THE BOTTOM FELL OUT SUNDAY

A spring shower which fell abundantly Saturday night and early Sunday morning may have been very beneficial to the wheat and hay crops but it sure raised the deuce with the roads in this section. Stout gravel trunk lines, county roads and cross roads which had withstood the onslaughts of winter frosts and snows literally caved putting a damper on travel on all roads except the paved ones.

M-49 broke through this side of Lakeland near the Shipley farm Sunday. A big moving van belonging to the Metropolitan Moving Co. of Detroit which was taking the household goods of Nick Coluser to Detroit became stuck in the mud there and blocked traffic most of the day. It was at last pulled out and proceeded as far as Whitmore Lake where it again sank in the mud. The Dexter road also fell through and resembled a swamp from the Roche farm to the Sigler farm. A mile this side of the village of Dexter the bottom fell out as it has for several years past and car after car and truck after truck which attempted to push through it had to be pulled out by teams. Paterson lake also became mud-isolated and many Detroiters who came out to spend the week end at their cottages were forced to make the last leg of their journey on foot. However these road conditions are only temporary and a few days of warm sunshine will draw the frost out and restore them to their normal condition.

P. T. A. MEETING

A meeting of the P. T. A. will be held at the school house, Tuesday evening, April 3. Election of officers. Also the Cleveland convention and the new Education bill will be discussed. Everyone invited.

THE PAVING PROPOSITION

The cost of paving has caused much discussion here the past week and there seems to be much difference of opinion in regards to the cost of paving and who will have to pay it. According to information on hand it will be about as follows. The state under the Covert Act will pay for the laying of a 20 foot pavement. However a 36 foot one is desired here and the additional 16 feet will be paid for by the property owners. The cost of the 16 additional feet is estimated to be $5.00 per running foot and this would be divided equally between the property owners on each side of the road making the cost $2.50 per foot. Then if a property owner had a 40 ft. lot on Main Street his paving tax would be $90 and 75c per foot for curb stone which would make a grand total of $120. This could be paid in four yearly installments.

MANY ACRES LEASED FOR OIL

By our exchanges that the amount of acreage being leased for oil is steadily increasing. In addition to the leases secured in this section much has also been leased in the vicinity of Milford, Hamburg, South Lyons, Owosso and other points. A well was shot at Monroe, Mich. last week which is now yielding 60 barrels of oil a day. However, according to the following report a great majority of the wells sunk last year proved to be dry ones.

"Wildcatting or the drilling of new oil wells was a costly business last year. Of 24,143 wells drilled, 7,219 or 29.9 per cent proved to be dry holes, or oilless failures. As the American Petroleum Institute estimates the average cost of drilling at $35.00 per well, it cost the oil industry about $20,000,000 to find out where oil is not.

Ordinarily, Bureau of Mines statistics show, about 25 per cent of the drillings result in dry holes, but the Institute points out that in 1927 "wildcatting" was particularly active early in the year and the percentage of dry holes was higher than it has been for some time. Total completions, however, were about 5,200 less than in 1926, which saw the peak of drillings in recent years.

The curtailment of drilling operations was caused by the over-production of oil from going wells, with the increased percentage of dry holes probably was due to more active search for oil in impervious areas.

MRS. MARGARET TIMMONS

Mrs. Margaret Shannon Timmons died at her home in Jackson, Tuesday, March 27, aged 77 years. She formerly lived in Pinckney but for many years has resided in Jackson. Surviving her are her son, Frank, of Jackson, and a daughter, Sister Redempta of Detroit, another daughter, Mrs. Mae Taylor, died several years ago. She also leaves three grand children and a sister, Mrs. Julia Monroe, of Pinckney. The funeral will be held from St. John's Church, Jackson at 9:00 a. m. Thursday, Rev. Fr. Wall officiating. Burial in Jackson.

