Takes First Contest by a Score of 8 to 3 and the Second by a Score of 4 to 0. Lefty Reason Pitched Both Games.

The Pinckney Independent baseball team won a double header here Sunday. They were scheduled to play the Michigangame Oil team of Ann Arbor. Albert Pelham Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars team of Detroit were booked to play a Detroit team on the Pinckney diamond at 1:00 p. m. Their opponents failed to show up so Pinckney played a five inning contest with them as a curtain raiser. They failed to furnish much opposition. Pinckney scored four runs in the first inning and four more in the third. The Veteran team scored a run in each of the second, third and fifth innings. Lefty Reason only allowed two hits in this game.

Ward scored on a pass ball. Pinckney scored another in the third when Shieks singled to left and scored on Reason's long drive to center. Their last run came in the 8th inning on singles by Reason and Budd. Ann Arbor threatened several times to score but fast fielding prevented it. Kinney played a fast game at second for Pinckney, handling 8 chances without an error. His double play in the 5th killed off an Ann Arbor rally.

Annual Picnic and Home Coming Aug. 1

Old Boys and Girls Are Expected to Revisit Pinckney on August 1, 1931 at St. Mary's Annual Picnic.

The date for St. Mary's Annual Picnic this year is Saturday, August 1. For nearly 50 years, rain or shine this has been the big event of the year in Pinckney and has always drawn large crowds. Considerable of the attendance comes from former residents of this hamlet who take this opportunity of revisiting their old home town and renewing their acquaintances with old time friends of by gone days. Among the old Pinckney boys and girls who rarely lose a chance of revisiting the old town on that day are the Allens, Markeys, Manns, Jeffreys, Dolans and others. The entire morning is taken up with meeting old friends. At 11:00 a. m. the big chicken dinner is served in the grove. This dinner is always an unqualified success and there is absolutely no limit to the amount of food as soon as your plate is empty it is refilled again. The instance has been known where one person has been able to get away with four helpings. Following this there will be concerts by the 50 piece Fowlerville band and six 15 minute magic acts by Mac, the magician. In addition there will be games of skill and soft drink, novelty and refreshment stands galore. At 4:30 p. m. the electric clock will be given away to the one guessing the correct time it will stop. At 5:00 p. m., the base ball game between Fowlerville and Pinckney is billed to take place. Fowlerville has a good team and has only lost two games this year. Mulvaney, Hart, Tomlin who played with Pinckney last year are in their lineup. Pinckney expects to have a good lineup for that day and the game ought to be a hummer as the ones played on previous picnic days have been.

In the evening the grand ball takes place at the Pinckney Community Hall. Jean Goldkette's orchestra of Detroit has been secured for the occasion. This is one of the best known orchestras in the state and the mere fact that they are to be here should insure a gala time. So pack up your troubles and come to Pinckney on Saturday, August 1.

FIELD FORCE OF CONSERVATION DEPT. ALTERED

Nearly all of the field officers of the Department of Conservation, including conservation officers, fire wardens, towermen, and game refuge keepers were Wednesday merged into the recently created division of field operations. State parks and State forests are not as yet affected by the change. The new organization changes radically the field force of the Conservation dept., with the expectation that operations may be carried on more efficiently and economically. The Conservation commission, at its June meeting discontinued the Divisions of Law Enforcement and of Forest Fire Control and merged them together with the administration of game refuges into a Division of Field Operations with Howard S. Sayre, former chief fire warden, in charge.

The reorganization is now in effect. Under the new system, the number of conservation districts in the state has been reduced to ten, eliminating much overhead administrative expense. Six of these districts are in the lower peninsula and four in the upper peninsula. Over each district, and responsible for practically all of the department's field activities in that area, is a district supervisor. Directly under him is an assistant supervisor and all conservation employees in the district except those on state parks and forests.

The titles "fire warden," "towerman" and "refuge keeper" have been discarded. All field employees of the new division are now known as "conservation officers." Most of these officers have been assigned to special duties such as to game and fish law enforcement, fire detection work, fire control, game refuges and so forth. An inspector will have general supervision control in the upper peninsula and another inspector in the lower peninsula.

