

Pinckney Man Is Honored

Ford R. Lamb Is Elected President of the American Society of Tool Engineers.

At the recent convention of the American Society of Tool Engineers, Ford R. Lamb of Pinckney was elected president. The Tool Engineer, organ of that organization, has the following to say about him:

"Ford R. Lamb, president of the American Society of Tool Engineers has served the society so faithfully and in so many ways since its organization that an introduction is superfluous."

Mr. Lamb is a prominent tool engineer, better known perhaps, in the automotive industry than in other fields. With the Studebaker corporation he was in charge of mathematical instruction of apprentices; also acted as assistant to the production manager. He is an inventor, a specialist in threading and stud setting methods, and widely experienced in production tool making and design, as well as production engineering, has a background which gives him a broad understanding of the problems confronting the membership of the society.

At this time he is sales engineer for the Consolidated Machine Tool Corporation at its Detroit division. At the organization of the First Student Chapter of the American Society of Tool Engineers at the Detroit College of Applied Science, James Lamb, son of Ford Lamb, was elected secretary. This organization consists of fifty students but the number will reach 100 before the end of the month. James graduated from Pinckney high school in 1935. The initiation ceremonies for the society were held at the Fort Wayne Hotel.

P. W. A. SCHOOL PROJECTS

The Works Progress Administration is constructing 25 new school buildings and improving 119 existing institutions in Michigan under the present $2,000,000 WPA school extension program, State Administrator Harry L. Pierson has reported.

New building and repair projects fall in the following classifications:

No. of Projects	Expend.
Grade School	12 $227,840
Secondary Schools	9 126,856
Colleges & Univ.	1 24,624
Other Educ. Bldgs.	2 30,674
Laboratories	1 131,208
Total	25 $540,362

No. of Projects	Expend.
Grade School	75 $746,643
Secondary Schools	14 109,914
Colleges & Univ.	7 67,580
Other Educ. Bldgs.	15 457,687
Laboratories	2 26,806
Special Schools	1 11,979
Libraries	5 36,033
Total	119 $1,456,575

The Federal Government is investing $1,532,125 in the school extension program.

Listed among these projects is the construction of a laboratory at the State Biological Farm, near Lansing, sponsored by the State Department of Health. The new laboratory will measurably increase the Department's facilities for preparation of serums, which are distributed throughout the State, and for the analysis of specimens sent in for diagnosis by physicians and health officers.

The project listed under "special school" involves extensive improvements and alterations at the Michigan School for the Blind, also located near Lansing.

WPA work on the school program is underway in each of the Michigan WPA districts, Pierson said. School projects in the various districts are as follows:

District	One, Cheboygan, seven;
District Two, Clare, 12;	District Four, De-
District Three, Flint, 12;	District Five, Lansing, 25;
District Six, Iron Mountain, 21;	District Seven, Grand Rapids, 30;
District Eight, Kalamazoo, 23.

Pinckney Wins Second Contest

Goes Into Tie with Hamburg for First Place by Shutting Out Saline
11-0. Meets Hamburg Here Sun.

The Pinckney Tri-County League team continued their good work and took Saline into camp Sunday by a score of 11 to 0. Harlow Haines only allowed four hits and only six Saline players reached first base.

Hoelt, the Saline pitcher, started out by fanning B. Dilloway, Shiek, and Culver. He also set Pinckney down the next inning. In the third they got to him. Ferrell singled, Shiek walked, Culver was safe on an error. Searles tripled over center field and three runs scored. They got three more in the fourth when the Saline infield made 3 misplays, and B. Dilloway got a hit. In the sixth Haines led off with a hit. Stanley Dinkel batted for Reason and doubled to right field. Ferrell was safe on an error and Culver and Searles both singled. Pinckney got two more runs in the eighth and ninth, mostly on Saline's error.

Next Sunday Hamburg plays here. This team is tied with Pinckney for the league lead, having beaten Grass Lake 6 to 5 Sunday. At the present rate of hitting Pinckney should win Sunday. However, Hamburg is a hard team to beat and this game will be a hard one. A record crowd is looked for and you should see that you are present yourself. The boys are playing for nothing and it is up to the baseball enthusiasts that they be supported. Remember the crowd the Pinckney-Hamburg battles used to draw, back in the day of Jimmie Moran, Lulu L. E. Claude Kennedy, Dallas Cox, Ed. Brown, J. P. Doyle, Don Swarthout, Ike Lewis and others.

Let's see them repeated. Of the present Pinckney lineup, Lefty Reason is the only one who played in those games. The game will start at 3:00 p. m. Let's go!

Three-base hit, Searles. Two-base hit, Dinkel. Struck out by Haines, 7; Hoelt, 6. Bases on balls, off Haines, 1; Hoelt, 1. Left on bases, Pinckney 8; Saline, 6. Outfielders, Armbruster and Conk.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Pinckney seems ready to go places this year. They have got more pep than they have shown in the last six years. They hold the run-scoring record for the league with 14 runs scored. Hamburg is next with 12. Clarence Culver, Stanley Dinkel and Bud Dilloway broke into the lineup Sunday. All gave good accounts of themselves.

The first time up Dinkel lined one over the right fielder's head. He jogged down to second on it. Two flies came out to left and he managed to get both of them.

Lefty Reason pulled a wierd catch in the third inning. McHenry hit one to left. The high wind blew it back and held it up. Lefty ran at it, miffed and finally made a shoe-string catch back of second base.

Up-to-date Don Searles has had a cinch job in center field as Lefty Reason persists in coming over and catching all flies hit there.

Gyp Ferrell cracked out three hits and also caught a bang-up game. He improves with age.

Pinckney only has 18 men so far. According to league rules they are allowed 15.

Jimmie Lamb failed to show up and Bud Dilloway and Grant Ward handled second base.

Saline had a good attendance out. The game would have been much closer except for loose work by their infield.

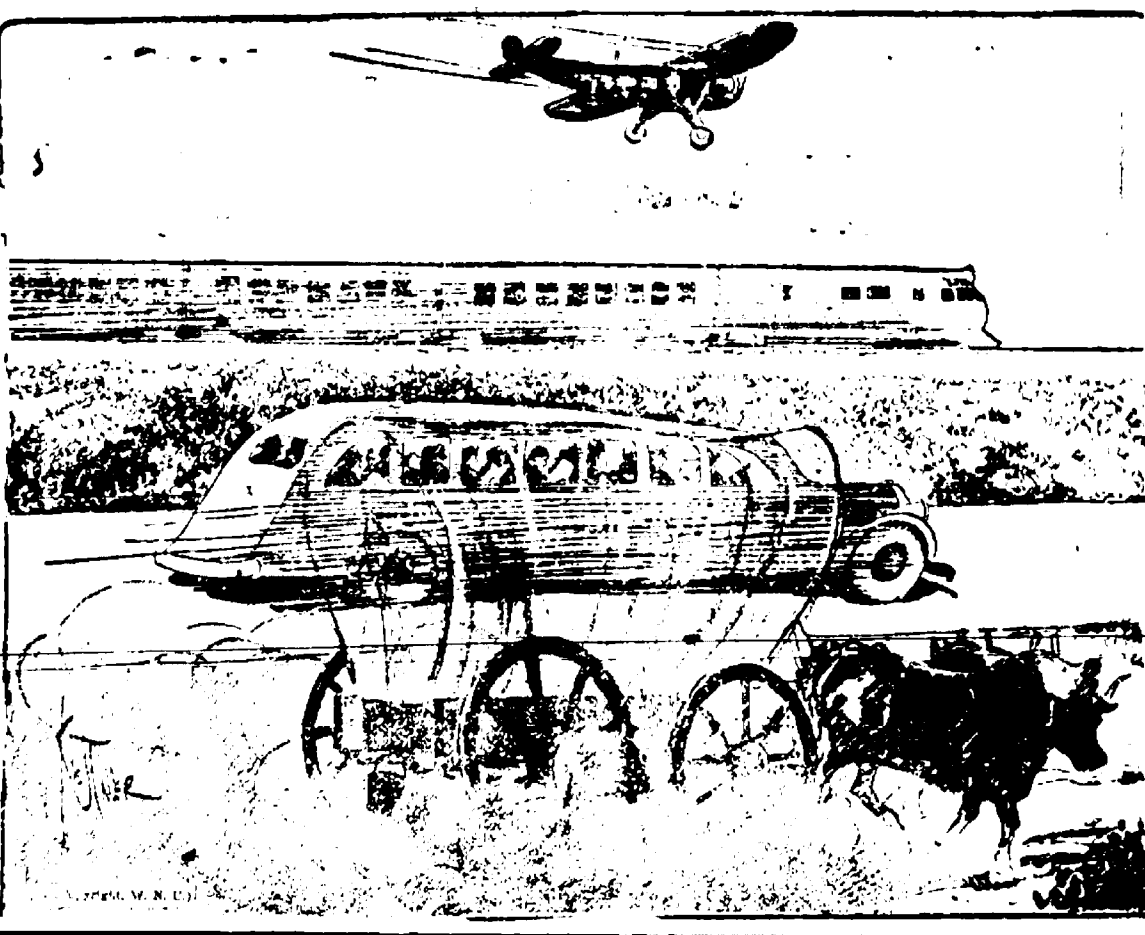

Comparative scores don't mean much. If they did Pinckney should have the edge on Hamburg. Pinckney beat Manchester 3 to 1. Manchester beat Ann Arbor 5 to 1. On Pinckney beat Saline 11 to 0. On the other hand, Hamburg beat Ann Arbor 6 to 5. Saline beat Grass Lake 4 to 1, but Hamburg only beat Grass Lake 6 to 5.

