St. Mary's Picnic Is a Success

Excellent Weather and Large Attendance Helped St. Mary's Parish To Stage Another Great Picnic

Although rain threatened Wednesday, it failed to materialize, and Thursday the weather was ideal for the annual picnic of St. Mary's church of Pinckney. This year the event was held on the public square which proved an ideal place for it.

The diners came early and shortly after 11:00 a. m. the tables were filled to partake of the big chicken dinner. From then on, until about 2:00 p. m., the tables were kept busy supplying the needs of the inner person—new diners replacing those as quickly as they finished.

Following the dinner, the concessions, games and amusements did a thriving business. Among the crowd were most of the county candidates, as well as congressional and district candidates and many former residents of Pinckney and nearby section.

About 4:30 p. m., Hon. Frank Murphy, Democratic candidate for governor, arrived from Brighton, where he had previously spoken. He was met by a local committee and escorted to the speakers' stand. Also on the stand with him were the following Democrats: Prof. John Mayskens of the University of Michigan, candidate for U. S. Senator; Redmond Burr of Ann Arbor, candidate for Congress, 8th district; Howard Elliott of Lansing, candidate for state Senator; Andrew Trappes, Genesee County Prosecutor; Tom Edwards, Flint; Wm. Maginn, Mt. Morris, all candidates for Congress; Charles Hemans, Lansing, candidate for Lt. Governor; William E. Robb of Howell introduced them and all spoke briefly and pledged allegiance to President Roosevelt. Charles Hemans brought out several interesting points. He charged that Isaiah Lebove, whom he characterized as the Jonah of Gov. Comstock's administration, was openly supporting and financing George Welsh's campaign for the Democratic candidate for Governor. He also said that Wilbur Brucker was a delegate to the Democratic convention at Baltimore in 1932, which nominated Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Hemans formerly practiced law here and was given a big hand. All candidates favored the Social Security Act and promised to increase old age pension payments. No Republican speakers put in an appearance. This is the first time that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, that they were not represented on the program.

Hon. Frank Murphy was introduced by Martin Lavan of Brighton, who paid a glowing tribute to him as a humanitarian and 100 percent American. Mr. Murphy has a pleasing voice and held the steady attention of his audience. He said that he was being criticized for feeding the starving in Detroit during the dark days of the Hoover administration. He also stated that he helped draw up a social securities act in 1927 which was taken to Lansing and nighonholed. He needed his unceasing devotion to President Roosevelt and his program, and especially commended his Home Owners Loan Act which had saved thousands of homes in this state, and his farm aid acts. This was the first time the farmers had ever received any direct aid from the government.

A truck was used for the speakers platform and Ray Holt's loud speaker with amplifiers used to broadcast the speeches.

We understand that the total receipts were in the neighborhood of $1,000.

An airplane also enlivened the occasion by taking up passengers.

About 100 couples attended the dance in the evening.

The following from out of town we saw at the picnic: Rev. Frank McQuillan, Detroit; Rev. Wm. Courtney, Owosso; Rev. Walsh, Dexter; Rev. Kiasane, Brighton; Rev. Pedawa of Howell; Wm. Brogan and family, Ionia; Mr. and Mrs. John Kane, Whitmore Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arz, Detroit; Dr. Walter Reason, Detroit; Frank Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Monks, all of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Monks, Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Berry, Stockbridge; Mrs. Belle McIntyre, Forsythe and daughter, Mrs. Lillian McIntyre Fox and daughter, Clyde McIntyre, all of Pontiac; Frank Harris and family, Ann Arbor; James Gallagher and family, Detroit; John Hoey, Sr., George Devine, Mrs. Mary McCabe, Michael Kelly, John Hoey, Jr. and wife, Fred Cunningham and wife, Dexter; Wm. J. Brady, Judge Lyons, Will Robb, John Hagman, Frank Bush, Claude Fawcett, Lester Huff, Irving Kennedy, Arthur Jones, Guy Grieve, Fred Toopie, Floyd Mansell, Joe Gates, Alma Sharp, Matt Brady, Chas. P. Adams, Howell; E. Tupper and Florence Tupper, Flint; Lynn Gardner and wife, Arthur Glatoy, Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howlett, Dan and Clifford Howlett, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McCleer, Gregory; Dr. and Mrs. Neil McCleer, Stockbridge; A. W. Vince Byron, Col. E. L. Markey, Evanston, Ill. There were many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lavey, their daughter, Dorothy, and son, Robert, visited Mr. and Mrs. Steve O'Brien in Stockbridge, Monday.

Local Team Wins Game from Chelsea

Henry Skowerski, Former High School Pitcher, Makes His Debut and Only Allows 5 Hits in Six Innings. Haines and Dilloway Finish Game

Pinckney won from Chelsea in the Tri-County League last Sunday, 10 to 3. The local boys scored two runs in the first inning and were always ahead. Henry Skowerski, former high school pitcher, started for Pinckney. He won a scholarship at Mich. State while attending Hartland high school and won his letter on the Mich. State freshman team last spring as a pitcher. Chelsea got three hits off him in the first inning for one run before he got going from then on until the end of the 6th inning he only allowed two hits and struck out seven men. Pinckney has a double header at Ann Arbor next Sunday, and wanted to give the other pitchers a workout in this game. Harlo Haines pitched the 7th and 8th innings and allowed one run. Jack Dilloway pitched the 9th and was not scored upon.

Pinckney started off with a rush. Rob Smith led off with a double. Ward walked, Hollis sacrificed them along and J. Dilloway scored both with a hit. In the third Pinckney got three more on singles by Ward and J. Dilloway and a triple by Hollis and a double by Dinkel. Two more runs crossed the plate in the 4th on hits by B. Dilloway, Maycock and Smith and Ward and Hollis scored in the 6th. Pinckney's last run came in the 8th when Smith was safe on an error and scored on J. Dilloway's hit. Chelsea's last run was scored in the 8th when Haines walked Kolander, who scored on an infield error.

In the other games, Hamburg beat Manchester, 13 to 2 and Ann Arbor forfeited to Saline by not putting a team in the field. This is the second time this has happened, Chelsea getting a forfeit from them a week ago.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Chelsea was expected to put up quite a battle, as they had won their last two games. Dinkel seems to be safely out of his batting slump as he collected two doubles in five trips to the plate. Skowerski seems to have a great assortment of curves. After the first inning Chelsea could not touch him. The Pinckney outfield had an easy day of it. Harlo Haines in left field, making the only putout. Floyd Haines, local high school star, relieved Maycock in the 7th. Barth had too much stuff for him and he struck out.

Pinckney again played a nice fielding game. It's funny they can't play this same brand of ball against Hamburg. Ann Arbor has not been able to put a team on the field for the last two Sundays. Pinckney will take a team there next Sunday, and is prepared to win, either by play or forfeit. A victory here will put Pinckney in a tie with Hamburg for first place for the first half of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Handee of Ann Arbor spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Berry.

Local Scouts Are Invited to Mich. State

At Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, Saturday, September 26th, 1936

Livingston County Scoutmasters today received word from Scout Executive Walter MacPeck announcing that the Athletic Association of Michigan State College cordially invites the Boy Scouts of the State of Michigan to attend the Twentieth Annual Boy Scout Day at Michigan State College on Saturday, September 26th, 1936.

All scouts, executives, scoutmasters and drivers of cars will be admitted free to the Wayne University-Michigan State College football game at 2:00 P. M., Eastern Standard Time. The scout uniform or scout registration card will serve as admission. Scouts should wear the uniform if possible. All groups will enter at gate 20, at the southeast corner of the stadium.

The annual parade of the scouts has been necessarily eliminated because of the lack of sufficient area in which to hold the great number of scouts. Macklin Field is now shaped like a bowl with eleven more rows of seats added at the bottom of the old stands and continued around both ends. The addition of lowering the playing field about eight feet and removing the running track.

All scout executives and scoutmasters visiting us on Boy Scout Day are required to register in the Main Hall of the Gymnasium, where they will receive complete instructions. Registration is to provide us with the name of the leader in charge and the approximate number of boys in the group. Please report immediately upon arrival in East Lansing.

