

WEEK OF MAY 11

We are not looking for any great depression of the barometer with its attendant severe storminess until on or after the middle of the week of May 11th in Michigan.

Why Cold Weather in May To explain the month of May flare back of winter cold the United States government meteorologists blame the great Mississippi valley.

Speaking Pharmaceutically Two druggists were talking about one of their confreres who had just died.

She: "Why, I thought it came with the car."

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "SALLY'S SHOULDER," "HONEY LOU," "LOVE BOUND," etc.

Mrs. Chatterton smiled. "I always knew there was the right stuff in you, dear," she answered. "But that talk of not having anything in life is silly. You forget—David!"

CHAPTER LII Then commenced again the endless, tiresome, discouraging hunt for work. The very first day Chatty had a decision to make.

CHAPTER LIII Very little, mother—just enough to get a suit! Pud, dear, you shall have a good suit, if I have to wear old shoes and a gingham apron!

CHAPTER LIV Came the great day! Billie was to be married in church; a simple ceremony, with simple trimmings, as none of them had much money.

CHAPTER LVI Chatty's heart sank—a wedding present! And she had no money—no money of her own at all.

got to try," thought Chatty. So she went to Billie with her problem. "Billie, dear, you know I'd give you my eyes if it would do any good. But I can't. And I'm dead broke. Will you wait until I get a job and then let me send you a gift?"

CHAPTER LVII Chatty watched them with her heart in her eyes. So might she have stood, her man straight and tall by her side, his eyes looking lovingly down at her—had it not been for her talking.

CHAPTER LVIII Waik, waik, waik the streets. Ache, ache, ache in the feet—and the heart. Smile, smile, smile—with tears running down inside instead of outside the cheeks.

CHAPTER LIX Chatty's heart sank—a wedding present! And she had no money—no money of her own at all.

weekly earnings were much smaller than before. But not even for the urgently needed money would Chatty have had him go back to the old days and the old ways.

CHAPTER LXII The next morning looking over the "Female Help Wanted" column in the paper Chatty came across a little item headed "The importance of the comma."

CHAPTER LXIII Chatty sat in a rear pew, just resting. Then she noted that others were coming in. Shortly, the tones of the organ stole through the still air.

CHAPTER LXIV Chatty thought it over very carefully. She had confessed to Billie, and felt much better, as far as Billie was concerned.

ELECTRIC COOKING
—as great an improvement as
ELECTRIC LIGHTING!

The day of the kerosene lamp and gas mantle for home lighting has long passed. Electric lighting is now a convenience that no one would be without.

Electric cooking is as great an improvement as electric lighting. A million housewives in the United States are already enjoying its sheer cleanliness, its convenience, its coolness, and the delicious flavor it retains in foods.

ELECTROCHEF, a new and remarkable kitchen stove, meets the modern demand for SPEED—as fast as you want to cook; for ECONOMY—costing but a fraction more, with ordinary care in the control of heat, than cooking with the cheapest fuels. ELECTROCHEF's performance is a revelation: It will broil a 1 1/4-inch steak perfectly in 12 minutes; the oven comes up to 400 degrees in less than six minutes.

Cooking with ELECTROCHEF is cool, clean, pleasant.

Its COOLNESS is an advantage every woman appreciates, especially in summer. No longer is a hot, suffocating kitchen necessary. CLEANLINESS is a feature that delights all women: Electric heat is clean as sunlight, and the range itself is as easily cleaned as a piece of china. Finished in all-white porcelain and never-rust mirror-like Chromeplate, with smooth, gleaming surfaces and softly rounded corners, ELECTROCHEF is a handsome piece of kitchen furniture. You will be proud to show it to your friends!

ELECTROCHEF's light, fine-grained cakes and flaky pastries will delight you: An accurate oven-temperature control, from 250 to 600 degrees, makes consistent baking easy. ELECTROCHEF is cooking simplified—ELECTROCHEF is the inevitable cooking method. Snap the switch and start to cook! See this remarkable stove today at any Detroit Edison office.

