FINE ATTRACTIONS SECURED FOR LOCAL ENTERTAINMENT SERIES

Season Tickets Now on Sale

Some excellent attractions have been secured for local enjoyment this fall and winter. The committee buying carefully from the Interstate Bureau of Chicago, has chosen five strong numbers: THE BUBBLE, a three-act comedy; HOWARD RUSSELL'S COLLEGIANS; FRYE AND COMPANY, Illustrations; HENRY BLACK BURNS, Lecturer; and THE CUTLER-GRIFFIN CONCERT COMPANY.

Such a strong line-up is made possible by the fact that the Interstate Bureau is placing its special de luxe combination of five star numbers in nearly two hundred towns and cities in this general section. By clubbing together in this way it is possible to secure talent that would otherwise be practically prohibitive in price.

It is hard to pick the best because there is much variety. Lovers of high-class vocal and instrumental music may prefer the concert, entertainment and operatic revue given by the Cutler-Griffin Company with their many colorful features and handsome costumes. Others may choose Howard Russell's Collegians, a lively musical and entertainment group of young men from Canada, or the Frye Company with its magic, illusions, and spiritualistic effects.

Everyone, of course, will wish to see the play "THE BUBBLE," Edward Locke's comedy masterpiece, with a record of long runs in New York and other cities, and to be played here by an excellent professional cast. And Dr. Henry Black Burns, whose lecture, "Chords and Discords," a platform classic, has been heard thousands of times from coast to coast, will not lack patrons.

Season tickets for this exceptional bargain in worth-while entertainment will be on sale at the leading stores, banks, and by members of the local committee. Naturally a considerable saving is effected by buying season tickets.

The way to get full value out of the course is to secure season tickets and attend all the numbers, for each is entirely different from the others and all are planned with a view to the general effect.

Every type of high-class entertainment—musical, vocal, dramatic, and comic—is provided, up-to-date, snappy, but with emphasis on the best things.

The Committee wishes especially to call attention to the lecturer, Dr. Henry Black Burns, whose appearance on any platform is an event.

FOR DATES SEE NEWSPAPER ANNOUNCEMENTS.

PINCKNEY WINS From BRIGHTON

Brighton High School defeated the Pinckney school team recently by a score of 6 to 0 and came over here last Friday all primed to repeat the performance. However their plans went wrong and the finish of the game found them on the short end of a 13 to 7 score.

Pinckney got a touchdown in the first five minutes of play by plays off tackle and guard with Hendee carrying the ball most of the time. He made three first downs in succession advancing the ball to the one yard line where Capt. Nash took it over. Hendee made the extra point. Brighton started a line plunging attack as it was by means of this she had won the first game. However the Pinckney line had been strengthened since then by putting Reason, Nash and Graves of the backfield in the line on defense and Brighton found herself up against a stonewall and was unable to make any gains through it. They then started forward passing late in the second quarter completing a triple pass Hicks receiving the ball and running forty yards for a touchdown. Jacoby made the extra point. Score Brighton 7, Pinckney 0 at the end of the half.

In the last half Pinckney being unable to gain through the line started to forward pass and run the ends. Blades received a lateral pass from Reason and made a beautiful 50 yard run for the winning touchdown. Pinckney did not make the extra point. Brighton made a hard fight to win in the last half, making the greatest number of first downs and having the ball in her possession most of the time. By means of a triple pass they carried the ball to the Pinckney twenty yard line. Here they tried a forward pass which Blades intercepted and carried back forty yards. In the last quarter another triple pass again carried the ball to the twenty yard line but on the next play they fumbled and Carr recovered the ball for Pinckney. Brighton later worked the Notre Dame shift but the ball was called back as both teams were off side. Brighton showed great ground gaining ability until they got within scoring distance and then they never seemed to use the right play. Blades was Pinckney's leading ground gainer with one fifty and two forty yard runs to his credit. Hendee and Nash were the defensive stars for Pinckney being always in the thickest of the fray and making numerous hard tackles. Jacoby, Hicks and Radtke starred for Brighton.

30th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

At a dinner party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Meyer of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin were delightfully entertained Thursday, October 20, the occasion being their 30th wedding anniversary.

At a table beautifully decorated with roses several friends and relatives partook of a bountiful feast, such as Mrs. Meyer frequently serves. To the surprise of Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Meyer in behalf of her father, presented her with a beautiful diamond ring, and assured her that the only reason she had not received it previous to her marriage was that either Mr. Martin feared losing both the bride and diamond or else, he didn't have money enough to buy it.

When a man lives with a woman thirty year and then presents her with a diamond ring the recipient must be worthy.

ANDERSON ELEVATOR BURNS

The elevator at Anderson owned by the Stockbridge Elevator Co. caught fire from unknown source last Thursday evening and burned to the ground. The fire was discovered about 9:00 p. m. but had probably been going for some time before that as it was well underway then. It apparently started in the west end of the structure where a quantity of baled hay belonging to Max Ledwig was stored. The Pinckney fire department was summoned but as no water was near at hand the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done. The elevator had been closed down for the past two years on account of the Stockbridge Elevator Co. going into the hands of a receiver. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Monday noon the fire engine was summoned to the George Sigler farm on the Dexter road, about two miles southeast of town, the farmhouse there having caught fire from an overheated chimney. The fire was easily in the roof and after some hard work was extinguished by the use of the chemical tank but not before a considerable part of the roof on the bright part of the house had been badly damaged by the flames. The house was occupied by Arthur Allyn and family.

HURT IN RUNAWAY

One day last week when John Dunn and his sister, Mrs. Mary Murphy were on their way home their horse became frightened at something and ran away. The buggy was overturned and the occupants thrown out. Mr. Dunn was dragged for some distance and his face badly torn, several stitches having to be taken in order to close a wound in his upper lip. Mrs. Murphy was not injured at all. The accident occurred near the Sprout cemetery.

SPECIAL SINGING

Miss Lura Simpson, a lyric soprano and a student of James Hamilton at the U. of M. School of Music will sing at the Pinckney Community Congregational church next Sunday evening, October 30. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come and hear her.

BIG FOOT BALL GAME FRIDAY

Pinckney will play her biggest game of the season Friday afternoon, October 28 when they meet the Chelsea high school foot ball team at Pinckney. This team has won every game on their schedule, having defeated Pinckney 13 to 0 earlier in the season, they have also won from Manchester, Clinton, Grass Lake and Turcklyn. They played the last named team last Friday and won by a score of 66 to 6. They are heavier than Pinckney, very fast and well coached. The locals have been pointing for this game all the season and their one ambition is to beat Chelsea and there is no doubt but that the game will be a good one. It will start at 4:00 p. m. and Bassett will referee. Every body come out to the game and give the team your moral support.

HAS CAR STOLEN

Mrs. Clifford VanHorn was one of the delegates from the Lakeland Circle to the Kings Daughters Convention at Ann Arbor last week. Last Thursday at the conclusion of the convention for the day she went to the place where she had parked her car and found that some one had stolen it. The sheriff's office and police were both notified but up to the present time have been unable to find any trace of it. The stolen car was a Fordor Ford sedan.

HAINES-WATERS

Miss Cynthia Haines, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haines of Pinckney and Waldo Waters of Plainfield were united in marriage at the M. E. parsonage at Plainfield on Wednesday evening, October 19 by Rev. H. B. Clark. Soon after the ceremony they left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls, New York, New Jersey and will also visit at the home of Mr. Waters' sister at Great Barrington, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of the Pinckney high school and has many friends here with whom the Dispaten joins in extending congratulations.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

The students of the sophomore class and their friends were entertained Friday evening at the home of their president, Miss Evelyn Graves. The evening was very pleasantly spent with games and music after which refreshments were served.

Importance of Mental Sunshine

By F. A. WALKER

THE title of this is stolen boldly and boldly from a tobacco advertisement, which is proof that it really pays to read the paid-for publicity, often the most useful as well as the most interesting part of our newspapers and periodicals.

Just what ordinary sunshine is we do not know.

We know that from it we get light and heat and that both are made up from vibrations in the ether and the atmosphere which separates the earth from the ether.

We know that a pane of glass will allow the passage through it of a maximum of the light and a minimum of the heat, and we know that a sheet of black iron will allow the passage of a maximum of the heat and a minimum of the light, but the cause of the vibrations and what makes the difference between the light and heat vibrations are among the many unsolved problems of science.

Mental sunshine offers us no such enigma.

There is nothing through which the light of a smile will not penetrate.

