PINCKNEY 46, BYRON 6

In a game played on a field covered by two inches of snow and with the thermometer hovering around the freezing point Pinckney defeated Byron by a score of 46 to 6 but in doing so had their goal line crossed for the first time since the Fowlerville game on October 6. In view of the game scheduled with Chelsea for last Saturday which was later postponed and the fact that there were Chelsea scouts watching the game the Pinckney team had orders not to extend themselves. Consequently Byron which has a light team and relies mostly on the forward pass was able to carry the ball to the thirty yard line by means of forward passes and end runs. Here they tried a long forward pass. Harold Reason leaped high in the air and struck the ball, knocking it out of the hands of the intended Byron receiver but in so doing deflected it into the hands of another Byron player who ran the remaining ten yards for a touchdown unmolested. They failed to make the extra point. Then the Pinckney team came to life and with Swarouth and Harold Reason circling end and Nash and Weddige hitting the line made a touchdown and extra point and led at the end of the first quarter 7 to 6. In the second quarter Swarouth got three more touchdowns entirely by straight football not a single forward pass or trick formation being used. Before second quarter, Pinckney 26, Byron 6. At the start of the third quarter, Swarouth, H. Reason, Hendee and M. Nash were taken out of the game and replaced by Kennedy, Hornshaw, C. Miller and Ahren. This move caused the departure of the Chelsea scouts for whom the game had lost its interest. Pinckney added another touchdown in the third quarter with Weddige carrying the ball most of the time. In the last period the first string men were put back in again and Swarouth secured two more touchdowns.

LECTURE COURSE A SUCCESS

The Evening Star Festival, a lecture course sponsored by a committee of twenty one Pinckney citizens was a success financially due chiefly to promoter, who directed the drive the efforts of Miss Melba Rhoades, the which resulted in the sale of several hundred tickets in less than a week's time. All numbers on the course drew well. The play, "The Fool" by Channing Pollock packing the house and many were forced to stand. The committee announce that there will be no deficit and that a small profit may be made.

HUNTING ACCIDENT

Andrew Singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Singer who live south of town while preparing to go hunting last Friday afternoon forgot to remove the charges from his gun which was accidentally exploded, the charges striking his right foot. He was taken to the Pinckney Sanatorium where it was found necessary to amputate his right foot. It is expected that he will come out all right.

A CORRECTION

In the sketch of Gen. Philip Sheridan written by M. T. Kelly and published in a recent issue of the Dispatch the line which read "If it is for looks you want him take Mike" should have read "If it is for books you want him take Mike."

ENTERTAIN FOR FRIEND

Mrs. Alger Hall entertained in honor of Miss Margaret Driver last Saturday afternoon. The affair was a complete surprise to Miss Driver who was presented with a friendship quilt. A dainty luncheon was served and the departing guests wished Miss Driver the best of success in her wedded life.

DRIVER-CLARK

The marriage of Miss Margaret Driver and Charles Clark of this place this morning at St. Mary's church. Rev. Fr. McQuillan officiating. They were attended by Roy Clark and Elizabeth Speer. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Speer, after which they left on a short wedding trip. Both young people have a host of friends in this section who wish them success in their married life. They will reside at Dexter.

NOTICE

The Missionary Society of the Community church will give a program consisting mostly of music next Sunday evening at the usual hour of service. Come out and enjoy this program and give this society your help. A silver collection will be taken.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock Pinckney plays for the state championship of her class. This game is an intersectional one and will cost the local management about seventy-five dollars to bring the team to Pinckney. Three schools in the state have stood out off fall as possessing wonderful teams. Belleville, Michigan Center, and Pinckney. Ten days ago Belleville dropped out of the race thus breaking the triangular fight for honors, and leaving Michigan Center and Pinckney to settle the championship. Pinckney's opponent has not been named upon this year, in fact, no one has come within twenty yards of her goal line. The Detroit News, Michigan Center has a wonderful aggregation, carrying eleven individual stars. This game will produce the best football ever seen in Pinckney.

The time is 10 o'clock. The place Pinckney.

NOTICE

I will be at the Pinckney State Bank every Friday during banking hours to receive taxes, beginning Dec. 3. Will receive taxes at home any night after 6:00 P. M. Checks only accepted.

W. E. MURPHY,

Treasurer of Putnam Township.

ALL ABOARD FOR A GOOD TIME

The Christian Endeavor will hold a Rally at the church parlors on Friday, Dec. 3. The Young People's Societies of Stockbridge and Millville have been invited to attend. There will be a pot luck supper at 7:30 and a program to follow. The speaker of the evening will be Ernest Marks, state secretary of Christian Endeavor. All young people of the community are invited to attend.