It is EASY TO OWN

In the Fowlerville game the Pinckney team blew up and Fowlerville scored 18 runs in the first two innings by means of 7 errors and 6 hits. After that the team settled down and outplayed their opponents getting 10 runs to Fowlerville's 7 but were unable to undo the damage of the first two innings. Pinckney's first runs came in the third when Pete Gerycz hit a home run with the bases full. They got 5 in the 4th when Fowlerville pitcher lost control and filled the bases and Stanley Dinkel hit for two bases. The game was played with the wind blowing a 20 mile gale which hampered the work of the pitchers.

ON MUSKRAT FARMS

At the beginning of the 1929 breeding season it was estimated that 130 of the larger muskrat farms in the state held 68,000 animals and covered 10,637 acres of marsh. The average estimated number of animals on each acre enclosed was 6.4, according to a report by the Game Department.

During the year nearly 7,000 live muskrats were sold from these farms, as well as a few more than 5,000 pelts. About 2,500 muskrat catchers were sold for food and over 2,000 muskrats were sold from these farms.

Only 58 of the licenses sold during the year, and the average number of muskrats taken from the 130 farms was 100 per acre of marsh.

Poems That Live

"CALL ME NOT DEAD"
Call me not dead when I, indeed, have gone
Into the company of the ever-living
High and most glorious poets!
Let thanksgiving
Rather be made. Say: "He at last hath won Rest and release, converse supreme and wise,
Music and song and light of immortal faces;
Today, perhaps, wandering in starry places,
He hath met Keats, and known him
by his eyes.
Tomorrow (who can say?) Shakespeare may pass,
And our lost friend just catch one syllable
Of that three-centuried wit that kept so well;
Or Milton; or Dante, looking on the grass
Thinking of Beatrice, and listening still
To chanted hymns that sound from the heavenly hill."
—Richard W. Gilder (1844-1909)

New Mode Is One of Contrast

By LUCK CLAIRE

The 1930 mode is full of contrasts—contrasts in color and contrasts in style. For instance, we have with us the boyish suits so severely tailored they are almost masculine, and we have the "soft" type of suit and frocks that are deliciously feminine even in sports models. The new blouses are extremely feminine or severely tailored, and the frilly blouse worn with the mannish suit is smart. The Directorate and Empire influences have brought in frocks that might fittingly be described as quaint and sweet. The normal waistline shows every sign of being here to stay, and strappings and inserts are frequently used to make the waistline appear above normal.

Belts are usually narrow, and the newest are often buckled at the side instead of in front. There are partial belts that tie in a bow at the back or are buckled in front. Ribbon sashes are staging a comeback with cotton frocks. Circular cuts, tiers and gorges achieve skirt fullness. The gorges shaped from the normal waist and released low on the skirt are the latest means of achieving this fullness. For sports wear pleating is usually preferred. Pleating in the back is chic. For sports and daytime wear from three to four inches below the knee is correct in skirt lengths. Formal afternoon frocks, however, come just below the calf or to the ankle.

Polka Dot Chic

In prints the small massed designs are best for daytime wear, the large scattered prints for evening. Polka dots are considered chic. One color prints, that is, one color with the design in another, or two tones of the same color, are favorites. Contrast is again important in these prints, and we find a dark green figure on a light green ground, or the other way around. In the first model sketched we have one of the new silks in the small massed design for daytime wear. It is one with the light green figure on the dark green ground. This model features cape sleeves, normal waistline and circular skirt. It is worn with green kid pumps and a green hat the shade matching the darker tone in the print.

At the center is shown a frock of the more severely tailored mannish type. This is of shantung in natural color, and has the fullness let into the skirt by means of inverted pleats. It is worn with beige claid kid shoes and a straw hat in natural color.

