SALE OF FUR COATS

From the Famous W. H. Millar Fur House
FRIDAY and SATURDAY

No wonder women adore fur coats—they are so luxuriously warm and beautifully becoming! Small wonder that women eagerly await the opportunity to select a fur coat! And this too may interest you—because a fur coat gives more wear for each dollar invested, it is really a thrift purchase. Our special showing of W. H. Miller Furs make it an opportune time to buy a fur coat!

ENGINE RESPONDS PROMPTLY

Sunday, about noon, the fire alarm siren signalled a fire. In a few moments the fire engine, driven by Fire Chief Axel Carpenter was on the job at Postmaster Miller's home on Main street. Quick work by Bert Van Blaircum and others had subdued the flames however, and there was not much work for the firemen to do.

BOY DANGEROUSLY HURT

Clyde, 10 year old son of Mrs. Mack Martin was struck by an automobile while he was riding on the handle bars of a bicycle in Chelsea last Saturday. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital at Ann Arbor where his injuries were found to be critical. He is unconscious most of the time.

His aunt, Mrs. Villa Richards, of Pinckney, went to his bedside Tuesday.

SCHOOL NOTES

School closes Wednesday for a Thanksgiving recess. It will open the following Monday at 9 o'clock rather than 8:30. This change is made in order to allow students who come in from the country more time during the winter months. The noon period will be one hour in length.

A successful football season closes this week. Next year's captain is to be elected next week.

The graduating class of 1924 has given to the school some playground apparatus. This has been installed and will be ready for use after Thanksgiving.

The class of 1925 has given the school a beautiful set of encyclopedias. This set is much appreciated by the students.

Last Friday evening the Freshman class had a very enjoyable party at the home of Gertrude Tupper.

The Senior class has made arrangements to hold a social at the school in the near future.

LADIES' AID FAIR

The Ladies of the Aid Society will hold their Annual Fair December 30th, 1925 at their rooms. We ask all the ladies of the church and community to help us at this time by contributing articles of fancy work, aprons, vegetables, and baked goods, or small articles for the fish pond, which is especially for the children. A twelve o'clock dinner will be served to the public.

Sale of goods will commence at 11 o'clock. Everyone welcome.

NOTICE

The annual meeting and election of officers of Livingstone Lodge No. 10 F. & A. M. will occur on Tuesday evening December 1. Oyster supper. Ross T. Read, Secretary.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank those who came to our assistance so promptly at the alarm of fire when our home was in flames. The prompt help saved our home.

W. C. Miller and Family.

THE GIFT CORNER

The Gift Corner opens December 1st with a variety of hand decorated cards and holiday gifts. Next door east of Congregational church. Miss Bessie Swarthout.

O. E. S. DANCE

The Pinckney Chapter O. E. S. will give a dance at the Masonic Hall, Friday evening, November 27th.

A six piece orchestra from Dexter will furnish music suitable for dances for young and old folks.

Refreshments will be served. Everyone welcome. O. E. S. ladies please bring cakes.

A CORRECTION

In the obituary notice of Llewellyn Chalker in the last issue of the Dispatch, it read that he died at the home of his sister. It should have read that he died at his own home where he and his wife have lived for nearly thirty years. His brother's name is Zeck, not Fern, as the types had it.

This woman's experience is typical of thousands. Ask any physician.

"And to think I was poisoning my own Baby!"

"I couldn't see why he didn't gain. I never dreamed that my constipation was responsible until the doctor told me."

"He explained that faulty or slow elimination of waste matter allowed poisons to form and be absorbed by the blood—and this meant tainted milk for baby."

"He prescribed the Nujol treatment and it made a world of difference to both of us. Now that I know how dangerous constipation is and how easily it can be prevented, I am never going to allow myself to get into that bad condition again."

