Auditor General Stack's Determination Not to Publish Full Description of Tax Land Sales Causes Much Excitement

By far the greatest amount of excitement was caused last week by the statement of Auditor General Stack of Escandaba that he will discontinue publishing a description of the lands to be sold for taxes this year in the county papers. The annual cost of this was about $225,000. These lists were published in 83 papers of the state, mostly county seat papers. Instead, this year there will be published but a small notice of the sale costing about $37.50. This caused a bombshell among the papers especially those who have been publishing these tax notices. The Michigan Press Assoc. in session at Lansing threatened court action against the Auditor General as there is a heavy penalty for refusal to print these descriptions. However Governor Comstock expressed his hearty concurrence in Mr. Stack's stand and said that if he was convicted in court of violating the publication law he would pardon him at once. Attorney General Patrick O'Brien in an opinion handed down Tuesday, however holds that failure to publish the descriptions by the auditor general will make him liable to civil suits. The reaction of the press to this is varied. Those who have been publishing the tax sale descriptions are strong against it. On the other hand, the Detroit Free Press in an editorial yesterday strongly commended Mr. Stack's action and called it a wise economy. The Free Press doesn't publish tax sale descriptions.

It would seem expedient that the legislature would step on it and enact some law that would provide banking facilities for the 1200 communities in Michigan which are forced to struggle along without any. At the special session called by Gov. Brucker such a measure, which provided for branch banking, was introduced but was not allowed to come up. As the state laws now stand branch banks cannot be established without a separate board of directors and other technicalities. Meanwhile at Washington, D. C., Senator Carter Glass's banking bill is having tough sledding. It provides for a system of branch banking but also many other features. Senator Huey Long is conducting a filibuster against it and seems to have sufficient votes to block its passage. Senator Long's chief argument seems to be that it affords ample protection for the international banker but gives none to the depositor. He wants insurance for bank deposits while Senator Glass is unalterably opposed to it. In the meantime the country suffers for lack of banking facilities.