The ladies' aid society will hold their Annual Fair Saturday, Dec. 4th. Sale will begin at 1:30. Supper from 5 until all are served. Donations from any one interested will be greatly appreciated.

NOTICE

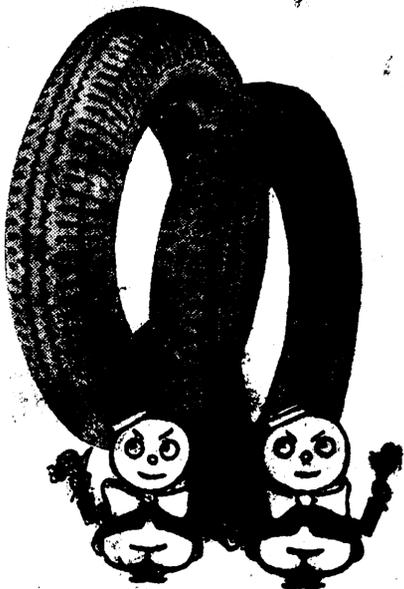

No hunting or trespassing allowed on my farm in Dexter township. Samuel Wheeler.

If we didn't sell high grade, dependable goods--
If our service wasn't efficient, quick and courteous--
If our location and facilities weren't convenient and adequate--
If our prices weren't absolutely right--
If we were not fair and square in all our dealings--
Then--
How do you figure we could build up the tire business we have--
People wouldn't come here and keep on coming if they knew of a better place to go.
Don't get in a rut. If you've never patronized us and are not acquainted with us come in and see what you've been missing.
We can sell you what you want for what you want to pay.
We believe we can give you Goodyear high quality tires at a price you can't beat--make us prove it.

Most of Criticism of Universities and Colleges Unworthy of Notice

By DAVID KINLEY, President University of Illinois.

RECENTLY colleges and universities, their officers and students, have become the targets of the critic and the faultfinder.

The cacophony of sound reminds one of the conventions of the animals in the children's fable. They have gathered to inspect the newcomers and to prognosticate their future. Some with knowledge and kindly spirit, hold up high hopes and give words of cheer. The owls that cannot see in the light speak words of hollow wisdom. The ravens croak and leave one with a hollow feeling at the stomach. The lions and the tigers and other beasts of prey advise that the only thing to do is to go out and get what you can, tear it to yourself wherever it is and make it your own. A certain other class of the animals, more vocal than musical, shake their long ears and try to outvie the owls in the wisdom of their advice.

A good deal of the ridicule, the jeering, the caustic comment comes from people who have not altogether made the most of their own opportunities. They have an unholy glee in sitting on the fence and watching the recruits for life's battle march to their duty and jeering at them as incompetent, overconfident, or doomed to failure like themselves.

So we have the would-be witty cartoonist, the newspaper and the magazine writer, to say nothing of the ministers, college professors and presidents, ready to tell you all about it. Some write books depicting occasional alleged evils in college life as characteristic, to be sold for a dollar or two—the Judas price of disloyalty to institutions, society and truth.

But why worry about these writers? Some do not deserve notice. Of those that do, most deserve only a laugh.

Courses in Road Study in Public Schools Would Spread Useful Knowledge

By H. G. SHIRLEY, President Road Builders' Association.

The public schools should adopt regular periods throughout the year for the study of the economics of the nation's highways, as well as the benefits derived from the construction of good roads.

The American Road Builders' association has set aside the week of January 10 to 14, 1927, as National Good Roads week. At that time all schools of the United States will be invited to take part in reviewing the progress in road construction, and in studying the traffic conditions in general, as well as the benefits derived from good roads. The week will be climaxed among these schools by the announcement of the winners of a national essay contest conducted by this association, the contents of which will summarize the knowledge of good roads accumulated during the first half of the winter.

Schools owe a great debt to the highway. The consolidated system in many states has resulted from the good roads movement. In Mississippi more than 72,000 children are taken to their studies each day over the highway. North Carolina transports 65,000 children to school each day, and Indiana, 47,000. These children are enabled to attend better schools, taught by better teachers, and from distances heretofore prohibitive.

Desire for Easy Life Weakening the Moral Fiber of the Present Generation

By JUSTICE MARVIN B. ROSENBERY, Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Lessening of the struggle for existence has brought about frivolity and a lessening of the sense of responsibility for the general welfare. Religion is one way of combating the tendency.

There has been a change in the motivation of society within recent years. Human hopes cluster around certain fundamental things: First, self-preservation; second, the establishment of a home, the begetting and rearing of children, their education and establishment in life and all that appertains to it; third, the hope of immortality.