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When precious new lives are at stake they seek the remedy that medical authors ites approve because it is so safe, gentle and natural in its action. Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol helps in Nature's own way Nujol simply makes up for a deficiency—temporary or chronic—in the supply of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular elimination, without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. To insure internal cleanliness, it should be taken regularly in accordance with the directions on each bottle. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol today and begin to enjoy the perfect health that is possible only when elimination is normal and regular.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Not Too Hard-Headed to Dye His Whiskers

A lecturer on art recently spoke before a group of men in an industrial city, according to Fred C. Kelly, urging upon them the duty of trying to put more beauty into their surroundings. At the close of the talk, a leading citizen came up to have a few words with the lecturer.

"I enjoyed your talk," he said, "though I didn't agree with you. The fact is that we have no time here for beauty. The prosperity of this town is due to hard-headed, practical men. We are doing things and can't bother to think about being beautiful."

"Yes," retorted the lecturer, smiling, "you yourself are seeking beauty, according to your lights. You may not have found it, but I know you are aiming at what you think makes for greater attractiveness."

"No, you're wrong," insisted the hard-headed, practical man. "I'm not interested in beauty."

"Then," said the lecturer, "if you don't mind my being so personal, will you please tell me why you have dyed your whiskers?"

Darkly Certainly Had the "Goods" on Pastor

Dr. John Roach Stratton, the famous fundamentalist, said in New York the other day:

"Clarence Darrow's shallow criticism of religion impresses nobody. Darrow reminds me of old Cassius Page."

"Cash," said a Southern planter, "did you attend divine services this morning, as I charged you?"

"Ah sunny did," said Cassius, "and

Of all the plagues the greatest is untold, the book-learned wife in Greek and Latin bold.—Shakespeare.

Spots on the Sun

If a spot of the sun is as large as 27,000 miles in diameter it can be seen without a telescope as a very minute black speck. Occasionally spots are even larger than this, and 50,000 miles is a size not unknown. The largest sun spot on record was observed in 1878; it was nearly 150,000 miles in breadth and covered about 1.25 of the whole surface of the sun.

Sickroom Hint

Quite a pleasant way to purify the air of a sickroom is to pour a few drops of oil of lavender into a glass of hot water.

Worth Finally Recognized

Miller's famous painting, "The Angelus" representing two peasants saying the Angelus in the evening twilight, was painted in 1850. Miller sold it in 1860 for $100. After passing through various hands it was purchased in 1890 for $150,000.

Strength and Energy this easy way

Simply drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate. Or if you prefer, eat the cake with a cracker or a piece of butter.

Easy, simple, palatable. Yet you get the full tonic value of the marvelous yeast plant.

If you suffer from constipation, anaemia, boils, pimples, indigestion—don't fail to eat Yeast Foam regularly. Its beneficial effects will amaze you!

The government of Norway has obtained from Italy the dirigible Norge for a projected flight over the North pole next spring. Above are the airship and its commander, Captain Nobile of Italy.

CONDENSED IN A FEW LINES

The world's richest tin area lies in east Sumatra, in the East Indies. Canada produced about $20,000,000 worth of honey last year.

Spain today is said to be the most advanced in feminism of all the Latin countries.

Engineers in the British army have plans to produce rapidly in large numbers single-seater fighting airplanes built of metal.

Unusual world demand for tin has increased the number of tin miners in Malaya to 106,500.

Whales have been known to spend the summer in the Arctic regions and their winters near the equator.

Wyoming is now the only state in which Labor day has not been made a legal holiday.

Ten thousand refrigerator cars are required to transport the grape crop from the vineyards around Lodi, Cal.

A farmer of Tonkawa, Okla., who a few years ago had to borrow $75 with which to buy farm implements, is now receiving $1,000,000 a year in royalties from oil wells on his land.

Cost of the proposed water power plan to supply Dublin with electricity is estimated at $35,000,000.

The sun gives out as much heat in a year as the burning of 60 earths would if composed entirely of anthracite coal.

