National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart
National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has submitted to congress a list of the legislation he deems necessary to have passed before the present session adjourns. He has divided it into two categories—"must" and desirable. If congress enacts only the list of "must" legislation and passes over the other group of bills which the President considers desirable, it is made to appear that the membership of the house and senate is due to suffer some of the torrid temperature and the uncomfortable humidity of a Washington summer.

The President said he must have legislation extending the National Recovery administration, providing social security, eliminating public utility holding companies, increasing the loaning power of the Home Owners Loan corporation, extension of the so-called nuisance taxes which expire by limitation of law on June 30, and revision of the banking laws.

In addition, the President made known that he would like to have enacted legislation to take the profits out of war, whatever that may mean. He previously had sent a message asking enactment of a law providing for expansion of the American merchant marine through the use of ship subsidies, and he also desires to have enacted legislation setting up machinery for the settlement of labor disputes. This legislation is in the congressional hopper in the form of a bill by Senator Wagner, of New York.

The President would like to have amendments to the agricultural adjustment act in order to eliminate some of the weaknesses which the AAA people admit exist. The airmail contract situation is another matter with which Mr. Roosevelt has been concerned.

Seasoned observers recognize that this list of "must" legislation, not to mention the desired legislation, is sufficient to keep congress grinding away far into the summer. They recognize likewise that if the desired legislation later becomes of such concern that the President wants to place it on the preferred list as well, the membership of congress must be prepared to forego summer trips of any kind.

Since a good many members of congress have grown tired of being called rubber stamps for the administration, they naturally have turned attention to legislation which they think will be helpful to their own bailiwicks, to themselves personally or from a party standpoint. Thus there have been promoted numerous pieces of legislation for which some individuals, at least, entertain greater fervor than they do for measures that were drafted by President Roosevelt's official family and transmitted to congress as administration legislation. It is the general observation that an individual, representative, or senator frequently will go much further in fighting for legislation that is his own brain child than for legislation placed before him on a silver platter such as administration proposals have been. Consequently, individual or group measures are constantly cluttering up house and senate legislative calendars. This is a factor meaning delay for administration bills.

It is to be remembered, as has been reported in these columns, that Mr. Roosevelt is unable to ward off criticism of some of his proposals. Indeed, there have been Democratic criticisms and Democratic opposition to a greater or lesser degree to all of the legislation he has proposed since congress convened last January. All of which is by way of saying that congress faces weeks of committee work and floor debate despite the fact that the house Democratic leaders still retain rather solid control of a sufficient majority in the lower house of congress to drive through any pet measures for the administration. In the senate the situation is decidedly different.

Included in the legislation being fostered by individual members is the bill that would permit cabinet officers to appear on the floors of congress for questioning and explanation, such as occurs under the British and French parliamentary systems. The administration does not want this bill. It will have to exert some pressure to avoid passage. The reason is that the Roosevelt administration is no longer one in which the cabinet is dominant. Cabinet officers are only part of the scheme, and if congress wanted to inquire about the handling of relief money, which it probably will desire, it must talk with Administrator Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins is not in the cabinet. The same is true of NRA and to some extent to the AAA, although Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture theoretically is a superior officer to Administrator Davis. The administrator is definitely opposed to the passage of bonus legislation for the former soldiers, sailors and marines and it looks like a Presidential veto will be necessary there. The same is true of inflationary proposals of which there are many. The situation is one, therefore, in which Mr. Roosevelt must be constantly on his guard to prevent action which he does not want as well as being fortified at all times with pressure to put through the legislation he has described as necessary. Thus it is seen he is confronted with many complications which did not disturb him in the first two sessions of New Deal congresses and these complications mean a longer life for the current session.

Let us examine the status of the legislation which the President said must be passed. The outlook is something like this:

Some "Must" Legislation. The extension of the National Recovery administration is still far off. Senate hearings are just ended and the house is still further behind. No action can be expected in either body for several weeks. The present law expires June 16.

Recently Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress a very bitter message denouncing public utility holding companies and demanding legislation eliminating them from our economic structure. The house committee considering this legislation is just winding up its hearings and the senate committee which will have jurisdiction has taken no action at all. It must be said that a hard fight is in prospect if and when this legislation reaches the stage of debate because investors in these companies are not going to have their equities destroyed while they sit idly by. These investors are doing more now than just making faces at congress and the volume of letters which members are receiving in opposition to the holding companies legislation transcends anything that ever has happened in the memory of this correspondent.

The banking legislation which Mr. Roosevelt has proposed, or which was proposed for him by Governor Eccles, the New Deal and radical governor of the federal reserve board is faced with opposition equally as bitter and as well organized as that confronting the holding companies bill. Perhaps it can be said that opposition to the banking legislation is even stronger because in that fight the President will be opposed by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who must be regarded as the most virulent of all the Democrats in the senate. The house banking committee has about done its job with hearings on this bill but the senate committee where the full force of the Glass opposition will be felt has not even set a date for committee consideration.

The social security bill about which Mr. Roosevelt has done much talking, because it is distinctly a reform measure, has finally been redrafted in the house while senate leadership is unable to get together on any policy respecting it. Some senators want to split up this bill and pass the section providing for old age pensions, allowing the other parts of the bill to die a slow death.

The legislation to increase by $1,750,000,000 the loaning power of the Home Owners Loan corporation probably will get through the senate without much more ado. The house passed the bill because it could not do otherwise with individual members realizing that there was a chance that some of this money would go into their particular districts. Included in this bill is a line that promises a good many hundred jobs for politicians and it is natural that the party in power is not going to overlook this possibility.

