

Livingston Lodge Is Host to City of Straits

Detroit Lodge Pays Its Annual Visit To Pinckney, About 150 Attend Banquet.

Last Friday evening was City of Straits Night at Livingston Lodge No. 76. For the past four years the Detroit Lodge has been making a pilgrimage to Pinckney each year.

The first thing on the program was a game of ball on the public square. Both sides claimed the victory. The score was 21 to 20 whether in favor of Livingston or City of Straits is in dispute.

At 7:00 the banquet was served in the lodge dining hall. The invocation was given by Rev. Berquist. Following the banquet the master of Livingston lodge welcomed the members of City of Straits and other visiting brothers and called upon Norman Reason to officiate as toastmaster.

SEPTEMBER COURT TERM

The September term of Livingston county circuit court convenes Sept. 23. The jurors drawn from Putnam are L. C. Lavey and Philip Sprout.

Quite a few cases are booked for trial that are of interest to local residents. The suit of John Spears vs Jack Blanchard is one of them.

The case of the Holland Furnace Co. vs Edith Longman is also listed for trial. It will be remembered that she was the owner of the building at Lakeland where Jim Crumbaugh operated.

The suit of Elva Hoff executrix vs Walter Reason et al is likewise on the docket. This is to settle the estates of Isaac and Julia Pangborn.

There is one divorce case listed, that of Helen J. Smith vs Leslie Smith.

The case of Wm. Crone, the Patterson Lake bootlegger, seems to have got lost. It will be remembered that the case was put over once and that he jumped the country before the next term of court, leaving Joe Bush, local farmer holding the bag, as bondaman, to the tune of $1000.

NOTICE

The C. E. will hold a "hot dog" roast Friday evening, Sept. 25, at Kennedy's cottage. All who desire to go be at the church at 7:30 p. m. The last car leaves at 8:00 p. m.

Land Development Project Started

Options have been taken on Approximately 1,800 Acres of Land Lying Near Silver Lake.

Some time ago surveyors were noticed in the neighborhood of Silver Lake working. Shortly afterwards men appeared buying options on farms in that district.

Whether the project goes through or not is of course a matter of conjecture. Pinckney has seen many such projects. The first one was a 2,000 acre game preserve which was purchased by Col. E. S. George of Detroit.

PINCKNEY HIGH SCHOOL LOSER'S OPENING GAME

Pinckney High School football team lost their opening game to Dansville last Friday by a score of six to nothing. Both teams were evenly matched but Dansville got the breaks and won.

Murray Kennedy and Hubert Ledwidge did most of the ball carrying and gained considerable yardage. With a little more practise and time to perfect some of their plays, the boys should develop a good team.

Kelly-Murphy Wedding Takes Place

Madeline Phyllis Kelly and Lorenzo L. Murphy Are Wed at St. John's Church, Thursday.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning, St. John's Catholic church was the scene of a lovely wedding when Miss Madeline Phyllis Kelly was united in marriage with Lorenzo L. Murphy.

Tall baskets of gladioli enhanced the beauty of the altar which was lighted with large cathedral candles. The high nuptial mass which was said by Rev. Fr. John G. Wall was preceded by Mrs. N. J. Desnoyer singing "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at 10:30 to 50 guests at Meadow Lark Inn. Orchid bouquet and asters in shades of orchid and purple were used to decorate the table.

The Jackson Association of which this church is a part will have the conference here on Friday, Oct. 9. The Ladies Aid will serve dinner at the noon hour to which all are welcome and expected to attend as well as to attend the service throughout the day.

DANCING PARTY AT MAJESTIC BALLROOM

Business is still increasing at the Majestic Ballroom in Howell. Another good sized crowd enjoyed the Saturday night dance, which was Whoopee night, and they certainly did whoop it up, with noise makers, etc.

The Majestic will change its regular dance nights from Wednesday to Friday. Dancing will be Friday and Saturday, instead of Wednesday and Saturday as heretofore.

