, those bridegrooms,
The treasure we bestow,
We give them o'er to their kind care—
"Our brides,—for weal or woe.

Perhaps you're rank deserters
From our Philathea best,
But we'll forgive and wish you joy,
In this our parting toast.
Our class' weighty questions,
Discussions grave and gay,
Have needed each wise member
At Sunday School each day.

So when your place is vacant,
Our thoughts will go to you;
We know that you'll be happy
In those homes so bright and new.
Although we'll miss you sorely,
From out our jolly band,
We wish you all life's blessings,
Good friends on every hand.

Come back to us real often,
Even when you've left the town;
We'll coo to you still a member—
Our scribbles will mark you down.
Though housework claims attention,
And the "Man" must needs have care
We know you'll not forget us all,
If here you are or there.

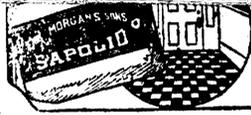

When Katherine sets her table
With beans and hush and cake,
And hears the favored man say "These Are like my mother used to make,"
Perhaps this little token
May find a humble place,
And prove that the Philatheas
All miss her smiling face.

And Norma, who has been to us
A friend in sun or storm,
We hope may find the Philathea's gift
Will keep her snug and warm;
And that twill oft remind her
As the busy moments pass,
Of the warm regard in each true heart
Of the members of our class.

How To Keep
in Good Condition

Sound nerves, a clear head, good digestion, strength, endurance and general health depend upon clean blood. If the kidneys and bladder do not properly perform their functions, the blood cannot be clean and pure,
for these organs filter and cast out the waste matter, impurities and poisonous acids that cause nervousness, rheumatic pains, headache, languidness, sore muscles, swollen joints, stiffness, puffiness under the eyes and other weakening symptoms.

WAS RELIEVED AT ONCE
"I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for nearly 8 years. Had one very bad spell about 5 years ago. Was confined to bed for 4 or 5 days, unable to turn without help.
I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once. I take pleasure in recommending your kidney pills to all who have kidney trouble." John Heath, Michigan Bar, California.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

weak, strengthen, heal overworked, sore and diseased kidneys and blad-

THE PHILATHEA SISTERS

The Philathea Sisters of the Federand Mrs. Eugene McIntyre for the October meeting.

After the Devotional, and business session, Mesdames Elliot and McIntyre favored the company with several guitar and violin selections, which were much appreciated. Miss Clella Fish, our poetess, read her original poem "To Our Brides," it being the presentation of a set of silver knives and forks to Mrs. Katherine Placeway, and a very nice pair of wool blankets to Miss Norma Curlett, who are brides of the class.
A fine pot luck luncheon was served to 26 guests, and numerous lunches and bouquets sent out to sick and shut-ins.

Machine Measures Golf Drive.

Golf enthusiasts bent upon developing an ability to make long drives can measure their progress by means of a machine which has been invented to record accurately the length of drives.
The machine consists of a steel pole on the top of which is a dial to the mechanism of which is attached a cord. The golf ball is struck at the end of this cord. When the player strikes the ball the force of the drive is recorded on the dial and the length of the drive, had the ball not been held by the cord, can be determined.—Pitts-

Buying and Selling Without Money.

The difficulties in conducting trades without money are illustrated in the following, reported by the United States Trades commission at Riga:
According to current news from Soviet Russia, the Council of the People's Commissariat has established arbitrary exchange values for certain commodities, with one pood (36 pounds) of rye grain taken as the basis. It is stated that this move has been made necessary by the reintroduction of freedom in private trade.
From these arbitrary commodity exchange values, as established in June, it appears that one pound of rye grain is fixed as the equivalent of 12
poods of salt, 26 poods of petroleum, 12 packages of matches, 3 metal pails,
4 iron spades of 6 arshins (1 arshin equals 28-inches) of calico.

miners embarked for Spitzbergen to work the extensive coal properties recently acquired by a group of well-known Holland commercial men. The first cargo of Spitzbergen coal arrived at Rotterdam, August 11, direct from the mines of the Netherlands-Spitzbergen company. Notwithstanding the high freight rates, it has been shown that Spitzbergen coal can be laid down in Holland at a price lower than that paid for English or German coal.
Easy access to the coal beds and economical working of the mines make these cheaper deliveries to Holland possible. Enormous amounts of coal are available.

AMONG BEADED BLOUSES

There is a beaded blouse which will compel many an admiring glance wherever it is worn. For the theater, dinner party or any other place where woman-loving women understand to look their best, it is sure to triumph.
These two rivals in beautiful fabrics—silk and satin—have long been the favorite forces in the blouse. Imagine an elaborate blouse of the silk with a delicate beaded trim and steel and diamond buttons on the sleeves made of the same material as the beaded trim.