Harlow Haines has turned in two good contests this year. He has good control and the boys have given him fine support.

CHILD DROWNS IN CISTERN

June, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Beck of Howell, was drowned in a cistern while playing in her parents' yard Monday. The body was found in six feet of water.

"Forest Court" at Community Hall

Pinckney Grade Classes to Present
Operetta at Community Hall on Friday Night.

"The Forest Court" will be presented at the Pinckney community hall on Friday evening, May 22, under the direction of Mrs. Iva Meyers, musical instructor. The cast will be taken from the grade classes. The chorus is made up of members of the 6th and 7th grades.

The story of the operetta is as follows:

Tommie and his friends are on a picnic, playing games in the woods. Tommie, all boy, like thousands of Tommies, muddles the stream, switches off power tops, pulls up young trees and breaks off branches. Some one proposes to climb a hill. Tommie remains and falls asleep. Fairies, mischievously plot to teach him a lesson by casting a spell and showing him what harm thoughtless pranks cause forest folk. Tommie is tried in the forest court with Judge Owl presiding. He is about to be sentenced when the rabbit and the tortoise brings word of a peace good deed Tommie had done in saving a butterfly caught in a spider web. The butterfly proves to be the fairy queen, freed from the net of an enchantment. Tommie is pardoned and the forest folk hold revels and rejoice over their new friend, Tommie.

The following are some of the cast:

Fairy Queen..... Rieta Kennedy
Tommie..... Herbert Palmer Jr.
Butterfly..... Gloria Kratt
Judge Owl..... Garth Meyer
Tortoise..... Gerald Darrow
Rabbit..... Ross Lamb
Cricket..... Jacki Hain
Spirit of the Stream..... Jean Clark
Assistants..... Jeanette Haines, Muriel Read

Leaves..... Arnon Shirey, Maynard Clark, L. D. Haines, Chas. Darrow, Don Amburgey.
In addition there will be fairies, choruses, etc.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Pinckney Dispatch:
Will you please allow me to make protest against the accepted truth about the honest name of the locality where I grew up, "Reeves Mills."

Now, it seems to be taken for the truth that the place was always known as "Hell."

You know the proper name of any place is the name that it given to it by its own people, and certainly no one anywhere would give such a name to their own town.

And yet this absurdity persists and seems to grow into a reality.

Certainly no one, among all your readers, can be pleased with this publicity, and it would be pleasing to me to hear of a really true account of how this story gained credence at the beginning.

Dexter, May 18, 1936.

Yours truly,
M. T. Kelly

Mr. Kelly accompanied Mr. Brown of Battle Creek to Hi-Land Lake or "Hell" last week and helped him to select a 35 pound stone to be placed in the historical tower at Battle Creek. This will be built of stone selected from historical places.

Just how the mists of antiquity. The legend is, that as the mason was putting the finishing touches on the chimney of the first mill, he asked chimney-reeves what he was going to call the place. He answered:

"I don't care, call it 'Hell' if you want to."

This name was used as a term of derision by non-residents of the place. People residing at or near the mill called it "Reeves" or "Reeves Mills."

CHARGED WITH NEGLIGENT HOMICIDE

Frazier Wallenmire, 18, of Fowlerville, driver of the car in which Hilda Sharp was killed near Northville on May 10, has been arrested on a warrant charging negligent homicide by order of the Oakland county prosecutor, and is held on $2,000 bail.

Spend Your Vacation In Michigan

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. To Urge Vacationing in Michigan in Series of Advertisements.

The advertisements of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company this year will appear in more than 50 daily papers and approximately 200 weekly newspapers, covering practically the entire state. It is the company's intent, as in the past, to point out to the many thousands of Michigan people who now are planning their summer outings, that there is no more favored place than our own state for spending one's vacation, with its infinite variety of both natural and man-made recreational facilities: its vast extent of shoreline along the Great Lakes; its thousands of lakes and rivers; its hills, valleys, forests, splendid highways, modern towns and cities, its champions in various sports, its splendid agricultural districts, and its evenly tempered climate.

As Michigan prospers, so prosper the Michigan Bell company and all other Michigan businesses and people. There will be more Michigan-made cars sold, more agricultural products consumed, more newspaper advertising, more work provided in stores, hotels, restaurants, offices, and plants, and on our trains, buses, and more telephones will be installed and more telephone calls will be made, if more vacation money is spent in Michigan.

While such an effort is and must be sound commercially, this is not merely a selfish idea, on the part of the Michigan Bell company, for it certainly is true that those visitors who come to Michigan and those Michigan people who spend their own vacations here will benefit thereby will have as good or better vacations than as if they went elsewhere. There are a very great many persons in Michigan, also, who know too little of their own state, its resources, its industries, its people, its cities, its countryside, and its historical points; it is not too much to say that they will be better citizens of Michigan if they know it better. The newspapers of Michigan have done a splendid work in publicizing Michigan and their own communities to their readers, and the Michigan Bell Telephone company is glad to lend a hand in that task.

There will be something of a departure from other years in the Michigan Bell's "Vacation in Michigan" advertisements for 1936. Believing that the metropolitan centers, with their great industries and buildings, and the State University and the State Capitol, have a definite appeal to persons all over Michigan, and that perhaps the lakes, rivers, dunes, forests and countryside appeal more to city people than to those who find such scenes at their front doors, the company plans to publish a double series of "Vacation in Michigan" advertisements, devoting a series to each type of appeal, one statewide and the other in some of the larger city papers.

BUSINESS CHANGES TO TAKE PLACE

A number of business changes are scheduled to take place here shortly. Floyd Weeks has sold his drug store to Mr. Tyler of Mancelona, who is expected to take charge about June 1. He was formerly employed in the Wines drug store at Howell, but has operated one at Mancelona for some time.

C. H. Kennedy has leased the Masonic store building next to Reason and Sons and will open up a drug store there within ten days, with Vern Cory as manager. Mr. Cory has managed the Weeks store since last fall. In addition, Mr. Kennedy plans to enlarge the drug stock and will sell wall paper, toys, and a line of 5c and 10c articles.

The lease on this store was previously taken by Mr. Weeks for five years on a 30 days option. However, he has since sold the store and the present owner does not desire to change the location. We understand the Masonic building will be entirely remodeled and redeccorated.

GETS STONE HERE FOR HISTORICAL MONUMENT

James H. Brown, editor and historian of Battle Creek, and Michigan Historical Commission, is investigating the location of Hell. He will dedicate a stone at the original site to be erected in the United States History Stone Tower, in the Civic Center of Battle Creek. About 300 historic sites in the state will have stones dedicated and erected in the tower. The tower is ten feet square at the base and will be 20 ft. high. Over 200 stones from historic sites between Plymouth Rock and the Golden Gate will project from the four wall faces of the tower.

Mr. Brown is accompanied by F. B. Martin of the Postum Company, Adm. Frank B. Garratt, a prominent Granger and Farm Bureau official. Dexter Leader.

Current Comment

For some time there has been considerable agitation to manufacture alcohol to burn in autos instead of gasoline. It is contended that the surplus grain could be used for this purpose, thus increasing employment and keeping up the price of grain. In some sections of the Philippines alcohol is used exclusively as motor fuel and in England a mixture of 1-5 alcohol and 2-5 gasoline is used. At the second economic conference at Dearborn this participated a pined battle. Francis Garvin of the General Foundation, charged the Standard Oil Co., with blocking the use of alcohol in autos. It is said that the petroleum supply would only last about 12 years at the present rate of consumption and that the oil company was now experimenting in obtaining a motor fuel from coal processing. Fred Egan of the American Petroleum Institute replied to him. He said there was enough fuel oil to last 25 years. He said the use of alcohol would greatly increase the cost of car operation, and make every auto a potential bar. Satisfactory substitutes for motor fuel could be made from coal and oil shale when desired, he added. The big industries and the farmer always seem to be on opposite sides of the fence.