There is nothing which will not show the effects of a warm hand-clasp.

There is no sun among all the billions of the heaven's luminaries that will reach into the depths of sorrow but mental sunshine will lighten those dark places and warm the coldness of a soul.

All that we see in this world is made visible by reflected light. The green of the fields, the blue of your sweetheart's eyes, all color and all form are visible to us only by the light which reflected from them and galling upon our retinas is telegraphed by our optic nerves to the opposite side of our brains. The reason we cannot see objects in the dark is because they reflect no light.

The man who cannot and does not reflect mental sunshine is living in the dark, a lonesome and pitiable creature.

We cannot cultivate sunshine in the heavens, but we can encourage it in ourselves. We strive and deny ourselves for money. We make little or no effort to increase our mental sunshine. Yet money without happiness is an empty and useless thing, while happiness without money is a wealth we can spend unceasingly and never lessen the supply.

What do you say to spending five minutes a day letting our mental sun radiate its light and warmth on whomever and whatever is within its radius? If we begin with the five minutes it will shortly shine all through the 24 hours.

Best Lookers From Brazil

Miss Lea Tora, the prettiest girl, and Olympio Gullherme, the handsomest man, of all Brazil, as they arrived in New York for a tour of the United States.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly healthy, especially when a few drops of Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill, fretfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Martha Martin Tells of the Zoo

"WHAT is the news?" asked the Camel.

"The lioness just had a tooth pulled," said the Zebu with the two humps.

"I heard a great roaring some time ago," said the Camel. "Was that what was bothering the lioness?"

"Oh, she feels all right now. Her jaw feels a bit sore, of course, but the toothache has all gone, for the tooth has gone.

"She was roaring with the toothache. That was the trouble."

"Oh, I see," said the Camel.

"Any other news?" asked the Camel after a moment, as she moved her mouth from side to side as though she were chewing.

"None that I know of," said the

Zebu. "Oh, yes, come to think of it, I have some news."

"Well," said the Camel, "why didn't you think in the first place?"

"Now look here, Cam," said the Zebu, "don't be so fussy or I won't tell you the news."

"Oh, very well," said the Camel quite pleasantly. "I would like to hear the news."

"They say that they're bringing to the zoo some of the smaller animals

no matter. I see you don't want to make any silly little jokes.

"Perhaps it is just as well.

"Then there is to arrive in the zoo a white-footed mouse, a bat, I believe, and a long-eared owl.

"Of course this is just what I hear. I can only tell you that.

"I believe a new Red Fox is coming to the zoo, too, and that the fox has sent word that he must have good food awaiting him of both meat and fruit.

"He also has sent word that he is bringing his mate with him.

"They're clever—those red foxes—and very smart—but they're good to each other, I'm told. Yes, fox mates are always very happy together.

"I don't believe I have any more news for you," the Zebu said.

"Well," said the Camel, "you've done very well. I couldn't do any better. In fact, I haven't had any news to tell you.

"But then, of course, I have been so much interested in watching my small son grow up into being a fine Camel like his Daddy that I haven't paid much attention to anything that was going on.

"I just thought today I'd like to know what the news in the zoo really was. As a matter of fact, I've thought there was no other news in the zoo except that of the birth of my son.

"That happened some time ago, too. But still it seems like news to me, great and glorious and wonderful news.

"I have been able to think of nothing else."

"I know that," smiled the Zebu. "I am in the yard next to you. I know you haven't been interested in anything or anyone else.

"Your son has been the most important thing to you."

"But he's not a 'thing,'" said the Camel.

"You'll admit he is important, won't you?" asked the Zebu.

"Oh, that is very different," grinned the Camel, as she turned to her son. "Of course you're important. You're the most important Camel that ever lived. And you are your mother's pride and her camel joy!"

such as a flying squirrel, a chipmunk, a few rats."

The Zebu stopped for a moment.

"You're supposed to say 'Oh, rats!' when I say that."

"And then I am supposed to answer, 'Yes, rats!'"

"Why should I go to all that trouble?" asked the Camel.

"Just for fun," said the Zebu. "But

Nellie Maxwell's Recipes

A GOOD cake is never out of place in the week's menu. Where the family is small it is wise to make cakes which will not dry quickly or do as one neighborhood does—bake a cake and divide it with another. Half of a cake is enjoyed to the last crumb.

Almond Chocolate Potato Cake.

Cream one cupful of butter and beat in one cupful of sugar and one cupful of sweet grated chocolate. Add the beaten yolks of four eggs, one cupful of fine almonds, two cupfuls of rice potatoes, two cupfuls of flour sifted with one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of cloves. Add the flour gradually and alternate with milk to make a thick batter, about three-fourths of a cupful. Fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs and bake in a well-greased tube pan.

Raisin and Green Pepper Salad.

Simmer one-half cupful of raisins in one-fourth cupful or more of orange juice until soft, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Arrange a bed of lettuce, cover with shredded green pepper and the raisins and pour over a thousand island dressing prepared as follows: Beat very slowly into a half cupful of mayonnaise one teaspoonful of vinegar, salt and paprika to season, one chopped red pepper, one green pepper chopped and a half dozen olives, also chopped. Mix well and season with scraped onion and serve with the above salad.

Favorite Apple Salad.

Core six red apples and cook them carefully in boiling water until tender but unbroken. Carefully remove the skins, scrape the red from them and paint the cheeks of the apples. Chill and arrange on lettuce. Fill the center with chopped nuts and celery and serve with a rich mayonnaise. Garnish the filled apple with a sprig of bleached celery and a nut or two.

Salmon and Pea Salad.

Take a can of salmon, removing all skin and bones, add an equal amount of cooked peas, season well and serve with highly seasoned boiled dressing to which a chopped sour pickle has been added. Serve on head lettuce with plenty of dressing for garnish.

Three new types of rifles, designed to take the place of the reliable old Springfield rifles now in use, were given final tests at Camp Meade, Md., under the watchful eyes of high army officers. The new Pedersen, Thompson and Garand semi-automatic, self-loading rifles, much faster than the Springfield, are held by, left to right: Maj. Gen. H. B. Crosby, chief of cavalry; Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Williams, chief of ordnance, and Maj. Gen. Robert H. Allen, chief of infantry; while Col. E. L. Cooper, extreme right, holds an old rifle.

Woman's Responsibility in Life

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

WOMAN'S most important responsibility in life is her relation to the social needs of her age. It is impossible to correctly appraise any age separated from the youth of that age. The future generation will reflect the standards of the children of the present generation. Directing the spirit of youth in the ways of stimulating realities is a tremendously important task. The most important thing a person can do is to mold a human life and set it voyaging toward eternity. The development of a child reflects the character of a mother. Like mother, like child. A woman's place in the world determines the progress of civilization because of her influence upon the child life of the age.

What then is the meaning of woman's struggle for freedom? In what light is her entry into the economic world to be interpreted? Has her larger freedom come through the neglect of duties in the home? Has her liberty made her any less "mother"?

man in the counting house, store and office. Her participation in industry is a marked characteristic of the present age. Her name shines luminously in the realms of science and the arts. These privileges are hers, achieved not through the neglect of other duties, but rather made possible by the invention of labor-saving devices which relieve her of many of the exacting details of housekeeping. It is leisure and not neglect of domestic responsibilities that has enabled woman to revalue herself in the light of her new liberty. The leisure thus released is directed toward important and constructive ends. Through her self-assertion in the economic and industrial world woman is lifting the level of life through the infusion of her ideals into the youth of a work-a-day world. By the intelligent application of these ideals to life, like leaven in the meal, woman is becoming an increasingly important factor in the progress of civilization.

Woman has taken her place beside

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the blood, so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

the One Hundred and Fifteenth street branch of the New York public library the shelf which formerly contained the Spanish classics has been expanded to several shelves. One hundred and seventy-five new titles have been added only this summer. PAUL W. LEAH, librarian, the chief librarian, said, and a Spanish-speaking assistant has been employed since Mr. Leah and the Spanish-speaking members of the staff in caring for the shelves of the new patrons.

According to a report just issued by the New York Mission society there are between 110,000 and 150,000 Spanish-speaking inhabitants in the city, approximately 90 per cent of them are unskilled laborers, but there are also successful professional men and merchants in this number. About 400 are Porto Ricans, employed in cigar-making industry. The remainder are, roughly, 7,000 Spaniards, 10 Cubans, and the rest Mexicans.

