A RAINY PICNIC DAY

For forty-two years St. Mary's church has given a picnic and, so far as anyone can remember, never has rain interfered seriously with the program until last Wednesday. With characteristic energy, Rev. McQuillan marshalled his forces for an exceptionally big picnic this year and all preliminary arrangements were completed when just about time to serve first courses for dinner the rain began. But the hungry ones insisted on being fed and so in a drizzle which kept raining harder many stayed to dinner in a soaking rain. It speaks well for both the diners and the ladies and men of St. Mary's that they ate and worked under such unpleasant circumstances.

After the dinner the opera house was taken over and many remained to meet and enjoy visits under cover. The dance in the evening was a success but the base ball game was not played. This was a disappointment to so many that arrangements are underway to have the teams meet in Pinckney in the near future to play. It is also proposed to have the drawings for the many prizes on the same day and also a dance in the evening.

From all indications the 1925 picnic would have been monstrous in comparison with all others if the day had been as pleasant as has been usual on this annual occasion, but the foresight of Fr. McQuillan in taking out a rain policy for $600, to be paid in case one-tenth of an inch of rain fell between 11 and 2 p. m., will in a small way partially reimburse the St. Mary's workers for their great efforts.

Fr. McQuillan wants to take this opportunity to thank the people of the community for their fine spirit of co-operation and good fellowship demonstrated at the picnic.

BALL GAME—DRAW- ING—DANCE

Tuesday, August 25

Benefit St. Mary's Church

A ball game has been arranged, to be played at Monk's Park, Pinckney, August 25, between the Daniel Sayles team of Detroit and the Pratt and Dunn team of Ann Arbor. This game will settle the supremacy of these teams as it will be the third of the series, each team having won a game.

In the evening at the opera house, the drawing of the prizes, now on exhibition in C. H. Kennedy's show windows, will take place and later a dance with excellent music. The proceeds of these entertainments will be for the benefit of St. Mary's church.

COMING SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

Manager Reamer of the Pinckney opera house is sparing no effort or expense in securing the very best that can be obtained in the way of amusements. Next Saturday night, Aug. 22, Rollin McDonald, Detroit's popular vocalist, will sing popular songs before and during the regular film program.

A special Labor Day program has been arranged for which is sure to please Pinckney patrons, Richard Bartelme's greatest success "Classmates", which goes into the inside life at West Point. Evening only. And, of course, lots of good comedy.

WELL ONE DAY IN BED THREE

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan. — "After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed. One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand." — Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Roses of Rubber

Roses made of rubber are the latest novelty in the floral world, but they are so scented and tinted that it is difficult to distinguish them from real flowers. Rubber roses are the invention of Mrs. McGarvie Munn, who hopes soon to establish workshops in which she will teach disabled ex-soldiers the art of making these artificial blossoms. The flowers are washable and are described by the Rubber Growers' association as an "artistic and hygienic novelty."

The United States Today Is, Above All Others, a Railroad Nation

By C. H. MARKHAM, President Illinois Central System.

THIS year is the centennial of the railroads. It was on September 27, 1825, that the Stockton & Darlington railway in England was thrown open to operation under an act that provided for hauling of wagons and other carriages upon the line "with men or horses or otherwise." "Otherwise" was the loophole which allowed George Stephenson, engineer of the road and an experimenter with steam engines, to persuade his company to use a steam locomotive to haul its first train. That train, with its prophetic load of coal, flour and passengers, moved at an average rate of eight miles an hour.

Only a few years after the opening of the world's first railroad, in England, our own nation took up the novelty, with what result you all can recognize today. Railroads, it seemed, were exactly what the vast land areas of this country needed. The United States today is, above all others, a railroading nation. The people of our country owe more to the railroads than the people of most countries do, because the greater part of our existence and growth as an independent nation has been coincident with the railway era. Today, with only about one-sixteenth of the world's land area, we possess in this country approximately one-third of the total railway mileage of the world, and our railroads lead those of all other nations in the high quality and low cost of their service.

Our nation today is the richest and most advanced nation of the world. It has become so largely because it has enjoyed for nearly a century a form of transportation excellently adapted to its great distances and its wide variety of products. Because of cheap and efficient railway transportation, available in all parts of the country, the products of all regions today are to be obtained in every region. The products of every region can be and are marketed in all regions. Passengers are moved long distances with great rapidity.

Most Extravagant Machine Ever Devised for the Pleasure of Man

By WILLIAM ASHDOWN, in Atlantic Monthly.

Debt, debt, debt, for a costly article that depreciates very rapidly and has an insatiable appetite for money. To be sure, the money goes out in small lots, but the toll is large if it be reckoned for a year, and this the average man has not the courage to face; or facing it, he has not the courage to quit. He must keep his car.

The avalanche of automobile owners is not a good omen. It signifies that the people are living either up to their means or beyond them; that the old margin of safety no longer obtains; that the expense account must constantly increase. The race to outdo the other fellow is a mad race indeed. The ease with which a car can be purchased on the time-payment plan is all too easy a road to ruin.

The habit of thrift can never be acquired through so wasteful a medium as an automobile. Instead, the habit of spending must be acquired, for with the constant demand for fuel, oil, and repairs, together with the heavy depreciation, the automobile stands unique as the most extravagant piece of machinery ever devised for the pleasure of man.

Germany's Three Calamities: Lost War, Coup d'Etat and Inflation Period

By PROF. ADOLF HARNACK, in Vienna Neue Freie Presse.

One who takes into consideration these three calamities—the lost war, the coup d'etat and the inflation period, will not wonder that the soul and the body of the German people should be gripped by a dire disease, which finds expression in savage egoism, in a reprehensible passion for gain, and in infringements upon laws and morals.

The German nation, the most industrious in the world, has never ceased to work. It is working now also, and, what is more, it is working twice as hard as before. It would work even still harder if its physical health were better, and if it could find a richer and wider field for its toil. As to the work done by our mental workers—the students—I can testify out of my own experience that they are working with a greater diligence than ever. The same is evidenced by our physical workers.

The love of work, which is the mother of all civic virtues, is helping our people to overcome the influence of evil forces. And already now one may say: Go and see the German people while at work, and you will be able to form an idea as to what it is and what it can accomplish!

A Democracy Must Have Contented Citizens as a Basis of Security

By DR. RAY L. WILBUR, Leland Stanford University.