There remains on the "must" list, then, only the proposal to extend the nuisance taxes which expire at the end of June. It is probable that the bulk of these levies will be accepted by congress as necessary.

One cannot fail, in tramping around Washington these days, to note the frequent expressions concerning the outlook for the New Deal and for President Roosevelt's personal political future. In fact, some hardboiled observers lately have been heard to say that Mr. Roosevelt is suffering from too much ballyhoo. He was put up on a pedestal that made of him in the eyes of many persons something of a superman. He himself is regarded as having contributed to this condition by his many campaign promises, some of which he has found absolutely impractical as remedies in leading the country out of the morasses and on to a more satisfactory economic plain.

In truth, the President's own political colleagues have continued to depict him as an individual capable of things which no human can accomplish and this combination of circumstances is declared by many keen minded persons as likely to bring, if indeed it has not already brought, a definitely bad political reaction from the President's standpoint.

It is still fresh in the minds of men and women throughout the country how President Hoover was over-advertised as a superior person in an administrative way. Mr. Hoover suffered from too much ballyhoo to an extent greater than any other man who has served as President with the possible exception of Woodrow Wilson. When the depression came and the current turned against Mr. Hoover he was utterly powerless. With a recalcitrant congress on his hands and a dissatisfied people, Mr. Hoover met the fate that must have been expected.

Wins Wide Distinction as Collector of Violins

Milwaukee Man Is Expert on Rare Old Fiddles.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Stradivarius to Henry Stirn of this city is something that has not only served as an interesting hobby throughout many years, but has also earned for him the title of connoisseur of such rare old instruments. Not less than twenty-four examples of the famous Stradivarius have passed through Mr. Stirn's hands during the course of sixty years, which is really only a slight detail in the history of his once grand collection.

Mr. Stirn, whose vocation is finance and accounting, has shown a zealous interest in the violins since he was seven years old. This interest, however, never for once entered the professional realm, nor was Mr. Stirn ever a dealer in violins. He played the violin, and played it well. Even now he is head of a string quartet which began way back in the '80s; but the members of this little group play strictly for their own pleasure.

Just an Amateur.

Yet, though but an amateur in all the dealings he has ever had with the violin, Mr. Stirn today is recognized throughout the world as an authority on the instrument. And because of his abundant knowledge in this field, owners of rare old violins often seek his advice, according to the Milwaukee Journal. "It has been the supreme joy of my life that I have been able to make the acquaintance of some of the greatest violins of all time," said Mr. Stirn.

At one time he had in his home close to $500,000 worth of violins, which included two genuine Stradivari and many famous violins of other makes. All of these, however, were disposed of recently and the sole remainder of his once famous collection is a Gaspara de Salo, once owned by Ole Bull, eminent Norwegian violinist.

The Gaspara de Salo is the violin Mr. Stirn plays in the quartet. It was made about the time of Martin Luther's death, Mr. Stirn believes, and came into his possession through the widow of a friend named Rostav, who had acquired it from Ole Bull himself.

Had Big Collection.

Inside the Gaspara de Salo, when Mr. Stirn first acquired it, was the name Vuillaume, written in pencil, together with six or seven other signatures. In having it restrunged a few years ago, the names were in some way rubbed out, an incident which he regrets, because Jean Baptiste Vuillaume is revered by violin lovers in much the same manner as they think of Stradivarius.

In addition to his private collection of noted instruments, Mr. Stirn has had under his roof more Stradivarius violins at one time than any other person or museum in the world. At various times collectors, dealers and famous violinists have left genuine Stradivari in his home. Among these "guest" instruments are the Emil Sauer and Lipinski Strads. He, himself, has owned the Hammer Stradivarius, one of the two Stradivarius violins that has never been cracked or tampered with.

Although for more than a century and a half Stirn's forefathers lived in

He Learns to Fly in 55 Minutes

After 55 minutes of instruction, Herbert Sargent, twenty-two, of Jersey City, made his first solo flight in a plane at the Jersey City airport and after completing the prescribed maneuvers set his plane down for a three-point landing. Eddie A. Schneider, twenty-three, Sargent's youthful instructor, holder of the junior transcontinental flying record, said he allowed Sargent to go up alone because he handled a plane perfectly. Taking the air on such short instruction is believed to have brought to Sargent a new record.

American Girl Will Trace Life in the North

Miss Thorn Will Study Beginnings of Eskimo Race.

Edmonton, Alta.—An intensive study of the origin of the Eskimo tribes in Canada's northern Arctic territories will be undertaken next summer by Miss Sue Thorn, graduate in anthropology of the University of California. Miss Thorn is at present in Edmonton laying plans for an extended stay in the Arctic.

The Eskimo language, anthropology, customs and folklore will be studied by the young California scientist with a view to proving or disproving the theory that the Eskimo race originally came from the Orient via the Bering straits. She plans to go north to Akavik, on the Mackenzie delta, early in the summer.

Although this is her first trip north, Miss Thorn has spent considerable time studying Eskimo life, language and customs, and is confident she will have little difficulty in facing the rigors of the Arctic.

After spending some time in Akavik, "becoming acclimatized," she plans to journey east to Victoria Island in Coronation gulf and possibly go on to Greenland if she can obtain permission from the Danish government.

Giant Keeps Order in Canadian Town

Montreal.—The Montreal metropolitan commission has hired a "Tarzan" to bring order to the bankrupt village of St. Michel.