The frock at the right is of cravat silk in a tiny check design of black and gold. Golden yellow organdie is employed for the lingerie touches at neckline and for the cuffs of the short cap sleeves. Godets give fullness to the skirt. Black shoes and a black hat accompany the costume.

FINAL ROUNDTABLE MEET TO BE MAY 17

The West Michigan Schoolmen's Roundtable will hold its last meeting of the school year May 17 at Zeeland. Local men teachers will be in charge of the entertainment and program. Dr. William Dudley of Chicago will speak on "Visual Education." Trips will be made to a large hatchery, the Mead-Johnson plant and the Colonial Clock Co. W. H. Pearce, state superintendent of public instruction, will give the address at the luncheon.

C. A. DeJonge, Zeeland superintendent, is president of the roundtable. Election will be held at this meeting.

See Big Enrollment

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

TOTS SUFFER IF

PARENTS ARE UNTRUE

By Dr. Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

You and I know some things very well which we can easily forget for convenience. We know, for instance, that it is hard for children whose parents are not mutually congenial, harder still for those whose parents quarrel, and most terrible when one or both parents are unfaithful.

When we parents pledged ourselves to each other to be man and wife we meant to play the game—we had heard nothing about the companionate marriage doctrine of mutual pledge with reservations. We meant business.

We also know that living together congenially has not at every moment been most easy, even when we tried the hardest to play fair, to be good sportsmen.

Furthermore, we know how easy it is to take each other for granted, and to let our mutual relations become commonplace. As we see in each other the frailties we had not known before, or felt so keenly, our feelings of romance sometimes wane. Right there is the beginning of most weakening of marital bonds. As chivalry degenerates to commonplaceness, mutual discourtesy, rudeness and meanness arise.

When the wife and husband reach the point of losing the high regard for each other they once had, then the smallest expression of sympathy and interest in another man or woman becomes attractive—and unfaithfulness begins.

I doubt whether any wife or husband grows interested in another man or woman as long as their mutual regard of sweetheart days endures. To keep alive the little niceties, and personal considerations which come naturally then, is to cultivate the feelings which formerly attended these expressions of relationship. The decay of faithfulness has no doubt very small treacherous beginnings.

We know very well that human nature has curious and subtle ways of working out unconscious urges. We need to be on guard. No married man or woman can afford to run the slightest risk. Sense of mutual obligation and faithfulness in small matters ought to help, and does help, when it is kept in mind at the early moments when one feels the attractiveness of the other companion waning. At that moment another who for the moment seems more attractive becomes most tempting. If the sense of honor at such times is high it will help. The trouble is that it is so easy to fool oneself then to think one is reasoning by soothing one's own conscience, or by calling to mind that others do so, too.

Fallen human happiness comes most often, perhaps, because of man's readiness to justify his acts he at first knows to be wrong by the reminder that "lots of others do." But the fact that many other married pairs do not remain faithful to each other is no justification that we need not do so.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBENSTEIN

FOLLOW COURSE OF SMILE IN APPLYING YOUR ROUGE, ADVISES BEAUTY EXPERT

By Gladys Glad

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

In the Victorian age, women bled themselves in private in order to attain the pale, listless appearance then in vogue. Today, women rouge their cheeks to attain the healthy bloom so essential to beauty. Oddly enough, the use of this cosmetic still causes a lift of the eyebrows in some circles. And yet the application of rouge is, by no stretch of imagination, as vicious as the practice by our Victorian forebears.

However, the sight of this great aid to beauty misused would also cause me to raise my eyebrows. Rouge should be used to add to, and not to detract from, one's appearance.

The simplest rule to practice in applying rouge is to "follow the course of your smile." If you smile into the mirror, you will notice how the facial contours form V's on your cheeks, pointing inward to the nose. Let these V's be your guides in applying rouge, and you will obtain the perfect coloring that Nature intended you to have.

