FARMER ROBBED MONDAY EVE

Last Monday evening between ten and eleven o'clock two men rapped at the door of George Richmond who lives on M49 about four miles west of town and requested the loan of enough gasoline to carry them to the next town explaining that they had run out of gas. When Mr. Richmond admitted them one of the two produced a gun and ordered him to stick up while the other went to the safe which was unlocked and rifled it of its contents. Then after making numerous threats they departed in their car which was parked some distance away near the barn. Mr. Richmond attempted to telephone for aid but found that the wires had been cut, and was forced to go to the nearest house. The robbers were unmasked and quite young. Besides the two who entered the house it is thought that there were two more waiting in the car. No money was secured but about $5000 worth of bonds and mortgages taken, some of which were negotiable. The sheriff's officers are working on the case.

MRS PHOEBE A. GRIEVES

Phoebe A. Hemingway was born in Orange Co., New York, November 21, 1840 and passed away Nov. 3, 1927, at the age of 86 years, 11 months and 13 days.

At the age of ten years she came to Michigan with her father and mother, one sister, Mrs. Isadore Davis and two brothers, Silas, now deceased and Fred now living on the old homestead near Gregory.

In early life she became a member of the First Presbyterian church of Unadilla. After coming to Pinckney, some thirty years ago she united with the Congregational church and was a faithful attendant and worker in the church as long as her health would permit.

On September 16, 1860 she was married to H. Dudley Grieve. To this union were born three children, Grace H. Crofoot of Pinckney, Fred M. Grievess of Ann Arbor and Katherine G. Shepherd of Litchfield. There are four grandchildren, Mrs. Hiram Smith, Harold and Isabel Grieve and Forbes Placeway. Also three great grandchildren and a host of friends left to mourn.

Until thirteen months ago she kept her home in Pinckney after which time, on account of ill health she made her home with her children, who gave her every care and attention. The church has lost a true worker and the community a true friend.

The funeral was held from the Pinckney Congregational church Sunday at 2:00 p. m., Rev. F. S. Hurbert officiating, assisted by B. F. Esic. Interment was in the Pinckney cemetery.

WILLIAM STEPTOE

William Steptoe, aged 70 years died at his home in Webster township Tuesday morning.

He was born in Pinckney September 7, 1857 and lived with the family of the late Hugh Clark during his early life but for the last 32 years has been a resident of Webster. On January 1, 1885 he was united in marriage to Kate Geary of Pinckney who died eighteen years ago. The deceased is survived by one niece, Miss Elizabeth Steptoe, at home and two nephews, Edward at home and David of Dexter, all his brother's children whom he raised from childhood; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and Mrs. Thomas Shehan of Pinckney, one brother, Edward Steptoe of Boston, Mass., and several other relatives.

The funeral services will be held from the residence Friday, November 11 at 2:00 p. m., Rev. Jerome officiating. Burial will be in the Pinckney cemetery.

GAVE GENERAL SATISFACTION

The first number on the lecture course, "The Cutler-Griffin Co." drew a well filled house here last Wednesday evening. Miss Griffin is a soprano and violinist of much ability and Mr. Cutler, an excellent lyric tenor while Mr. Pearsall gave a pleasing entertainment at the piano. According to all reports they gave complete satisfaction. The next entertainment which is the three act comedy, "The Bubble" will be given on Tuesday, December 13.

According to the ticket committee enough tickets have already been sold to defray all expenses and leave a comfortable balance besides.

NOTICE

The Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church will hold their annual Fair in their rooms Saturday, December 3rd. Any donations will be very gratefully received by the ladies. The Ladies Aid will hold their regular monthly Tea Wednesday, Nov. 16th. Everyone welcome.

COL. GEORGE Buys DOYLE FARM

Col. George of Detroit bought another Putnam township farm last week when he purchased the William Doyle farm at Patterson Lake. Mr. Doyle has agreed to give immediate possession. The Doyle farm consists of 150 acres and will be added to the other farms which Col. George purchased last year and which it adjoins. Col. George now owns 1400 acres of and which lies all in one solid piece. We understand that Mr. Doyle expects to build a residence on the lot south of the Culhane house which he owns.

PAST MATRON'S NIGHT

Pinckney Chapter No. 145 O. E. S. will hold Past Matron's night Saturday evening, November 12.

PINCKNEY 12, STOCKBRIDGE 6

In a game of football played here last Friday afternoon during which a misty rain fell most of the time Pinckney won from Stockbridge with a score of 12 to 6. Pinckney with Blades back in the lineup completely outclassed Stockbridge and if it had not been for numerous fumbles would have won by a one sided score. Pinckney kicked to Stockbridge who made one first down on line plays and then lost the ball on downs. Pinckney then made a steady march down the field with Hendee and Nash hitting the line and Blades circling end for long gains. They lost the ball on a fumble at the ten yard line but held Stockbridge to no gains and then made three first downs on line plays and end runs and Nash went over for a touchdown. The rest of the first half was a repetition of this Pinckney gaining much ground but losing their advantage by making many fumbles.

In the third quarter Stockbridge tied the score when Stevens caught a forward pass from Proctor and ran twenty yards for a touchdown. In the last quarter Hendee went over for a touchdown after Blades had made two long end runs and Nash and Hendee had made several gains through the line. Stockbridge relied on a forward passing attack but did not complete enough to get within scoring distance except once. Pinckney relied almost entirely on straight football and tried few passes or trick plays. The Ypsilanti High School reserves play Pinckney here next Friday afternoon, November 18. Everyone should turn out as this game should be a good one.

The following is the Pinckney lineup:

- Graves, l. t.
- Kennedy, l. g.
- Hall, center.
- Hornshaw, r. g.
- Ahrens, r. t.
- N. Miller, r. e.
- Nash, quarter
- Reason, l. h.
- Blaves, r. h.
- Hendee, f. b.

Touchdowns-Stevens, Nash, Hendee. Substitutions-McCluskey for Kennedy, Kennedy for Hornshaw. Referee-Kennedy. Head linesman-Van-Horn.

ARMISTICE DAY

Armistice Day is becoming one of the big days of the year. State authorities are asking all schools to cooperate in carrying out school programs and athletic contests on this day. The day will be observed in all grades throughout the school.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the debating team will discuss the question, "Resolved that the Direct Primary should be Abolished in the U. S." The following people will take part in the debate; Helen Fiedler, Dillingham, Gertrude Tupper, Elinor Gage, Raymonda Ledwidge, Wilhelmina Bourbonnais, Viola Burnett, Marion Durkis, Berdella Euler and Louise Grainger.

At three-thirty o'clock the Pinckney High School football team meets the Reserves of Ypsilanti Central High School on the Pinckney field. Pinckney is very fortunate in securing this team for Armistice Day. The Ypsi team is probably the best coached team that has ever appeared on the local field. The Pinckney boys have been playing good football, although handicapped so far by injuries, sickness and eligibility rules. However, on Armistice Day every man is expected to be eligible and all injuries and sickness a thing of the past. The team that takes the field for Pinckney Friday will be the equal of any team that has ever represented local institution.

A really great game is assured. The Place is Pinckney.

The Time is 8:30 promptly.

The referee is L. E. Bassett of Howell.

The Freshman Class gave a party at the home of Mrs. Mary Soultis last Friday evening. A short program was put on after which refreshments were served.