The Click of Castanets

If he stops to listen he may also hear the rhythmic click of castanets coming from the studio of a dancing teacher in one of the nearby houses; and if one happens to be in a room on the third or fourth floor across the street, he may be treated to the sight of a senorita in dancing costume—merely practice costume, which is more abbreviated—giving such an exhibition of graceful motion as one seldom sees except upon the stage. Many a Spanish stage dancer has been trained there, in fact.

Finds $175 Black Pearl in 10-Cent Shellfish

New Bedford, Mass.—Raymond Curtis, a letter carrier, spent 10 cents for quahogs recently and as a result is $175 today. One of the shellfish contained what he thought was a black shoe button. A jeweler examined it and declared it to be a black pearl worth $175. Had not Curtis in his curiosity to decide just what he had found in the quahog cut a piece of the pearl off with his knife, the gem would be worth $50 more, the jeweler said.

Mississippi River Is Staging a Come-Back

A group of steamboats at the St. Louis levee, their fires under forced drafts, about to depart for points along the Mississippi river from Keokuk, Iowa, to New Orleans. Last year more than a million tons of freight moved through St. Louis and this year is seeing further increases in river shipping. The Father of Waters is fast regaining the prestige it enjoyed during the glorious eighties.

PEARLS CHANGE COLOR AS MALTZAN IS BURIED

Legend of German Heirlooms Comes True as Family Decides to Lock Strand Up Forever.
Miltich, Silesia.—The casket holding the famous Maltzan pearls, which legend says, came to the family by supernatural means and are said to change color whenever a death in the family occurs, was opened by the general desire of relatives in consequence of the death of Baron Ago von Maltzan.
It was found that all the pearls had turned a yellowish tinge, instead of only one pearl becoming discolored, as hitherto has been reported to have happened whenever a member of the family died.
The last occasion that this definitely was established, according to family records, was in 1892, when the baron's grandfather died.

"Aunt Sarah," 100, Always Was Foe of Fresh Air

Sparta, Wis.—One can live to be one hundred without paying much attention to these modern "fresh air notions," declares Mrs. Sarah J. Irwin, who celebrated her hundredth birthday anniversary at the Morrow Memorial Home for the Aged here recently. She has slept with her bedroom windows closed all her life.
"Aunt Sarah," as the old lady is called, reads without glasses and follows carefully the events of the day in the newspapers, even taking considerable interest in sports. "Common-sense living" is her prescription for longevity. She always has eaten anything she wanted to, she says, declaring it "doesn't matter so much what one eats so long as one doesn't eat too much."
A native of Orange county, N. Y., she came West with her husband in 1868. Mr. Irwin died in 1901, but Aunt Sarah continued to keep house until she was ninety-three, coming to the home here seven years ago.

Kaiser's Tub for Sale, Including Gas Heater

Essen, Germany.—Is there anyone who wants to buy an imperial and royal bathtub used by the former kaiser, with a warranty of its genuineness, all complete?
If so, here is an advertisement in the Rheinisch Westphalian Gazette, to interest him:
"For Sale—Historical bathtub with gas heater. Real copper, inscribed His Majesty Emperor William II used this bath at his first visit as Kaiser to Dusseldorf, May 4, 1891."

Cigar 37 Years Old Is Soon to Be Smoked

Kansas City, Mo.—And now comes George C. Smeltzer, 4235 Prospect avenue, with a claim which puts to shame the puerile boasts of owners of ancient motor cars and growers of big peaches, tall corn, and long string beans.

Mr. Smeltzer, piqued by the efforts of the motorists and agriculturists to attain the superlative, recently revealed what he believes are the city's two oldest cigars, one thirty-seven and the other thirty-one years old. He is soon to smoke them.

Both are in a good state of preservation, Mr. Smeltzer asserts, and "as good as new." Except for a slight scent of mothballs, which of course is excusable, their aroma is unimpaired.

The older of the two was one of a box passed out to guests at the wedding of C. J. Prescott, brother-in-law of Darius A. Brown, former mayor, in 1890. Mr. Smeltzer says its preservation was no reflection on its quality, but the result of a desire to retain some memento of the event.

The younger is from the box distributed by Mr. Smeltzer when his son, D. K. Smeltzer, was born in March, 1894. The box was given to him, Mr. Smeltzer said, by the late Fred Harvey, founder of the chain of restaurants and hotels which bear his name.

He saved one cigar from the box for his son to smoke on his twenty-first birthday. Its prolonged existence is due to the fact the son never learned to smoke.

Bird Heroes of World War Still in the Army

Washington.—A Canadian government request for information concerning War department pigeon lofts has revealed that a group of veteran birds that carried messages during the war still are serving the country. Several among them bear wounds received in action.

These are among the 465 pigeons in the army breeding loft at Fort Monmouth, N. J. There are also at the loft a number of pigeons captured from the German army in the war.

Among the pigeon heroes is "President," the bird that lost a leg from a wound received while returning with a message from tanks in the St. Mihiel offensive. "Spike" is another St. Mihiel veteran, being credited with having carried 53 messages back from front line units in that operation. "Mocker" is another of the war wounded, having had one eye shot out at St. Mihiel.

Credit Goes to Maxim for Idea in Aviation

Bliram E. Maxim is believed to be the first to prove that a body heavier than air could be lifted by its own motive power. His crude and complicated machine accomplished the feat in July, 1894. It was supplied with screw propellers weighing 135 pounds each and measuring 17 feet 10 inches over the tips of the blades. These were attached to a shaft that ran at an average speed of 375 revolutions a minute, operated by a pair of compound engines, supplied with steam from a combined multitubular boiler, feed-water heater and gas-heating burner, weighing 1,000 pounds, provided with 7,650 jets, the boiler having a heating surface of about 800 feet. The entire machine, together with its full equipment of fuel, water and men, weighed less than 8,000 pounds. A writer in Cassier's Magazine, in 1895, observed:

"As a mechanical structure this machine is unquestionably a masterpiece of work and it has been appropriately described by an eminent engineer as 'not an invention, but a museum of inventions.'"—Kansas City Star.

Improve Your Complexion

Peoria, Ill.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to be a better medicine even than they say it is. The four bottles which I took as a tonic seemed to act like magic on my entire system. It even regulated my bowels and cleared up my complexion so that I look and feel like a different person. I do not expect to ever find a better tonic and alterative than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."—Mrs. D. T. Sibley, 207 Wayne St.

Golden Medical Discovery is a personal blessing to every man and woman. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood and clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes. In liquid or tablets, at your Drug Store.

Well-Placed Kick

Cecil Gardner of Arkansas City, Ark., was brooding over his troubles as he crossed the pasture of his father's farm. He gave vent to his rebellious feelings by kicking vigorously at what appeared to be a worn-out shoe sole. There was a shower of $20, $10 and $5 bills. Gardner had kicked a decaying wallet.—Pathfinder Magazine.

IS A HEALTHIER STRONGER GIRL

Because She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can. In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 113 Willow St., Silverton, Oregon.

Girls who work in factories know just how Miss Schmidt felt. Perhaps they, too, will find better health by taking the Vegetable Compound.

Importance of Mental Sunshine

By F. A. WALKER

THE title of this is stolen boldly and boldly from a tobacco advertisement, which is proof that it really pays to read the paid-for publicity, often the most useful as well as the most interesting part of our newspapers and periodicals.

Just what ordinary sunshine is we do not know.

We know that from it we get light and heat and that both are made up from vibrations in the ether and the atmosphere which separates the earth from the ether.

We know that a pane of glass will allow the passage through it of a maximum of the light and a minimum of the heat, and we know that a sheet of black iron will allow the passage of a maximum of the heat and a minimum of the light, but the cause of the vibrations and what makes the difference between the light and heat vibrations are among the many unsolved problems of science.

Mental sunshine offers us no such enigma.

There is nothing through which the light of a smile will not penetrate.

There is nothing which will not show the effects of a warm hand-clasp.

There is no sun among all the billions of the heaven's luminaries that will reach into the depths of sorrow but mental sunshine will lighten those dark places and warm the coldness of a soul.

All that we see in this world is made visible by reflected light. The green of the fields, the blue of your sweetheart's eyes, all color and all form are visible to us only by the light which reflected from them and galling upon our retinas is telegraphed by our optic nerves to the opposite side of our brains. The reason we cannot see objects in the dark is because they reflect no light.

The man who cannot and does not reflect mental sunshine is living in the dark, a lonesome and pitiable creature.