The immigrations upon the Pacific coast of the Chinese and Japanese were similar in origin and in effect to the immigrations on the Atlantic coast. One great difference was that these immigrations brought with them the question of race to which the Americans were particularly sensitive because of their historical background. The instinctive fear of race mixtures must be understood by all who would appreciate the present situation.

In this attitude of Americans towards race mixtures the question of the inferiority of one race or the superiority of another is not primarily involved. The attitude depends upon the fear of the birth of children and the development thereby of citizens who are misplaced socially, unhappy and inevitable sources of social dissatisfaction and discontent.

The understanding that a democracy must have contented citizens as a basis of security is an instinct developed by the people of the United States.

Eighteen Years Added to the Average Duration of Life Since 1855

By LOUIS A. HANSEN, in Life & Health.

In 1800 the average length of life in the United States was thirty-five years, in 1855 it was forty years, and in 1920 it was fifty-eight years. Eighteen years have been added to the average duration of life since 1855. From 1910 to 1920 the increase in the life span was four years.

It is generally considered that the larger part of the world's burden is borne by men above forty years of age. Thus in 1800 the average man died seven years before he reached the age of his greatest usefulness. In 1920 the average man lived eighteen years beyond this age.

In 1911 a death rate of 17 per 1,000 was generally accepted as normal. Deaths above this rate were considered abnormal or unnatural. In 1923 the rate was reduced to 12.3 per 1,000 for the registration area of the United States, and for 1924 the estimated rate is still lower, 11.6 per 1,000. Thus in a decade have standards had to change, showing a possibility in life-saving that is very remarkable.

POULTRY

CAPONS COMPARED WITH MALE BIRDS

That caponizing pays but that capons do not gain anywhere near what is claimed by some, is indicated by the results of an experiment conducted by the poultry department at South Dakota State college.

According to these claims, the capon should gain twice as much as a rooster of the same age and breed, but a 10 per cent gain is about the best to expect. The lighter breeds like Leghorns, do not really gain at all. Since chickens usually hatch late on the farm and since there is usually plenty of feed, caponizing will probably pay the farmer. The birds should be caponized when developing wattles and combs, or better when they weigh about two pounds in the American or medium-weight breeds. The capons can be shipped in barrels holding 150 to 200 pounds, during January and February, and bring a good price.

Two weeks before marketing, the capons should be put in close quarters and fed on fattening rations, such as milk, corn meal, bran, tankage, etc. Any combination like corn and milk is very good. During the time previous to these two weeks, the capons can be fed on corn and can be allowed to run with the pullets.

In dressing capons for market, only the soft feathers need be removed. The coarse feathers on the wings, tail, etc., may be left on. The capons must be dry-picked, if a good price is expected.

As capon feathers, especially white ones, are in demand and will bring from 85 to 90 cents per pound, the farmer can afford to keep them clean and dry and the colors unmixed.

To have capons mother little chicks does not pay. This means that capons have to be kept over winter. Three or four dollars are thus invested in them, whereas an old hen would do better.

Must Feed Hens Mash to Fill Summer Egg Basket

"Hens will not lay eggs in the summer unless they are supplied with all the mash they can eat," says Duncan H. Reid of the poultry department, University of Wisconsin. During the spring months, the wet ground and grass are full of insects which provide plenty of animal feed for the hens, but when summer comes the insects disappear and this lack of animal food must be supplied through the mash.

A good ration recommended by Mr. Reid consists of 100 pounds of ground corn, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 100 pounds of wheat middlings, 100 pounds of meat scrap, and 5 pounds of salt. When milk is fed with the mash, the meat scrap should be cut in half.

"A hen should receive two ounces of grain a day and all the mash she can eat," says Mr. Reid. "The grain ration should consist of corn supplemented with 25 per cent wheat and oats. This is contrary to the general belief that corn furnishes too much heat. Tests have shown that the best results are obtained when this ration is used. The grain should be fed a little in the morning and heavy at night. The mash should be changed at least once a week. A lack of oyster shell during the summer months will cut egg production in half. Green feed, such as clover, when mixed with the mash, has a decided advantage even if the green feed is growing in the yard."

Poultry Notes

For some reason, not fully understood, thick, sour skimmed milk seems to have a greater value for hens than sweet milk.

The old idea of ducking and starving to prevent broodiness is not to be recommended where further egg production is desired.

Green feed at all seasons is a necessity for health and egg production. Large quantities of mangels and cabbages can be produced on a very small area.

Chickens, to be fed profitably, should first be kept growing during the growing season. To best accomplish this they should be given a varied diet of meat and vegetable protein.

Lime is the principal constituent of egg shells and hens should be provided with lime if they cannot gather it naturally. It can be given in the form of crushed lime stone, crushed egg shells, etc.

Many farmers begrudge a hen every bite that goes down her neck, and numerous early risers on the farm get up to feed the hens before daylight to keep the hens from eating with them.

Poultrymen are finding out that hens will lay as freely without the company of males as with them. This fact permits the lessening of expenses by doing away with the roosters. It is also a fact that eggs that are infertile will keep much the longest.

Husband (impatiently)—Is it possible, my dear, that you cannot keep those children quiet for a moment?

Wife (soothingly)—Now, John, don't be harsh with the poor little things; it is natural for them to be full of spirit, and they're doing the best they can.

Husband—Well, if I could have a moment's peace, I would sit down and write that check you've been bothering me for.

Wife (sternly)—Children, go upstairs at once! And if I hear another word from you tonight I'll punish you severely.

Two Billion for Tours

The enormous volume of American motor touring is best visualized in the recent statement of the American Automobile association, which reports that communities near the nation's favorite playgrounds this year will reap a harvest of tourist gold amounting to no less than $2,500,000,000.—World Traveler.

No, It Isn't Done

Somebody asked the other day if we couldn't get the same results from pushing a hoe as we could from playing golf. But whoever saw four men hoeing in a garden all stopping to laugh and slap each other on the back? —Exchange.

Exchange of Courtesies

The president of a small bank in the West, while in New York, received an invitation to visit Otto Kahn's Long Island estate and play golf over his private 18-hole course.

"That's mighty nice of Mr. Kahn," said the Westerner appreciatively. "Any time he's out my way I'll be glad to place my croquet ground at his disposal." —Boston Transcript.

