Pinckney Deer Hunters To Leave this Week

Usual Army of Nimrods Prepare for Annual Trek to the North Woods After Deer.

This week Pinckney's army of deer hunters will start on their trip to the northern part of the state after deer. That all many of them will do is exercise as they go. Usually get out of the woods and does not open until Sunday.

The biggest party is chartered by the Pinckney and sheriff, W. C. Smith, sons, Clare, Norman and Clifford, Edmund Haines, W. H. Meyer and son, Billie, Russell Livermore, and another party from Dexter, John Croupe of Howell.

Another party will hunt at Lovell near there. It is made up of Orville Smith, Lynn Hendee, Dr. James Nash and William Dilloway. Others who may go up over the week end are Stanley Dinkel, Roy Reason, Jack and Bud Dilloway.

John L. Conner, Rex Harris and the Swarthout Bros. will also hunt near Lovell.

Another party composed of William and Norman Clark and George and John Hornshaw will go to Shingletown, upper peninsula.

C. J. Clinton leaves Thursday with Messers Schooley, Lucht, Krumm, and Lunnberry of Chelsea for Hancock, upper peninsula.

The Brenningshalls will hunt near Cammack and A. H. Flintoff on Drummond Island.

Hiram Smith hunts in Roscommon County. Undoubtedly many others will go but we have been unable to contact them.

NEW MANAGEMENT AT WHITE LODGE COUNTRY CLUB

The White Lodge Country Club at Cordley Lake which has been neglected of late and the golf course allowed to grow up to weeds has been taken over by the owners and it is announced that the club house, bathing beach and golf course will be put in first class condition.

Officers of the organization elected for two-year terms are: President, Cyrus F. Boorman, Ann Arbor; vice president, Arthur Rogers of Detroit; auditor, C. Whitcomb, Ann Arbor; treasurer, Sam C. Andres, recording secretary, Miss Leahy, Detroit; and directors, Mr. Boorman, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Whitcomb, Mr. Andres, Mrs. Mary L. Kemp, Detroit; Bryan Helsor, Ypsilanti; Charles Mitchell, Detroit; Robert F. Houston, Dearborn; and Kenneth Kemp of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Maezer of Detroit, who have been managing the place for several years, have moved to Ann Arbor.

ATTENTION MEMBERS OF LIVINGSTON LODGE

On Friday evening, November 13, Livingston Lodge No. 76 F. & A. M. will be entertained by Washington Lodge No. 65 of Detroit at their hall call night. Following the lodge session the first of a series of eucher contests will take place between the two lodges. We want a good representation there. If you have no way to go please get in touch with the secretary.

Doings and Activities of the Pinckney School, Last Football Game at Season Takes Place Friday

A straw vote on the national election in the civics class taken last Tuesday resulted as follows: President Roosevelt 19, Gov. Landon 7, Lempke 1, Thomas 1.

The Freshman class enjoyed a class party Friday night at the home of Mildred Farley, east of town. Games were played, a lunch served and a fine time enjoyed by all. Mrs. Alice Wilson, sponsor of the class acted as hostess.

The illness of the Supt. of Schools, Doyle supplied for him several days last week.

We understand it is only a matter of a few days before we will be in our new building as the only thing now holding it up is the final approval by the CWA authorities at Detroit.

We want to see everyone out to the final football game with Hartland to be played at Pinckney on Friday of this week. If the boys can win this contest they can finish the season with a winning record as they have now won 2, lost 2 and tied one. The football team started off in great shape and held the powerful Brighton team to a tie and then took their next two games. Following this things began to happen. The mumps struck the team and laid about half of them low. Otwell, Ellis and Read were injured. With so many men out it was difficult to get out a sufficient number for practice and interest waned. However, most of the boys are now back again. As a result of a pep meeting last week, some 19 men were out for practice. Now the team is all set to make their season a success by trimming Hartland. Come out and see them.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY ROLL CHAPTER

The Roll Chapter, chairman of the townships and of the House to House division of the City of Howell were called together Saturday, November 7, at the home of Mrs. W. P. Van Winkle to hear the reports of the delegates to the State Convention at Lansing and the National Conference at Chicago.