While cynics may sneer, it nevertheless remains true that the desire of man to live and conduct himself that he may enjoy a happier life hereafter has been one of the great motivating factors in the life of our race.

The fourth incentive is the desire of every normal man to have the satisfaction which comes from a full and complete exercise of his natural capacities in the accomplishment of some desirable end.

Possibility That Women Will Rule Business Within the Next Twenty Years

By SIR CHARLES HIGHAM, London, England.

In twenty years women will dominate all branches of the business world if men do not pull themselves together. In my own business I am placing women in positions formerly occupied by men. Eighty per cent of my employees are women. I believe in an equal wage for women and men. Today women in business are more energetic, more thorough and take a keener interest in their work.

The managing director employs women secretaries because he is anxious to be relieved. They realize his responsibilities and help him. They work for him alone. Men often swank outside the office and to show their importance mention facts they should not. Women never do.

The qualities fitting women for business are superior loyalty, neatness and cheering ability to work, together with a desire to study their task and advance.

Juvenile Delinquency on Decrease in the Larger Cities of the United States

By CHARLES L. CHUTE, National Probation Association.

Individual diagnosis and social treatment instead of punitive and oppressive measures have caused a decrease in juvenile delinquency in the larger cities of America.

Sometimes it is claimed that the home has broken down, that youth is in revolt, that children are all going to the bad, but figures we have show a marked decrease in juvenile delinquency in the last few years.

There is no need to exaggerate evil, we are making headway. Without the social, preventive work done by our juvenile courts and social agencies, it is probable that the factors at work today would have produced a real increase in crime.

Supple Velvet Is Popular Material

Dainty Flower Designs Are Favored by Paris; Metal for Decorations.

Perhaps the most striking detail of the Ducharme fall fabric collection is the wonderful quality of the chiffon velvets, which might pass through a wedding ring with the greatest ease. Some of these, notes a Paris fashion writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal, are made in a small check that is destined to be immensely popular during the winter.

Another novelty that arouses much admiration is a chiffon with a wide velvet border. Sometimes the velvet is plain and sometimes embossed.

Velvet embossed on voile in a small flower design is yet another favorite. This embossed velvet is even made for lingerie and negligees in the palest colors, such as pink, ciel blue and yellow.

Quite remarkable is a lame crepe that is printed with a flower design after it has been woven with gold. Another beautiful novelty is lame crepe de chine with scattered flowers and butterflies in gold and silver on lovely pastel colors.

There is a satin broche, metal flecked, with tiny stars of silver and gold. A whole series of lames and extraordinarily supple velvets are made in small flower designs that are adaptable to afternoon or evening gowns. Then there is a series just the opposite, with large scattered designs that are repeated each yard in a wide panel.

One of the most beautiful of these is a pattern of butterflies and bull-rushes on a ground of pale crepe de chine. The design is so beautifully woven in gold and silver that it actually has the appearance of hand embroidery.

Metal butterflies on georgette crepe show richness brought out in a delicate fabric. A new crepe hindou that resembles crepe remain is patterned with great golden roses scattered over it. Two-color effects are introduced in a crepe that is also bordered with lame design.

A metal gauze that is almost uncrushable, so fine and supple is its texture, is called mousse d'or, for it has the consistency of foam. Panned printed with bright colored flowers is an attractive novelty of great richness. It is also made in gray on a bright-colored ground. A marvel of textile art is the crepe that is woven with the metal design in relief and some of it with a half-velvet effect.

Nearly every color is seen. Vert serpent is lovely, and so are figure and cendre de roses. The new pastel tints are warmer than those worn during the summer, and there is no hint of gray in them.

Fancy Shoulder Pins Important Accessory

Fancy shoulder pins are becoming an increasingly necessary article of jewelry, either to hold a bow in place, a small bouquet or single flower, or just to interrupt an otherwise plain line. Naturally there must be variety in any selection of such pins, the favored type at present being the fob style, somewhat resembling a badge or medallion. A studded cross bar, either of rhinestones or in a combination of other stones, forms the main part and from it hangs either a lattice of metal studded with stones or single strands of metal. Some of these strands are flexible, others rigid, making possible a wide choice of selection. The gem combinations consist mostly of rhinestones combined with either sapphires, onyx, emeralds, topazes or amethysts.

Square Scarfs

Nothing is smarter at the moment than large square silk scarfs for wear with the tailored costume. These huge rectangles of silk are blocked in geometric designs and in startling colors and their size and flexibility make them responsive to a dozen modes of drapery.