NEW RESTAURANT TO OPEN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whalen will open a restaurant in the building 2 doors west of the postoffice on Saturday, November 12. On Sunday a chicken and chop suey dinner will be served. The building has been newly painted and decorated and put in first class condition for a modern sanitary restaurant. Mr. and Mrs. Whalen are well known to the people of this vicinity as they have been in charge of the summer resort at Crystal Beach for several years past and are well equipped to make a success of their new venture.

DANCING PARTY AT DEXTER

There will be a dancing party given at St. Joseph's Auditorium, Dexter on Friday evening, November 18. Lunch will be served by the Ladies of St. Joseph's Parish. Agan's Melody Men will be there with the best of music. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Ella McCluskey, son, Francis, and granddaughter, Agnes, visited Ann Arbor relatives Sunday.

The Birds and Their Winter Food Supply

By MARTHA MARTIN

"At this time of the year," said the Sandman, "the birds are eating the seeds of the red cedar trees. These trees are strange in their behavior. They will grow well in a new neighborhood, but they do not like to have many trees about them, and if other trees grow up about them they become discouraged and give up trying to grow!"

"So they are to be found, and the birds find them. But they're certainly fond of open spaces."

"The birds are also finding winter food in barks of trees where little eggs of insects are hidden, and there are insects upon the fallen leaves."

"The ducks find insects on the water until the ice freezes over the water weeds in the deep parts of the streams."

"And now the winter trees are looking their best, for they know that they must look well in the winter time, too. The pines and hardwood trees tell their own stories."

"Many people can read them just as they would read the chapters of a book. There is a ring of wood around the stump for every year that the tree has lived, and from the width between these rings it can be told how much the tree grew when it was two years old or three years old, and whether it had a good year or a bad year."

"The trees tell their stories just as so many of the different creatures do, and all we need is to study their language so we can learn their stories, for they are so very, very wonderful and marvelous!"

"The roots of plants and trees, too, have stories to tell of the work that they do."

"They never come above the ground, but they do their parts not caring whether they are seen. In fact, they like to hide their good works."

"They go their own ways, getting free from anything that would hurt them, and with their little root hairs curling themselves about the soil and growing and getting their root food.

"Thank You, Thank You, Mr. Moon," Said the Pine Tree.

"They know that there is air, too, in the soil and dampness, and in some wonderful way they do the work that Mother Nature has set for them to do without any fuss and as though it were no bother."

"But the more we see of it the more amazing it seems, and the more we want to marvel.

"Some of Mother Nature's children do not do as she tells them. There is the Mexican Bean Beetle about whom there has been a great deal of trouble, for she destroys crops and everything that is given to make the crops better she takes for herself."

"She is a relative of Lady Bug, but Lady Bug is not harmful and doesn't like to think that this relative of hers is so dreadful."

"But I must tell you more about the Pine tree and what he said to Moon as Mr. Moon looked down at him."

"Mr. Moon, you have seen me here for a great many years. You perhaps do not keep count of the years. You do not have to, for it doesn't matter what age the moon is, as the moon always looks about the same age!"

"Of course, you wear different suits, and when you're no longer a full moon, perhaps you're called an older moon, but you come back again as a young new moon, so I suppose that is why you do not consider the years."

"Therefore it doesn't matter how many years you have seen me."

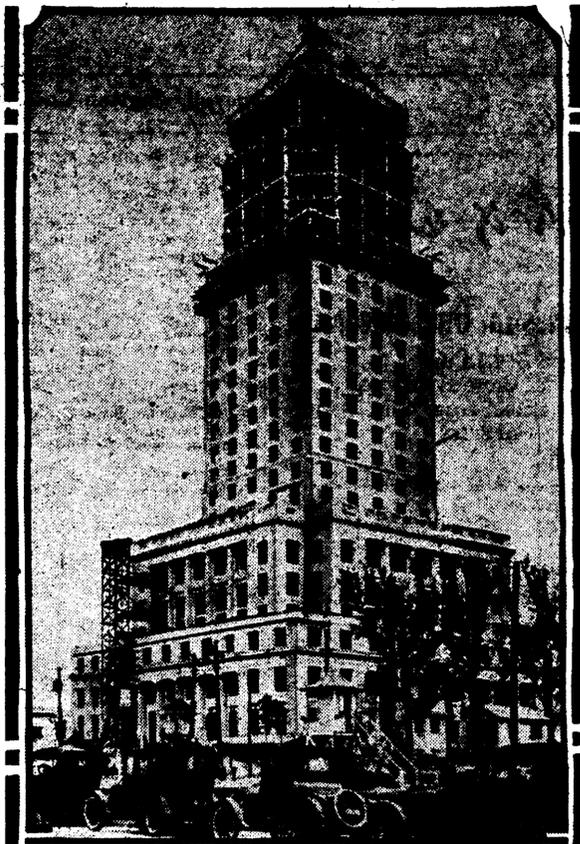

"It matters," said Mr. Moon, "for I am always so glad to see you. I want to see you for many more years. That is why it matters. I like to count those splendid years."

"Thank you, thank you, Mr. Moon," said the Pine tree. "But this is what I have to tell you. I love to be a winter tree, for in the winter time it seems that every one is fonder of me for being ever, ever green."

"And I like to be liked." "Every one does," said Mr. Moon. "I've been shining for a good many years, and I know that."

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Steps to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

A RATHER widespread superstition among those given to a belief in folkloric medicine is that a string of glass beads worn around the neck will prevent or cure erysipelas. Many current superstitions are practically harmless from a physical standpoint. They are merely the indulgence of an atavistic tendency of the mind, a reversion, mentally, to primitivism, which may result in an unhealthy psychological state but work no immediate physical harm. But many of the superstitions of folkloric medicine are of positive bodily danger since they induce people to attempt to cure themselves by necromancy and delay calling in a doctor until it is too late.

Of such is the superstition under consideration. The green glass bead superstition is a survival of that belief in the magic of gems so ancient and once so universal, and so very largely medical in its bearing. Pliny, the great Roman naturalist, wrote very learnedly upon the curative properties of gems about 2,000 years ago and many a man, accounted learned in his day, since Pliny has done the same. In various ages and by various savants of bygone years, various curative properties have been ascribed to the emerald; and the green glass bead of our current superstition is, of course, the successor and representative of the emerald.

A long list might be written of the diseases for which, at one time or another, the emerald has been recommended. They used to apply it externally after the manner of the green glass bead necklace, or internally in the form of a powder. The Arab physicians at the time of the height of the Moorish power in Spain highly recommended a "tincture of emerald" to be taken internally. Up to a period much antedating our Revolutionary-war European druggists used to keep for sale powdered gems. Doctor Kunz quotes a portion of a price-list of one such German druggist wherein a pound of "emerald" was offered for 25 cents, which would indicate that the quality of the emerald was hardly up to that of green beads.

Surplus of Capitals

States of the Union that had two capitals at the same time are Rhode Island and Connecticut. In Rhode Island it was a case of the state having two large towns, each claiming to be the political center and neither agreeing to surrender its alleged prestige. Thus both Newport and Providence claimed the honor of being the capital of the state. Connecticut was similarly placed with regard to Hartford and New Haven. The towns were originally the capitals of separate colonies. Eventually, however, the geographical advantages of Hartford were admitted by New Haven and became the sole capital in 1873.