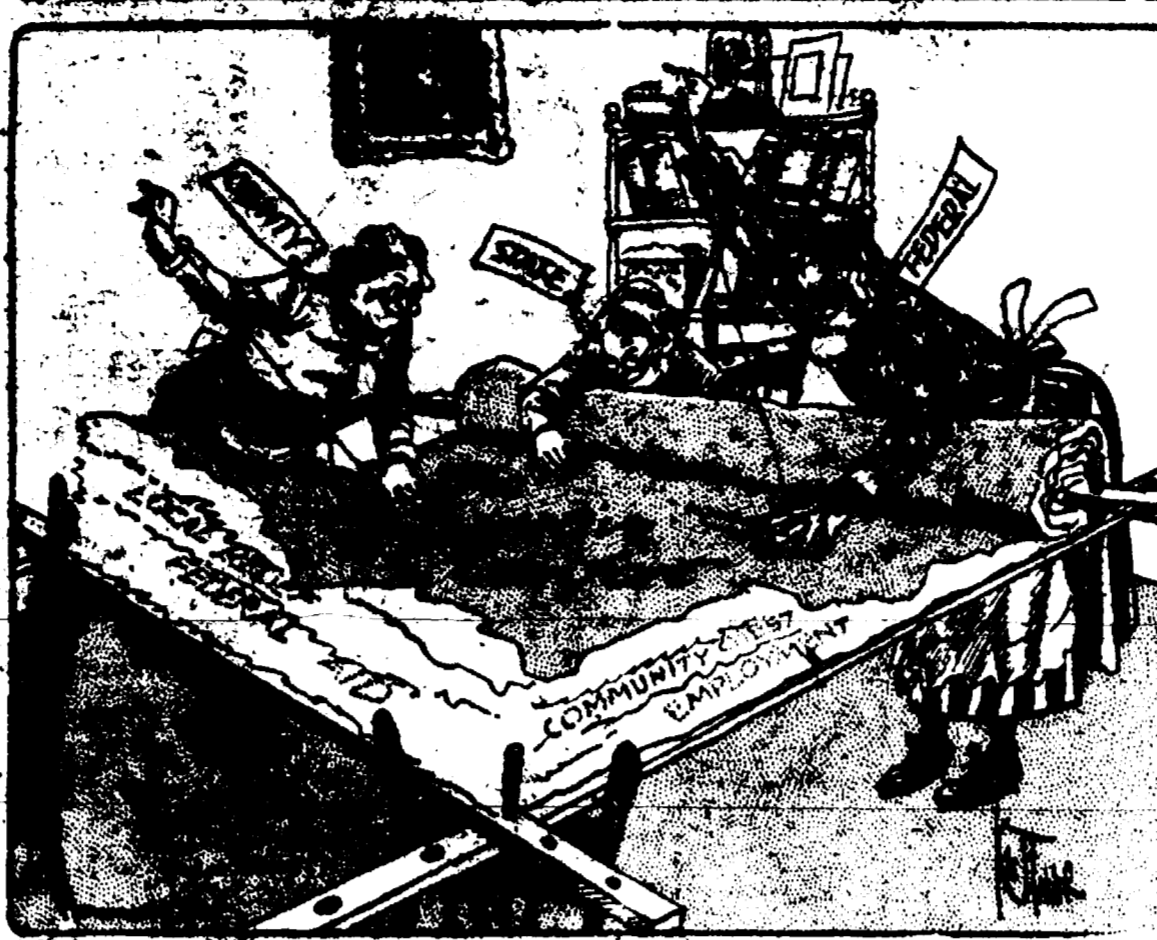

Representative Earl Berhans of the VanBuren district, is anxious for the legislature to get down to business and enact some of the economy measures that the Legislative Commission of Inquiry has recommended. This Commission of which Representative Vern Brown of the Ingham County News was one of the active members, says Mr. Berhans in his resolution, has pointed the way to many immediate economies that will help the people of Michigan. In all other sessions, the present one is a bit slow in getting under way.

Myles Gray, Republican, who has just been re-elected clerk of the house by the Democrats, is a former well-known Michigan newspaper publisher. For many years he owned the Plymouth Mail. Mr. Gray is considered one of the best informed parliamentarians in the State.

With the approach of the coming spring election two names have been freely mentioned around Lansing as possible candidates for the State Board of Agriculture. One is the grand old man of the house of representatives, former Speaker Fred Ming of Cheboygan. The other is former State Senator Henry Ross of Livingston county.

It has been indicated by friends of Governor Comstock that he believes the most good can be accomplished for the taxpayers as well as the wage earners by a general reduction of salaries and not wholesale dismissals from jobs. It is understood that he plans to keep as many people working as is consistent with the work to do, but save by cutting down the size of pay envelopes. The Governor's suggestion has met with popular approval.

$12,000 HOWELL FIRE

Fire which broke out Saturday evening destroyed the warehouse of H. L. Williams, Howell produce dealer. The buildings were close to the P. M. tracks and it was necessary to flag one of the trains to prevent damage to it. The loss is about $12,000, partially covered by insurance.

IT'S DONE FOR CHARITY

Marathon dances are pretty much barred over this state with the exception of East Detroit where one has been flourishing for nearly three months. This city had an ordinance forbidding them but when a company of promoters offered the council 25 percent of the proceeds for their welfare fund they repealed it. The dancers dance or walk 90 minutes and sleep 15. The contestants have now dwindled down to about half a dozen couples. These are chained together to prevent them from falling. As local authorities refuse to act, a group of ministers have forwarded a communication to the governor asking him to end the contest. It is said that the proceeds given to charity have not come up to expectations or the promises of the promoters.

SPECIALTIES LISTED FOR PLAY

Four good specialties have been secured which will be put on between the acts of the play "The Charming Pretender" on the night of February 3. Eight girls will put on a musical drill. The Misses Megan Meyer and Polly Dillon will put on a dance act and there will be vocal solos by the Misses Dorothy Wilson and Maxine Marshall. "The Charming Pretender" is one of the best plays ever to be put on in Pinckney. For years it was on the legitimate stage being a play on the order of "Peg O' My Heart" and other heart throb plays. It is admirably fitted for Pinckney talent and plenty of time has been allotted to the cast for practice so that they may get it down pat. The admission will continue at popular prices of 25c and 15c.

TAX DECISION IS HANDED DOWN

The Supreme court has just handed down a decision of interest to school districts. It is in the case of the Lansing school district versus the city of Lansing. Certain personal taxes were levied by the city for school taxes. These were not collected by the treasurer. The school district sued for taxes and the supreme court held that it was the treasurer's duty to collect the taxes and if not done the city must pay them out of other funds. The redress of the city it held, was to sue the treasurer's bondsmen for the amount uncollected on the grounds that he was in default of his duty.

4 Amendments to be on the Spring Ballot

Changes in Constitution Made Necessary by Governor Comstock's Tax Proposal

Plans have been made to submit four constitutional amendments to the voters at the spring election, together with the proposal for a general revision of the constitution in order to allow the passage of the gross income tax levy as proposed by Gov. William A. Comstock, Ann Arbor.

An amendment will be necessary to abolish the provision which makes a property tax mandatory on account of Gov. Comstock's plan to substitute a sales tax and gross income tax.

