PINCKNEY 20— STOCKBRIDGE 0

Pinckney High School won from Stockbridge on the local gridiron last Friday by a score of 20 to 0. Pinckney as usual started with a rush and Swarthout made a touchdown in the first two minutes of play. The Stockbridge team then braced and Pinckney was unable to score until late in the second quarter, when Weddige made a touchdown. In the third quarter Stockbridge fought hard and Pinckney was unable to score but had the ball on the five yard line when the whistle blew. In the last quarter Swarthout took it over for a touchdown in two attempts and this ended the scoring. Stockbridge started to forward pass and the game ended with the ball on the 5 yard line. The Stockbridge team showed skill at the forward pass game, which, however, was somewhat nullified by fumbles. Two of their forward passes netted them 40 yards each. The Pinckney team relied almost entirely on off tackle plays with Swarthout carrying the ball most of the time. They attempted four forward passes none of which were successful, and only a few end runs. Weddige was back in the game but was hurt again and was not able to give a good account of himself. Swarthout who bore the brunt of the attack also had time taken out of him for the first time in the memory of sport followers. The Pinckney team did not show the snap and dash they displayed in the Brighton game but put up a great defensive game. The next game is with Saline at Pinckney on October 29.

LAUGHLIN-DETWYLER.

In the presence of 100 guests Miss Fearn Irene Laughlin and Carl Armin Detwyler were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock in the Westminster room of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. S. A. Griffith officiated. Miss Laughlin is the daughter of Mrs. Mary G. Laughlin, 506 First street, and Mr. Detwyler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Detwyler, 515 West Trail street.

As the members of the bridal party took their places, the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Glenn Bronson. The ceremony was solemnized in front of the fireplace which was banked with palms. At either side were art baskets filled with white chrysanthemums and lighted cathedral candles cast a soft glow over the scene.

Miss Laughlin's wedding gown was becomingly fashioned of white georgette crepe. The dress was made with a tight bodice and the skirt was in flounces tiers each scalloped at the bottom. The dress was sleeveless and the only ornament was a large velvet flower placed at the waistline. A wreath of orange blossoms graced the bride's coiffure and an effective bow of white tulle was caught at the back to the string of pearls which encircled her throat. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Nyra Graves, a niece of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a modish dress of coral georgette crepe beaded with pearls and crystal. A band of tulle the same shade as her dress was drawn through her hair. Miss Graves carried an arm bouquet of premier roses.

Robert Detwyler, a brother of the bridegroom was the best man. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner for 35 guests was served at the home of the bride's mother. Pink and white decorations were used attractively throughout the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Detwyler will spend their honeymoon in Philadelphia and New York City. For traveling Mrs. Detwyler wore a smart dress of golden brown flat crepe with the fashionable cape sleeves and trimming of gold braid. Her small velvet cloche was the same shade as her dress and a coat of pink marmot fur and accessories in shades to harmonize with her costume completed her attire.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Detwyler will reside for the present at 506 First street and later will move into their new home at 547 Woodward avenue.

Many delightful parties have been given for Mrs. Detwyler preceding her wedding. Among those who entertained were the following: Oct. 2, kitchen shower, Mrs. A. L. Boucher and Miss Nyra Graves at the home of the former, 319 West Morrell street; Oct. 6, miscellaneous shower, Miss Frances Bishop, 306 Rosedale Place; Oct. 9, miscellaneous shower, Mrs. C. N. Fearn, 121 West High street; and Mrs. William Elcoate will entertain at a post nuptial party at her home, 527 Wildwood avenue, as soon as Mrs. Detwyler returns from her wedding trip—Jackson Patriot.

Miss Laughlin is a sister of Mrs. M. T. Graves and has many friends here.

Perugia, Where Mussolini Will Lecture, Like Medieval Robber's Castle.

Washington.—Adding still another title to the many he possesses—that of college professor—Benito Mussolini is to lecture to students of the newly organized University for Foreigners in Perugia, Italy, according to news dispatches. The city in which students' pencils are to fly while Italy's premier describes the glories of ancient Rome, is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society:

"Perugia's setting is almost unique for a town of nearly 25,000 inhabitants," says the bulletin. "It is like some medieval robber baron's castle expanded magically into a city. It lies on the top of a beetling ridge that rises 1,200 feet over the nearby Tiber. Its walls and palaces and houses clinging to the narrow heights like ivy turned to stone.