MRS. JOHN P. WALSH

Mrs. Mary Cavanaugh Walsh, wife of John P. Walsh, of Dexter township died suddenly, Sunday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Anderson in Detroit. She was born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6, 1868, coming to Dexter when a child. She was married to John P. Walsh May 7, 1884. Surviving her are her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Oscar Anderson of Detroit, Mrs. Clyde McIntyre of Pontiac and Nonna at home, two sons, William of Toledo and Wallace at home, and seven grandchildren. Funeral services were held this morning at St. Joseph's Church, Dexter, Rev. Fr. Costello officiating. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

DIVIDED UP SCHOOL DISTRICT

The Putnam and Hamburg township boards met Tuesday afternoon at the school house in the Sellman district near the Richard Haddock farm. The meeting was held for the purpose of dividing up the district among the neighboring districts as there are not enough pupils there to pay to hire a teacher. The Chambers, Nash and VanHorn schools all got portions of it besides other districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haines who have been spending the winter in California have returned home.

ORDAINED LAST SUNDAY

Bernard Hoey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoey of Webster, was ordained as a Catholic priest at Detroit by Bishop Plagens Sunday. He will say his first mass at St. Joseph's church, Dexter.

BEWARE, SIGN SHOOTERS

Those careless, indifferent individuals who sometimes think it smart practice to take a shot at road signs placed along state and federal highways will do well to go just a little slower in the future. It is a criminal offense to destroy property and these road signs belong to the state or to the government. Sign shooters under the state penal code, are guilty of double infractions since the malicious injury to signs is punishable by six months in jail and a $500 fine. An additional fine of equal amount and another six months in jail may be imposed for discharging firearms from any vehicle on a public road. Hence the person with an urge to spot-shoot signs from a vehicle is liable to spend a year in jail and pay a fine of $1000.

BERNARD P. MURNINGHAM

Bernard P. Murningham died at his home west of Howell on Thursday, March 22, following a five days illness from pneumonia. The deceased was a son of the late Frank Murningham, was born in this county and has spent his entire life here. He was married to Miss Anna Brogan, daughter of the late Simon Brogan of Pinckney who survives him. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Hans Jensen of Pontiac and Mrs. John Foskitt of Ypsilanti and two brothers, Patrick of Howell and John of Eloise. Funeral services were held from St. Joseph's church, Howell, Saturday at 9:30 a. m. Burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

THEODORE McCUMBER

Theodore McCumber, a resident of this vicinity for many years, passed away at the hospital in Jackson, Thursday, March 22, where he had been confined by illness for some time. The remains were brought to Pinckney and his funeral was held Saturday morning at 10:00 from St. Mary's Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. Dorsey officiating. Burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

BREAKS RECORD

All previous January production records were shattered last month by the Chevrolet Motor Company when the total output for the thirty-day period reached 91,584 units, W. S. Kundsen, president and general manager, announced today. This figure topped by nearly 20,000 units the 73,676 cars and trucks produced in January, 1927 and more than doubled the output for the corresponding month in 1926 when only 46,437 units were manufactured.

As a result of this tremendous volume, production in January was exceeded by that of only four other months in the entire history of the company. Every indication points to new Chevrolet records in the coming months of 1928, Mr. Kundsen said. The tentative production schedule for February is 112,475 units, as against 85,000 units last February, while actual production for the month this year is certain to exceed the tentative schedule by a comfortable margin, Mr. Kundsen said. Tentative plans for March call for the building of more than 127,000 units which will establish a new all-time monthly record for the manufacture of gear shift cars, according to Mr. Kundsen.

Minnesota State Societies at Los Angeles

Few Inside Jobs on Wall Street

Low-Salaried Employees Seldom Found Unfaithful to Their Trust.

New York.—"Inside jobs," as those operations are known which result in monetary loss to employers, are said to be rare in the financial district. Detectives and others who are posted on the latest business developments in the underworld have great respect for the thousands of low-salaried employees, who, facing temptation daily in handling large sums of money, remain true to their trust. Further, they say, the workers remain faithful to their employers although approached frequently with apparently lucrative propositions by organized crooks "planning a job."

Human frailty, however, sometimes breaks down the guard even of the most faithful employees and the very crooks who can find no weakness of character play upon their vanity with some success. Illustrative of the manner in which modern psychology thus is adapted to the needs of the underworld is the recent loss of $17,000 in stocks and bonds.

Takes Advantage of Clerk A messenger showed the securities under the ground glass window of a bank, said he would be back for a receipt and left to transact other business while the clerk was counting the lot. A few minutes later the clerk heard some one outside the window declare in no uncertain tones that he "couldn't wait all day."

"Give me my receipt now," he thundered, "or give me back my securities!"