We cannot cultivate sunshine in the heavens, but we can encourage it in ourselves. We strive and deny ourselves for money. We make little or no effort to increase our mental sunshine. Yet money without happiness is an empty and useless thing, while happiness without money is a wealth we can spend unceasingly and never lessen the supply.

What do you say to spending five minutes a day letting our mental sun radiate its light and warmth on whoever and whatever is within its radius? If we begin with the five minutes it will shortly shine all through the 24 hours.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill, fretfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean. A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

"WHO'S BEEN BATTIN' 'EM OUT HERE?"

Martha Martin Tells of the Zoo

"WHAT is the news?" asked the Camel.

"The lioness just had a tooth pulled," said the Zebu with the two humps.

"I heard a great roaring some time ago," said the Camel. "Was that what was bothering the lioness?"

"Oh, she feels all right now. Her jaw feels a bit sore, of course, but the toothache has all gone, for the tooth has gone.

"She was roaring with the toothache. That was the trouble."

"Oh, I see," said the Camel.

"Any other news?" asked the Camel after a moment, as she moved her mouth from side to side as though she were chewing.

"None that I know of," said the

Zebu. "Oh, yes, come to think of it, I have some news."

"Well," said the Camel, "why didn't you think in the first place?"

"Now look here, Cam," said the Zebu, "don't be so fussy or I won't tell you the news."

"Oh, very well," said the Camel quite pleasantly. "I would like to hear the news."

"They say that they're bringing to the zoo some of the smaller animals

no matter. I see you don't want to make any silly little jokes.

"Perhaps it is just as well.

"Then there is to arrive in the zoo a white-footed mouse, a bat, I believe, and a long-eared owl.

"Of course this is just what I hear. I can only tell you that.

"I believe a new Red Fox is coming to the zoo, too, and that the fox has sent word that he must have good food awaiting him of both meat and fruit.

"He also has sent word that he is bringing his mate with him.

"They're clever—those red foxes—and very smart—but they're good to each other, I'm told. Yes, fox mates are always very happy together.

"I don't believe I have any more news for you," the Zebu said.

"Well," said the Camel, "you've done very well. I couldn't do any better. In fact, I haven't had any news to tell you.

"But then, of course, I have been so much interested in watching my small son grow up into being a fine Camel like his Daddy that I haven't paid much attention to anything that was going on.

"I just thought today I'd like to know what the news in the zoo really was. As a matter of fact, I've thought there was no other news in the zoo except that of the birth of my son.

"That happened some time ago, too. But still it seems like news to me, great and glorious and wonderful news.

"I have been able to think of nothing else."

"I know that," smiled the Zebu. "I am in the yard next to you. I know you haven't been interested in anything or anyone else.

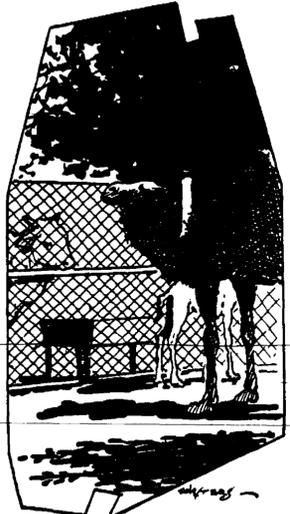

"Your son has been the most important thing to you."

"But he's not a 'thing,'" said the Camel.

"You'll admit he is important, won't you?" asked the Zebu.

"Oh, that is very different," grinned the Camel, as she turned to her son. "Of course you're important. You're the most important Camel that ever lived. And you are your mother's pride and her camel joy!"

such as a flying squirrel, a chipmunk, a few rats."

The Zebu stopped for a moment. "You're supposed to say 'Oh, rats!' when I say that."

"And then I am supposed to answer, 'Yes, rats!'"

"Why should I go to all that trouble?" asked the Camel.

"Just for fun," said the Zebu. "But

Nellie Maxwell's Recipes

A GOOD cake is never out of place in the week's menu. Where the family is small it is wise to make cakes which will not dry quickly or do as one neighborhood does—bake a cake and divide it with another. Half of a cake is enjoyed to the last crumb.

Almond Chocolate Potato Cake.

Cream one cupful of butter and beat in one cupful of sugar and one cupful of sweet grated chocolate. Add the beaten yolks of four eggs, one cupful of fine almonds, two cupfuls of rice potatoes, two cupfuls of flour sifted with one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of cloves. Add the flour gradually and alternate with milk to make a thick batter, about three-fourths of a cupful. Fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs and bake in a well-greased tube pan.

Raisin and Green Pepper Salad.

Simmer one-half cupful of raisins in one-fourth cupful or more of orange juice until soft, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Arrange a bed of lettuce, cover with shredded green pepper and the raisins and pour over a thousand island dressing prepared as follows: Beat very slowly into a half cupful of mayonnaise one teaspoonful of vinegar, salt and paprika to season, one chopped red pepper, one green pepper chopped and a half dozen olives, also chopped. Mix well and season with scraped onion and serve with the above salad.

Favorite Apple Salad.

Core six red apples and cook them carefully in boiling water until tender but unbroken. Carefully remove the skins, scrape the red from them and paint the cheeks of the apples. Chill and arrange on lettuce. Fill the center with chopped nuts and celery and serve with a rich mayonnaise. Garnish the filled apple with a sprig of bleached celery and a nut or two.

Salmon and Pea Salad.

Take a can of salmon, removing all skin and bones, add an equal amount of cooked peas, season well and serve with highly seasoned boiled dressing to which a chopped sour pickle has been added. Serve on head lettuce with plenty of dressing for garnish. (© 1927 Western Newspaper Union.)

NEW TYPES OF RIFLES FOR INFANTRYMEN

Woman's Responsibility in Life

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

WOMAN'S most important responsibility in life is her relation to the social needs of her age. It is impossible to correctly appraise any age separated from the youth of that age. The future generation will reflect the standards of the children of the present generation. Directing the spirit of youth in the ways of stimulating realities is a tremendously important task. The most important thing a person can do is to mold a human life and set it voyaging toward eternity. The development of a child reflects the character of a mother. Like mother, like child. A woman's place in the world determines the progress of civilization because of her influence upon the child life of the age.

What then is the meaning of woman's struggle for freedom? In what light is her entry into the economic world to be interpreted? Has her larger freedom come through the neglect of duties in the home? Has her liberty made her any less "mother"? Woman has taken her place beside man in the counting house, store and office. Her participation in industry is a marked characteristic of the present age. Her name shines luminously in the realms of science and the arts. These privileges are hers, achieved not through the neglect of other duties, but rather made possible by the invention of labor-saving devices which relieve her of many of the exacting details of housekeeping. It is leisure and not neglect of domestic responsibilities that has enabled woman to revalue herself in the light of her new liberty. The leisure thus released is directed toward important and constructive ends. Through her self-assertion in the economic and industrial world woman is lifting the level of life through the infusion of her ideals into the youth of a work-a-day world. By the intelligent application of these ideals to life, like leaven in the meal, woman is becoming an increasingly important factor in the progress of civilization.

From "Pop Goes the Weasel" to Grand Opera
Cutler-Griffin Company Program a Concert, Operatic and Entertainment Revue, Here Soon on Interstate Series.

CUTLER-GRIFFIN COMPANY

Everett Cutler, noted lyric tenor; Helen Griffin, soprano and violinist of distinction, and Al Pearsall, pianist and entertainer extraordinary, make up the Cutler-Griffin Company of Boston, booked here on the Interstate Entertainment Series.

Mr. Cutler's beautiful voice has been heard in nearly a thousand towns and cities during the past few years. He is worth going a long way to hear. Miss Griffin studied violin under Serge Koussevitzky, of the Petrograd University, the teacher of Zimbalist and Jacob Selde. She has sung successfully leading roles in comic opera and oratorio from coast to coast.

Al Pearsall is an accomplished musician, a serious composer, a humorous monologist, and a musical stunt artist. He plays a piano and saxophone duet by himself, and two different tunes at the same time with his back to the piano, besides a lot of other interesting things.

Selections—vocal and instrumental—from Pinafore, Mikado, Student Prince, Rose Marie, Tosca, Il Trovatore, popular ballads, piano, violin, saxophone and cello combinations, a minuet, readings, old fiddlers' tunes, and costume sketches are a few of the many good things they do. There are some different costume changes, including Japanese, Gypsy, Crinolines, Louis XVI, characters from Pinafore, and others.