Modish Coats Feature Huge Novelty Cuffs

With the featuring of huge novelty cuffs on the newer coats, enters an element of romance. Does not the very mention of pirate or troubadour cuffs, for so are these deep flaring cuffs called, suggest "days of old, when knights were bold?" Certainly, according to this picture, these big and wide and graceful cuffs lend a picturesque note to the coat of cloth. This model is made of an exquisitely fine beige woolen. The stitched strappings of self-colored velvet attest to the popularity of velvet as a trimming for cloth. The tie-collar is also an outstanding style touch.

Wonderful Display of Hats for Fall Brides

This season the bride has a wonderful selection of delicate shades to choose from for her wedding hat, which can be felt, satin or falles silk. The colors come under such fascinating classifications as powder puff and fairy-tale shades. In the latter a blue much like periwinkle is called Blue Beard blue; the Peter Pan green is a shade between apple and deep river green; Cinderella gray is a little darker than the opal gray, which has been shown so much; mother goose is a soft shade of tan with a glint of gold in it; sleeping beauty is also a soft, pretty shade; Aladdin's lamp runs into the wood shades, which have been shown for some time; briar rose is in the raspberry shading.

In the powder-puff shades the colors run a little stronger. The steppichase and jockey-club blue remind one of the familiar royal blue. In the greens there are jungle, wintergreen, paradise; also Eve, Eden and Locarno. The midnight sun, sun god and totem are in the burnt orange shadings. In the browns we have sweetmeat, toast, tiffin and stroller's tan. If the bride wishes to choose any of the colors named the bridesmaids wear tones a little darker.

Felt hats are preferred for the occasion. A slight mushroom in front, the back a brim turning up tight to the crown. The crowns are tacked and dented in on all sides. Any style that suits the bride's face is the correct style. In most of the smart shops hats are being fitted to the customer's head. A nice thing about selecting a felt hat for the wedding hat is it can be worn that day and then used also on the wedding trip. Little trimming is needed—a narrow ribbon around the bottom of the crown with a smart tailored bow on the right side and a single initial pin complete the typical hat.

Antelope, Printed Gazelle Among New Winter Furs

The brisk autumn weather has made the woman of fashion anticipate comfortably the luxurious fur coat she must inevitably include in her winter wardrobe. And there is a particularly interesting and varied choice for her to consider this season.

On the whole, the straightline silhouette is adhered to, with a few exceptions in the form of flares and capes. Naturally the silhouette continues short, the skirt portion merely covering the hem of the frock beneath, except in the case of the sports coats which are many inches shorter. Collars are in general full and generous, while the sleeves are as varied in the different collections as the sleeves of the gowns they will cover.

Most of the Paris sports coats seen at the football games are slightly shorter than the dresses with which they are worn, and have large, high pockets, producing a subdued swag effect. They are developed in simple straight lines, and may be of the flat furs, antelope and printed gazelle being among the favorites.

The Plaited Silhouette

The rodet and the flare have passed in Paris, but the plaited silhouette still maintains its place in the sun, quite impervious to the challenges of time. Box plaits, knife plaits and impressed plaits are employed and they appear on the sides and back of coat and dress, and occasionally beneath a flaring tunic.

Aid for Spawning Fishes

Because the building of huge water-power dams in the streams on the Pacific coast has brought a serious problem to the production of salmon and trout, elevators are being constructed to carry the fish to the quiet headwaters of the streams to spawn. The device is operated by hydraulic pressure and is automatic in every respect. It can be utilized at any obstruction, regardless of height, and fish can go down as well as up.

Bridging Baltic Sea

One of the most wonderful railway journeys in Europe is that from Hamburg to Gothenburg by Copenhagen, when the train is carried on ferry steamers across the Little Belt, the Great Belt, and the Sound, and so crosses the mouth of the great Baltic sea.

But now the Danish state railways are planning to replace the ferry on the Little Belt by a railway bridge. The work will take ten years and is expected to cost about $85,000,000.

IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies. From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2833 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

Mrs. Gust Green of 401 Lincoln Park Boulevard, Rockford, Illinois, found herself in a condition similar to that of Mrs. Kraft. "I was weak and run-down," she writes, "but the Vegetable Compound has helped me and I feel better now. I recommend it to all women who need more strength."

FAIRY QUEEN'S BALL

THE Fairy Queen is going to give a ball tomorrow evening," said the Breeze Brothers, "and she wants you to come. It is to be a fancy dress ball, and costumes are to be flower costumes.

"Everyone must look like a flower." These were the messages the Breeze Brothers took around with them, and everyone sent back word to the Fairy Queen that the invitation was accepted with much pleasure.