Once a Civic Bully.

"The city's history during the Middle Ages and the Renaissance was not unlike that of a glorified robber baron. It was the civic bully of Umbria. Its people of those days well earned a reputation for a grim, blood-thirsty and vindictive turbulence. They took life seriously and passionately in all its phases: war, religion, sport.

"The surrounding towns were all subdued, and if the conquered neighbors failed to evidence abject humility toward the proud victors, bloody reprisals were visited on them. The religion of St. Francis of Assisi (Assisi is only 14 miles away) influenced the Perugians at one time so greatly that between a quarter and a third of the male inhabitants are said to have taken the Franciscan habit. The influence was not lasting, however, for soon they were again at their bloody wars, both against their neighbors and among themselves. Their sports had almost the brutality of a Roman holiday. A favorite contest was stone throwing in the main piazza. Often as a result of such wanton sporting bouts numbers were killed and many more seriously injured.

"But these chapters in Perugia's life are of the past. The change that has taken place in the character of the populace is astounding. Today the Perugians, while maintaining a certain independence of spirit that their falcon-nest city could hardly fail to impart, are quiet, gentle and considerate.

"When Perugia grew from its small Etruscan beginnings it extended itself along the ridges of its hill, then made use of some of the slopes immediately below the crests. Few of its streets, therefore, are level. Most of the little open spaces that the city possesses have been made artificially and are shored up by walls and buttresses. The modern American city that creates parks from refuse dumps is following a lead set by this Italian hill town many centuries ago. The Piazza Sopramuro, which is the market heart of the city, owes its existence to the medieval counterpart of our tin cans, waste paper and junk. Finally the accumulation buried an ancient Etruscan wall, hence the name of the square, 'Upon the Wall.'

Medieval Building Boom.

"In the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries there was an almost continuous 'building boom' in Perugia, and chroniclers wrote of the difficulty of obtaining mortar, stones and masons. It became a city of palaces, each with its lofty tower. In the turbulent days that followed most of these towers were pulled down by rival families. A few still stand and the trunks of many more can be traced in walls of later buildings.

"Perugia was nominally a possession of the popes from the Tenth century. But for a long time its ecclesiastical owners left the city pretty much alone, and it lived its own quarrelsome life, virtually independent. About the middle of the Sixteenth century Pop Paul III took definite hold of the town and built a huge fortress to awe the people into submission. This great pile on the city's highest point became for centuries the symbol to the people of their loss of freedom.

"They revolted in 1859, but Swiss Guards were rushed in and put hundreds of the citizens to the sword. The following year a general of Victor Emanuel drove out the papal forces and the people set about demolishing their hated bastle. The level space so obtained was turned into Perugia's prettiest square, around which are modern government buildings. The view from this lofty piazza is one of the best in non-Alpine Italy. Below it spread out the great fertile Umbrian plain, once the bed of a large lake, geologists say. At intervals rise hills, lower than that on which Perugia sits enthroned, and on each of these smaller eminences are the walls of towns and villages. This is the domain over which Perugia ruled with a strong arm, and over which she still holds economic and political leadership.

"Perugia's cathedral, or 'duomo,' dates from the Fourteenth century. Its greatest treasure is a finger ring said to be the wedding ring of the Virgin. This relic is kept in 15 or more caskets, each locked inside another. The key to each is kept by a separate custodian. They meet several times each year, open the caskets, and bring the ring to view."

Wife Loses Husband Over Delayed Message

New York.—Because a telegram was delivered an hour later than the sender expected, a young mother has been separated from her husband, and though both are in New York city neither knows where to find the other.

A month ago Louis Bristol, twenty-four, bade his wife and two-year-old boy good-by and boarded a train in Toronto for Thompsonville, N. Y., where he had learned there was work for an experienced waiter. Two weeks later he wrote to his wife, telling her he was making a fair salary and enclosing money for her and the child to join him.