The right effect can never be achieved if you put a big blob of rouge on the cheeks, and then try to take it off where the color is too deep.

Put the merest bit of rouge on at first and blend it, blurring the edges until the color is as natural as a blush. Add a bit more rouge to increase the depth of the tint, and keep on adding, blending and blurring until you have gained the coloring you desire.

It is an art to know just how obvious your rouge may be without detracting from your appearance. Too pale cheeks will give a waxy, unhealthy appearance to the face. It matters not if your rouge is obvious, providing that it improves your appearance and contributes to the effect of naturalness and health.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Warts

Jen: Warts are caused by skin infection. It is dangerous to attempt to remove them yourself. Consult a skin specialist.

Safe Reducing

Margie: As I have said many times before and will say many times again, the safest way to reduce is by diet and exercise. The course of reduction contained in my booklet, "The New Figure," is in no way harmful to the health.

Nail Polish

S. S. G.: Why not use the colorless liquid nail polish? If the tips of your fingers are very pink, it would be better taste not to add color to the nails.

With Women of Today

DRY HEAD

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

"I am convinced that the smart set young people are not typical Americans; that the average young person has contact with the hip-flask, the parties where 'liquor flowed freely,' the private bootlegger, only through the imaginative stories of our magazine writers and cheap entertainers, and the highly colored exceptional cases given front page prominence in some of our newspapers."

This is the statement of Miss Claribel R. Eaton, Chevy Chase, Md., exclusive section of Washington and the alleged cocktail drinking portion of the nation's capital. Miss Eaton is the president of the Chevy Chase Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the youngest president of the thousands of chapters of the national organization in the United States.

"Prohibition is an example of the working out of a courageous ideal," Miss Eaton declares. "As such it appeals to young people. A drunkard is not the young person's idea of progress. Therefore, the coming generation will not be willing that civilization take a backward step to legalize a traffic persisting toward such results."

"Liquor is the most useless thing in life today; and after the present hysteria dies away, our country will accept prohibition as a protection for the American home."

Ionia's Church Landmark Likely to Be Replaced

The parish house of St. John's Episcopal society, a frame structure, was built in 1842 and is said to be the oldest church building in the county. It has been repaired and revamped so many times it is a question in the minds of the church officers whether further expenditure on the building would be good economy. Being in accord with the present national building program the trustees have had blue print plans drawn and soon will submit a tentative plan to the parishioners. The plans call for an expenditure of $17,000.

"The scene beggared description." "Never mind," said the editor, "borrow a few adjectives and go on with it."

IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT STATE PARKS

As fast as it is financially possible to do so, Michigan's state parks are being equipped with boats and facilities that their visitors might enjoy the water that fronts many of the parks," according to P. J. Hoffmaster, head of the parks division of the Department of Conservation.

"We have not been able to supply the demand made at the state parks for boats and water equipment. Some boats were allowed for such equipment last August, and will mean that a number of rowboats will be delivered to the parks this spring," he said.

Forty-eight of Michigan's state parks are now provided with playground equipment, obtained through the state athletic fund.

Last year 28 of the parks received playground equipment. By the end of the 1930 season all of the supervised parks will have such equipment. The supervised parks will be formally opened to the public May 30.

Four new state forest camp and picnic grounds will probably be opened to the public this year.

The four sites now being prepared and equipped will be in the Alpena state forest, the Black Lake state forest, the Higgins Lake state forest and the Lake Superior state forest.

Gem Lost 3 Years In Street, Is Found

Three years ago Mrs. O. G. Yeager of Jackson, Mich., lost her diamond ring and although a thorough search in the vicinity of her home was made it could not be found. Recently John Freitag, a neighbor, saw a sparkle in the street in front of his home. It was the missing jewel, soiled but unharmed. A city street scraper had uncovered it, the owner learned.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. 1086 BOATS USED BY STATE FISHERMAN

Michigan commercial fishermen use 1,086 boats and more than 12,000,000 square yards of nets in the operation of their industry, according to figures obtained by the department of conservation from the federal bureau of fisheries.