For some time past there has been agitation in favor of raising the deer hunting restrictions and permitting the killing of deer. At the present time only bucks can be shot. Due to the past hard winter many deer have starved to death. The promiscuous killers saw their opportunity and redoubled their activities on the plea that shooting more deer would keep them from starving to death. P. A. Herbert took a straw vote of different organizations affiliated with the Michigan Forestry Association, and the result was that 62 favored the killing of does and 27 were against it. They should let the deer vote on whether they prefer to be shot or starve to death. The main trouble is that hundreds go north, spend their money and waste their time, and come home empty-handed.

In Ingham county the report came that slot machines which were chased out some time ago, were back. Officers working under Sheriff McDonald investigated and found ten machines which they confiscated and carried off. They will now make periodical inspections. Keeping out these machines is like sweeping the ocean back with a broom.

Livingston county officers seem to make a specialty of pinching prominent men for traffic violations. Geo. Serjenson, Howell officer, recently nabbed a member of the attorney general's staff for a violation and was threatened with dire things, including the same fate as Webbville, suffered. Wednesday, none other than Judge Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit fell into his net. His chauffeur, a woman, pled guilty and paid a fine of $7.50. Brighton had the limelight some years ago, when a zealous traffic officer nabbed Wilbur Brucker, then attorney general and Ex-Gov. Fred Green's chauffeur. The latter resulted in the removal of both the officer and Justice Collett, who fined the chauffeur. Evidently high state officials are immune to traffic laws.

The daily papers carry column after column of political ops, some of it by high-class writers who are supposed to forecast the result of the election some six months hence, like a crystal gazer. The editors of the weeklies and periodicals receive a bushel of press articles each week on the coming election, hardly any of which they use. It seems like a lot of bunk, but evidently they consider all this build-up necessary, like the promoters of a world's championship prize fight. To our mind it is all beside the issue. When the voters go to the polls next November, the independent ones who decide the election, will ask themselves one question only: Am I better off now than I was in November 1932? That is the sole issue and the one on which the election will swing.

The only explanation for the prominence given to the speeches of Ex-President Hoover is the desire of the conservatives of the G. O. P. to stop Gov. Landon's progress to the presidential nomination. At the present time Hoover's opposition is the only thing between him and the nomination. Landon is too liberal for them and his platform plank of "Keep Kansas Dry in 1933" does not appeal.

It would be a great thing for the State of Michigan if all candidates for public office had the high character and ability possessed by Wilbur M. Brucker, former governor, who seeks the senatorial seat held by Senator James Couzens. Sner at it as some may, Mr. Brucker does not smoke or drink. Call it old-fashioned if you will, but he has taught a Sunday school class and supports the organized church. Laugh at him if you want to, but he believes and practices the old school of morals. Ridicule the idea as some do, but he is still an old style American who believes in the flag under which are given the greatest liberties on earth.

Northville Record.

TOO FEW FLOWERS ARE PLANTED FOR SAKE OF PERFUME

Many plant flower beds for color and decorative purposes, kitchen gardens for utility, herb gardens for flavor, but only a few plants for perfume in the garden or in cut flowers.

Women of Martha Washington's time knew how to save the delicate scent of rose petals by putting them in jars with salt, or they made a potpourri of different flowers. They gathered damask, roses, and lavender and dried them to make linen drawers sweet, or used violet water. They liked the scent of lilacs of the valley and lilacs.

It is possible to plant shrubs and vines and flowering annuals and perennials to add to the fragrance of the garden—roses, English violets, carnations, and little clove pinks, and some of the fragrant peonies for indoor vases, say floriculturists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

The perfume garden is so planned that one group of plantings is succeeded by another, each with its own appeal, such as sweet alyssum, mignonette, pinks, perennial phlox, sweet hellebore, stocks and some of the nicotianas. Nasturtiums have a spicy fragrance. The leaves of rose geranium are both fragrant and spicy and may scent a fingerbowl or flavor a mild jelly.

Many shrubs are delightfully fragrant—the reddish velvety "sweet shrub" or Calycanthus; lemon verbena; lilac; and mockorange, called Philadelphia or syringa in the North, Carolina cherry in the South; the butterfly bush (erroneously called "summer lilac") from China, whose long drooping rich violet blooms give off deep fragrance all summer. The sweet-scented summer-blooming honeysuckle vine of the South is the naturalized Japanese honeysuckle, Lonicera japonica, ranging from Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Missouri south; the beautiful and fragrant Chinese and Japanese wisteria, and various sweet species of clematis.

Italy Annexes Ethiopia, Defying the League

TRIUMPHANTLY and defiantly, Benito Mussolini formally proclaimed the annexation of conquered Ethiopia by Italy and the restoration of the Roman empire. As did Disraeli in the case of India, he made his monarch emperor of the African realm, and Marshal Badoglio was appointed viceroy.

The duke did not know and apparently care what the League of Nations would think about this swallowing of one of its members by another member. The league council met in Geneva to deal with the question and seemingly intended merely to condemn Italy's action and then adjourn until June, when France's new leftist government will be in power. First, however, it decided, over the protest of Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy, to keep the question on the agenda; and because Wolde Mariam, representative of Ethiopia, was permitted to take his seat at a closed sitting of the council, Aloisi stalked out of the room. This was his statement to the delegates:

"I have the honor to declare that the Italian delegation cannot admit of the presence at the council table of the so-called Ethiopian delegate. There exists, indeed, no semblance of organization of the Ethiopian state. The only sovereignty existing in Ethiopia is that of Italy. All discussion on the subject of the Italo-Ethiopian difference would, consequently, have no object. Therefore I find myself obliged to refrain from participating in the discussion."

Mariam told the council the greater part of the country west of Addis Ababa remains free and independent and continues to defend itself, and the council still considers that Emperor Haile Selassie's government is in existence. For the present, apparently, there will be no move to lift the sanctions against Italy.

Prime Minister Baldwin of Great Britain refused to tell questioners in parliament what attitude his government would take now in the matter of recognizing Italian sovereignty over Ethiopia.

Four Navy Radio Men Rewarded for Bravery

THE four navy radio men who manned the transmitting set in the American legation at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, keeping this government informed of the rioting in the Ethiopian capital and helping fight off bandits, are to be advanced in rating for outstanding conduct.

This decision was made by the bureau of navigation at the urgent recommendation of Minister Cornelius Van H. Engert, who in a message to the Navy department praised them "for commendable zeal and efficiency in the performance of duty under unusual and difficult circumstances."

W. E. Tanner, acting chief radio man, will be made chief radio man effective August 15. W. L. Pitts, radio man first class, will be given a course of instruction after his return to the United States to qualify him for the same rating. C. F. Cavanaugh and J. W. Anslow, radio men second class, will be promoted to radio men first class.

Leon Blum's Program for France Given

LEON BLUM, leader of the National Socialists and organizer of the "popular front" of leftists that won the recent French elections, will be practically the dictator of France when Premier Sarraut and his cabinet resign on June 2 and the new government takes office. Blum laid down this four-point foreign policy program which he said the nation would follow at least until the next election in 1940:

1. Adherence to the League of Nations.
2. Consolidation of European peace.
3. Promotion of mutual assistance pacts.
4. Progressive disarmament.

Speaking to the national Socialist council Blum said: "We must consolidate the country against Fascist attacks. We must put the republican spirit in all high administrations, and we will deprive the Fascists of all secret means of propaganda."

Ickes-Hopkins Feud Moves to Senate

SECRETARY ICKES' supporters were easily defeated by the Harry Hopkins forces in the house fight as to whether the Public Works administration should share in the handling of next year's relief funds. But it was understood the feud would be revived in the senate under the leadership of Senator Hayden of Arizona, Democrat and a member of the appropriations committee.

The house majority voted according to the wishes of the administration on the relief bill, which is a $2,364,229,712 measure carrying $1,425,000,000 to ## finance the Works Progress administration after July 1.

In addition to the relief appropriation, the bill carries $458,631,800 for the social security program, $39,900,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority, $400,000 for continuing the communications commission's telephone inquiry, and various new and deficiency amounts for other agencies.

The most important amendment permitted to be added to the bill by the house leaders was one submitted by Representative William P. Connery providing that the prevailing wage in communities be paid to WPA workers. The Hopkins organization will pay out approximately the same sum per man per year, it was explained, but will work the men only one, two, or three days a week where they formerly worked four, five and six days each week.

In a surprise move the house also voted to bar aliens "illegally within the limits of the United States" from receiving jobs under the WPA program. Most of the opposition came from two radicals, Vito Marcantonio of New York city and Gerald J. Bolleau of Wisconsin.

Ickes signified his acceptance of defeat in the battle for funds by ordering an immediate cut of 25 per cent in WPA personnel in Washington and throughout the country. This affects 2,000 persons.