Corn Borer Quarantine Again in Effect

Annual Fight on Pests to Start on July 25. Several Local Boys on Squad

Early maturity of the sweet corn crop in parts of the are under state and federal quarantine for the European corn borer has made it necessary to begin inspection of vehicles several days sooner than last year, and the highway stations at which they are stopped were established on Monday, July 20.

At these stations, located on roads leading from the quarantined area, all vehicles are halted by inspectors in uniform, who explain the quarantines and ascertain if prohibited articles are carried. Corn on the cob may not be taken from within the infested area to points outside. Spread of the pest by artificial means is prevented through the restrictions on the movement of corn which may be infested, the quarantine officials say.

The territory in the west under quarantine on account of the borer includes most of Ohio, all of Michigan and part of Indiana. Vehicle inspection will be continued for from sixty to ninety days. Maurice Kelly, Andrew Campbell, Grant Ward, and Harold Maycock, who were on the borer quarantine squad last year have received orders to report for duty again this year. They will be stationed at Iron Mountain. Raymond McIntyre of Howell will also be on the squad. They will report for duty July 25.

CHOIR COMMITTEE CHOOSES CHRISTMAS SONG

The committee in charge of the choir singing contest which is to be held at Michigan State College, Farmers Day, July 31, apparently had faith in the power of suggestion as the required number to be rendered by each choir is "A Joyous Christmas Song" by Geveart. Whether the choice was made to suggest that better times are coming or that cooler breezes will sometime soothe the fevered brows, the selection should prove popular with the audience which will hear the winning choir during the afternoon program. The choir will obtain cheer from the 100 dollar check which will be given by the R. E. Olds Community Fund as first prize in the contest. Any choir from a country church or from a village having a population of 2,000 or less is eligible to enter the contest. Two selections must be given by each choir. One of these is optional and the other must be the song by Geveart. Four prizes will be given. The leading choir in last year's contest were Farmington, Walled Lake, Martin, Milford, and Howard City. Representatives of the College music department will act as judges this year. Entries for the contest can be sent to the director of short courses at Michigan State College. The Pinckney Congregational choir won a prize at this contest several years ago.

Boy Scout Activities at Camp Newkirk

Camp Newkirk Now on It's Final Week of Activities. Marks End of Six Weeks Summer Period.

Plans to make the final week at Camp Newkirk one of the most interesting weeks of the six-week summer period have been completed by scout executive Wallace F. Watt and his corps of officers. Chief among the plans might be mentioned the construction of a cable bridge from the island to the main land, permitting of more easy access to the lower end of the island. A number of scouts who are working on pioneering and camping merit badges will assist Skipper R. P. Gano, of the sea scouts, in this work. During the early part of the week scouts from the Adrian council camp at Washington Lake will come to Newkirk for a return meet. Events will include water-boiling, first aid, knot tying, Morse and semaphore signalling, nature study, base ball and swimming. Among the interesting classes to be offered during the final period are archery, marksmanship, bugling, and taxidermy, in addition to regular classes in first aid, swimming, signalling and other distinctly scout activities. Lee Yen Ten, archery expert from China, is to have charge of the archery work, while Powell Aubrey, of Kansas City, will direct both marksmanship and bugling. Robert Shaw, member of the senior staff, will be in general charge of advancement, first aid, public and personal health and taxidermy.

There will be a number of cubs in camp, under the direction of John Shilling, pastor of the West Side Methodist church of Ann Arbor, who is assisted by Clark Kidd, Powell Aubrey, Jack Sheppard and John Squiers. A special program of activities is planned for the cubs. Jack Shepherd, of Ypsilanti, is to have charge of all of the waterfront activities, assisted by a corps of life savers who are experienced in teaching swimming and life-saving. Work in boating and canoeing will also be taught. The fee for the last week is $8.00 and a number of local scouts and cubs are expected to register for the final period. Registration may be made at either headquarters, 324 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor, or at camp.