The 45th Annual Fowlerville Fair

The management at Fowlerville announce their 45th annual fair. Their program is backed up by 44 consecutive, successful expeditions, an enviable record in the history of Michigan Fairs.

While the agricultural and livestock exhibits have always been a strong feature of this fair, $2,500 in prizes being offered for those exhibits. Its reputation has been built up by the brand of entertainment offered.

Baseball of the big league kind for years. This year's program schedules Williamston vs. Pleasant Lake on October 1st and Stockbridge vs. West Point Park on October 2nd.

Eight horse races are advertised. Horses are already entered from some of the leading stables of the state. The barrier system of starting which was given its first Michigan trial at Fowlerville on July 4th, has been used with success at all important fairs.

At a meeting held at the fire hall here Thursday evening, plans were made for putting an independent football team in the field. The meeting was called to order by Henry Shiray.

The following is a list of the different boys who will play: Don Swarthout, Roy Reason, M. L. C. E. PARTY

A Christian Endeavor party was held Wednesday, Sept. 23, at the home of Eloyse Berquist. There were 36 members present. At this time election of officers took place. The following were elected for 1931-32: President Eloyse Berquist, Vice President Merwin Campbell, Secretary Gerald Henry, Treasurer Hazel Chambers, Pianist Audrey Shively, Chorister Robert Plasko.

Current Comment

It is estimated that 350,000 Michigan auto drivers will be barred from the road after November 1 unless they take out drivers licenses. Of course no such thing will happen as it would be a physical impossibility to arrest anywhere near that many.

At the Howell Fair a car, purported to be the one in which 4 young people were murdered and burned to death in near Willis a few weeks ago was on exhibition for ten cents a customer.

We think the exhibit is very bad taste and that its withdrawal would be in the interest of decency. At the Jackson fair where it was on exhibition, the car was ordered withdrawn by the secretary of state's department, owing to a flaw in the title.

So Adolph Busch, Milwaukee brewer, has got it all figured out that the only way to restore prosperity is to allow the breweries to reopen and start making booze. In other words he would make the people feel prosperous anyway.

The state legislature at its last session passed a law requiring that all public teachers are compelled to take the oath of allegiance. This is said to be due to the fact that in many large institutions of learning communism and socialistic doctrines are being promulgated.

According to the Gann press one would think that the wet sentiment was spreading like a prairie fire. All facts do not bear this out. In four special elections in New York state which is notoriously wet to fill vacancies in the legislature, two dry candidates were elected and two wet ones.

It is not the intention here to claim the results as highly significant but they do throw some light on the situation. The wets do not, as yet, appear to have taken due cognizance of the fact that there are still very many sensible people still supporting the 18th amendment because no better way of handling the liquor problem has yet been shown.

SCHOOL NOTES

The music instruction which is under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Wilson is producing excellent results. Not only the people in the grade but many of the high school students are taking advantage of the opportunity.

The senior class number 22 members this year. Pinckney plays football at Hartland this week Friday.

A great many students expect to attend the first football game at the University of Michigan this year. The game will be between Michigan and the Ypsilanti Normal College. Students who apply for tickets will receive them free of charge.

ELECTROCHEF'S "FLAVOR CONSERVING" OVEN broils this delicious balanced meal

Broiling, according to dietitians, is used far too little. Because of its healthfulness and delicious flavor, the broiling method of preparing meals should be used often. Here is a time-saving broiled dinner meal to appeal to the housewife. It can be prepared with only one utensil, and consists of tomatoes, broiled ham, and potatoes-on-the-half-shell (the potatoes having been previously baked). The ELECTROCHEF oven, with its "flavor conserving" heat, makes this broiled meal far superior to ordinary methods of preparation. As one dietitian says: "We are not cooking in fat, and, when we grill, we are sealing-in the flavor and health values of food."

Proper Position for Safe Driving

This young lady, posed by Dr. Dudley B. Reed, director of health service, University of Chicago, is showing how the "perfect driver" sits behind the wheel for safety and comfort. Dr. Reed pointed out that mohair velvet upholstery, which has a pile surface, grips the clothing and helps maintain proper driving posture.