"Oh, all right," retorted the clerk peevishly, "if that's the way you feel about it, take the securities!"

He opened the window, glared at the supposed messenger and tossed the stocks and bonds on the counter. Out the door they went in the pockets of a stranger.

Sometimes the fault rests with trusting employees. Belated investigation into circumstances surrounding the loss of a check by a youthful messenger revealed that in various pockets he carried securities to be delivered for a half dozen firms. The lost check itself had been written in four figures and the total value of the paper was even larger. Yet none of the employing concerns knew more about the boy than his name and supposed address.

These cases are not unusual. Hugh D. Combs, general superintendent of claims for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, asserts. Upon his young shoulders rests much of the burden of recovering securities lost in just such ways and carelessness in handling valuable paper is one of his greatest worries.

Use Civil War Methods. "Business men seem to be trusting anybody to deliver the millions of securities handled daily," he said, "and the messengers seem to be equally trusting. Some firms still are using Civil war methods of delivery. They were all right when trading amounted only to a few shares a day, but they are obsolete now."

"It banks would do away with ground glass delivery windows, so that clerks plainly can see those with whom they are dealing, and if messengers could be taught always to get a receipt before intrusting securities to others there would be fewer thefts and losses."

Crochet? No! Woman Wants to Be Engineer Joplin, Mo.—Hoping railroads some day will permit women to be locomotive engineers, Mrs. John J. Tolbeck is becoming thoroughly acquainted with lesser mechanical contrivances.

She is chief machinist in a Joplin machine shop. But her life ambition is to be a train woman. She advocate equal rights for women, not because she wants to sit in the right-hand end window, a privilege now denied her sex.

"When the public finally realizes that a woman can operate an engine just as efficiently, if not more so, than a man, you'll find me at the throttle," she says.

Mrs. Tolbeck is sometimes summoned to the railroad shops here to assist in solving an intricate mechanical problem.

Toys, candy and shop windows failed to interest Mrs. Tolbeck when as a youngster she was taken to town by her parents, who resided on a farm. The parents' Saturday afternoon shopping finished, they drove to the railroad roundhouse, where their daughter could be found watching the locomotive machinists.

Man's Gift Feeds Poor 118 Years After He Dies Philadelphia.—Samuel Scotten died 118 years ago, but his spirit of charity goes marching on.

He left a fund and directed that the annual interest of $12 be used for the purchase of bread on his birthday to be distributed to the worthy poor.

On his last birthday the board of city trusts faithfully carried out the provisions of the will, which directs that "on the 23rd day of the second month (that being my birthday) there be delivered to the poor of the city and of Southwark, $12 worth of bread, baking care that none but the needy get it and that not more than two loaves be delivered to any one family."

have its effect in the form of enormously reduced car operation costs.

The average motor car consumes 454 gallons of gasoline yearly. If from 30 to 50 per cent of this is wasted, it means that, taking the lower figure, the average carburner sees 126 gallons of gasoline pour through its jets for no useful purpose.

Broad-Shouldered Togs to Be Style This Spring New York.—That athletic-looking American of a decade ago, with broad shoulders and a narrow hips, is about to return. The New York Custom Cutters' club at its annual style show at the Hotel Commodore displayed the newest creations in men's apparel, featuring broad chests, narrow hips, wide lapels, longer coats and wider and shorter sleeves. Trousers, however, will hang straight with little change in width. The popular colors were gray and brown.

How the Useful Plants Came to Mankind

By T. E. STEWARD WNU Service

Cotton

MUCH less ancient than flax, cotton has become today a far more important material in the manufacture of thread and fabric. The people of extreme antiquity raised no cotton, and its cultivation in the Greco-Roman world was not begun until after the time of Alexander, though his troops found it under cultivation in Asiatic countries at the time of his famous Eastern excursions.

It has been established that cotton is original in the southern Asiatic peninsula, India and Burma. It occurs in many varieties, chief of which are the shrub or herbaceous cotton, cultivation of which has spread throughout all parts of the world having a suitable climate, and the tree cotton, a larger plant somewhat used in ancient times but in modern days practically ignored.