FARMERS DAY TO BE HOME TALENT EVENT

Farmers Day at Michigan State College, Friday, July 31, will provide a homelike atmosphere for visitors as the economy which has been the farmers household companion for several years will be apparent on the day's program which will use home talent for the afternoon talks and an inspection of the College herds and fields for the morning entertainment. Doubtless this year's program will be remembered long after some of the more pretentious ones preceding it have been forgotten because the College now has so many things of interest that anyone interested in agriculture can profitably employ more than one day in examining the work which is being done with crops and livestock. Routes will be laid out and marked over the campus and College farm so the visitors can select the particular work or stock which they wish to see. Full directions and an explanation of the numbered routes will be handed to each visitor as they enter the college grounds. Each of the College departments will have members of their staff stationed at the College buildings or at the experimental plots to explain how each experiment is being performed and the results which have been obtained. Some of the experiments have been carried on for a series of years and some have recently started as new problems in farming have arisen. Mrs. W. C. Hendee entertained a company of relatives Sunday honoring Mr. Hendee's birthday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ned Chubb of Webberville, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hendee and children of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller and family of Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hendee and family. Dr. and Mrs. Martin Clinton and son of Detroit were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Clinton.

Current Comment

Last week we forgot to mention the fact that Floyd Weeks, former Pinckney druggist had been appointed hospital steward or business manager of the Howell Sanatorium. We intended to stress the fact but somehow it slipped our mind. No one is better pleased at Mr. Week's advancement than the people of Pinckney and the Dispatch joins with them in wishing him the best of success in his new occupation.

The reports of the prosecuting attorneys for the first six months of 1931 would indicate that either the people are becoming extremely law abiding or that the enforcing departments are becoming careless. In Livingston county for the first six months of 1931 the report shows 120 prosecutions and 106 convictions as compared to 293 prosecutions and 281 convictions for the same period in 1930. The total amount collected in fines was $1,336.80. There were but six arrests for prohibition law violations and but three people were given prison sentences. Washtenaw county also shows 149 less criminal cases than for the same period one year ago. There were 589 prosecutions and 447 convictions as compared to 738 prosecutions and 641 convictions of last year. There were 61 arrests for prohibition law violations and 22 people were given prison terms. According to the above little by little in every way the country is getting better day by day. The great crime wave caused by the Volstead Law (so the anti-prohibitionists claim) seems to be receding fast here.

It is claimed that the malt tax law is not proving the money raiser it was supposed to be. The majority of grocery stores refused to take out the $25 license and stopped selling it. The malt manufacturers saw their sales decline and paid the license of a number of dealers in the cities themselves. Of course they could not extend this courtesy to all merchants selling malt. An Ohio malt concern intends to go into court to annul the law. It claims that it sells only to bakeries and would have to pay $100 license while Michigan firms pay but $25 also the tax is confiscatory it being 5c per lb. while its product sells for 7 1/2c. The effect of this malt tax seems to be literally killing the goose that laid the golden egg.

VILLAGE OF LOWELL IS HUNDRED YEARS OLD

According to chronology, in the year 1831 a trader penetrated the wilds of the Grand River valley to flat river near where the two join and established a trading post and bartered with the Indians for furs. Shortly other white settlers were attracted to the post and erected places very crude, which they called home, lured to the spot by the favorable location. Before many years a busy little village appeared and Lowell, Michigan, became a town widely known, not only as a fur trading post, but also for its thrift in other lines of business. The two rivers provided avenues of transportation and water power, but soon two railroads were started and the town at once became a prosperous community with an enviable reputation. One hundred years have passed and Lowell has long since passed the pioneer stage. They invite all to their centennial, to help them make them on this occasion. Especially are former residents asked to return to Lowell on August 6, 7, and 8 to renew old acquaintances and form new ones and share the joys of music, song, parades, pageants, games, barbecues, and varied attractions. Come and join them on this occasion.