"TEARING THROUGH"

Adapted from a story by Frederick Stowers, redolent of the color of Chinatown and the impenetrable mystery of the Oriental, "Tearing Through", the first of the big new series starring Richard Talmadge, comes to the opera house on Saturday, Aug. 22. This is by far the most elaborate Talmadge picture which F. B. O. has turned out, and it indicates that the producers think highly of their athletic stunt star which is not extraordinary, considering his obvious popularity. Arthur Rosson has directed the picture with a fine sense of drama and comedy, and he has given Talmadge plenty of opportunity to indulge his favorite sport of risking his neck in thrilling stunts. Kathryn McGuire makes a delightful heroine. The rest of the cast also includes some excellent thespians notably Arthur Rankin and Dave Morris.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT OPERA HOUSE

Last Saturday night the band of Troop 176, Detroit Boy Scouts, furnished music at the opera house. These boys played well, showing the results of good training and every number was well received by one of the largest audiences of the season.

Next Saturday night Manager Reamer has secured an excellent vocalist as an added attraction for the evening. Rollin McDonald, the popular Detroit Free Press WCX Red Apple Club artist will sing popular songs.

STATE NEWS
IN BRIEF

Marquette—Vance Hardy, escaped Marquette Branch Prison lifer, is back in a cell. In company with two members of the State Police, Hardy was returned here and immediately was placed in a detention cell after being outfitted with prison clothes.

Monroe—That Henry Ford intends to complete a double track spur connecting the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, three miles south of Maybree this year, was shown when 150 men arrived and are now quartered on a farm east of the village of Petersburg, 20 miles west of Monroe. Many of these will be engaged in erecting culverts, bridges, and laying rails.

Owasco—A delegation of Corunna avenue residents has notified the city commission that they would tear up the tracks of the Michigan Electric Railway company, on Corunna avenue, if something was not done to abate the nuisance created by dust from between the tracks. The street is paved, but not between the tracks. The commission could promise no relief.

Muskegon—The State Administrative Board has approved plans for a double highway project over Muskegon River, it became known here. Local civic bodies have been working on the plan for several months. The estimated cost is $249,527.65. The present highway, a portion of the West Michigan Pike, is too narrow to carry the increasing traffic. The new highways will be 40 feet in width.

Grand Rapids—An allowance of 2 or 3 per cent for collection of the gasoline tax is said to be desired by the Independent Oil Men's association to provide for shrinkage, and this proposal will be placed before Secretary of State Charles J. Deland. The oil men, it is stated, desire to establish definitely the plan of collecting taxes on receipts, that the checking of invoices by auditors may be facilitated.

Flint—A report charging that Glen Williams, sheriff of Genesee County, since Jan. 1, has been guilty of immoral and improper conduct in office by his associations with prisoners in his charge and by padding his expense accounts, has been signed by Circuit Judge James S. Parker, who for the last month has been sitting as a grand jury to hear charges against Williams. The report was sent to Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

Manistee—The Federal Government is investigating the practicability of establishing a national forest of 40,000 to 150,000 acres between the Big and Little Manistee Rivers in southeast Manistee and southwest Wexford counties, according to Charles J. Dovel, secretary of the Isaac Walton League here. An inspector recently visited this region with a view to acquiring the cut-over lands for reforestation. It is said.

Lansing—Notice of a hearing before the interstate commerce commission to untangle the rate mix-up on freight between Toledo and Detroit has been filed before the public utilities commission. The Hanna Furnace company, a Detroit concern operating on Zug Island, is the complainant. State freight traffic men believe the suit is an attempt to block rate decreases recently put into effect by Henry Ford on his Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad.

Negaunee—Following the cent strike of employees of the Charlotte mine, workmen at the Rolling Mill Mine, south of here, walked out asking for a return of the wage scale which was in effect when the mine was shut down late last year. At the resumption of operations on May 1, a 15 per cent reduction in wages was put into effect, but the property was worked six instead of five days, a schedule now in effect at the other mines in the district.

Mt. Clemens—A proposal to increase the local tax rate from $7.50 a thousand to a sum adequate to discontinue the necessity for small bond issues to take care of public improvements, is being considered by the local business men's association, which plans to have the project submitted to the voters at a special election. A resolution was adopted by the association urging the Grand Trunk railroad to put on a sleeping car service between Mt. Clemens and New York and Chicago.

Port Huron—Officials of the Detroit United Railway, which owns the City Electric Railway Co., has requested permission of the city commission to increase street car fares here to meet the existing deficit. The railway officials said that they would improve the service and repair streets between the rails if granted a temporary fare increase of seven cents for straight fares, four tickets for 25 cents and 17 tickets for $1, and 10-cent straight fares on buses. The city commission took the request under advisement.

Manistee—Mrs. Mary Labrasseur, of this city, was picking berries on the plain north of the city when she became tired and looked about for a stump on which to sit and rest. A short distance away she saw what appeared to be a good sized stump. Looking at it more closely she found that she had almost sat down on a live bear, just awakening from its slumber. With a shriek she leaped from her post. The bear raised itself, blinked its eyes, stretched out its paws, and then lumbered rapidly away in the opposite direction.

Caro—William Ward, 65 years old, a pioneer of Tuscola county, is dead at his farm home near Millington from injuries suffered when he was gored by a bull which he was leading. He leaves his widow and five children.

Port Huron—Many farmers in the Thumb district, warned by recent hail storms, which have done thousands of dollars of damage in a limited area, are hastening to take out hail insurance on their crops, especially beans.

Allegan—The Allegan Postoffice was robbed and approximately $800 was taken from one of the safes. Entrance was effected through a basement window and two other doors were jammed before the main floor was reached.

Albion—The Calhoun County Highway Commission at its regular weekly meeting decided to purchase gas oil in the wholesale market. It is estimated that a saving of 3 1/2 cents a gallon will be the result, with a saving of about $210 a month.

Grand Rapids—At a recent election the village of East Grand Rapids annexed 485 acres of Paris Township lying south of the present village limits. Although the township voted 38 to 18 against the annexation, the favorable majority in the village overcame the township vote.

Marcellus—The life of James Stevens, a farmer of Viola township, Cass county, was saved by his dog, which gave battle to a bull that had attacked Stevens, hurled him to the ground and was goring him. Stevens was injured severely. Neighbors, who owned the bull, shot the animal.

Grand Rapids—County jail prisoners will be employed by City Manager Fred H. Locke to remove shrubs and weeds growing luxuriously in the bed of Grand River, north of the Bridge street bridge. The low water period a month ago permitted the weeds to virtually cover the river bed.

Mt. Pleasant—A log cabin will soon be placed on the campus of the Central Michigan Normal college as a memorial to the early settlers of central Michigan. Funds for the project have been raised by student entertainments and faculty. A cabin near Mt. Pleasant will be torn down and rebuilt on the campus in a cluster of trees.