Seeking an inexpensive method of keeping the wilder villagers from creating trouble while they tried to straighten out the village's financial affairs, the commission hired ex-Capt. Z. Desmariseau, former weight-lifting champion of the Montreal police department, and sent him to St. Michel.

Desmariseau is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 280 pounds.

Germany, and the name was changed to Stirn, he is a direct descendant of Count Axel Oxenstierna, chancellor of Sweden under King Gustavus in the early Seventeenth century. According to the genealogy of the Stirn family, Henry Stirn is entitled to the castles and lands now held by the Swedish Oxenstiernas.

SIMPLICITY AND CHIC COMBINED

PATTERN 2159

In spite of its very definite air of chic, this is the sort of dress that an experienced seamstress can run up in an hour or so—and even a beginner really should take no longer than a day to finish it. Just to show you how very simple it is, we've given you a little sketch of how the frock will look before you sew up the side seams. See—there are only four pieces to the whole body of the dress, and the sleeves and shoulders are cut in one, which does away with the settling-in of sleeves! Make it of any pretty inexpensive cotton material—use pay buttons—you'll be sure to pat yourself on the back when you see the result!

Pattern 2159 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 takes 3 1/4 yards of 50 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York.

SMILES

THERE WAS A REASON

"All very well for you to preach economy," said Brown's wife, "but I notice whenever I cut down expenses that you smoke better cigars and spend more for golf clubs and things."

"Well, confound it, what do you suppose I want you to economize for?" Brown demanded.—Boston Transcript.

More Reform

"Do you regard votes for women as a success?" "Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "But we ought to go a step farther and disfranchise all gigoles."—Washington Star.

Some Variety

Groom—You will always look the same to me, my darling. Bride—Foolish boy! And I have ordered ten new gowns already.

Others, Maybe

"I'm sorry, I quite forgot your party the other evening." "Oh, weren't you there?"—London Tit-Bits.

Practical Jokers Ruin

Saloonkeeper's Peace

New Orleans.—Christian Bethencourt, saloonkeeper, regretted exceedingly recently that he had so many friends. Their number prevented him from nominating the particular friend he would like to crown with his bung starter.

Bethencourt's day was scheduled thus by the anonymous practical joker:

8:00 a. m.—Ambulance arrives at saloon to pick up Bethencourt, who, hospital understood, was "very sick."

10:00 a. m.—Twenty-five catfish and ten pounds of shrimp arrived. C. O. D.

Noon—Three drug store delivery boys dash in, one after another, exclaiming: "Here is the emergency medicine for Mr. Bethencourt."

1:30 p. m.—A rug arrives C. O. D. from a furniture store.

2:00 p. m.—The undertaker's wagon arrives for Bethencourt's body.

3:00 p. m.—A radio sent C. O. D. arrives.

5:00 p. m.—A carpenter arrived to repair the screens.

5:45 p. m.—One hundred pounds of sugar arrive C. O. D.

5:46 p. m.—Bethencourt decides to go home early.

New Needle Threading

Champion Is Proclaimed

Ottawa, Ont.—Step up, folks, and meet Tailor J. Serrelli—the new needle-threading champion of Canada and the United States.

Serrelli defeated Mrs. Jeanne Cloutier, Suncook, N. H., housewife, in a stirring international contest, 250 to 224.

The contest started when Mrs. Cloutier read of how Serrelli thought nothing of threading a needle with a couple hundred strands of cotton, and set out to beat his record. She jammed a standard darning needle with 224 strands of white cotton thread and sent it to Serrelli. Serrelli sat down, jammed another 26 strands into it and returned it.

Prep Students' Racket

Gets Nipped in the Bud

Houston, Texas.—Too much talk spoiled the scheme of four high school students to pick up spending money through sale of examination questions. They obtained the questions from a a copy. "We weren't going to release any of the copies until late in the day before examination time," one of the four explained.

"If we had started selling them early, the kids who bought them could sell them on their own hook."

Many "orders" were taken, but San Jacinto High School Director J. O. Webb heard of the scheme before any copies were sold, and brought the youngsters up on the carpet.

Notes of 50 Years Ago

Dispatch of July 16, 1885
Mrs. C. W. Haze announces that she has leased her huckleberry marsh to Mrs. Thomas Carroll.
A couple of travelling musicians entertained the people on the streets Friday night with a banjo and mouth organ concert. Of course they passed the hat.
Road master Lennon now has Stewart and Webster Sts. in fine shape. He used a Waldon Road builder machine.
Mann Bros. have built a large salt rack on the west side of their store. 103 weathers of A. Buck of Hamburg sheared 920 lbs. It sold for 24c per lb. straight.
Prof. L. A. Tuttle now has a music class started here.
Thomas Read has built an addition to the west end of his elevator to store lime and plaster in.
It is reported that Ira Cook of Brighton may buy the barber business of Wm. Yancey.
Miss Frankie Burch closed her school at Unadilla with appropriate ceremonies last Friday.