OPTIMISM IS A COMBINATION OF CHEERFULNESS, CONFIDENCE

By F. A. WALKER

SEVERAL years ago one of the biggest bankers in the world paid out some of his money for the purpose of establishing a little cheerfulness and confidence in the minds of those poor souls who have looked so long on the black side of business life that they have forgotten that there is any other viewpoint.

The banker began his advertisement with this sentence: "There is so much in the present situation to inspire confidence and hope for the future that there seems to be ample justification for sane optimism."

Optimism is nothing more than a wise combination of cheerfulness and confidence.

We may have one without the other and still be incomplete. With both we are assured of individual happiness and we are likely to be liberal contributors to the joy of the world at large.

A good many people frown on the building of air castles. They think it a useless and wasteful occupation.

Any man or woman with an imagination will indulge in that delightful pastime, and a man or woman without an imagination is poorly equipped for this life's problems and struggles.

Proposed Memorial to Abraham Lincoln

This is a preliminary drawing for the proposed Indiana memorial to Abraham Lincoln. The building, surrounded by a park, is to be erected at the site where Lincoln lived from the age of seven until he was twenty-one, and where his mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, lies buried, among the rolling hills of Spencer county on the Ohio river. No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Frequentness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste it's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Palestine Jews Expect Messiah

Look for Coming of Superman Who Will Put End to Next World War.

New York.—A new Messiah who will become king of the Jewish nation and whose appearance will put to an end the next world war is predicted by the orthodox Jews of Palestine.

They declare that he will be a superman and that his kingdom will be a great center from which will radiate peace and brotherhood extending throughout the entire world.

The revelation of the Messiah will be preceded by the rebuilding of the temple, they say, adding that this will cause the enmity of many nations, especially those of the Moslem world. The last world war will focus itself in Palestine, and at the critical moment when all appears lost the Messiah, coming from heaven, will gain a decisive victory, according to the predictions. It is said he will immediately be proclaimed king, the first king of the Jewish nation in 20 centuries.

Of the 150,000 Jews in Palestine, most of whom have returned there from the four corners of the earth since the war, at least 50,000 are expecting developments to rapidly transpire until at an unexpected moment the Messiah will be revealed. "The Jews are praying every day for the coming of the Messiah," declared the president of the town council of Peta.

HEIRS OF AN INSANE WOMAN CLAIM TWELVE MILLION FUND

London.—Viscount Bangor, the well-known Irish peer and large landowner, is one of the claimants to a fortune of more than $12,000,000 in a suit against the British government which will form one of the most romantic cases of the Chancery court here for many years.

The claim goes back to 1798. In that year, there died in London one Maria l'Epine, a certified lunatic. She left a fortune of about $480,000. At compound interest this sum is now estimated to be worth about $12,500,000. The original estate was administered before Maria's death, by the lord chancellor, as the legal guardian of all persons of unsound mind. Afterward, the crown asserted that Maria was an illegitimate child and, Tikva, the largest Jewish agricultural colony in Palestine.

"The Jews believe that some time a Messiah will come who will bring good not only to the Jews but to the whole world," remarked D. Smithson, who was decorated for distinguished service in Palestine during the war. "This idea is spreading throughout the country," he continued.

"The movement to Palestine, the settling on the land and the building up of the Jewish national home, is the forerunner of the Messiah," declared Ephraim Sacks, formerly of Chicago, now president of the town council of the beautiful orange-producing colony, Rehovoth.

The ideal of the restoration of the temple just prior to the coming of the Messiah is soon to be realized, they hope. Ever since the destruction of their last temple, in 70 A. D., by the Roman Emperor Titus, the Jews have gathered daily at the famous "wailing wall" in Jerusalem praying for the rebuilding of the temple. The invasion of the Moslems in the Seventh century resulted in the erection of the Mosque of Omar, the third most sacred shrine of performance of the sacred rites of the ruined temple.

"The Mosque of Omar will be torn down soon and a wonderful temple like Solomon's shall be built there!" happily exclaimed a rabbi as he was looking out over the temple area from a window of his synagogue.

Rumors are widespread that the specified parts of the temple have already been prepared in various countries, ready to be transported to Palestine and assembled at a moment's notice.

A group of Jerusalem Jews has actually sent a petition to the League of Nations asking for a portion of the old temple site to be awarded to the Jewish nation. The tabling of this petition by the league has not daunted their hopes for a restored temple. So sincerely are they expecting it that a class of prospective priests are being taught the performance of the sacred rites of the temple sacrifices.

The restoration of the temple will create intense animosity among the surrounding nations, they fear. "The nations of the world will fight against Jerusalem in the near future," declared one of the largest manufacturers in Jerusalem. "The leaders of the Jews sense the situation but they are afraid to express their opinions publicly," he remarked.

The circumstances making possible a war in Palestine will be the withdrawal of the British administration, it is believed. The secretary of a synagogue in Jerusalem said to me: "The Jews have been waiting 2,000 years for England's help, but the English won't always remain here. A certain rabbi making a prophecy 700 years ago foretold that the English would come into Palestine in 1916, but he also stated that they would

Claims Cancer Is on the Increase

Asheville, N. C.—One out of every ten human being succumbs to cancer, Dr. William P. Healy of New York declared in an address at the annual convention of the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists and Abdominal Surgeons here. He added that the disease was on the increase and asserted that one out of five women between the ages of forty-five to sixty-five years also dies from the disease.

leave Palestine before the expiration of a quarter of a century. This is yet to be fulfilled. Then, he says, that there will be a big war here. The last world war will focus itself in Palestine. The kings of the earth shall fight against the Jews in Palestine, but the Messiah will come and cause the enemy to be utterly defeated.

"The Messiah will be recognized as the great world leader, the law of the Lord shall flow out of Zion, and nations will learn of war no more," the rabbis firmly maintain.

Forage Land in U. S. Is Almost Depleted

Washington.—Depletion of forage resources in this country has reached such a stage that definite and earnest effort is urged to solve the problems of forage production on ranges and to develop satisfactory utilization practices for this type of land.

Attention is called to this situation by W. R. Chapline, inspector of grazing in charge of range research of the United States forestry service.

"As early as 1890," Chapline says, "range grazing lands were stocked to their capacity, while some were already overstocked. Continued overstocking over enormous areas reduced the carrying capacity both by cutting down the quantity of forage produced and by increasing erosion of the productive surface soil."

"Continuous research is essential to meet fully the needs of the range live stock industry. Open herding and the bedding-out system in handling sheep, and the deferred and rotation system of grazing, have resulted in increased carrying capacity and a chance for improvement of depleted range."

It is estimated that 28,000,000 sheep, goats and swine and 13,000,000 cattle, horse and mules of the eleven western states obtain 70 per cent of their feed from range land. The value of the live stock is approximately $800,000,000.

Man Buys Entire Village in California for $7,500

Eureka, Calif.—C. W. Morgan set a new price for California towns when he took over the village of Oak Bar in Siskiyou county, for $7,500.

The town consists of a general merchandise store, a dance hall, a post office, a gasoline station and a few houses and cabins. Morgan owned the town once before.

ria. There was no other issue of the marriage, and the claimants assert that Maria's aunt was her next of kin. All the living heirs of that aunt, who include Lord Bangor, have united in the petition, which was originally filed by Miss Amy Mason of London.