MOHAIR AN AID TO SAFE DRIVING

Scientist of University Tells How Pile Surface Keeps You From 'Slumping.'

In the last eighteen months, more persons have been killed in automobile accidents in the United States than our country's army lost in soldiers during the World war! This is an alarming fact which is receiving the careful attention of public officials everywhere and challenges the thought and action of every citizen. What can be done to reduce this huge death toll?

Safety measures are being effectively applied in many ways but the problem rests largely with the automobile driver. What can he do to further protect himself and others from accidents? Helpful suggestions in this connection have just been offered by Dr. Dudley B. Reed, professor of hygiene and director of the health service of the University of Chicago.

Doctor Reed calls attention to the fact that sitting properly while driving is not only an aid to the person's health but it is a direct help to safety as it places the body where immediate response in emergencies is easier, where fatigue that too often promotes carelessness is prevented, and where the driver's vision is least likely to be obscured. It is not difficult to assume the correct driving position but it is sometimes hard to keep such posture, especially if the automobile seat is covered with a material that causes slipping and sliding about. These difficulties are more easily avoided.

ALL AMERICA NOW RIDING THE GOAT

Popular Mohair Upholstery Made Only From Hair of the Angora.

The subject is usually associated with more or less unpleasant initiation ceremonies but did you know that millions of persons have been "riding the goat" on the railroads and have been enjoying the ride?

Every time you ride in a railroad car upholstered in genuine mohair you are literally "riding the goat" for the mohair is the fleece of the Angora goat, not cloth, moss or any other of the many strange products that some persons erroneously associate with mohair. There are many reasons why this material was chosen and has been so widely used on the railroad and some of them are unusually interesting because it has taken modern scientific methods to reveal them and they are new. For years people have known that mohair must be a good material on the railroads would not use such large quantities of it. Its mere durability and fast colors are by no means the only reasons why it is popular.

Here is one important factor that makes genuine mohair so popular for railroad and auto upholstery usage. The tiny, erect fibers of the goat's hair

MOHAIR AN AID TO SAFE DRIVING

Scientist of University Tells How Pile Surface Keeps You From 'Slumping.'

Doctor Reed points out, if the seats are upholstered in a fabric like mohair velvet or velveteen, the fibers of which grip the clothing, giving support to the occupant of the seat and reducing the tendency to slip and slide.

One of the most common faults in driving, Doctor Reed explains, is to slump down in the seat. This is easy to do if the upholstery is slippery but not so likely to happen on mohair. In a slumped position, the driver cannot quickly respond when an emergency demands quick operation of the controls. His arms and legs are cramped, the lungs do not have an opportunity to expand and other internal organs are restricted. Most important of all, the spine, nature's best shock absorber, is bent in such a position that shocks and jars strike it at an angle instead of in a vertical plane, as was intended so that the efficiency of the spine is greatly reduced, the person becomes fatigued more easily and is soon in a condition that invites accidents.

Here are Doctor Reed's posture suggestions, especially helpful during these vacation months when long automobile drives are taxing the endurance of the motorist. Have the back well braced, the back of the seat with the weight resting mainly on the seat bones. There should be support for the back at a point below the shoulder blades and at the top of the hips. Do not recline too much, slightly more than ninety degrees is enough and there should be no weight or pressure upon the knees. The feet should be able to reach the pedals and the floor without stretching or straining. The legs should be well supported by the accompanying photograph, the driver being seated in a relaxed and free position of movement. He enjoys the greatest comfort and he is kept in a position where he can most efficiently handle the car in time of danger.

Luxury Reduces Public's Name Carving Set

While many persons still persist in carving their names in public places and on their own private property, the general tendency is toward the more dignified and less conspicuous names of the railroad and auto upholstery usage. The tiny, erect fibers of the goat's hair

GETTING BUSINESS GLOOM BEHIND US

By ROME C. STEPHENSON, President American Bankers Association

R. C. STEPHENSON

There is more significance in that remark than appears on the surface. As more and more manufacturers and business men realize that the turn has really come and that they are oversteering the time to adopt constructive policies, they begin cautiously to press their selling campaigns, to speed up their production, to enlarge their working forces and increase their commitments for supplies. It is the gathering weight of their influences that finally raises the pressure of confidence to the dynamic power of recovery.