Another amendment is contemplated to attempt adjustments which will permit the sales tax to be taken into account in averaging the rate of the levy upon utilities whose payments make up the bulk of the primary school fund.

Gov. Comstock's program also looks to a graduated levy upon intangibles, particularly mortgage and bond holdings. The long-established Michigan Constitutional provision for a "uniform" rule of taxation on specific levies bears the way. An amendment will be proposed to remove it.

Along with the question of a general revision of the constitution, the governor also plans to submit a formula for that revision, which will permit delegates to be named in a special rather than a general election, thus expediting the assembling of a convention.

While the administrative forces were in consultation last week, Rep. Paul H. Hupert, of Mt. Clemens, introduced in the house his own version of the sales tax, modeled on the Mississippi law. It proposes to tax on a gross income basis the output of Michigan manufacturers, sales of jobbers and retailers and the earnings of professions licensed by the state above $1,200.

The Hupert bill also reached out to tax railroads and telephone and telegraph companies, heretofore segregated for primary school fund taxation alone. Approval of that bill would call for several additional constitutional amendments.

In the house Rep. William J. Birk, of Baraga, introduced a bill to repeal the state malt tax. No substitute was proposed.

C. E. NOTICE

There were 47 young people present at the Pinckney C. E. meeting last Sunday night. With all the flu and sickness here we thought this a remarkable attendance. We had a union meeting with the young people of Dexter and a good discussion was held dealing with "Unselfishness" and the "Beer" question. Our young people are missing a great treat by not attending the C. E. meetings and are also missing the fellowship with the neighboring towns. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Clifford Van Horn.

The 26th of February, the young people are planning on having a rally service with all the neighboring young people and we have been fortunate in securing Ernest E. Marks of Detroit to teach this rally. This service will be open to all young people and also the older ones who are interested. Mr. Marks is a very fluent speaker, and has been here several times previously. Parents, we are hoping that you will co-operate with the young people in this service. Further notice will be given concerning this rally.

NOTICE

On account of so much illness the Ladies' Aid will not serve a dinner this month. Each member is being asked to furnish 25c instead.

Current Comment

Technocracy like Einstein's theory of relativity is probably not properly comprehensible to many people. As we understand it the Technocrats claim that machines have been perfected to such an extent that it would be possible if all the people worked but two days a week to supply all the needs of the world in that time. Therefore in order to bring back good times they would handicap the machine production or curtail it and return to hand made production of articles. There is a lot more to it than this but the above is the substance of it. We don't believe that the Technocrats will be able to put over their program. The world has never moved backward. All the inventions put hand labor out of business but they also provide work in other quarters. The mowing machine put the scythe swingers out of commission and the binding machine put the raddlers out of a job but still the world went on. The auto drove the road horse off the highway but gave work to many millions. All great inventions have their drawbacks but these are greatly outnumbered by their redeeming qualities.

The dairymen in Shiawassee county around Owosso have hit upon a scheme which enables them to peddle milk and at the same time get around the state and city milk regulations. They sell their milk as cat and dog milk and their wagons bear the inscription "Cat and Dog Milk". They sell it to the customers for 4c and 5c per quart with the understanding that it is cat and dog milk. If the buyers used it for themselves it is their own business. This venture was caused by the fact that the creameries cut the price of milk to less than $1.00 per hundred weight. Way back when the editor was a boy all milk was sold as bulk milk and none of it was tested. The milk peddler drove around from house to house and dipped the milk out of a milk can in his wagon and emptied it into the pail or pail carried out by the housewife whom he summoned by ringing a bell. There was no army of milk inspectors going around in those days to see that the dairymen toed the chalk mark in regard to the milk laws.

A bill introduced in the legislature last week claims to have for its object the putting of the numerous county fairs of this state on their feet and making them paying. It is said to have the active support of Thomas Bigger, state boxing commissioner under Fred Green and a big owner of race horses. He also handled the Fred Green race horses. This bill would legalize betting at the fairs and would give them a certain percentage of the winnings. It is claimed that this would not only greatly increase fair attendance but would put them on a paying basis. First there was government control of liquor and now government control of gambling is advocated. Both we are afraid are quack remedies and their power for causing harm is much greater than their curative qualities. In order to make gambling highly profitable it must be fixed. It is this which has caused all the big gambling scandals. It is argued that there is more or less gambling carried on today at the race tracks. Therefore the state and counties might as well get a rakeoff from it.