The point at issue, supposing the claim to be sustained, is whether the statute of limitations will operate in such a case. So far as is known at present, there has never been a previous decision on this point of law. There are no descendants of Lord Howe, to whom the money was granted, and thus, if the petition is successful, the treasury will be responsible for the payment of the claim.

Massena Ranked High as Fighting General

Andre Massena, duke of Rivoli, is recognized by military authorities as the greatest of all Napoleon's marshals. In a peaceful era, he probably never would have achieved renown, for peace brought out his worst qualities—indolence, envy and greed. In war time he was another man.

He was not a Napoleon, for he could not plan a whole campaign, arrange retreats or anticipate every march of a foe. But in actual battle, Massena ranks hardly below Napoleon himself. Once in actual contact with the enemy, he became an inspired man. His laziness and envy fell away. He was a battle maker extraordinary.

Massena was forty years old when he became one of Napoleon's generals. In that startling Italian campaign, Massena's genius in battle proved of inestimable importance to the Corsican who was winning his first great laurels. In battle after battle, Massena was trusted implicitly by Napoleon.—Kansas City Star.

Making Safes Safer

A new safe that has an almost human power of giving warning should any attempt be made to rot it has been invented. Should burglars attempt to break it open by the usual methods of using heat, the material of which the safe is built gives off a series of loud reports.

The new material is in the form of plates, one inch thick, applied inside the safe. Up to the present, no method has been found of melting, breaking or destroying the material.

Optimist Points Out Silver Lining to Cloud

Barney Oldfield, the famous automobilist, said on disembarking at New York from his European tour:

"We are capturing more and more of the European automobile trade. In London, Paris, everywhere, you see thousands of American automobiles. Some people say that our trade is going to suffer in Europe now on account of hard times and so on, but for many reasons I don't accept that view. I'm an optimist there.

"The fact is, I'm an optimist everywhere. All things, I claim, have their bright side.

"Take, for instance, the old saying that few people practice what they preach. That is very sad, of course, but how much sadder it would be if we all preached what we practice!"

It is becoming well known that the attempt to force a naturally left-handed person to use the right hand may result in stuttering. In some less severe cases no stuttering may result, but it is probable that greater fluency and greater accuracy, both of writing and spelling, might follow the use of the hand which is naturally dominant.

A VERY PROFITABLE MEETING
The Fiftieth Annual Convention of the W. C. T. U. of Livingston county was held at Cohoctah Nov. 2-3. The principal speaker of the afternoon and evening was Mrs. Mabel Gardner, president of the sixth district which carried off most of the honors at the late convention. Her topic for the afternoon was "Echoes from the National Convention." The opening session was well attended and the church was filled to capacity. The couple quartette of Cohoctah furnished the music for the evening. A very fine paper was read Thursday morning by Miss E. A. Lantz of Fowlerville, the subject of which was "Prohibition and Its Outlook." A symposium "Women's Christian Temperance Union" was arranged and given by the Ladies of the North Cohoctah Union.

The district president impressed all present with the fact that much good has been accomplished the past year and much more must be done the coming year. Most of the afternoon was taken up with the general officers and vice presidents. The election resulted as follows:

President Mrs. Ivah Burkhart, Cohoctah.

Vice Pres. Mrs. J. Snyder, Conway, Sec'y. Maude Benjamin, Fowlerville.

Treas. Mrs. Ella Hoagland, Auditor. Mrs. Bertha Jones, Cohoctah.

The treasurers books showed a neat balance after all expenses had been paid which will be used in carrying the work forward for the coming year.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to the people who helped save our farmhouse from destruction by fire and also the Pinckney fire department for their good work.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sigler.

The last few years have seen a big change in small home heating.

Base burners, oak stoves, etc., have gone out of style because their heating capacity was limited. People are no longer content to live in drafty underheated rooms or be forced to shut off some of the rooms in the winter.

Instead they have turned to the Renown, the heating plant that looks like a cabinet and works like a furnace. It replaces hearted heat with solid ugliness with beauty, half comfort and fuel waste with fuel economy.

ONE RENOWN DOES THE WORK OF SEVERAL STOVES OR FIREPLACES

This heating device is regarded as the standard heating appliance for small homes, old and new, one-story and two-story; it is used too in schools, stores, churches, garages and in a great many types of buildings.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Senator Curtis of Kansas Desires to Head the Republican Ticket.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WE NOW have one openly avowed candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, Charles Curtis, United States senator from Kansas, has informed his friends in that state—and the public at large—that he will be pleased to be the candidate of the Kansas delegation, and with the announcement comes evidence that he is going after the nomination in dead earnest. He believes that he adequately represents the interests of the great West and that as a conservative who, nevertheless, is liberal on many issues, he will be acceptable to the rest of the country.

Senator Curtis came to his decision after President Coolidge had scolded Senator Fess for the latter's insistence on a third term for the present incumbent. This incident convinced the Kansas senator that Mr. Coolidge really would not consent to be drafted and therefore he sent to his boomers a letter in which he said: "Having served in the house and senate for more than 35 years, I know the great responsibility of the Presidency and the arduous duties of the office. Nevertheless, if my friends of Kansas desire to send a delegation to the next Republican national convention favorable to my nomination, I shall be greatly pleased to be their candidate. However, I will not consent to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with a view of voting for me for a few ballots as a 'favorite son.' As I stated when the question was first to be put to me, 'I will not allow myself to be used as a stalking horse for anyone.'"

Already there are Curtis for President clubs in every county in Kansas, and the movement in his favor has many followers in Missouri and Oklahoma. He will have the solid Kansas delegation back of him, and in Washington it is considered that even if he does not get first place on the ticket he will be in position to do effective trading that may get him the vice presidential nomination.

Growth of the Norris boom, which is fostered by the radical Republicans and supported by Senator Borah, is admittedly hurting Lowden's prospects in the West.

DETROIT has been enjoying a spectacular majority campaign that has attracted the attention of the whole country. Mayor John W. Smith, candidate for re-election, is an avowed wet and declares prohibition never can be enforced and is the greatest force for evil in America today. If he is re-elected, a liberal policy will continue in Detroit, and many of the city's big business men support him because, they assert, that policy has greatly benefited the city, especially in the way of attracting hundreds of national conventions. Opposing Smith is John C. Lodge, candidate of the city council and before that a member of the legislature and a newspaper man. He declined to do any campaigning and says little or nothing on the subject of prohibition.

CAROL, former crown prince of Rumania, decided that perhaps he should be placed on the throne and so wrote a bunch of letters to his leading supporters and Rumanian politicians stating his position. These were entrusted to M. Manolescu, former under-secretary of state, who was arrested with the documents in his possession. Determined to suppress any movement to enthronize Carol, the government grabbed hundreds of his friends in various parts of the country, and put Rumania under martial law with large bodies of troops placed in strategic positions and a strict censorship established. Premier Bratianu announced that the plot had been entirely squelched, but at this writing the news that is seeping across the border indicates that the Carol movement is assuming more alarming proportions. Opponents of the government in Bukharest were said to be greatly aroused, especially after it was reported that Bratianu intended to arrest Juliu Maniu, leader of the national peasant party. General Avarescu, once the ally of Bratianu but now his enemy, is credited with starting this Carolist movement. The prince is at St. Malo on the French seacoast. Recently he ostentatiously separated from Magda Lupescu, for whom he deserted his wife. It is said that among the seized letters was one from Magda to her parents saying the announcement of her break with "a dear friend" was a formality only.