Waffles By Wire

in many households waffles—that toothsome and nourishing dish—are considered as a treat to be enjoyed only occasionally. This feeling, no doubt, is a sort of "left-over" from the troubled hours of the old-time cast-iron contrivance for waffle-making, with its grease and smell and tiresome running between kitchen and table.

The Electric Waffle Iron has changed all that. Waffles of a deliciousness rarely made in former days are cooked at the table and served fresh, hot and crisp. No grease, no offensive odors, no walking about.

The Electric Waffle Iron runs on 2 1/2 cents' worth of current an hour. It sells at from $7.95 to $13.00, on convenient terms.

Some Early History of Motor Car of Today

The history of the motor car began more than 200 years ago, when Street, an English inventor, first utilized oil as motive power. It was not until 70 that a really practical gasoline engine appeared. It was the work of his Hock of Vienna.

The next name connected with the history of the motor car is the most

"Power" Enough
The negro preacher was tall and powerful of frame, and as he preached he whacked the pulpit cushion with hammer-like strokes of his massive fist. But his preaching consisted simply of the repetition of one phrase: "May the Lord give us more power. More power, O Lord!"

At last a small negro got up in the back of the church, a disgusted expression on his face, and called out:

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Teapot Dome Lease Is Canceled—Woman Fails in Atlantic Flight.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

FINAL victory has been scored by the federal government in its three years' fight to regain the valuable oil fields that were leased to others by Albert B. Fall when he was secretary of the interior. Last week the Supreme Court of the United States vitiated the Teapot Dome lease held by Harry F. Sinclair. The decision sustained the ruling of the Circuit Court of Appeals which reversed a Wyoming federal court that upheld the validity of the lease. This brings back to the government Wyoming oil lands estimated to be worth $100,000,000, plus $3,000,000 in cash now in the hands of the court's receivers; $2,000,000 worth of oil taken out by Sinclair before suit was started and for which he must make restitution, and more than $1,000,000 worth of oil tanks, pipe lines and other improvements constructed by Sinclair, but for which the court denies him equity because of the leasing form.

The court's decision last March, similarly denouncing the Doherty lease of the Elk Hills (Calif.) naval reserve as illegal and fraudulent, restored even more valuable oil lands to the navy. A survey just completed by oil experts estimates that the Elk Hills lands contain 720,000,000 barrels of oil, or nearly three times the amount previously estimated. Its value is placed at fully $300,000,000. The government also recovered $24,000,000 for oil drilled out by Doherty and for value of tanks, etc.

Last week's decision, which was unanimous, branded Fall as "a faithless public officer." It held that the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company was contrary to the oil conservation policy of the government. Fall's contention that development of the reserve was necessary to prevent drainage was denounced as a representation made in "bad faith."

RUTH ELDER, daring and skillful Florida aviator, almost achieved her ambition to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic. With George Haldeman as co-pilot, she drove the plane American Girl to within about 1,000 miles of Paris despite strong head winds that forced them off their course, and then a broken oil line forced them to come down in the ocean. Fortunately the Dutch tanker Barendrecht was close by and picked up the two flyers unhurt. An attempt to salvage the plane was made, but a gasoline tank exploded and it was burned. The rescue took place about 800 miles northeast of the Azores and the aviators were taken to the islands, whence they were to continue their trip to France by steamer.

Miss Elder and Haldeman were in the air more than 41 hours and flew 2,574 miles—a record for all-water flights. The storm they encountered reduced their average speed from the expected 100 miles an hour to about 72. The last five hours of their flight was made with no oil pressure in their motor.

AMERICAN workers still yearn for their beer and have not given up hope of getting it. The American Federation of Labor, in convention in Los Angeles, adopted by viva voce vote a resolution demanding that congress modify the Volstead act "so as to permit the manufacture and sale of wholesome beer."

President Green's policies were upheld when the convention voted, 135 to 82, against application of the federal quota law to Mexican immigration. The executive council, after a year's investigation of the relationship between labor and the government in Mexico, reported that it did not consider the Mexican government a trades union regime, though the relations between it and the labor movement are "very intimate."

Max S. Hayes of Cleveland, who was Farmer-Labor candidate for vice president in 1920, offered a plan for a labor party, but the convention almost unanimously supported Mr. Green's alternative proposal that "we work for the friends of labor in both national parties at the polls." The delegates also rejected resolutions denouncing the government's policy in Latin America and China, and approved the Monroe Doctrine.

MEXICO'S latest revolutionary movement is, as predicted, effectively suppressed and Calles is more firmly in the saddle than ever, with Obregon assured of the succession to the Presidency. General Gomez and his band of followers in the state of Vera Cruz were attacked at Chualuco by loyal troops under General Escobar and utterly routed, bombing planes playing a considerable part in the engagement. Gomez and his staff officers, seeing the day was lost, fled into the hills. Felix Palavicini, a journalist who has been deported, lays all the blame for the mutiny on General Serrano, who was caught and executed. Obregon says that when he becomes President he will follow Calles' policy in compelling Catholics and other religious denominations to respect the laws, since this policy has the support of the majority of the people of the country.

YUGO-SLAVIA and Bulgaria have practically settled their row over raids by Bulgarian comitadjis or irregulars along the border, but now Poland and Lithuania are on the eve of a break which may have serious consequences. The Lithuanian government has closed Polish schools and confiscated Polish estates in Lithuania, and plans to declare Vilna the capital of the country, despite the fact that that city was seized by Poland seven years ago. Then, last week, a number of Poles were arrested in Lithuania on charges of having plotted the assassination of President Smetona. The Polish government sent an ultimatum to Kovno threatening action unless Lithuania should radically alter its policy within one week. Marshal Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, wishes to avoid the use of force if possible, but the British minister to Warsaw reports that the situation is fraught with danger.

OVER in China the pendulum has swung back and the Shansi armies that had defeated Marshal Chang's troops and threatened to take Peking have themselves been beaten in battle and at last reports were retreating westward in considerable disorder. About 10,000 of the Shansi soldiers were captured and sent into Manchuria. The northern forces began operations for the capture of Shansi province and against Gen. Feng-Yu-hsiang in Honan province. Peking's feeling of relief was modified by the knowledge that it had been saved partly by the calling in of a horde of 15,000 Mongol cavalry, reputed to be the fiercest and most cruel fighters in all Asia.

SPAIN began its return to a constitutional parliamentary government last week with the formal opening of the new national assembly by King Alfonso. But it was only a faint start that way, for the assembly membership is picked by the dictator, Gen. Primo de Rivera, and so seems certain to do the bidding of the directorate which he heads. Two of the women delegates, the duchess of Parcent and Countess San Luis, resigned just before the assembly opened.

SENATOR JAMES A. REED of Missouri, who stands ready to accept the Democratic Presidential nomination if Gov. Al Smith cannot get it, was endorsed as a candidate by the Missouri state committee at Sedalia, and then delivered to a big assemblage of Democrats what was considered the keynote speech for his party in the coming campaign. He denounced Republican rule as no less corrupt now than during the Harding administration and scored Mellon, Daugherty and Fall. Making a plea for unity, the senator said:

"Let us make our fight beneath banners proclaiming the right of each citizen to regulate his own personal conduct—chart his own course through life—determine his own habits and to control the affairs of his own household, free from all restraints. "If this people are to remain free, local self-government and the sovereignty of the states must be preserved. The march of centralization must be arrested. Government by boards and bureaucracies must cease.

"Let us demand:

"The honest administration of government.

"The swift and sure punishment of all public plunderers, bribemongers, and other malefactors.

"The equalization of the burden of taxation.

"The repeal of all laws creating special privileges.

"The dismissal of an army of spies, snoopers, sneaks, and informers."

RADICAL Republican senators have been holding a series of conferences in Washington, and it was reported their purpose was to promote the Presidential boom of Senator Norris of Nebraska. But some of them issued a signed statement disclaiming any "third party" intentions and denying their planned insurgency within their party. Their purpose, said these gentlemen—Borah, Norris, Fraxer, Nye and Brookhart—was to form a strong Western bloc and "get some unity of purpose and some solidarity of action" among Western senators and to impress upon the Eastern states and their representatives in congress that, as Senator Borah explained it, "a large portion of the United States lies west of the Allegheny mountains."

Friends of Norris, it is said, intend to enter his name in these fourteen preferential primary states: California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

MAYOR DUVALL of Indianapolis, convicted of political corruption, was sentenced last week to thirty days in jail and fined $1,000, and disfranchised for four years. He will appeal the case and says he will not resign until this appeal has been carried through the State Supreme court. The prosecutors believed he would be forced to quit office, in which case his wife, now city controller, would succeed him. Numerous civic groups are determined to oust both the Duvalls.