Some troops or councils may wish to make this an overnight camping trip. For the benefit of those arriving on Friday night, or Saturday morning, we have set aside a place adjacent to the Freshman football field on which to pitch tents and cook meals. Saturday morning will be devoted to sightseeing trips around the campus. These trips will start from the gymnasium with a guide in charge of each group. If you expect to pitch tents and cook meals, please advise the undersigned the probable time of arrival and the approximate number in the party.

Last year 3550 scouts visited the Michigan State campus.

OBITUARY
Mirnaveva Meabon
Mirnaveva Meabon, daughter of George, Jr., and Myra Marshall Meabon, passed away at her home in this village Wednesday, Aug. 6, 1936, after an illness of several weeks duration.

The deceased was born at Plainfield, December 22, 1915, but ten years ago she came with her parents to Pinckney, where the family had since resided. She pursued her studies in the local school until four years ago when the development of chronic heart ailment forced her to give up her school work.

However, she was seldom idle, and during the last year she had been employed by the King-Seely Co. of Ann Arbor. Through these activities and through her connection with the local Congregational church, of which she was a member, Mirnaveva had gained a wide circle of friends to whom she had endeared herself by her kindly and helpful disposition.

DROWNED BOY'S BODY FOUND

The body of Bobbie Butler, 7, who disappeared from the Nocker Camp at Ore Lake, near Hamburg last Monday, was found Saturday afternoon in 6 or 7 feet of water.

The Nocker's conduct a boys' and girls' camp at Ore Lake. The dead boy, who was camping there with his 11 year old brother, disappeared on Monday. The Sheriff's officers and State police spent the entire week searching for him. Thursday, some 50 pounds of dynamite was exploded without result.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Butler, were summoned from Detroit and spent the week at Ore Lake.

The dead boy's father works in the pattern room at the Ford factory in River Rouge. The entire department came out to Ore Lake, Saturday and helped look for the body. Coronat Claude Rounsville of Powerville was called, and decided the death was due to drowning and no inquest was necessary.

NOTICE

The regular meeting of Pinckney Circle of King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Burt Daller on Thursday p. m.

Lunch and program will be furnished by the committee at the small price of 15 cents. Everyone invited.

SCHOOL NEARING COMPLETION

Work on the new Pinckney school addition is rapidly nearing completion. Painters finished painting the gymnasium last week and as the floor is already laid, the room is about finished. A little work remains to be done to the stage. The carpenters are at work now finishing off the four class rooms. This is being done in dark gumwood. The oak block floor has already been laid in one class room and the others will be laid as soon as they are ground down and leveled. The floors are fire-proof. The bottom is concrete and steel. Asphalt is poured on top of the concrete and the oak block are placed in this while it is hot and allowed to set. A firm floor is the result. The plumbers are working right along and the wiring is completed. The electric fixtures and doors will not be hung, we understand, until the painters are done.

NO PROGRESS BEING MADE

We understand that the Ford factory proposition is at a standstill here and probably will not go through. A number of property owners have refused to sell. Mr. Ford stated that all must sell or he would not consider the proposition.

When the Ford Motor Co. attempted to establish a factory here a few years back, one or two people killed the proposition. Mr. Ford offers $25 per acre for slawage rights on the swamp land. Two people, we understand, ask $60 per acre. Local business men accompanied a Ford representative around to see the property owners, and all but two were willing to sell.

Four Amendments To Be on Ballot

Three Propositions to Come Before Voters at Coming State Election

The secretary of state's office is preparing for general distribution a summary of the four proposed constitutional amendments which will appear on the general election ballot for approval or rejection by the voters November 2nd.

The summary will carry the amendments in the order in which they will appear on the ballot. Given first place is an amendment proposed by joint resolution of the legislature, which would permit police to offer as court evidence any weapon seized outside of a dwelling house regardless of whether the seizure was authorized by a warrant or made during a proper arrest.

Second place on the ballot will go to another legislative initiative proposal, which would permit counties to incorporate, restrict their tax rates, and their power to borrow and contract debts. Counties by referendum could adopt a charter under which they could pass laws and ordinances relating to all of their municipal business. The proposed amendment is loosely described as a "country home rule" amendment.

Next on the ballot will be a proposal to write into the constitution a prohibition against the collection of any tax on the sale of bread, milk, dairy and cereal products, meat, lard, vegetables shortening, fish, eggs, sugar, salt, spices, vegetables and fruit, when they are offered for sale, and prepared meals.

The amendment was initiated by petitions. Sales tax accountants estimated its adoption would reduce revenues to their division by approximately $12,000,000 a year.

The last place on the ballot will be given a proposed amendment which would eliminate all local property taxes and substitute for them a state tax on income from real and personal property, and from all other sources. The state legislature would determine by general law the allocation of the proposed income tax revenues back to local municipalities.

A majority vote at the general election would place any or all of the proposed income tax revenues back to local municipalities.

A majority vote at the general election would place any or all of the proposed amendments into the constitution.

INCREASED TAX COLLECTIONS
The state board of tax administration released Wednesday that the state sales tax had fulfilled the expectations of budget experts and estimated revenue for 1935-36, $9,743,891.75 in the fiscal year 1935-36.

The fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, collection of the tax amounted to $9,743,891.75 in the fiscal year 1935-36. The increase of revenue this year over the amount of $7,954,522.91, accounted for the rise in sales tax revenues has been continuous throughout the year. The largest collection was in July, when the 3 percent tax yielded $4,600,680.61. The second highest monthly revenues were collected in January, $4,574,973.93.

Governor Fitzgerald had anticipated the collection of $42,000,000 for the first fiscal year of his administration. Later Joseph S. Donnelly, sales tax director, raised that estimate by saying he expected this year's collection to exceed those of 1934 by $8,000,000.

HAVE HIRED NEW TEACHER

The Pinckney School Board have hired John Weiss of Clarksville, Mich. as mathematics teacher for the coming year.

Mr. Weiss is a graduate of Mt. Pleasant Normal with several years' experience teaching. He and his mother expect to move here.

TO PLAY AT SILVER LAKE, TONIGHT

The boys, 14 years old, of this section, will play the Y. M. C. A. boys at Silver Lake tonight. All wishing to go be at the Dispatch office at 6:30 p. m.

SOFTBALL TEAM PLAYS AT PLAINFIELD, THURSDAY

The Pinckney softball team will play at Plainfield on Thursday evening of this week. All players be at the Dispatch office at 6:30 p. m. The following are asked, and others who wish to go: Dinkel, Swarthout, the Singer brothers, Jack Reason, Miller brothers, VanBlaricum brothers, Led-wick brothers, Haines brothers, Dr. Clark, etc.

TO CANVASS ALL VOTERS

At a G. H. district Republican meeting held at Lansing last week, plans were made for canvassing all voters in the district. Hon. Lynn Gardner was appointed Livingston county chairman and Edward Parker sub-chairman for Putnam township. Every voter in the district is supposed to be visited before the election.

Mrs. Lola Rogers and daughter, Martha, spent the week end with Dr. Clark.

Current Comment

Just what course Ex-Governor Comstock expects to pursue, is hard to figure out. His recent press interview in which he referred to the "Hogskis and O'Piggies" would not seem to commend him to the Polish and Irish members of the Democratic party. In his last press interview he seems to have postponed his walk and may not take it at all, providing George Welsh gets the Democratic nomination for governor. Frank Murphy, he evidently classes among the O'Piggies. We can't get his viewpoint. For years we admit, he was the angel of the Michigan Democratic party. Several times he was their gubernatorial candidate when there was not the slightest chance of success. In 1932, things changed. On account of the depression, the Polish, negroes and independent voters went over to the Democrats in droves, and Comstock was swept into office. In order to hold those newly-won voters the national administration desired to reward them with a certain amount of patronage. Comstock and his friends opposed this and the threatened bolt is the result.

In an interview with Donald McGowan, Detroit News reporter, Luren Dickinson, Michigan's leading dry, expresses grief at the report that Gov. Fitzgerald will use his influence to swing the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor away from Dickinson to Lt. Gov. Thomas Read. Read and Senator Munshaw of Grand Rapids formed a block in the last legislature and blocked most of the legislation sponsored by the governor. However, the hatchet seems to have been buried, because Gov. Fitzgerald, in a personal message, asked that neither Lt. Gov. Read nor Senator Couzens be opposed in the primaries. Wilbur Brucker ignored this by coming out against Couzens, and Dickinson also entered against Read. Many think that the real reason for the governor's opposition is that Brucker has always been classed as a dry and Dickinson is now president of the Anti-Saloon League. The governor has soft-pedaled the liquor issue and with two such dries as running mates, his ticket would have a prohibition trend.

