

Local School Project Is Given Approval

President Roosevelt Approves the $45,000 Project for an Addition to the Pinckney School. Big Mass Meeting Thursday Night

The following bulletin was sent out by the Associated Press from their Washington office Monday:

The Works Progress Administration in Washington today approved an allotment of $130,500 for construction of a four-story addition to the Ann Arbor high school. It announced also a grant of $45,450 to the board of education of Pinckney for a school addition.

The Ann Arbor News received this Monday noon, and called Pinckney for information about the project. Fred Read, local school board director, got a telegram Monday night, notifying him of the project's approval. In order to explain this to the voters, a meeting will be held in the community hall Thursday night.

When this project was drawn up there was considerable doubt that it would go through. About this time 39 other projects, mostly schools, had been turned down at Washington. Then also this district had no direct contact with Washington. Congressman Blackney of Flint had voted against the four billion dollar work appropriation and was one of the severest critics of President Roosevelt, consequently there was little likelihood of getting any assistance from him. Senator Vandenberg was in Europe and Senator Couzens in a hospital. As the state government was Republican there did not seem to be much chance of getting a direct contact with Washington. However, Mr. Read did not give up but made many trips to the office of Abner Larned and Mortimer Cooley in Detroit. These two men are handling the work projects for this state. Every argument conceivable was used. Several years ago the fire marshal office considered closing the Pinckney school. They were again seen and a statement obtained of the over crowding in the school and its inability to function properly on account of this. Two weeks ago Senator Copeland of New York, who had aided Dexter in getting their project approved, visited that place where he was born and raised. He was contacted and while he made no promises he gave every indication he would do what he could. The fact that the Pinckney project was one of the two school projects approved in Michigan would seem to bear out the fact that he was able to do something.

The project calls for the addition of four class rooms and a gymnasium to the present Pinckney school. They would be built on the north side. The part facing the home of P. H. Swarthout would be two story high and consists of four 22x30 class rooms. The present hall of the school would be extended the length of this structure, facing the west would be an 82x42 gymnasium and auditorium. There would be a basement under the classrooms but not under the auditorium. These plans are not definite yet as the state department of education wishes the building made from 8 to 10 feet wider. It is not known if this can be done and still stay within the appropriation.

This is a PWA project. The district must raise $25,000 and the government puts in $20,450. The district would raise this by a bond issue to run 22 years and pay off $1,000 a year plus interest. Just what this will be is not known. The government will take the bonds at 4 per cent but it may be possible to sell them at three per cent. They also demand that the school tax be raised from 3 to 4 mills higher in this district, for a five year period. This is to take care of interest etc. This will make a special election necessary in which both the bond issue and the increase in the school tax in this district must be voted upon.

The district is indebted to Fred Read for his work in this matter as he did most of the running around seeing different officials and did not let anything discourage him. Also it should be remembered that President Roosevelt's work program made it possible and the new unit should and probably will be a memento to him in Pinckney. It looks to the editor like the chance of a lifetime for the reason that sooner or later Pinckney must have improved school facilities and this is a chance to get them at greatly reduced cost.

Nellie Sly Loses Suits Fails to Collect

Mike Roche Wins Breach of Promise Suit Brought Against Him by Nellie Sly

The famous breach of promise suit of Nellie Sly vs. Michael Roche was put on last Thursday and Friday night at the Pinckney Community Hall under the auspices of the local Kings Daughters and was well attended the receipts being about $130. It was put on under the direction of Miss Merna Guelph of New York City. Judge Glenn Ireland of Howell acted as the judge, Miss Guelph as the attorney for the plaintiff and Hiram Smith of Howell represented Mr. Roche. The jury were Mrs. Claude Rose of Unadilla, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford VanHorn, Alfred Pfau and Lester Huff of Iosco, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Teeple of Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bullis, Mrs. Louis Clinton, Percy Ellis, John Dinkel, Fred Read, Mrs. Illah Reason, and John Martin, foreman.

Witnesses for the plaintiff were Mildred Jack, Mrs. Smollet, W. C. Miller, and Rev. Zuehl. For the defendant, Lee Lavey, Thomas Howlett, Ross Read, Wm. Lamb, and Reg. Shafer.

Thursday night the Delphine Singers of Howell favored with a number of selections. During the time the jury was out deliberating a number of specialties were put on. The Lost Chord Quartette composed of M. J. Hoisel, Walter Clark, W. C. Hendee and Roy Hannett rendered "Sweet Adeline." Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vedder put on a Hindoo Magic Act with the assistance of Irving Richardson, Wayne AtLee and W. H. Myers put on a black face skit and the police girls, consisting of June Lamb, Charlotte Harrell, Virginia Darrow, Jean Clinton, Margaret Curlet, Mary Noisel, Arlene Thorp, Julia Stackable gave a military drill.

The main specialty was the baby show with Claude Reason, Albert Dinkel, Geo. Meabon, Lawrence Camburn as the infants and P. H. Swarthout, Albert Daller, William Kennedy and Al. Pyper as the proud mothers. Albert Dinkel won the prize for drinking a bottle of milk first. It is whispered this contest was not entirely won on its merits as the bottles of the other contestants were liberally doped with vinegar, epsom salts and whatnot.

Nellie Sly was conspicuous by her absence during the trial but as the jury rendered their verdict she came pedaling up the aisle on a bicycle and yelled for Mikey who escaped through a rear door. Ross Read took this part the first night and Ford Lamb the second.

As an entertainment this was not what could be called a classic but like the "Womanless Wedding" it went over big due to the liberal use of local talent.

The prize given in the baby contest was a two weeks old pig. This animal proved to be a accomplished actor and amused itself by scratching its back on the judges desk while the baby contest was being held.

SCHOOL NOTES

This week Friday Pinckney will play Hartland at Pinckney. This team opened her season last Saturday by dropping a game to Fowlerville by a score of 13 to 0. According to observers they outgained Fowlerville all the way but unfortunately made two costly fumbles which resulted in Fowlerville touchdowns.

The Pinckney team has been shaken up a little and Nelson Shehan, Marchan LeLwidge and Tom Young have been working in the backfield in order to strengthen the offense. Other backfield men are Billie Myers, Bennie Van Blaricum and Stanley Smaka.

Pinckney has learned and practised a number of plays in the last two weeks and will undoubtedly make a better showing than in the Brighton contest. This contest was lost mostly because Pinckney had not had time to perfect any plays.

A practise game was played against the reserves last Friday night in which the first team scored some 30 or more points. The reserve team has a number of players who will be heard from later. Among this number is Floyd Haines, a freshman, who gives indications of becoming a good pass receiver.

Fowlerville high school seems to be headed for a good year. They beat Dansville in their opening game 19 to 0. Last week Dansville took stockbridge 24 to 0. Dick Howlett, brother of Coach Tommie Howlett of Pinckney plays on the Fowlerville team.