The world's record for a nonstop airplane flight, 45 hours 11 minutes, is now held by Droughin and Laudry, French aviators.

Our National Flower

Coleman DuPont said at a dinner in New York:

"The United States has four times as many automobiles as all the rest of the world put together."

Mr. DuPont smiled and added:

"We often complain that we have no national flower. It seems to me we ought at once to make our national flower the car-nation."

Time may be money, but some men spend a lot of money in trying to have a good time.

Vitamines, Calories, and Thing-a-majigs!

We're discovering so many things about the food we eat that if we attempt nowadays to arrange a meal with the proper balance according to all the new rules of diet, we are likely to be confronted with a perplexing problem.

But, as the advertising writers like to say, here's a solution to this problem: Read Nellie Maxwell's department, The Kitchen Cabinet. Here you will find delightful dishes in great variety, all planned with a healthful diet in view, but not burdened with data on vitamines and calories and whatnot.

Let Nellie Maxwell do this figuring. Follow her Kitchen Cabinet suggestions and give the family one treat after another. Remember, her department appears in every issue of The Dispatch.

STATE CORN ENTRIES REFUSED AT CHICAGO

FEAR OF CORN BORER SPREAD CAUSES EMBARGO ON MICHIGAN EXHIBITS

No corn entries from Michigan will be accepted at this year's International Hay and Grain Show, which is to be held in Chicago the first week of December in connection with the annual International Livestock Exposition.

Fearing spread of the dread European corn borer to new sections, the Illinois state department of agriculture has announced a ban against entries from Michigan, Ohio, Ontario and other districts where corn borer manifestations are present. The action is said to be in line with the precautionary steps being taken in all sections where the corn borer is feared.

Michigan growers have won a generous share of the corn awards at the International in recent years, and many farmers have been planning to exhibit this fall. News of the ban is being spread by the state crop improvement association, the Michigan Agricultural College, and other agencies in an effort to prevent disappointment for corn growers at the last moment.

A Program for Development of National Parks as Educational Institutions

By SECRETARY WORK, Interior Department Annual Report.

THE National Park Service was created by congress in 1916 and was organized in 1917 as a bureau of the Department of the Interior. The initial purpose of its establishment was to preserve some of the principal scenic and natural wonders of America from destruction and to afford outdoor recreational opportunities for the public.

With the creation of these national playgrounds under the supervision of the federal government, a reaction against indoor life ensued. Thousands of visitors went to the natural parks annually for the purpose of enjoying the superb scenery and to take advantage of the opportunities offered for outdoor recreation.

It soon became evident that the people were not satisfied to visit the national parks merely to view the landscape and the wonders of nature. A desire for knowledge regarding them developed. Information was sought concerning the birds, flowers, and trees along the trail and roadside and the geological formations of the mountains.

Despite the fact that practically no funds were available, a plan to provide facilities for the instruction and the supply of knowledge to visitors was inaugurated by the National Park Service. There has been enthusiastic co-operation from private individuals and universities in this educational program.

Field trips headed by nature guides competent to explain every subject of natural history observed along the trails are now being conducted. Camp-fire lectures on birds, geology, and other phases of nature exemplified in the parks are held regularly. Collections of materials within the boundaries of the different parks are being assembled in museums for the benefit of the visitors.

Two Major Inland Waterway Systems—Mississippi and Great Lakes

By HERBERT HOOVER, United States Secretary of Commerce.

Most important of all, we must envisage our inland waterways as great unified transportation systems, not as isolated units. We must conceive and attack their construction as a connected whole, not as a collection of disconnected local river and lake improvement projects.

The topography of our country, the present and future necessities of our population, the development we have already accomplished, and above all the goodness of Providence in our natural water channels clearly define for us two such major inland waterway systems, the Mississippi system and the Great Lakes system.