Mrs. James Stackable gave an interesting report of the National Conference and the members who had attended the State Convention gave reports of the items which had impressed them individually. Methods of conducting the Roll Call were discussed enthusiastically. All felt that they had gained an interest by attending.

The attendance was encouraging.

BISHOP GALLAGHER ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENTS

Bishop Michael Gallagher of the Catholic Diocese of Detroit announced a number of appointments to take effect Nov. 20. Most of them were in Detroit but a few of them were in this section. Rev. VanDyke is sent from Chelsea to Northfield; Rev. Dory from Belding to Chelsea; Rev. Donohue from Northville to Dearfield; Rev. Joseph Dion from Hazel Park to Farmington and Rev. Bates from Durand to South Haven.

OWOSSO BLUE LAW LOSES

The amendment to pass a Blue Law in Owosso closing all food stores on Sunday was snowed under at the election last week 2,479 to 691, all five city wards going against it. This amendment was said to be sponsored by the chain stores who do not keep open on Sunday.

HE BET ON LANDON

Victor Bourbonnais paid off his election bet here Saturday afternoon, and thereby caused a traffic jam. Needless to say, he picked Alf Landon.

Bourbonnais, as the result of his loss, had to push Francis Bourgeois, who picked President Roosevelt, from the Gauss Baking plant in the 1900 block of West Saginaw street to the city hall in a wheelbarrow.

The trip would have ended successfully if it hadn't been for the heavy Saturday traffic downtown. When the two men came near the corner of Ottawa street and Capitol avenue they caused motorists to use harsh words as scores of cars were caught in an almost inextricable tangle.

Lansing State Journal

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hendrick, Will Dunbar and daughter, Isabelle of Jackson were Sunday callers at the homes of Mrs. Marie Dinkel and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dinkel.

George A. Barnes Goes to His Rest

Well Known Michigan Editor and Former State Senator Dies At Howell After a Short Illness

In the death of George Barnes of Howell at the age of 90 last Wednesday, the state of Michigan lost probably its oldest active editor. He suffered a heart attack Sunday but up to that time was still writing news and comment for his paper, the Livingston County Republican Press. He came from England at the age of 3. At 18 he enlisted in the Union army and served 14 months in the Civil War. Next he graduated from the Ypsilanti Normal and was awarded degrees of A. B. and M. A. at the University of Michigan. He taught at Alma and Stanton schools and in 1881 became superintendent of Howell school where he taught until 1889. He then purchased the Livingston County Republican of Stair Bros. which he edited until it was consolidated with the Livingston County Press in 1928. Mr. Barnes became president of the company. The deceased was a former state senator, a former member of the Michigan State Sanitarium Board and the recipient of other honors.

Surviving are a son, Albert Barnes of Flint and a daughter, Sue, at home. Funeral services were held at the home last Friday.

RALPH BENNETT

Ralph Bennett, a well known North Hamburg farmer died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Rounceifer, in Genoa, Friday. For many years he owned and operated a farm near the North Hamburg church and held the office of Justice of the Peace in Hamburg township. His wife, formerly, Emma Voorhes, of Pinckney, died a number of years ago. Since then he has lived with his daughter, Una, in Genoa, by whom he is survived and also one granddaughter. The funeral was held from the home Sunday, with burial in North Hamburg.

MRS. ANNA DONOVAN JEWELL

MRS. SARAH SNYDER

Mrs. Sarah Snyder, 70, was found dead at the home of Mrs. Louise Glenn, south of town Tuesday morning. She had been staying with Mrs. Glenn. For some years past she had been spending the summers with her daughter, Mrs. John Beens, at Half Moon Lake. She is survived by her daughter and two grand children.

The funeral will be held at 2:00 o'clock, Thursday at the Carl Hall funeral home Detroit.

Mrs. John Rane of Whitmore Lake underwent an operation at the Pinckney Hospital, Tuesday morning.

President Roosevelt is classed as the master politician of all ages. One of his moves when he recently visited Michigan would mark him as one. That is his visit to Hamtramck. This Polish City voted 10 to 1 for Landon in 1932 and his call there was in recognition of it. He was given a tremendous ovation and this year the voters there went about 20 to 1 for him. In some wards we understand Landon did not get any votes. This gesture by the President helped him exceedingly in Michigan.