The next evening everyone came and in the sky Mr. Moon wore his crested-shape suit, which was one of his very best he considered. He said he couldn't dress like a flower very well as he had no flower costumes but he would do the best he could at the time.

Then, They All Danced! Such a Dance as it Was.

And everyone admired Mr. Moon for the Fairy Queen was very fond of Mr. Moon's crested shape.

The Fairies were all dressed like little Bluets or Eyebrights. They wore costumes of blue, with four blue petals coming out from these costumes, while the center part was of white.

Old Mr. Giant came dressed in a costume to make him look like the Indian or Wild Tobacco Flower.

Witty Witch came dressed in the costume of the Cardinal Flower, and the bright scarlet of her costume was much admired.

The Elves wore costumes so that they looked like Black-Eyed Susans or Yellow Daisies. And they wore breeches which were very coarse and rough to show that Black-Eyed Susans had very coarse stems.

The Gnomes wore costumes so that they looked like Violets. Some looked like Yellow Violets and some like Long-Stemmed Purple ones.

Others looked like White Violets and some were like little Purple Violets almost hidden under their leaves.

Then they all danced! Such a dance as it was. And so lovely a sight as it was to see all the Fairyland people dressed in their beautiful flower costumes.

They had a delicious woodland supper with Moss Lea-Cream which the Fairy Queen had made herself.

And then, after supper was over and Mr. Moon had laughingly refused to eat anything saying that if he did he feared that he would have Moon indigestion, the Fairy Queen sang a song she had made up especially for the occasion.

But there was a lot of joking about Mr. Moon and his indigestion first. He was asked what Moon indigestion was, and he said that it was indigestion people had when they couldn't think of what they had eaten to give them indigestion and then saw the Moon and said the Moon must have given it to them.

He said he had never heard anyone say that, but he had to think of an answer so quickly to the Fairyland people that that was the best he could do upon such short notice!

But he said he was sure that if he ate he would have indigestion and then they'd have to send a hot water bottle up to the sky and a warm blanket to cover over him, and he would hate to have to put them to all that trouble.

So he refused their kind offer of food.

Then came the Fairy Queen's song and it ended up with these lines which all joined in singing:

"We're dressed to look like flowers, Oh, happiness is ours!" (Copyright.)

How It Started
By JEAN NEWTON

AESOP'S FABLES

TALES of beasts and animals are common in the folklore of all nations. But it is a circumstance that started the practice of using these tales to make a point, as a vehicle for satire or moral teaching, that we owe what has become an institution on the bookshelf of every child, our collection of "Aesop's Fables."

Though we call them "Aesop's Fables," the little stories known by that name have come down to us from the lips of many story tellers of ancient times and the bards of the Middle Ages. Their common character, however, of showing the rewards of virtue and the penalties of selfishness and other vices, had its origin with the ancient Greeks after whom they are named.

During the epoch of the Tyrants in Greece free speech was dangerous, and political criticism unwise. It was then that one Aesop, an educated slave of Samos, conceived the idea of putting over attacks on the government veiled in fables. The practice was taken up all over Greece and thereafter it was his name that was given to all fables—animal tales whose object was satire or moral teaching.

When free speech was established in the Greek democracy the custom of using fables to prove a point and to teach was continued. Then, or about the year 300 B. C., Demetrius Phalereus, founder of the Alexandria Library, collected all the fables he could find and gave them the title of "Assemblies of Aesopic Tales." These and the similar tales which have come down from ancient India, where the fable was also used for moral teaching, form the bulk of what we know today as "Aesop's Fables." (Copyright.)

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

MEETING A PIG

IT IS bad luck to meet a pig while on a journey; and if, on going visiting, you meet a pig on the way it is a sign that you will not be welcome when you arrive at your destination. These are superstitions—or rather a variation of the same superstition—found to be rather common in Canada and New England and perhaps existing in other localities. Also some fishermen object to meeting a pig when about to embark for the fishing grounds, and some old-fashioned sailors regard the hog askance, if they meet one just before sailing.

This idea that it is bad luck to encounter a hog at the beginning of any enterprise is a mild form of a similar superstition found among the northern nations of Europe, especially among the Scottish fishermen, among whom an intense horror of even the animal's name prevails.