REFUNDS IN SIGHT ON '33 CHAIN TAX

Operators of chain stores in Michigan who were not party to the recent litigation which ended when the state accepted a compromise payment for the chain store tax for 1933, will shortly receive a gift of some $34,000 from the state government.
The 26 litigants offered the state a sum which was exactly 62.19 per cent of the total tax the state had sought to collect. The litigants thus saved about 38 percent of the 1933 tax. When the state administrative board accepted this settlement, it was the feeling of its members that those who had already paid their 1933 tax should be entitled to the same consideration.
Consequently, to the operator of every chain store system for which the 1933 chain store tax has been paid, a check for nearly 38 percent of the tax paid, will shortly be sent. As the state collected about $90,000 by this tax in 1933, the total of the refunds will be slightly more than $34,000.
An additional refund on taxes paid in 1933, 1934 and 1935, by operators of chain counter systems, has also been approved by the board. The 1935 legislature provided for lower rates of taxation for chain counters than for chain stores; prior to this, no distinction had been made between the two kinds of chain organizations. Thus, to chain counter operators who have paid their taxes for the three years the act has been effective, at the chain store tax rates, refunds of the difference between these rates will be made by the Secretary of State, official collector of the tax. These latter refunds, however, will be made only on application, and then after an investigation of individual claims for the refund. Application blanks will be mailed shortly to everyone who has paid a chain store tax, as shown by records in the office of Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State.
The state will accept no further chain store tax payments under protest, and it has been further ruled that payments previously made must be cleared of these protests, or appropriate action will be taken to enforce payment.

Neighboring Notes

Waldo Herman, former editor of the Brighton Argus, is now helping out at the Brighton Argus. He may buy a paper in Michigan if he finds a suitable one.
In about six weeks the Four Mile Lake Cement plant near Chelsea will be completely dismantled. Then the land will be sold. A crew of 55 men are now working there. The silos are virtually all that are left.
Frank Kennedy of Chelsea has been elected president of the Washtenaw County Farm Union.
On July 15, the Milford Bank depositors will get a payment of $52,000.
A farewell dinner was given in honor of Rev. Jerome at Dexter on Monday night.
Russell Livermore is enjoying a week's vacation from his duties as R. F. D. Carrier, and with Mrs. Livermore is on a trip through Northern Michigan. The children are with their grandparents in Gregory.
Brighton businessmen will have a three day gala celebration on August 22, 23, and 24. The events listed are three ball games, street parade, popularity contest, athletic races and contests.
Brighton will attempt to get a waterworks and sewer system under the PWA.
There were 25 marriages in Livingston county during the month of July. This is the greatest number for this month since 1927 with one exception. In 1933 there were 26.
Another mile of blacktop road has been added to the Brighton road running past the Burroughs Country Club. In all about 12 miles will be built. The Howell-Pinckney road will be extended from Chubb's Corner to Pinckney village, about 3 1/2 miles.
The Chelsea school district, at its election appropriated $500 for an athletic field.
Paul Baldwin and Robert Leland of Howell have purchased the Brighton Drug Store. They will continue to operate their Howell store, however.
Supervisor Gilbert Madden of Dexter township, led an unsuccessful fight in the recent session of the Washtenaw county board to get a greater share of the weight and poll tax for rural districts. He declared the amount now given them is not enough to keep the roads open in the winter. He got a 19 to 13 majority but needed a three-fifths. Failing here he put through a resolution pledging the board to adopt a property tax to retire $45,000 in outstanding Covert road bonds.
The Waterloo Park project has been curtailed on account of excessive prices asked for some of the desired land. However, the projects already started will be completed.
The Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce has started a drive to add 200 new members.
The Dexter school at its recent meeting voted to ask a $27,000 PWA grant for a new addition to the school.
The village of Manchester has voted to sell their water rights to Henry Ford.
The South Lyon school district at its annual meeting voted to buy 20 acres of land for an athletic field.
Milford is now assured of a new bank as all of the 150 shares of stock have been subscribed. T. C. Little of Wayne took $10,500 and the other $10,500 was taken by Milford people. The General Motors Co. refused to take any stock on the grounds that it was against their policy to go into the banking business. Henry Ford has bought the Huron river dam and Alfred water rights at Milford.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Prove Your Angling Ability

TODAY'S Snapshot Guild is directed to all wives, husbands, daughters and sons who follow the great outdoor sport of fishing. What has fishing to do with amateur photography? Just this. The Chicago Izaak Walton League, according to news dispatches, has included in its curriculum, in the fishing school conducted in Wisconsin, a "course of truthfulness." War has been declared against the angler who persists in telling about the "big one that got away." The law of the Izaak Walton League of Chicago regarding this phase of the art of fishing is very brief and to the point. Here it is, "Get your fish, take his picture or keep quiet."

No one in particular is being accused of telling little white lies about the "whopper" that got away but Chicago's Izaak Walton League law should be recognized throughout the country. "The old adage about the cake might be revised to—"You can have your fish and eat it too" for although the fish may end its days in frying pan or broiler, a picture of it will live forever."

There is one thing to remember in taking snapshots on fishing trips. Just as you use different kinds of bait for catching various species of fish so you must vary your methods of taking snapshots under different lighting conditions.

Suppose, for instance, that you are deep sea fishing or out in the middle of a lake under the glare of a mid-July sun. One of your party gets that long-hoped-for jerk on his line. If you have one of the average folding cameras it should be ready for action with the diaphragm opening set at f/11 and the shutter speed set at 1/100 of a second. This setting of the diaphragm and shutter will serve two purposes. First—you will have the proper exposure and second—at 1/100 of a second you will stop the action as your lucky angler friend pulls the fish out of the water and into the boat.

If you have a box type camera use the second stop opening. In snapping the picture with this type of camera you will get the best results if you wait until the fish is safely in the boat and then snap the picture after the catch and when your subject is not in motion.

Let me caution you, however, against a common error. Don't forget to set your camera for distance if it is of the focusing type. If you have a fixed focus camera don't get closer to your subject than about eight feet unless you use a portrait attachment.

Now—suppose you are fishing on a river where the trees obstruct much of the light. Snapshooting under such conditions requires a different technique. Unless you have a camera with an f/6.3 lens or faster you had better forget about fast action pictures and confine your efforts to taking your subjects when not in rapid motion.