The American Red Cross Roll Call

American Red Cross Stages Annual Drive for Funds to Fight TB and Aid Needy. All Asked To Give

This is the time of the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. Its continued program of relief to disaster sufferers, of immediate care for those injured in the home, on the farm and along the highway, and the splendidly human work of its devoted nurses, these things compel more than ammunition, they demand active support through membership.

Throughout the sixteen townships of Livingston County and in each village and city ward the Red Cross Roll Call workers will be calling on people and giving them the opportunity to make their annual contribution to the American Red Cross funds. This work is to be started on November 11 and to continue to November 26 when it is hoped that everyone in our county will have been seen by some worker.

What Your Red Cross Membership Does

These are a few of the gifts your membership in the Red Cross purchases each year.

SAFETY in your homes, on the highways, on your vacations, is the purpose of the Red Cross first aid and life saving service. This vital instruction, on how to care for the injured at the scene of the accident until the doctor arrives, saves many lives, and expert life saving knowledge prevents many deaths from drowning. First aid stations, completely equipped, have been established on main traveled highways, usually at a gas station or rooming eating place as an aid to the accident victims and others injured in traffic.

SECURITY has been brought to thousands of families this year by the disaster relief workers of the Red Cross. The past year was a hard one for the Red Cross. There were almost unprecedented floods necessitating great relief projects; there were devastating tornadoes and hurricanes calling for assistance to a large number of sufferers in their paths. There were earthquakes and blizzards and explosions and epidemics calling for swift and efficient measures of relief. The Red Cross was in the wake of them all healing wounds, feeding the homeless, nursing the sick, providing shelter for refugees, helping them all work out paths. There were earthquakes and year 2 millions, 3 pr. bloomers, 2 ing basis once more.

From thirty-nine of our states came the call. One hundred and five such appeals came to the Washington headquarters of the Red Cross. None went unanswered. The Red Cross gave necessary relief where the family was without resources or credit; the Red Cross aided in rebuilding their homes.

BETTER HEALTH was assured sufferers in disastrous dust storm areas, and in the great flood areas emergency hospitals were set up, nursing and welfare service was provided, hundreds of patients were nursed back to health in stricken areas.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY SERVICES. The American Red Cross has distributed through this county and other agencies since the last Red Cross Roll Call 2 doz. pt. base, 44 girls' and women's dresses, 24 suits of men's underwear, 6 suits of women's underwear, 47 suits of children's underwear, 10 covers for pillows, 5 pr. comfortable, 89 yards material to be made up by recipients, 35 complete bayettes of 31 pieces each, 23 girls' dresses, 31 sleeping garments, 10 baby blankets.

The following list of materials for use of soldiers and sailors in government hospitals was provided: 5 bathrobes, 10 covers for pillows, 5 pr. comfortable, 5 bedside bags, 18 Christmas bags were shipped for use of soldiers and sailors in foreign ports.

KINDNESS TO AN UNFORTUNATE NEIGHBOR is the purpose of the Red Cross volunteer services all over the nation. Women volunteer sew for the needy, for the sick, make surgical dressings, make braille books for the blind and visit the ill in the hospitals.

The Red Cross draws no distinction for race, creed or color. The organization re-creates of its services are restricted only to need. In its eyes all people are equal who need help. The Red Cross does not discriminate; it simply aids. This is as true of the local Red Cross serving this community as it is of the national organization.

If you want to help your less fortunate neighbors, the underprivileged everywhere do so by joining forces with this active agency for the relief of suffering through membership. The Red Cross calls the roll, invites your membership, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. Quotas assigned to our county and in turn to the several districts within the county. It is hoped that we can do our part again this year in helping to maintain the work of this WORLD WIDE ORGANIZATION OF MERCY.