TO VOTE DISBANDING OF SCHOOL DISTRICT
Recently at a special election held in Unadilla township, a proposition to bond for a new school was defeated. A number of years ago Unadilla township voted to form a consolidated school district. However, they never built a school but operated a ten-grade school at Gregory and six or seven district schools.

Now a petition has been circulated and sufficient signers secured to vote on disbanning the present consolidated school district and going back to the old district school system.

Under the consolidated system one school board handles the school affairs for the entire township. If the disbanning proposition carries there will be seven school boards in place of the present one, Monday, October 31, the date set for the election.

Keeping Their Eye on the Ball

Pinckney Team Wins at South Lyon Sunday

Defeats That Team by a Score of 11 to 12. Cold Weather Causes Ragged Play

The Pinckney base ball team won from South Lyon at South Lyon Sunday by a score of 11 to 12. Dr. Howell pitched for Webberville in the Fowlerville tournament Sunday and Lefty Reason started in the box for Pinckney. Lefty had not pitched since last May and was unable to get anything on the ball. As a result South Lyon scored 8 runs the first inning on five hits and three bases on balls. Gyp Ferrell pitched from the second inning on. He was a puzzle to South Lyon only allowing a scattered hit. The three runs South Lyon scored, being the result of Pinckney errors.

Bishop started pitching for South Lyon and was no puzzle to Pinckney. They scored 7 runs in the first three innings and he was relieved by Don Searies, former Hamburg pitcher. Pinckney scored 5 runs on him, some of which were due to South Lyon misplays.

Lefty Reason failed to make another triple play but figured in a fast double play when he caught Kirkwoods drive at his shoetops in center field and then threw Don Searies out at the plate when the latter tried to score from third after the catch. Ferrell got 4 hits for Pinckney in five times up.

Don Searies played in hard luck. Besides being thrown out at the plate he came to bat in the last inning with two out and the tying South Lyon run on second base. Ferrell put on steam and struck him out. The game was called at the end of seven innings by agreement.

Autumn Wedding Takes Place Here Saturday

Miss Janet Feidler and Harold Tooman Are United In Marriage by Rev. Noble At The Home of Ross Read

A pretty home wedding took place Saturday afternoon, September 28th, at 4 o'clock when one of Pinckney's popular young ladies, Miss Janet Feidler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Feidler was married to Mr. Harold Tooman of Ipsanti at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Read of Pinckney. Dr. Homer Noble of Howell officiated before a bank of palms and autumn flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Ross Read, she was groomed in white lace and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The table cap held her long veil in place. Her sister, Miss Helen Feidler, of Howell, acting as maid of honor, wore a gown of pink tulle and carried pink chrysanthemums. The bride's going away gown was brown crepe, trimmed with brown fur.

Mr. Willis Tooman attended his brother as best man, while Russell and Howard Read, cousins of the bride and William Shanksland of Ann Arbor acted as witnesses. Miss Marion Lord of Ann Arbor played "O Rose, O Rose" and the "Lullaby" wedding march.

A four tiered bride's cake graced the center of the table in the dining room where unity refreshments were served following the ceremony. The bride is a graduate of high school and attended the Ipsanti Normal for four years. The groom also attended the same college and is now in the employ of the Ford Motor Co. in Ipsanti where the young couple will make their home after a short trip.

Among the out of town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider and daughter, Marilyn, of Sandown, Ontario; Mrs. Charles Smager and son, Stanley, of Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Gail Feidler of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Tooman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tooman, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tooman and daughter, Evelyn, all of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Homer Tooman of Howell.

DO YOUR STUDENTS

NEED FINANCIAL AID?

The National Youth Administration will spend about eleven million dollars to help high school students stay in school. Many students are in want of a little money for tuition, books, and other necessities. Are you in need of a drop out of school? As a student of this school, the Federal Government has made provision whereby student may receive an amount not to exceed $5.00 per month which is to be given to worthy students from relief families in exchange for an equivalent in service to be rendered.

In order that a High School may participate in the National Youth Administration Program by giving assistance to high school students, it is necessary that the Superintendent of Schools secure the high school quota figure. In co-operation with the County Emergency Relief Administration, Form N.Y.A.-1 should be filled out and returned to the State Director of Emergency Education, 601 City National Building, Lansing, Michigan, immediately upon receipt of this form the Lansing office will notify the school Superintendent of the number of students that may be assisted.

After the Superintendent of Schools receives his quota figure, he should allocate this figure to the various schools in his district. Principals should instruct students who are applying for aid to fill out Form N.Y.A.-2, and from these applications should select the individual students who are to be aided, placing their names on Form N.Y.A.-2, which should be made out in triplicate. After this Form has been signed by those designated, one copy is to be retained in the school office and the other two copies are to be sent to the County Relief Administrator. When the relief status is checked, the County Administrator retains one copy and returns the other to the school. The final list of those to be aided is to be sent by the school Superintendent to the State Director of Emergency Aid, 601 City National Building, Lansing, Michigan. We urge the school men of Michigan to take advantage of this offer. Prompt action is necessary.

Current Comment

It now looks as if the Sunday closing rule adopted at the conference recently called by Gov. Fitzgerald, would not go into effect. Gov. Fitzgerald has stated that he doubts if such a rule would be legal or within the power of the liquor commission. Mayor Frank Couzens of Detroit says he is against it and that it would be impossible of enforcement and would play directly into the hands of the blind pigs. The liquor dealers league of Michigan has forwarded a protest to Lansing declaring their intention to go into court to fight any such restriction. Included in the membership of this league is the Michigan Restauranters Inc., the Detroit Drug Association, the Royal Ark, the Detroit Retail Grocers Association, the Retail Beer Dealers Association, the Michigan Hotel Association and the United Restaurant Association. They are for reform when it means anything but are against trying to put any unenforceable law into effect.

A decision last week in the Genesee county circuit court seems to have cleared up a much disputed point. In the past there has been considerable argument between physicians and patients who have had x-ray pictures taken as to whom owns the plates. In Genesee county last week in the case of the J. A. Mercier Construction Co. of Detroit and Dr. McGarry, the court ruled the plates were the property of the doctor. One of the Mercier employees was injured last summer and Dr. McGarry attended him.

The Farmer Union annual convention held at Owosso last week covered a lot of ground. They endorsed Cong. Wm. Lemke of Dakota for president, thereby going skid-length for a third party. They also endorsed payment of the soldier's bonus, asked repeal of the sales tax, condemned the A.A.A., the sales of munitions to warring nations, the potato control act, the teaching of militarism in high schools, colleges, C.C.C. camps, and Boy Scout organizations. Rev. Fr. Coughlin failed to appear on the program, but Mrs. Zuk of Hamtramck, organizer of the recent strike in Detroit against the price of meat, was there and made a speech against the Roosevelt administration. The milk situation and the control of the Michigan Milk Producers Association at previous conventions, the main objective, seems to have been shelved. The old officers of the Union were all re-elected.