The old age pension bill is up again in the legislature and as Governor Comstock is said to be actively working for it, it may pass. Governor Brucker made this pension bill part of his platform two years ago but did nothing toward carrying it into effect after election. Two bills have been introduced providing for old age pensions. One by Senator Durham of Iron Mountain would raise the necessary revenue by a $2. head tax. The other by Senator Grajeski of Hamtramck contains no financing provision. Gov. Comstock has said that he is opposed to the head tax. He further states, "I believe that old age pensions, created by proper legislation, properly administered, will be an economy. Right now it is my opinion that the counties should aid in financing the work. All the counties now spread a tax for poor relief. If they turn 80 per cent of what they now raise for this purpose into an old age pension, the state could provide the additional money necessary and I do not believe that it is a large sum."

Two Streams Unite.
"The Euphrates rises in the Arment an Taurus mountains, little more than a hundred miles southeast of the Black sea. It flows for nearly 600 miles through Turkish territory and more than 200 miles through French controlled Syria before entering Iraq. In the vicinity of Bagdad (which is on the Tigris) the Euphrates approaches to within 20 miles of its great companion river. The two streams then gradually diverge to unite 200 miles farther down. The oval territory enclosed by these water ways is the famed Sumerian plain, where, so far as written records disclose, the earth's first cities came into being.

"Where the Euphrates and Tigris approach above Bagdad, the former is 16 feet higher than the latter. Irrigation canals taken from the Euphrates can therefore be led across the plain and the drainage allowed to enter the Tigris. The Sumerians and their successors discovered this ideal situation scores of centuries ago and constructed numerous canals, developing the region into a fertile garden. Farther down stream the Euphrates drops to a lower level, and the canal procedure was reversed. Everywhere the country was gridironed with canals.

"As succeeding generations developed skill in hydraulic engineering, huge works were constructed. One canal paralleling the Euphrates from Hitt to the Persian gulf was 480 miles long. It was probably the longest canal ever constructed. An ancient canal connecting the Euphrates and Tigris near Bagdad was navigable by steamers 60 years ago, but has since silted.

"The highly developed canal system made Mesopotamia (the land between the rivers) prosperous for millenniums under various governments. Even after the Moslems took possession much of the vast system was preserved. But the Mongol invasion in 1250 brought ruin. Head works and embankments were destroyed, and the plains were turned into alternate stretches of desert and swamp. It is in this condition that much of the land along the lower Euphrates is to be found today. Certain areas are well watered and well drained.

Passes Babylon's Ruins.
"Fifty miles after passing close to Bagdad, the Euphrates river runs beside the ruins of Babylon. Mounds of bricks and broken walls exposed by the work of archeologists cover more than 50 square miles, and mark the place where one of the greatest of the world's ancient cities thrived with life 2,500 years and more ago. At the height of its power and wealth Babylon numbered its inhabitants by the millions. On the southern portion of the site of Babylon is the modern town of Hilla, with busy bazaars among date groves and gardens.

"After the Euphrates and Tigris unite, the combined stream is known as the Shatt-al-Arab, which flows into the Persian gulf. Sixty miles up the Shatt-al-Arab is Basra, the chief port of Iraq. The river harbor has a depth of 17 feet at low tide. From Basra a railway extends to Bagdad and on to Mosul. There are no rails between Mosul and Nisibin, on the Turk-Syrian border, but a motor service closes the gap; and it is now possible to buy a through ticket from Paris to Bagdad or Basra. When Bagdad was at its zenith under the caliphs, Basra was the busiest port of the East and had several hundred thousand inhabitants. The present population is about 55,000.

"The Euphrates and the Tigris have built the fertile Sumerian plain with their silt. The delta advances into the Persian gulf about 60 feet a year. In the past 3,000 years all the land between the present meeting place of the rivers and the sea has been contributed. At the end of the most recent ice age the Euphrates, according to geological estimates, entered the sea west of the site of Bagdad, more than 400 miles from the Persian gulf."

Will Martin and wife of Detroit spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Will Fisk.

COMPLETE SURVEY OF BATHING BEACHES

Accurate information as to the sanitary condition of bathing beaches along more than 900 miles of Michigan shore line will be available next spring when the Michigan stream control commission completes data on samples taken last summer.

A survey party took more than 1,800 samples of the bathing beach water on the Lake Michigan shore from the Indian state line to Cross Village and on the east side of the state from the Ohio state line to Oscoda. This included the shores of Lakes Erie, Huron and St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers. In addition special studies were made at South Haven, Traverse City, East Tawas, Saginaw bay, St. Clair river and Lake St. Clair and at the beaches in the county parks in Jackson count.

Determination of sanitary conditions along the various bathing beaches is in line with the commission's belief that adequate control, particularly of sewage and certain industrial pollution, is a necessary counterpart to the present and future welfare and reputation of the state as the "nation's playground," as well as sound public policy with respect to development and conservation of the state's water resources.