Vicks Chemical Co. Wins Court Case

Judge Thompson, presiding in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, has just handed down a decision in favor of Vicks Chemical Co. in its case against Frederick E. Strohmeier, in which emphasis is placed by the court upon protection of the buying public against fraudulent use of a trademark, Vicks VapoRub.

"The defendant will be enjoined," Judge Thompson's decision reads, "against use of the plaintiff's trade name, as he has been using it, to deceive and perpetrate a fraud upon the public and, by pirating its trade mark, to injure and damage the reputation of the plaintiff has built up."

This case grew out of the action of Strohmeier in the marketing of a cough drop which he claimed, on the package, was "Medicated with Vicks VapoRub."

Vicks VapoRub is the sole product of Vicks Chemical Co. and has been marketed for a number of years. It was introduced in evidence that over $7,000,000 has been spent in advertising to establish this product in the confidence of the public, and the extent of such confidence was disclosed in the evidence that over 260,000,000 jars have been sold since 1910, throughout the United States and in over 60 countries abroad. It was charged that the defendant, Strohmeier, by pirating the Vicks trade name, was trying to establish his unknown product by associating it in the public mind with Vicks VapoRub, thus not only accomplishing infringement but perpetrating a fraud upon the public. The decision of the court upholds this charge and enjoins Strohmeier from further use of the Vicks trade name in connection with his product.

Leaves All to Woman, Housekeeper 58 Years

Henry H. Hayes, who died recently at his home at Hayes Corners, four miles north of Charlotte, Mich., left all of his property, real and personal, to R. Ellen Green, who started as housekeeper for the Hayes brothers, Henry and Harley, 58 years ago. Harley was accidentally killed at Pottsville many years ago.

Hayes believed himself to possess more Eaton county land than any other person and the appraisers have found that his land holdings consisted of 728 acres. The niece, Mrs. Sherman E. Wight of Grand Rapids and a nephew in Denver are cut off without a cent.

Coast Guard Personnel At Holland Unchanged

No changes will be made in the personnel of the coast guard at Holland harbor, according to the report of Capt. S. J. Toft, who has been connected with the service here six years. The crew numbers 10 men, of whom Hibe Van Oort leads in length of service with 21 years.

Government engineers are taking soundings of the depth of water in the harbor for official statistics. Recent soundings at the arrowheads at the outer breakwater showed a depth of 17 to 18 feet, which is a little less than a year ago.

GUN LAW APPLIES TO ALL FIREARMS

The question frequently is raised among sportsmen as to whether the Shiras gun law which prohibits the carrying of firearms in hunting areas during closed seasons without a permit, applies to small caliber rifles carried in southern counties that are not deer areas.

Inasmuch as the Shiras law provides a fine of not less than $25 or more than $50, or a jail sentence of from 10 to 20 days for the carrying of any kind of firearm during closed season without a permit it applies to small caliber rifles as well as to shotguns. This is the opinion of Hugh Green, chief conservation officer of the state, and conservation officers are instructed to enforce the law accordingly.

In former years the conservation department interpreted this law to apply to shotguns throughout the state and to rifles of any caliber in deer areas, but rifles of small caliber were exempt from its provisions outside the deer counties.

It has developed, however, that 22 caliber rifles are being used to a considerable extent by poachers shooting pheasants out of season. At this time of year when the pheasants are coming out along roadsides and into open fields to feed it is an easy matter for a violator armed with a .22 rifle to pick them off at a range beyond which a shotgun would be effective, Green points out.

For this reason it has been decided by conservation department officials that the Shiras act shall be enforced with regard to all firearms. Persons wishing to carry a rifle, even for target purposes, in any area where game is found or desiring to carry a shotgun for the purpose of shooting crows or other so-called vermin during closed hunting seasons must apply to their local conservation officer for a gun permit to comply with the terms of the Shiras act.