The University of Michigan closed four fraternity houses last week that failed to maintain satisfactory financial standards. The four houses are: Phi Alpha Delta, law fraternity; Phi Kappa, social fraternity; Psi Omega, dental fraternity, and Tau Delta Phi. 20 fraternity houses were investigated and all but these four showed satisfactory financial statements. The University has ruled that these fraternities can not have debts exceeding $200. There are seventy fraternities in Ann Arbor.

The Detroit News is trying to stir up sufficient feeling to force the Michigan State Conservation Commission to rescind its recent order throwing open 3,000 acres of state forest to commercial exploitation of its pine timber for wood pulp. Up-to-date the other papers of the state have ignored this matter. Pulp wood is used chiefly for making printing paper and other low grades. Any and all sized timber is used. The purpose of the commission in doing this is to see if the cutting can be done at a profit. We don't like this scheme at all, or any necessity for it. It looks altogether too much like the Lupton Dome idea.

SUGGESTS ISSUES
Frank E. Gannett, newspaper publisher, urged the Republican party today to name issues instead of adroitly picking compromising candidates in the 1936 presidential campaign as the means of restoring national well being with economic freedom.

In a telegram to Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee Gannett asked that the national executive committee and party leaders determine:

1.—How can the American economic system be made to function, within the Constitution, so private business can put 10,000,000 idle back to work?
2.—How can the income of agriculture be raised by Constitutional means, so that the wage of 10% million Americans gainfully employed in farming shall be more than $1.39 a day including AAA benefits, as in 1934?

The farm income figure allowed nothing, Gannett said, for the work of 22,000,000 farm women and children nor any return on a net farm investment of more than $50,000, 000,000.

Neither the Constitution nor any other American institution is safe, he said, until there is a solution of the two issues he drew.

MRS. ALICE QUINN
Mrs. Alice Quinn died at the home of her daughter in Detroit on Sept. 25th. She was formerly Alice Reilly of Dexter township and the widow of the late Hugh Quinn. Surviving are three sons and three daughters. The funeral was held Saturday from St. Brigid's church and burial was at Dexter.

DEXTER MAN COMMITS SUICIDE
Leonard Kaercher, 75, a farmer living a mile south of Dexter, committed suicide Friday by hanging himself in his barn. He leaves a wife.

Washington Digest

NATIONAL TOPICS INTERPRETED
By William Bruchart
NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has settled a controversy by the simple expedient of transferring two men from responsible positions in the Virgin Islands to jobs in Washington. He has taken Paul M. Pearson from the post of civil governor of the Virgin Islands and has made him assistant director of housing in the Interior department and has transferred Federal Director Judge T. Webster Wilson from his post in the islands to the federal parole board here in Washington. Each man has accepted his new appointment and in so far as a current controversy is concerned, the book is closed.

It will be recalled that Governor Pearson and Judge Wilson long have been at loggerheads over Virgin island affairs. The battle was bitter. It came to a head when Paul Yates, executive assistant to the governor and a former Washington correspondent, resigned his job and came back here with a bag full of charges against his former chief. The Yates allegations ranged all the way from minor charges of poor judgment to gross accusations. He succeeded in getting a senate committee investigation and it was at that time that the Pearson-Wilson feud flared so openly that administration officials here were dragged in and the whole scope of differences aired.

As a matter of fact there is every reason to believe that Governor Pearson was far from a successful executive in the islands. He frequently aroused the ire of natives and, according to testimony adduced by the senate investigation, had very little to show for the sums of money he expended in attempting to give the Virgin Islands a new lease on life. All of the information tends to establish that the islands continue to be "an effectual porchouse" just as President Hoover described them on the occasion of a visit during his term as Chief Executive.

But Governor Pearson had his supporters in the administration. Chief among these was Secretary Ickes whose department is responsible for administration of the islands. Just why Mr. Ickes has been so enthusiastic about Governor Pearson's regime is not fully disclosed in any evidence here except that the interior secretary has certain ideas about social reform that some unkind critics refer to as pure socialism which Governor Pearson has been attempting to impose upon the island inhabitants. Governor Pearson has expended vast sums of PWA funds in the islands in his efforts to carry out the Ickes program of reform. It seems, however, that the schemes were not as practical as they might have been and so trouble started in a rather extensive fashion.

The President stayed outside of the row until in the course of the senate inquiry Senator Tydings, a Maryland Democrat and usually an anti-Roosevelt Democrat, received a letter from Mr. Ickes. Mr. Ickes accused the investigating chairman with having whitewashed a witness whose testimony was all anti-Ickes and anti-Pearson. The senator flared up in a big way at that letter. His reply is likely to become a classic in official correspondence. He did not mince his words. After voicing his general conception of the attitude exhibited by Mr. Ickes and accusing him of attempting to interfere in the investigation, Senator Tydings informed the interior secretary that he may as well attempt to run the Department of the Interior and let the senators run the senate. He used just about those words.

That was the signal for Mr. Roosevelt to take a hand. It was easy to see that a few outbursts of that kind and Mr. Ickes might have found himself in a splendid position to resign from the cabinet. So the President got the feudists into his office, singly of course, and when those conferences were over the senate investigation into the Virgin island situation was suspended for two weeks. The transfer of Governor Pearson and Judge Wilson resulted.

One might properly inquire why all of this agitation has occurred about the Virgin Islands. They are many hundreds of miles from Washington. They lie in the Caribbean sea, considerably out of the usual pathway of ships; they are populated by about 22,000 individuals, 95 per cent of whom are negroes and may generally be described as a "backward" place.

They may have some military and naval value. That has never been fully demonstrated. But the fact remains they are possessions of the United States and if our government is to be their protector, it is responsible for a sane administration of their affairs.

The Washington fight may have had its start in the Virgin Islands, but it has progressed beyond that point and is a domestic battle now. It is safe to say that for 18 years, which is the time the islands have been under United States rule, there has been a dire need for a plan of government suited to those people. Each year congress has been appropriating thousands of dollars for the island government and each year there has been miserably little in the way of improvement to show for these funds.

Almost as frequently as congress has appropriated money it has made changes in the administration methods in use there. There has never been a long term program laid out and there has been nothing whatsoever done showing the sympathy of a so-called intellectual people as we claim to be for those downtrodden masses that populate the Virgin Islands.

All of this, it seems to me, shows the woeful need for careful consideration of that situation. It seems to me equally apparent that as long as congress keeps meddling in and as long as politicians from the mainland are sent there purely on a political basis we will continue to have a pack of trouble bundled up in those Virgin Islands.