FEDERAL JUDGE F. P. SCHOONMAKER at Pittsburgh issued one of the most sweeping injunctions in the history of labor disputes, restraining the United Mine Workers of America, its officials and its members. Virtually every activity of the union against the nonunion Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation was forbidden. The union and its members were restrained from violence of any sort against company employees and prospective employees and against company property. Union pickets were restrained from putting their foot on company property, but were allowed to establish a single picket post on each road leading to the mines. Such pickets were cautioned against using abusive language, but were permitted the use of peaceful persuasion.

The long strikes of coal miners has been ended in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and other Middle Western fields, the men temporarily receiving the wages called for by the Jacksonville agreement until the question of pay has been settled by commissioners to be appointed.

WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE, President of the Irish Free State, obtained a majority of six votes in the new Dail Eireann and was re-elected the followers of De Valera and the Labor party voted solidly against him and the Redmondites refrained from voting. The chief attack on Cosgrave was delivered by Sean T. O'Kelly, a De Valera man, who declared the President was the tool of England and attacked his financial and economic policies. Next day Cosgrave announced his cabinet, which was approved by the same vote, and also announced that the Farmers' party had fused with the government party.

DEATHS of the week include those of Bishop P. J. Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., a leader in the Catholic church; Col. F. J. Dillon, member of the federal radio commission; F. D. Stout, one of the ten wealthiest men of Chicago, and Dom Miguel, duke of Braganza and pretender to the throne of Portugal.

Sports Dress Is Favored by Paris

Smartest Designs Featured for Autumn; New Fabrics Offer Gay Touch.

The advice first given by Paris a season or so ago, to travel in one's sports clothes, has proved both practicable and comfortable; so much so that the jumper frock in featherweight woollens is designated as a traveling costume as often as it is as a sports frock. Certainly, asserts a Paris fashion writer in the New York Times, the young college woman preparing for a journey, and winter at school can make no better choice than this, since these smartly simple frocks fill a multitude of needs in the daily course of college life.

Before beginning a discussion of sports jumper frocks, it is necessary to reiterate once more that not all jumper frocks are alike. In the face of the evidence, Paris has not been at all successful in enforcing her mandate relegating the jumper suit to informal wear, and she has been forced to grant it entrance once more to the company of afternoon gowns. However, when it is made in jersey, kasha or one of Rodier's new kasha-dors woven with metal threads, there can be no question about its original purpose. Even when the skirt is of satin, as it is in many of the new two-piece frocks, the blouse of wool claims it as a sports frock. Jane Regny makes a charming outfit of this sort with the skirt of taupe satin box-plaited across the front, and with the jumper of taupe kasha woven with wide figured stripes

Three-Piece Sports Frock for Fall, Made of Wool Jersey.

In gold threads. A narrow strip of gold leather fastened with a long slender gold buckle like that on a dog's collar, made the belt.

Paris delights in the unexpected, the mildly incongruous, and has therefore been much taken with Beer's darning in trimming jersey sports suits with inserts of velvet. The first one of these to be shown was in beige jersey with orange section inserts of brown velvet curling up from the jumper's edge nearly to the shoulder. A second frock was even more surprising, since the V-necked jersey jumper was in wide cross stripes of black and steel gray and the plain gray velvet sprang up from the belt in spraying petals at either side. The skirt completing this costume was of plisse plaited steel gray jersey and had not taken the plaiting any better than jersey usually takes it, resulting in a peculiar gathering crepe appearance.

To have two blouses of varying weight and color, to be worn with one skirt, isn't a bad idea at all when the journey is long and packing space limited. Jane Regny very wisely chooses her two blouses so that they can either be worn separately as occasions demand or worn together as jumper and wrap. To achieve this successfully, she starts first with a skirt of heavy brown jersey, plaited all about in narrow box plaits.

Sports Skirts Are Box Plaited; Belt Sweaters

Sports clothes are prominently featured by the leading dressmakers of Paris. The new models in the winter collections have decided characteristics.

Skirts usually are box plaited or circular, or both. Fullness has a tendency to centralize in front and the top of hems may be indicated by a narrow stitch bias band of contrasting material. Many circular skirts of flannel are shown with knitted sweaters. Belts of suede or leather are worn, close to the normal waistline, with most sweaters.

Crepe Satin Street Dress

A smart little crepe satin street dress for a young girl has an all-around bolero and a skirt with three tiers that flare on the right side.

Black Satin Dress V-F

Featured in This Frocks

The black satin frock features a bodice with a deep V of beige georgette and cuffs, to match which are edged with diminutive pearl buttons. The skirt has a bias band of satin diagonally placed across the front and ending suddenly so as to achieve a sash effect.

Gaudy Evening Dress No More, Says Paris Modistes

"The elaborate evening gown has gone out of fashion perhaps forever," says Mme. Besancon de Wagner, creatrix for the House of Drecoll in Paris, in an interview with the Woman's Home Companion.

"I believe that, in dressing for the evening a woman should do everything to make herself lovely," said Mme. Wagner, "but capriciously patterned stuffs, heavy, multicolored ornaments, frocks that are gilded, silvered or covered with pearls are no longer worn by well-dressed women. Neither do they wear fabrics that crease and look like rags after they have been sitting in them for a few moments. The real dress of which I speak is classical enough in cut to be worn for several seasons and then remodeled if necessary. This may not be a good thing for my business, but nevertheless I think it is a thing a woman should aim at in buying an evening dress. Velvets, satins and lames are the materials which combine richness and dignity.

"For the evening dress for smaller women, I like rather daring, though untrimmed décolletages. If a woman has beautiful shoulders, throat and arms, she should show them. I like the strap décolletage, possibly a little lower on one side than the other. The deep U is also becoming for evening. The evening skirt may be short, just below the bend of the knees, or it may be given the appearance of greater length by an irregular hemline or a drapery falling below the skirt. The skirt must be full enough to fall gracefully about the figure and give that suggestion of lightness and youth which is so necessary today.

"The evening coat should be beautiful rather than striking in such materials as velvet lames and satins with heavy, though supple body. There is nothing more becoming than soft fur for an evening wrap. Its cut should be somewhat classical, too, for an evening wrap should be worn more than one season."

Train for Evening Gown on Paris Fashion Card

Almost any hem just so it is uneven, is the French idea for winter evening dresses says a Paris fashion correspondent.

Skirts which started out by being slightly irregular a few months ago, are now so exaggeratedly uneven that they may touch the floor behind and almost reach the knees in front. Or they may dip downward on one side only.

The long point behind is an accepted and often seen version of the uneven hem. Occasionally the point lengthens into a train. Sometimes there are two points and two trains, slender fishtails usually to be seen on velvet frocks.

They glide along in an amusing fashion and the modern young woman who has never worn a train is almost sure to be fascinated by them.

Dressmakers report a gratifying number of orders for the trained dresses in their collection.

Narrow Bowknots Back on Paris Fashion Card

After several seasons of ostracism bowknot trimmings are back. A shoulder bow of the same material as the dress or coat is one of Paris' latest trimming ideas.

Afternoon dress of crepe and satin particularly employ this simple form of decoration. The bows are usually tied with small loops and long ends from narrow double thicknesses of material. Bows of velvet ribbon are also used, though to a lesser extent.

"You Need a Diuretic!"

To Be Well You Must Be Proper Kidney Function.

THE kidneys are the blood filters. If their action becomes sluggish they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. Such wastes make one dull, tired and sick with aching muscles, headache, dizziness, loss of appetite, etc. A constant warning of imperfect kidney action is cranny or burning sensations.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, aid the kidneys in their eliminative work. 50,000 users have publicly recommended Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Famous Overnight

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

THE other day two news items appeared in daily papers all over the United States. This was one: Edinburgh, Pa., Sept. 23.—Edward R. McDonald, sixty-six, who dashed through the valley on horseback to warn the sands of residents of the approach of the flood that wiped out Johnstown in 1889, died today.

And this was the other: Skopje, Yugo-Slavia, Sept. 23.—The death here today of Milan Ciganovitch took away the last of the conspirators involved in the assassination of Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo in 1914, which precipitated the World War. Ciganovitch held a position on the Bosna frontier. He arranged for the entrance of the three assassins to Sarajevo by forging passports, and supplied them with bombs and revolvers. His name appeared in the Austrian ultimatum, which precipitated the war, as one of the conspirators whom Serbia was ordered to deliver to the Austrian authorities for execution. The three assassins who actually committed the murder died in jail in Sarajevo during the war, while a Serbian colonel also involved in the plot was executed by the Serbs in 1917 for high treason.