Grayling—The state of Michigan is to receive a gift valued at more than $500,000 in the form of World War trophies to be distributed to the various legion posts military and patriotic organizations throughout the state. Lieutenant Colonel Leroy Pearson, United States property officer and quartermaster general for the state, announced here.

Ann Arbor—The Mack Trucks, Inc., of New York City, has established a fellowship in highway transport to be devoted to investigations during 1925-1926 under the direction of the division of highway engineering and highway transport at the University of Michigan, covering an approved subject relative to highway transport.

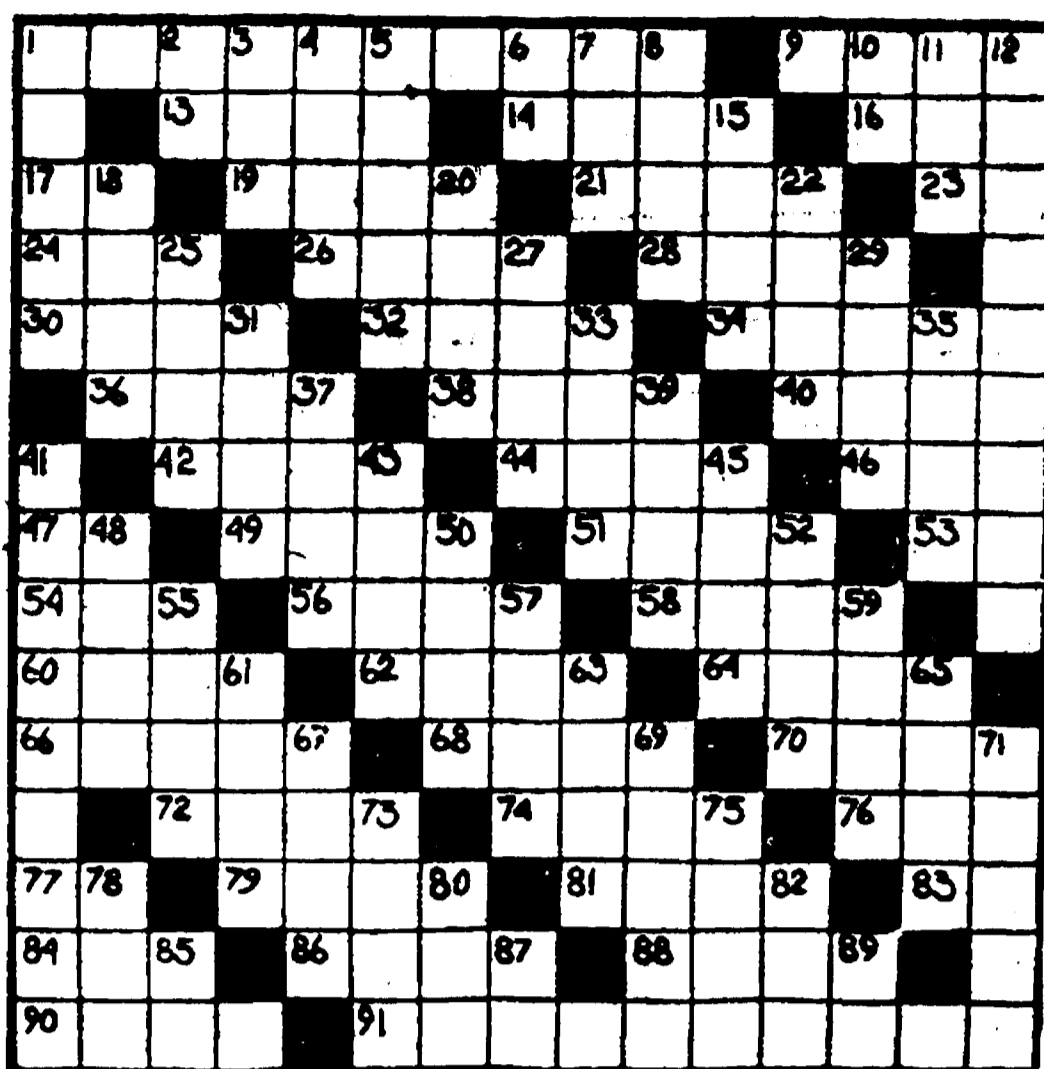

Jackson—The raid made by State Police on the home of Henry Hayden, "gentleman farmer," seven miles northeast of Jackson, has created a sensation in Jackson County. Hayden is a former mayor of Jackson, a former police commissioner and at one time a deputy United States marshal. He is one of the wealthiest men in central Michigan and 20 years ago had one of the finest racing stables of trotters and pacers in the country.

Battle Creek—While Mrs. Minnie Jones, 57 years old, watched the casket of her husband being lowered into a grave in the Marengo Township cemetery, Sheriff George Colby stepped forward and informed her that she was under arrest for the murder of the man she was mourning. William Jones, former wealthy Marengo farmer, died under suspicious circumstances. An analysis of his stomach showed traces of arsenic.

Detroit—Leo Sauerman, recently pardoned by Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck after serving two years of a life sentence for the murder of Alex Domrowski in a highjacking raid, is in the toils again. He is accused with "Whitely" Hayes of robbing the near beer saloon of "Buck" Porter at 2013 West Fort street. At police headquarters Sauerman gave the name of Albert Gordon, but he afterwards was recognized by a detective. He abused the officer for revealing his identity.

Ann Arbor—Gains in liberal arts, pharmacy, education and the graduate school of the summer session of the University of Michigan offset losses in the engineering, medical and law schools to allow the present school to record the highest attendance of any summer session, a total of 3,205. Liberal arts had a gain of 83 and the graduate school 72 to offset losses of 71 and 73 in the engineering and medical schools. The previous high record, set at year ago, was 3,147.

Muskegon—William R. Rumble, member of the Chicago Yacht club, his wife, three sons and two daughters were rescued here when their 38-foot yawl, Seacall, went ashore in heavy seas on Lake Michigan beach, 7 miles south of here. Hugo Kanitz, Jr., star Muskegon High school football player for the last three years, aided the Coast Guards by swimming from the stranded ship and retrieving a line when the Coast Guards, due to the heavy seas, were unable to get it aboard.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black square below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

MADE HIS HOME IN OLD BOILER

Diogenes made his home in a tub, but Capt. John McKenzie of San Francisco has almost equaled the cynical philosopher's record by living 17 years in a big rusty boiler, says the Portland Oregonian.