Several attempts have been made to work out a governmental system worth while but the politicians are not among those who will let plums escape. It is certain, therefore, that the Pearson-Wilson-Ickes-Tydings battle royal is an outcropping of what amounts to a festering sore in American governmental policy.

If congress continues in session past August 15, and it is now apparent that it may run to September 1, it will have been in session 225 days, some two weeks longer than the average of the so-called long sessions of congress. Prior to adoption of the "lame duck" amendment which did away with sessions of unequal length, the shorter sessions of congress averaged about 170 days. The longer terms were around 215 days before final adjournment was taken. Thus, the current session stands in a fair way to be among the list of hardy sessions.

All of which is by way of saying that the current session of congress has worn down its members both physically and mentally to an extent quite unusual. I was talking a few days ago with a veteran senator, a man who has served almost 25 years in the upper house of congress. He is known as a physically strong individual and usually lasts very well through the work that piles up before senators and representatives. I inquired of him concerning the general health of congress and his reply was:

"I regret to say we are just a bunch of debilitated old men, incapable of doing the job that is expected of us and everyone is hoping against hope that we can live through this work and this heat."

As a result of that conversation the thought came to me that here was an answer to the oft repeated declaration that members of congress fail to earn their salaries of $10,000 per year. I have observed congressional proceedings almost a score of years and it is my mature conviction that few times in that period has congress failed to earn its salt.

There is another reason why congressional sessions should not run so long and should not be carried on in the intense heat of a Washington summer.

One condition nearly always has obtained near the close of a long session. As the days drag by, persons with axes to grind and individual interests to serve have a way of digging up questionable bills that theretofore had been side-tracked and assumed to be dead. With resistance low, the average senator or representative is unable to fight off legislation which he knows to be bad with the same spirit that accompanied his activities earlier in the session. Likewise, he is unable to battle as successfully as before for legislation which he knows to be good.

This condition opens the way for a revival of lobbyists. They are back in Washington in numbers now despite the disclosures being made by the two congressional committees that are investigating the lobbies that operated to defeat, temporarily at least, the legislation killing utility holding companies. One would have assumed justly with the investigations under way after the utility legislation was passed that lobbyists and self-serving representatives would have been frightened away from Washington. Such was not the case. They are here in such numbers that some observers believe Mr. Roosevelt has made a mistake in demanding that congress stay until it has enacted the share-the-wealth-tax bill and the legislation which will prohibit lawsuits against the government for damages resulting from abrogation of the promise in government bonds to pay them in gold. Mr. Roosevelt is insisting on these laws. He will get them. But in the opinion of many authorities he stands a fair chance also of getting some other legislation which he may not want.

Linen Suit a Midsummer Favorite

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE present vogue for linen is nothing short of sensational. Whether you go dishing, dancing, swimming, dishing, motoring, golfing or shopping, or play tennis, there's a linen for every occasion from rustic crashes and peasant weaves and colorful Tahitian prints to alluring novelties in stripes and plaids and in sheer lovely effects for high-style evening wear.

Midsummer days are proving that linen suits, especially in white and natural tones, are of first interest among best dressed women for about-town wear. A linen suit and a wardrobe of blouses and the problem of being smartly appareled during the daytime hours is solved not only for the immediate moment but for well on into the fall, since the very newest linens are in white shades, in Dubonnet red, in beetroot, purple and orange tones.

Just now, while the weather is warm, it's the white and natural linens that are lending their immaculate and well-groomed appearance to the summer scene. The trio of stunning suits pictured represent the very creme de la creme in linens as now featuring on the style program.

The young woman seated shows that she knows fashion in that with her suit of moggashel linen, in natural color, she is wearing a dark blouse, the same being brown with white polka dots. You are doing the right thing this season if to wear with your white and natural linens you choose dark accessories. The coat is single-breasted with buttons all the way up to the collarless neckline. A novel idea is introduced in the placement of deep large pockets above the belt line. Raglan sleeves add a final touch of smartness to this linen classic.

The other two suits are also of moggashel linen. It is rather interesting to know in this connection that King George sends the flax grown on his royal estate at Sandringham, England (supposed to be the finest flax in the world) to Moggashel, Ireland, there to be woven, because the workmanship is so fine—quite a royal pedigree for these linens.

The two-piece centered in the group has a tight-fitting basque coat with no belt to disturb the natural line. It is of white linen with navy buttons and tie. The double binding to the coat which gives a vestee effect is new and smart. The sports flap pockets are chic, too.

Handstitching around the notched collar and the pockets gives a distinctive touch to the white linen suit to the right. The stitching and the belt are in matched coloring. The coat is double-breasted, and a polka dot shirt is worn under it.

A very fashionable thing to do is wear a bright colored linen coat or jacket with your white, linen skirt. Lilac colored linens for these coats are the rage with beetroot or Dubonnet red close seconds.

Then, too, novelty linens with nubby surface or loose porous weave are in good style for suits and for coats. These heavier suits are mostly in oyster white. Very "lifty" ones are shadow-checked in gray and some stunning weaves are in herringbone patterning flecked with brown.

There are lovely embroidered linens shown for dressier wear and sheer striped linens are made up into fascinating evening gowns, as formally as if they were stately silks. With the new fall tweed suits designers are creating clever blouses of fine handkerchief linens in colorings related to the costume entire.

SMART BEACHWEAR

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

This beach ensemble is out of the ordinary. It is fashioned of purple fishnet lace over a linen foundation. Which again proves that lace goes everywhere this season. The ensemble consists of a pair of shorts and blouse with a wrap-around skirt. The large hat is of purple straw.

SHOE COMFORT IS MOST IMPORTANT

To be footloose and free during the season of pleasant week ends and after-dark breathing spaces, one must have foot comfort.

Cool shoes with flexible construction are a likely way of getting this comfort, with preference given lightweight numbers, and those that are ventilated by perforations, lattice and cut-outs.

Novelties in shoes are always at their peak in the summer season, and they are usually far more moderately priced than the novelties thought up for evening shoes to complement formal winter costumes.

Sandals of printed linen or crash, slippers covered with gay flowered chiffon, oxfords of splendid supporting strength, perforated into lacy prettiness, plain cotton or linen shoes of any color you can name, plaid linen in natural tones, checked gingham in kitchen apron designs, lightweight suede in any pastel hue or any flag hue and crocheted string shoes are just a few of the kinds you can choose from in the shops.

Oriental Influence Seen in Evening Clothes Styles

The Hindu influence, inspired by the Maharajah of India, has initiated a definite swing away from fitted, bias lines to softly draped designs in evening clothes. Allied influences, such as Persian, Arabian, and a new version of Grecian folds, contribute to the same effect. These flattering, age-old drapery details are difficult to make and hence are not easily copied, a point being stressed now in high style circles.