Johnstown and Sarajevo! Ever hear those names before? Probably. But you've almost forgotten what they stand for now, haven't you? Thirty-eight years ago the newspapers didn't go in for big streamer headlines as much as they do today, but the name of Johnstown was on everybody's lips because there occurred one of the great disasters that have lived in American history.

If, before June, 1914, you had asked the average American where and what Sarajevo was, not one in a hundred could have told you. But a few months later he could, for it was the assassination of an Austrian archduke there which proved to be just the necessary spark to set off the greatest conflagration in the history of the world.

Important as were the names of Johnstown and Sarajevo once, they are almost forgotten now, and it was a curious coincidence that the names of both should be recalled for an instant on the same day recently. It illustrates also the curious fact of how small towns may become famous overnight and almost as rapidly relapse into obscurity.

War and disasters seem to be the commonest agents for bringing one brief moment of fame to what had heretofore been out-of-the-way and obscure places. As long ago as 1066 a little town on the coast of England witnessed a battle which was to be a turning point in world affairs and the name of Hastings was added to the roll of historic places. Who ever heard of the town of Waterloo in Belgium before Napoleon's dream of becoming another Alexander the Great was shattered at the gigantic battle which took place there? It is doubtful if the name of Thermopylae would ever have meant much to anyone except the ancient Greeks if it had not been for the battle which took place in the mountain pass of that name in the year 480 B. C. And ten years later another great battle was raging near the ancient town of Marathon in Greece, a battle which was destined to give that name immortal fame. But when we moderns speak of a marathon (notice that we don't even capitalize it!) we're thinking of a foot race and not the name of a famous town.

But to get the thing nearer home—before the Revolution Saratoga in the province of New York was somewhat noted as a place where there were springs which, the Indians told their white brothers, had health-giving properties. Then in the year 1777 General Burgoyne, blundering along through the wilderness on an impossible campaign, suffered defeat after defeat and finally made what was destined to be his last stand at Saratoga. When he finally was forced to surrender to General Gates and his Continentals, Saratoga entered the select list of the "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World." Incidental to the Burgoyne campaign might be mentioned the name of the little New York town of Walloomsac in New York. Ever hear of it? Probably not. Ever hear of Bennington, Vt.? "Sure," you say, "That's where Gen. John Stark said to his men, 'There are the redcoats, boys. We beat them, or tonight Molly Stark sleeps a widow.'" As a matter of fact the "Battle of Bennington" was fought at Walloomsac, but this particular engagement goes under the name of "Battle of Bennington" because that Vermont town was Stark's headquarters. When Virginia was a colony Jamestown was much better known than Yorktown. But when Cornwallis was penned up in the latter place by Washington and Lafayette and virtually ended the Revolution by surrendering there, Yorktown became a most important place.

Take the sleepy little Pennsylvania town of Gettysburg in the year 1863. No one who lived there then would have believed that it was destined to fame. Yet when the Blue and the Gray became locked in desperate combat there early in July, Gettysburg was very definitely "put on the map." And two years later the little town in Virginia with the Indian name of Appamattox became almost as famous.

Twenty years ago Americans knew of Chateau Thierry only by reading the guidebooks. Then, in 1918 a bunch of hard-fighting marines made that place forever famous in American history, even though it is on French soil. Up in Belgium there was a little town named Ypres—barely known outside the borders of its own country. But French poilu, who called it "Eep" and Tommy who called it "Wipers," made it famous overnight.

Disaster is a high price to pay for brief fame, but such is often the case. Johnstown, Pa., can testify to that fact, as can Lorain, Ohio; Murphysboro, Ill.; Chatsworth, Ill. (Remember that old ballad with the line "The bridge was burned at Chatsworth; One hundred lives were lost?") and a host of towns in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana where the raging Mississippi put them in the headlines of the newspapers but almost wiped them off of the map this year.

Jason and the original argonauts failed to make any particular town famous but the latter-day argonauts have done that well enough. Thirty years ago Nome and Skagway and Dawson, away up in Alaska, were very much in the news. Then their fame faded until two years ago when the name of Nome was revived again. But it wasn't another gold strike this time that did it. Remember Gunnar Kason's dog race to Nome with the antitoxin for the diphtheria-stricken populace? When the Klondike excitement died down, some of the "sourdoughs" began wandering again in El Dorado. They found it (or thought they did) in Nevada a few years later and Goldfields and Tonopah broke into the headlines. Then their fame died and "Nevada" didn't appear in the news so much until— one day Weepah! Goldfields and Tonopah revived their languishing fame for a brief time by staging certain pugilistic enterprises. And once upon a time two heavyweights fought in Shelby, Mont.

There are strikes and strikes—gold strikes and labor troubles. The latter made Homestead, Pa., famous in 1892, Pullman, Ill., well known in 1894, and in 1914 Ludlow, Colo., was on newspaper front pages for weeks on end. Do these names mean anything special to you now?—Cave City, Ky.; Dayton, Tenn., and Paul Smiths, N. Y.? No? And yet it wasn't so long ago that you were thrilled over the attempts to rescue Floyd Collins from Sand Cave, and you were reading what Bryan and Darrow were saying in the Scopes trial and wondering how many fish President Coolidge caught yesterday.

Ver-Sur-Mer is a tiny French village. Kottbus, Germany, isn't much larger. Along came some American aviators, Commander Byrd landed near Ver-Sur-Mer and Chamberlain landed near Kottbus. So two more towns became "famous overnight." And their fame died just about as quickly. "Sic transit gloria mundi," indeed!

derstood that many plants may be poisonous in one part. A striking example is the rhubarb, where only an inch or two at the top of the stem lies between the poisonous leaf and delicious fruit.

POULTRY

MILK FEEDING IS CONSIDERED GOOD

Most milk feeding of poultry is considered a good thing and a money-maker if people have a little time in the fall, and are close enough to a town where the hotels or meat markets will buy the fowls at a special price. These people plan to have the springs and younger cockerets grow up with good-sized bones, and usually feed them up a few weeks before Thanksgiving. Young birds weighing from 3½ to 4½ pounds are the best, as they make tender meat and take on flesh quickly.

Pen fattening is the best way of feeding them on the farm. The birds are placed in a coop where they will not exercise much, and the change in food is made gradually for two or three days. The following ration is recommended as giving good results:

- 2 pounds ground corn
- 1 pound ground whole oats
- 1 pound flour middlings
- 3 pounds liquid buttermilk

This is mixed just before each meal, using skim milk if there is no buttermilk available. When fed it looks like pancake batter. Feed in troughs twice each day, and leave only enough before them so that they will clean it up in ten minutes for the first few days. If they are not hungry, do not force the feeding. It takes about eight pounds of feed for one pound of gain per chicken in fourteen days. Sometimes it pays to stop in ten to twelve days, if they are not gaining rapidly enough.

Grain Ration Valuable for Fattening Turkeys

Some turkey raisers feed equal parts of wheat and oats during the first part of the fattening season, gradually changing to corn as the weather becomes cooler. The common practice, however, is to begin feeding heavily on corn about November, and since turkeys are not accustomed to such heavy feeding, scours often result, especially if new corn is used. This practice of a sudden start with heavy feeding is to be discouraged. Old corn is a much better feed than new corn, but the old corn must be free from mustiness.

The best results in fattening are obtained when a grain ration of oats, wheat and corn is provided. A number of growers have tried fattening turkeys by confining them to small enclosures during the process, but with very little success. Turkeys confined to a pen usually will eat heartily for two or three days, but afterwards lose their appetites, and, consequently, begin to lose flesh rapidly. On allowing them free range again, they pick up rapidly and are soon eating as heartily as ever, which seems to indicate that a certain amount of range is necessary to keep them in a good, healthy condition so that they are always eager to be fed.

Find Hostess to Pests Makes Poor Egg Layer

A hen cannot feed worms and lay eggs. Poultry infested with worms are thin, droopy and emaciated and walk with an abnormal and stilted gait. On examination four kinds of worms may be found. They are: Large and small round worms, long tapeworms and nodular tapeworms, G. S. Vickers, poultry specialist at the Ohio State university, says.