The regular membership is the usual $1. However if $5 is given, it entitles the giver to a special designation (Continued on Last Page)

Current Comment

Many post-mortems are being conducted as to the cause for the Roosevelt avalanche. Some take up this angle and some that. The main reason is that President Roosevelt had captured the minds of the American people, probably as no other president has done since the days of Andrew Jackson and Theodore Roosevelt. Another is the wave of prosperity now prevailing and a third is the excessive Democratic organization built up by James Farley, Democrat chairman. Gov. Landon was inaugurated virtually by default. Senator Vandenberg, Frank Knox and others, entered the race for publicity purposes only, their eyes were on 1940, following his nomination, a long period of inactivity followed before the nomination ceremony. When the Republican campaign finally got under way, the Democrats had had nearly four years start of them. So much difficulty was found in finding a set of principles agreeable to both factions that finally this phase of the campaign was abandoned and the campaign waged on a purely negative line in which President Roosevelt was abused and criticized and his every act, beneficial or not, condemned. All sorts of malcontents were received with open arms, including the Democratic renegades, Al Smith, Jim Reed, Bainbridge Colby, others who labeled themselves Jeffersonians, Rev. Charles Coughlin, also joined them. Dr. Townsend and others. The only thing these elements were united on was their hatred for President Roosevelt. The campaign waged by them was disjointed and uncomprehensive and disgusting. Everything they spoke the president gained more votes. The Liberty League which financed the campaign to a great extent was everywhere. Fake straw vote after straw vote was broadcast by them, the most notable, The Literary Digest, giving Landon a big victory. Examination of this however revealed that 65 per cent of those polled had voted for Hoover in 1932. The last attack in the final days of the campaign was on the Social Security Act for which every Michigan senator and congressman has voted for but one. Industrialists put notices in their employees pay envelopes stating that after January 1 then pay would be cut 1% to comply with the act. Nowhere did they state that the employer contributed an equal amount to the old age pension and unemployment fund. The last day before election a radio announcement was broadcast by the Republican committee, every 15 minutes to the effect that a vote for Landon was the only way in which the National Security Act could be repealed under which all workers would be numbered and fingerprinted like criminals. This was also a bid for the reason that many factories and banks have been fingerprinting their employees for years and many well known men, including Congressman Olander of the Dept. of Public Safety, favor fingerprinting every person in the nation for purposes of identification. President Roosevelt was called a Communist by some and a Fascist by others. Just how he could be both was not explained. Many look for a further continuance of Democratic administrations. For with so few Republicans in power and no change, on which party organizations thrive, it is hard to see how the organization can be kept in a flourishing condition anywhere except in Maine, Vermont and Livingston County possibly.

The victory of Frank Murphy and the entire state ticket gives the Democrats the greatest amount of jobs to hand out in the memory of the present generation. Both parties have gone on record in favor of civil service. However, Fitzgerald first kicked out all the Democrat office holders before he accepted this platform and the indications are, Murphy will do likewise. In other words, the Republicans favor civil service when the office holders are all members of their party and the Democrats vice versa.

Many were surprised at the defeat of Wilbur Brucker for U.S. Senator but they should not have been for Prentiss Brown stood head and shoulders above him. Brucker's bitter attacks on the administration and President Roosevelt, lost him many votes which a middle of the road course like that taken by Gov. Fitzgerald would have held. Also he was governor during one of the darkest periods in Michigan history in which employment was at its lowest, banks were failing right and left and in which holders of securities, bonds, etc. lost their money. He also admitted speaking before the Wolverine Republican Club, the false front of the Black Legion and was said to be supported by chain store interests. Prentiss Brown not only beat him in Detroit but also outstate.

Another cause for woe for the G. O. P. is that according to election laws they may be barred from the ballot in some states for failure to cast 30% of the vote as the law requires. Incomplete returns from Florida indicate that the Republican party failed to receive 30% of the vote cast there.

Will Not Recognize It

When we cannot find contentment in ourselves, it is useless to seek it elsewhere.

The man who has affection for you may be under an illusion, but, oh, let it never be dispelled. I slept, and dreamed that life was Beauty; I awoke, and found that life was Duty.

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but the wise frequently ask for further enlightenment.

Europeans Are Lining Up, Communists vs. Fascists

JUST about everything necessary to a general European war is now ready. At this distance it seems that Josef Stalin, dictator of Soviet Russia, will be the man to fire the starting pistol; and he is reported to be convinced that another great conflict is unavoidable. The nations of the continent are lining up as Communist or Fascist, either in the constitution of their governments or in their active sympathies. The immediate occasion for their disputes is the civil war in Spain. Nearly all the continental governments and that of Great Britain joined in an agreement of nonintervention, but that pact is about played out. Russia, accusing Portugal, Germany and Italy of aiding the Fascist Spanish rebels, has denounced the agreement and declared she reserves freedom to help the Madrid government; the accused nations deny the Soviet charges and retort that Russia already has sent many shiploads of war supplies and munitions to the Spanish loyalists. At least three ships, alleged to be Russian and laden with munitions for Madrid, have been bombed by insurgent planes.