EIGHTY miles off the Brazilian coast opposite Porto Segura, the boilers of the Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, from Genoa to Rio de Janeiro, exploded and the vessel went to the bottom in less than four hours. Fortunately the sea was calm and the steamer's radio calls for help brought several other steamships to the rescue, so that of the 800 passengers and crew of 240 all but 98 were saved. Most of the passengers were Italian emigrants who were celebrating their arrival when the accident occurred. The captain and crew are credited with great heroism and coolness in preventing a panic and getting many of their charges launched in lifeboats. The French liner Formosa was the first ship to arrive in response to the S. O. S. call, and her commander's daring exploit in maneuvering close to the Mafalda and taking 110 persons from her decks before she sank was hailed by the survivors as being one of the great deeds in the annals of the sea.

COLORADO'S coal mine strike, which is managed by the Industrial Workers of the World, is becoming more serious. Two of the state's largest coal fields are closed and new mines are involved daily. The leaders persist in picketing mines despite the law and court injunctions and up to this time they have done this peacefully, though they threaten to "march through the state with cannon" if any of their pickets are killed. Governor Adams says the strikers are violating the state law which prescribes that thirty days' notice shall be given before a walkout, and he will not deal with the members of the I. W. W. which Colorado does not recognize as a bona fide labor organization. The governor, however, has declined so far to send troops into the field, stating that the county officials must preserve order until they are ready to admit that they are unable to do so. The people of Colorado fear a repetition of the civil warfare that swept the state in 1913 and 1914, culminating in the battle of Ludlow. The miners demand a wage increase from $5.50 a day to $8.50, an eight-hour day and a five-day week.

REAR ADMIRAL MAGRUDER, who was so presumptuous as to criticize the management of the navy in a magazine article, was relieved of his command at Philadelphia by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and ordered to report to Washington because he had "talked too much" since the publication of that article. "I do not feel," the secretary said, "that the secretary of the navy should be compelled to get information from naval officers concerning plans for the navy organization by obtaining newspapers or magazines in which such information is published. Such officers are paid by the government to render this service to the people and such information should be presented to regularly constituted authority by appropriate channels."

Admiral Magruder sent to President Coolidge a letter asking for a revocation of the order detaching him from duty at Philadelphia, but the chief executive declined to interfere or to see the admiral.

FALL and Sinclair won a point in their trial in Washington for conspiracy to defraud the government when the court ruled out the testimony given in the senate oil inquiry. Much of the evidence last week was concerned with the Liberty bond payments allegedly made to Fall by Sinclair. Though unable to connect Sinclair directly with this transaction, the government sought to prove that he was interested in the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., of Canada; that with profits from this concern $300,000 in Liberty bonds were purchased, $200,500 of which went to M. T. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law, and that Everhart with part of this paid off debts of companies in which Fall was interested, and turned over bonds valued at $90,000 to Fall direct.

A volume of evidence to support the government's contention that deception and secrecy surrounded the Fall-Sinclair transaction was laid before the jury. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., assistant secretary of the navy at the time the lease was signed, detailed what he understood to be the policy of the navy on the disposition of the oil reserves. He declared he did not learn that the entire Teapot Dome area was to be opened by leasing until some time after the Fall-Sinclair negotiations were consummated. His understanding was that only oil set wells were to be drilled.

THURSDAY, the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, was celebrated throughout the country as navy day. Naval vessels, navy yards and stations were all open and many navy officials delivered addresses. The keynote of the day was "Develop American sea power and merchant marine."

DWIGHT MORROW, our new ambassador to Mexico, arrived in Mexico City and was warmly greeted by Mexican and American residents alike, all of whom feel that he will go far toward ending the uncomfortable relations existing between the two nations. On Saturday President Calles formally received Mr. Morrow in the great hall of ambassadors and by his order there were present the entire cabinet, members of the foreign relations department and all military officers not on duty elsewhere. The American Chamber of Commerce, the American club and many leading business men also attended.

FIFTEEN universities in the United States are openly teaching socialist beliefs, while proponents of communism and internationalism are using the Federal Council of Churches, the Y. M. C. A., the League of Women Voters and college organizations to foster distrust of the government, according to Fred Marvin of New York. He made this statement in an address before the annual convention of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States in Milwaukee.

"Those engaged in subversive work against the government are using the Y. M. C. A. with great effect to further their ends," Mr. Marvin declared. "The leaders in this work are secretaries of the organization who were in Russia during the revolution. While this is being done without the consent or knowledge of the great bulk of men and women who support the organization, the proponents of communism are in executive positions and are having their own way."

Relative to the League of Women Voters and the Federal Council of Churches, Mr. Marvin said: "These are high-class organizations formed by high-minded persons, but in some localities they have been misled into supporting the policies of the subversive forces. The Y. M. C. A. and the Federal Council of Churches are innocently led to support those who seek to destroy the government in the belief that the propaganda is tending to advance the teachings of Christ and promoting world peace."

BANKERS of the United States, at their annual convention in Houston, Texas, devoted a lot of attention to food control and agricultural relief, on both of which they urged legislation. Thomas Ross Preston of Chattanooga, Tenn., was elected president.

Mayor Thompson of Chicago, who has been ballyhooing about food control, received a letter from Representative Cole of Iowa asking him not to "make vaudeville stuff" out of efforts to solve the Mississippi river problem. What assistance the congressmen are in need of, Mr. Cole said, ought to be supplied by scientists and engineers, "and not by mass meetings assembled by running excursion trains." He added that brass bands or big sticks would not be needed by the house in considering the subject.

Phased Outlines in Fall Fashions

Uneven Necklines and Unusual Necklines Prominent in Autumn Gowns

In entering upon new seasons the outstanding features are naturally stressed. Each year the tendency is to exhibit either a decidedly new silhouette, fabric of fashion idea that will be a complete departure from previous years. Other seasons will feature sports tendencies in dresses for all occasions, while still others will show the purely feminine mode dominant.

Among the autumn dress tendencies that are certain to attain prominence are the phased outlines secured by several new means, the uneven hemline which will have marked popularity, judging by models, and unusual necklines. The tendency to have all frocks designed along sports lines—so evident during the summer season—will be obscured by the definite inclination toward more formal silhouettes.

The new dresses are feminine in the extreme in their general aspect. But this femininity does not permit an abundance of trimmings and furbelows. The day is entirely past that could exhibit a marked degree of trimmings, even though the masculine type of gown is no longer seen.

The hemline, while still uneven, will not change materially in its length. It could not very well be shorter, and there seems little likelihood of its creeping down much—except in certain types of dresses that demand for harmony a longer skirt.

Beige Georgette With Peasant Braiding Featured on Sleeves.

Marie Corda, motion picture actress featured in "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," who dresses to best advantage her type of loveliness, has selected an interesting costume for fall. It is of beige georgette with peasant braiding featured on the sleeves. The loose blouse has many knife plaits set on a deep yoke of self-material. The bloused effect is obtained by a belt of grosgrain ribbon in the tones used in the sleeve embroidery.