She left Toronto the next day and arrived in Thompsonville, only to learn her husband had left for this city. That evening a telegram the husband had sent to her at Toronto telling her not to come, as he had obtained a better job in New York city, was forwarded to her. It had been delivered in Toronto an hour after the train departed.

It did not tell where he was to work or where he was to live.

But the Daughters of the American Revolution are to place a marker at the gate, giving the history of the house.

BELL IN INDEPENDENCE HALL HAS SIX RIVALS

Signing of Declaration Announced by Other Bells in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia.—The Liberty Bell in Independence hall is one of at least half a dozen other, "Liberty Bells" in eastern Pennsylvania communities which also rang out the news that the Declaration of Independence had been signed.

Historically, these other chimes lay claim to the title "Liberty Bell," and indeed are so called. They have been gathered in one exhibit at the sesquicentennial exposition, making complete the collection of the seven thimes which commingled their voices in celebration of the event.

Scores of additional bells rang out the news when the declaration was confirmed, but there are but six, besides the Philadelphia bell, which are recognized by historians as being authentic "Liberty" bells. All the six bells are smaller than the Philadelphia bell. Three of them were imported, as was the local chime; two were cast in Bethlehem, Pa., and the other at Bridgewater, Mass.

The bells are the town meeting house bell at Chester, Pa., said to be the oldest municipal bell in the United States.

Second in point of size is the Lancaster bell, cast in England in 1747 for the "Cloister," near Ephrata, Pa. When it arrived it was declared "sinful and worldly," and was sold to the Holy Trinity Lutheran church, Lancaster. After serving at different times as statehouse bell, fire bell and church bell, it was broken in 1836, but was preserved.

The Berks county courthouse bell, cast in Massachusetts in 1763, ranks third in seniority.

The St. John's parish bell at York, Pa., was acquired in 1774 by the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. It cracked while tolling the death of President McKinley in 1901. The Philadelphia bell was cracked while tolling the death of Chief Justice John Marshall in 1835.

The Northampton county courthouse bell—the only one of the seven to have remained in continuous service up to the present—was cast in 1763, after which it was tested and taken to Easton and hung in a steeple of the old courthouse.

In the tower of the Zion Reformed church at Allentown, Pa., while the treasured Philadelphia Liberty bell lay hidden beneath in the basement during British occupancy, hung a small bell which defiantly rang out its summons. After 1790 the Allentown Liberty bell passed to the municipal academy.

MRS. ANNA MCHENRY
1008 E. PLUM STREET, MARSHALL, ILLINOIS

Marshall, Illinois.—"After my second child was born, I never saw a well day for five years. My father was telling his druggist about my condition, and the druggist insisted that father take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have me try it, as it had helped his wife. I had given up, but to please father and mother, I commenced taking your medicine and in a week I had begun to feel better. When I passed through the Change of Life, I was taking the Vegetable Compound and I had no trouble of any kind."—Mrs. ANNA MCHENRY, 1008 E. Plum St., Marshall, Illinois.

Another Woman Helped

Philadelphia, Penna.—Mrs. Caroline Nagy, of 2717 Sears St., in a recent letter to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., says that after her child was born she was in a very weak condition. She could not seem to regain her health and went to her mother for advice. She told her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it had helped her when in like condition, and it has helped her mother also. So Mrs. Nagy started taking it. She felt better after taking the first bottle, after taking six bottles her weakness and other troubles disappeared, and she is never done praising the Compound.

In some families the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I should say that was true all right," said Old Man Weather as he laughed.

"Of course I do," said Old Man Weather. "And I get abused for it, too. Ah, yes, my friend, I do not get so much praise when I play with you. In fact, I am scolded more than you are."
"One hears far more scolding about the Weather than about the Rain itself."
"Well," said the King of the Clouds, "it is quite worth the scolding."

and grandchildren, ran races all along the streets—dashing so hard and so fast—and rushing along.
"People said we were coming down in sheets. Of course we weren't. We don't need any bed linen. But we were coming down good and fast and the races did become exciting."
"Then some one said it looked as though all the rain were trying to get somewhere, for we were hurrying along so fast—just skipping wildly over the pavements."