Portugal severed diplomatic relations with the Madrid government, and the representatives of the two countries were recalled. Dr. Armando Monteiro, Portuguese foreign minister, followed up this action by sending to Lord Plymouth, British chairman of the nonintervention committee, a long document accusing Russia of having planned and brought about the Spanish civil war. He named the Russian diplomats, agitators and soldiers who, he charged, were directing the operations. He alleged that Moscow sought to start a revolution in Portugal and thus provide a base for attacking General Franco's insurgent forces in the rear.

Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy have buried their differences for the time being and reached an agreement on a united policy. This was outlined in a communique published after Italian Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano had conferred with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. In the first place Hitler and Mussolini inform the world that they intend to recognize the insurgent government headed by General Franco as the legitimate regime in Spain, but they promise to respect the terms of the nonintervention agreement.

Other important declarations of policy by the two states are: 1. Co-operation to protect the peace of Europe and "the holy riches of European civilization" and family life. 2. Endorsement of a conference to rewrite the Locarno pact guaranteeing European borders, but only in the west. This implied that neither would agree to Soviet Russia's presence at the meeting. 3. Co-operation for the rehabilitation of the Danubian countries.

In one clause of the agreement Germany recognizes Italy's sovereignty over Ethiopia. U. S. Submachine Guns for French Fascists? POPULAIRE, the organ of Premier Leon Blum's Socialist party, alleges that a shipment of submachine guns from the United States has been added to the secret armaments of the Croix de Feu in preparation for a civil war in France. The Croix de Feu, a Fascist organization headed by Col. Francois de la Rocque, was dissolved recently by the government and was succeeded by the new Social party.

Populaire, referring to the submachine guns, said these "terrible weapons used by American gangsters" arrived from America through the port of Havre and through Holland. The paper added that the weapons are being planted in caches in Normandie and elsewhere in the north of France. Furthermore, according to Populaire, great quantities of tear gas bombs and tear gas pistols are arriving from Germany for the use of the Fascists.

Mussolini Holds "Eternal" Peace Is Absurd PREMIER MUSSOLINI, talking at Bologna, said that Italy's "olive branch grows out of an immense forest of 8,000,000 bayonets"; and next day at Imola he told 70,000 listeners that he hoped for long periods of peace, but not for "eternal peace, which is absurd and impossible."

"The Italian people, which gave its blood for the empire, is ready for any other trial when the crucial hour approaches," the Fascist chief shouted. "In order to make peace—just as to make love—it is necessary that there be two."

Spanish Rebels Pushing Toward the Capital

GENERAL FRANCO, head of the Spanish insurgents, ordered the immediate taking of Madrid and each day the state of the defenders of the capital became more desperate. The rebels closed in relentlessly, making effective use of bombing planes and armored tanks.

President Manuel Azana and some of his cabinet ministers slipped out of Madrid and appeared in Barcelona. Ostensibly they were making a tour of the loyalist fronts, but the general opinion was that they had fled from the capital to make a "last stand" in Catalonia, which province always is radical. Anyhow, Azana took over an office in the Catalan parliament building for himself and his secretarial staff. Senora Azana has quit Spain. She appeared in Toulouse, France, and departed for an unannounced destination.

British Government Curbs Oswald Mosley

GREAT BRITAIN is determined to keep out of the Communist-Fascist conflict if possible. Sir Oswald Mosley and his black-shirted Fascist followers have been trying to stir up trouble in England and in consequence the cabinet decided to put a ban on all political uniforms. It was expected that when parliament reassembled the government would announce drastic action to suppress the Mosley organization or at least to put a stop to its demonstrations and parades in Leeds, Manchester and the east end of London, where these Fascists like to create ugly feeling against Jews.

The public demand in England for action against the Fascists has been strengthened by the revelation that Mosley takes his advice from Berlin and Rome. It is reported, and widely believed, that Mosley's tactics of deliberately leading his Blackshirts into Jewish communities are based on advice given him by Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister.

