Watch Quality

Outside, one watch looks as good as another. In fact, the expensive watch is so closely duplicated in outside looks that you have to look to see who the maker is. There is the whole secret. The name on a watch determines its worth. When you see a watch that is well known throughout the country, invariably it is known by its dependability. The undependable watch does not last long.

Want a watch that will be reliable, give you years of service, be sure that the name is one you have confidence in. The well known Elgin make and know that you will get the money spent.

PINCKNEY DEBATORS LOSE TO MASON TRIO

The Pinckney High School Debating team was defeated by the Mason team at Mason last Friday in the second of the series of elimination debates. The decision of the judges was unanimous in favor of Mason. The Pinckney team made up of Marion Derks, Wilhelmina Bourbennais and Helen Feidler rated high in delivery while the Mason Trio composed of three boys, James Dart, Gordon Kennedy, and Edward McGowan scored high in rebuttal. The judges were Prof. J. D. Manshof, head of the public speaking department, M. S. C., Prof. W. W. Johnston, dept of English and modern languages, M. S. C., and Prof. A. H. Nelson, dept of English, M. S. C.

This series of debates leaves but sixteen schools in the contest. These will compete at intervals until but two schools are left. The final debate will be held late in April at the Hill auditorium in Ann Arbor.

The Pinckney team has done remarkably well this year winning 5 out of 6 debates. They hold two decisions over Stockbridge and one over Gaines, New Hudson and Williamston. The judges at Gaines gave a decision against Pinckney but this was reversed as Gaines failed to provide outside judges.

Other class "D" teams are Dexter, St. Thomas, of Ann Arbor, St. Mary's of Chelsea and a new entry the Day school of Detroit. Howell meets Monroe Wednesday, Dexter and St. Thomas and St. Mary's and the Day School meet Thursday. Pinckney plays Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Their opponent will be the winner of the St. Mary's Day school game. This will be the third successive year that the local team has competed in the state tournament. The first year they were defeated by University high school, last year they lost to Dexter and won from St. Mary's. High in Quality Low in Price

Motorists are beginning to learn that there's a big difference in tires, although they all look pretty much alike.

Some are made with skimpy, short staple cotton. Some have an overdose of "filler" in the rubber of the tread. Some are long on looks and short on quality.

But you won't need a microscope to be sure that the Goodyear Tire you get from me is a real buy. Good-year mileages tell the story.

Goodyears are performing so satisfactorily for my customers that they invariably come back—not with a kick but with a boost, and for another Goodyear when they need tire equipment.

I have your size—in fresh new stocks.

"When the Day is Young"

Life is exacting—but life is consistent. Through all nature, natural laws sometimes seem hard—but only when we try to violate or evade them. Observation of them pays peaceful rewards. This major rule is no better proved than in this message to you—about your business—and our business. When the day is young, the day of life it is the time to be up and about. He who starts early to build constructively, is he who knows that the younger years are the productive years, and that they must be made to take care of the later years when earning powers are lessened—and peace and rest should be enjoyed. Our savings department is the first stepping stone to such building. Decide now to save a part of your income EVERY WEEK—and then watch it grow.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Pinckney Debating team composed of Helene Fielder, Wilhelmina Bourbonnais and Marion Derkis has made an excellent record in the state this year. They finally lost to Mason last Friday after a hotly contested debate. The debate was held in the spacious auditorium of Mason's New High School building. So interesting an close was the debate that the three hundred spectators seemed about evenly divided as to the winner.

Mason had an excellent team composed of three boys. One of their number won the State Declamatory contest a year ago.

Last Thursday afternoon the local Declamatory contest was held. Alice Gearheart won an extremely close decision over Maxine Smith. Alice will represent Pinckney at the district contest held in Howell in April.

The local school will enter the state oratorical contest. More than twenty orations by the pupils have been written in the Pinckney school. The representative of the school will be chosen this week.

The annual play is to be commenced this week. Parts will be given out and practise will start at once. The proceeds of the play will go to defray expenses of Senior and Juniors as well as meeting expenses of Debating, Oratory, Athletics.

Pinckney plays in the state Basketball Tournament Friday.

CURRENT COMMENT

While the legislature has shown a great readiness to pass unimportant bills towards which little criticism or comment was directed it has refused to come down to brass tacks where really important measures were concerned. This is especially true of legislation requiring an additional tax levy. Gov. Green's pet income tax law to provide money for state institutions died aborning and the bond issue bill which he supported as a substitute for it was defeated by House by a vote of 47 to 46. 67 votes were required to pass it. It is probable an extra session will be called.