If you have a box type camera you should open it to a large stop and with the average folding camera open the diaphragm to f/8 or f/11 and set the shutter speed at 1/25 of a second. And remember—"Get your fish, take his picture or keep quiet."

RESOLVED

"I will not put off
owning an ELECTRIC RANGE
any longer!"

Long ago you probably made up your mind that some day you would have an electric range in your kitchen. You want a range—but for one reason or another, you have delayed getting it. And so you are still "getting along" with the old stove, until the time when you can put in a modern electric range. Why not make that time NOW?

An electric range brings you SEVEN ADVANTAGES over an ordinary stove: (1) Electric heat is as clean as sunlight. There is no smoke or soot to soil kitchen walls and curtains or to blacken utensils. (2) Electric cooking is healthful. Nourishing juices and important elements in meats and vegetables are sealed in. (3) Electric cooking is waterless. You use no water for roasts and only half-a-cup for vegetables. They are steam-cooked in their own juices. (4) Electric cooking is modern. You simply snap a switch and start to cook. (5) Electric cooking has a deliciously different flavor—the natural flavor of the foods. Meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices. (6) Electric cooking is inexpensive—it costs less than a cent a meal per person. (7) Electric cooking is safe—there is no flame, no matches. An electric range supplies only pure heat from a glowing wire.

You can own a modern electric range for $89.50—completely installed and ready to cook. See the latest models on display at your dealer's or the Detroit Edison office.

A study of one thousand families using an electric range showed a cooking cost of

The Misses Bernadine Lynch and Ann Reidy of Kalamazoo spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kennedy and family.

Edward Bowers of New York City left Monday for the Pacific coast, following a few day's visit with his brother, Frank Bowers and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Crato, their daughter, Volma, and D. A. Livingston of Cheboygan were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Watkins.

The corn was knee high by July 4th all right. Many farmers in this vicinity have started cutting their wheat although the hay is not yet all in.

Miss Gertrude McIntosh is visiting relatives in Detroit and Canada. Mrs. Walter Mowers is taking her place at the Pinckney Sanitarium.

Week end guests of Met Chalker at his home at Patterson Lake were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cloakey and daughter of Ypsilanti.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment. From one of the men in the boat on which the girl escaped McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Gatlin. He also discovers that she is heiress to $750,000. Fearful of McNamara's official capacity, Nance flees. Lanny finds her in her apartment, asleep. Then she disappears, and McNamara learns that she is living in Paris. He also discovers he is in love with Lanny.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

"The instructions are fine, but why commit forgery by signing Dan's name? If the original is traced—"

"I have signed it Mac, and the world is filled with Macs. When Dan has reached his office, telephone him and tell him to do something that will prove in any court he was in his office when I filed this cablegram."

Lanny relented. "You might make a detective, at that."

Twenty minutes later Dan McNamara was listening to Lanny reading Stephen's cablegram over his private line. "Excellent," was his sole comment, "but print it in block letters. Even a typewriter can betray one. When Steve files this telegram have him pay for it with a hundred-dollar bill, and have him wear large black goggles and the rim of his hat pulled down all the way round. The girl who receives it will think one crook is calling another. If she's ever asked what sort of man filed it, her description of the sender, plus my own perfect alibi, will put me in the clear."

"How are we to manage after she has eluded the Paris police?"

McNamara sighed gustily. "Flynn will be in touch with her bank, and every time she cashes a draft on her letter of credit, Flynn will have a line on her address."

"You're no help," Lanny snapped, and hung up. Half an hour later, from the cable company's main office, Stephen dispatched the cablegram.

With Dan McNamara definitely out of the fight, Stephen felt lonely and apprehensive. He wondered why the girl had fled to Paris in the face of Dan McNamara's instructions to flee to Lower California, to enter which no passport is required. He asked Lanny. "Oh, that's no mystery, Steve. I brought home from the office, intending to show it to Dan, an article by a celebrated plastic surgeon of Paris. Penelope read it with great interest. She went to Paris to consult this French plastic surgeon and also to have samples of her new nose drawn by a competent artist."

"So that's how the Paris police informed Dan she was having her portrait done by an American artist, eh? I suppose it will be her luck to be in a hospital undergoing the operation when the Paris police receive word to deport her."

"I'm afraid she's balled everything up, Stephen. Flynn will have the number of her passport and Dan will have no time to fix a new passport photograph on to it. They'll not trust to the photo to identify her if she tries to land. They'll check up on the passport number also."

"Will you never cease discussing this miserable business, Lanny?" Stephen burst out irritably. "If it hadn't been for you we wouldn't be in this wretched predicament."

When the captain of detectives called in Detective Sergeant P. Flynn and related to him the tale told to him by Mrs. Rudolph Merton, Flynn gave no sign of being particularly interested. Carefully and methodically he arranged in his mind the facts as stated, and when he left the presence of his superior, all he knew was that he was to strive to recover a lost heiress by name Penelope Gatlin, and that she had a nose that should make her recognizable anywhere.

After nine hours of refreshing slumber, Flynn proceeded to ponder the case of Penelope Gatlin of the saddle nose. "I seem to be getting my fill of girls with saddle noses who disappear mysteriously," he decided lazily—and instantly something clicked in his brain and he knew he was on the trail of Nance Belden again. An heiress, eh? McNamara had hinted at powerful influences back of Nance Belden, and she certainly must have hired the expert help she had had in her escape from San Quentin penitentiary.