Senators Seek Compromise Corporate Tax Bill

OPPOSITION in the senate finance committee to the corporate profits tax in the administration's $808,000,000 revenue bill was so strong that both Democrats and Republicans sought for some compromise. Treasury officials were heard in favor of the measure as passed by the house, but former treasury officials and various business and industrial leaders speaking in opposition were seemingly more persuasive.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas put forward a plan he thought all might agree upon. It would retain the 15 per cent corporation income tax and repeal only the capital stock and excess profits taxes, instead of repealing all corporation taxes as proposed in the house bill. In addition it would superimpose a graduated tax on undistributed earnings, exempting the first 20 per cent on the amount retained. The house bill reaches a maximum of 42 1/2 per cent of the total income if none is distributed.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, another of the Democrats opposed to the house bill, showed, in a letter to Secretary Morgenthau, that 11 of the largest corporations in the country would pay no taxes under the Roosevelt bill.

Landon Ticket Loses in California Primary

CALIFORNIA'S Presidential Republican preference primary, eagerly awaited by the whole country, resulted in the defeat of the Landon slate of delegates that was put forward by William R. Hearst and Governor Merriam, with Landon's tacit consent.

The winning delegates, backed by Herbert Hoover and nominally pledged to Earl Warren though uncommitted, carried the state by a majority of about 90,000. Mr. Warren announced at once that he released them from their pledge, to vote as they see fit in the convention.

This looked like a blow to Governor Landon, and to a certain extent it was; but his managers claim at least 18 of the delegates will go over to the Landon slate on an early ballot. Moreover, many friends of Landon deprecated the fact that Hearst was supporting him, believing it would do him more harm than good; and they were glad to see him freed in part from what they consider an incubus.

Democrats voted almost solidly for Mr. Roosevelt. Upon "Epie" Sinclair's ticket received something over 100,000 votes, and that of John S. McGroarty, Townsend plan supporter, about half as many.

In South Dakota a slate of uncommitted delegates favoring Landon won over a ticket pledged to Senator Borah, though the margin was slender.

American Red Cross Meets in Chicago

SOME two thousand delegates were present when the annual convention of the American Red Cross was opened in Chicago by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the national chairman. Speakers at early sessions included Mayor Ed Kelly, and Ralph Christian, schoolboy of Birmingham, Ala., representing the Junior Red Cross. Mrs. Elizabeth H. Vaughan, a nurse of St. Louis, was awarded the Florence Nightingale medal for her long record of service.

Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., the new surgeon general of the United States public health service, was present and made a speech, and talks were delivered by Robert E. Bondy, director of national disaster relief, and others who directed activities in the flood and storm areas.

FROM AROUND MICHIGAN

Port Sanilac—Army engineers have started a survey for a small boat harbor here.

Eaton Rapids—Eaton Rapids High School will graduate 70 Seniors in June, the largest class in its history.

Menominee—Schuyler Williams, veteran Green Bay commercial fisherman, died recently at Cedar River. He was 86 years old, the grandfather of 65 children and great-grandfather of 38.

Carsonville—Silas Montgomery and Tommy Bachus ride daily in their aero-car, an automobile chassis motivated by an airplane engine with a five-foot propeller. The machine will develop 30 miles an hour, running with the wind.

Lansing—Ten cases of meningitis, five of them fatal, were reported in Detroit during April, and the Michigan Department of Health is now supplying meningococcus meningitis serum, an antitoxin, to 50 centers in the state to combat the disease. There have been 10 cases of mild smallpox so far this year.

Tecumseh—In a heavy rainstorm, Herbert S. Waring and Eugene Pangle were hurrying along in opposite directions on the sidewalk, with umbrellas held close over their heads. They crashed head-on and Waring ricocheted against a tree and onto the cement walk, suffering a broken rib, facial cuts and bruises.

Ironia—Although property valued at $258,521 was endangered in the last fiscal year, actual damage by fire reached only $16,293 here. This is one of the smallest annual fire losses on record. Two house fires, both of which came within one week in February, caused the greatest damage, $14,038. Not one false alarm was recorded for the year.

Cheboygan—Stanley Elya, one of the quietest boys in school, and Helen LaFont, star of the debating team and one of Northern Michigan's outstanding extempore speakers, tied for the honor of being salutatorian of the Cheboygan High School graduating class. Both had a four-year average of 91.4. Olive Baier, valedictorian, had an average of 92.

Olivet — Young President Joseph Brewer, of Olivet, is believed to be the only tap-dancing college president. He made his third appearance as a solo dancer at a sorority cabaret recently, finishing with a cartwheel, amid thunderous student applause. Last year he performed, appropriately garbed, as the "Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze."

Munising — Two Munising fishermen, Roy Mattson and Ray Hines, were picked up by Capt. H. Janssens and his crew from the Sand Point Coast Guard Station in the west channel of Munising Bay after their small boat had been caught in ice floes. The Coast Guardsmen reported that they had to battle the ice four hours before reaching the pair. Neither of the men suffered from exposure.

Battle Creek — Naseeb Damoose, superintendent of Battle Creek's new sewage disposal plant, has on his hands the problem of disposing of grain estimated to be worth $1,000, which flows into the plant each week from an unknown source. Mechanism of the plant was clogged by the heavy flow of wheat and corn. Investigators said that they believed that the grain was not being dumped, but was escaping from a storage.

Lansing—The state's newly acquired herd of 47 moose trapped on Isle Royale last winter have been taken by boat across Lake Superior to a new home in Upper Peninsula forests. Twelve will be put in the Escanaba River tract, 20 miles south of Negaunee, and the rest at a point about 15 miles east of Munising. Some of the moose weigh 1,100 to 1,200 pounds. Total cost of the trapping expedition will be about $8,000.

Lansing—The Michigan division of the Grand Army of the Republic has called its depleted rolls and is preparing for another encampment. A check of the roster shows that 12 Grand Army men have died since Jan. 1, there being 66 posts in the state with a total enrollment of 198 Civil War veterans on May 9. In 1889 the G. A. R. boasted a membership of 21,418 in Michigan, in 373 posts. The state encampment will take place at Battle Creek, June 11, 12, and 13.

Cheboygan — Under the Federal soil-conservation plan of benefit payments, Cheboygan County Farmers would grow 55,000 fewer bushels of potatoes this year, according to estimates by the County Planning Committee. The committee estimated corn reduction of $15,500 bushels and 3,300 fewer bushels of beans. Principal increase would be in alfalfa hay. Cheboygan County farmers have 50,000 chickens, the committee estimated, and annual egg production was placed at 300,000 dozen.

Lansing—Michigan's Old Age Assistance Law is less than 50 per cent adequate, the State Emergency Relief Commission declares in its second annual report. For old age assistance $4,100,000 now is available, $2,000,000 in the State appropriation and $2,100,000 in Federal funds under the National Social Security Act. The commission said the State appropriation is based on the assumption that only 20,000 would be found eligible for old age pensions and unless larger funds were made available it would be necessary to reduce grants.

Divided Skirt and Shorts Combination That Equips the Young Lady for Sports

PATTERN NO. 1875-B

You know yourself that half the enjoyment of any sport is spoiled if you aren't correctly dressed, and really there's no excuse for not being equipped for any active sport when a model such as illustrated is so easy and inexpensive to make. The divided skirt is suitable for golf, tennis, bicycling, riding and hiking. It assures plenty of room and comfort, buttons on the side and supports the most youthful blouse. Note

Dealing With Others

THE longer we live the more we shall need to deal kindly with the limitation of others. Many are doing their best, even though there are some things which they cannot do very well. . . . Parents, teachers, employers, and all the rest of us need to be patient and kindly when we face the limitations of our friends and loved ones. Criticism will not help. "Nagging" will be out of place. Let us take certain limitations for granted, and move on with appreciation of all the other good things we find in friends.—E. B. Allen.

Pigeon Brings in an SOS; 17 Men Are Rescued at Sea

Officials of the Freeport (N. H.) Boatmen's association have disclosed that 17 men were rescued from a stranded craft off Squaw Island recently after a carrier pigeon brought an SOS message to shore. The rescue was the first of its kind, as far as is known.

Off West Island the Dawn, a 40-foot fishing boat, broke her exhaust pipe. A pigeon bearing word of the vessel's plight was released and flew 15 miles to the association clubhouse at Freeport. Rescue craft then were dispatched.

AMAZING NEW STOVE USES 96% AIR-4% FUEL

Housewives Everywhere Now Can Enjoy Modern Gas-Cooking Service At Low Cost, Thanks to W. C. Coleman's Invention

Utilizing the principle of carburation used in present day automobile engines, W. C. Coleman, noted inventor and pioneer manufacturer of gas-pressure appliances, has invented an amazing new cooking stove that makes its own gas from ordinary lead-free gasoline.