WEEK OF JULY 26

Warmer weather and increasing cloudiness with more or less mugginess in the air are the general characteristics which we believe will usher in the week of July 26 to most parts of Michigan.

There are but a very few solar aspects falling during the month of August to bring out any definite general trend of the weather in the United States.

We look for very warm weather for August in Michigan during the first decade of the month, during the last half of the second decade and again during the last five or six days of the month.

LOVE, PREFERRED

THE ROMANCE OF A BUSINESS GIRL

By EDNA BOBB WEBSTER

"Aw, say, you don't need to be so high-hat because you happened to land Dick Baldwin. I could get him away from you, just like that, if I wanted to."

"Say, Mary, is your guy a football star?" Tim demanded, almost rising from his chair.

Mary nodded quietly, hurt with Bonnie's rebuff. "He was a fullback on Princeton last year. Remember his pictures in the papers?"

"I'll say! Ain't we got 'em all pasted in a book? Gosh," he marveled. "Is he comin' here some time?"

"Oh, boy! Mary, you'll let him?" Mary smiled wanly. It was evident that she wasn't the only one who "went for Dick in a big way."

"No one referred again to the plans for Saturday, but Bonnie arranged them to her own advantage.

They stopped for dinner in a rambling old English mansion, whose sign invited them to "Wander Inn" and partake of southern chicken, biscuits and candied yams.

"It's just too bad for Princeton that you're not with them this year," declared Bonnie. "Couldn't they have flunked you and paid you to stay?"

"Not if I Football was only a side issue for me. It only helped me to use up some of the extra energy that wanted to get out into the real game of business. I may not be a star in that game, but I like it a lot better."

Walter shook his head, and before he could answer, Bonnie piped up. "Walt play football? Don't let me laugh! Why, the first practice would cripple him for life if it didn't kill him," which was her cruel idea of humor at another's uncomfortable expense.

Walter grinned and looked sheepishly at Dick, who defended him. "Well, I'd say it would be just too bad if all the fellows played football. What would a school do with a hundred teams or so? But changing the subject, this is good food. We'll have to remember this place, Mary, and drive out again some Sunday."

Mary smiled approval, and Bonnie made her own grim resolutions.

CHAPTER VII Cheers and boola-boolas! Throats bursting with songs and yells, rival bands flaunting snappy, syncopated harmony.

Eager bodies, swaying in unison to and fro, following the ball. Tramping feet, clapping hands, shouts, laughter, exclamatory groans, shrill whistles, terse orders of the umpire.

Dick Baldwin lived the game, every minute and gesture of it. Mary could feel his tenseness, then the flexing of his muscles when critical seconds passed.

Bonnie squealed and stood up in her seat, sang at the top of her lungs and chattered like an excited chipmunk; but she wasn't half as thrilled and eager as Mary, whose face glowed with excitement and whose subdued contralto voice vibrated with suppressed emotion.

Dick sat between the girls, but it was to Mary he turned in the high moments and it was Mary's hand that he clasped in sheer abandonment when Princeton made the last touchdown.

Mary loved every minute of the drive. The leaves that still clung to the trees were riotous with color.

The telephone bell shrilled interruption. Bonnie hastened to answer before anyone else could move, as if she were sure that the call was for her.

"Gee! Mister Baldwin, will you show us your tackle?"

"Gosh! I never thought I'd have a chance—to shake hands—say—"

"Gosh! I never thought I'd have a chance—to shake hands—say—"

"Why, what's the matter, honey?" Mary was all concern for the little sister who had been her responsibility ever since she could toddle, herself.

Bonnie sniffled, sneezed and said thickly, tragically, "Oh, just my luck. Guess I took cold riding in the wind. I feel awful, Mary. I just ache all over."

"Why, you poor kid!" Dick exclaimed. "Darn shame. We didn't think it was cold, did we, Mary? But then, we were inside, of course."

"Well, you ride inside with Dick, going home," Mary decided instantly. "I'll get in the rumble with Walter."