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

STANDING BY THE TABLE
IN RURAL New England people seated at a table, eating, object to having another person pause and stand beside the board even should he only pause for a second to say some necessary word. As a rule it is a stranger with whom this action is deemed especially objectionable. The writer discovered this by making the above said "break." On inquiring subsequently as to the wherefore of the objection, some people said that it "is very bad manners"; others that "it brought bad luck"; and still others could only say that "it is one of the things that isn't done." The idea seemed surprisingly widespread among a certain class of people, a general feeling that, for some unknown reason, such an act should be always avoided.

It was evidently a real superstition which was thus stumbled upon. Its origin is obvious. It is a survival of the idea of primitive man with regard to shadow, an idea which is found today existing in full force among savage and backward races and can be traced in many popular superstitions among civilized peoples. Our primitive ancestors regarded a man's shadow as a vital part of himself—a sort of "astral body," an "exterior soul." To have a person's shadow fall upon one was a sort of projection of the shadower's personality upon the shadowed. This projection was, as a rule, considered to be malevolent in its effect. A person pausing by a table at which people are eating is liable to cast his shadow over both food and eaters—which is bad, especially if he is a stranger, for with the ancients, strangers and enemies were synonymous terms. Hence the superstition mentioned above, one of those survivals which have outlasted for long centuries all knowledge of their origin and meaning by the people who still cherish them.

Young Man's Burden
To get on in business, and in society and lay up something for a rainy day, a young man must carry life accident fire, windstorm, burglary and liability insurance. Five clubs, water on both shoulders, a high head and any of his wife's near relatives who would be a disgrace to the family if left upon their own resources.—Louisville Times

The Hotel Stenographer
By Roe Fulkerson

"THAT was sorrowful Sadie," sighed the Hotel Stenographer. "Who's she?" asked the House Detective.
"She is my penance," answered the girl. "She is a leaner. Somehow she got to leaning on me and I am afraid to jump from under, lest she fall."
"She is the original hard-luck kid. If some guy hired a thousand girls, and only needed nine hundred and ninety-nine, Sadie would be the one to lose her job."

"She has worked in the five-and-ten, manicured, beauty parlor, cashiered, ushered in a theater, cash girl, clerked in a flower store, solicited magazine subscriptions, sat for ball in a rubber-neck wagon, been a companion to an old lady, sold orders for photographs and took a correspondence course in moving-picture acting. "Every one of these jobs she lost. I never knew any of the people she worked for, but she has never been able to find any boss not a cruel-hearted tyrant who always imposes on Sadie. She always quits because of the way they talk to her. I'm beginning to believe what they said is 'Get your hat and coat and beat it.' I wouldn't work for a guy who talked to me like that, either."
"But Kelly, all jobs are not bad. Some of 'em are good. Three moves are as bad as getting fired. If a person can't hold a job it is the fault of the person and not of the job. Any old job is worth just what you make it worth, and people who hold a lodge of sorrow because they never have any luck and wanting somebody to help 'em, are on the wrong side of the door. The side which has PUSH printed on it, lets you in, and the side that has PULL on it, lets you out. People who work the push side are holding all the good jobs. If I do not get to work typing the letters that salesman gave me this morning, I will be out of a job myself."

Drain Tile Long Known
The use of drain tile began many centuries ago in France, but its manufacture became a lost art. Drain tiles were first used in England in 1810 and introduced into the United States in 1835 by John Johnston, who used handmade tile on his farm near Geneva, N. Y. The first drain tile machine was imported into this country in 1843.

Pola Negri

Pola Negri's real name is Apollonia Chalupcz. She chose the surname because of her great love for the Polish translations of the Italian verses of Ada Negri. Pola was born in Bromberg, Poland. She graduated from a dramatic school. She wrote and directed her first picture; also played the leading role, "Love and Passion," she called it. Her many successes are well known. She will soon be seen in her latest picture, "Hotel Imperial."