That the hog was connected with moon-worship we know and one writer says in regard to the superstition under consideration, "All animals connected in folklore with the moon are diabolical, a relic of the antipathy of sun-worshippers to moon-worshippers." This antipathy can only have existed, however, among the Northern nations. The most civilized peoples of antiquity, we know, worshiped both the sun-god and the moon-goddess; conceiving a union instead of an antipathy between them. But among the Northern nations sun-worship was prominent; the traces of moon-worship comparatively few. The dwellers on the misty capes of Scotland and Norway had not the same reason to worship the "source of moisture" as the Egyptians had and moon-worship, therefore, may have been considered highly heterodox. As the superstition in question is a Northern one, perhaps the explanation cited is correct. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED

AN OLD colored man, who had been crippled in the railroad service, served for many years as a watchman at a grade crossing in the outskirts of a Kentucky town not far from where I formerly lived. By day he wielded a red flag and by night he swung a lantern. He was conscientious and wide-awake and proud of his position of responsibility and authority and for a long time no accident occurred to mar his perfect record.

Finally, though, one dark night a colored man from the country, driving home from town, steered his mules across the track just as the Memphis flyer came through and abolished him, along with his team and his wagon. His widow sued the railroad for damages. At the trial the chief witness for the defense was the old crossing watchman.

Dressed in his Sunday best Uncle Gabe stumped to the stand, took the oath to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. And then, under promptings from the attorney for his side, he proceeded to give testimony strongly in favor of the defendant corporation. He stated that he had seen the approaching train in due time, standing in the street, he had waved his lantern to and fro for a period of at least one minute. In spite of the warning, he said, the deceased had driven upon the rails just as the train whizzed across the street.

Naturally, the attorney for the plaintiff put him to a severe cross-examination. Uncle Gabe answered every question readily and with evident honesty. He told just how he had held the lantern, how he swung and joggled it and so forth and so on. So convinced was the jury by his air of sincerity that, instead of giving a judgment for the full amount of damages asked, they awarded the widow only a few hundred dollars—a much smaller sum than the railroad had figured it must pay.

After court had adjourned the lawyer for the railroad sought out the old man and congratulated him upon his behavior as a witness.

"Gabe," he said, "you acquitted yourself splendidly. Weren't you at all nervous while on the stand?"

"I suttinly was, boss," replied Uncle Gabe. "I kep' wonderin' what wuz gwine happen or dat wite gemelman should ax me if dat lantern wuz lighted." (© by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, Inc.)

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE
BY JOSEPH KAYE

AT 21—Florenz Ziegfeld's Great Ambition Was to Become a Concert Pianist.

"AT THE age of twenty-one I was manager of the Chicago Musical Institute, founded by my father in 1867, where all branches of musical art were taught.

"My ambition then was to become a great pianist, but soon this desire gave way to something very different. Twenty-three found me studying at college and the greatest ambition of my life had changed from pianist to doctor. After that, the life work that I dreamed of was medicine.—Florenz Ziegfeld.

TODAY—Ziegfeld may be called a student of anatomy, but not in connection with medicine. He has a deserved reputation for being the best judge of feminine beauty in America, and in the possession of this power has made his "Follies" a reigning institution in this country.

Ziegfeld was the first to give America the form of entertainment known as the "revue," and which is so popular and so standard now. He started the Follies 17 years ago and with each new annual edition it has received more acclaim and become the leader in its field despite the fact that so many entertainments of this kind are produced every season. In Ziegfeld's case has been proven once more that the originators of any popular product remain first choice with the buyers.

The Follies was not Ziegfeld's first theatrical enterprise. It was he who exhibited Sandow, the famous strong man, to Americans and reaped a fortune from this enterprise both for his charge and himself. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Farmers everywhere are turning to "U.S." Blue Ribbon Boots and Overshoes!

The "U.S." Blue Ribbon Walrus slips right on over your shoes. Its smooth rubber surface washes clean like a boot. Made in red or black, 4 or 5 buckles.

THIS is why. "U.S." Blue Ribbon overshoes and boots are built with thick, oversize soles, tough as an automobile tire. Into the uppers goes rubber so elastic that constant bending won't crack it. Anchored in this rubber are the strongest of reinforcements. Look for the "U.S." Blue Ribbon when you buy. It will pay you!

Desert Mirages

Light plays queer pranks on the desert. Often travelers will see, for a whole day, what looks like a narrow strip of water, shimmering along the horizon many miles ahead. It was merely a mirage.—Grit.

Woman's Place

I approach with reluctance the last burning question. Is woman's place in the home? It certainly is, but the difficulty lies in deciding whose home she wants to be in. Personally, whenever I see one that appeals to me, someone has beaten me to it.—From "If I Know What I Mean," by Elsie Janis.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Coolidge Address in Kansas City Chief Event of Armistice Day.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

FACING the east and standing in silence, all America paid tribute at 11 o'clock on Armistice day, to the memory of our World War dead—the 77,000 young men who gave up their lives in France or in the camps in this country.