"Then you would take cold," Dick objected. "It's colder tonight than it was this morning. Three of us can hit together. Hyme will be all right alone."

Bonnie glanced at him with disgust, then groaned. "I don't believe I could stand it, to be crowded three in a seat, Mary dear, I do ache so dreadfully. I wish I hadn't come," she wailed miserably.

The three exchanged worried glances. "Never mind about me, Dick. I shan't be cold at all. You see, I'm used to being out in all kinds of weather, and Bonnie isn't. There, dear, we'll wrap you in a blanket all warm and you can just be snug as a bug all the way."

"Hahn! we better get some supper before we start? I'm famished. How about something nice and hot, Bonnie? Wouldn't that pep you up?"

"It might," Bonnie smiled wanly. Both boys took her by an arm as if she were already an invalid.

Mary walked along briskly beside Dick. It wasn't a very hilarious supper party, to be sure, but Bonnie was the center of attraction and interest.

She even managed to reign such weakness, that she rode all the way home with her head nestled on Dick's broad shoulder.

The soft woolly texture of her tam brushed against his cheek and neck and her fragrant, helpless weariness tantalized him.

Now, his smiles and words were turned to her, tender with concern. He couldn't manage even very well to look backward at Mary.

Bonnie exulted in her triumph. She might have been quite as often as Dick asked about her comfort, he wondered whether Mary were warm and comfortable, and that a hundred times he thought how nice it would be if it were Mary's head on his shoulder instead of Bonnie's.

Mary, shivering beside Walter in the rumble seat, thought miserably that they never would reach home. She was worried about Bonnie at the same time that she resented her intrusion in the party.

It was dark before they started, and a full harvest moon had already thrust itself up over the edge of the horizon, like a polished copper disk.

The hills and ravines were now alternate patches of mellow-gold light and dense, smoke-scented shadow.

Mystery and witchery were abroad, as if black witches sailed on broomsticks through the hazy-bright air.

Romance beckoned on every hill and receded into every hollow. This was to have been her own evening with Dick, Mary thought.

And then, the next instant she would be worrying about the possibility of Bonnie having pneumonia.

When they did reach home, after a too long and not too pleasant drive for anyone except Bonnie, the two boys virtually carried her into the house.

Dick looked worried. "I suppose I'm to blame for this," he said soberly to Mary. "I shouldn't have offered to take them in the rumble. I didn't realize it was so cold. Are you all right?"

"Of course, I am," she answered briskly. "It's just because Bonnie is so delicate that things affect her easily. But she'll be all right, don't worry. I'll take care of her."

"Well, I hope so. Let me know, won't you? Awful sorry, Bonnie," he leaned over her, where she was huddled in an armchair.

But she managed to look ravaging in spite of her misery. Dick patted her hand as if she were a child and she raised round, grateful eyes to his face.

Now did she miss the gleam of admiration she saw in his.

The boys left them immediately, so Mary could get Bonnie to bed, there being no other choice for anyone.

Bonnie took her medicine without a murmur. She submitted to a hot mustard bath, a brisk rub, drank hot lemonade that Mary made for her and sank into bed with a groan.

All for a purpose. Mary lay awake in her own bed for a long time listening to Bonnie's breathing and occasional restlessness.

Her thoughts wandered like aimless vagabonds, from what the day had promised to what it had brought. So joyously anticipated and so miserably ended.

"HOW WE GOT THAT WAY" By Wyatt Started

LYING A STRING AROUND OUR FINGER SO WE WON'T FORGET—

MERELY A MODERN VERSION OF THE OLD CUSTOM
OF TYING A ROPE AROUND A PIRATE'S NECK SO HE WOULDN'T FORGET ABOUT THE FREEDOM OF THE SEAS—

WASHING SUITS—
WERE DEvised BY A PRUDISH
PILGRIM FATHER FOR USE
WHILE TAKING A BATH—

GROSS WORD PUZZLES—
WERE EVOLVED DURING A CHECK TOURNAMENT WHEN THE REGULAR PIECES BECAME
LOST AND WERE REPLACED WITH CHILDREN'S BLOCKS—

SPEAKING SERIOUSLY, though, it would do well for you to remember that when you want your car greased, washed by the most modern methods, bring it to the McPHERSON OIL COMPANY. Why not do so today? BE SQUARE GAS AND OIL.