Applications for these special permits are forwarded without charge to the department at Lansing where the permit is issued.

Owners or occupants of lands may carry firearms to protect their lands without obtaining a permit, Green states.

Allegan Awaits Order of Judge

Mayor Joseph F. Mosier received the permanent permit from the federal water power commission at Washington granting the city authority for the construction of the proposed municipal dam and hydro-electric power plant over the Kalamazoo river six miles west of the city.

There remains one obstacle to be overcome before active work on the project is begun. Judge William B. Brown of Grand Rapids, sitting for Judge Cross last year, granted an injunction restraining the city from selling the $185,000 bonds voted by the city until the permanent permit from the government had been received. It may take several days before Judge Brown issues an order dissolving the injunction, but as soon as this is done the city will take steps to sell the bonds and begin work.

Coast Guards Plan Month Trip to Get Lake Motorboats

Captain William Preston of the Grand Haven coast guard station and Boatswain S. J. Carlsen of the St. Joseph station have left for Curtis Bay, Md., to bring to Lake Michigan two motorboats constructed by the government for the lake stations. One of the boats will be stationed at Grand Haven while the other will go to St. Joseph.

The return trip is expected to take about a month with the boats traveling on Chesapeake bay, Delaware canal, Delaware river, Raritan canal, Hudson river, Erie canal and the great lakes.

Captain Preston was accompanied by Thomas Laird, motor mechanic's mate, first class, and Surfman Charles Plowman of the Grand Haven station. Carlsen took with him Michael J. Murzynski, motor mechanic's mate, first class, of the St. Joseph station, and Surfman John Kelderhouse of Muskegon.

The boat scheduled for Grand Haven has been on display at a motorboat show in Washington. It is 36 feet 6 inches long, has a 10-foot beam and a draft of 3 feet 3 inches. A six-cylinder Sterling-Petrel motor of the latest type, capable of developing 83 horsepower, has been installed. The boat may be operated by one man as all engine control can be manipulated at the instrument board of the wheelman.

Game Birds Suffer

In Michigan a great annual toll of game bird nests and eggs results from fires that are intentionally set to burn over marshy pasture and meadow lands, according to Dr. Miles D. Pirnie, ornithologist of the department of conservation.

Each year many farmers burn over part of their grass lands, and on these areas many pheasant, prairie chicken and quail nests are destroyed. Such fires also destroy much good nesting cover.

If the burning is done as soon as the snow is off the ground, there is a minimum of such destruction. However, if the burning is delayed until late April or the first of May, much damage is likely to result, for at that time many birds are nesting. Also young rabbits, fawns, and other animals are in danger of death from the flames.

The Department of Conservation is not asking that farmers set no grass fires, Dr. Pirnie said, but it urges that the necessary burning of grass lands be done as early as practicable in order to avoid the destruction of valuable game species.

FREAK ADDRESSING OF MAIL BARRED

Letters and post cards with "freak addresses," if the sender is not known, will be sent to the Dead Letter office, according to an order just issued by the third assistant postmaster general, Frederic A. Tilton which follows in full text:

The enviable reputation of postal employees for their patient persistence in deciphering the addresses on mail has led some persons to place "freak" addresses on letters, "just to see" if they will reach the person for whom intended. Such so-called "addresses" consist of rebuses or symbols of various kinds more or less suggestive of the names of alleged well-known persons in various stations in life.

Letters bearing such cryptic addresses are not definitely and sufficiently addressed as required by the postal laws and regulations and consequently are not acceptable for mailing. They should be returned to the sender, if known, for proper address. If the sender is not known, the letters should be treated as prescribed for dead letters.

Mt. Pleasant Oil Will Be Piped to Muskegon

The Simrall Pipe Line corporation is constructing a 100-mile pipe line to convey crude oil from the Mt. Pleasant field to Muskegon, according to reports from Mt. Pleasant. Contracts are being entered into on a one-year basis. These provide for a price of $1.50 per barrel for 44 average gravity oil.