Both campaign managers, Farley and Hamilton, are making extravagant claims which they probably do not believe themselves. Both claim their candidates will be elected almost unanimously. The average person does not believe this. When the votes are counted the South will still be Democratic and the New England states, Republican. According to press reports, Gov. Fitzgerald in his recent visit to Gov. Landon, informed the latter that it is apparent that George Welsh will defeat Frank Murphy for the Democratic nomination for governor. Here, the wish is evidently father to the thought. These claims are set forth solely for the purpose of influencing the voter who wants to be on the winning side. We doubt that they will accomplish this.

The liquor industry should realize that they are still on probation and their privileges can be revoked by the people in the same manner as they were bestowed. According to press reports, the Michigan Beverage Retailers' Association has advised its members not to obey certain regulations of the state liquor control commission. One of these regulations which is to be ignored is prohibiting retailers from cashing working men's pay checks. Another is limiting the number of brands of beer to be sold. Both of these seem reasonable. The first is to prevent workmen from spending their paychecks on muckety beer. The liquor industry must play ball with the people if they expect to continue to enjoy their privileges.

The American Liberty League, fostered by the Duponts, etc., has sunk what is believed by many to be its swan song. In a statement issued to the press, it declares that it will endorse no party or any candidate. This would seem to take it entirely out of the campaign picture. This league was organized by a group of millionaires scared to death by Roosevelt's "share the wealth" program. They attracted a number of contentments to their ranks, started off with a big outburst with Al Smith in the leading role, and then found they had no place to go. As all parties viewed them as one would a case of leprosy. They may fade out of the picture, but in a pinch President Roosevelt will not get their cash donations.

Eleven men, who were arrested on warrants issued by Judge Hartick at Pontiac, who is conducting the one-man Black Legion grand jury investigation, pleaded guilty to flooding and giving cover oil to Walter Hardin, Lee Foyth and Clarence Sherman of Pontiac in 1931, and were released on suspended sentences Wednesday by Municipal Judge Milton F. Corneely. He said they had been punished enough by being forced to stand trial and that they had acted without malice, but with zeal for the flag. All then denied being members of the Black Legion. We wonder if the Wayne County Legislature, who used the same methods, will use the same leniency.

Mr. B. C. Daines and Mrs. Daines, who were arrested at Lansing last week, spent the week end with Dr. Clark.

Olympic Games Formally Opened in Berlin

WITH spectacular ceremony the Olympic Games were officially opened in Berlin when a graceful runner bearing the Olympic flame that had been started from Greece dashed into the stadium, lowered the silver torch before Reichsfuehrer Hitler and kindled the sacred fire in a great cresset. Then came the formal parade of the athletes of fifty nations, natty uniformed and marching with precision while guns boomed and bands blared. Some of the foreign groups gave the Hitler salute as they passed by the chancellor. Others did not. Among the latter were the Americans, who placed their straw hats on their left breasts and marched by with eyes right. Nor was the American flag dipped before the fuhrer, the explanation being that this was done only before the President. The American contingent was greeted by an outburst of whistling which the knowing declared meant "the raspberry." But on the whole the affair was decidedly successful.

Adolf Hitler

In the first day's contests the United States started things with a rush. Jesse Owens, Ohio State's colored star, broke the Olympic and world records in winning his heat in the 100-meter dash; and Johnson, who is from California, set a new Olympic record of 2.03 meters. In some other events the Americans did well, and in yet others they were eliminated. In the 100 meter finals Owens won and Metcalfe of Chicago was second. Helen Stephens of Missouri, in winning two heats of the women's 100 meter event, broke the world record both times.

By a vote of 36 to 27 Tokio won the Olympic games for 1940, Finland being the losing bidder. The Americans, South America and the British empire were virtually solid for Japan, which offered a transportation subsidy of about $485,000 to offset costs of traveling in the Far East. The Finns urged that the games be returned to a Spartan simplicity.

Lewis and Allies Absent

When A. F. of L. Council Meets JOHN L. LEWIS, head of the United Mine Workers, and his 11 associates on the Committee for Industrial Organization, made good their promise not to be present when the executive council of the American Federation of Labor met to try them on charges of "insurrection." The council members were plainly angered by this defiance and it was predicted they would proceed to find the defendants guilty "in absentia" and to suspend the unions in the Lewis group. This would be the greatest split in the ranks of American organized labor since the federation was formed fifty years ago. It would mean the loss of about one-third of the federation's membership.

Previous to the meeting of the council President William Green in an impassioned speech accused Lewis and his followers of substituting "jungle law" for democracy in their efforts to organize the steel industry. He said he was prepared to make any personal sacrifice, even to resigning his office, to bring about peace and "bind up the wounds."

Col. Roosevelt Willing to Run for Governor

NEW YORK. Republicans are to nominate a candidate for governor at their party convention in September, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt has said in a letter that was made public that he is willing to accept that honor if the party so desires.

Colonel Roosevelt, now forty-eight years old, was the Republican candidate for governor in 1924 and was defeated by Alfred E. Smith. Since then he has been governor of Puerto Rico and governor-general of the Philippines.

Puerto Rico Nationalists Are Found Guilty

PEDRO ALBIZU CAMPOS, leader of the Puerto Rico Nationalist party, and seven of his associates were found guilty at San Juan of a conspiracy to overthrow the United States government in the island by force and were sentenced by Federal Judge R. A. Cooper to prison terms ranging from two to six years. In the first trial of these men the jury had disagreed. The defense attorneys gave notice of appeal.

The case originated in a clash between Nationalists and police last October in which several persons were slain. Following this, Col. E. Francis Riggs, chief of insular police, was murdered, presumably in revenge for the killing of Nationalists in the October fight.

New Locarno Pact May Give Europe Security

WHILE the nations of Europe were worrying over the Spanish rebellion and the danger that it might bring about open rupture among the Fascist and anti-Fascist governments of the continent, steps were taken to assure peace. Germany and Italy accepted the invitation of Great Britain, France and Belgium to participate in a conference this fall from which it is hoped another and better Locarno pact will emerge.

No date for the conference has been set, but it was expected to be held either just before or soon after the meeting of the league of nations assembly in Geneva in September.

Zioncheck Does Not Seek Re-election to Congress

HEREAFTER Washington will have to get along without the excitement provided by the antics of Marion A. Zioncheck of Seattle, Wash. That eccentric—to put it mildly—gentleman has announced that he is not a candidate for re-election, because of his mother's ill health, and says he wants to be America's forgotten man. Zioncheck has settled down to private law practice.

Progress of Revolution in Spanish Republic

GEN. FRANCISCO FRANCO'S rebel forces in Spain, according to late reports, were pressing the government troops seriously and winning some bloody encounters. This despite the claims of Madrid that the Fascists had been checked. The rebel columns advancing on the capital from the south were reported to be threatening communications between Madrid and the eastern seacoast at Valencia and Alicante, chief sources of the government's food supplies. Leaders of the insurgents claimed they held Huelva, important seaport, and all the territory between Seville and the Portuguese border.

The government, now a red dictatorship, has taken possession of all church property and assumed control of all industry and agriculture. It also has confiscated the merchant marine to form a defense fleet. The loyalists were encouraged by victories in and around San Sebastian.

Fascist Italy has been accused of aiding the Spanish rebels, and it is asserted a number of Italian bombing planes were sent to them in Morocco. The leftist French government naturally is in sympathy with the Madrid government and Frenchmen, unarmed, have been given permission to cross the border to aid in putting down the rebellion. German and Russian sympathies, also, are ranged on opposite sides, and all this caused fears that a general war might result. France called on all other nations to preserve neutrality, and Spain warned Italy and Germany to keep hands off.

Day by day the struggle in Spain became bloodier and more ruthless. Summary executions of prisoners were common on both sides and these deaths were probably as numerous as those in battle. The government planes showered bombs on the rebel strongholds, virtually destroying many towns; and the Fascist bombers engaged in desperate fights with loyal warships.