"McNamara knows who she is," Flynn decided. "He's getting his—chunks—for helping her. I'll bet it's the same girl."

He decided not to take Angeliotti into his confidence. For two hundred and fifty dollars, Angeliotti had agreed to abandon his interest in Nance Belden; whereas P. Flynn had scorned to quit. He would pick up the trail again alone, and when he had Nance Belden or Penelope Gatlin on his hook—well, she had to pay somebody to keep out of San Quentin, and that somebody should be P. Flynn.

He went to San Jose that day and interviewed the officials of the bank, who, when he flashed his shield, gave him all the information they possessed. Dan McNamara had artfully destroyed all the girl's police photographs, but if she had secured a passport, Flynn argued to himself, she had left two of her passport photographs with the passport office, and Flynn knew he could borrow one of them.

Flynn's shield was an open sesame to the man in charge of the passport office. Two minutes after his arrival he knew Nance Belden had secured a passport.

Employing identically the same means McNamara had employed, he traced Penelope Gatlin to Paris within three days. But he had now to prove that Penelope Gatlin and Nance Belden were one and the same person, so he interviewed the United States marshal, who secured for him one of the girl's passport photographs. Armed with this, Flynn crossed the bay to San Quentin.

"Is that Nance Belden?" he asked the matron.

"That is Nance Belden," was the reply.

From the ferry he went at once to the home of Mrs. Rudolph Merton. He stuck the photograph under her nose and asked gruffly: "Is that Penelope Gatlin?"

A tremor ran over Mrs. Merton's face. It seemed to Flynn that she was frightened, disturbed.

"Well?" he demanded. "You can't expect the police to find your missing daughter if you don't help. Is this her picture or isn't it?"

"I—I don't know. I have never heard of her before."

"Never heard of her? Why, she's your daughter!"

"I haven't any daughter."

"Why, you called on the captain of detectives and asked him to find your daughter. What do you mean by telling me you've never heard of her?"

"I can't remember. I don't know. Oh, please, please don't ask me! Something terrible will happen. I—I—"

"You refuse to identify this photo as that of Penelope Gatlin?" Flynn was growing irritated.

Finally she had hysterics and a maid came in and asked P. Flynn to leave the house.

Flynn was profoundly irritated. He knew Penelope Gatlin was at 27 Rue Instantly Something Clicked in His Brain and He Knew He Was on the Trail of Nance Belden Again.

St. Honoré, Paris, but he did not know that Nance Belden was! Back at central office, he compared the passport photograph with the substitute photograph Dan McNamara had pasted on Nance Belden's fake police record card—and knew it for a fake.

Suddenly it occurred to Flynn that he had had an official interview with everybody connected with this mysterious case, except Dr. Stephen Burt. "You're a long time getting around to see me, Sergeant," Stephen charged, and indicated a large, comfortable armchair.

"I called on you once, Doctor, but you didn't know it. That was the night after Nance Belden escaped from San Quentin. Me an' my partner trailed you to the chief's house."

"I've always thought you and the excellent Angeliotti didn't make the best of your opportunities," Stephen murmured. "Still, I suppose you were playing with dynamite."

"We were," said Flynn, "but no more. The chief's one of the biggest-hearted men in the world, but a picnic egg if you rub him the wrong way. So we pussy-footed."

"No fair man could deny the excellence of your pussy-footing. I know all about it. How about a wee Dock an' Doris?" Stephen suggested.

"There's an idea for you, Doctor."

Stephen summoned the butler and ordered the drink. Flynn, with great deliberation, produced Penelope's photograph.

"Do you know the lady?" he queried.

"I think I do, Sergeant."

"Who is she?"

"Is there any reason why I should express an opinion?"

"Not unless you choose to be good-natured. I suppose you know you're in Dutch for aiding and abetting an escaped convict."

"Well?"

"Naturally we don't want to make the going hard for a man of your standing," Flynn continued.

"My dear sergeant, you would have started the fireworks long ago if you had anything tangible to proceed upon."

Flynn sipped his highball. "You're being well paid for shielding this girl, of course. I don't blame you a bit, but—you're too big a figure in your profession to get into trouble with the police."

"Dan McNamara is my friend."

"Well, Mac is out of it. He can't protect you because he must protect himself. It might interest you to know that Nance Belden and a lost heiress, Penelope Gatlin, are the same person, and I have the Paris police watching her right now."

"Are you quite certain the girl is still at that Paris address?" asked Stephen.

"I know it."

"I know she isn't—and the Paris police do not know where she is."

"Do you?"

"No, but if I did I wouldn't tell you."

"Look here," said Flynn. "What's it worth to your young girl friend to have me lay off the case?"

"I'll give you twenty dollars in Confederate currency. You were offered real money once and refused it."

They looked at each other searchingly, then both laughed. "I see there ain't much use pumpin' you, Doc," Flynn admitted. "Well, a fellow can't be ruled off for trying."

"When were you to see a doctor last?"

"At the age of twenty-two. Why?"

"How old are you?"

"Forty-two."

"Well, just to prove I'm friendly I'll give you a quick physical examination. It may save you a fee later from some other physician. Mind if I give you a quick look-see?"

"Go to it," said Flynn.

Stephen tested Flynn's heart action and lungs and took his blood pressure.

"You're up thirty-six points," he told him.

Flynn was distinctly perturbed. "What does that mean?"

"It means that you have a fairly well developed case of hardening of the arteries. If you were to be re-examined physically, for promotion, you might be retired on pension."

"I couldn't afford that," cried Flynn. "I've got a wife and five children."