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE
BY JOSEPH KAYE

At twenty-one Francis Wilson sang and danced in the varieties.
"AT THIS time, my partner, Macklin, and I originated a new type of song and dance, combining, we believed, the lightness of execution of two celebrated vaudevillians of the period, Dilehanty and Hengler, and the clever acrobatics of a dancer named Charles Walters, who was with a company headed by Tony Pastor.
"We two boys practiced acrobatics on the outskirts of Indianapolis, laboring diligently to acquire the 'flip flops' and 'neck springs' essential for our performance. We may not have been as skillful acrobats as Kean and Forrest were in their early days, but what we learned was enough. It served.
"For many years Macklin and I were able to command a salary of a hundred and fifty dollars a week each, a princely sum for those days.—Francis Wilson."
TODAY—Francis Wilson, at the age of seventy-one, is one of the most celebrated actors in America. He has retired from the stage, but he has left behind him the record of a brilliant career. He was first famous as a player in light opera and then became equally popular as a dramatic artist. A few years ago he was president of the Actors' Equity association, and his guidance helped to make it the powerful organization it now is. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

By JEAN NEWTON

"THE CHAFF FROM THE WHEAT"
"TO SEPARATE the chaff from the wheat" is a phrase that is frequently heard in modern speech to express distinguishing between the false and the true, the worthy and the worthless.
Chaff is the straw and other waste in wheat and grains which by threshing and winnowing, are sifted down and removed to purify and prepare the harvest for the process by which it becomes the "staff of life," the bread on our table. The first step is "separating the chaff from the wheat," the refuse from the food kernel.
From the parlance of the farm the term found its way into general speech where the mediator in an argument, in an effort to sift the matter to useless talk and get down to fundamental facts, will sometimes say: "We must separate the chaff from the wheat." (Copyright.)

The Renown

The last five years have seen a big change in small home heating. Base burners, oak stoves, etc. have gone out of style because their heating capacity was limited. People are no longer content to live in drafty underheated rooms or be forced to shut off some of the rooms in the winter.

Instead they have turned to the Renown, the heating plant that looks like a cabinet and works like a furnace. It replaces ugliness with beauty, half hearted heat with solid comfort and fuel waste with fuel economy.

ONE RENOWN DOES THE WORK OF SEVERAL STOVES OR FIREPLACES

This heating device is recognized as the standard heating appliance for small homes, old and new, one-story and two-story; it is used too in schools, stores, churches, garages and in a great many other types of buildings.

COUNTY AMENDMENTS

One of the most important issues confronting the voters at the November election is the matter of maintenance and continuance of the County Agricultural Work in this county. There seems to be no doubt that the issue will win with a good majority if the feeling of those who know of this good work is fairly and honestly expressed. The future of this good agricultural and business interests of the county require the continuance of this valuable work.

It is not generally known that the Agricultural Agent is a leader and has taken the initiative in solving the difficult problems confronted by the farmers of the county. With invasion of the European Corn Borer, which threatens to do more damage than any other pest that has entered the United States, it would seem to be very poor business for this county not to maintain a county agent to lead in the fight for our corn crop. The good that has resulted from the county being an accredited T. B. area is largely the efforts of the county agent.

The college would discontinue the Woman's Work in Food and Nutrition in the County because they are doing this work only in counties where the County Agent is the leader. At present there are four hundred women enrolled in this work and plans are now laid to reach at least 800 before spring.

The county agent is directly responsible for the Boys and Girls Club work. This splendid work would automatically cease without a county agent. The potato club work alone, has this year brought into the pocket books of the sixty enrolled more than one half the cost of the County Agricultural work for the entire year.

It has been conservatively figured that it would cost the taxpayers approximately fifteen cents per thousand dollars on assessed valuation. This is significant when you stop to think that the yearly cost of this excellent work to the average taxpayer would be about half the cost of one meal.

There is no question but the voters will decide to vote "Yes" on this issue, especially if everyone knows what

Before You Start Your Furnace

AT THIS season of chilly mornings and evenings health and comfort alike call for some means of heating bathroom and living room. You may not care to start the furnace yet and possibly over-heat the house on warm days—and it certainly is a bother to clean out the furnace and start a new fire. The electric air heater helps out in these 'betwixt and between' fall days. It will take off the edge of the first chill of fall; and it is often convenient to use for auxiliary heating during the winter. The small heater costs about three cents an hour for current. Turned on and off in an instant.