I visualize the Mississippi system as 9,000 miles of connected waterways—a transportation system of which some 3,100 miles are trunk lines and 6,000 miles of laterals. That is, a main north-south trunk line 1,500 miles in length, reaching from New Orleans to Chicago and there connecting with the Great Lakes system, and crossing this, a great east-west trunk line 1,600 miles in length, from above Pittsburgh through Cairo to Kansas City.

Dresses Are to Paris, France, What Automobiles Are to Detroit, Mich.

By LUCIEN LELONG, French Couturier.

To do anything for the whole world implies an organization of impressive size, even as you Americans regard impressiveness. Paris creates fashion for the whole world, and naturally we have built up a large and intricate organization of it.

Paris what automobiles are to Detroit, and dressmaking is much the largest industry in Paris. We have dressmaking establishments ranging in size from little tenement businesses with half a dozen customers each up to the great and famous houses whose names are familiar throughout the earth.

Doctor Advised Operation Friend Said Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First

St. Paul, Minnesota.—"I was all run-down from overwork and worry, had no appetite, could not sleep at night, and looked like a corpse. I have six children (five boys and one girl) and did not get any strength after my last baby was born. I was getting worse and thinner every day. The doctor said I had to go to the Hospital but this I could not do on account of my family. So I went to a friend of mine and told her what the doctor had told me and she said, 'Now do as I tell you. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I have done. It helped me.' So I started taking the Vegetable Compound and I noticed after the first few bottles that I felt considerably better. After taking 9 or 10 bottles I got over my fainting spells. Everybody who sees me now notices the great improvement in my health. I am gaining in weight and strength and am feeling fine. Eat well and sleep good nights. Any woman can write to me and I will answer her letter." — Mrs. MARY WILHELMY, 309 Duke Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

WAKE up your sleeping youth!

Look younger! Be younger! Age has little to do with your looks or your feelings. It's the condition of your blood that counts!

And blood will tell! It tells in a hundred ways. If your system is starting for rich, red blood, you may look and feel old at thirty. But if you build up the red-blood-cells with S. S. S. you'll quickly see the wrinkles fade away—the sagging pouches give way to firm, solid flesh—and the fresh, glowing beauty of youth take the place of a skin sallow and disfigured with blemishes.

Rich, red blood means youth, vim and energy! S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells by the millions. For generations S. S. S. has been keeping people looking and feeling young.

Fresh, cleansing, purifying, rich, red blood, S. S. S. helps Nature build, nourishes every muscle, organ and tissue of the body. Pimples, blotches and blackheads disappear. Boils, eczema and rashes dry up. Your face—your body—your whole being takes on the look and power of youth.

Wake up your system with S. S. S. Build red blood and you rebuild youth! Get S. S. S. from any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

The MAYFLOWER WOMEN

TO THE WOMEN OF THE MAYFLOWER

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN
LL VISITORS to Plymouth Rock—and they numbered something like 250,000 last summer—manifested great interest in the memorial to "Women of the Mayflower", which has been erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The feature of this memorial is the statue of a woman clad with the severe simplicity that tradition has handed down to us as the hall-mark of the women of "Plymouth Plantation." This figure is intended to represent "The Pilgrim Maid." Anyway, the woman is comely and distingue. The woman and her costume seem to go together—a natural combination. Altogether she's so easy to look at that she might be the courtierly presentation of the fair Priscilla Mullins herself—the damsel who brought John Alden to time, when he went courting as proxy for Capt. Miles Standish, by archly remarking, "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

It was noted that none of the visitors was more interested in "The Pilgrim Maid" than the extraordinary young woman of the day—the so-called flapper. And the flapper she was, the more she seemed to be interested. That's no wonder, for a greater contrast can scarcely be imagined. It's much easier to believe that "Julia O'Grady and the Colonel's lady are sisters under their skin" than to realize that the flapper represents three hundred years of development by the American woman from the Mayflower woman. A symposium of the thoughts of the flapper visitors would be exceedingly interesting—and doubtless important—for the looks of the flapper are at wide variance with her mental processes, which are often many and shrewd.