The surest way to bring the nation out of the business depression is to raise the pressure of public confidence to the point of becoming such a dynamic force. It has invariably been the push of that force which has started recovery in the past, and it is the gathering power of this force which will start recovery from this present depression. It is a favorable sign of the times that there seems to be general agreement that the bottom of the depression has been reached and all eyes are peered and looking ahead for the first indications that the turn for the better is in sight. Who knows but what the first thing we know we will find ourselves looking backward instead of forward as we realize that the turn has already come. It is a rough and rocky road that runs across the bottom of the valley of business depression, and most of us are too busy steering the old Ford from bump to bump to be able to take in all the scenery. So who knows but what some important changes in the landscape are already taking place.

BANKERS FAVOR GRADUAL CHANGE

National Commission Believes Local Sentiment Should Govern Evolution in Methods of Conducting Banking.

If substantial changes are to be brought about in branch banking in the United States they should originate within the states rather than from Washington on interstate lines as proposed in "trade area" branch banking plans, a recent report of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association declares. Such changes, it adds, "should develop by evolutionary rather than revolutionary stages."

The extension of branch banking through state action would mean that states not now permitting state banks to have branches or else closely restricting them, would individually liberalize their laws as an expression of changing local desires and conditions, and this doubtless would insure a deliberate, evolutionary process, the report says. "The other method, that is, through Federal action, would mean a sweeping change for the country as a whole, for legislation granting branch banking powers to national banks in all states, regardless of local sentiment would, of course, induce equivalent branch banking enactments in every state in the Union not now permitting or really wanting state banks to have branches in order to keep them on a competitive equality.

Upholds State Privileges
"We find some bankers who feel that a proper stimulus to the development of branch banking would be given by the Federal Government taking the initiative through granting broader privileges within state lines to national banks than they now enjoy. It is argued that state governments could then follow suit as to state banks and that in this way a more progressive branch banking attitude might be promoted by the national banks taking the lead. While we do not deny that there may be some merit in this view as to some specific localities, we stand firm nevertheless on the principle that no such grant of powers to national banks should cross state lines, or exceed the privileges that state legislatures could and would grant to their state banks.

"Moreover we believe that if the choice between these two possible courses of extending branch banking were put up to bankers they would be generally opposed to any forcible imposition of branch banking on the states through the medium of the national bank system. We believe it would be preferable for any change to come about through the more gradual and democratic method of the states granting their banks branch banking powers state by state where, if and as local conditions and sentiment might be ready for a change."

Woman Patriotic Figure in History of Old City

Mainz is one of the first and oldest cities on the Rhine. It has also furnished its share of legends and played its part in making this river one of the most famous in the world. Here is one that holds a bit of charm and philosophy: When the French occupied the city the countess of Stein led the young women to take a vow not to listen to a word of love from any man until the country was rid of the invaders. The French, thinking this might stimulate their foes, tried to humble her by giving her a broom and commanding her to sweep the streets. Instead of being shamed, she swept them and prayed as she swept, "God of my Fatherland, bless my sweeping, and as I sweep the highway, grant that the enemy may be swept from the land." Instead of jeering her, as the French had anticipated, her own people gathered about

Frankfort Long Great City

Since the great trade routes of the Middle Ages, Frankfort-on-the-Main has played one of the most important parts in the commercial activities of all Europe, and for many years was the undisputed mistress of the international money market. However, her simplicity and quiet charm have not been affected by her eminent position in international affairs. She reflects her ancient walls and towers in the clear waters of the Main with a modest dignity becoming a beloved monarch. It is no wonder she beguiled and endeared herself so keenly to the heart of Goethe, her native son, who was inspired to write his famous opera "Faust" in the first part of which old Frankfort breathes in almost every verse.