Whether cotton in some varieties is native to the Western hemisphere is a disputed point, but there is some evidence to indicate that there were varieties growing in tropical America. The silky, long-staple cotton known as Sea Island, and first grown on the islands off the Carolinian coast is thought by many to be American in origin. Others assert that it has been changed by the gentle climate and nearness to salt water into the superior plant which it is recognized to be. Relatively little definite evidence exists that cotton is actually indigenous to America.

In South America, especially Peru, cotton has been cultivated for centuries, and it has been grown also in Central America and in the West Indian Islands.

The present name of the plant in Chinese, cotton, seems to be a direct derivation from the name qun of kum applied to it by the Arabs when it was introduced into their country from India before the Christian era. Almost the same name, kattan or kitran, was applied by the Arabs to flax, the similarity probably arising from the likeness in uses of the two forms.

China, which anciently produced many of the plants known to the modern world and which today raises cotton extensively, did not receive this crop of civilization until the Ninth or Tenth century A. D., which is taken to indicate that its cultivation had been principally in southern and extreme southeastern Asia prior to that date.

Tree cotton is not an Asiatic plant, but African. Many collectors and botanists have brought it back from the region that includes upper Egypt and Abyssinia. Much of the cotton used by the Egyptians after they added that fabric plant to their previous sole source, flax, was of the tree cotton species.

Oats

OATS are believed to have come originally from the plains of Hungary, which is to say, eastern central Europe, and probably, also from Tartary. There is nothing to indicate that they were grown in the periods of ancient Eastern civilizations, either in Mesopotamia, India, or Egypt, and in the days of Greek and Roman civilization they were known and mentioned, but probably not cultivated by either of those peoples. The modern English joke that oats are food for men in Scotland and for horses in England is a derivation of an old Roman joke, based on the fact that Germans in their northern forests, outside the pale of Roman civilization, lived for the most part "on oatmeal." To which the Germans no doubt responded with the Scotch, "And just see the German men and the Roman horses."

Galen and other recorders of ancient events mentioned oats as a product of Asia Minor, also, where they were fed to horses and eaten by men in years of scarcity. But a colony of Gauls had penetrated in ancient times into Asia Minor and it is not unlikely that they took oats with them. At all events, the assumption that oats came from central European plains is borne out both by the implication of ancient writings and by the fact that they grow luxuriantly there and spread from cultivated fields into a semi-wild state more readily in that region than anywhere else.

Because oats sow themselves so readily on rubbish heaps and by the wayside, whether they have been carried in the refuse from stables and by horses, reports of wild oats have been almost universal. As a matter of fact, there has never been an authenticated instance of the discovery of oats that were undoubtedly wild, and that apocryphal plant must be left to the young men of whose coat of arms they are supposed to form a part.

Oats have been found among the remains of the Swiss lake dwellings, which belong to the Bronze age, and in Germany, near Wittenberg, in several tombs belonging either to the First century of the Christian era or a little earlier. Some, however, have as yet been found in the lake dwellings of northern Italy, which tends to confirm the belief that oats were cultivated only to the north of Italy, not in that land, at the time of the Roman republic.

The BABY

Why do so many, many babies of to day escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria.

The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

MIXED

From head to heel she was exquisitely modern, and the shop walker to whom this fair young thing had beckoned felt his heart beat all the faster at the honor due him.

She asked him where she could get "pencils for the eyebrows."

The shopwalker was inclined to deafness, and he misunderstood her.

"The stationery section is upstairs, madam—" he began.

"But I want them for eyebrows," interrupted the slim young woman, somewhat puzzled.

"Oh, highbrow stuff! Better ask them at the book counter."

Human Brain Waves Like Those of Radio

Abbe Moreau, one of the greatest scientists in France, declares that radio-telegraphy and mental telepathy seem to be identical processes.

"Scientists," he says, "think today that the various waves in the atmosphere are of an electric nature at their base, and that all atoms, including those forming our brains, emit waves similar to those sent out by radio stations, and that they are capable of influencing appropriate receivers.

"According to our capacity we receive—generally without knowing it—an infinite number of radiations of all sorts that affect our brain cells, and, by their intermediary, our intelligence and our nervous system; and in the same way solar activity acts not only on individuals but on all people at the same time. I showed as far back as 1910 that the great wars always followed large sunspots."

"Sunshine Clothes" Coming?