Labor Conference Will Assemble on Nov. 9

SECRETARY OF LABOR FRANCES PERKINS announced that the third national conference on labor legislation, designed to stimulate the raising of work standards through federal and state co-operative efforts, will be called into session in Washington on November 9, and will last three days.

Governors of all the states have been asked to send official delegates including labor commissioners. Private individuals who have special knowledge of labor problems have been invited to attend the conference.

Green's Big Fortune Moved to a Bank

EIGHT armored cars escorted by armed private guards and state police, carried a fortune of $25,000,000 from the estate of the late Col. E. H. R. Green in South Dartmouth, Mass., to the First National bank of Boston. There it will be stored in vaults until legal actions may be taken to obtain income and inheritance taxes for the state of Massachusetts.

The fortune, which consists of the famous coin collection, valued at 5 millions; the stamp collection, valued at 3½ millions; a large amount of cash and securities, and a quantity of uncut diamonds, has been under constant guard at the Green home since his death.

Supreme Court to Pass on Wagner Labor Act

BEFORE taking a recess of two weeks the United States Supreme court announced that it would review and hand down a decision at this time upon the Wagner labor relations act. Many lawyers believe this law will be held unconstitutional, for in the Guffey coal act decision the Supreme court held that the relationship between employers and employees was local and beyond the power of congressional regulation.

Browder Not Allowed to Talk in Tampa

TERRE HAUTE is not the only town that refuses to listen to Earl Browder, the Presidential candidate of the Communist party. Browder went to Tampa to deliver a campaign speech but as he began talking a group of men violently broke up the meeting and upset the speaker's stand. The leader of the attacking crowd denied that their action was sponsored by any organization, saying "We are just a group of red-blooded American citizens."

Three Certain Winners

THREE candidates for your approval, good on any ticket. Put your "machine" to work and you will win the vote of any group, however critical, with these fetching frocks especially designed for women who sew at home. Correctly styled, accurately designed and cut, they combine smartness with utility and offer the solution to many wardrobe problems.

Pattern 1906, the jacket ensemble, is a smooth, flattering model, as slimming as it is smart and serviceable. The graceful neckline and jabot conceal those extra pounds above the waistline and the paneled skirt is sleek and slenderizing. Worn with or without the clever box jacket, this number in any sheer wool or crepe or velveteen will assist you to put your best foot forward and make a successful appearance. Designed for sizes, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50; size 40 requires four and one-fourth yards of 54 inch fabric.

Pattern 1874, the beguiling house frock, features a paneled yoke with the yoke and sleeves cut in one. There is gathered fullness in the waist, a shawl collar, and one or two patch pockets for your household trinkets. Easily put together with the aid of the detailed, step-by-step instruction guide, this is a morning frock which will survive the day with honors. The pattern is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44. Size 18 requires four and one-half yards of 39 inch fabric.

Pattern 1800, the graceful smock, is formed with just eight simple pieces including the pockets, collar, and cuffs. The contrasting yoke is unusually effective, the sleeves are full and graceful, and there is an air of sophistication about the design not often found in a garment so practical and useful. Send for size Small (bust 34-36), Medium (38-40), or Large (42-44). Size Medium requires four and one-half yards of 35 inch material.

Notes of 25 Years Ago

Dispatch of Nov. 9, 1911

Murray Walker, vice president of the Parker-Marshall Co. of Ogden, Utah, was united in marriage to Miss Mazie King of that place Nov. 1. Murray was a boyhood resident of Pinckney, being a son of the late Sam Walker.

Pinckney and Cneisea high school teams play football here on Nov. 11 at the depot grounds.

William Henry Placeway, 79, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. A. Bennett, in Ames Iowa, Nov. 2. The body was brought to Pinckney and the funeral was held here Sunday, Nov. 5, with Livingston Lodge No. 76 F. & A. M. in charge of the services. Surviving are the widow, 2 sons and 2 daughters. The deceased was active in public affairs having been village president and justice of the peace.

Both sons of Albert Wilson of Anderson have been honored the past week. Dr. Norman Wilson was elected president of his medical society in Iowa and Lucius Wilson was elected president of the national association of commercial bodies at their convention at Louisville, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kuhn celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home in Gregory Sunday.