When the captain's house was destroyed in the great earthquake at San Francisco in 1906 he crawled one night into a big boiler and found it so cozy that he decided to take up his abode in it. He painted the interior white and fitted it up like a ship's cabin.

At least he was safe from earthquakes. His iron house might roll about a bit, but it would not tumble about his ears. Yet even a boiler may meet with accidents, and one day the captain was found in the street with his clothes ablaze. His fittings had caught fire, and the boiler had become too hot for him.

Still, he had only to wait till the boiler was cool and then go home again. The fire will at least save him the trouble of house cleaning. For him the housing problem has no terror.

CHINESE BELIEFS
HARD TO OVERCOME

One of the most important problems facing the Christian church in China is that of finding a bridge between Christian beliefs and Chinese customs which run counter to one another. This question received much discussion at the conference of the

When Something Slipped

They were sitting alone in the moonlight.

"Maud," whispered Ernest, "you know I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Alas, Ernest, I fear it cannot be."
"Ah," gasped Ernest, placing his hand over his breast, "broken at last!"

National Christian Council of China in Shanghai and as a result a committee has been formed to discuss several points of urgency and importance to Christianity in that country. Principal among these is to find a way to conserve the best and most characteristic elements in Chinese civilization in order to find a way by which Chinese Christians may commemorate and show respect to their ancestors. The present system of ancestor worship does not fit in with Christian beliefs and little headway can be made in Christian work while the conflict exists. Another point is the influence of Confucianism. The committee was instructed to study the Christian conceptions of God and the Confucian conceptions of heaven in order to find the points of difference and agreement.

Absolutely Safe

Two timid old ladies were boarding a huge ocean liner. "I do hope," said one, "this is a safe boat." The other old lady smiled reassuringly. "Don't worry about that," she replied. "I selected this boat after I had listened to all the boats coming into the harbor, and I can personally assure you this ship has the loudest whistle of all!"

Burned Officer's Heart

Capt. James Dawson, a young officer in the army of the Young Pretender, was hanged, drawn and quartered and his heart burned July 30, 1746, in London, for treason. His betrothed died after witnessing this barbarity.

Flies Roast Earwigs

Tachnid flies, which were imported from France to Oregon, are believed to be fulfilling the object of their coming, which is to rid the state of the earwig, the pest that was doing great damage to roses, shrubbery and vegetables.

ARE GERMS REAL?

A PROMINENT minister, a highly educated man, delivered an address recently in which he referred to present-day knowledge of disease as the "germ theory." Evidently the eminent gentleman regards our knowledge of disease and infection as a theory.

I attended a meeting of big food manufacturers a few weeks ago and heard a discussion participated in by hard-headed business men, managers of great corporations, but I didn't hear any of them refer to present-day methods of canning and preserving meats and vegetables and fruits as the "germ theory of canning." To them it was not a theory but a proven fact, on the truth of which they had invested hundreds of millions of dollars in factories and equipment. No one expresses any doubt as to our ability today to put up, in tin or glass cans, millions of tons of food, to protect it from "spoiling," to keep it in warehouses or stores for years if necessary and to find it, when the cans are opened, sound, sweet and healthful food.

Everyone admits that, if you doubt it you have only to step inside any grocery store, buy a can of any kind of food and open it.

Yet the whole business of preserving foods is based on exactly the same "theory" as the doctor's knowledge of disease and the surgeon's ability to treat any wound in the human body so that it will heal without infection.

Our grandmothers knew only two ways of preserving food, drying and pickling. These old ladies knew that if they put meat or corn or tomatoes in jars and put them away they would "spoil." Doctors knew that if they opened a patient's abdomen, a skull or knee joint the patient would "spoil"; that is, infection would set in that would poison the patient and endanger his life more than the original disease.

About 1850 Louis Pasteur proved by a long series of experiments that putrefaction in food and infection in the body were both caused by little plant-like bodies floating in and carried by the air; that if fruit or meat was heated enough to kill all these little plants and the food was then sealed up in air-tight cans, the food would keep indefinitely; and that if the patient's skin, the surgeon's hands and instruments and everything that came in contact with the wound were made absolutely clean, the patient would "keep" and no infection would result. The germs that spoil the body are the same as those that spoil the housewife's fruit. This isn't theory, it's fact.

OUR CHAMPION BABY
KILLER

ONE hundred and fifty years ago, Erasmus Darwin, the grandfather of Charles Darwin, himself a noted scientific man, said: "No one could do a greater service to humanity than by showing the human race how to prevent scarlet fever."

In the century and a half since Darwin, no progress has been made in controlling this disease until the last two years. Scarlet fever has gone on destroying human life and principally baby life, without any human power being able to stop it or even reduce it.

In an article on scarlet fever and public health published in a recent issue of the Southern Medical Journal Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon general of the United States public health service, estimates that there were, in the three years from 1920 to 1923, 350,000 cases of scarlet fever in the registration area. The registration area includes 82 per cent of the population. So that the total number of the cases of scarlet fever in the entire United States for these three years would be about 450,000, or 150,000 children every year who suffer from this disease. Nine out of every ten cases are among children under ten. Most of the deaths are among children under six.

Awful as these figures are, they do not shock us as much as a moving picture theater panic or a schoolhouse fire, in which a handful of children are killed or injured. Scarlet fever is such an old enemy that we have become accustomed to its ravages and resigned to the destruction of child life which it causes every year.

But today, for the first time in human history, there is real hope. Old Erasmus Darwin's wish is about to be realized. Scarlet fever has distinctly joined the group of preventable diseases.

The work of the Dicks of Chicago makes it possible not only to cure this disease but to prevent it. The serum which they have made is like diphtheria antitoxin. One drop injected into the skin shows whether the child is susceptible or immune. Nearly 80 per cent of children are protected by natural immunity. No need to worry about them. The remaining 20 per cent can be made immune by a syringe-full of serum.

Any county or any town, any school or any family can absolutely protect its children against this baby killer if it wants to. The remedy is there. It only needs intelligence enough to use it to wipe out this age-old scourge of child life.

Kipling Is England's
Most Popular Author

Rudyard Kipling has been adjudged England's most popular author, in a competition held recently to determine her favorite authors. And the prizes were not books, but automobiles—eight of them. The prize winners were those entrants who placed the authors in the order established by their numerical appearance in the lists of all competitors. The old favorites who have held their own since the beginning of the century were well represented. The order of favorites as decided by the contest was: Rudyard Kipling, Thomas Hardy, Hall Caine, Conan Doyle, H. G. Wells, Rider Haggard, Arnold Bennett, Ethel M. Dell, Joseph Conrad, W. J. Locke, G. K. Chesterton, Ian Hay.