The members of the House headed the crack of the governor's whip last week and amended the criminal code in such a way that bootleggers will not be in danger of the life term for fourth offenders. This was accomplished by exempting those offenders for which the maximum sentence for the first offence is less than five years. However according to Monday's Detroit Free Press their work has been wasted for a bill has just been passed by both branches of Congress and signed by the president making the maximum term for first term prohibition offenders five years. So once more the bootlegger is in dire peril. According to the Detroit daily, the obliging legislatures will have to pass another amendment exempting all fourth offenders where the maximum sentence for the first offence is less than five years and one day.

The agitation for capital punishment seems to have died out. At the public hearing before the senate judiciary committee last week, only 11 people appeared. Last year the number was near a hundred. We have always considered this bill a joker anyway. We can't see where the many officials who are noted for their leniency and who have ignored the fourth offence law would be any more apt to enforce a capital punishment law.

Saturday is town meeting day. We wonder whether the average attendance will be out or not. This runs about 25 for the Democrat and 12 for the Republican. In years where there is an issue this is subject to an increase. We have seen the time when 200 votes would be cast in the Democrat caucus alone. It was in the days when James Smith was a candidate for highway commissioner and Jim sure knew how to get out the vote. We have not heard much talk about the tickets this year. We understand Supervisor Mowers will be a candidate for re-election and that Max Ledwidge is talked of as a candidate to oppose him on the Democrat ticket. The majority of Democrat office holders are expected to be candidates for renomination.

THE TRI COUNTY ASSOCIATION
The Tri County Herd Improvement Association completed its January test with twenty-five members enrolled with Ford Hall in charge of its official tester. There were 217 tested and 32 were dry. There is nothing new under the sun, is a statement so old and so true that it has become almost a proverb. "Good will" in 1929 is borne on broad-winged tri-motored airplanes; in 1854, according to this old poster advertisement, the "Good Intent" coaches covered a route that is duplicated in part today by the mail carrying planes of the Thompson Aeronautical Company. This relic, along with ox-yokes and other mementos of early methods of travel, is a part of the exhibit portraying the development of transportation in Michigan, in the recently started historical museum at Western State Teachers College, Kalamazoo. The poster was presented to the museum by C. W. Spalding, Kalamazoo.

DRAMA REPEATS IN THE HISTORY OF TRANSPORTATION

"Here they come!" A small group of boys with the dogs with which they had been playing in front of the old Kalamazoo House started on a run toward the hill upon which some men were wildly waving their hats at something hidden from view in the valley behind. Elderly folk, more leisurely, but with the same eager anticipation written on their faces, arose from hickory chairs on the wide verandah or left the door posts and sidewalks upon which they were leaning, and started down the road toward the excited men from which the announcing shouts had come. Kalamazoo's entire population of 150 had turned out to see the greatest event in the life of the seven-year-old village—the first stage coach was coming.

This was in the spring of 1836. To accommodate the volume of travel due to land sales in that year the firm of Thompson & Wadsworth, mail contractors, put on a line of coaches between Marshall and Kalamazoo. Dr. Foster Pratt, a Civil War surgeon, and Kalamazoo postmaster 30 years later, describes the arrival of the coach: "The road across the river flat was bad and the progress of the coach slow. The anxiously waiting throng shifted uneasily about, but all eyes were intently turned down Main street. At last the flat and the river were passed, and as the four horse coach came swinging around the lower bend in Main street, the coachman put his tin horn to his lips and blew one of those long, melodious blasts by which only the approach of the stage coach can ever be properly heralded. Amid a chorus of laughter, shouts, and cheers, the first coach rattled up to the doors of the post office."

From now on residents of Kalamazoo were to receive mail regularly, and soon, daily. Beginning May, 1830, the Post Office Department sent mail westward from Detroit only once a week. It came by coach or wagon at first, to Jackson and thence to Marshall, Battle Creek, Gull Prairie, Schoolcraft and White Pigeon on horseback or on foot, as often happened in spring and fall when roads were bad and the streams high. Outside the difficulties in getting over the trails, the work of the mail carrier was light. A vest pocket or a hat crown was sufficient for a mail pouch. Money was scarce and postage was twenty-five cents for a letter. It was not until 1850 that the postage rate was reduced to three cents for all distances under 3,000 miles, if prepaid, or five cents, if paid upon delivery. The man who first brought mail through the wilderness of Western Michigan was named Darling. His home was at Marengo, east of Marshall. In the 'forties Kalamazoo was the terminus of five important mail routes which distributed mail over a territory of not less than 10,000 square miles. These routes went to White Pigeon, Grand Rapids, Allegan, St. Joseph, and Battle Creek. A decade later C. W. Lewis, nicknamed "Yankee" Lewis, was operating the stage coach, the route of which is described in the accompanying poster of the "Good Intent Line" of coaches from Battle Creek to Grand Rapids through Hastings and Yankee Springs, and to Kalamazoo by the present route of U. S. No. 12. Mr. Lewis owned one of the most famous hostleries of early days, located at Yankee Springs. Here 100 stage coach and other travelers could be accommodated at a time. Sixty teams were often stabled there between sunset and sunrise. The cuisine was renowned; the guests most loudly praised the venison and honey served.