Canners Adopt Standards

A number of manufacturers of canned vegetables have informed the United States Department of Agriculture that they are planning to show the quality of their products on the label. The quality will be stated in terms of grade standards developed by the bureau of agricultural economics: "Grade A (fancy)"; "Grade B (extra standard or choice)"; "Grade C (standard)." Sub-standard products must be labeled in accordance with the provisions of the food and drugs act.

Resurrection Plant

The Genuine "Rose of Jericho"

These peculiar plants are found among the pines and cedars of Palestine. When you get the plant it will have the appearance of a ball of tightly folded leaves, dry and dead. Put it in water and it will open up its handsome fern-like foliage, turn green and begin to grow in about twenty minutes. Take it out of the water and it curls up, turns brown and becomes dead again. It is capable of apparently dying and coming to life again repeatedly, and will keep in its dead or dormant state for years and grow again directly upon being placed in water. It is an interesting, curious and most beautiful house plant with fine fern-like leaves of very agreeable fragrance. If you want a "table fern" that will prove satisfactory under all conditions, don't fail to get one of these marvels of plant life. Grows and thrives in a shallow bowl of water, and is easily killed by overwatering.

President-elect Contributes to Philanthropic Drive

LICENSE PLATE TIME EXTENDED TO FEBRUARY 1

The time limit for the legal use of 1932 motor vehicle license plates has been extended to February 1, 1933, according to announcement by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald.

A further extension to March 1 may be made in the future unless there is a decided change in economic conditions. It was announced. Power to extend the time for using license plates is granted the secretary of state under the 1931 law which provided that "Secretary of State may for good cause, extend the time of renewal for not to exceed sixty days from and after the said first day of January."

In 1931 and 1932 the use of the previous year's plates was extended the entire 60 days under the law. This year the decision to extend the legal period for 1932 plates only 30 days was influenced by the fact that the state highway department, which receives motor vehicle weight tax fees, needs the funds for construction projects that will provide employment.

"The highway department has an acute need for all funds due it," Mr. Fitzgerald said. Any delay in receiving funds will seriously hamper that department. On the other hand, automobile owners have their January tax bills to meet a week after Christmas.

In order to spread the taxes over a longer period, the time limit for securing new license plates has been extended to February 1. If the next few weeks show that thousands of automobile owners will be unable to purchase 1933 licenses by that date, and will be compelled to stop using their autos on that account, a further extension may be made.

"In the meantime, all automobile owners who are financially able to do so, will be aiding the state and their less fortunate neighbors if they secure their 1933 plates as soon as possible." As long as 1932 plates are legal in Michigan, they will be acceptable to Indiana, because Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and other nearby states change administrations on Jan. 1, the policies to be adopted by these states with regard to 1932 Michigan plates cannot be ascertained.

Establishment of state-wide branch banking by national banks, unrestricted by state laws, would relieve the present commercial credit stringency, declares James L. Makes Synthetic Lumber

George R. Meyercord is head of a Grand Rapids company which has developed and is marketing a new compound lumber product used in the construction of houses. It is expected to also revolutionize building construction, furniture manufacture, automobile production and prove a boon to the lumber industry. The material is electrically produced in 10 to 30 foot panels, which are three-quarters of an inch thick.

Hart Attempts to Have US31 Stretch Elevated

The Hart village council has voted to petition the state highway department to elevate part of US31 which crosses Hart lake to raise the head at the municipal hydro-electric plant two feet and the only obstacle preventing such action is the lowness of the state trunk line where it crosses the lake.

New Metal For Autos

One of the most interesting exhibits at the recent Power Show in New York, is a copper product developed by the Anaconda Copper Company, which appears to have widespread application in the automotive field. This product consists of copper sheets deposited by a new electrolytic process. This material is spun in thickness of paper thinness and in widths up to fifty inches and weighs one ounce per square foot. The copper sheet is spun in a revolving drum, from which it emerges in an endless roll. This product is claimed to be strong and flexible. Its application to automobile tops is obvious. Besides by fabric, it is claimed to be an ideal roofing

HUNTING LICENSES SHOW SHARP DROP

A half-million fewer hunting licenses were issued in the United States, including Alaska, last year than in the previous year, which set a record, reports the bureau of biological survey. Authorities in the various localities, the bureau suggests, may explain the variations from previous years as due to the depression, to the droughts of 1930, to changes in license fees or to other causes.