Mr. Lynn Gardner of Iosco township who on his own merits, is seeking reelection to his second term as a member of the State legislature, or as and personally operates a farm at Iosco where he has spent his entire lifetime. During his early life he taught school in district schools, throughout the winter season, meeting with success in that work.
These two facts place him in a position to be a valuable member of our State legislature.
In his first term of service he has proven himself to possess not only good judgment, but courage as well. He is a man of absolute honesty and integrity, putting himself above party politics, and acting as one who can be trusted by his constituents. In his one term of service, he has learned the general workings of legislative business, which gives him the better position to properly serve the people than a representative who has all these things to learn.
As an ex-member of the Legislature remarked at the Capitol in Lansing a short time ago—Livingston county, if ever, needs a representative of experience this year. He continued: "With the State Sanatorium problem still confronting the legislature, as well as important road measures, that will be introduced which will directly affect Livingston County, it is up to the people of that county to send a man of experience to the legislature at this time."
During Mr. Gardner's first term he passed but three roll calls, compared to those sessions later in the day. His voting record proves that he was usually attentive to all progressive legislation, especially that pertaining to highway and agricultural matters. He introduced three bills, one of them becoming a law. This was a conservative measure, as was another of his bills that was later incorporated in another bill. He also introduced a progressive amendment to the bus and trunk law, seeking to regulate the size and weight of the ungainly large conveyances used in hauling auto bodies, as well as other vehicles carrying loads of excessive weight and size which tend to prematurely wreck the paved roads and gravel roads. This bill, too, was killed in committee.
Mr. Gardner voted for all the important bills that were sponsored for the good of the State. He voted for all our progressive educational bills, but withheld his vote for the good of our people and country. He never, however, passed an educational bill which tended to overly burden the people with taxes or make it nearly impossible for the worthy young people to secure an education because of a padded college course. He was also a strong advocate for progressive highway legislation that would, especially benefit the people of rural communities such as those of Livingston county.
He could not be classed as an ardent prohibition man, for despite the influence brought to bear on him by the prohibition to change his stand on re-appointment, he voted against both bills, and vigorously fought their sponsors. It was at this time that he received encouragement in the form of a telegram from the County Farm Bureau, requesting him to oppose this measure. This telegram was signed by the members of the County Farm Bureau Board, namely C. Olson, F. S. West, Asst. G. Stone, J. J. Donahoe and Wells G. Gardner.
At the January session of the Board of Supervisors, resolutions were passed requesting Representative Gardner's favorable action on certain matters that were about to be presented to the Legislature. Mr. Gardner's vote at all times, was in accordance with these resolutions.
He strongly opposed the measure providing for the expending of $750,000 for the purchase of a new site for the State Tubercular Sanatorium, and the building of the same. Mr. Gardner insisted that the Sanatorium should be permanently located at Howell, originally intended, but that an appropriation should be provided for the purpose of enlarging and improving the present buildings, thus eliminating the waiting list. He was, however, in favor of a measure providing for the payment of the committee on investigation.

At the close of the legislative session, Mr. Gardner's work was favorably endorsed by the State Farm Bureau.
Representative Gardner promises, if elected, to give the people the same service as in the past, which is to be the best of his ability.
He will appreciate your vote at the polls on November the Second.

Democrat Candidate for
Drain Commissioner
SECOND TERM

Has been tested and found true. Asks taxpayers of Livingston County to consider that drain taxes have been greatly reduced. Great efforts have been made to encourage economy and efficiency. Requests the voters of Livingston county to investigate his past record as a farmer, road builder, drain commissioner and as a soldier. When the World's War broke out he responded his call, spending nearly a year facing the enemy in France. Leaving the farm in Deerfield township that he still manages to make the great fight, and if he has met with your approval will appreciate your vote on November 2, 1926.