The World and All

By CHARLES E. DRISCOLL

COMPETING WITH THE AUTOMOBILE

The automobile has taken precedence over other vehicles. The very keen competition in the field of automobile manufacturing has resulted in the production of handsome and useful motor vehicles at astounding low prices.

Every year the cars are more beautiful and more useful. They run silently. They are visions of lovely mechanism. They are works of modern art in their designing and coloring. They are marvels of convenience. The engines are more and more efficient.

Roads are being built wider and smoother and more durable, and permanent road construction is only just beginning.

The automobile is coming into its own. This is its greatest year, and next year will be even a greater automobile year.

The railroads, just now coming out of a period of slothful despondency that had its beginning when the railroads broke down utterly under the strain of war transportation, are taking notice of the triumphant competitor that runs on rubber tires.

Electricification must be the first answer of the railroads to the automobile.

Already the New York Central has announced its intention to electrify its lines between New York City and Buffalo. This improvement will take years of work, and fabulous sums of money. The Pennsylvania will electrify its lines between New York and Philadelphia.

For many years all passenger lines entering New York city has been electrified within the city, and for some miles without.

Electric power is much smoother than steam, and makes for the comfort of passengers. Especially, it eliminates the noise and dirt of the steam locomotive.

Many Americans can be tempted back into the railway cars if they can be assured a fast ride in comfort without cinders to fill up their eyes and soot to choke their pores.

In Europe some serious effort already has been made to lure travelers away from the automobile and into the railway car.

The fastest trains in the world now run between Paris and Calais.

From Bordeaux to the Spanish frontier the lines have been electrified, and the trains are marvelous creations for passenger comfort. The cars are divided into ten compartments each, with plenty of room and much luxury for each passenger.

The artist who decorated the great steamship Ile de France has decorated these passenger cars. The French are doing their utmost to make their railroads attractive, for they know that passengers do not have to ride on them.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

By MADAME RUBINSTEIN

These beauty aids are free—water, sunlight and air. Somehow people are wont to take them too much for granted, and, consequently, to neglect them. Yet they are most important beauty aids and come within the reach of everybody everywhere.

First is water, inside and out. Cleanliness, we have been told, is next to godliness. I should like to say, also, that it is next to beauty. Health thrives in cleanliness, and beauty cannot possibly exist without it. Does this seem trite to you—this emphasis of such self-evident facts? Then learn that few people are as clean as they should be, even those who bathe often, and scrub their hands and faces until the skin is dry and chapped. What matters most is the manner of cleansing, not the time and energy consumed in effort.

The cleanliness that most people ignore is the proper kind of inner cleansing. People should drink water, lots of it, to clean their bodies inside as well as out, of the poisons that come from fatigue and lack of exercise and overeating, with improper elimination of waste products. Eight glasses of water a day, two before breakfast, are good. Ten are better. Twelve are splendid. And if you feel that you need more, go right ahead and drink. It's good for you. It will keep your eyes bright and your skin clear and your kidneys and stomach and intestines in good working order.

Then water outside. This means baths, baths of all kinds. There are so many different kinds, but in general there are two distinct types, the sedative and the stimulating baths. Sedative baths are warm, cleansing baths. They may be taken morning, noon or night, but are best taken at night because they induce rest. A good water softener and a mild soap and soft towels are the accessories of the warm bath.

The stimulating bath is either hot or cold. A hot, quick bath, taken at night when the body is not too tired, is splendid both for the nerves and for the circulation. A quick cold bath, shower or plunge, in the morning will wake up the sleepy system and send the blood tumbling around the body in a healthy, happy way. Followed by a brisk rub with a sturdy Turkish towel, the cold morning bath is one of beauty's finest inspirations.

Now sunshine. Fortunately, it is not hard to induce people to indulge in sunshine. Most of them like it. Only sometimes they forget, when they are busy at their offices or playing in their comfortable, pleasantly-heated homes, that they need more and more sunshine than they can ever get. If people could be outdoors all their waking hours it would not be too much, provided that they protected themselves against unwise burning from the too-hot sun rays. If you take plenty of sunlight with your play and with your work, walk in it, ride in it, bask in it, you will get a healthy body, and very pleasantly, too.