Born to M. and Mrs. Guy Hinchey on Oct. 30 a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fisher Nov. 3, a 10½ lb son.

May Allison Wright, a former resident of Putnam township died at Los Angeles, California on Oct. 29. She leaves two sons, Bud and Floyd.

Mrs. William Kennedy of South Lyon underwent an operation at the Pinckney Sanitarium one day last week.

Miss Kitsey Allison entertained a large number of friends at a party at her home near Chubb's Corners Tuesday night. The house was decorated with boughs of autumn leaves, corn stalks, jack-o-lanterns etc. and a witch held forth in a wigwam. Ropes of shelled corn with bunches of berries decorated the walls. The ghosts acted as waiters. Bob Entwistle won first prize by taking a bite from a swinging apple. Ethel Burkhart, cousin of Miss Allison was the guest of honor.

Charles Morse has opened a billiard hall in the hotel.

Miss Lila Murphy has returned home, much better, after nine months at the Pinckney Sanitarium.

Philathea Notes

This Wednesday afternoon is the date for our regular monthly class meeting and quarterly Missionary program of our S. S. group, being held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Van Slambrook.

The third group, carrying out the motto, "We Do Things," very pleasantly and profitably sponsored the "Ella Cinders Party" at the home of Mrs. S. E. Swarthout, on Friday afternoon. This group circulated an apron to acquire "patches", incidentally over thirteen dollars in cash. "Ella Cinders" announced the winner of the apron to be Mrs. Will Euler. The program for the afternoon was much enjoyed and included two duets by Virginia Baughn and Juanita Burch, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Baughn; a solo, "If Winter Comes," by Mrs. Clifford VanHorn; and an amusing playlet, "Be a Little Cuckoo" by five Philathea ladies, Mrs. C. H. Zuse, Mrs. Bert Daller, Mrs. Bert Hicks, Mrs. E. Baughn and Mrs. Herman Vedder. After the program, attractive and very appetizing refreshments were served by the hostess group.

The attendance at class was small on Sunday, owing to the funeral services of Ralph Bennett, an old and much respected pioneer of this section.

The topic Sunday was "The Christian Warfare"; that for next Sunday will be "The Heroism of Christian Faith," Acts 21: 12, 13, 27-34; Romans 9:1-5

Discussion of the widely publicized Roosevelt advocacy of reciprocal tariffs has brought a surprising flood of endorsements from farm leaders to Democratic campaign headquarters.

Gov. Landon has seen fit, in recent speeches, to attack the Roosevelt plan. "The reciprocal trade program," he says, "has delayed recovery for our farmers. It has sold the American farmer down the river."

Farm leaders, thus challenged, have gone intensively into the record. Here, for example, is the verdict as set down by the All-Party Agricultural Committee:

"In 1930 a Republican administration gave us the Smoot-Hawley tariff. In 1933 it gave us 12-cent corn with a tariff of 25 cents, and 25-cent wheat with a tariff of 42 cents. That was the year of 8-cent hogs, 8-cent cattle, and 6-cent cotton.

"Competing farm imports in 1932 hit the lowest point in more than 25 years. If exclusion of imports is the cure, why weren't farmers prosperous then?"

"During the years from 1920 to 1930, before farm prices hit the great depression, the country imported for every competing farm product that

Official Figures

Figures of the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that there has been no injury to American farmers from the reciprocal trade agreements advocated by President Roosevelt.

"Reciprocal trade treaties," it is stated, "have helped to increase farm exports. In the year ending June, 1936, farm exports were nearly 200 million dollars greater than in 1932-3, in spite of the effect of the drought."

The simple fact about the reciprocal tariff law is that it empowers the President to reduce cautiously and moderately the existing rates of duty by not more than 50 per cent, thereby giving to the Executive for the first time in history an effective means of seeking through mutual and reciprocal concessions, reductions in the trade barriers of other countries which restrict their importation of American goods.

From the Corn Belt

A widely quoted editorial by a corn-belt editor says: "The tick of the high-tariff advocates is something like this: (1) Get farmers excited about a trickle of farm imports even though farm imports are considerably smaller now than in 1920-29. (2) Propose raising

450 Hats Thrown In Ring

Claiming to be the largest single family unit in America the Rashids of Lafayette, Ill., held their annual convocation a few days ago and voted to put their collective strength of 450 persons behind the Democratic candidate for President.