Sunshine baths may be taken in "sunshine clothes" in the near future, following a discovery by Prof. A. M. Lowe of England. He has found that by a simple and inexpensive treatment some types of cloth can be made permeable to the ultraviolet ray, which means that the value of the natural ultraviolet ray in the ordinary sunlight and daylight can be received by the body, and that wearers may enjoy their sunshine baths while pursuing outdoor sports or work. The professor recently reported his discovery to the New Health society, under whose auspices his committee has been working.

Toothpicks in Demand

Toothpicks may be social outlaws, but every year their production increases by millions, says a Chicago manufacturer of the wooden slivers. However, the wheels of the toothpick industry are not kept running to supply the use for which they were originally intended. It is such things as using them to teach the baby to count, sticking three-decker sandwiches together and resorting to toothpicks when the poker chips run out that boosts production.

Wood for Newsprint

Since the customary units of wood measurement—cord, log measure or lumber scale—do not represent an exact quantity, the cubic foot solid wood is used. Even this unit is variable as to pulp yield according to the character and rate of growth. However, taking the dry weight of spruce as 24 pounds per cubic foot the commercial yield of 100 cubic feet would be about 2,800 pounds of mechanical pulp and of sulphite pulp, 1,080 pounds. Commercially, newsprint is made from a mixture of 75 per cent mechanical and 25 per cent sulphite. Consequently, a ton of newsprint would contain 1,500 pounds mechanical and 500 pounds sulphite. Then 1,500 pounds mechanical would require 66.2 cubic feet wood; 500 pounds sulphite would require 48.5 cubic feet wood; one ton newsprint would require 113.7 cubic feet or 2,728.8 pounds oven-dry spruce wood

Wood for Newsprint

Since the customary units of wood measurement—cord, log measure or lumber scale—do not represent an exact quantity, the cubic foot solid wood is used. Even this unit is variable as to pulp yield according to the character of the wood as to species and rate of growth. However, taking the dry weight of spruce as 24 pounds per cubic foot the commercial yield of 100 cubic feet would be about 2,800 pounds of mechanical pulp and of sulphite pulp, 1,080 pounds. Commercially, newsprint is made from a mixture of 75 per cent mechanical and 25 per cent sulphite. Consequently, a ton of newsprint would contain 1,500 pounds mechanical and 500 pounds sulphite. Then 1,500 pounds mechanical would require 66.2 cubic feet wood; 500 pounds sulphite would require 48.5 cubic feet wood; one ton newsprint would require 113.7 cubic feet or 2,728.8 pounds oven-dry spruce wood

Bedtime Story for Kiddies

"I've had a fine journey," said the Fairy Queen, as she came back to Fairyland.

"Tell us about it, and tell us what you saw," the Fairies asked.

"First of all, I saw some lovely trees along a great avenue. They had all come out in full, and they were leaning over and meeting high in the center, and talking to each other.

"It seemed that they had started telling each other little springtime secrets early in the spring, and had gone closer together and closer together as they had listened to each other.

"So now the lovely branches met and made a beautiful tree archway all down the avenue.

"All winter long they had looked at each other on either side of the roadway and they had said:

"When spring comes we'll have some talks!"

"Then I peeped in at a birthday party. A little girl named Lucy was nine years old.

"She had some other children at her party, and they played all kinds of games. Puss in the Corner was one favorite.

"They played the donkey game, too. There was a big sheet, and upon it was a painted donkey. Each child was blindfolded, and after having been turned around three times so as to be mixed up and to make the game harder, she was started off carrying a painted ball made of cloth which she was going to try to put on the donkey.

"The one who got nearest in putting on the ball correctly won a prize.

"Then they had ice cream and a large birthday cake with Lucy's name and age printed in pink letters upon the white frosting.

"The table had a paper tablecloth upon it with all kinds of pretty pictures of little Boy Blue blowing his horn and of children with sand pails and shovels at the sea-shore. The napkins were like the tablecloth, too.

"Then there were fences made of

"But even his chirping was music and song to Pine's ears. And Pine told me of Dicky's bath-taking, and how he never failed to take a bath each morning.

"Oh, Pine boasted of Dicky, and of his bright yellow feathers.

"Pine thought it was so wonderful that Dicky did everything standing on his legs.

"He sleeps that way, he eats that way, he sings that way, he takes his bath that way," Pine said.