And as for air! Do I have to say "breathe deeply!" And remind you to sleep with windows wide open and to walk in the air and exercise out of doors when ever you can? You know these things as well as I. But let me say that air is necessary to beauty. Because it is necessary to health. For man, you remember, can live several weeks without food, several days without water, but only a few minutes without air. Does that show its importance? Then get lots of it, for the sake of your health and good looks.

Star Gazing

A joyous bit of news for all moviegoers is this:

Gilbert and Sullivan are being brought to the screen. Two works by this immortal pair have been obtained for pictures. And the talkies are to be thanked.

The two stage gems are "The Mikado" and "H. M. S. Pinafore." Pathe will make the movies in New York.

No cast has been selected as yet. "The Mikado" first burst in beauty upon the American stage in 1865. "H. M. S. Pinafore" followed in 1879. Both have been very popular ever since.

It is a hope that these two will be followed by "Iolanthe," "The Pirates of Penzance" and other works of Sir William Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Hollywood is aligned against the English musical stage in what might be called the Battle of Beef.

When C. B. Cochran, British musical show man, ordered his chorines to fill out because "slim lines are passe, billowy curves are the thing" Hollywood became indignant. Directors, actresses and movie chorus girls boo the idea.

"Mr. Cochran must be terribly antiquated," quoth Marceline Day. "Fat," chirped Dorothy Arzner.

Oldest Women Give $1,500 Toward Parsonage

The Ladies Benevolent society of Olivet Congregational church has voted to give $1,500 toward a new parsonage, which is expected to be built this year.

The matter of building a parsonage came before the church at the annual meeting a year ago and a committee was named to consider plans and obtain estimates. With the burning of the Kappa Sigma Alpha fraternity house, formerly the parsonage, which was purchased by the fraternity from the church, plans for building a parsonage were deferred until the finances of the fraternity were readjusted.

The committee consists of Dr. P. H. Quick, F. C. Storr and Mrs. John Lignion of the Ladies Benevolent society.

There will be a complimentary banquet at 5:30 Friday afternoon. Visitors also will be entertained with a one-act play to be presented by the class in dramatic reading.

Ferris Debate Schedule Arranged

The Ferris institute debate schedule is taking shape.

There is to be no home debate until March 15, when Grand Rapids Junior college comes to Big Rapids.

Last year Ferris lost only one debate, that to Highland Park Junior.

The schedule includes: Feb. 27, Grand Rapids Junior there; March 1, Bay City Junior there; March 15, Grand Rapids Junior here.

Coach Roy S. Newton says arrangements are being made for a southern trip starting the first of April. The team plans to debate Findlay college, Findlay, O., and Asbury college at Willmore, Ky. Ferris also is to debate Battle Creek college, Flint Junior, Calvin college and Port Huron Junior, but dates have not been set.

CHLORIS IN THE SNOW
I saw fair Chloris walk alone,
When feathered rain came swiftly down,

As Jove descending from his Tower
To court her in a silver shower;
The wanton snow flew to her breast,
Like pretty birds into their nest.
But, overcomer with whiteness there,
For grief it thawed into a tear:
Then falling on her garment's hem,
To deck her, froze into a gem.

The New MOBIL OIL

We announce the New Mobil Oil — an oil so startling in its performance that the superlative statements we are ready to make about it are actually conservative.

For example when we say that with regular draining and refilling plus common-sense care this New Mobil Oil will keep the first-year feel in your engine for at least 30,000 miles, the facts are that in a great many engines the New Mobil Oil has kept the first year feel for more than twice that distance.

Repeated road and laboratory tests have proved that use of this New Mobil Oil commonly assures from 10 00 to 30 00 greater power than other oils generally sold for the same motor.

Under high speeds you will find, as our road tests have repeatedly shown, that this New Mobil Oil stands up better and consumes more slowly than other oils and it is an established engineering fact that the oil which lasts longest and stands up best at high speed also lubricates best at any speed.

Try this New Mobil Oil. It will help save your good engine from growing old before its time. Mobil Oil — the World's Quality Oil — is made by the Oldest and Largest Specialists in Lubrication.

PUBLIC SQUARE

The following is reprinted from the Dispatch of March 3, 1929:

Regarding the Public Square, we have little definite information that can be placed at the disposal of the public. Letters have been received from Jas. Kirkland, Esq. of Chicago declaring himself surprised and indignant that Mr. Bullock should claim to have purchased any title to the public square in this village. In a moral point of view this course calls for an explanation from Mr. Bullock, but the question of legality, so far as the present claimant is concerned, might not be affected by the defective methods employed in obtaining the deed from the heirs of the Kirkland estate. Mr. Pearson is still confident that he has a sure thing on the title.