No arrangements have been made yet to transport oil from the Chippewa area of the Mt. Pleasant field to Mt. Pleasant, which is about eight miles.

Independent companies are producing about 2,500 barrels of the 7,500 barrels of oil taken daily from the Mt. Pleasant field.

ROADSIDE DEVELOPMENT

The State Highway Department, having assembled within its organization a staff of technical and thoroughly experienced foresters to supervise is worthy of being saved.

federal trunk lines within the established right of way in different districts, is devoting its energies to preserving all trees which in the judgment of the State's representatives is worthy of being saved.

In order that there shall be no promiscuous trimming or removal of useful shade or ornamental trees, irrespective of size, shape or condition, the State has provided application forms for requesting permission to trim or remove any and all trees standing within the established right of way which may be judged an obstacle to business or private developments or may be regarded detrimental to public safety. Such applications may be obtained from the Plymouth District Forester there. Each application, when submitted, should be accompanied by a sketch showing a diagrammatic view of the situation which, in the belief of the individual submitting the application, necessitates trimming or removal of the tree or trees. For failure to secure a permit by this procedure the State provides a penalty of thirty days imprisonment, or a fine of one hundred dollars or both in the discretion of the court.

for such treatment of trees within Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe Counties on the state and federal trunk lines all applications must be forwarded to the district forester of the Plymouth offices.

CURRENT COMMENT

The oft repeated statement that the small villages and county districts are losing their population and will in time be only a memory does not seem to be borne out by the census figures, in this locality at least. Pinckney village according to the 1930 census has a population of 425 as compared to 384 in 1920 showing a gain of 41; Dexter township has 514 as compared to 504 in 1920; Unadilla has 861 as compared to 835 in 1920, a gain of 26; Gregory village has 282 and Unadilla village 261. Howell and Brighton, along with other Grand River towns show big increases, the former jumped from 2,296 in 1920 to 2,951, a gain of 655, the latter from 800 in 1920 to 1,284, a gain of 484. Ann Arbor on the other hand shows some decrease, the first ward showing a loss of 253. This is a down town ward and the loss will be offset by gains in the suburban districts. Dexter village shows a gain of 298, the census giving it 885 as compared with 583 in 1920.

The answer to this increase is undoubtedly the automobile which allows people employed in the cities to live many miles removed from the scene of their labors.

WILLIAM H. MARSH

William H. Marsh was born in Canadaigua county, New York, August 21, 1849 and departed from this life from his home in Gregory, Mich., May 1, 1930. When only a child he came with his parents to Mich., locating near the village of Rives. In his early age he was left an orphan after which he made his home with an aunt at Chesaning and later on he became a resident of Tawas, where he became acquainted with Miss Theresa Griffin who afterwards became his wife. They were married Feb. 19, 1869. They began their married life at Tawas, later moving to Pleasant Lake in Jackson county. Here they ran a store of general merchandise for thirteen years. It was at the close of their business there that they came to Gregory, living here for the past 45 years. In Gregory they have been interested in the different enterprises of the village, also have engaged in different lines of business. Only a few years since did they give up business and entered into private life. To them were born two children, a little girl that died at birth, and a son, Lawrence, Stanley, who has a wife and daughter and reside in Winnetka, Ill. Mr. Marsh always had a live interest in the general welfare of the community. He loved the boys and girls and wanted to do for them all that he could to help them in securing an education. He will be much missed in the village and community. He was a faithful husband, a kind parent, a good neighbor and an honorable citizen. He leaves a wife, a son and his wife and daughter and other relatives and many friends to mourn his going.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Baptist church of Gregory, conducted by Rev. L. S. Snybaugh, who spoke from these words "God be merciful unto us, and bless us and cause his face to shine upon us." Interment at Plainfield.