Mice to Yield Skin to Vie With Serpent Hide. Skins of field mice may take rank with serpent skins and the hide of the lizard among adjuncts to feminine beauty if agriculturists in certain parts of France have their way. Plagued by an abnormal visitation of the pests, they have written style creators in Paris to see what they can do about popularizing leather made of mouse hide.

Field rats, larger than mice, have almost disappeared from Hungary since leather finishers found a means of using their skins for box coverings and in making shoes, the agriculturists pointed out.

Black Lace Theater Hat Is Very Close Fitting

So few people wear a woman to wear a hat at a theater that most of them are obsessed with a desire to do so. They say they are becoming, which is true, and that every woman has her type and owes it to herself to enhance it by a hat, which is also true. However, nobody could object to the hat designed for evening wear by a noted French milliner, even at a theater. It is black lace, very close fitting, of the turban type, with a rose tucked over either ear.

Waists

Few women have a waist any more. Those who have not are beginning to cultivate one or seeking the corset fitters. Evening frocks undoubtedly stress the waistline and while they do not aim at the wasp-waisted effects of the golden nineties, a distinct slimness between hips and bust is desirable.

Grayish Tans Popular

Paris shoe styles favor increasingly the combination of leathers and the addition of reptile trimmings.

Black Velvet Gowns and Black Satin Wedding

Displaying the popular black velvet street dress with a black satin hat of original design. The gown features the long-bloused bodice with white vestee and sleeve puffs of lace. Black satin pumps with silver leather trimming complete the outfit.

Fringe Is Much Used on Blouses This Season

Fringe is being used lavishly with many of the new blouses. On a charming evening gown of ruby crepe long fringe is put on in sections, breaking the monotony of straight lines. In an ensemble of blue crepe and cloth, the dress is made with bias folds in three shades, from the bodice to the hem line, and the coat, which is cut full length, has a collar of brown fur. An all-black evening gown is trimmed with a fringe in deep points and a soft girle is swathed about the hips, with deep sash ends at one side. A modest frock of dead black georgette has long, floating draperies, the softness being relieved with one large squarish buckle. A dignified dinner frock of beige moire has two tiers of the silk on the skirt and a large chou of black tulle at one side. Rather startling is the combination of black and white—the skirt of black cloth, a white jersey striped in lavender and black, with a modish strap belt, and a long black coat with black fox collar.

Picture frocks are shown by most of the best couturiers and make an irresistible appeal. One contribution to this vogue is an afternoon gown of tan chiffon on which are printed small flowers in pretty colors. The chiffon is arranged in floating panels and the bodice is finished with a quaintly draped fichu.

Velveteen Is Stressed for Girls' School Wear

The importance of velveteen in the wardrobe of the growing girl is attested by every autumn collection. From the time we are six to seven years old we start wearing 'em—those velveteen jackets borrowed from grown-up modes. The past summer many small girls wore them over crepe and cotton frocks, and for school wear they are being used extensively to top frocks of jersey, cashmere, tweed and wool crepe.

Frocks of checked wool, topped by such wraps in harmonizing tone, are delightful for the schoolgirl and have been worked out in many color combinations. Brown velveteen with plaided wool in beige and brown is only one of a group in which may be mentioned black-and-white checks completed by black velveteen jackets.

Wearing Long Sleeves in New Evening Gowns

Dinner dresses with long sleeves are frequent in winter styles. Chiffon, flat crepe and satin dresses frequently have fitted sleeves which make them suitable for bridge dresses as well as evening.

In many respects these long-sleeved dinner dresses resemble the silk dresses of summer with sleeves sewed in, and many an economical Parisian is adding sleeves, wherever possible, to her last summer's frock.

A change in color, a new belt or ornament and an old dress appears in fresh guise. It has been a long time since the leading dressmakers suggested anything so practical.

Dotted Challis House Dresses

If you are wondering whether your printed cotton and linen house dresses will be comfortably warm for fall and winter days, and realize that they will soon look too summery, get one or two challis ones. Polka dot challis, which was popular for house dresses a few years ago, is back again.

New Slipper Buckles

Smart opera pumps for fall wear have cut steel or bronze buckles that are very much larger than any seen for years.

The Father of American Artillery

T. Kosciuszko.

THE NEW STATUE OF KOSCIUSZKO By Theo. Ruggles Kitson

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ALL the events in 1927 which have marked the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of the critical year of the Revolution, few have commemorated more appropriately the world-wide significance of the American struggle for freedom than those in which the name of Thaddeus Kosciuszko has figured.

His name and fame were revived last summer when press dispatches carried the news that the bronze urn containing the heart of this Polish patriot and friend of American freedom had been reclaimed by his native land. They were revived at the Saratoga celebration in New York last month when honors were paid, among others, to this youth whose organizing work won for him the title of "Father of American Artillery," and who selected and planned the fortification of Bemis Heights which had such an important part in Burgoyne's defeat.

It was at the Saratoga celebration, too, that there was launched a nationwide campaign among teachers and school children of America to raise funds for the endowment of a scholarship, to be known as "The George Washington Scholarship of the Kosciuszko Foundation," which will provide $30,000 for the education alternately of a student from Poland at an American university and of an American student at a Polish university. Thus will be perpetuated not only the oft-repeated wish of Kosciuszko, "Let us give our children a good education with the virtues of justice and honor," but also the memory of the splendid friendship between him and the leader of the Continental army, who once dedicated to his care and sedulous attention, the American people are indebted for the defenses of West Point." For it was Kosciuszko who planned the fortifications on the Hudson and who, when it was later decided to found a training school for future American officers, urged that West Point be chosen as the site.

Impressive of all the events which have served to recall the name of Kosciuszko was the celebration on October 16 when a new statue of him was unveiled in the Public Garden in Boston. The statue was the gift to Boston of the Polish people of New England, who raised a fund of $25,000 for that purpose, and on that day more than 15,000 Americans discontent and in his mind the seed of protest against tyranny began to grow.

Later he went to France where he studied military engineering, especially fortifications, a study which was to bring him fame. At the age of twenty-eight he returned to Poland to find the family fortunes in the hands of a spendthrift older brother and rapidly disappearing. In the meantime the first partition of Poland had taken place and Polish estates were being confiscated by the Russians, who were overrunning the country. Having heard of the rebellion of the American colonies against the British king, Kosciuszko resolved to cast his lot with them. He arrived in Philadelphia soon after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, having mortgaged his patrimony and borrowed 450 ducats to get there. He seems to have made the acquaintance of Franklin, either in France or after his arrival in Philadelphia, for we next hear of him presenting himself and a letter of introduction from Franklin to His Excellency, George Washington, in October, 1776.

"What can you do?" asked Washington, according to the familiar story. "Try me and we shall see," was Kosciuszko's response. So Washington made him a colonel of engineers and from October, 1776, to April 1777, he was busy fortifying Philadelphia, continuing the work there that he had undertaken before his services had been accepted. Then he joined Gates' army in the North and performed the services at Saratoga and West Point already referred to. Later he was of invaluable assistance to General Greene as chief engineer in the southern campaign, and it is said that Greene's escape from Cornwallis during his memorable retreat was due largely to the work of the Polish officer in constructing pontoon bridges which allowed Greene's army to cross rivers before the British could overtake it.