Origin of Wheat
The wheat plant nowhere is found growing in a wild condition. Investigators have been obliged to fall back on philological data, such as the names of wheat in the oldest known languages, and the writings of ancient historians. These point to Mesopotamia as the original home of wheat. From there its cultivation spread from China on the east to the Canaries on the west. In the western hemisphere wheat was not known until the Sixteenth century. A negro slave belonging to Cortes is said to have brought the first seed to North America and the first grown in South America was introduced by a Flemish monk. —Kansas City Star.

The Pivot.

There should be another name for the pivot. At any rate, there should be a better understanding of just what the pivot is. Here's a method by which you can get a thorough understanding of the whole movement.

No matter where you are when you read this description, try it at once. Stand a few inches from a wall or open doorway and lean forward until the top of the forehead touches the wall or door-jamb. You are fairly balanced on both feet. Keep your forehead pressed against the support and move the hips to the right until you feel distinctly that the weight is on the right leg. As a matter of fact, you feel that you are sitting up on top of the right leg. There is not a particle of rotary motion. If you are leaning against a wall, the motion of the hips is exactly parallel with the wall. If there has been any rotary or twisting motion of the hips, try it again until you are certain the motion is wholly sidewise.

When you are certain you have gone through this movement properly move the hips as far to the left as they will go, being sure that the forehead stays where it was. At the end of the movement to the left, you will have the same feeling of sitting on top of your left leg as you had at the end of the movement to the right. Now just go over the whole movement again with the arms hanging loosely and note that about the only body movement is a dip of the left shoulder when the hips go to the right and a corresponding dip of the right shoulder when the hips go to the left.

This is where what should be called the pivot begins. Go through the same motion, making the regular backward swing to the top with the arms and continuing through to the finish, with the right shoulder as far down and through as you can get it without moving your head. All that movement above the hips is a real pivot. Finally, take your regular stance, keeping your forehead against the support. Probably your left foot is toed out. Toe straight for the line with the left foot. Then go through the whole movement, slowly toward the right and as fast as you can against the stiffened left leg, letting your head turn around, not lift, at the finish. All that is the perfect pivot.

The "Press Forward."

The "press forward" look has been used by nearly every expert golfer, but Chick Evans first named it and explained its use.

In his early years Chick was a good type of the golfer who slashed out long hits and suffered the usual penalty of inaccuracy. He finally decided that any good golfer could get a long enough tee shot if he concentrated on accuracy and consequently drove a shorter ball. After many months of experiment he decided that the way to get an accurate ball was to force his club to be at exact right angles with the line of flight to the hole for at least six inches back of the ball and six inches through and past it. It was in the second year of these experiments that he discovered the use by experts of what Chick calls a vibratory movement caused by the forward and backward movement of the wrists just before the back swing. On taking his stance, with the club soled behind the ball, he pressed his wrists back and forth parallel with the line of flight and discovered that, when they were bent backward, they were several inches back of the original position. He simply straightened his wrists, making his hands point toward the line instead of to the left, and the club head responded by traveling straight back from the ball on the line of flight. With the club head thus drawn back, Chick keeps the club almost on the ground until it is forced upward by the ascending arms. As nearly as humanly possible, the face of the club remains at right angles to the line throughout the entire swing. This forces a short back swing. Chick's normal point of turning for the down stroke being when the club is only a trifle past the perpendicular. More nearly than with any other star player, the club comes back on the line it took going up and is back exactly at right angles to the line a foot or more before the ball is reached. Chick thinks the swing is an easy one but it will be easier for the "open face" golfer—Chick's club face is closed—to make the forward press as described but to depend on the lateral hip movement to bring his hands back.

California Celebrates Her Statehood

September 9 Is 75th Anniversary of Her Admission to Union

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

ALIFORNIA this year is celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of her admission to the Union. Admission day is September 9, but with characteristic exuberance many cities are throwing in fiestas and pageants of their own for good measure.

Merely a local affair? Hardly. California may rightly assume that the United States—and pretty much all the rest of the world—is directly or indirectly interested in her celebration. For all the peoples of the civilized world contributed to the gold rush of 1849-50 that made the Golden state almost overnight.

The Forty-niners, you see, rushed California into the Union away ahead of her geographical turn.

This upsetting of the geographical sequence by the admission of California as the twenty-eighth state introduced new factors which hastened the development of the Indian country. Out of the demand for communication between the Mississippi and the Pacific came the Overland Mail of the Fifties, the Pony express of 1860, the St. Louis-San Francisco telegraph line of 1861 and the driving of the gold and silver railroad spikes in 1869 at Ogden—each a story in itself.

Moreover the "ifs" of history have a fascination all their own and California furnishes several which will long interest historians.

If the Monroe Doctrine of 1823 had not notified the Russians that further extension of their Pacific coast activities would be regarded as the "manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States"—

If the raising of the "California Republic" flag by Americans June 14, 1848, had not been followed three weeks later at Monterey by the annexation of California to the United States—

If Admiral Seymour's British fleet had arrived at Monterey before Commodore Sloat of the American navy had taken possession, instead of just after—

If gold had been discovered in California during the Mexican war, instead of just after the region had become ours by conquest and treaty—

Then, too, the rise and fall of the California missions is of interest alike to historical student, economist and religionist.

Jesuits began the establishment of the missions of Lower California. With their expulsion in 1767, the Dominicans were given the work, while the Franciscans were called upon to begin on upper California. Father Junipero Serra, padre presidente, had founded nine missions along the Camino Real from San Diego to San Francisco when he died in 1784. They prospered.

New Afghan Coinage

The government of Afghanistan has introduced a new system of coinage which has for its unit the amania, a silver coin worth approximately the same as the Kabul rupee (about 16 cents). The name of the new coin is derived from Amanullah, the name of the present amir of Afghanistan. In addition to the amania there will be coined half-amanias pieces and nickel coins of smaller denominations. According to press reports the required silver has been purchased in India through a German firm and the nickel through an Italian firm. The manufacturing stamps have been imported from Europe.