An ingenious device converts liquid fuel into vapor gas—then mixes it with fresh, live air so that the fuel, when it reaches the burner, is actually about 96% air and 4% vapor gas. This remarkable invention has effected fuel-saving economies which, combined with the heating efficiency of the Coleman patented Band-A-Blu Burners, makes the new Coleman Safety Range cheaper to use than wood, coal or kerosene.

Housewives everywhere express appreciation for the convenience, safety, economy and beauty of a stove which provides cooking equalling that of the finest city gas range.

Readers of this paper wishing full information about these wonderful Coleman Ranges will receive beautifully illustrated literature and a valuable stove check chart by addressing a postcard to Mr. W. C. Coleman, Dept. WU-237, Wichita, Kansas.—Adv.

DISPATCH OF MAY 20, 1886

Percy Teeple is clerking in the brick store. Mann Bros. received a bushel of radishes and onions Monday.

Spence Noble was jammed in the stall by a young stallion last week and severely bruised.

D. F. Ewen had some leaflets of Bible readings printed in the office yesterday concerning the Sabbath or seventh day.

Mankins Show got a filled tent here Monday night and gave satisfaction. Their band was good.

At the barn raising at John Arnold's last week, John Fohey was hit in the head by timber, but was only stunned.

F. L. Brown has taken the agency for the Capitol Wagon, made in Lansing.

St. Matthews new hall at Gregory will be opened with a dance May 28. Elda Kuhn and Emmett Murphy are floor managers.

The state troops will go into camp at Island Lake on July 14 and will end on the 20th. They will have 2,700 men this year, the biggest encampment ever.

The Livingston County Agriculture Society held a meeting last week but came to no conclusion as to whether they will sell their grounds or hold a fair this year.

Mrs. Hannah Hinchey, 34, wife of McClure Hinchey, died May 18. She leaves seven children.

Next week we will start a series of biographical sketches of farmers of this section.

A drunken row occurred on the farm of "Phid" Dunlavey, north of town yesterday afternoon in which four men set upon a man who had started to work for Mr. Dunlavey the day before and beat him severely. One used a hatchet and another, a negro, stamped upon his face. The assailants then drove to town, and after stopping for liquid refreshments, returned to Dexter. Dr. Hoag attended the wounded man. He named a man named McNutt as the one using the hatchet.

Truman Smoke, the Clion man who was bitten in the hand by a rattlesnake, is interesting medical men. He has recovered but is not able to work. His skin came off; also his hair and finger nails, but all are being replaced by new.

Ed. Beach of Howell rides a fine Columbia bicycle that cost him $135. The Howell creamery is turning out 600 pounds of butter daily.

Chas. Elliott and Ira Bean of Fowlerville have invented a fluid they call the "Electric Ink Eraser." It removes ink and leaves the surface clean. They will manufacture and sell same.

George Daily and Miss Kittie Vandusen were married at Howell, Wednesday by Rev. Pettit.

Wm. Peters of Pettysville has purchased one of C. F. Travis' top bugies.

W. L. Keusch and DeWitt Anderson are ditching for James Marble. Frank and Bennie Eamen were given a handsome riding pony last week by their Uncle Tom.

Wm. McGee died at Anderson, Friday and was buried Sunday.

The Plainfield Cooper Shop is running full blast.

E. A. Kuhn is working at the Matthews drug store at Gregory.

P. H. Ryan and P. Hoard of Gregory indulged in an argument Saturday night which was won by the former.

Harrison Hadley and Flora Goodwin were married by Rev. Pritchard, Wednesday.

Neighboring Notes

Joy O. Davis of Mason, secretary of the Tri-County League, announces that six teams will start their schedule on May 30. They are Fowlerville, Charlotte, East Lansing, Pleasant Lake, Mason and Holt.

The Ingham County Board of Supervisors has given Webberville permission to enlarge her village boundaries.

Dr. Paul Hickey, Ph. D., of Detroit will be the Howell commencement speaker on June 11.

The Charles D. Kelly Co., of Detroit has been awarded the Howell sewer contract for $41,651, subject to certain restrictions. There were eight bidders.

Hartland high school will have a new superintendent next term. Supt. Clawson has accepted the superintendency of the Pellston school.

The Livingston County Red Cross will have two representatives at the Chicago National meeting of the Red Cross this week from May 11th to 15th. Mrs. James Stackable of Gregory, a former over-seas Red Cross nurse in the World War, and Mrs. W. P. Van Winkle, chairman of the Livingston County Red Cross organization will attend.

Livingston County Press.

New bids will be asked on the new TB Sanitarium to be built at Gaylord. The previous bids were between $30,000 and $40,000 too high. $500,000 is available. This is a WPA project with the federal government supplying 55 percent of the cost.

Harry F. Hittle of Lansing, state senator from this district, has announced that he will seek a second term.

There is a movement on to appoint the widow of the late Horatio Abbott, postmistress at Ann Arbor.

The Ann Arbor School Board has denied the local units of Rev. Fr. Coughlin's Union for Social Justice the right to use the schools for meetings.

In answer to a petition signed by 200 Dexter citizens, asking the Dexter-Ann Arbor road be improved, the state highway department has replied that most of the highway funds are supplied by the federal government, and they insist of the money being used on federal roads such as U. S. 12, 112 and 23.

The Stockbridge school will celebrate its 100th anniversary on May 27. The school was first organized at the home of Ira Wood in 1836.

Emory Church, an old miner, claims to have found gold on his farm near Alma.

The Fowlerville village council has adopted an ordinance ordering parallel parking in the business districts. This is in accordance with a request of the state highway department to aid traffic.

Fowlerville merchants will have a free drawing, and give away $20.00 in cash each Wednesday from now on.

Rev. John W. Nagel, formerly pastor of St. Rose church of Detroit, has been appointed administrator of St. Mary's church at Chelsea.

The village of Chelsea has purchased 25 tons of calcium chloride to lay dust in their streets.

About 40 men are employed at Milan by Henry Ford, building a new dam there on his recently acquired water power property.

Philathea Notes

The afternoon gathering on Wednesday of last week at the home of our president, Mrs. Millie Bowman, was our regular quarterly Missionary meeting. The president presided, and among the items of business was a letter from a school to which was had recently sent a box as a benevolence offering. This was extremely interesting. The Chaplain, assisted by Mrs. Millie Elliott read the 23rd Psalm in verse and Scripture, followed by the Lord's Prayer. During the afternoon a group of questions were answered by Bible readings and clippings. Another feature was a Missionary story, "Freed from the Curse," and the usual Philathea benevolence offering.

The group responsible for this meeting and for work as decided later, are Mrs. Millie Elliott, chairman; Mrs. Beulah Hendee, Mrs. Minnie VanSlaam, Mrs. George Macdonald, Mrs. Flossie Chambers, Mrs. Mabel Isham, Mrs. Dessh Nash, Mrs. Celia Nash, Miss Cella Fish.

The June group have decided on a birthday party in the church parlors on the afternoon of the tenth of June. A few invitations will be issued as a reminder, but all are invited and urged to join with us in a pleasant get-together. For this June time meeting the following group will serve as sponsors: Mrs. Millie Bowman, chairman; Mrs. Florence AtLee, Mrs. Sada Read, Mrs. Hattie Decker, Mrs. Loh Rogers, Mrs. Mary Teeple, Mrs. Bucher, Mrs. Weidmayer. Other groups will be listed later.

For May 24, the Sunday school lesson is the Temperance subject: "Building for the Future." Read Luke 20 and 21. The lesson selection from these chapters is particularly appropriate for our present times.

In the April issue of the Baracata Philathea News, we notice several Michigan items: one an extract from a letter written last fall when we sent on our 45th Birthday offering. An amusing error was the mention of our town as "Pickney," and our local paper as the "Pinchot Dispatch." The issues of the News are stressing the big World-Wide Baracata Philathea Mountain Top convention in Montreal July 22-27, 1936.

Public Confidence

Challenging a recently published statement that there is an "apparent loss of public confidence in banks," William A. Boyd of Ithaca, N. Y., asks why, if this were true, bank deposits are constantly increasing. "I maintain that any banking institution which has continued to serve its community since the trying days of 1929 must be enjoying the respect and confidence of that community, and I am sure that the very large majority of banking institutions which have come through this depression have never had to 'regain' public confidence," he says.

Trust Institutions

A directory of trust institutions published by the Trust Division, American Bankers Association, lists 2,853 institutions having aggregate capital funds of $1,416,000,000 and total resources of $35,445,000,000. It shows a total of 6,049 men and women engaged in this phase of bank work. The trust institutions comprise 1,356 state-chartered trust companies and banks and 1,497 national banks with trust departments located in 1,684 cities and towns.