Allix, the Parisian couturiere, has turned out a thrilling array of Oriental formal gowns. Most of them are topped with seductive saris, those long, scarf-like affairs which start out by wrapping around the body and then proceed to cover the head in the manner of a monk's hood.

FASCINATING TALES OF LOST MINES
By Edith L. Watson

THE STORY OF LAS PLACITAS

THEY were sitting on their heels in the shade of a corral fence, these two southwesterners, one day in the spring of 1880. It was at a place not far from Santa Fe, that center of romance and excitement for the whole western country. As they talked about things old and new, never dreaming what madness was in store for them, old Jesse Martin came riding up, all steamed up over something.

"Look at this, boys," he said, fairly stuttering. "I've got the richest thing on top of this here earth."

"This" was a handful of ore—ore so rich that the two friends caught the contagion and grew as excited as Martin.

"Where'd you get it, Jess?" they asked, eagerly.

"I ain't a-goin' to tell you," was the answer. "Not now, boys, I ain't. I got a partner in Santa Fe, and I'm goin' to tell him first. Then when we git everything filed, I'll let you in on it."

All the pleading they could do would not move Martin from this decision. He rode off finally toward Santa Fe with his ore and his news, leaving them to wonder where in the world he had found such a bonanza. Had he run across the Adams diggings, or the Hatchet mine? Pshaw, those places were too far south for Martin to find. This must be something a lot nearer home.

Nearer home—why, perhaps they could ask some questions of the Mexicans and Indians thereabouts, and find out where old Martin had been. That was the idea! Hastily they caught up their horses, rode forth, and began to take up Martin's trail. Oh yes, said someone here and someone else there, the old man had passed this way, or he had ridden yonder. We saw him just a day or so ago. He was coming from thus-and-such a direction. So the pair rode in that direction. And sure enough, they finally came to a claim, all regularly staked. In the prospect hole was ore—ore like that he had showed them—very rich ore.

The two men were greatly pleased with their forethought in tracing down the location. With business-like promptness, they staked their claims alongside Martin's. From these new mines-in-the-making they gathered a few samples, and then they raced back to an assayer, wild with curiosity. How would the ore turn out?

The assayer grew excited with them. Hastily he prepared for the business of extracting gold, as they watched the process with eager eyes. At last—

In the bottom of the crucible lay a button of something. Now for the acid test—would it prove to be gold? With trembling hands the assayer poured in the acid—and the button did not cut! Eureka! They were worth fortunes!

They rushed back to their claims. The news had already spread, in that strange manner with which the word of new-found gold always has spread, and men were coming in to stake claims as near to theirs as possible.

Then came a crowd from Santa Fe. At its head were Jesse Martin and Governor Lew Wallace! So that was the partner! The news ran ahead of them—Jesse's samples had assayed $75 to $100 to the ton. Everyone laughed with glee—everyone cheered.

In three days Las Placitas accumulated a population of 10,000 souls. Everyone was gold-crazy—the golden phantom had led them to fortune and they had left their wits behind when they set out to follow her. And yet—

Some of the more sober souls began to quiet down. It was time to make more assays, to see just how far the gold spread out, to learn just how rich it would run.

The assays were made. They showed no value at all.

The shock was tremendous. Men refused at first to believe it. They argued angrily that there was some mistake. They knew that they had found gold. The assayer must be a fool, not to know his business. He could not find gold when it was right under his nose.

Then someone thought of looking for Jesse Martin. He had "the richest thing on top of this here earth," did he? Well, he'd better explain himself.

But Martin had vanished from sight—and with him disappeared about $4,000 in real money—money that he had obtained from Lew Wallace and other prominent men of Santa Fe. He had "lit out" for parts unknown as soon as the rush set in. He was too keen an old coddler to risk discovery and retribution.

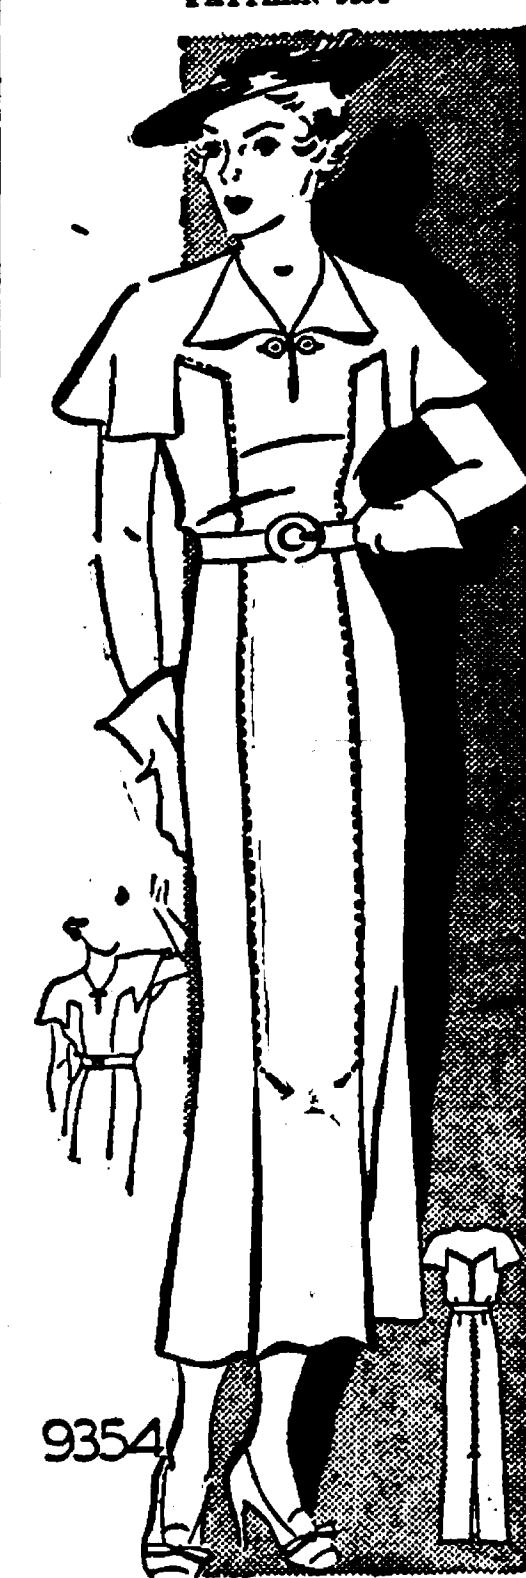

But the mine—that was still there, and the rich ore had most certainly come from his claim! So it had—but not originally. Martin had salted the hole with high-grade from another mine.

And the assay—that button of gold which the acid would not cut! It was merely a crystallization, and not gold at all.