When Mexico secularized the missions of California in 1824 there were 21, with a force of 80,000 Indian neophytes. The padres had about 810,000 cattle, sheep, horses and mules. Their annual grain crop was 245,000 bushels; their annual income from sales from herds was $550,000. The result of secularization was this: "A few years sufficed to strip the establishments of everything of value and leave the Indians, who were in contemplation of law the beneficiaries of secularization, a shivering crowd of naked and, so to speak, homeless wanderers."

Again: California has such a bag of tricks for visitors from ordinary spots. It has, for example, assorted climates at all seasons for all comers. It's just as easy on a summer day to stand on a snowbank on the slopes of Mount Whitney (14,502) and catch steelhead trout in an ice-cold lake as it is to cook eggs in the sun in Death valley (-276). And at San Diego not even a native son can tell by the thermometer whether it's Christmas or the Fourth of July. Then there is Mount Lassen, the only active volcano, and the big trees and redwoods, the oldest and biggest living things on earth, and so on.

California's very name suggests the romance of her early days—and her historical beginnings are very old. Cortez, conqueror of Mexico, gave the name to Baja (Lower) California when he made his settlement at La Paz in 1534-5. California is the name of a fictional island, inhabited by Amazons under Queen Calafia and rich in gold, diamonds and pearls. In an old Spanish romance, "Las Sergas de Esplandián," by Garcia Ordóñez de Montalvo (1510).

In Alta (Upper) California, Cabrillo national monument marks the spot first sighted by Juan Rodríguez Cabrillo in June of 1542. He was a Portuguese navigator flying the golden castles of Castile and the red lions of Leon. So the flag of Spain was the first to float over the coast.

In June of 1579 a strange ship flying the red cross of St. George swooped down on the coast of Alta California and captured Spaniards, galleons and treasure galore. It was the Golden Hind on her way round the world under that great sea captain, Sir Francis Drake—part gentleman adventurer and part pirate. Drake landed north of San Francisco, took possession in the name of England and named the region New Albion.

The Russians, blundering down through Behring strait in 1728, prosecuted the fur trade vigorously, established their fortified posts as far south as San Francisco bay and had the Spanish Californians terrorized. The Monroe Doctrine put an end to their dreams of an empire on the American Pacific, including Hawaii, and incidentally gave us Alaska by purchase in 1867.

The red and yellow of Spain came down in 1821, when Mexico won her independence. Thereafter the Mexican flag floated in nominal sovereignty over Alta California for 25 years.

June 14, 1846, a company of 33 Americans took possession of Sonoma made prisoners of Gen. Mariano G. Vallejo and his small garrison, hauled down the Mexican flag, proclaimed the Republic of California and ran up a unique flag especially made for the occasion from five yards of unbleached cotton cloth and a can of red paint.

The "Bear flag" waved proudly over the Republic of California for just 24 days. The Mexican war had been on since May 13, though nobody in California knew it. When the news reached Commodore John D. Sloat, in command of American naval forces in the Pacific, he sailed into Monterey, took possession of the port and on July 7 raised the Stars and Stripes and proclaimed the annexation of California to the United States. Admiral Seymour arrived with a British fleet a few days later—just too late.

The "California war," set going by the hoisting of the "Bear flag," came to an end with the signing of the "Cahuenga capitulation" of January 13, 1847. The next year saw the end of the Mexican war.

A momentous day for California was February 2, 1848. On that day was signed the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo, which made California safely ours by conquest and purchase. And on that day James W. Marshall picked up a nugget of gold in the raceway of the new sawmill at Colima in the Sacramento valley, just built by Capt. John A. Sutter, of Sutter's Fort and New Helvetia fame.

At the close of the Mexican regime there was the miserable presidio and pueblo of Yerba Buena at the entrance to San Francisco bay, with 200 inhabitants. By the winter of 1849-50 this miserable village had become the city of San Francisco, with 50,000 people in canvas tents, tin houses and wooden cabins, scattered all the way from the beach to Telegraph hill—and as many more on the way via the Horn, the isthmus and the overland trail.

So that is what the discovery of gold at Sutter's mill did for California. And why California's gold, lying almost in plain sight, should have escaped the Spaniard—the most indefatigable gold-hunter the world ever saw—is a mystery—unless one believes in the guiding hand of Divine Providence in the progress of the one nation of earth dedicated to liberty, equality of rights and the pursuit of happiness.

THINGS FOR THE TABLE

A delicious pie which may be made with other fruit but is especially good with currants is as follows: Bake the pastry shell and fill with the following mixture—crush one cupful of currants, add one cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs slightly beaten and mixed with half a cupful of cold water and two tablespoonfuls of flour; cook until smooth, add a tablespoonful of butter and cool slightly before pouring into the baked shell. Cover with a meringue using the two egg whites and three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a moderate oven and chill before serving.

Canned String Beans.—Shred the beans and put to cook using a tablespoonful of butter for each pint of sliced beans, cook until well heated through, browning and stirring carefully while cooking. Add a little water and simmer for an hour, then add milk and a tablespoonful of flour to thicken and cook until the flour is well blended. Serve, seasoning with salt and pepper.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Cucumbers.—Prepare the tomatoes by scooping out the centers; save the tomato for other sauces or dishes. Dice fine a cucumber or two and mix with a finely minced onion, add a good salad dressing and fill the tomato cups. Serve on lettuce. A potato salad is not half as appetizing if it lacks the flavor and crispness of a diced cucumber.

Celery and Bacon Dish.—Cook one cupful of celery cut into dice and stir it into a cupful of rich white sauce, made by cooking together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and adding a cupful of rich milk. Season with salt and cayenne and pour the celery and sauce over buttered toast. On each slice place a slice of cooked bacon. Serve at once.

Stuffed Eggs.—For a supper dish on a hot night or for a luncheon dish, eggs are especially good. Cook in the shell and when cold remove the shells, cut into halves, remove the yolks, mash and season them with salt, cayenne, butter or cream, re-fill the halves and arrange on a deep platter. Set in the oven to heat while a white sauce is prepared, using one cupful of rich milk, two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together before the milk is added. Pour while hot over the eggs, sprinkle with finely minced green pepper or chives and serve hot.

Food We Like.

As chicken is the universal company dish, the following will be one which will serve several:

Chicken a la King.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and in it cook one-fourth of a pound of mushrooms, peeled and cut into small pieces, one-half of a green pepper cut into shreds; stir and cook until the moisture is somewhat evaporated. In another saucepan melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and cook in it three tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika; add one cupful of thin cream and one cupful of hot chicken broth and stir until boiling; cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, beat two egg yolks, one at a time into the sauce, stir until the eggs are cooked, add the mushrooms, pepper, the hot breast of a chicken cut into inch square pieces, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, and a few drops of onion juice. Add the butter stirred in at the last. Serve in timbale cases or on well browned toast.