Old Faithful, the geyser that has built up quite a reputation out West for dependability, moves indoors with the introduction of a new hot water service now provided electrically for the home. This new service surpasses anything ever before achieved in a constant supply of hot water. At any minute of the night or day, you need only turn a faucet, and you have hot water always on tap. Summer and winter, year in and year out, hot water is provided AUTOMATICALLY . . . without attention.

Most people do not realize to what extent the liberal use of hot water can add to the efficiency of home-making. Here are a few hints on how to make your housework easier and pleasanter:

Rinsing dishes with very hot water, and then letting them stand until dry, actually leaves them cleaner than wiping them with an ordinary dish towel. ★ ★ Certain fresh fruit stains can be effectively removed from table linen by stretching it in embroidery hoops and holding it under the running faucet. Stains from coffee, tea, and various fruits yield readily to hot water. ★ ★ When you wash windows, mirrors or glassware, add a little starch to the hot water. Starch helps to remove the dirt, and gives the glass a brighter polish.

Stop in at any Detroit Edison office and let us give you complete information—without obligation—on electric water heating.

Brighter Walls and Woodwork

Paint your ceilings, walls and woodwork in light colors for more and better light. Light colors give diffuse illumination by reflecting the light that falls on them in all directions. Diffuse illumination gets down shadows and distributes the light evenly in all directions. It is estimated that some light painted walls reflect as much as 45% more light than dark painted walls. Your EYES will be grateful and you are not compromising with style either, as light colors and tints are seen in the most fashionable and smartest homes.

Last Friday afternoon, cars driven by Eugene McIntyre and Mr. Snoshal of South Lyon collided on McGregory road near the Charles Galligan farm. Both cars were banged up, but no one was hurt.

Mrs. Esther Meisners, 29, of Detroit was killed instantly a mile east of Fowlerville, Saturday p. m., when her car crashed into an embankment on US-16. The car was driven by Carmine Santoro, also of Detroit. Her mother, Mrs. Schmulz and the dead woman's small child were also injured.

One day last week a car load of gypsies in a car with a Pennsylvania license stopped at the home of Abner Watkins. Mrs. Watkins and daughter were alone. They offered to tell her fortune but demanded all the money in the house on penalty of putting a spell on her. They were given a small amount of money and finally induced to leave but threatened to return. The sheriff was called but they had disappeared on his arrival.

Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Quinlan of Detroit, while turning around in front of the S. H. Carr home on West Main Street, lost control of her car. It hit a tree in the Carr yard and then went across the road into the yard of the Hoff Sisters where it knocked down a young tree and two small pine trees and then hit the porch tearing off the steps. The car was not much damaged and Mrs. Quinlan was uninjured. She was alone, her husband and small daughter being at the drug store. They will pay for the damage done.

Mrs. Etta Perrie and Mrs. Ray Lawrence of Detroit called on Mrs. George Gordon, who is visiting Mrs. J. A. Baker, Sunday afternoon.

STATE FRUIT CROP GETS AID OF BEES

Buzz of Rented Insects Adds Countless Dollars to Commercial Orchard Crops in Michigan.

More than a half a billion workers are ready to put in sun-up to sun-down working hours helping to turn Michigan's blossoming into a prospective harvest this summer and fall. For bees, as well as city folks, tourists and orchard owners are interested in the annual nature festival that begins in a few days in southern Michigan and is completed near the end of the month in northern counties.

Who says there are a half a billion? No one is going to count the bees out at work on the countless apple, pear, sweet cherry, plum and peach blossoms. But H. D. Hootman, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State College, estimates that 20,000 colonies of bees will be placed in orchards in the state this

By elevating bouquets of a pollinizing variety in the range of bee flight, bees visit the trees four times as frequently in this Michigan orchard, increasing the crop.

The use of nitrogenous fertilizers and the placing of bees close to their work are going to mean better crops this year for fruit men, especially in apple orchards where winter injury threatens to reduce bloom.

Several systems are used to stimulate the work of bees in an orchard. Bouquets of blossoms that help which cross fertilization is necessary are set out in tubs or placed in pairs tied in trees or set up on tripods. Colonies are placed about every 200 feet for efficiency and the bees are kept out until after the pink spray, and are removed before the calyx spray.

In most fruits, a set and maturity of 15 to 20 per cent of the blossoms makes a profitable and efficient yield. Bees help to obtain yields often above this percentage. Additional information on orchard management and beekeeping applied to pollination can be obtained from Mr. Hootman or from Professor R. H. Kilty, extension specialist in apiculture at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows: Tobacco inspectors, various grades, $2,000 to $2,500 a year, Department of Agriculture.

Procurement inspectors, aircraft, various grades, $1,620 to $2,600 a year. Full information may be obtained from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examinations at the post office or customhouse in any city which has a post office of the first or the second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

WHEN BANK CROOKS SHOW PREFERENCES

The American Bankers Association reports that non-member banks suffer twice the percentage of burglaries and hold-up robberies as compared with members. Member banks display a sign showing that they receive the protection of the association's detective agents, who cause the arrest of from 150 to 400 bank crooks every year, the organization, which is a non-profit body, says.

"Professional criminals often boast of having sense enough to dodge the far-reaching system of man hunting available to members, so long as there are other banks without this protection," it says. "They recognize that once on the record of the Association's Protective Department, they must pay for every crime with which they can be identified. Detainer warrants have followed them from place to place so that penal servitude for one crime would not expiate other offenses."

COUNTY AGENT'S LETTER

MORE PROFIT IN WOODLAND IF ONLY BIG TREES ARE CUT

There is a great deal more profit in lumber from farm woodlands when only the large, mature trees are cut and the small trees left to grow into another crop. The United States Forest Service has found that maple trees less than 12 to 14 inches in diameter actually do not pay their way through a band sawmill.

There is about 19 times as much lumber in a tree 26 inches in diameter as in a 9 inch tree. But since the lumber in the larger tree is worth about twice as much per foot, the total value is 36 times as great.

Selective cutting removes the greatest value with the least volume. It leaves small trees as a windbreak and allows them to grow faster because they no longer need to compete with big trees for moisture, sunlight, and space to spread their

By elevating bouquets of a pollinizing variety in the range of bee flight, bees visit the trees four times as frequently in this Michigan orchard, increasing the crop.

TENT CATERPILLARS

Tent caterpillars are again occurring in large numbers in parts of the Northeast as they did last year. These tree defoliators, says the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, United States Department of Agriculture, may be abundant for several years in an area where conditions are favorable. However, some natural cause—parasites, disease, or unfavorable weather—always has sooner or later reduced them to negligible numbers. Then for several years there will be few of them.

Tent caterpillars feed on the foliage of many trees—especially wild cherry and apple—early in the spring. The denuded trees, if unsightly, but they usually recover and put out a new set of leaves after the caterpillars have done their worst. Large expenditures for a general campaign to control tent caterpillars therefore, seem unwise.

In orchards the usual spray program should control, and special shade or ornamental trees can be effectively protected by spraying with lead arsenate, 2 pounds to 50 gallons of water, as soon as the small webs appear.

FARMERS INVITED TO FEEDERS' DAY

Annual Livestock Program at State College: June 4 to Include Demonstrations, Facts, Speeches.

Preparations are being made for Livestock Feeders' Day, Thursday, June 4, at Michigan State College, East Lansing. Several thousand are expected.

The morning program will consist of trips to experimental projects at the college. E. L. Anthony, dean of the agricultural school, will open the afternoon session, which will be devoted to talks by prominent agricultural leaders and extension workers. The day's program will open at 10 a. m. when V. A. Freeman, assistant professor in animal husbandry, will take the group to the swine experimental feeding station to explain results to new research.

G. A. Bransman, assistant professor, is in charge of the beef cattle work at the college and will reveal results of experiments in raising 10 Montana Hereford calves, 10 Michigan Holstein calves and 10 Michigan Holstein yearlings.

R. S. Hudson, manager of the college farm and horse department, will discuss his work in feeding colts in the last three years. Lunch will be served in the new sales barn where afternoon programs will be held.

SAFE INSECTICIDES

Protection of the consumer is claimed by Michigan State College entomologists in the development and tests in Michigan and other states of derris and pyrethrum insecticides especially useful in protecting cabbage, cauliflower, currant, snap bean and berry crops. Extension Bulletin 164, now available, describes suitable applications.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Importance of soil conservation by prevention of erosion in Michigan is being emphasized by Michigan State College with facts supplied by the soil conservation service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Studies reveal that when the slope of the land is increased four times the speed of water running off is doubled, the cutting power of this runoff water is multiplied by four, the power to carry away soil multiplied by 32 and the size of the soil particles the runoff water can carry is multiplied by 64.

Era This Story
Describes

Tense and timely, this stirring tale is woven about the mood and events that led to the dramatic debacle of 1929 and ushered in the social upheaval through which we still are struggling.