Statistics furnished by the states and tabulated by the bureau for the calendar year 1931, in some cases for the state fiscal year or season ending in 1931, show the number of hunting licenses as 6,32,626, a drop of 561,308 from the 1930 total of 6,903,934 and a slight decrease from the 6,428,761 reported for 1929. For 23 states, as indicated in the bureau's tabulation, the reports include combined hunting and fishing licenses but separately issued fishing licenses are not included in the summary.

Hunting license revenues received by the states also declined last year, dropping from $10,017,564.43 to $9,867,352.63. Owing to increases in the fees in some states, however, the revenue was nearly $500,000 greater than the receipts of $9,891,412.33 for 1929.

As in previous years New York with 580,933 resident and non-resident licenses yielding $1,108,604.54, and Pennsylvania with 536,401 yielding $1,095,025.30, are at the head of the list. Of the 16 states licensing more than 1,000 nonresident and alien hunters, Pennsylvania was first with 6,009, New York and Maine followed with 4,395 and 4,050 respectively.

Michigan took sixth place on the list, as regards the number of resident licenses sold. In addition to New York and Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois were ahead of this state, with the following figures: Ohio, 455,513; Indiana, 304,444; Illinois, 302,458; Michigan, 309,058.

The income received by Michigan from hunting licenses, however, ranked third among all states, the figures being $646,476.

Resident hunting licenses showed a falling off in numbers in 33 states.

Homesteaders Take 2,400 Acres in District No. 6

State homestead lands taken up in conservation district No. 6 amounted to 2,440 acres in the past year, District Fire Warden Edward Thalman has reported.

Most of the applications were filed by city folk and acreage granted varied from 40 to 160 acres. Only those with proper farm equipment were allowed to file, and only lands that have been judged suitable for agricultural purposes have been allotted.

Filtration Plant Urged

A recommendation has been made by the Ann Arbor water commission to the city council that the Huron river be used as the source of the city's water supply. Construction of a filtration plant to draw water from Barton pond was recommended.

New Line to Open State Gas Market

Central Michigan's natural gas resources will rise to a new commercial importance and bring renewed drilling as a result of the State Public Utilities Commission's permit to the Michigan Natural Gas Corp. to construct a main from the field to Bay City and Saginaw.

Lacking a large commercial market, natural gas has played but a minor role in Central Michigan since the discovery of oil and gas in commercial quantities in 1928. More than 350 oil wells have been drilled, while only 27 natural gas wells have been completed.

Factors that will tend to bring about gas drilling are: A market; gas wells can be sunk for one-third the cost of an oil well; there are hundreds of acres of undeveloped proved gas acreage, and there is an almost unlimited area of wildcat acreage to be explored.

Three gas pools have been developed in this district, one in Clare County and two in Isabella County. There are 27 wells in the three pools, with a combined daily output of approximately 100,000,000 cubic feet.

The only commercial use that has been made of the gas has been by the Gas Corp. of Michigan in supplying Clare, Rosebush and Mt. Pleasant and by the Consumers Power Co. in supplying Midland.

Bay City and Saginaw will use about 3,000,000 cubic feet per day for domestic purposes and perhaps 10,000,000 cubic feet for industrial purposes.

Negotiations also are under way to pipe natural gas to Ithaca, Alma, St. Louis, St. Johns, Breckenridge, Merrill, Wheeler, Hemlock and Shepherd.

Utilization of casing head gas (which comes from oil wells and which is as valuable as the product of gas wells after being processed) in the Isabella-Midland oil fields also is expected to be brought about as a result of the new line. Estimates place the amount of casing head gas in this district between 8,000,000 and 15,000,000 cubic feet per day, sufficient to serve the needs of both Saginaw and Bay City for domestic purposes.

Other than when used for powering well engines and a gasoline extracting plant using about 3,000,000 cubic feet of casing head gas a day, no commercial use has been made of the gas from the oil wells.

The Michigan Natural Gas Corp. plans to launch a $200,000 drilling campaign in conjunction with the Pure Oil Co. to test wildcat areas and determine reserves of the field.

Three gas test wells now are being sunk in wildcat districts of Gratiot County, two in Clare County and one in Isabella County.

"Yes," said the commercial traveler, "we have letters of appreciation from England, Wales and Ireland—and a postcard from Scotland."

25 DEER SEEN BY AVERAGE HUNTER

The average Michigan deer hunter saw 25 deer during the open hunting season, it is indicated from 100 deer tally cards selected at random from among the thousands received this fall by the department of conservation.

The 100 hunters, 64 of whom hunted in the upper peninsula and 36 in the lower peninsula, saw a total of 2,595 deer.

The 64 upper peninsula hunters saw 208 bucks. They reported seeing 600 does and 404 fawns or unidentified deer.