President Roosevelt's Vacation Is Ended

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ended his 437 mile cruise when his yacht docked at Campobello island, New Brunswick, where he has a summer home.

Mr. Roosevelt remained at Campobello only two days and then took a special train to Quebec, where he visited with Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada. Immediately after this meeting, Mr. Roosevelt took train for his summer residence in Hyde Park, N. Y., and there began mapping the plans for his campaign for re-election. Half a dozen leaders of the Democratic party, including National Chairman James A. Farley, were summoned into conference with their chief. The President also obtained from Secretary Wallace and Chester Davis a report on drought conditions and relief needs.

Smaller Scale Projects in New PWA Program

EMPHASIS is placed on smaller scale projects to be completed speedily, in the third building program of the public works administration, which was opened by the allotment of $22,742,034 by President Roosevelt. It includes 352 projects in 37 states, and the largest of these is a courthouse for New York city to cost the government $4,835,000. The average allotment is only $64,323.

Secretary Ickes, PWA administrator, said that, in addition to 45 per cent donation, PWA will lend $2,142,000 to help communities defray their 55 per cent share of the cost. President Roosevelt has ordered that all projects "be commenced by October 1, 1936, reach a peak by the end of the year and be completed by October 1, 1937."

Frank Knox Notified of His Nomination

FACING an enthusiastic crowd that completely filled the big Chicago stadium, Col. Frank Knox received from Senator Steiwer of Oregon the official notification of his nomination for the vice presidency by the Republican party. National Chairman John Hamilton introduced the senator, who spoke briefly but forcefully and with his customary eloquence. As Col. Knox stepped forward to deliver his speech of acceptance he was greeted by a roar of applause that continued for many minutes. His fellow citizens were glad to express their gratification for the honor done him, and the thousands from outside Chicago were no less warm in their appreciation of the candidate. In the streets surrounding the stadium was another vast throng of people who, unable to get into the building, listened to the proceedings as broadcast by a loud-speaker system.

Colonel Knox

Unlike Governor Landon, Colonel Knox devoted much of his address to the alleged failures of the Roosevelt administration which, he said, had the most glorious opportunity in the history of the nation but ignored its responsibility, failed in its job and defaulted in its obligations. "From the day that it took office," he declared, "it embarked on a series of hysterical experiments on the economic life of a burdened people. At a time when universal co-operation was a necessity it initiated a campaign of abuse and vilification of business men. At a time when the credit of the country should have been strengthened it inaugurated a policy of credit adulteration and currency experiment that demoralized foreign trade and frightened domestic finance. It set up a system of regimentation of industry that reduced production and prevented re-employment. By coercion of congress it forced the passage of reform measures so recklessly drawn that they hamstringed the revival of enterprise and paralyzed the renewal of investment. It installed a regimentation of agriculture that destroyed food and reduced foreign markets and increased the cost of living and multiplied the expense of relief."

"At a time when private industry was struggling desperately for a new start it set up governmental enterprise to compete with private business. At a time when the burden of taxation was already hard to bear it embarked on a policy of squandering public funds and increasing the weight of taxes. At a time when united effort and mutual good-will would have completed recovery it promoted sectional hatred and class strife. At a time when returning business confidence was ending depression it began a campaign to terrorize business and subjugate the banks. At a time when confidence in the character of government was vital it established a spoils system. "No one can define the New Deal or even describe it. But we know what it means. It means federal control over local business, over local bank credit, over local wages, over local conditions of work. It leads to federal regimentation of the labor, the business, and the home of every American citizen. It leads to price-fixing and production control by federal authority. It leads inevitably to the extinction of the small business man, to the end of free enterprise in America."

Government Crop Report Shows Drought Damage THE WEEKLY crop report and weather summary of the Department of Agriculture revealed that the drought and high temperatures were playing havoc with the corn crop in most of the leading producing states. In some sections there will not even be fodder and over a much larger area no grain will be obtained this year. There were good rains, however, in parts of the central and eastern areas and improvement was noted there in both corn and pasture. The present drought in Iowa, the department said, has caused greater damage to corn than that of 1934. The summary reported almost complete destruction of the crop in two southern and two western tiers of counties.

Fashion Back to Femininity Trend

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MANN IS H L Y

tailored to the prink of perfection during the practical hours and for sports? Decidedly so, if you would be smartly in fashion. However, it is an entirely different story which the mode is telling "what to wear" at festive midsummer events that take place amidst glamorous settings. Comes then into the style scene as lacy and lovely and sheer costumes-beautiful as ere graced a fashion picture.

The lavish use of nets, laces, organzas, marisettes, tulles and similar materials of filmy texture and transparency quite exceeds anything of its kind seen for many a year. In the daytime they are tailored and for the night hours and for garden party wear these entrancing sheers are made up as pretty-pretty as genius and imagination can possibly create them.

The trio of dainty costumes in the picture most eloquently carries the message of lovely ladies clad in beguilingly feminine array such as is gracing the midsummer landscape with romance and the picturesque. The first impression one gets from this group, aside from the beauty of the sheer materials, is that of big hats, cunning puff sleeves and hemlines that are generously and gracefully wide. Since first impressions usually ring true, we learn important facts in regard to the correct silhouette for 1936 midsummer garden party and dance frocks.

The winsome dress pictured to the left is of a very fine crossbar net. Style points to note are the fancifully picketed hemline with like-pointed ruffings on the voluminous puffed sleeves, the flower ruche about the throat, also the huge-brimmed hat that is made of the selfsame net (stiffly starched) as the gown. Here also we see the return of the parasol.

Garden party dresses when they are as fanciful and airy as the one to the right in the picture make one think of a fairy-story princess, stepping lightly across her garden. The dress is pure white, in organza most beautifully embroidered to knee-depth about the hemline of the skirt and on the sleeves. The gown is simply cut, its graceful lines taking on an added touch of the exquisite in that a double row of binche lace borders the wide skirt working up into a deep point in the front in combination with the embroidery. The treatment of the puffed sleeves is fittingly quaint.

Lovers of beautiful lace will adore the gown shown centered in foreground. It is one of the loveliest from among most lovely dresses brought over on the maiden voyage of the royal steamship Queen Mary and shown at the display of exclusive British fashion creations recently presented here in America. It adds to its interest to know that it was one of four Reville creations approved for the royal garden party of King Edward VIII at Buckingham palace. The gown is of exquisitely fine lupin-blue cellophane lace. The girdle is of forget-me-nots, matching the crown of the hat in the same color. It would seem next to impossible to imagine anything prettier than this fantasy of lace and flowers which is done all in delicate blues.

In the present back-to-femininity trend, the garden party dress has its important place, especially when in the instances cited in this group it is just as perfect for country club or roof dancing on summer evenings.

"PAX" SILK PRINTS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Prints continue to hold sway in the world of fashion. The lure of them is stronger than ever. Shown in the picture is one of the very interesting and unique "pax" (pax being the Latin word for peace) silk prints designed by a member of the board of directors of the international league for peace. These really handsome silk prints are available to women who are interested in adopting the peace-in-fashion movement. The dress pictured is of a blue and white silk sheer with the word pax so skillfully used as a motif it becomes a part of the patterning. The wide white-bordered cape-bertha is pleated and shirred in accord with the latest fashion trend.

FROSTED JEWELRY LEADS THE VOGUE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Summer's newest jewelry is "white and frosty." Rings, bracelets and necklaces that look as icy as a cool drink are being worn at fashionable summer resorts. Crystalline and opaque whites are frequently combined. Crystalline alone adds a glamorous note to costumes in the new smoky pastels, opaque white is good with copper-brown, and with the south-sea batik prints or flowered challis.

Choker necklaces are staging a come-back. Large frosty rings are frequently worn to match. To set off the rings, nails are adopting shades of smoky red polish. Massive couturier rings with multi-colored stones are also smart, and require bright nail lacquer such as robin red or coral to give the hands the proper balance.

For moments when the urge to be feminine has you in its grip, try yielding to the rage for flower jewelry. Fabric flowers, raffia flowers, carved flower motifs, are used—even the real thing straight from the florist. Any flower goes, from daisies to forget-me-nots. Some of the necklaces tie demurely at the back of the neck with a ribbon.