Ten days later Las Placitas had again become a desolate spot in the hills. Only thousands of tin cans sparkled and glittered in the New Mexico sun—just as shining as had been the hopes of the ten thousand, just as worthless as the claims they staked.

WITH AN EYE TO COOL SIMPLICITY

PATTERN 9354

The smart girl has one eye on the budget and the other anticipating a rise in temperature—and makes a cool decision to include several summer sports in her wardrobe right now. It took a lot of ingenuity to design that clever yoke-cape-panel in one. It makes sewing so easy, and briefly, that cape is much cooler than a sleeve. Pattern 9354 sports an action pleat back and skirt just to help you "get places." If you find a simple flat neckline becoming, omit the dashing revers (but we like 'em). Very correct for spectator sports, office wear or week-end jaunts. Make it up in washable sport silk or shantung. Try a novel "cork" buckle and buttons.

Pattern 9354 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 4 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighth Street, New York.

The leaves of Turkish tobacco are strung one by one like beads (see how it is done in the picture). After the leaves are strung they are packed in bales (see picture) —sometimes as many as 80,000 leaves to the bale.

We have on hand at all times for CHESTERFIELD cigarettes upwards of 350,000 bales of Turkish tobacco...

The pleasing aroma and flavor of Turkish tobacco is almost necessary if you want a good cigarette.

Turkish tobacco is more costly when you take into account that you have to pay 35c a pound duty, but we have to have it to blend with our mild ripe home-grown tobaccos.

It helps make Chesterfields milder, it helps give them better taste. Just try them.

OPERATORS' LICENSES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Evidence that automobile operators of the state realize the necessity of carrying operators' licenses, is given by figures in the office of the Secretary of State. These show that operators' and chauffeurs' licenses issued for the first six months of 1935 totalled 523,531, as compared with a total of 279,519 for the same period of 1934. The number of drivers has not increased materially; the explanation lying in the fact that at times in the past there have been as many as 200,000 unlicensed operators on the highways. Little can come of the dollar charged by the state for each of the licenses is returned to the treasurer of the city, county or village in which the license is issued. These returns totalled $19,867.90 for the first half of 1934; $78,935.00 for the first half of 1935.

THOUSANDS WITHOUT THEIR AUTO TITLES

There are at the present time, and at nearly all times for that matter, some 4,000 car owners in Michigan who do not know where the titles to their cars are. Officials of the Department of State have the titles, but don't know where their owners are. The owners could not sell, trade in, or even give their cars away without these titles, at least not in Michigan. The "lost title file" gets an annual cleaning out when new weight tax license plates must be bought. Then come letters by the hundred, complaining that titles have never been received. The explanation for most "lost" titles lies in the owners moving to new addresses which can't be traced, or giving the wrong addresses in the beginning.

WATCH OUT FOR THE CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS

Many inquiries on the subject of commercial correspondence schools have been directed to the Department of Public Instruction in recent weeks. The period just prior to the opening of school is one in which agents of these schools press the promotion of their activities. While many of the correspondence schools are of a reputable character, examples of unethical promotion and corrupt practice in the solicitation of money and misrepresentation have come to the attention of the office. School superintendents are urged to caution their students and postgraduates to make careful inquiry as to the business character of any correspondence school before a business transaction is completed. The Detective Bureau of the Michigan State Police has issued warnings on the subject to sheriffs and other police officials. Reliable sources of information on correspondence school include, in addition to the State Department, the Extension Divisions of the several state institutions of higher learning and high-grade magazines interested in this subject. The United States Civil Service Bureau will answer inquiries on so-called "Civil Service Schools." Manchester Enterprise.

THATCHER-SAUR ACT

Many questions have been received relative to the use of Thatcher-Saur Act aid. To help clarify a few of the problems, the following section is taken from the Thatcher-Saur Act passed by the last session of the Legislature:

"No school district shall apply any of the money received by it under the terms of this act, nor shall any of such money be taken, for the purpose of repairing, painting or loading any site or site, or addition to any site, for schoolhouses, libraries, museums, agricultural farms, and the fields of playgrounds, purchasing, erecting, erecting, or building and equipping such buildings or any addition thereto, for school, library, or museum or for use in connection with agricultural farm, athletic fields and playgrounds; paying salary or compensation to any member or officer of the board of education or school board of said school district; or paying any principal or interest on any indebtedness of said school district. The superintendent of public instruction may withhold from any school district which violates the provisions of this section, the apportionment otherwise due such school district under this act for the fiscal year following the discovery by said superintendent of public instruction of such violation or violations by said school districts."

TOTAL THATCHER-SAUR ACT AID AVAILABLE TO SCHOOLS

The total amount of Thatcher-Saur Act aid available to school districts in 1935-36 as passed by the 1935 session of the Legislature is $36,040,000. The section in the Act with regard to this amount reads as follows: "There is hereby appropriated for the fiscal year ending June thirty, nineteen hundred thirty-four, and for the fiscal year ending June thirty, nineteen hundred thirty-five, from the special retail sales tax fund, not to exceed the sum of fifteen million dollars for aid in the support of the public school of this state. There is hereby appropriated for the fiscal year ending June thirty, nineteen hundred thirty-six the sum of thirty six million, forty thousand, dollars and for the fiscal year ending June thirty, nineteen hundred thirty-seven, the sum of thirty-seven million four hundred thousand dollars, and the sum of thirty-eight million dollars each year thereafter, less the amount of the primary school interest fund distribution for each year, respectively, from the general fund of the state for aid in the support of the public schools of the state."

ADVISED NOT TO PAY TUITION DEBT

Under the State School Aid Act of 1930, it will be better for rural school districts not to pay back high school tuition, and better for the creditor school districts to agree to cancel such debts on the ground that there is no financial gain in collecting, says R. Wayne Newton, tax counsel for the Michigan State Farm Bureau, and a member of the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board. The School Aid Act makes no specific authorization for such action. Mr. Newton estimates the rural districts owe about $200,000 in tuition debts.

According to Mr. Newton, the State School Aid Act provides that the State shall pay $65 a year for the tuition of pupils sent to other districts from non-high school districts. The $65 is paid, not to the district sending the pupil, but to the district in which the pupil attends high school.

However, the law also provides that in the determination of the share of the equalization fund to be received by the district, the amount of tuition it receives shall be deducted from the State aid. For example, rural school districts in Wayne County owe high school districts in the county $10,000, Mr. Newton said. If the rural districts pay, the State will deduct the $10,000 from the aid extended to the high school districts. What will become of the $10,000 saved, Mr. Newton is not prepared to say. It probably would swell the equalization fund to provide increased aid to other districts, not so much in need as the rural districts paying the tuition.

The problem first arose when the districts of Wayne County submitted their budgets to the County Equalization Board. Newton objected to the inclusion of the tuition items, but was overruled. This year they are included and will increase the total of tax to be spread by the district. If the payments are not made, however, the districts, most of them in dire financial straits, will have that much more money to finance the operations of the school year, Newton points out.