Ninety of the one hundred hunters reported their observations of deer conditions. Forty-six said they believed the number of deer to be increasing, nineteen believed the deer herd decreasing and twenty-five said they saw no change in deer conditions.

"Too much country for the amount of deer in it," a Presque Isle county hunter reported. "Have game wardens visit deer camps and leave a card saying, 'I will be back.' It will save does," another hunter suggested.

1933 BIDS TO BE

BETTER THAN 1932

The action of most governmental bodies seems to be toward the lowering of governmental costs. This action will be reflected in lower taxes, which in turn will lessen fixed charges for farmers and other businesses which have a large real estate tax to pay.

Not only have we been laboring against unfavorable business in general but also against a more or less pessimistic mental complex which has swept the country. This last condition is growing better as people analyze their problems and organize their affairs along present day lines.

Opportunities will present themselves such as have not appeared in a lifetime. Remember this, wheat will not always sell for 40c a bushel.

States Seek Broader Law
National banks and their shareholders are taxed in different states under a diversity of systems, he says. The U. S. Supreme Court has held that the low millage rate on intangible personal property is in violation of the present law where it results in national bank shares being taxed at a rate greater than that assessed upon competing moneyed capital. A number of states, unwilling to use the income methods permitted, had the alternative of either repealing the intangible tax laws or limiting taxation of national bank shares at the intangible rate. Therefore they sought a broadening of the permissive provisions.

Also, Mr. Paton points out, a Supreme Court decision held a state's excise tax on corporations invalid where it included income from Federal and local government bonds in the excise measure. This created doubt as to some state bank excise taxes.

Conferences have been held to reach some agreement which would protect the banks, satisfy the tax commissioners and avoid a contest in Congress. Mr. Paton says, "From the standpoint of the tax authorities, the main objective has been an amendment which would permit certain states to retain their low rate tax upon intangibles and at the same time derive an adequate, but not excessive, revenue from national bank shares, and an amendment which would permit certain states to tax corporations on their net income, excluding income from tax-exempt, and at the same time derive the same revenue from the banks as heretofore. From the standpoint of the banks, it has been deemed imperative to maintain the effective principles of Section 5718.

STATE LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Efforts to keep political jobs under the law they had passed which sought to prevent war veterans from being dismissed have proven futile since the change of administration. The attorney general has stated that veterans appointed can hold office only during the tenure of the term of the official appointing them. It has been observed that newly elected officials are somewhat reticent about appointing veterans for fear that they cannot be dismissed if their services should not prove entirely satisfactory. The law that veterans thought would help them is proving somewhat of a stumbling block to political appointments.

BREWER TO BE RELEASED SOON

Unless all indications are wrong the skids are being greased for the purpose of releasing Willis M. Brewer, former superintendent of the Howell Sanitarium from Jackson prison. He was convicted in Oakland county in 1931 of embezzling $2,500 appropriated by the Legion's Children's Bilet at Otter Lake. He was sentenced June 18, 1931 by Judge Farm Gilbert of Traverse City. In the history of the case—Judge Gilbert said he felt Brewer had taken two appropriations of $2,500 and one of $1,000 that came to him as county official. The sentence was 6 to 15 years. Last month Judge Gilbert reduced the minimum sentence to 2 1/2 years which is allowable under the 1931 statute. Records in the office of Alfred Debo, recently appointed parole commissioner by Gov. Coe, disclose the fact that while Gov. Brucker declined to act in case of Brewer he favored his release early in the spring. If there had been no reduction of sentence Brewer would not be eligible for parole until June 17, 1937. The sentence reduction advances this to July 12, 1933. If time off is allowed for good behavior this date would be May 10, 1933.

Brewer was particularly active in Legion circles during the campaigns of Fred Green and Wilbur Brucker. The former appointed him supt. of the Howell Sanitarium. While he was there he was tried and sent up on the Oakland county charge. It was later found that he did not have sufficient war record to entitle him to belong to the American Legion and he was dropped from their rolls of membership.

ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD

All men interested in the Boy Scout movement in the towns of Livingston and Washtenaw counties are urged to attend the annual meeting of the Washtenaw-Livingston Council, to be held at 7:30 this Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building in Ann Arbor. At this time reports for the past year will be presented, and officers will be elected to conduct the movement locally during 1933.

Many new developments are planned in Scouting, due to the fact that more boys than ever are joining the movement, while funds for the maintenance of the work have been reduced nearly fifty percent. Additional volunteer helpers can be used in practically every department of Scout work, and all men who are interested in the welfare of youth, and who as yet are not connected with the Boy Scout movement are invited to attend this meeting and to become active in this work.