Holland's Police Chief Steps Out After 17 Years

Frank VanRy left his desk in police headquarters recently and ended a career of 17 years as Holland's police chief. VanRy succeeded Henry J. Dykhus in 1914. Dykhus had succeeded Fred H. Kamferbeek, Holland's first police chief. Each of the three chiefs served two terms as sheriff of Ottawa county and each filled the office of city marshal before the present system was launched nearly 25 years ago.

Resurrection Plant

The genuine "Rose of Jericho" These peculiar plants are found among the rocks and crevices of Palestine. When you get the plant it will have the appearance of a ball of tightly folded leaves, dry and dead. Put it in water and it will open up its handsome fern-like foliage, turn green and begin to grow in about twenty minutes. Take it out of the water and it curls up, turns brown and becomes dead again. If it is placed in water again it opens up and comes to life again repeatedly, and will keep in its dried or dormant state for years and re-awake directly upon being placed in water. It is an interesting, curious and most beautiful house plant with the fern-like leaves of very agreeable fragrance. If you want a "table fern" that will prove satisfactory under all conditions, don't fail to get one of these marvelous plants. Grows satisfactorily in a shallow bowl of water and is greatly admired by everyone.

NOW? --- By R. J. Scott

IN THE FAR EAST, COMBATS BETWEEN THE FAMOUS FIGHTING FISH OF SIAM ARE HELD BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCES — FORTUNES BEING WON AND LOST OVER THE OUTCOME — THE FISH ARE LITTLE MORE THAN AN INCH IN LENGTH.

Who wrote "Out in the Fields with God?" Elizabeth Barrett Browning, well-known English poetess, and wife of Robert Browning, wrote this poem.

cream in America. Ice cream is known to have been made in England about 50 years before its appearance in this country.

The First Ice Cream When was ice cream first served in this country? Did it originate in America? Dolly Madison, wife of James Madison (president, 1809-17) was among the first, if not the first, to serve ice

COUNTY OF BARRY 'DISCOVERS' SELF

The 125-mile automobile tour to a score of Barry county's lake resorts by 40 members of the Hastings Commercial club, gave them an inkling of the natural recreational advantages afforded by this county. Expressions of wonder and amazement at the scenery were heard on all sides, even by lifelong Barry county residents, some of whom were visiting many of the more secluded bodies of inland water for the first time. So successful was the tour that President Tom Baird of the club hopes similar trips may be made every year.

A Hard One "What's the meaning of 'abstract' and 'concrete'?" "If my wife promises to make a cake, that's 'abstract'; but if she makes it, that's 'concrete'."

Season for Beaver Trapping Is Fixed

An order opening 19 counties to beaver trapping from December 5 to 19 was adopted by the state conservation commission. The open counties are Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Emmet, Chippewa, Mackinac, Luce, Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette, Iron and Gogebic.

Form Air-Rail Route

Broaden Loaning Program

Signs in the building and loan field, a $170,000,000 business in Michigan, are the most cheering that they have been at any time since the market break of late 1929, in the opinions of Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, and Paul F. Kregger, state supervisor of building and loan associations.

New Armory Will Be Built in Alma

A contract for the construction of a $55,000 armory at Alma was authorized by the building committee of the state administrative board. A private corporation will finance construction, with the agreement that the state will reimburse the company in 1934. The policy of pledging the state's credit for future payments also will affect an armory in Detroit. The last legislature authorized the contracts, but a subsequent session may pass on the appropriations before the state meets its part of the agreement.

STATE DEFICIT OVER 7 MILLION

The state closed its fiscal year with a general fund deficit of more than $7,000,000, nearly $4,000,000 more than for the same period last year.