Chief feature of the Armistice day doings was the dedication of the state Liberty Memorial in Kansas City—chief because the speaker of the day there was President Coolidge.

In the course of his address the President took occasion to discuss the matter of American entry into the World court, and he served notice on the other nations that he would not ask the senate to modify its reservations.

Mr. Coolidge asserted that as a nation we not only did not profit from the war, but we suffered immense losses. He spoke of adequate preparation for the sake of protection without entering into competition with others in the maintenance of armed forces.

QUEEN MARIE of Rumania spent the week-end in Chicago, where she was fittingly entertained by both the city officials and society, and where there was the usual American exhibition of social pushing and of that inverted snobbery that advertises its disrespect for royalty and all that pertains to it.

NOT the least interesting news of the week was the announcement that Princeton university had severed athletic relations with Harvard, thus breaking up the "Big Three" combination that has existed, with some interruptions, for many years.

for which President Lowell of Harvard apologized to President Hibben of Princeton, and the Harvard Crimson aggravated the ill-feeling by its editorials. But the real reason for Princeton's action was the announcement of Harvard's proposed new policy in football matters, under which Harvard would have only one fixed game on its schedule each year—the contest with Yale.

SUPPLEMENTING a statement from the White House, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon made an official announcement of the administration's plan for income tax reductions, showing it is not proposed to compute the flat percentage cut on 1926 tax payments on last year's incomes.

VINCENT MASSEY has been appointed Canada's first minister to Washington by an order in council passed by the dominion cabinet. Mr. Massey is in England with Premier MacKenzie King attending the imperial conference.

ONCE more the United States protests to Mexico against the oil and land laws of that country. The latest in a long succession of notes on this subject was handed to the Mexican foreign office by Charge d'Affaires Schoenfeld, and again was stressed the necessity for fundamental modifications in these two laws to eliminate from them all possibility of their retroactive application in violation of agreements entered into between the two governments in 1923.

Late reports indicate that General Obregon is not having an easy time in carrying out his plan to destroy the Yaqui Indians as a people and scatter them through the country. The Yaquis are fighting with all their old-time desperation, have gathered strong forces and at last advice are threatening the towns of Mazatlan and Las Pastras, both of which have considerable American interests.

FORMER Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, appeared before the District of Columbia Supreme court and pleaded not guilty to charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in the naval oil reserve leases.

AT THE bidding of Premier Mussolini, the Italian chamber of deputies expelled 120 members of the so-called Aventine opposition on the ground that they had absented themselves ever since the protest "strike" resulting from the murder of Matteotti, Socialist deputy. The ousted members lost their parliamentary immunity and some of them were arrested, but most of them had taken the precaution of leaving Rome.

The chamber also passed the law providing the death penalty for attempts on the life of Mussolini or the royal family. The duke took to himself another cabinet job—that of the minister of the interior—and issued orders for a systematic application of all laws for the protection of the regime and the preservation of public order.

GREECE held its elections last week and the Republicans were victorious, winning about 85 per cent of the votes and 160 of the 280 seats in parliament. Premier Condylis and his government resigned and President Condouriotis called on Kafandaris to form a new cabinet.

WITH the simple declaration that light travels at the rate of 299,796 kilometers per second, made before the National Academy of Science in Philadelphia, Dr. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago announced the practical completion of the research that has occupied most of his time for forty years.

HUNDREDS of natives were drowned and great property damage was done by a typhoon that swept over a section of the island of Luzon in the Philippines. Many villages were wiped out and the inhabitants blown into the sea to perish.

AMONG the deaths recorded during the week was that of James K. Hackett, one of America's best actors, in Paris. He had spent much of his time of late in France and was exceedingly popular in that country.

FOLLOWING the example of the governments of Italy and Russia, Marshal Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, caused to be issued a decree which threatens with fines and prison sentences ranging from three days to three months whoever spreads wrong information about government action or government members or military movements.

SELECTING THE "PUNKIN"

"Oh, fruit loved of boyhood! the old days recalling, When wood-grapes were purpling and brown nuts were falling! When wild, ugly faces we carved in its skin, Glaring out through the dark with a candle within!

Thanksgiving Day Festival Long Known to Man

In All Ages Special Occasions for Rejoicing Have Called for Observance.

Thanksgiving day is older than the authentic records of history. For victory won, calamity survived, for good hunting, man was assuredly giving thanks long before he knew how to classify himself in the world in which he lived.