All of them live in the intestinal tract of the hen. Treatment suggested for round worms is nicotine sulphate. If the hens are heavily infested it is recommended that each bird receive a nicotine sulphate capsule. In other cases 2 per cent of tobacco dust in the dry mash for a month is satisfactory. This should be repeated every other month.

Kamala is the most satisfactory treatment for tapeworms yet discovered. The University of Wisconsin recommends half-gram capsules for individual treatment. Birds weighing a half to one pound should be given one capsule, those weighing one to two pounds two capsules, three capsules to those over two pounds.

High Protein Feed

Meat meal or meat scraps are high protein feeds and are found in most chick mashers or laying mashers. They are used in connection with dried buttermilk in many feeds to furnish the animal protein which is lacking in grains. Experiments have shown that chicks or laying hens do better when supplied with animal protein to balance up the protein and other ingredients found in grains. Be sure that these products are all clean, fresh and sweet.

Keep Roosters in Jar

Male birds running with the poultry flock will keep the eggs fertile, but the fertile eggs will not keep. The hens will lay just as many eggs if there are no male birds running around. Excepting in cases where high priced male birds have been purchased to use this past season in the flock, it will be cheaper to dispose of all the male birds than to feed them until the next breeding season. One of the best ways to handle them is to castrate them.

Some Early History of Motor Car of Today

The history of the motor car began more than 250 years ago, when Street, an English inventor, first utilized oil as motive power. It was not until 1870 that a really practical gasoline engine appeared. It was the work of Julius Hock of Vienna.

The next name connected with the progress of the motor car is the most important of all—that of Gottlieb Daimler. In 1883 Daimler made the first small, high-speed petrol engine; all previous engines had been huge, clumsy and slow moving.

Two years later he installed his engine in a motor bicycle, and at the same time fitted boats with motors and ran them at Paris.

The boats attracted the attention of Levassor, another famous pioneer, who at once saw the immense possibilities in Daimler's invention. He bought the French patents from the inventor. Levassor invented a system of transmission—a method of taking the power from the engine to the wheels—and with a few small improvements this system is in use today.—London Tit-Bits.

"Power" Enough

The negro preacher was tall and powerful of frame, and as he preached he whacked the pulpit cushion with hammer-like strokes of his massive fist. But his preaching consisted simply of the repetition of one phrase: "May the Lord give us more power. More power, O Lord!"

At last a small negro got up in the back of the church, a disgusted expression on his face, and called out in piping tones:

"What you-all need, Bruddah Robbins, is not moah power, but moah ideas!"

Sterilizing by Oxygen

Bacteria can be killed by oxygen—if the pressure is made strong enough. By means of this discovery, Dr. L. R. Cleveland of the Harvard University Medical school has devised a method for sterilizing and preserving fruit juices without injuring their delicate flavors. He uses ordinary commercial oxygen gas, sold in cylinders for welding and other industrial purposes, and he says he can kill all germs and other micro-organisms, by using this oxygen, in from twelve hours to five days.

Is equipped with 4 cycle gas engine for use where electricity can not be had

The washing machine that in a short two years has become the fastest seller in Michigan is now available for people who do not have electricity. A 4-cycle gas engine furnishes the motive power—a gas engine that uses little fuel, starts with the push of a foot and is automatically lubricated. As dependable as the finest motor car and built to last a lifetime.

Has automatic safety wringer, automatic lubrication, tempered copper tub

Whirlpool's simplicity, speed and sturdiness makes the old back-breaking washday a matter of an hour a week. Regardless of the size of the washing there is nothing about the Whirlpool to adjust, nothing to lift out. Washes while clothes are added or emptied. Entire tub drains in 1½ minutes; holds 21½ gallons of water. Has 18-ounce tempered copper tub that can't buckle or break. One control operates it. So simple that a child can use it. His automatic safety wringer opens both rolls instantly at the touch of a lever. Timbers and bubble bearings are used to assure long life.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Charles S. Chamberlain, aged 72 years, son of the late Thomas Chamberlain of Webster, died at his home in Jackson on October 16. The remains were brought to Dexter for burial last Wednesday.

The Livingston County Board of Supervisors has discontinued the bounty on rats.

Owosso parties are drilling an oil well in Conway township.

Norval Farrell of Milford is booked for free passage to the National Dairy Show as the champion calf club boy.

34 cans of bluegills were received by Ernest Hall of Howell lately and planted in Cedar, Gull, Coon and Pardec Lake.

The store of A. W. Brown at Stockbridge was entered recently and a quantity of merchandise taken. A $50.00 reward is offered for the conviction of the thieves.

19 acres of onions are being harvested on the Driggs farm near Bridgewater, Washtenaw county.

The Justices of Washtenaw county have been slow in turning over fines collected to the county treasurer. The board of supervisors appointed Supervisor Gilbert Madden of Dexter a committee of one to investigate and work out a settlement. He submitted the following proposals which were adopted: Justices must pay to the county treasurer all fines within 30 days after collection otherwise the treasurer shall start suit against them. If a justice does not make settlement within 60 days he shall be proceeded against under the criminal law.

THE GAME LAWS

The state conservation committee has reversed itself and made so many changes in the game laws that many people do not know just when or what to hunt. The following laws were in effect at last reports:

The season for rabbits, pheasants, woodcock and prairie chickens opens on Oct. 25, but the season on the last three closes on Oct. 31.

The squirrel law has caused the most confusion. Fox squirrel may be shot from Oct. 25 to Oct. 31. Black and gray squirrel cannot be shot.

The season on partridge, quail, coon, muskrat and mink is closed, leaving skunk and rabbit the only fur bearing animal that can be hunted.

The deer season opens November 15 and closes Nov. 30.

Coyotte, lynx, fox, weasels, owls, woodchucks, crows, and certain kinds of hawks may be hunted at any time but the hunter must take out a license.

LAST CALL FOR TAXES

November 10th has been set by Pinckney village council as the last day on which village taxes will be received in Pinckney. All taxes unpaid on that date will be turned into the county treasurer as delinquent.

Blanche Martin

WAR EXPLOSIVE TEST

On Monday, Oct. 31, 2:30 p. m. a tump and stone blasting demonstration will be held on the farm of Edw. Allen, Marion township. Twenty-three hundred pounds was recently cured by County Agent Bolander or these purposes and farmers having large stones in tiled fields can well afford to put some of this to use. This by all indications will be the last chance for farmers to avail themselves of the opportunity of getting this cheap, but very effective war salvage explosive known as pyrotal. The following farmers have received orders on the last contingent: Cecil Bohm, Ed Allen, Antal Lipke, Gail Clements, Erwin Wnek, Thos. Zazwik, Mike Domacus, Tracy Crandall, Wm. Berry, J. B. Tooley, Dr. W. B. Huntley, Wells W. Gardner, Livingston County Highway Dept., P. T. Murningham, B. P. Murningham.

LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION

Arrangements are now underway in the Livingston Livestock group of folks to line up for the International Livestock Exposition Nov. 26 to Dec. 3rd. This is really the climax of all big shows in the country and with all the other events taking place at that time it is surely a worth while trip or everyone interested to attend. If enough farmers are interested in making the trip County Agent Bolander will arrange for a three day motor bus trip. With a group like his various sight seeing trips can also be taken to interesting places in Chicago. Folks interested in such a trip should get in touch with the County Agent for more particulars. It is usually a very in-expensive way of travel and interesting as well.

BLIND PIG RAIDED SATURDAY

Officers from the Livingston County sheriff's office raided a blind pig near the Twitchell farm east of Lakeland Saturday night. It is said that the place had just started up that day and quite a crowd of patrons were present. The proprietors, Joseph Dove and Wm. Gaggis were brought to the Howell jail along with five quarts of whiskey. They were taken before Judge Yelland where they waived examination and were bound over to the December term of court on bonds of $1000 each.

FLINT PASTOR MOVED

The Rt. Rev. Magr. Desiderius Nagy, D. D., formerly pastor of St. Joseph's church, Flint, Mich., has been appointed pastor of the Holy Cross (Hungarian) church in Howell by the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, D. D.

Magr. Nagy is one of the youngest and most distinguished Hungarian clergymen in the United States. He was born in 1893 at Miskolc and received his classical and theological training in his native city and in Budapest. Coming to America, he settled in Detroit, the adopted city of thousands of his countrymen. Bishop Gallagher appointed him assistant pastor at Holy Cross church, one of the largest Hungarian parishes in this country. Later he was moved to Flint where he headed his own parish until recently.

Magr. Nagy succeeds the late Rev. Louis Van Kovacs, who died in 1926.