"Nevertheless, I would suggest you apply for a six months' leave of absence and have me treat you. How's your eyesight?"

"Grand," P. Flynn mumbled.

"I doubt it, Sergeant. I'll bet you a hundred dollars you cannot look into this little mirror fifteen minutes without averting your gaze. Want to earn the hundred?"

"I can't afford that much of a bet, Doc."

"Well, then, we'll not bet, but if you can I'll give you a hundred dollars."

Stephen produced a hand mirror and held it two feet in front of Flynn and about six inches above the level of his glance. He took out his watch.

"Go!" he said. "And remember I'm watching you. If you get through this test successfully there's hope for your arteriosclerosis."

P. Flynn grinned and gazed. In three minutes the effort oppressed him. Stephen's voice reached him as from a distance.

"You are going to sleep, Sergeant."

Then, "You can't stand it, Sergeant. You're going to sleep. I tell you to sleep."

"I'm not," Flynn protested drowsily, just as his eyes closed and his head fell forward on his breast.

Stephen's soft hands stroked the detective's brow. "Why did you call to see me?"

"To get you to identify the photograph," Flynn's voice was faint.

"Why was that necessary?"

Flynn hesitated, struggled a little, but lay back quietly again as Stephen's gentle hands resumed their light massaging. "Are you going to oppose me, Sergeant?"

"No, Doctor."

"Will you answer questions truthfully?"

"Yes, Doctor." The tones were dead and lifeless, for Flynn slept a hypnotic sleep.

"Why was it necessary that I should identify the photograph?"

"I've got to know before I act, Doctor. The matron at San Quentin says it's Nance Belden, but the photograph is on the passport of Penelope Gatlin."

"Why do you want this girl?"

"She's made a fool out of me—and she can pay well to be let alone."

"You're not interested in seeing her returned to prison?"

"Not a d—n bit, Doctor. Why should I?"

"That name, Penelope Gatlin, is bad luck," Stephen warned. "Never repeat it to a human soul. If you do it may mean your death. And your oldest child will be kidnapped, tortured and killed."

"Oh, God, no!" Flynn cried out in agony.

"You must forget Penelope Gatlin and Nance Belden. Will you?"

"Yes, Doctor."

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT'S smarter, if you please, for this spring, than a good looking black, navy or tweed suit or frock "set off" with fetching accessories to a nicely down to the slightest detail? We confess we do not know the answer, unless it would be "more accessories." However, this we do know, that fashion has gone so unmistakably accessory-conscious, this season, the very fate of your costume depends on the chic and the charm and the correctness of the accessory items worn with it.

Which leads us to predict that you will be tempted to spend as you have never spent before on the dainty lovely neck fixings which are simply lavished on the new spring frocks and suits. Neither will you be able to resist the appeal of the intriguing costume jewelry together with ingenious little gadgets of every description.

Speaking of accessory ensembles, a veritable chamolis spring fever has broken out both among fashion-alert Americans and chic Parisiennes. To demonstrate how utterly swank from headtop to fingertip yellow chamolis accessories on navy are proving to be, we are illustrating a stunning ensemble to the right in the group. The pert V-back beret and classic pull-over gloves are of this soft butter colored chamolis leather. The tailored scarf with hand-stitched chamolis is real news. The four-inch belt with circle buckle and the new flat bag with braided handle are also of the fashionable chamolis. Yes, we agree with you that these new chamolis sets are outstanding and greatly to be coveted by those who appreciate the air of distinction they impart.

The costume worn by the girl seated has about it that note of sophisticated simplicity which is high-style convincing.

CHIC SPRING FURS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Dainty furs and fur trimmings tuned to spring are conspicuously in the limelight at present. For sportswear or for early springtime this cunning snow-flecked weasel jacket is an excellent choice for a young woman of fashion. Shading from a yellowish beige to a soft brown it harmonizes with browns or the new pastels which are so popular this spring.

Tarquoise Jewelry

Tarquoise jewelry is enjoying quite a vogue at present. Long strands of small beads are worn, twisted several times around the neck or the arm, with one detachable clip to match holding the different strings in place.

Her navy novelty silk frock bespeaks discriminating taste. The wide patent leather belt is according to latest dictate of the mode. The jaunty hat is a smooth ballbunt for which Paris fashionables are expressing a decided preference this spring. The real sensation about this costume is the novel gold jewelry worn with it—looks as if it were a frilled collar and cuff set. It is, however, of gold metal which is light as a feather. It would be difficult to find anything in the way of a neckline and wrist adornment that will impart a finer finesse to a simple navy or black afternoon dress, than these very unusual jewelry sets.

Frilly, fluttery neckwear means everything to the new costumes. If your yearning leans to animated little lingerie pleatings and rufflings and frilled jabots and lace collars and cuffs which carry alluring feminine appeal now is the moment to see your fondest hopes realized, for fashion makes fanciful neckwear the center of attraction this season. The sheer white finely pleated jabot at the top to the left in the picture is typical of the new trend. The hat worn by this elegant star is excellent style since it is of quilted taffeta banded with shiny rough black straw. Milliners are making a feature of quilted fabrics for spring. Her little gailyak shoulder cape is also up-to-the-moment, for dainty fur separate pieces are very important in the current mode.

The lingerie blouse with a very frilly frill has come into its own this season. Note the attractive organdie and lace model to the left below in the picture. It has wee crocheted buttons—two dozen or more down the front. The nifty little pill-box turban is hand made of the new glass ribbon straw.