Because of its financial condition, the operation of the state government will depend during the next two months on the primary school fund, which is expected to reach $22,000,000.

It is expected the corporation tax will bring in about $7,000,000. This money will be used to repay the primary school fund and operate the state government until tax time in December arrives. It will be augmented by the receipt of delinquent taxes that are now being paid.

Cities and Counties Get Driver License Fees

Since the new automobile driver's re-registration and license law became effective this spring, the department of states has returned $4,410.45 to the various county and city license offices, records show. This refund represents the 15 per cent allowed the cities and counties by state law, for receiving the applications and the department believes that because of the law, examining agencies should not make an additional 25-cent notary charge.

Constantine Rate Cut

The village tax rate in Constantine has been reduced 20 per cent. For 20 years or more the rate has been 10 mills. The property valuation has also been reduced. In 1930 property valuation was $1,158,500. This year it is assessed at $1,080,500.

Sturgis Industry Assures Employees On Wage Question

Improvement in business at least by Labor Day was predicted recently by C. W. Kirsch, president of the Kirsch Company, Sturgis, manufacturers of drapery hardware, in conjunction with his announcement of the adoption of the policy of assuring employees that during the period of the depression there are to be no cuts in wages or salaries.

His statement to employees follows in part: "The management of the Kirsch Company believes that current problems can best be solved by making possible higher rather than lower standards of living, by more intensive and extensive sales efforts, by more effective advertising, and by increased efficiency and loyalty on the part of every employe, rather than through the reduction of wages and salaries. Wage and salary reductions should come only as an unavoidable last resort."

"Except for a slight readjustment of rates which was recently made in one of our departments, there never have been any wage or salary reductions in the history of this company, and now, as a matter of reassurance, the management wishes to announce that the present wage rates will be maintained until after next Labor Day, September 7th. By that time it is hoped that business conditions together with our efforts will have brought about a situation which will prevent any necessity of reducing wages or salaries."

Eaton's S. A. Hall Drive Gets Off to Good Start

The county-wide canvass to raise $5,000 for the financing of the proposed Eaton County Salvation Army Memorial hall at Charlotte, started recently, is meeting with satisfactory results, according to the reports of workers from several sections of the county. Among the 42 workers in the townships, C. Dodge Williams of Brookfield was the first to make a report. He stated that with very few exceptions every person approached has given at least the minimum amount, which is $1.

Lieut. Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Charlotte is chairman of the county executive committee in charge of the campaign for funds. The campaign is being conducted on the basis of $1 per person, although anyone desiring to contribute more may do so. A $1 contribution entitles the donor to a place in the memorial hall roll of honor.

Kent Co. Has Most Trout Fishermen

The fish division of the conservation department has issued figures showing relative importance of trout fishing in the various counties of the state. These figures were based on a total resident trout license sales for 1930 of $7,680.

The largest number of licenses were sold in Kent county, where agents reported 8,248. Marquette county was second with 5,878 licenses sold, and Wayne was third with 4,109. Upper peninsula residents purchased 26,178 trout licenses last year and lower peninsula residents 60,962.

WILSON STATE PARK AT HARRISON NOW IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

Wilson State park, located at the extreme west of the city limits of Harrison, is now open for visitors, with Charles Butts, the caretaker, in charge. The benches and tables have been cleaned and repainted and everything made spick and span about the premises.

This park is a very popular one in this section of the state and has a large number of campers and visitors during the summer season. Many improvements have been made during the past two seasons which include a dividing standard and an enlargement of the concession building and bath house.

The park consists of a large tract of oak which was given to the city of Harrison several years ago by the Wilson estate and then was ceded to the state conservation commission by the city.

All public gatherings in this section of the state are held in the park and this site was visited last season by several political candidates, including Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, who addressed a large crowd at the meeting held there.

The graduating exercises of the rural schools to the county are always held in this park and as it is directly across the road from the county fairgrounds, it is used for picnic purposes during the annual exposition of the agricultural society.