"I saw many garden flowers—lavender tulips, and white lilacs, and lilies of the valley, and Johnny Jump-Ups, and Striped Grass and Flowering Almond bushes, and they all wished me such a polite good-day.

"Flowers have such sweet manners. I saw two dogs rub noses, too, and tell each other they were so glad to meet again.

"My journey was interesting to me because I love to see all the different creatures and flowers and people I can.

"To me there is so much that is worth while to see, and it's all so very enjoyable," the Fairy Queen ended as she waved her wand happily.

The Habit of Working

DOCTORS are continually advising men "not to be slaves to their jobs," yet most of the men who have done anything worth while have been almost addicted to their work as drug users are addicted to the narcotics they use.

With the drug user the narcotic is the chief thing in life.

If he seeks to forget it, the thought of it returns to him.

If he tries to break off its use, he becomes instantly nervous and unhappy.

Now it may be that work ought not to have effect on human beings, yet that it does act thus is apparent to anyone who has associated much with men of affairs.

I know of a painter who was told that he was a slave to his art, and that he was getting morose and unfit for human companionship because he put it before anything else in his life.

Finally persuaded that this was true, he locked up his studio and went away for what was to be a two months' rest.

In a week he was back, painting busily again.

Nothing else was able to interest him in the least.

I believe that the average person needs rest and change, and that constant pegging away at the same task, however fascinating it may be, is narrowing, and exerts a bad effect on the health.

Yet most people could get more interested in their jobs than they are, without running the risk of illness, or without sacrificing any of the real pleasures of life.

If you will read of the scientists

Sergt. Herbert E. Smith, who according to army tests is "the most perfect man" in the army, both in brain and brawn. His wife admits he isn't right about everything, but says he is withal the world's best husband.

My Mother

By Douglas Malloch.

A LOT of mothers may be fine, I know that none's as nice as mine. Though some folks say, "All children do," I know a way To prove it's true. A way to prove, of all the rest, That my own mother is the best.

For often Mother takes me out Where other mothers are about. They call my name, They put my hand, They say the same Things Mother said, But not a one I ever meet That ever makes it sound as sweet.

And when they kiss me once or twice It doesn't seem the least bit nice. I want to run, That's really true, It's just no fun When some folks do, But when my mother kisses me It's just as nice as nice can be.

I've even had to eat their cake; It's not as nice as she can make. Just lots of ways, And lots of things, The way she plays, The way she sings, My mother's best. Besides, last night, My father told me I was right. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I've Had a Fine Journey," Said the Fairy Queen.

cardboard with the same patterns, and these fences were put about the table. They were quite low.

"The colors were all blue and yellow, and Lucy wore a yellow hair ribbon, and yellow socks, and a blue sash.

"Oh, they had a splendid time. "Then I passed a great many members of the balloon family, all riding on motor cars. They looked very pretty and gay, and they were very proud as they waved a 'hello' to me as they hurried by!

"I saw some dear little pink leaves coming out, and I knew the members of the White Oak family were slowly coming along.

"I called upon a little Dicky bird, too, who belonged to a little boy known to his friends as Pine.

"Pine was very proud of Dicky and told how Dicky would sing, though really Dicky sang very little.

WHILE the fresh maple sugar is still toothsome, try using it and the syrup in various ways. Here are two:

Nut Sandwiches.

Brown walnuts in a little butter, season with salt and add to grated maple sugar. Chop the nuts and use on buttered whole wheat bread.

A most delicious omelet may be prepared by placing a half-cupful or less of blanched almonds in a buttered omelet pan, and stir until hot, but not brown; then pour in the omelet and cook. Fold as usual and serve with a hot maple sauce poured around the omelet. This makes a delicious dessert.

Apple Cocktail.

Peel large apples and with a large potato scoop cut into small balls.

Drop the balls into water with a bit of lemon juice to keep them from discoloring. Prepare a mixture of pineapple, banana, grapefruit and put into glasses. Decorate the top of each with a few apple balls. Pour over all a boiled cider slightly thickened by boiling—cool before using.

Golden Frozen Pudding.

Scald a pint of milk. Beat six egg yolks until thick, add one cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt; beat again. Cook the two mixtures until smooth, cool, add a tablespoonful of vanilla and one and one-half cupfuls of cream. Freeze. Have ready one and one-half cupfuls of sultana raisins, candied cherries, pineapple and citron mixed, cover with lemon juice and let stand overnight. Stir this fruit mixture into the frozen custard and let stand for two hours to ripen. serve with whipped cream.