New Mode in Smart Sports Dresses for Daytime Wear

Smart dresses for daytime wear during the summer include grand new sports and spectator sports outfits. Molyneux has scored with a new design made for his private clients, who include several Americans known for their elegance. A suit of beige woolen has a most interesting belt which is made of natural tree bark and is fastened with a sheaf of dried grass. Another successful number is a dress of navy and white linen tweed with the skirt of wide, flat pleats. It is worn under a navy redingote.

KITCHEN DEVICES OFFER SHORTCUTS

Three simple ideas for time-saving are offered women by members of the home economics extension service at Michigan State College. One is the construction of a service wagon, another is a mop pail chariot, and the third is a suggestion for fixing the bottom of a drawer to eliminate the necessity of replacing soiled papers used for lining.

Besides framework, the suggestions for construction of the home made service wagon include using three ply wood for the shelves, two stationary wheels from a baby carriage or a child's wagon, two swivel wheels such as from a basinette, the handle from the towel bar of an old wash stand, linoleum cemented on shelf, enamel paint and perhaps plate glass from a broken windshield cut to fit the top of the tray.

Uses for the service wagon range from carrying food and dishes to and from the dining room, for stacking dishes before washing, table for bathing the baby, a place to stack ironed clothes and then used to put them away, serving food to the sick, serving refreshments in other rooms than the kitchen or dining room.

The simple suggestion eliminating the use of papers to line the bottom of drawers is worthwhile. A permanent finish in the bottom of the drawer will do the trick, also permitting easier cleaning. Linoleum can be used, cemented to the bottom of the drawer. Or a washable paint, spar varnish, oilcloth pasted down, or a penetrating finish are recommended.

The mop pail chariot deals with that prosaic job of mopping and scrubbing floors. The chariot is a platform for carrying the mop pail. A 12 inch by 12 inch board is large enough for the base. Four cleats can be nailed to hold the pail in place at the base. Placing a good flat top roller bearing caster on each of the four corners of the bottom completes the job.

MICHIGAN WEARS ALFALFA CROWN

Program at Michigan State College Celebrates Strides Made in Growing King of Forage Crops on Million Acres.

In celebration of Michigan's national leadership in the use of alfalfa for high quality feed and pasture, the Farmers' Day program held recently on the campus of Michigan State College brought back to thousands of farmers members of the methods used to introduce the crop in projects began more than 15 years ago.

The 1926 census credited the state with having 74,000 acres planted to alfalfa. O. E. Reed, chief of the federal bureau of dairy industry, Washington, D. C., then was head of the dairy department at the college, and J. F. Cox was head of the farm crops department. In November, 1921, the first of a series of "alfalfa" meetings was held in Allegan county. Dairymen were told how to test soils, how to prepare land and sow the seed and how to use the alfalfa crop.

The state then had about 750,000 head of dairy cattle, and dairymen found the crop offered many advantages. The seedlings increased yearly until it now is estimated at 1,040,000 acres. The dairy cow population now is about 934,000 animals.

One of the newest developments in the use of alfalfa is in silage. Test containers were opened up during the Farmers' Day program for inspection by many of the 5,500 visitors. C. F. Huffman, professor in dairy husbandry, explained why the alfalfa silage process was developed. In normal seasons, alfalfa cannot always be cured as high quality hay. To preserve the feed, Huffman recommended the method of ensiling the cut crop. Sixty pounds of molasses to a ton of the wet or green feed is mixed with the cut alfalfa to aid fermentation.

HOW TO CATCH BLUEGILLS

The secret of why certain fishermen in this district have been making limit catches of bluegills while others fishing nearby have caught only two or three, has leaked out. A conservation officer has decided to pass the information along for the benefit of all fishermen.

"Select a black-gnat fly preferably one on a No. 10 hook, and weight it with a lead shot or small sinker," he says. "Then collect a supply of the small white grubs which can be obtained easily in any pasture around here. Fasten one of these grubs on the sharp point of your hook and you're ready to start fishing."

The fishing technique is to manipulate the rod so that the fly and grub move up and down in the water, attracting the fish. "This combination has been producing limit catches of bluegills near here while others using different methods haven't seemed to have much luck," the officer says.

HUNTING LICENSES WILL BE ON SALE SEPT. 1

Nearly 750,000 Michigan hunting licenses for the season of 1936-1937 will be printed and ready for distribution to nearly 2,000 license dealers by the first of September. It was announced by conservation authorities here. It will require several weeks to complete distribution to all dealers.

Licenses now being printed are as follows: Resident small-game licenses, 560,000; non-resident small game licenses, 25,000; resident deer licenses, 140,000; non-resident deer licenses, 3,000.

Deer hunters' license tags which will be used for the first time this fall and the licenses themselves, will be interleaved in the same booklets. Every other page will be a deer license and every other page a license tag, the numbers corresponding.

The 1935-1936 small game hunting licenses and the 1935-1936 gun permits which are issued by conservation officers to all who hold licenses will expire on Sept. 30.

It is expected the new direct of game laws will be ready for distribution together with the hunting licenses by Sept. 1.

PUBLIC EXHIBITION DRILL AT LEGION CONVENTION

One of the most colorful events of the state American Legion convention to be held here August 16, 17 and 18, will be a public exhibition drill by the world-famous "American Legion Zouaves of Jackson."

Under the command of Capt. William Sparks, the Zouaves corps has been in existence for a great many years and has given exhibitions of drills in all the major capitals of Europe. These exhibitions were staged while the organization was in Paris attending the national convention of the American Legion held in the French capital several years ago. Capt. Sparks has been mayor of his home city three times and is one of the leading manufacturers of the City of Jackson. Under his command the Zouaves have won five national championships. Additional honors were bestowed upon the organization when it was invited to give an exhibition before the cadets of the United States Military academy at West Point.

While touring Europe, the corps was invited, by special request of Premier Mussolini, to give an exhibition drill at the Military University of Rome. Another feature of the foreign tour was a drill staged in the Invalides in Paris at the request of the French government. This exhibition was sponsored by General Joffre, famous French World War figure.

All the famous formations of the Zouaves will be seen while the organization is attending the convention here, and its presence will furnish one of the highlights of the convale.

At the annual meeting of the Michigan Postmasters' Association held at Port Huron last week, Claude Cady, Lansing postmaster and former sixth district congressman, was elected president.

DRIVE UNDER WAY FOR $16,000,000 IN BACK TAXES

Second Payments Under Ten-Year Plan Now Due; Total To Set New Record.

With the campaign on in every county in Michigan to collect the second installment of taxes due under the ten-year plan, State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry predicted today that the payments will aggregate $16,000,000.

A sizable army of taxpayers already has begun marching on the various county treasurers, demanding a "paid" stamp on their bills. Early collection reports all have been good. "On the basis of our experience a year ago, when the ten-year plan was inaugurated, I have no hesitancy about saying that this year's drive will be a big success," Treasurer Fry said. "I look for collection to top last year's total of $15,000,000 and to reach possibly $16,000,000."

"Business conditions are better generally, some individuals have kept their bonus money to pay the tax installment, and an investment in real estate is well worth protecting at this time. I am sure that practically everybody who paid his first installment on back taxes will realize the necessity for keeping up the payments."

"One of the purposes of the campaign is to acquaint those who failed to pay the first installment with the fact that they may still do so, with only a slight extra charge. A third group, who are now financially able to do so, will pay the whole thing up in this way saving large amounts of interest and clearing the title to their property."

The rush of the public to pay in advance of the September 1 deadline recalls last year's jams at the treasurers' offices. All indications are that again these eleventh hour visitors will have to wait in line and take their turn. Officials point out that those who pay now, not only gain the comfort of knowing that their property is protected, but save themselves this trouble of waiting.

The onslaught of the taxpayers gives visible proof of a thriving public realization that the State of Michigan is offering a bargain. Under the plan, taxes for 1932 and prior years—for state, counties, villages, townships, and all cities except Detroit, which has its own seven-year plan—are lumped and then divided into ten annual payments. All the heavy interest on these old taxes has been cancelled. The next interest amounts to only four per cent per year on each installment, figured from September 1, 1935, when the plan went into effect.

Those who are just starting in and making the two payments, put themselves on an equal footing with the rest, getting another eight years to meet the balance owing.