WHEELS RUBBER TREADS BREAKERS THICKNESS GROOVES STRIPS TREAD DEPTH INDEXES

WHEN you set out to buy tires, don't you really want the most miles and the utmost in safety at the lowest possible price.

That being your objective, which tire should you buy?

If the experience of 20,000,000 motorists means anything, you should certainly buy Goodyears.

But if you try to puzzle through the welter of statistics on thicknesses, weights and diameters you lose the main issue and are as much at sea as ever.

The one and only reliable guide for you to follow is the seasoned preference of the public.

And that preference is overwhelmingly for Goodyear.

This fact expressed year after year by Goodyear's great leadership is concretely told again in the findings of an impartial investigation made by an unbiased dependable institution that asked 205,000 car owners this simple question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

HOW CAR OWNERS VOTED ON THE QUESTION "WHAT TIRE IS BEST?"

WORRY DOESN'T KEEP THE WOLF FROM THE DOOR

Perhaps in this time of depression you are neglecting your health. Did you ever stop to think about that? Business isn't as good as it was two years ago and possibly you are worrying about it. You may be trying to cut your overhead, or trying to increase your sales. Perhaps you have thought, and worried and figured until you are exhausted, your mind and body don't function like they used to.

Snap out of it! Constant worry about finances or anything else only makes matters worse because it cuts down your earning power. What you need is a change. When times were good you didn't worry away all your spare time. You used to get out and enjoy a little recreation. A noted psychologist claims that 90 per cent of all really brilliant ideas come just after a person retires for the evening. He declares that it is because most people have a game or hobby that they indulge in the evening, and those ideas are born because the mind has been taken entirely off the day's work for an hour or so. It's had a change. We never needed a chance like we need it today. "All work and no play make Jack a dull boy." Also All worry and no play make Jack a dull man.

Everybody needs recreation, and nearly everyone has some form of recreation. But perhaps your old diversion has lost its kick, you can't concentrate on it any more. If you lose interest it ceases to be recreation. In other words you haven't any recreation, you just think you have.

Try something different. Golf is a wonderful game, there's none better because it's interesting. Nobody ever played a perfect game, there's always room for improvement. But if you can't spare the time from your work during the day there's another game that is just exactly as good that can be played in the evening. It's Bonnie Wee. And nobody ever played perfect game at Bonnie Wee either. It will get your interest at the first stroke and it will keep you interested until the ball is in the eighteenth cup. You can't play Bonnie Wee and worry about something else—that's why it's good for you.

Our customers tell us we have the greatest little game in all the world, and the smoothest and best kept greens they have ever seen. We have players who come regularly every week, from Detroit, Ann Arbor and Lansing. And we have scores of players from all over the state who tell us that they never drive through Howell without playing a round or two at Bonnie Wee. There's a reason, and it's because Bonnie Wee isn't just another miniature golf course. Now perhaps you understand why we think we have the best greens in Michigan.

It's an 18 hole course and we only charge 15c a round now. At that price it's an investment because every time you deposit 15c at Bonnie Wee you take out several times 15c worth of good wholesome, outdoor recreation. Perhaps you too will go home and jump into bed and suddenly the solution to that problem that's been worrying you will pop into your mind.

Car Owners Bought More Firestone Tires

During April, May and June than any like period in History

There are reasons for this—Firestone is now building the Greatest Tire Values in history, with the result that Firestone factories are operating 24 hours a day, 6 days a week, to meet public preference.

This is the year everybody is scrutinizing his purchases. This particularly true in tire buying because of the many confusing and misleading statements made about tires.

To give car owners the facts, Firestone published comparisons showing quality, construction and prices. Then the public came in—made their own comparisons with cross-sections cut from Firestone tires—and from special broad mail order tires and others.

When they saw the facts, they bought more Firestone tires during April, May and June than in any like period in Firestone history.

Drive in today and let us show you these Firestone Extra Values and have your car equipped for Safe Trouble-Free Summer Motoring. We can save you money and serve better.