It is exceedingly fitting that this memorial to the Mayflower women should have been erected by a latter-day nation-wide organization of patriotic women. The "Fighting Daughters" seek to keep alive the spirit and deeds of their forebears of the Revolution. Tribute by the D. A. R. to the Mayflower women is "praise from Sir Hubert, indeed." And who can doubt that the hard-won success of the Pilgrim Fathers was largely due to the Pilgrim Mothers? In times of stress and privation it is ever the loyal devotion and heroic self-sacrifice of loving woman which evoke the admiration of mankind. And they are hard to learn in detail from the pages of history. It is the men whose deeds are set forth.

Capt. Miles Standish, for example, has a much larger statue at Duxbury than "The Pilgrim Maid" has at Plymouth. But Captain Standish was the Indian fighter of the colony, though he was not even a member of the church, and Priscilla turned him down. So his statue is fourteen feet high and weighs several tons. Incidentally, it has been struck by lightning and the head and left arm knocked off.

Thanksgiving Day is a national holiday peculiarly our own. It is the day on which we Americans as a Christian people give thanks to that Divine

Interlarded Proposal

From an English book: "It was at the luncheon table that he proposed to me and he wasn't at all put out at the arrival of the waitress. 'You know, my dear girl,' he began, 'that I have grown very, very fond of you. We'll have something cold, waitress. Cold beef for two. I want you to be my wife, you said, please. You are quite indispensable to me. Boiled, if you're sure they're usually—other-

Providence which has so often interposed to assist our progress as a nation. And surely no people have so much cause for thanksgiving. Today the United States of America is the most happy, prosperous and powerful nation of earth. So it is most natural that at Thanksgiving time the national thought should go back to Plymouth Rock where three hundred years ago the observance of Thanksgiving Day had its origin.

But Thanksgiving is a day of feasting, family reunions and jollity, as well as of thanksgiving. So it is in keeping with the spirit of the day to make review of the Mayflower women—from witchcraft to pumpkin pie. The Pilgrim woman was evidently a woman of common sense. And, like "a good deed in a naughty world," a woman with the saving grace of common sense is a "joy forever," whether or no she is a "thing of beauty." How do we know that the Pilgrim women had any unusual amount of common-sense? Well, there's the witchcraft craze, for one thing.

Salem and Boston, you know, were at one time obsessed by a witchcraft frenzy. These were Puritan settlements. This frenzy was so violent that women were hanged for being witches. And if the records of the time do the fair sex no wrong, it was usually a woman who brought the accusation of witchcraft and testified in court to the most extraordinary details of witchcraft.

The Plymouth women refused to have any part in the witchcraft craze. There were, if memory serves, but two witchcraft cases in the colony. The first case was that of Dinah Sylvester, who accused Mrs. Holmes of witchcraft. She told in court how she saw her neighbor plotting evil with the Devil himself, who had assumed for the occasion the form of a bear. Evidently a terrible case of witchcraft!

The court, nevertheless, refused to believe either in the witchcraft of Mrs. Holmes or in the Devil-bear. It acquitted Mrs. Holmes. Moreover, it decided that Dinah Sylvester's charge was just slander, plain and simple. So it gave Dinah Sylvester her choice between paying Mrs. Holmes five English pounds as damages for that slander or being publicly whipped. And the women of Plymouth approved the verdict. Several years later the second case came to trial and was laughed out of court.

Then, too, the Mayflower women were a cleanly lot. And cleanliness in a woman is high among the virwise mashed. You'd like potatoes, wouldn't you, Priscilla? Now, darling, do say "Yes" and make me the happiest man in the world. Hi, bring some Vienna rolls, waitress."