A sweet love story has for its setting the seething city of Chicago during that whirling period of madness before the Crash when the ungovernable cravings for wealth and power were like dragons, driving men to incredible extremes.

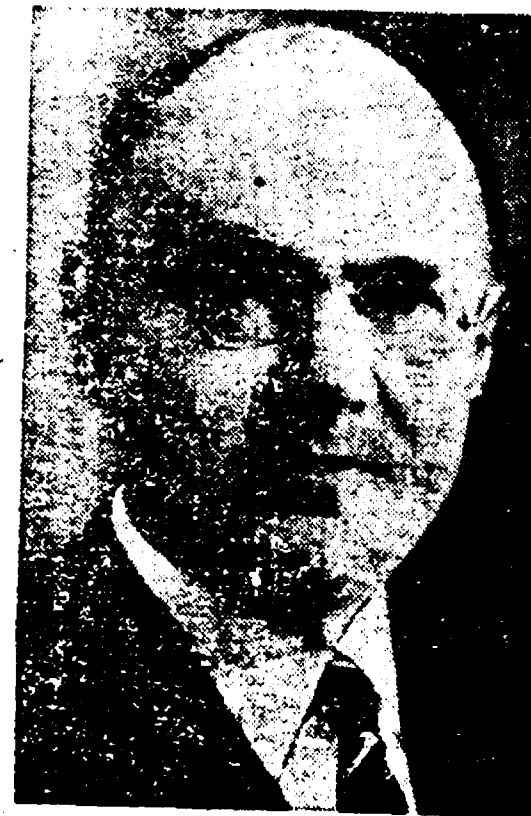

Once you start this powerful story you'll want to read every breath-taking chapter! Follow it serially in this newspaper!

The dates of the Fowlerville Centennial have been set for July 30-August 1.

NOTED MAGAZINE EDITOR IS AUTHOR OF OUR NEW SERIAL

"Dragons Drive You," this paper's newest serial story, through its fine character delineation, dialogue, and dramatic construction, reflects the author's rich background of training and experience. It is written by the noted editor of the Red Book and Blue Book magazines—Edwin Balmer.

Mr. Balmer is a native of Chicago, the locale of the new serial, and lived most of his life in Evanston, Chicago's close neighbor and seat of Northwestern university from which he graduated in 1902. He received his M. A. degree from Harvard and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi. After graduation he was a reporter on the Chicago Tribune and later aided in the publication of The Commons, a magazine well known in the field of public welfare. In 1927 he accepted the editorship of two magazines named above, a post he still holds.

Cuba, Mexico, Europe, Hawaii and Japan have been popular fields of travel for Mr. Balmer, who now resides at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, New York.

Some of this writer's greatest successes include "The Breath of Scandal," "Dangerous Business" and "That Royal Girl." He and Philip Wylie, as co-authors, wrote "When Worlds Collide" and its sequel "After Worlds Collide." "Via Wireless," one of his stories in the Saturday Evening Post, was made into a popular dramatic play and a number of his books have been produced as photoplays. Many of his short stories and serials have appeared not only in American magazines, but also in Europe in the French, German and Scandinavian languages.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 40, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

CHAPTER XI—Continued

"So you see that cup will make a most appropriate gift. But I'm so afraid that your cousin may refuse to accept it that, before I ask him to do so, I want to have it engraved with his crest. And that's where you can help me. I must have something of his that bears his crest to give to the engraver to copy. A cigarette case, a flask. Perhaps it's on the backs of his brushes. . . . You see, without that I'm stuck. At the present moment I don't even know what his crest is."

"I wrinkled my brow. "Strangely enough," said I, "it's the same as your own—a leopard. But that doesn't mean—"

"What?"

"The word flamed. As the saying goes, I almost leapt out of my skin; and turned to find her staring—tense, wide-eyed and staring, white to the lips.

And then I knew I was lost. I had learned her crest from Pharaoh, and Pharaoh was wrong; and I had repeated the error which Pharaoh had made.

"I—I thought," I stammered. "I had an idea—"

"The badge of Yorick is an oak-tree," she whispered rather than spoke. "We've never displayed the leopard for more than 200 years."

The sibilant accusation struck me dumb.

She was round now and was kneeling, with her arms held close to her breast and her hands to her throat. Her breath was whistling in her nostrils and her eyes seemed to pierce my brain.

Helplessly I shrugged my shoulders. "I suppose I must have—"

"My God," she breathed, "you were there." As my eyes went down, she clasped her hands to her head. "My God!" she cried. "It was you! You, John, YOU, and not Bugle that . . ."

I pulled out my note-case and took out her master key.

As I laid it down by her side— "Sabre killed Bugle," I said. "His body's down in the moat. None of them saw it happen, so I walked into the castle and took his place."

Helena sat back on her heels, finger to lip. Her eyes were still wide, still staring; she seemed to be murmuring something I could not hear.

"I'm sorry," I said. "I didn't mean you to know."

At that a tiemor ran through her; then, with a sudden movement, she flung herself down on her face and burst into tears.

For a moment I sat hesitant. Then something snapped within me. I lifted her up and gathered her in to my arms.

With my face pressed tight against hers— "Don't cry, Nell," I said. "I can't bear it. And—please don't send me away."

"I'm not sending you away," she sobbed. She caught at my coat. "And I'll tell you another thing, I'd never have let you go. If all else had failed, I was going down to the station."

I held her off and looked into her tear-stained face.

"But, Nell, just now you—"

"I wanted to know if you loved me. I had to be sure of that. But now . . ."

She hid her face in my coat. "Oh, John, my darling, you've made me feel so humble, so cheap and—"

I stopped her beautiful mouth. "How do you think I feel, Nell? How do you think I felt when I stood in that secret chamber and heard you buying my safety—the life and health of the man who'd just turned you down?"

Helena lifted her head, to survey the blue of the sky. The eager look in her face would have made a sick man well.

"I wasn't," she said. "I was a woman all right. But I think—it's all your own doing, you know—but I think, my dear, you'll have a child for a wife."

There is not much more to be told. My cousin's reception of the truth was more than handsome; and I really believe that Barley would not have exchanged the knowledge that I had caused Pharaoh's death for all the gold that lay in the cellars of Yorick or anywhere else. But old Florin's simple tribute would have warmed any man's heart.

"Sir, you have done my duty. And that, by the grace of God; for I myself could never have done it so well."

It was he who said at once that Bugle's body would be found held down by the grill which kept foreign matter from passing into the waste-pipes that led from the moat. Sure enough, there it was. Its removal and the subsequent sites were grisly enough; but the four of us did the business without any help, because, having got so far, it seemed a pity that we should explode a theory which Yorick—and Yorick's neighbors—had been at such pains to digest.

When my cousin broached the question of getting rid of the gold, Helena made no objection, but only begged his assistance to carry through a transaction she dared not attempt alone.

This to our great surprise, till we learned that her solemn trust was now at an end, because her father had said that on her marriage the gold must be reinvested or lodged at a bank. And this in due course was done. My cousin arranged the affair with a famous house and within six weeks, a fortnight before we were wed, the bullion was out of the cellar and Helena mistress of a fortune which was considerably greater than that which her father laid up.

A letter from the Count of Yorick afforded us infinite pleasure and deserves to be set out in full:—

Dear Helena: I hope you are very well. I am not at Yorick because I was bitten by a mad dog and a good Sammarystone brought me straight here. I would like to thank him for that. He saved my life, you know. Fancy a mad dog worrying me. I think I must just have gone out for a walk or something and then it just leaped upon me and worried me and I knew no more. And this is the only one place that I could have been saved from going mad. It makes you get hot all over. By the way, I'm off liquor. Alcohol, I mean. They make me heeling drinks here with virtue in them and I fairly lapp them up. And the wound's healing like a little child. They say liquor's very dangerous for hiderofobia. I nearly died, you know. All the while the good Sammarystones were taking me to the monastery, it was touch and go more than once. The madness was in my veins. It makes you all good. But I'm all right now. They say I can get up for a little while on Sunday and look at the flour. I shall like that. I see the vannie of life now all right. There is a good monk here called Father Bernard. Of course they are all good, but he is the best. He says all is vannie and that the pumps of the world are void. You know there's a lot in that. Well, I must end now. But I thought you might wonder where I was. What a escape! Fancy a mad dog like that ranging about seeking whom he might devour. I tell you, I hadn't a chance. He just leaped upon me, nashing their fangs. I can see it now.

Your loving brother, VALENTINE.

P. S. What about Fanning? I rather hope he's gone. If not, perhaps you could find him out. He swore Spencer was your evil genius, but I thought Spencer had a good eye. Sour grapes, I guess. I suppose you knew what you were doing.