If the latest deductions of the scientists are right, man was contemporaneous with some of the great beasts, reptiles and birds which it was once thought had the earth to themselves. There must have been some rare outbursts of joy in that long ago when our ancestors occasionally got the best of an ichthyosaurus, put a dinosaur out of business, knocked out a dinotherium, or killed a mammoth.

Feast Not Complete Without the Pumpkin To the ringing chorus of praise to corn and wheat, to dairy cow and beef steer, to fattening porker and fleecy-lined sheep, we desire here and now to add our piping voice in a word of praise to the punkin. Not pumpkin—punkin. Nestling in yellow, globular beauty amidst the corn rows, the glorious pie punkin gives promise of gustatory delights in the immediate future.

Of humble station, with few to sing its praises, it has been the standby of succeeding generations. Demanding little, it gives much. Without it Thanksgiving would be a hollow mockery. It graces alike the table of the rich and aristocratic, and the table of the toiler in humble place. It has all season for its own, for it may be dried in festoons from the rafters of the humble cottage, or canned for storage in the cellars of the well-to-do.—Omaha Bee.

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist at least four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

New Kitchener Story The surgeons of a big liner must gather a fund of stories about prominent people. Dr. J. C. H. Beaumont, senior surgeon of the Majestic, who has just written his reminiscences, relates that on one occasion Lord Kitchener, who was on board, was worrying the other passengers by his unsociability. Eventually a plot was arranged that the lady sitting opposite at dinner should wink at him. She did so. Nothing happened. He simply stared right through her and went on eating.

Old World Charm Meets
New World Conveniences

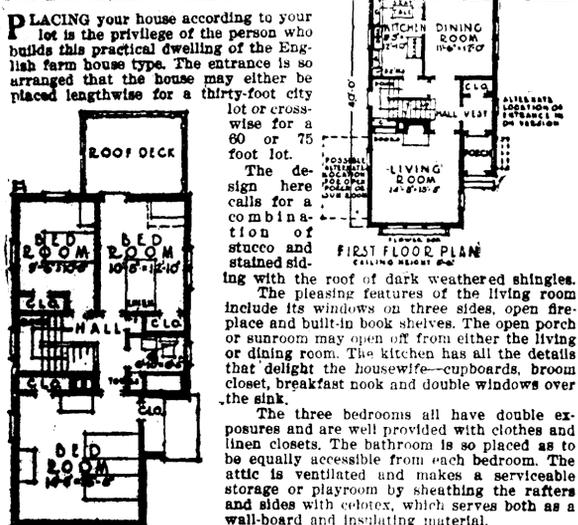

PLACING your house according to your lot is the privilege of the person who builds this practical dwelling of the English farm house type. The entrance is so arranged that the house may either be placed lengthwise for a thirty-foot city lot or crosswise for a 60 or 75 foot lot.

The design here calls for a combination of stucco and stained siding with the roof of dark weathered shingles. The pleasing features of the living room include its windows on three sides, open fireplace and built-in book shelves. The open porch or sunroom may open off from either the living or dining room. The kitchen has all the details that delight the housewife—cupboards, broom closet, breakfast nook and double windows over the sink.

The three bedrooms all have double exposures and are well provided with clothes and linen closets. The bathroom is so placed as to be equally accessible from each bedroom. The attic is ventilated and makes a serviceable storage or playroom by sheathing the rafters and sides with celotex, which serves both as a wall-board and insulating material.

This small home so light and spacious, yet compact and adapted to doing without a servant, is a typical 1926 product. The poky, dark houses of fifteen or even ten years ago with their fussy little hallways and poor planning would be scorned by the modern housewife who has learned to expect comfort built right into her home and to have everything planned for her convenience in working. Cold, draughty houses are also out of date. All well built houses, are insulated as this one is, with celotex sheathing on the exterior walls under the stucco. This effects a great saving in fuel in the winter and resists the intense heat of the sun in summer.

Gratitude—"What Am I Thankful For? For home, and friends, for food, and all good gifts that Heaven sends, yes, for all these and more; for pain and sorrow, and for stern rebuff, for briars and stones, that make my pathway rough; grateful for the thorny way I've trod, for every hurt that sends me to God." A Thomas. The Thanksgiving season sends us back to God the giver of every good and perfect gift. Back to the power house of the universe. From every station high lines extend to all

Nature's Elements
At some one point on the earth there is always a storm in action. The power by these storms at any one instance is greater than the output of the electrical generating plant at Niagara Falls.

Working in Stone

Stucco work was known to the ancients and was much prized by them, particularly by the Romans who called it in it. It was revived by the French about the year 1850; and in their hands and England in the nineteenth century.