The ten-year plan, embodied in the Moore-Holbeck Act, was the happy solution of an extremely serious tax problem. Many millions of dollars in taxes lay uncollected, and apparently uncollectable, on tax rolls. Accumulated for years, the taxes in their net amount were so huge that the property owners, despairing of ever paying the total, refused to pay any one year's delinquent tax. Interest and penalty on the older unpaid taxes ran as high as 50 and 60 per cent of the original amount, a fact which further discouraged payment.

Governmental units, need of the money which these taxes represented. A tax title sale would have raised funds, but thousands of families would have lost their homes and life savings. Pledging the delinquencies for a good sized loan was also considered and rejected, because paying back the interest and principal on the loan would just have added that much more of a burden on the already overburdened property owner.

Then the part-payment idea was evolved. The state went right to its own property owners for assistance, and made the paying of taxes popular. Of the $15,000,000 collected last year, about ten per cent went to the state treasury, while the other ninety per cent went into local treasuries. The $15,000,000 was actual cash. Through payment of it, $55,000,000 in taxes was "revived" and shifted from dead to active rolls, with collection of the whole amount merely a matter of time.

So successful has been Michigan's new method of collecting delinquent taxes that it has commanded nationwide interest. All county treasurers have the machinery of their offices geared to provide a maximum of service, knowing that the tide of taxpayers will be a rising one right up to the last minute.

The campaign, for which $27,000 has been appropriated this year, is again being handled by Milton M. Alexander of Detroit.

LICENSE PLATE FLOOD AGAIN AT HIGH TIDE

During the period of nine working days at the state capital from July 27 to August 6, an average of 26,504 applications for 1936 motor vehicle license plates were received in the Department of State at Lansing, from departmental branch offices. Records in the offices of Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, show that the total for the period was 238,532 applications.

The semi-annual high tide was caused by the expiration of the time limit on half-year permits or "stickers" August 1. By that time it was necessary for the owner of every motor vehicle operated on the streets and highways, to have paid the second and last installment of the cost of the 1936 plates.

Added to the rush from owners of cars already in operation, was the volume from purchasers of new cars. While plates are issued directly from branch offices throughout the state, other transactions cannot be determined until reports from branches are recorded in the Lansing offices. Despite the seasonal rush and unavoidable peak in license plate work, title registration and the like, is handled mail direct to the Lansing offices—being answered within 48 hours of the time the inquiries are received.

SYNOPSIS

Jeb Braddon, young and fantastically successful broker of Chicago, is infatuated with Agnes Gleneth, beautiful daughter of a retired manufacturer, Rodney, a doctor, in love with Agnes, visits his brother, Jeb. Rod plans work in Rochester. Jeb suggests that he make a try for Agnes before leaving. In Rod there is a deeper, obstinate desire than in Jeb. Rod visits Agnes and tells her of his great desire, but realizes it can never be fulfilled. Agnes' mother is attempting to regain her husband's love. Agnes has disturbing doubts as to what attracts her father in New York. Jeb tells Agnes he is going to marry her, and together they view an apartment in Chicago. Jeb asks Agnes to set an early date, but she tells him she cannot marry him. When the agent, Mr. Collier, offers to show them a furnished apartment, Jeb asks Agnes to see it alone, saying he must return to his office. Agnes consents and Jeb leaves. A radio is blaring terrifically from one of the apartments. Collier raps upon the door, which is opened by a scantily clad girl, who draws Agnes into the room. Collier finds her husband, Charles, fatally shot. He calls the police. Myrtle Lorrie asks Agnes to phone Cathal O'Mara, a lawyer, to come at once. Agnes does. The police take charge. O'Mara arrives. The officers are antagonistic to him. Agnes sides with O'Mara. Agnes is to be a witness at the coming trial. Cathal's grandfather and father had lost their lives in the line of duty as city firemen, and his grandmother, Winnie, has built her all around Cathal, who, being ambitious, had worked his way through law school. Thoughts of Agnes disturb Cathal. Mr. Lorrie had lost off the wife who had borne him his daughter, so marry Myrtle, and after two years of wedded life she had killed him. The coroner's jury holds Myrtle to the grand jury. Agnes promises O'Mara to review the case with him. When Cathal calls Mrs. Gleneth asks questions regarding marital problems, in the hope that she might get a solution to her own problem. Cathal wins them over to Myrtle's cause. Jeb tells Agnes that O'Mara is seeking to profit on the insurance money Myrtle will collect if acquitted. Mrs. Gleneth finds canceled checks made out to "Cash" by Bob, and realizes "Cash" is her rival in New York. Bob admits "Cash" exists. They decide to leave things as they are.

"I had a letter this morning from Mrs. Lorrie."

"Oh!" So it was the case, of course; no more than that. "What did Mrs. Lorrie say to you?"

"She asked if I would come visit her."

"In the jail, she meant."

"Yes. Should I, Mr. O'Mara?"

He was slow to reply. Say yes, and he would see her. She would come to town by appointment with him, and he would escort her to the jail; and then, Braddon not interfering, he'd see her to her train again. Fool—oh, fool! How his pulses were pressing him!

"You should not," he said, controlling himself. "Mrs. Lorrie had neither right nor need to ask it of you."

"You do not ask it, then?"

"I? No. And now, having downed one temptation, another which he had refused before, got the better of him. "Miss Gleneth?"

"Yes."

He proceeded, recklessly. "That is, of course, your brother-in-law, Mr. Davis Ayreforth, that makes the new firm with Collett and Remble?"

"Yes," said Agnes. "Why?"

"Has he been long a friend of this Collett?"

"What do you mean by that, Mr. O'Mara?"

"Has he? That's just what I mean, Miss Gleneth."

"I don't know."

"Then I'd ask him."

"I will," said Agnes; and she thanked him and hung up.

Very slowly he returned his receiver to his hook. Perspiration stood on him. Now why had he let himself do that? He knew very well.

Agnes arose, a bit breathless, and decided to go at once to her sister's.

She got out her roadster, and as she backed from the garage, Baskerville half blocked the driveway as he offered himself for company. To the great bound's lumbering delight, she leaped down, opened the rumble, and Baskerville clambered in, seating himself sedately upright. He was absurdly solemn and supercilious-looking when he was riding, holding his huge moustache high in the air, and sniffing the rushing wind.

It was lunch-time for the children at Bee's, and Agnes knew that on such a fine, sunny day; Bee would have had a table set in the orangery which edged the circle of the driveway before the house. From far off Agnes spied the table and the little heads in the sun, and somebody serving; so she sounded her horn, and sped dashingly thrice about the loop of the drive to display Baskerville to the children before she halted, and the big bound, with the economy of motion by which he accomplished all things, slid to the gravel.

The Black Watch, meanwhile, had been doing its deafening best to tear the house down. The Black Watch was the closest and most completely cooperative of canine companions—two Scotties, Biff and Bing, who tamously deduced Baskerville when behind the pane of glass. Once they were let out, as now they were, they ran to the bound in utmost friendship. Baskerville never paid them the slightest attention.

The children were banging their spoons on the table with eyes only for Baskerville; they scarcely noticed Agnes when she kissed them. She kissed her sister, and took the chair placed at the table for her, and they both watched Baskerville and the boys.

The dog carefully established himself between them.

He was so huge that, when he sat on the floor, his tawny head was above the board and almost as high as Davy's dark little head on his right. Davy was in his high-chair with a tray before him and fastening him in; Bobby also was in the high-chair, but he sat proudly at the table. Neither boy feared in the least the great bound. They were delighted when he came to lunch; and they—and also Baskerville—knew the rules about him. When a boy finished a dish, he could give the last lick of his spoon to Baskerville.

Each boy got an extra arrowroot cracker for Baskerville to crunch; then Bobby and Davy gave him the last of their dessert.

The Black Watch, noses in the sun, lay side by side assuming slumberous indifference to this rank favoritism.

Agnes, oblivious of her errand, sat beside her sister and watched them all. She felt relaxed and grateful and very content; she had no desire to end this interlude. Bee had none. Here with her children, she was happy. Why did time have to run on? But after dessert, for little boys there must be naps.

Selma, their nurse, had taken them away. Side by side, with ears cocking at the slightest alarm, the Black Watch slept in the sun; and the great bound lay asleep, head on his forepaws. The luncheon table had been cleared away.