SCHOOL NOTES

The High school classes have organized and elected officers as follows: 12th grade: president, Elizabeth Bokros; vice president, Merwin Campbell; secretary, Mildred Haines; treasurer, Hazel Smith; 11th grade, president, Clare Miller; vice president, Wayne Carr; treasurer, Cecil Hendee; secretary, Fannie Johnson; 10th grade, president, Wilhelmina Bourbonnais; vice-president, Gertrude Tupper; secretary, Berdella Euler; treasurer, Jas. Nash; 9th grade, president Rita Roche; vice-president, Irving Richardson; secretary, James Nash; treasurer, Ruth Van Blaircum.

October tests will be given this week.

Pinckney again holds her opponent scoreless while she rolls up a count of 20 points. This game leaves Pinckney with 100 points scored while her opponents have scored but 12. This is a fine record for the local boys. The Stockbridge game was a good clean game throughout but Pinckney found the opposition so weak that she played rather a listless game herself.

Officials—Kennedy of Pinckney, referee; Brogan of Stockbridge, umpire; Bowman of Pinckney, headlinesman.
Next Friday Saline will be seen in action on the local field. Saline has been playing good ball all fall, in fact a year ago she held Pinckney for three quarters, Pinckney finally winning by a score of 7-6. From all advance information a fine game will be assured next Friday. Pinckney is slightly favored to win.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS

The hunting season on rabbits and pheasants opened Monday and the roads and by-ways in this section were so filled with armed men that one would think the militia had been called out and the country had been placed under martial law. Some nice bags of pheasants and rabbits are reported and many from here secured the limit in each class.

GUESS AGAIN

The other day when Barney Lynch was crossing Main street at the principal intersection a huge limousine pulled up with a flourish and the driver yelled at Barney, "Say, Mike, which is the road to Jackson?" "How did you know my name was Mike," asked Barney. "Guessed it," replied the driver. "Well," said Barney, "Guess the road to Jackson then."

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

From Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving Day the drive will be on. The recent disasters requiring Red Cross relief prove the necessity of maintaining a Red cross membership in times of peace. Renew your membership now, either through your local branch or send to the Chapter Treasurer, Mrs. A. I. Smith, Howell, Francis I. Huntington, Secretary.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR

COUNTY TREASURER

SOLICITS YOUR SUPPORT

ELECTION NOV. 2 - 26

JOHN A. HAGMAN

For

COUNTY CLERK

Republican Ticket.

Owing to the fact that the month of October is the busiest month of the year in the office of the County Clerk, due to the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, Court Work, and the getting out of the election supplies for all the voting precincts of the county; and also having had serious illness in my family it has been impossible for me to get out personally to further my campaign in the coming election.

I therefore desire at this time to personally thank you for all past favors shown me and for those that you feel that you can show me on Tuesday November 2.

Yours very truly,

JOHN A. HAGMAN

George Wimbles

Republican Nominee for

SHERIFF

George A. Wimbles while Sheriff 12 years ago is remembered as the man who abolished the tramp nuisance which had been costing the county thousands of dollars. He is also remembered as being an efficient officer who conducted the office in such a way that upon his retirement everyone had a good word to say for him. No fault was ever found with any of his accounts or his work as Sheriff and the voters of the county will make no mistake in electing him again.

NEIGHBORING NEWS

Probably half of the bean crop in this county is still out and greatly damaged if not entirely ruined by the continuous rains. Farmers with acreage of any size have been utterly unable to get in more than a few acres. The loss will go well into four or five figures in Livingston county.—Republican.

The board of Livingston county supervisors at their last meeting voted to raise the salaries of School Commissioner and Treasurer from $1800 to $2,000.

The Chelsea High School football team won their fifth straight victory last week by defeating Saline 32 to 0. St. Patrick's parish of Northfield dedicated a new community hall there last week.

Beginning Nov. 1, the business houses of Dexter will close at 6:00 p. m., except on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Oakland County will build 67 miles of paved roads in 1927.

While dismantling the Dexter Episcopal church, which is to be converted into a Community house, a zinc box was found in the corner stone which had been put there in 1858. It contained a Book of Common Prayer of 1849, a Journal of the Diocese of 1858, a pamphlet "Spirit of Mission," 1858, and the names of the rector and church board of that time. These relics were put into a copper box with relics of the present day, resealed and placed back in the cornerstone.