The rule does not apply to Detroit high schools, because they receive no part of the equalization fund, Newton says. Detroit high schools should collect the tuition due them. It does apply in many of the smaller districts, including Northville, Plymouth, Redford and others.

CO-OPERATIVE PROJECT

Women of Livingston county are going to be studying a co-operative project this year for their Home Economics Extension work. This project, which is being organized by Mr. S. B. Thomas, County Agricultural Agent of Livingston county, with the assistance of local leaders, will consist of five different meetings. Each of these five meetings, which will be under the direction of an extension specialist from M. S. C., will deal with a different phase of Home Economics. The first is on the subject of bringing clothes up-to-date. What to do when sleeves have worn at the turnstays; how to change neck lines and sleeves; how to adapt old garments to newer style trends are some of the clothing problems to be considered in this lesson. "Putting Fun in Family Living" is the title of the second discussion at which timely suggestions will be made for developing a good time with what one has. The third meeting will deal with the repair and reconstructing of upholstered furniture. Much old upholstered furniture can be made usable if the covering and padding are removed and the springs retied on a firm foundation of webbing. These processes will be discussed and demonstrated, and opportunity will be provided for actual working upon old furniture which will be brought to the meeting. "Making the Farm Feed the Family" will be the subject of the fourth meeting. A yearly food plan for every family will be discussed. How to produce the home food supply, storing and canning with suggestions for new uses of farm products in every day meals will be included as well as a demonstration on cheese making. The last of the series of meetings in on "Safety in the Home." The question of safety in the household depends very largely upon the knowledge of the housewife as to what may be done to eliminate the hazards and then putting this knowledge into effect in actual practice. These hazards and how to eliminate them will be discussed at this meeting.

Philathea Notes

There are at least two events which our Philathea ladies and other readers of these "Notes" will want to keep in mind. One is the annual supper given by the Ladies Aid for the football fans, which takes place on October 3, in our church parlors.

Then on October 9, our regular business and social meeting for October is scheduled to be held with Mrs. Hattie Swarthout, and the committee in charge anticipates a pleasurable afternoon, so come yourselves and remind your friends. If possible bring some extra pennies.

Watch the church news also for something especially good that is promised for our next "Church Night" on October 16th.

And of course no Philathea will willingly miss the Annual Church Meeting of the Congregational Community Church on next Monday evening, October 7. All church members and friends should be present at this important yearly meeting.

Last but not least please remember our splendid Philathea class lesson study on next Lord's Day, New Quarterlies, with the study of Isaiah's prophecy of the suffering Savior.

TWO QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Why is it that one farmer raises 100 bushels of corn to the acre, and the other one, on the other side of the fence, raises 25 bushels to the acre? Why is it that one farmer produces 100 pounds of pork on five bushels of corn, and another uses 25 bushels? Not until power machinery, scientific principles of soil fertilization and reclamation, rotation of crops, diversification of crops and economical feeding are applied to the farm, will the farmers' problem be solved, says a farm authority.

USE A TRIAL Electric RANGE

TO BAKE THIS TEMPTING ANGEL FOOD CAKE IN YOUR OWN KITCHEN!

In Angel Food Cake, especially, the vital point — to achieve desired results — is PROPER BAKING. The cake shown above . . . temptingly light and fine-textured . . . is an excellent example of what can be done in an electric oven. Fluffy tenderness and fine texture are combined in this most difficult of all cakes. And whether you bake one cake or a dozen, an electric oven assures uniformly successful results time after time. No longer is cake-making a hit-or-miss proposition: Electric baking ends guesswork. You simply set the dial for the proper temperature, and the electric oven does the rest. ★ We want you to try electric baking in your own kitchen by means of our Trial Plan. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, so that you may give it a thorough trial. During this trial period you simply pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. Send in your application for a trial range today!

Why We Are Getting New Depositors

A bank never knows exactly why this is because people don't always mention why they chose this or that place to put their money. But our growth in new depositors is due very largely, we believe, to the faith people have in our helpful banking policies and to the suggestion of friends of the bank.

We were not aware that a township highway commissioner drew any salary if he had nothing to do, or any other township officer, for that matter. WOMEN AND ROBBERS

HATE FINGERPRINTS

House wives are almost as particular as bank robbers about finger prints on woodwork and furniture, according to home management specialists at Michigan State College.

The homemakers have one advantage over the stickup artist as they can treat woodwork in their homes so that it does not retain the objectionable prints. Woodwork washed with a solution of one-fourth cup of powdered glue in three cups of water will have a high gloss and is not easily marked by children's fingers.

The solution is prepared by heating the glue until it melts and then adding it to three cups of water. To use, on cup of the solution is added to one quart of warm water. The woodwork or furniture is washed with this and is not rinsed. When the alkaline and rubber gloves may be woodwork becomes dirty wash it with another application of the glue solution. Glue does not keep indefinitely in warm weather.

A cleaning solution which may be used on painted or enameled walls, varnished or enameled woodwork, or furniture can be made by mixing one cup sal soda, one cup ammonia, and one cup of vinegar with one gallon of water. This solution will remove oil or grease stains. It is an effective cleanser but must be used carefully to avoid damaging the surfaces which are being cleaned.

Small amounts of the surface of walls or woodwork should be cleaned with it at one time and then this surface should be rinsed immediately with clear water. Do not permit the solution to remain on the surface for more than a few minutes. The cleaner is quite strongly alkaline and rubber gloves may be worn to protect the hands while using it.

A homemade wall paper cleaner can be made from two cups sifted flour, one cup warm water, two tablespoonfuls of kerosene, four tablespoonfuls of ammonia, and two teaspoonfuls of salt. The mixture should be cooked as long as it can be stirred, then cooled and worked into balls. The amounts given will make enough cleaner for a small room. Do not use the cleaner after it has become badly soiled.

The Beautiful Mosaic

SLOWLY and painstakingly the old Florentine mosaic maker placed the tiny pieces of glass in the hollow in the black marble. Before him was a picture of a great cathedral; and it was this picture which he was reproducing. Oblivious to all about him, the artist studied the details of his model. Now and then he surveyed the pieces of colored glass upon his table. Then, carefully selecting by color and texture, piece by piece, he fashioned and fitted the materials into place. Some of the pieces were so small that they were hair-like in size and delicacy. It was observed that he spent a great deal of time studying his model.

An interested watcher during one afternoon was told that it would require many months to complete the small piece of mosaic which was then being made, and another completed piece of work was displayed. The work was so well done that even with a strong magnifying glass it was almost impossible to see where the tiny bits were joined together. Into one harmonious whole the colors, the lights and shades, were blended, and the picture of a beautiful cathedral had been reproduced in glass.