At the close of the Revolution Kosciuszko returned to his native land and had a prominent part in the stormy times which preceded the second partition of that unhappy country. In his fight for the liberty of his country he was finally wounded in battle and captured by the Russians, who held him prisoner for two years. Then he was released upon his request to visit America once more. After his second visit here he settled down in Paris and then removed to Switzerland, where he was living at the time of the fatal fall from his horse. As he lay dying at Solothurn, Switzerland, he requested that his heart should not be taken back to his country until the day "when Poland was free." So it was removed from his body (which was taken to Cracow and buried in the cathedral there), embalmed and placed in a bronze urn which was kept at Zugwilf. It remained there until some thirty years ago. Then it was removed to the little chapel of Chateau Rapperswil, near Zurich.

During all these years Poland had been a political football for the powers of Europe. But the end of the World war found it an independent state at last. So the heart of Kosciuszko has gone back to his native land to be placed in the cathedral at Cracow, there to be honored by his countrymen for his struggles in their behalf. And in America, where he also fought for freedom, monuments in Washington, D. C., at West Point, in Humboldt park in Chicago, and this latest one in Boston stand as constant reminders of the debt we owe to this "great champion of human liberty."

of Polish ancestry marched in the parade, at the head of which were carried both the Stars and Stripes and the national colors of Poland, to the site of the statue where the unveiling and dedication took place in the presence of many distinguished guests.

This memorial is the work of Mrs. Theo. A. Ruggles Kitson of Framingham, Mass., noted for her own sculptured pieces, including "The Volunteer" at Newburyport, Mass., another at Vicksburg, Miss., the Spanish war students at Minneapolis, Minn., and Schenectady, N. Y., and the Bickerdyke statue at Galesburg, Ill., as well as for the fact that she is the wife of Henry H. Kitson, creator of the "Lexington Minute Men" and the Robert Burns statue in the Fenway.

The date (Sunday, October 16) of the unveiling of this statue was especially significant. It was on October 17, 1817, that the Polish champion, then at the age of seventy-one years, met his death by a fall from his horse, an event which the poet Campbell has made historic with his

Hope for a season bade the world farewell
And Freedom shriek'd as Kosciuszko fell!

The date, however, was selected more particularly because it was on October 18, 1776, that Kosciuszko landed in New York with the French expedition to aid the colonies. So the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of his beginning a new fight for freedom and the one hundred tenth anniversary of the end of his long struggle in the cause of liberty saw a great patriotic gathering to honor him.

The whole career of Kosciuszko was dedicated to the single purpose of human liberty. Like Kosuth, the Hungarian, Lafayette, the Frenchman, and others, he was far in advance of his time. He was born February 12 (the birthday of another great exponent of freedom), in the year 1746, in a remote part of Lithuania. It was at a time when Poland was exhausted by wars, not wars for the betterment of the peoples of Europe, but conflicts between ambitious sovereigns. His father was a man of noble birth and large estates. The young Kosciuszko attended the Jesuit college in his home town and in 1764 entered the corps of cadets in the Royal School of Warsaw. During his vacations at home he talked with the peasants on his father's estate, learned of their

WHEN JIM CAME BACK HOME

(By D. J. Walsh.)

MARIA MATTHEWS sat by the table in the living room in sorrowful silence. Outside the weather was in accord with her melancholy mood. The future loomed before her lonely, forbidding, hopeless.

Two years before to a day a steamboat had gone down on the Atlantic with all on board, including her husband—big, bluff, jolly Jim Matthews. His name was on the steamboat's list of passengers. Before embarking he had sent her the letter which she now held in her hand. Tears fell from her eyes as she read it for the hundredth time.

"Dear Maria: When you receive this I shall be on my way to South America. That last informal quarrel we had settled it. The way you looked at me—something you said—well, I made up my mind that we had better be apart for a while. Everything we own is now in your name. Good-by and good luck."

"JIM."

Jim's wife was a tiny creature, full of sparkle and life in her girlhood, but now subdued through trouble and sorrow. She went over the old ground again and again in her mind until her brain was weary.

"Jim meant to come home. He never meant to desert me," she told herself fiercely. "Why, oh, why—of all afoat—must the steamer that carried Jim be the one to go down?" Why had God punished her so terribly? For punishment it was, she had no doubt of that. She acknowledged to herself that she had been hard to live with—exact, unreasonable, aggravating. She had a caustic tongue. Jim had thought her sharp speeches "cute" at first. Perhaps he did not admire them so much when he himself became the object of them. Brother Tom had once said to her: "Maria, you can say the most cutting things in that confounded drawl of yours of anybody I ever knew." As for that "last quarrel," it had been like all their quarrels. She could not even remember what it was about.

No caustic remark was on the tip of her tongue today. The snapping black eyes were soft and humid, with dark rings around them caused by much weeping. Jim's photograph, in a pretty frame, stood on the table. She gazed at it lovingly, hungrily.

Suddenly she started to her feet. A baby's voice was calling "Ma-ma! Ma-ma!" Maria went into the bedroom and, lifting the child in her arms, came back to her seat, holding him tightly to her bosom. A beautiful baby boy, rosy from sleep, he was health and beauty personified. He reached out eager hands toward the portrait, and cooed cunningly: "Pa-pa. Pa-pa."

Maria kissed him passionately. "Papa would never have gone away if he had known God was sending a little Jim to bridge the chasm between us," she lamented.

Every one who saw the child declared him to be the "dead image of Jim Matthews." Indeed he was ridiculously like big Jim, even to the mole in the middle of his forehead, which on the little face seemed ludicrously incongruous. There was the same fine head with the rippling fair hair, the same fearless blue eyes, the same straight nose, square chin and mouth with upward curving corners, always ready for a laugh. The elder Jim was impatient, so was little Jim.

"Ma-ma—milk," he commanded imperiously. And, of course, milk was immediately forthcoming. It was Saturday afternoon, Saturday night supper had always been a festive occasion—when good humor happened to prevail. Maria cooked something especially appetizing, and Jim brought home a treat which he knew his wife would enjoy. Often it was a box of candy, sometimes rare fruit, and more often than anything at this time of the year a big California melon, golden and luscious. Maria's mind dwelt upon this now, and like a child she began to pretend. She would have a make-believe party.

"I shall go mad if I keep on thinking," she declared abruptly. "I may as well make a fool of myself one way as another. If I can get any pleasure out of pretending that Jim is coming home to supper, whose business is it?" She bustled about adding coal to the fire and getting out cooking materials from the pantry.

"I may as well have a real good supper while I am about it," she said firmly. "I suppose it will take me a whole week to eat the stuff, but what's the difference," recklessly. "Let me see—tea biscuit, raisin cake, with chocolate icing, strawberry jam, cheese and honey. Jim liked them all. I wonder what he will bring home to-night," with a strange smile.

She set the table with her best linen and china, being careful to select a special cup and saucer, decorated with blue forget-me-nots and bands of gold. A Christmas present from her to Jim. She paused for a moment to bury her face in a man's coat that hung on a nail behind the kitchen door. Jim had not stopped to take any of his belongings. "Two years today since the boat went down!" she moaned. "Poor Jim!"

Baby was in his high chair by the kitchen table, making a deafening din with a spoon. Maria felt that it was safe to leave him while she hurried, making time to make herself pretty for the occasion. A host of crimson ribbons on the breast, following the number line of her black dress, had a gold chain and locket Jim had given her. The biscuits were baked to a beautiful brown, the cake was waiting on the table. Everything was ready but the tea. She never put the tea to sleep until Jim came. Baby Jim was nodding sleepily. She must lay him in his crib. This done, she sat down in the rocking chair by the window to watch for Jim.