Swiss Eggs.—Break an egg for each serving into a small brown baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, a dash of red pepper, a thin layer of chopped ham and over all some buttered crumbs. Set into the oven in a pan of hot water and bake until the eggs are set.

Baked Corn With Clams.—Mix one can of minced clams with one cupful of canned corn, one cupful of milk, one egg and one teaspoonful of salt, a grating of onion, a dash of cayenne. Place in a baking dish and dot with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Bake one-half hour. Fresh corn may be used.

Timbale Cases.—Beat two eggs slightly, add one cupful of milk alternately with one cupful of flour to which one-fourth teaspoonful of salt has been added. Beat until the mixture is smooth throughout. Have ready a bottle of hot fat, set the timbale iron into the fat and when hot dip the iron into a half cupful of the batter, not allowing it to cover over the top of the iron. Return to the hot fat and cook for half a minute. Tilt the iron to remove from the fat and drain the cases on paper. Keep them in a dripping pan in a hot oven until ready to serve.

Jellies, marmalades and preserves. all make good filling for sweet sandwiches. Chopped raisins and apple or apple and figs are good combinations.

Hen Has Rooster Plumes

Dr. Harry Beal Torrey, lecturing at the summer classes of the University of California, told the students that he had been able to grow rooster feathers on a hen and clothe a rooster in feminine garb. The change was brought about by administering capsules containing thyroxin, he explained. Doctor Torrey has devoted some years to the study of the thyroid and pituitary glands and by controlling the effects of the glands he has been able to change the pigment of the feathers, and by injecting hormones into the blood could make a chicken's white feathers barred with black.

A feature of the thirty-seventh annual commencement of Salem college, West Virginia, was the graduation of John Franklin Browne, seventy-five years old, who received a bachelor of arts degree, and who is believed to be the oldest student in the United States to receive a college degree. After taking a post-graduate course this summer Mr. Browne plans to join the faculty of his alma mater.

LETTER FROM YELLOWSTONE PARK

This is July 29th. Tuesday the 28th we arrived at Yellowstone Park and are now 30 miles in from the entrance to the Park. Well, it likes to rain here and pours whenever it makes up its mind. The 28th we had 3 storms in one day—rain and hail, sunshine, thunder and lightning. Nothing like we have at home—this is quick and snappy and the ground dries up quickly, so we don't have to stay in camp all day and play cards. When we entered the park it was raining but when we got to the first camping ground 30 miles inside the park it was sunshine. By the time we got nicely settled it poured rain and hail—talk about thunder and lightning, it sure knows how, then it clears up nicely. The days are warm, the nights cold, and everybody builds big camp fires in front of their tents. Last night we had a concert, four men sang old-time songs—some of Wendell Hall's "Ain't Going to Rain N' More". One of the men had a mouth organ. We were in bed but it was sounded fine. When we drove in we could still see snow. The roadside and mountain sides are covered with all kinds of wild flowers. Bears—they mingle with and among the people. Some are tame and some are wild. Annie and myself went on a hike to look for elk's horns and when about a mile and a half from our tent on the main highway we met 3 bears, 2 black and one big brown one. I made up my mind not to be frightened but was the first to run. The bears took after us and when I stopped running they turned into the camp ground. They are a regular nuisance around the park, they come and gather all the garbage and steal all the meat and bacon out of the tents. We have to keep everything under cover. There are holes dug for people to throw their garbage into and the bears go from one to the other and pick out what they want. You ought to see the black bear eat a loaf of raisin bread. There are also some grizzlies here. They come down to eat too, but they are on parole—they have guards standing over them with guns. They say if you don't bother them they won't bother you. One man had seven stitches taken in his hand—he was feeding a bear. The people and tourists are warned not to feed the bears.

The bunch went fishing and brought back five speckled trout about a foot long and now they are trying to catch some more. Mabelle caught all five, that means fish for supper. In the morning here it is about 28 above zero. Last week some tourists told us their things froze. If I could stay here all of August I would not have hay fever because it freezes up out here. The snows on the mountains are wonderful. We now have mountains on three sides and a big lake on the south side, with very good fishing. We found ripe strawberries and some in blossom on the mountains in Wyoming. We saw Buffalo Bill's monument when passing through Cody, Wyoming. While in camp at Douglas, one Michigan car hailed our Michigan car. I met a party of 4 found ladies from Lansing and had a good visit from home folks. One of the girls has a cottage at Patterson Lake. That's pretty close to home, meeting people nearly 2,000 miles away from home. We left Detroit Thursday July 16 at 8 o'clock in the morning in the rain and the trip was a wonderful one all the way, so far. All through Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska are corn and grain fields, with houses as far apart as you can see. They are threshing the grain out in the fields, from 20 to 30 stacks in a field with no houses in sight. And in Wyoming, oh, so much waste land and then the great oil fields and stretches of farming lands, and then we went along the Windy River Canyon road 23 miles through the mountains, through 8 tunnels cut through solid rock, with the river below at five thousand feet, the mountains a beautiful block of color from light pink to dark red, then to a town called Thermopolis, meaning hot spot. This is the place where the Big Horn Hot springs are located, with a flow of 18,600,000 gallons of hot water every 24 hours. We stopped here over Sunday and took some of the sulphur baths and took some of the water, which is good for every ailment. The Big Horn Hot Springs belong to the Indians and they donated them to the state on condition that the state maintain free baths for the people who come there. Then there are mud baths and plunges you are not allowed to use soap of any kind in the baths, and you don't need it, your skin is soft as velvet when you come out of the baths. We arrived at this camp Monday noon and this is Thursday noon, still here. Bob and Mabel just came in with 15 more fish, all large ones. Nearly all of us had a snapshot taken and had other people from Los Angeles get a snapshot of our fish. The people at all camps are very friendly and good to us—we are all well and happy.

Mrs. John Hornshaw.

Would Divide Cost

The young vacationist who had become engaged to the pretty girl received information that led him to question her.

"Is it true that since you've come here you've been engaged to Bill Arthur, George and Harry as well as me?"

The girl assumed an air of great disdain and haughtiness.

"What is that to you?" she demanded.

"Just this," he replied, gently. "If it's so, and you have no objection, we fellows will chip in together to buy an engagement ring."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