Officers for the past year have been Prof. Paul B. Samson of Ypsilanti, president; Charles H. Sutton of Howell, first vice president; William Inglis of Ann Arbor, second vice president; Grant L. Laskey of Milan, third vice president; William C. Walz of Ann Arbor, treasurer and Coach Fielding H. Yost, commissioner.

AIR EXPRESS TO S. A. CARRIES EVERYTHING. SHIPMENTS INCREASE

New York.—Despite continued conditions affecting foreign trade, shipment movements between South America and the United States show steady increase. In 1932 volume and variety of cargo.

Goods carried by Pan American Air Lines include such items as coffee, sugar, and other commodities. The airline showed an increase of 45 per cent in 1932 over the year of 1931. The airline also carried a large amount of mail, and the volume of cargo carried was also increased. The airline also carried a large amount of mail, and the volume of cargo carried was also increased.

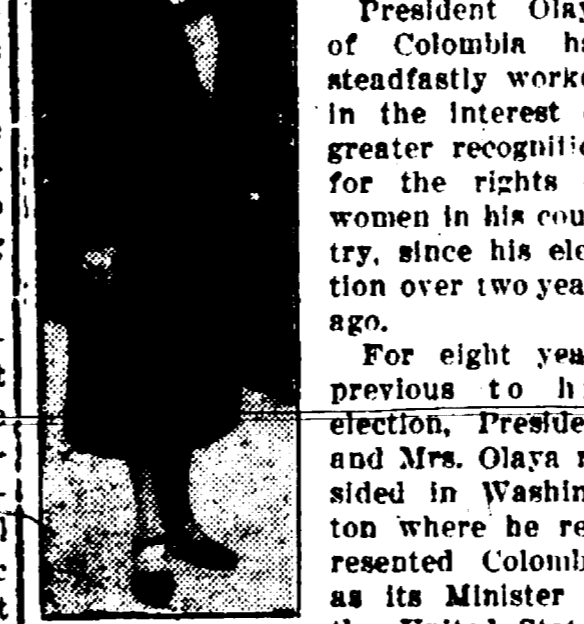

Giant Pan American Air-Liner En Route Between Colombia and the U. S. States includes, in addition to samples of the finest coffees for which that country is noted, a great number of living cargoes—monkeys, wasps, bees, chicks, ducklings and macaws. Orchids, gold, platinum and precious stones, all Colombian in origin, are on the list. Other items vary in size and weight from machine needles to a 700-pound crankshaft. During October, 1932, the shipments destined for Colombia from New York included hub caps, biscuits, silk stockings and dresses, maps, thread and essence for making soap.

All Pan American airliners entering Colombia carry air mail and they make direct connections with interior airlines, reaching 31 countries. The 17-ton "Clipper" ships with a wing span of 114 feet, largest planes on any airline in the world, are powered with four motors, and carry 44 passengers and a crew of five men. Other 22, 12 and 8 passenger ships, all carrying a pilot, co-pilot and steward, fly between Colombia and other Central and South American countries.

"Peruvian Seizure of Leticia Unjustified"

New York.—"The Peruvian Government, in complete default on its foreign debt, proposes to start a costly war on the most futile and feeble pretext," states Dr. Max Winkler, President of The American Council of Foreign Bondholders, in a report which reviews the situation arising out of the seizure by Peruvians of the Amazon port of Leticia in Colombian territory.

"In present circumstances of economic stress and popular unrest all over South America, Peru's action must be considered outrageous and unpardonable," states the bondholders' council.

"Peru is one of the arbiters between Bolivia and Paraguay, and deliberately embarks on a venture similar to theirs but far more dangerous. The administration is reported to be raising $5,000,000 to pay for ammunition. Millions for war but not one cent for debts owed abroad. Bondholders are apparently content with platitudes which are being handed out by those who are responsible for the marketing of the various Peruvian loans in the United States, especially American markets."

Things You Never Knew That Soap Would Do

Help Thread Needles
To thread needles easily, rub the end of the thread over a cake of soap, twist it between the fingers so as to make a stiff point and it will go through the eye of the needle without any difficulty. This slice of soap left after the cake has been worn down are convenient in the workbasket for this purpose.

Clean a Sewing Machine
Shave three ounces of soap into a quart of boiling water and stir until it is dissolved. Wash the machine carefully with hot soap.

Help Make Buttonholes
An old tooth brush will be useful for scrubbing the difficult parts and a soft cloth or stripe of cloth will be needed for drying. To clean the places where the brush will not go, wrap a cloth on a screw driver, dip it into the soap and apply. When the machine has been washed all over, dry it thoroughly and oil it. Care should be taken in reaching all parts, especially those hidden, and likely to be overlooked.

To make button holes in goods that unravel, rub a little soap on the under side.