This is taken from the Dispatch of March 15, 1929:

We believe we have a right to ask Miles J. Bullock, of Howell, if there is any reason why the people of this community should not regard him as a grasping, selfish person who, through misrepresentation, has attempted for the sake of a few paltry dollars to obtain the title to the property which he knew from all moral considerations belonged to the village of Pinckney. Mr. Bullock was once a resident of this township, and owes to the people of Putnam some explanation of his conduct in relation to the public square. Our columns are open for his use if he chooses to place himself in a better light before his old friends and neighbors. If Mr. Bullock wishes to know upon what information we base the above, we refer him to his own letters written to Mr. Kirkland to the insignificant consideration for which he claims to have purchased the title to thousands of dollars worth property and the fact that after having procured the quitclaim deed from the Kirkland heirs, instead of offering the village an opportunity to perfect its title, he sells to another party without listing that he was in possession of such claim.

After reading the article under the heading "Public Square" in the Dispatch of last week, we concluded the editor leaned toward the friend who proposes to build a fire around the owner of the plat, hotter than this future home. For the benefit of the gentleman in question, and the manufacturer of the idle threat, we would say that Father Pearson is used to extreme heat and the result of this fabulous diffusion of caloric will be far from disastrous. Pinckney Correspondence Dexter Leader.

For the benefit of the writer of the above correspondence we desire to say that the Dispatch has no "friend" to serve in dealing with the question of title to the public square. But it is proper for us to say right here that we do not consider it our duty to advise the people of Pinckney, or of Putnam township, to sit down and quietly permit anybody to take possession of and appropriate to their own use property which was intended for, and has always been regarded as belonging to the public. Mr. Pearson made his investment knowing very well that the township had at least a moral right to the property and that if he held it, his title must be sustained by legal technicalities, and it must have been apparent to him also that had Mr. Bullock regarded his title as perfect, and he had dared to take possession of it for his own use, it would never have been sold for less than one-tenth of its actual value. Should the courts sustain Mr. Pearson's title we believe all will cheerfully recognize his ownership, and feel that it is in good hands, but until it has been properly tested, neither Mr. Pearson, nor anybody else in his behalf has occasion to be offended at those who honestly dispute his right to it. Heated and unkind words are not called for on either side and if any are used, it is unwise to rush into print with them, as the Dexter correspondence has done. Bluff and bragging amount to nothing. The matter is one of great importance to our village, and the vital point is not the question as to whether the square belongs to Mr. Pearson or to the public, but whether it is to be immediately determined or remain for months, perhaps for years, as a "dodge in the manger" to retard the progress of our village. The influence of the Dispatch so far as it goes, will be for prompt decisive action, as the best thing for Mr. Pearson as well as those whose pecuniary interests may happen to differ from his.

From the Dispatch of March 29, 1929, Mr. Bullock of Howell favored us with a call Tuesday. Although he forgot to bring along the documents with which he promised to satisfy us of his fairness and honesty in the public square matter, yet we must confess to having been somewhat surprised at his apparent frankness, some of the admissions made by him being even imprudently candid in a legal point of view, unless he considers himself safely out of the affair. To state his position in brief would be about as follows:

That he saw the title of the public square to be defective, & considering if fair plunder, he set about securing it. Mr. Havens having attempted to secure a deed of the property from the Kirkland heirs, and failed, he (Mr. Bullock) did not think it necessary to mention the square when writing to Mr. Kirkland so long as he put the proper description of the lands he wanted in the deed. That in his negotiations with Mr. Kirkland, he told no falsehoods and did not feel that he was obliged to tell the whole truth. Thinks that Mr. Kirkland should have been shrewd enough to look out for any little catches and to know what property he was signing the deed to. Mr. Bullock claims that the township forfeited any right it may ever had to the property through neglect to improve it, and that when he sold his title to Mr. Pearson it had not occurred to him that the township or village would care to perfect the title by purchase from him, or that the people of Pinckney had any right to know that he was in possession of the deed by which he claimed the property. He expected the title would be contested, and preferring not to be a party in such a contest, he sold out to Mr. Pearson.

We would have preferred that Mr. Bullock should make his own statement of the matter to the public, as we are unable to put the information he gave us in such shape as to make him appear in any better light before the public; but we forbear further comment (or stating other points touched upon) at present, for reasons which will become apparent at no distant day. This article will be continued next week.