FEMININE CURVES COME INTO FAVOR

The perennial question of the great American figure is before us again, and this time the consensus is decided—we are to have feminine curves this year.

Not the Mae Westian curves of yesterday, nor yet the wasp waist of the Gibson girl, but a happy compromise—a return to natural contours.

Rosina McDowell Lynn, of the McDowell school of costume design says the new trend toward natural curves is all due to Mussolini and Hitler, and their policy of encouraging women to concentrate on the nursery.

She says the American figure follows the trend of the times, toward a more normal state of mind, and predicts that the spinach-and-grapefruit diets of the last few years are on the way out.

Flecked White Linens Are Popular for Spring Frocks

Heavy white linens splashed with multicolored flecks (achieved by sprinkling in small bright bits of cloth while the material is being woven) and cream linens embroidered in red and black figures are used for frocks. A new "blotting paper pink" flame and pastel tints are favorite colors for linen frocks this year; green, brown and gray are smart for suitings.

Linens corsets, lingerie, gloves, bags, hats and shoes are among the novelties launched this spring. Golf suits and tea gowns, evening frocks and flying suits, summer dresses and tennis shorts are also being fashioned in the new flax weaves.

Velvet Ensemble Favored
Velvet ensembles or velvet dresses with long narrow flaring capes of graceful line are being worn with matching gloves and hats in London.

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

This is another rug design that our readers will recognize as taken from the "Cubes and Stars" quilt design that is possibly a hundred years old. This rug measures thirty inches and requires about two pounds of material to crochet. It is made up of 12 diamonds and all stitched together to form a star or blocks, depending on the way the color scheme is worked out. It is always an interesting rug to study (count the cubes) and well adapted for a child's room.

This is one of the twenty beautiful crocheted rugs shown in colors with directions in rug book No. 24. If this rug interests you send 15c to our Rug Department and get the instructions for making this rug and nineteen others.

City Still Spanish

Most travelers who have visited both Spain and South America assert that Cartagena, in Colombia, is more Spanish in atmosphere than the cities of old Spain. The oldest living city of South America is as medieval as ever in its narrow cobbled streets winding about between old Moorish Spanish houses, in its sixteenth century monasteries, old dungeons and moats, and the same grim fortresses which were attacked by Drake and Morgan and the buccaneers of the Spanish main.

STOMACH TROUBLE?

Mrs. Cora E. Cain of 34 Spruce St., Akron, Ohio, said: "A little less than a year ago my daughter, Marie Aravan, (picture shown) was a physical wreck, due to stomach trouble. After giving her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I was able to find a change in her and she kept on improving. She surely is a different girl now, crying and smiling and doing well, and her teachers often remark about the difference in her school work." May also, tables 50 cts., liquid $1.00.

PAY TAXES NOW AND SAVE!

The Moore-Holbeck Law as amended removes all penalties and fees from taxes for 1932 and prior years until Sept. 1, 1935. There will be no extension from that date.

By waving the interest of  $\frac{3}{4}$  per cent per month and the 4 per cent collection fee, there will be a saving to taxpayers of:

26  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on 1932 Taxes

35  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on 1931 Taxes

44  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on 1930 Taxes

53  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on 1929 Taxes etc.

Taxes for the above years may be paid to the County Treas. or Auditor General. Ask your County
Treasurer about the 10 YEAR PLAN.

If you can pay only one-tenth of these back taxes it will keep your property from being sold in the tax sale of May, 1936.

TROOPS URGED TO MAKE THE SUMMER MONTHS COUNT

With plans already being made for a strong and active scouting program during the summer months, the Pinckney Scout Troop is being urged to take full advantage of all of the Scout opportunities during the summer months.

In a communication from Scout Executive Walter MacLeod all scouts and leaders are urged to take part in the regular camping programs on weekdays and in the weekend camps. It is also urged to plan special troop trips, camps and excursions.

"Camp Nowhere is one of your best opportunities," Mr. MacLeod points out, "and exists for the benefit of your troop. While it is not being conducted this year, an organization of equipment is available for your use in troop activities."

Scout troops are carrying on informal meetings during the summer months, including such features as bridge, whist and so forth.

Scout cheering at football games, training camps for scout leaders, monthly camps of honor, and other events are included on the schedule for the early fall.

Council leaders predict that this fall will see the organization of several new scout troops as well as cub packs and senior scout groups.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

It was stated in the last weekly bulletin from the Department of State that Thomas K. Johnson was appointed Superintendent of Public Education in 1919 by former Gov. Allen J. Groesbeck. This was not correct; Mr. Johnson was appointed by Gov. Albert E. Stepien. The Department of State regrets this unfortunate error.

Supreme Court of Banking

"Since the passage of the Federal Reserve Act over 20 years ago, opinion in Congress and among bankers has been striving towards the ideal of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it might be described as the Supreme Court of Finance and Banking. We believe there is greater need now than ever before for realizing this ideal."

R. S. HECHT

Mr. Hecht emphasized that it is "the genuine desire of the banking fraternity to be helpful and constructive in making suggestions in connection with this pending legislation. The changes we are urging are we believe essential to the continued independence of the Federal Reserve System."

"We have made it clear that we do not object to a measure of public control in the national interest for proper coordination of our manifold credit operations," he said, "and we do not believe the sponsors of the legislation desire any political domination over these activities through our Federal Reserve System."

"Under such circumstances we feel that our recommendations should be favorably acted upon because they would enable the reconstructed Federal Reserve Board to function freely as a nonpolitical body actuated only by the dictates of sound financial and economic policies conceived in the interest of all of our people."