"Sometimes," said Bee from her wicker chaise-longue, "sometimes I think I—we—Davy and I—have done something." And she passed her hands down over her slim figure as though she could not always believe, herself, that she had borne two sons.

She Thanked Him and Hung Up.

"I think you've done a lot!" Agnes cried. "Oh, Bee, they're what count!"

"I guess they do—a little," admitted Bee, and shook out a cigarette. "So I'm not sure I won't have another."

"You want a girl?" asked Agnes.

"I guess so," said Bee, after she had her light. "But I really don't care. I'll love the result; and I'm one of those women, I guess, that get a kick out of the bearing, too."

"You do it beautifully, certainly."

"You don't get me, Agnes. It's occupation, and—"

"And the wife's anaesthetic against—"

"Against what, Bee?"

"See here," said Bee sternly, and sitting up, "don't you ever find out?"

"Bee," said Agnes suddenly, "tell me about Mr. Collett."

"What about him?"

"How much does Davis know concerning him?"

"Oh," comprehended Bee, relaxing, "probably nothing at all. He's gone into partnership with him; but as you know, Davis is a trusting soul as to people. I believe he trusts practically everybody—but God."

Agnes had to laugh. "How do you mean?"

"I mean it," assured Bee. "Regard the record. He's insured everybody and everything, everywhere, against fire, flood, storm, pestilence and disaster—all acts of God, but he'll take any mere mortal on faith. After he embraced the burning idea of giving up a salaried position to go in with Collett and Remble, he couldn't wait for Father to return from New York before he signed the preliminary agreement with them. They're going to make Davis several millions—which is certainly very nice of them, since up to now they've refrained from showing themselves with money. Of course, they've got Davis' capital now."

"Not you doubt them, Bee?"

"Then in the slightest. They'll take Davis for what he's put up; but we can stand it. I mean the family can. Father's rolling it up—ain't he? He'll give it to me, if I need it—as he would to you, Agnes. So what's the harm in letting Davis learn he's not a financier? All that can happen is—he'll lose."

"Yes," said Agnes; and she thought that was all that could happen.

"Davis is out, you see," added Bee, "to make a few millions for me—as though I hadn't any trouble that another baby or a million dollars couldn't cure."

With this, Bee dismissed the matter; so Agnes was not obliged to disclose the source of her concern over Collett. But when she made inquiry of Jeb that evening, he extracted it from her.

"Collett?" said Jeb. "He's been in jams, I hear; but nothing that he did has ever come to court. He's a trader—one of the cleverest traders in town; and straight enough now."

"But what is against him?"

"Nothing, I know, except that he hasn't always been—well—solid. But Davis is solid; he's that sort."

"Yes," said Agnes.

"So together, they ought to be all right. Then they'll be helped by the natural assumption that your father'd see Dave through—if he needed more capital. Also," continued Jeb after a moment, "it doesn't exactly hurt Collett, Ayreforth and Remble that everybody knows we're marrying, and so I'd see him through, if it came to a pinch."

"Jeb, we're not marrying."

"You just think so! . . . Glen! Oh, God, Glen, you drive me crazy! . . . Kiss me! . . . No! As if you meant it! And mean it! . . . Oh, damn us, Glen, what's the matter? What got you bothered about Collett today?"

Agnes told him it was O'Mara, and Jeb held her tighter.

"Was he here again?"

"No. It was over the phone."

"What was he calling you about?"

"He didn't call me, Jeb; I called him."

"And she told him about Myrtle's letter. 'So I called Mr. O'Mara to find out if I should go to the jail to see her.'"

"What did he tell you?"

"That I shouldn't."

"That's right, but why didn't you call me? I'd have told you. . . . What else did that shyster say to you?"

"He mentioned Mr. Collett, and asked how well Davis had known him."

"Tell that Irishman to mind his own business. I'll watch Davis' partners for you. They're backing now; they'll be all right. . . . Glen, why do you let O'Mara play you?"

"Play me?"

"For a mark. Do you mean to be her—and his—witness at the trial? You've got to realize what you're doing. Her trial isn't going to turn on her; it's going to turn on you. He knows it. You're just God's gift to the defense attorney, if you let him make a mark of you. They're playing you for quite a stake, between them. They're not only after you to get her off, but also they're after a hundred and fifty thousand dollars in life-insurance alone which the companies will have to pay her, if she's acquitted. Half of that goes to him, you may be sure. Remember that, when he talks to you. For God's sake, Glen, come to!"

Agnes lay awake long that night, with one wonder, one bother, one doubt and perplexity following another through her thoughts and feelings. She had never felt so confused.

What did love—or desire, if you call it that?—do to you in these days?

For a while, it might make you happy, as it had made Mother and Father happy together for many years, and as it had made Bee happy for a while, at least, before she found out that she was—what? Bored? Was it mere boredom that Bee would escape, for a while longer, by having another baby? Was it that which neither the baby nor a million dollars could cure?

After you married, and no matter whom you married, you went on living; you and your husband, both of you. You did not cease to be human beings; you became more human, having babies. Love, whatever that might be, could not possibly be a panacea against all ills and troubles.

Yet you wanted to believe it to be. Jeb did not even pretend that he thought it was. Jeb was utterly honest and practical, for all his impetuous and violent feelings. He offered you in marriage all the excitement and sensation that a man and a girl could give each other. With him, you'd tip up the cup and empty it to the last drop. You'd have a lot of love with him. He'd hold you against all the world, his strong arms about you. You liked his strength; you liked more. . . . But it would not endure. He did not even try to tell you it surely would endure. For he didn't believe in love everlasting—"tepid, tasteless stuff you can bear to sip and never need to gulp."

Agnes began to be sleepy. . . .

"Turn, then, and look to me: Seven long years I've followed thee, Over the fiery mountain."

Who followed whom? And why? What was that? It was the Princess who followed over the fiery mountain; and for love of him, she followed, though he had been bewitched and never once looked back at her.

Agnes didn't believe that O'Mara was playing her just for a "mark" to make for himself money. She did not want to believe it.

Burned Temple to Gain Fame

Prostratus was the Ephesian who set fire to the temple of Diana on the day that Alexander the Great was born (B.C. 356). This he did to make his name immortal. In order to defeat his object, the Ephesians forbade his name ever to be mentioned.

FROM AROUND MICHIGAN

Lansing—Workmen's compensation insurance payments amounted to $5,780,982 during the past year.

Lansing—The new city directory, recently issued, estimated the capital city's population at 103,000, with a combined total of 110,169 for "greater Lansing," an increase of 2,000 over 1934. This area includes Lansing, East Lansing and suburbs.

Detroit—Drunk driving is declining in Detroit, according to a recent police report. As against 82 cases in May and 83 in June, only 48 cases were brought into court during July. The amount collected in fines fell from $11,700 in May to $4,950 in July.

Grand Rapids—Furniture manufacturers predict that 1,000 additional workers will be given jobs as the result of the summer furniture market, which is considered the best since 1929. Leading manufacturers said that payrolls were being increased from 27 to 30 per cent.

Battle Creek—Metal polish which he drank in the dark, in the belief that it was wine, caused the death here of Otis Winfrey, 37 years old, Kansas City, Mo., metal polisher. Weary from the heat, Winfrey was lying on a lawn with the bottles beside him. He told police at his death bed that he picked up the wrong bottle in the darkness.

Saginaw—Construction work in the $300,000 program for remodeling and enlarging the Saginaw post office will begin this month, according to Henry Dattner, Detroit contractor, who has been awarded the general contract. About eight months will be required to complete the project, and it will employ 100 to 150 men.

Lansing—For an annual Oldsmobile picnic at Lake Lansing on Aug. 6, it was stated that one mile of "hot dogs" were ordered for 7,500 employees. In case the hot dogs ran out, the picnic committee ordered three tons of barbecued beef and 75,000 buns. With this there was one ton of cheese, 5,000 gallons of soft drinks, and 1,400 gallons of ice cream.

Oscoda—A monument marking the "Michigan Kiwanis Forest," on the Thompson Trail, a mile south of the Lumberman's Memorial Monument near here, was recently dedicated. As the result of work done by members of 50 clubs during the past 10 years, 10,000 acres of land have been reforested, the entire acreage now being covered with young White and Norway pines.