How beautiful everything looked, even to the purple chrysantheums in their cut-glass bowl in the center of the table. Jim's slippers were beside his chair, ready to put on the moment he came in. "He is late," she whispered, with a forlorn attempt at a laugh.

She sat very still, her mind wandering back and forth from the present to the past, from the past to the present. Whether she dozed for a few moments she never knew. She was aroused by the sound of footsteps—brisk, energetic, familiar—moving quickly along the sidewalk. They passed through the front gate and around the side of the house pausing for a moment outside the kitchen door. Maria trembled violently. Was she awake or dreaming? The footsteps crossed the kitchen floor, the hall, and stopped in the doorway. She was afraid to look up, but did at last manage to raise her eyes.

"Well, Maria, here I am at last," said the big man who stood looking down at her. "Supper 'most ready? Here's your melon."

Maria had risen to her feet. One glance in the man's face and she dropped down upon the lounge in a dead faint. The basket dropped from Jim's hand. The melon rolled under the table. Jim knelt by the lounge and took his wife in his arms. "I ought to have written!" he told himself accusingly. "I ought not to have taken her by surprise." It was relief unspeakable to him when she opened her eyes.

"Jim!" she uttered, imploringly. "Oh, Jim, you are not dead! I thought you were dead!" Her eyes demanded an answer.

"Not me!" declared Jim ungrammatically. "In fact, I'm very much alive. That confounded boat went off and left me staring at it like a fool from the dock. Great Scott! What's this?"

Little Jim as enterprising as his father had learned a new trick. Roused from his nap by the sound of voices he had managed by considerable ingenuity and a great determination to get one fat leg after the other over the top of his crib. From that perilous position he descended to the carpet with a soft thud. This accomplished, he started on a tour of investigation.

"Pa-pa? Pa-pa?" he was hisping interrogatively, his blue eyes staring up at those so like his own.

"Good heavens, Maria, is it true?" demanded Jim in an awed whisper, staring as if fascinated at that tell-tale mole.

Maria nodded, her eyes filled with blissful tears, while both hands clutched the sleeve of Jim's coat as if she feared he would disappear as suddenly as he came.

"Well, all I've got to say is this," said Jim, gathering baby and mother in a huge, engulfing embrace, "you've played a mighty mean trick on me Maria."

Women of South Seas

Have Many Liberties

Despite the fact that the inhabitants of the Pacific archipelago are of much the same race or races—light brown, straight-haired Polynesians or dark brown, frizzly-haired Melanesians—their customs vary from group to group. And while exceptions must be made here or there, in most of the islands—and particularly in Tonga, Samoa, and Fiji—feminine virtue is and always has been as highly prized as anywhere else in the world. In a few of the more cosmopolitan ports—such as Apia or Suva or Papeete—there may be some women who take theirs lightly, but they are a limited minority and quite a recent institution stimulated almost invariably by an acquired fondness for the ribbons and trinkets of civilization.

In these islands—although the woman has never enjoyed the unrestricted liberty of her Marquesan sister—her position is a fairly happy one. Of course, as in many parts of the world, she is regarded as belonging to a somewhat inferior sex; throughout Polynesia she waits until the men are served before she thinks of dining herself; but this seems to cause her little concern. She appears to accept it philosophically, as though to say, "Let them strut and cherish their petty vanities; I'll assert myself whenever I want anything very badly." And in all practical matters, she undoubtedly commands respect.

In Tonga—the only independent nation in the South seas—a woman actually occupies the throne. Her Majesty, Queen Salote, is absolute benevolent, not only over her subjects but over her prime minister, who happens just incidentally to be her husband. Even in Fiji, where the people are of the kinky-haired Melanesian race, as revealed within the last fifty years—cannibalism, the women enjoy considerable independence.—Harry L. Foster, in the Independent, Boston.

SHE WENT FOR A LAD TO WORSE

Down to 98 Pounds—Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was almost dead, and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. Rasmussen, 19044 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? Happiness?

Health? That's the best gift. Health is richer than gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

Attention, Middle-Aged Women!

Fort Wayne, Ind.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines were a life savor to me at middle age. When I reached that period it seemed that I had all the ailments and distress that can come to a woman. My nerves gave way, I was so weak that some days I was not able to be on my feet at all. I had hot flashes, dizzy spells, backache and pains thru my sides. I was a complete physical wreck when I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. These medicines soon ended the suffering and distress and brought me thru this critical period a strong healthy woman."—Mrs. Ida Jackson, 621 1/2 Baker St.

"That makes no difference," said the porter. "I have orders not to let this flat to anyone with children."—Tit-Bits.

Beliefs About Moon

The Greeks regarded a full moon as favorable for great enterprises. This belief has a basis of physiological truth, because it is now known that the nervous system is influenced by the lunar cycle. Hence there are periods of vital energy when the physical and mental capacity is at its height, and it is then that success may reward our undertakings.

Heavily Charged Wires

A SPECTACULAR PICTURE

The screen story of Laurence Stallings, noted newspaper man, novelist and playwright, has been booked for an engagement at the Temple Theatrical Nov. 17.

tre, Howell, starting Nov. 15 and This is the "Big Parade" a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor and starring John Gilbert. The plot of the "Big Parade" might be written in one sentence—An American Boy Goes to France. Jim Apperson, son of a rich family, leaves for France without any heroic musings. Slim, a riveter and Bull, a bartender, are in his company, and they become buddies for the duration of the big adventure. We follow them through their training in a rural French village where Jim meets Melisande and immediately forgets about the girl at home.

Then the big parade! The long line of lorries moving to the front. Melisande is left standing at the road clutching one of Jim's hob-nailed shoes. This is an exquisite scene intelligently directed. Then the march through the forest with snipers and machine guns everywhere. The rhythm of this unbeatable advance of khaki-clad figures makes a deep impress. On and on until the climax in the shell-hole, when Jim goes over the top to avenge his two pals. You will never see such a picture pictured on the screen again.

Supporting John Gilbert as the star are Rene Adoree as Melisande, and such well known players as Hobart Bosworth, Claire Adams, Claire McDowell, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien, Robert Ober and Rosita Martin.

ENTERTAINS FOR FRIEND

Tuesday of last week Mrs. Floyd Reason entertained at a six o'clock the members of the "B Sharp Club" in honor of Mrs. Wm. H. Cooper. Covers were laid for six. Mrs. Cooper was the recipient of many pretty remembrances from the members of the club and also Mrs. Reason. The evening was spent in playing dominoes, Nellie Gardner and Mrs. George Pearson of Howell holding high score.

Is Your Iron Growing Old?

EVERY housewife uses an Electric Iron and blesses the inventor. But don't forget that the electric iron, in spite of its virtues, doesn't possess eternal life. It wears out in the course of time, like everything else.

A worn-out iron naturally fails to do the satisfactory work of its prime. It should be retired from service. But don't imagine it is a dead loss on that account. It has a "turn-in" value. You get one dollar for it when you buy your new iron. The stuff that's in it is worth a dollar to us and you are welcome to its value.

Don't keep on using a worn-out iron. It doesn't pay. Bring it in and buy a new one. It's as good as a dollar bill to you on your purchase.