The thinker with and herein a very inspiring and valuable lesson. It may be said that we are all fashioning our lives and experiences into some sort of a mosaic, and that each one is copying a model of his own choosing. No longer need thinkers believe that anyone is a helpless victim of circumstances. Instead, many are proving daily that human experiences may be made more beautiful and harmonious, and more free from discord, by diligent effort along right lines.

Christ Jesus gave all mankind the model by which to be guided in daily experience when he said, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" (Matthew 5:48). The perfection of the Father in heaven is never disputed, and through one's application to the study of the nature of this perfect Father one may learn to think more truly and to realize a greater sense of peace and harmony. The teachings of Christian Science insist upon perfection as the goal of all endeavor. Mary Baker Eddy writes in the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 259), "The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and Idea, —perfect God and perfect man,—as the basis of thought and demonstra-

The case of Lambrecht, Kelly vs. Chris Raber was settled out of court.

All of Thursday was occupied in the suit of the House School vs. the township clerks of Putnam and Hamburg townships. This case had its inception seven years ago. R. K. Elliott, living in the House district asked to be transferred over to the Hicks district on the grounds that the latter school was closer to his farm and the roads to it were better, making it easier for his daughter to attend. At a meeting held at the time which was attended by the Putnam and Hamburg township boards and the school board of the House district, his request was turned down when the House district protested against it. The Putnam township board then was A. M. Roche, supervisor, M. E. Darrow, clerk; R. G. Webb and Michael Lavey, justices. Hamburg township board was Paul McClean, supervisor, Wray Hinckley, clerk. Clyde Dunning, justice. House school board, Orville Smith, John Chambers, W. H. Euler and Lynn Honick.

Shortly after this another meeting of the two township boards was called and the petition of Mr. Elliott was granted by a 6 to 2 vote. At this meeting the House school was not represented. A question of the legality of this transfer was raised. No notices were posted and the voting on the proposition was done by secret ballot. Hiram Smith represented the House district and Martin Lavan acted for Mr. Elliott. Witnesses were Mr. Euler, Mrs. Lulu Darrow, Mr. Featherly, Michael Lavey, M. E. Darrow, A. M. Roche, Wray Hinckley and Clyde Dunning. The entire matter appears to hinge on whether the meeting of the town boards at which the transfer was made was legal. Judge Collins stated that there were a number of decisions on similar cases and took the case under advisement and will render his decision in ten days.

Shortly after Mr. Elliott's transfer was granted he moved to Ohio. On his return here three years ago, he refused to pay his taxes when he found the transfer, had not been made on the grounds he was not assessed in the right school district.

CONTROL OF CREDIT A BASIC QUESTION

Economist Describes Conflict Between Opposing Social View-points on Government Bank.

As a phase of the conflict between our present "personal competitive enterprise system" in America and the "compulsory state collective security system" of several European States, Virgil Jordan, President National Industrial Conference Board, says in an article in a recent issue of "Banking" published by the American Bankers Association.

"They involve irreconcilable principles of human conduct and philosophy of life and the conflict between them is the key to the economic, social and political struggles of today," Mr. Jordan says.

The enterprise system of which "the development of the United States has been the unparalleled example, depends for its motive power of progress upon the inexhaustible reservoir of energy in individual desire for personal advancement in prosperity, but it guarantees nothing to the individual save freedom of opportunity," the article says in part.

The collectivist security system, he says, "places all emphasis upon the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for the mass without regard to the creative power of the individual, quite simply the security system involves the modern form of the philosophy of the slave society." He continues:

A Sign of the Times
"The many-sided movement toward governmental banking, deposit insurance and currency management is the most direct and decisive expression of the universal instinctive search for security which is the sign of the times. In America our so-called social security legislation is an important indication of the drift away from the enterprise system toward a collectivist security system with concentration of authority in a central Federal government."

"The nationalization of credit is crucial and indispensable for complete state control of the complex industrial and business structure of this country. The drive toward government banking and monetary control is most determined because the relation of the state to credit goes to the root of the enterprise system. A collectivist security system is inconceivable without nationalization of credit. An enterprise system is inconceivable with it."

Under a collective security system, based on government banking the controls "lie solely in the hands of a few persons and depend upon their judgment, will or caprice," Mr. Jordan says, adding that it is they who must determine "upon the basis of some predetermined plan or upon pure political expediency of the moment, what lines of industry and even what individual enterprises shall have access to the credit reservoir." The state, he says, has the power of life and death over all enterprise that utilizes credit.

"Every government is an organ of party power and must respond to the will of the party that put it in power," the Jordan article says. "Under an unchecked government operation it is an inescapable tendency of every currency to depreciate and for credit to expand. However much it may be in the interest of the nation, deflation is too dangerous politically for any government to undertake it deliberately."

"In the end government banking and currency management resolve themselves simply into the use of credit as a political instrument of power, and this instrument tends to be used in the long run for expropriation of the savings of the community."

THE FARM BUDGET

By DAN H. OTIS,
Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

Inventories aid in the formation of a farm budget. Some banks, as well as the Farm Credit Administration, recommend outlining in advance the method of using production loans. Under this plan provision is made for monthly expenditures and funds are granted to the borrower in accordance with the budget plan. The budget helps to show how loans can be repaid.

With the accumulated data from previous inventories and budgets, budget making becomes easier and more accurate and valuable. As one branch of the farming plant requires more expenditure, such as for new machinery, fencing, livestock, etc., it may be necessary to limit other branches in order to meet these pressing requirements.

The budget helps to formulate a financial program. It is of special importance in arranging to meet special or large expenditures. If the income and expenditures are carefully budgeted it prevents the spending of money needed for interest and taxes before the time of their payment arrives. It helps to provide a reserve.

The Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association feels that this type of work is so important that special emphasis has been placed upon the field of farm inventories, budgets and credit statements as one of its national programs for farm aid.

BANKS PLAN ADVERTISING

Substantial funds have been set aside from reserves of the American Bankers Association to finance the development by its Advertising Department of a service of informative newspaper advertisements setting forth in brief, popular language the methods and policies under which banks operate, their effective practices for protecting their depositors' funds, the services they render and the various ways in which they cooperate with business in their own communities in fostering sound recovery and progress.

Some 350 banks are now using this material and it is available at a moderate price for all of the members in the association who care to use it in bringing about better public understanding in their own communities regarding banking and its services. It has materially stimulated the use of newspaper advertising among banks.

Many favorable comments have been expressed regarding the informative and constructive character of its messages. It is issued in two sizes: the larger size is 3 columns wide by 10 inches deep, but in some instances subscribing banks have expanded this to occupy full pages in their local papers in order to obtain a more emphatic effect. Four pieces of advertising copy are furnished each month in this service.