Lansing—Doctors in the northern part of the Southern Peninsula will be offered post-graduate courses in obstetrics beginning Sept. 28. Dr. C. C. Slemmons, State health commissioner, announces. The courses are sponsored by the State Department of Health and Dr. James D. Bruce, director of post-graduate medicine at the University of Michigan. Meetings will be held in Traverse City, Petoskey, Alpena and Grayling over a period of six weeks.

Lansing—There will be about 70 county, district and state agricultural fairs held in Michigan during the next two months. James F. Thomson, commissioner of agriculture believes that Michigan will have more fairs than any of its sister states. The first one was held in Kalamazoo in 1848. The State now contributes to the cost of premiums on Michigan products, this year allocating more than $100,000 for that purpose and as awards in connection with 4-H club work.

Jonesville—Walter Warwick has always been proud of his car, but now that two other Michiganders have announced that their cars have been in service continuously for 21 years, Warwick wants everyone to know that his Ford—he calls it Betsy—has been licensed and operated for 25 years. The owners of the twenty-one-year-old Fords are Justice Leroy Holford, of Temple, and Harry Tingley, of Ionia. Holford's car has been driven 100,000 miles. Tingley lost count. Warwick's car shows only about 20,000.

Traverse City—A cigar box filled with cherry pits was sent to Florida to form the nucleus of a cherry orchard. T. J. Winesheimer, blind resident of the county house at Largo, Fla., heard the broadcast of the coronation ceremony at the National Cherry Festival, and the thought struck him that a cherry "grove" on the county farm would be a fine thing. So he appealed to the Traverse City Chamber of Commerce for cherry "seeds," and that organization responded promptly.

Marlette—Marlette, a city of 1,000 in Sanilac County, has had no debt for the last nine years. Civic work completed during the past year includes 1,500 feet of new sidewalk, a like amount under construction, a 1,000-foot sewer, 400 feet of water main to serve a new consolidated school, new water pumps for the city waterworks, and an appropriation for additional fire fighting equipment. Funds for these improvements and for current expenses come from a ten-mill property tax and water plant revenue.

Memorial to Cruso

The government of Chile has decided to make a national park of Robinson Crusoe's island in the Pacific, Juan Fernandez.

The cave where lived Alexander Selkirk, the original of Robinson Crusoe, the lookout from which he watched for passing ships, and his other associations will now be in the care of keepers, and guides will be available for visitors to the island.

Alexander Selkirk, the son of a Scots shoemaker, ran away to sea and rose to be sailing master in one of Captain Dampier's privateers in the South Seas. In September, 1704, he quarreled with his captain and had himself landed with his effects on the uninhabited island of Juan Fernandez. He lived there till January, 1709, when Captain Woddes Rogers took him on board.

Captain Rogers told his story in a book three years later, and it was mostly from this account that Defoe built up his immortal story for boys.

Ornamental or Shade Trees
The extreme hot dry weather has caused serious damage to some of our ornamental or shade trees. In cases where trees are growing between the sidewalk and street a large amount of their water gathering power has been cut off. To remedy this, some artificial means must be used. Water must be forced down into the ground.
This may be done by using a piece of pipe about three feet long connected to the house. By holding the pipe perpendicular to the ground the force of the water will cut out a hole so that the pipe may be inserted to its full length. Turn off a little water and allow to run for six to eight hours. It is not sufficient to do surface watering as trees are deep feeders.

Soybeans

Michigan is one of 12 states cooperating in conducting a soybean research laboratory to study and develop the many-sided uses of this legume. Soybeans are used in making industrial and food products such as paint, enamel, varnish, glue, printing ink, rubber substitutes, linoleum, in-secticides, plastics, glycerin, flour, soy sauce, breakfast food, candies,
roasted beans with a nutlike flavor, livestock feeds, and so on. Three immediate objectives of the new laboratory include improvement of present industrial uses and development of new industrial uses for soybeans; more facts on the effects of different processes on the quality of soybean products; and facilities for testing different varieties as to adaptability for industrial use. On experimental plots nearby, plant breeders hope to grow new varieties even better suited to industrial demands.

Pruning and Training

Although there are differences in the habit of growth and vigor of the various types and varieties of raspberries which necessitate different practices in pruning and training, the manner of fruit bearing is essentially the same in all types. Each season new shoots are developed from buds at the base of the old canes of flowers which are formed on the previous year's growth. These shoots develop into canes which complete their terminal growth the first year. Fruit buds are formed during the summer and in the spring of the second year; these develop into short side branches or laterals upon which the fruit is borne. Soon after the berries ripen, the canes die.
The canes are therefore biennial, that is living for a part of two years; and he roots are perennial, living for many years and producing new shoots each season.

Each year, the old canes which have borne fruit should be removed from the plantation. Most growers remove them soon after harvest. By removing them immediately after harvest, some insects and diseases which may be harbored in them may be destroyed and it is thought that the new shoots having more room will make a better growth. There is also an opportunity to thin out the weaker shoots at this time, thus throwing all of the energy of the plant into the development of those which are left.

COUNTY RELIEF REPORT

During the month of July, 1936
the County Emergency Relief Administration granted relief to 148 cases at a total cost of $2343.98, or an average cost of $15.84 per case, which includes all cost of administration, trucking and delivering of surplus commodities.

In making a comparison of the case load and costs during the same month in 1935, it is interesting to note the changes made during the year. In July, 1935, 827 cases received relief, totaling $7752.18, or an average cost of $23.00 per case. The reduction in the caseload and per case cost for July, 1936, was made possible by permitting referrals of some rural cases to the Resettlement Administration where they received a loan from the Federal Government and are self-supporting. Employable persons were certified to Works Progress Administration and were paid by the Federal Government. Old Age Assistance has also helped to reduce the case load.

AFTERWARD

The significance of fine funeral direction is dom appreciated at the time of need. It is after the need has passed and memories of loved ones have become all that remains, that the perfection of our services is fully appreciated. Investigation will disclose that the beauty and dignity of this service is within the reach of any family.

CURRENT COMMENT

The meeting of Independent Democrats at the Book Cadillac Hotel in Detroit last week threatens to become a bigger laughing stock than the Liberty League. Although the anti-Roosevelt papers gave it unlimited front page publicity, the total attendance was only 40. James Schmerhorn was the only Michigan man to attend, and as he supported Hoover in 1928, he cannot be classed as a leading Democrat. Ex-Gov. Comstock got cold feet and did not attend. The leading light seemed to be Ex-Gov.
Ely of Massachusetts, one of the organizers of the Liberty League. In fact the entire assembly was mostly composed of "Ex's." Outside of Jas.
Reed and Bainbridge Colby, most were unknown and had never been much in public life. The meeting got nowhere and the effort to have the group endorse Landon was blocked by southern members who absolutely refused to support the Republican ticket. Gov. Ely announced that Al Smith would make speeches for Landon. This was promptly denied in a dispatch from Al Smith. The latter was invited but did not attend, and sent no word. We think Landon got a break when the bunch of "has-beens" did not endorse him.

OPPOSE THREE AMENDMENTS

The Michigan Educational Association is urging its 30,000 members to oppose three of the new educational amendments to be voted upon in November. These three amendments opposed, are the one taking the sales tax off food, the county reorganization one, and the one eliminating all taxes on real estate and personal property. They oppose taking the tax off food because it would take away $12,000,000 from the general fund and cripple schools, old age pensions and welfare. They are against the second reorganizing county government, because it is inconsistent and would cause confusion.
To eliminate all taxes on real estate and personal property would cut the present educational funds one-half, and make all townships, cities, and counties dependent on the legislature for revenue.

Mrs. Mae White of Howell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lavey.
Mrs. Will Mercer was a Saturday night guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. J.
McGregor in Brighton.

The Mid-summer Outlook

Since early July the drought has and the line-light in the news. Now we find figures published on industrial activity. And we discover that the heavy industries, building and steel, are the leaders. They are operating at a percentage of capacity which is higher than at any time in the last four years and equal to the 1929 pace. This news means that the farmers' market will be broadened through better industrial wages and greater employment.

According to a noted economist we have climbed back to a normal state of business activity and are ready for a new period of prosperity.