The reformation this letter foreshadowed was more than we could believe, but I am bound to record that it was fairly fulfilled. The shock or the fear of death or, perhaps, his curious communion with that honest and kindly fellowship of simple souls wrought in the count an astonishing change of heart. The weeds that had choked his qualities withered and died, and though I was most apprehensive of our relation, 24 hours' acquaintance had made us the best of friends.

His postscript brings me to Pharaoh. Of that unconscionable scoundrel I have but little to say. That the man was most swift and daring I cannot deny, but I think that his deadly reputation was to him the highwayman's mare. When at last he was standing upon his own feet, even I was able to show that, if his eye was quicker, at least his spine was as brittle as that of another man.

The portrait my cousin had painted will always rank for me as one of the greatest triumphs a painter ever achieved. This is not because he had rendered a beautiful likeness, nor yet because he had captured the leaping spirit that lived in the lovely flesh; but because he had marked, as I had, that the precious eager look was out of his subject's face and had painted it in from memory out of a grateful heart.

Though my life is secure and happy beyond belief, the events of those terrible days are cut as in stone upon my mind. But I would not forget them, if I could; for out of their wrack and turmoil I won my beautiful wife. Often and often I read their grim inscription and gaze at the riotous pageant which this calls up. I see that dreadful labor down in the sparkling dell and Dewdrop finger the paper that I let fall: I tread The Reaping Hook's stairs and I hear—as I shall hear to my dying day—the deadly voice of Pharaoh behind the door: I see him enter the room with Valentine's hand upon his shoulder and I hear him whistling for Sabre with my heart in my mouth: I hear the Carlotto coming with the rush of a mighty wind, and I hear the cough of the Rolls as her engine failed: I hear Rush plying Bugle to make my blood run cold, I hear Pharaoh bullying Freda, and I see the flame of the pistol that saved his life: I see the awful change in my darling's face, and I turn to see Pharaoh smiling behind my back: I smell the fragrance of the valley that knew no sun; and then I see her stricken and trembling in Pharaoh's power, and I hear the roar of our pistols and I see the man spent with hatred, staring into my eyes.

It is written. Out of the eater came forth meat—I can only say I have found this saying most true. The goddess Aphrodite rose from the foam of the sea; but Helena Spencer came out of the wrath of a tempest that had risen to smite us both. Together, saving each other, we rode out that frightful storm—the remembrance of which is not grievous, for our desperately perilous passage, side by side, has bound us more closely together than the sharing of any joys.

A letter from the Count of Yorick afforded us infinite pleasure and deserves to be set out in full:—

Dear Helena: I hope you are very well. I am not at Yorick because I was bitten by a mad dog and a good Sammarystone brought me straight here. I would like to thank him for that. He saved my life, you know. Fancy a mad dog worrying me. I think I must just have gone out for a walk or something and then it just leaped upon me and worried me and I knew no more. And this is the only one place that I could have been saved from going mad. It makes you get hot all over. By the way, I'm off liquor. Alcohol, I mean. They make me heeling drinks here with virtue in them and I fairly lapp them up. And the wound's healing like a little child. They say liquor's very dangerous for hiderofobia. I nearly died, you know. All the while the good Sammarystones were taking me to the monastery, it was touch and go more than once. The madness was in my veins. It makes you all good. But I'm all right now. They say I can get up for a little while on Sunday and look at the flour. I shall like that. I see the vannie of life now all right. There is a good monk here called Father Bernard. Of course they are all good, but he is the best. He says all is vannie and that the pumps of the world are void. You know there's a lot in that. Well, I must end now. But I thought you might wonder where I was. What a escape! Fancy a mad dog like that ranging about seeking whom he might devour. I tell you, I hadn't a chance. He just leaped upon me, nashing their fangs. I can see it now.

Your loving brother, VALENTINE.

P. S. What about Fanning? I rather hope he's gone. If not, perhaps you could find him out. He swore Spencer was your evil genius, but I thought Spencer had a good eye. Sour grapes, I guess. I suppose you knew what you were doing.

The reformation this letter foreshadowed was more than we could believe, but I am bound to record that it was fairly fulfilled. The shock or the fear of death or, perhaps, his curious communion with that honest and kindly fellowship of simple souls wrought in the count an astonishing change of heart. The weeds that had choked his qualities withered and died, and though I was most apprehensive of our relation, 24 hours' acquaintance had made us the best of friends.

His postscript brings me to Pharaoh. Of that unconscionable scoundrel I have but little to say. That the man was most swift and daring I cannot deny, but I think that his deadly reputation was to him the highwayman's mare. When at last he was standing upon his own feet, even I was able to show that, if his eye was quicker, at least his spine was as brittle as that of another man.

The portrait my cousin had painted will always rank for me as one of the greatest triumphs a painter ever achieved. This is not because he had rendered a beautiful likeness, nor yet because he had captured the leaping spirit that lived in the lovely flesh; but because he had marked, as I had, that the precious eager look was out of his subject's face and had painted it in from memory out of a grateful heart.

Though my life is secure and happy beyond belief, the events of those terrible days are cut as in stone upon my mind. But I would not forget them, if I could; for out of their wrack and turmoil I won my beautiful wife. Often and often I read their grim inscription and gaze at the riotous pageant which this calls up. I see that dreadful labor down in the sparkling dell and Dewdrop finger the paper that I let fall: I tread The Reaping Hook's stairs and I hear—as I shall hear to my dying day—the deadly voice of Pharaoh behind the door: I see him enter the room with Valentine's hand upon his shoulder and I hear him whistling for Sabre with my heart in my mouth: I hear the Carlotto coming with the rush of a mighty wind, and I hear the cough of the Rolls as her engine failed: I hear Rush plying Bugle to make my blood run cold, I hear Pharaoh bullying Freda, and I see the flame of the pistol that saved his life: I see the awful change in my darling's face, and I turn to see Pharaoh smiling behind my back: I smell the fragrance of the valley that knew no sun; and then I see her stricken and trembling in Pharaoh's power, and I hear the roar of our pistols and I see the man spent with hatred, staring into my eyes.

It is written. Out of the eater came forth meat—I can only say I have found this saying most true. The goddess Aphrodite rose from the foam of the sea; but Helena Spencer came out of the wrath of a tempest that had risen to smite us both. Together, saving each other, we rode out that frightful storm—the remembrance of which is not grievous, for our desperately perilous passage, side by side, has bound us more closely together than the sharing of any joys.

NO JURY CALLED

Met Chalker and Nellie Gardner, jurors drawn from here for the May term of court, received notice that they would not be called for duty until further notice. Court is set to open Monday, but there are but few jury cases.

WORK ON NEW SCHOOL ADDITION PROGRESSING

Work is progressing nicely on the Pinckney school and the walls of the class rooms are up high enough now so that the floor for the second story will be poured this week. Seven brick layers are now employed, and the structure is rapidly rising.

As the building is now pretty well advanced now, the cornerstone laying ceremony will probably be left out.

Ira Ott of Dexter was in town on Sunday.

Robert Horine of Detroit spent Sunday here.

Mrs. C. J. Clinton and son, Ralph, of Chelsea, visited Mrs. Will Fisk, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weeks and family of Howell were in Pinckney, Sunday.

A crowd of five hundred people attended the free movies put on by the business men on the public square Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. James Docking were called to Grand Rapids last week by the sudden death of her brother, J. W. Bradley, from a heart attack.

Postmaster Miller received a letter and photo from George Reason, who is at Los Angeles, California.

The photo showed a fine catch of barracudas, a fish resembling a small shark.

The Michigan President of the Young Republicans of Michigan, states that a poll of the members of this organization showed a majority in favor of the re-election of Senator James Couzens.

Mr. and Mrs. William Euler, who have been spending the past six months in Fairhope, Alabama, have returned to their farm here. Their daughter, Nellie, remained in the south.

Edward Spears Jr. had his car wrecked Sunday night. He was on his way to the Kirtland farm where he works when he collided with another car near the Will Plummer farm. Neither car was badly damaged and both were able to go on under their own power.

SOFT BALL GAMES

Clark Wins Fourth Straight Game. Ledwidge Wins From Dillon.

In the local softball league Clark continued to hold undisputed possession of first place by winning his fourth straight game. He won from Singer, 10 to 6, in a game which he pitched himself. Ledwidge beat the Dillon team 8 to 7. Dillon went into the seventh inning with a four-run lead but was unable to hold as his pitcher lost control and walked three men. Jack Hannett scored all three with a double down the right field foul line and scored the winning run on Ledwidge's hit. Lefty Reason was the only home run hitter last week. C. Clinton and Emmett Clark hit triples.

Two Ways to Do It

FIRST—

Sometime sooner or later, a motorist will have trouble with his car—motor trouble. He'll get out his tools, spend maybe 3 or 4 evenings in fixing it, and if the car runs when all the parts are back together—he's a good mechanic.

SECOND—

The BEST way is to bring to—