Obliging Mackerel

The mackerel in the waters around South Portland, Maine, are the most obliging, in the history of ichthyology. They are so accommodating, in fact, that they threaten to put fishermen thereabouts out of business. While fishermen were 20 miles out searching in vain for a good catch of mackerel for a canning factory, a big school of mackerel swam through the open space in the breakwater and directly to the canning factory wharfs. The fish were easily netted, and by the time the fishermen returned with a small catch the fish had been salted down in barrels.

ARE WE NOT HOT-HOUSE PLANTS?

ARE Americans living in too hot and dry houses? Are we as a nation living, during the winter months, in so warm an atmosphere that we are becoming abnormally sensitive to drafts and cold air and so are reaping the results in the form of constant colds, coughs, bronchitis and pneumonia? These are some of the questions Dr. Thomas Hubbard of Toledo asks in an article on "Hot Air Comfort" in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, and which he endeavors to answer. As the questions affect living conditions in practically all American homes, his article is deserving of careful consideration.

Americans, a few generations ago, says Doctor Hubbard, lived in houses and hotels with an average temperature of about 55 degrees. Those were the days of the open fireplace. This method of heating is still widely used in England, as it has been for centuries. Most of the present improvements in heating have been American inventions. About 150 years ago Benjamin Franklin invented the Franklin stove, which at once became popular. This was followed later by the sheet-iron stove, still widely used in many households. The hard-coal base burner was invented about 1850, then the hot-air furnace, the steam and hot-water radiator systems, and later the vacuum heating with oil or gas as a fuel.

In 1820, a temperature of between 50 and 60 degrees was considered best for hospitals. Today, 70 is the average temperature for schools, hospitals and hotels, while 72 to 75 is not unusual in offices and homes.

That Americans require a much higher degree of warmth than Europeans is shown by the fact that most American tourists complain bitterly of cold living and sleeping rooms, both in England and on the Continent, while foreigners usually object just as strenuously to our overheated houses, offices, hotels and theaters. On the other hand, we wear thinner clothing and less of it, even though our winters on the average are much more lengthy and severe. A friend of mine, just back from a year's study in London, says that woolen underwear is absolutely necessary in England all the year round. Shades of B. V. D.'s!

On the other hand, medical officers during the World War stated that the American soldier was more susceptible to cold than the English or French soldier. All ex-service men who were in France agree that the two most unpleasant features were the cold and dampness.

Probably our houses and offices are too hot and too dry. Free ventilation and plenty of outdoor air will correct both of these mistakes.

HUNTING THE INVISIBLE

IN 1840, Leverrier, the French astronomer, decided from his calculations that there must be another planet beyond Uranus. The existence of such a planet was the only possible way of accounting for the movements of the others. So he carefully calculated where this planet, if it existed, ought to be at a certain time.

But he had no telescope powerful enough to see it, even if it existed. So he wrote his friend, Galle, in Berlin, who had a very powerful telescope, and asked him to look in a certain spot in the sky at a certain time. Galle did so, and there was the new planet.

Who discovered it: the man who from his figures decided that it must exist, or the man who first saw it?

A similar situation has arisen in regard to the most common vitamin, called vitamin A. Chemists and food authorities have suspected for years that there was some substance in fresh foods which was necessary for the growth and health of the body, and the absence of which caused various diseases of nutrition. In 1912, Doctor McCollum, then a teacher at Madison, Wis., found by feeding experiments on animals, that there were at least three of these mysterious substances, which he called "fat soluble vitamin A," "water soluble vitamin B" and "water soluble vitamin C." Vitamin A is found in butter, cod liver oil, milk, egg yolks and the green leaves of vegetables.

Doctor McCollum's discovery has been confirmed by many hundreds of scientific men in all parts of the world. Chemists at once began to hunt for the Vitamin A, which they knew was there, but which they couldn't separate from all the other substances in the foods which contained it. They have been hunting for it for 12 years, but no one has seen it.

Now Professor Takahashi of the Tokyo Institute of Research announces that he has extracted it: cod liver oil, spinach and green leaves, a Japanese weed.