Happiness

Once a wise man said: "Happiness grows at our own firesides, and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens." If you do not find happiness in your home it is, perhaps, because you have not planted the seeds of happiness there. Or, having planted them, you have not stayed around to watch them grow.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

By F. A. WALKER — World's Greatest Wonders

IF YOU had lived in the ancient times you would have journeyed, if you had had the time and money, to seven places on the shores of the eastern part of the Mediterranean in order that you might see the seven Wonders of the World.

You have doubtless heard them named many times. It is probable, too, that if you are past thirty you would have some trouble in repeating them offhand.

To save you the time of looking them up, were the Pharos of Alexandria, the Colossus of Rhodes, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Pyramids, the Tomb of Mausolus and the Great Statue of Jupiter at Olympia.

Go to some library and look up the reasons why each one of these was built. There are interesting romances and excellent and entertaining reading about every one of these creations.

After you have done that sit down and write out what you think are the most marvelous results of genius.

So that you may have a good starting point we print below the selections of a thousand men of note in this country and Europe who were invited to make a similar list. Every man voted for the seven things he thought most wonderful and when the ballots were counted these were selected, receiving the greatest number of votes in the order named: Radio, the telephone, the airplane, radium, spectrum analysis, the X ray, the Panama canal. These are indeed great wonders, but are they the greatest?

Poe in one of his poems refers to "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome." A good many people delight to think that the world is going to the how-ows, that the past is infinitely superior to the present and that they would have been much happier if they could have lived in another age and a better time.

A day's deprivation of modern conveniences of which the ancients knew nothing would be a good lesson for them. They would realize that this is, after all, a pretty good world to live in, that genius was never so active nor so productive, that every day sees its creations and its advancements, and that we are far ahead of the ancients in the sources of happiness.

And now to go back to the beginning, what are the Seven Wonders of the modern world?

DAIRYMAN'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

I. Thou shalt not slumber late in the morning, but shall rise early and deliver thy milk to the factory, for he that goeth late causeth the buttermaker to use profane language.

II. Thou shalt not cast all the dirt thou canst brush off the cow into the milk pail.

III. Thou shalt not take any cream for thy tea or coffee, for when thou gettest thy dividends one shall say to another, "Why taketh it more milk here for a pound of butter than at any other creamery?" Then shalt the buttermaker arise and hold thee up to ridicule with the Babcock rotary test.

IV. Thou shalt not mix water with thy milk, thou nor thy man servant nor hired girl for so surely as thou doest this thing thy name shall be Dennis over the length and breadth of the whole milk route.

V. Thou shalt not feed thy cows too much potatoes, onions, horseradish, mustard or sugar beet tops, for these things, though they may be as cheap as all outdoors, cause the buttermaker to gnash his teeth exceedingly, and the butter eater to buy his butter somewhere else.

VI. Thou shalt not set thy can of night's milk in the cellar with the cover off in order to use it as a trap to catch rats and mice therein, neither in the woodshed as a temptation to thy neighbors cat.

VII. Thou shalt not carry away more milk or buttermilk than thy share, lest someone will say concerning thee: "For a wonder, one hog carrieth food for another."

VIII. Thou shalt not use unclean cans, but shall cause thy cans to be washed every day, for a filthy can is an abomination in the buttermaker's sight, and he will visit his wrath upon him that bringeth it.

IX. Thou shalt not trouble the buttermaker, saying: "When shall I receive my pay?" for verily I say unto you, he knoweth not nor careth a little bit.

X. Thou shalt not say unto another: "Lo, behold, have not these milk handlers soft snap? They receive much pay and work not very hard at all." Verily I say unto you this is a Whopper. They rise early and toil much, and peradventure the board of directors refuseth to buy another separator; they will be obliged to toil Sunday morning when other people are fanning themselves within the gates of the synagogue.—J. B. Fori Co.

CHAINS FOR THE BORER!

For years farmers have attached heavy chains, as illustrated, to plows to get trash well plowed under. The practice is especially useful now in burying larvae of the European corn borer which winter over in cornstalks. Long wires properly attached to the plow will do the same thing.