The contract for building the first part of the Huron River drive from Ann Arbor to Dexter has been let to Jeffrey & Wellwer of Saline for $28,509. It is 3.6 miles long and extends from Dexter to Scio.

"RUSTLING FOR CUPID" SWINGS FROM HEART THROBS TO LAUGHTER

Strong Cast Supports George O'Brien
And Anita Stewart in Peter B.

Kyae's Ranch Drama
Anita Stewart is to be seen at the Temple Theatre, Howell, Friday Oct. 29. She is cast as Sybil Hamilton in "Rustling for Cupid," Fox film's latest production to reach the screen. George O'Brien has the masculine lead as Brad Blatchford, in this Peter B. Kyne drama of ranch life.

Miss Stewart and O'Brien give the picture a good laugh at the start as they are just across the aisle in a Pullman bound for Sycamore Creek, New Mexico, where she is to teach school, and near which O'Brien's father owns the famous Swatska ranch.

The porter exchanges their grips and starts the romance, which runs through a lot of heart throb vicissitudes to an "all's well that ends well" finish.

Others in the cast are Russell Simpson, Herbert Prior, Edith Yorke, Sid Jordan and Frank McGlynn, Jr.

Many Sires Are Killed Too Soon

Bulls Sent to Butcher Before Their Full Usefulness Is Known.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
What becomes of the bulls that head the average cow-testing associations? Are the good ones recognized and kept in service, or are they unwittingly sent to the butcher before they have completed their full period of usefulness? Some idea as to the tendency in the disposal of the pure-bred sires in our dairy herds may be had from the results of a recent study made by the bureau of dairying, United States Department of Agriculture.

Proved Sires in Aged Class.

From the 17 bulls gathered from the aged class of the average cow-testing association, 11 were proved to be good sires. Of these 11, 2 were slaughtered because of sterility, 1 died, and 8 were killed for beef. Perhaps it was recognized that the last 8 were inferior, and for that reason were discarded.

Value Recognized.

While this is a very small number from which to draw definite conclusions it is evident that the value of some of the good sires was recognized, which accounts for the 5 that are still in service. Perhaps some of the poor sires were also recognized. The unfortunate part is that in the weeding-out process, if such practice existed, 11 out of the 17 dead sires were outstanding from the standpoint of increasing production to their daughters. Some means must be found to keep the bulls until the records of their daughters prove them either good or otherwise.

Much Improvement Is #### Made by Poultry Raisers

Much improvement has been made along many lines in the poultry business during the last few years, but the work which has been done by the rank and file of producers to improve sanitary conditions is undoubtedly the most important.

During the last two years there has been more loss from disease by the produce houses than previously. This was especially true two years ago. Last year these men handled the birds in a more sanitary manner and the losses diminished. Farmers appreciate that many of the diseases that cause loss on the farm and at produce houses may be eliminated by improved sanitary conditions.

The practice of raising chicks on fresh ground has spread rapidly. This movement is of prime importance. Worms, lice, mites, coccidiosis and tuberculosis are spread by the older fowls and infected premises to young chicks.

Pig Breeding Important

The breeding of the pig is of importance. The dairyman does not breed beef cows if his aim is milk production. Nor should the pig man expect to produce bacon-type hogs with breeds which belong to the lard type. Such practice is adding a needless obstacle in the path of bacon-hog production. The selecting and breeding operations produce the material with which the feeder must work, and as with the carpenter, a product of definite specifications calls for certain kinds of raw materials.

FARM FACTS

Change the water occasionally in the tractor radiator.

An average of the figures indicates that farmers are using appreciably higher protein feeds than they were five years ago.

Gather the eggs at least every day and better twice a day during the hot weather. Keep them in a dry, cool, well-ventilated place.

SAFETY

There is no factor of safety, from double thick genuine plate glass to the solidarity of the roof, which escapes the painstaking investigation of Fisher inspectors.

Quality above all else, is the creed of Fisher craftsmanship.

And Fisher has always regarded the safety and comfort of those who ride in Fisher Bodies the surest proof of Fisher quality.