It is a transparent, thick, yellowish-red oil with a bitter taste and a peculiar odor. Professor Takahashi has named it "biosterin," and the amazing thing is that this vital principle in food, like radium, gives off actinic light rays so strong as to affect a photographic plate. Whether, like radium, it will continue to give off rays without losing strength is not yet known.

CONNIE TALMADGE IN NEW COMEDY

Constance Talmadge brings a new comedy, "Her Night of Romance", to the screen at the opera house Saturday night. It is a highly sophisticated satire on English society and provokes gales of laughter from the audience.

Connie, as flippant and scintillating as ever, appears in the role of an American heiress who dons school teachers "specs" and straight-laced demien in order to avoid fortune hunters while touring abroad with her father.

It chances she bumps into a young English lord in London who is being hounded by his money lender, and they become involved in one of these seemingly impossible, but nevertheless, real life situations where it is necessary for them to pose as newly-weds to avoid an impending scandal.

The situation finally clarifies itself, of course, but not before the young couple endure an amazing and highly amusing series of incidents. Constance introduces a new leading man in the person of Ronald Colman, an English actor who acquits himself favorably in the role of the British nobleman. Others in the cast who do good work are Albert Gran, Jean Hersholt, Sidney Bracy, Joseph Dowling and Templar Saxe.

"Her Night of Romance" was written by Hans Kraly, and produced by Joseph M. Schenck for First National under the able direction of Sidney Franklin. It will be seen at the Pinckney opera house, Saturday evening, November 28.

COUNTY POULTRY SHOW

A REALITY—AT BRIGHTON

Through the wide awake committees of the Livingston County Poultry Association, the County Poultry Show is drawing to form, and by all indications it is going to be a real event.

The date, December 9-10-11, is in a very good season of the year, soon enough before the Holidays so as not to interfere but late enough so that the bud will be in the pink of condition.

Arrangements by the entry committee: they have plans for all standard classifications of a real show. There will be classes for both Exhibition and Utility or Production Classes. This will give every one interested in Poultry a chance to show in the class they most desire.

For pet stock fanciers classifications are being arranged with good premiums on everything going in these classes: Bantam Chickens, Pigeons, Ducks, Turkeys, Geese, Rabbits, Guinea Pigs and Canaries.

To give people an idea of the work undertaken a Show Catalogue is being published, which will be free for the asking.

Business men in the various towns are very much interested in the show, which is quite evident by the number of special premiums being offered besides the regular cash premiums.

Livingston County's Poultry Business is growing by leaps and bounds, but in spite of that farmers will still experience failures. These failures can often be avoided by learning preventive methods, of which learning to know good birds is the most important of them all.

Men and women who have been successful in the poultry business will no doubt be the most numerous at the show. Here is a good chance to get acquainted with them.

New Ribbon Girdles

Vivid shades of red, yellow, blue and green appear with brown or other dark colors in fashionable new ribbons, and often the glint of gold is added. These ribbons are liked for girdles and rosettes to brighten up the quiet and simple frocks that good taste approves. They are worked up in many ingenious ways and women are enthusiastic about them for Christmas gifts; a girdle and a corsage ornament are shown here. Short lengths with bias ends and braided strands are used.

Novel Shopping Bag

A novelty in shopping bags is added to the list of these always-welcome gifts this year. It is about ten inches long and is made of light brown and white suede leather or of suede velours or duvetine and lined with silk. The pipings, pointed insets and fringe are in white. When other fabrics than suede leather are used the fringe may be of ribbon or silk.

Strength of Wood

Wood is one of the strongest substances in the world, but its strength lies in one direction only. A thin strip of wood cut with the grain will withstand about three times as heavy a pull as steel wire of equal weight.

Oldest Church Bell

The oldest known bell still in use is in the parish church of St. Mary of Loreto, at Villalago, in the Abruzzi mountains, Italy, and is dated 600 A. D. So that for over 1,300 years it has called worshippers to prayer.