"We've decided to throw our hats into the Roosevelt ring," declared the family spokesman. "Every adult member of our family was separately questioned, and—without a single exception—they were for Roosevelt. Which certainly ought to prove something!"

Afternoon Session
Supr. Lavin called the Committee on Az- ticulture, submitted the following report During the fiscal year of 1936, the County Board of Supervisors made an ap- propriation of $150,000.00 to be used for Clerk hire, Office expense and mileage The appropriation has proved adequate for the needs of the office during the year. On October 1, 1935, to October 1, 1936 have been $116.48. Inasmuch as this is larger than the appropriation set up in October of 1935, it has exceeded the total ex- penditure kept up for extension work in the County for the two years, as on the 1st of April, 1935, the total expenditure amounting to $37.61.
The pay for the County Agricultural agent and the part time High Club Agent has been paid for the fiscal year of 1936. The salary of the Agricultural Agent will be utilized for maintenance of office and mileage.
In comparing the activities of the Ex- tension Office for the twelve months be- ginning December 1, 1934 and running to November 30, 1935, and the ten months beginning December 1, 1935 and running through to October 1, 1936 we find the fol- lowing comparisons:

Of war, little trade agreements which we are making are not only finding outlets for the products of American home-made factories, but are also pointing the way to the elimination of embargoes, quotas and other devices which place our commerce on a shaky basis. In these days of great unrest, it is hard to think the subject of war

Pattern 1212

Here's a famous painting—"The Angelus," to reproduce in quick stitchery. You've no idea what a picture will result as you work away in wool or rope. But you're assured a speedy finish due to the plain background. So send for your pattern today and get started on this fascinating piece of needlework. You'll want to frame it, when it's finished.

Pattern 1212 contains a transfer pattern of a picture 13½ by 16 inches; a color chart and key; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed.

Send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) for this pattern to The Sewing Circle Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Standard Time

Prior to 1883 great confusion as to proper time existed. Towns and cities usually set their clocks by the sun. Under the standard plan the time throughout each zone is the same. The zones each represent roughly fifteen degrees of longitude, with variations that take account of local conditions. From east to west the time is one hour earlier in each successive zone. When it is 3 p. m. in the Eastern zone, for instance, it is 2 p. m. by Central time, 1 p. m. by Mountain time and noon by Pacific time.

The standard time scheme was proposed by Dr. C. F. Dowd, a New York schoolmaster, who worked for twelve years to have it adopted. It was finally put into practice on November 18, 1883.—Literary Digest.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Avery, a widow who lives in the harbor town of Satuit, Mass., with two negro maids, Sarah Darbe and Bessie Williams, writes a manuscript describing the famous Second Head murder, which occurred on her estate. Next to Mary live Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stow who every year give a summer masquerade party. One of the guests of this function is murdered. Nearby live Dr. and Mrs. Geary and their married daughter Edith and her husband Alfred Bray; Doctor Myron Marden and his step-granddaughter, Caro Prentiss, a beautiful young girl who was born in France. Next live Paul and Lora Eames and their daughter Molly. Molly was engaged to the murdered man, Ace Blakie. She had been engaged to Walter Treadway, who had been the murdered man's secretary, but the engagement was suddenly broken and he had left town. Other neighbors are the Fairweather sisters, Flora, a hopeless invalid and Margaret. All but the latter two attended the masquerade. Mary's eight-year-old niece Sylvia Sard is visiting her for the summer. The wooded part of Mary's estate is called the Spinnery. In it is a tiny log cabin. Near a stone wall is a tiny circular pond called the Merry Mere. This is the day of the masquerade and excitement is high. Mary decides to take Sylvia, who is an unusually observant child. Caro Prentiss and Molly Eames drop in during the afternoon. Molly seems preoccupied. Soon Blakie, Doctor Marden and Bruce Hixson, a friend of Ace's, arrive.

FRIDAY—Continued

Anyone looking at her, should have guessed instantly that Sylvia was the possessor of a great secret. Her eyes sparkled with glee. Of course Ace, who has the intuition of the "called," or the insane, must have guessed at once.

"I wish you were going, Sylvia," he continued artfully. "It would make my evening for me. And if you were going, I should make you tell me what your costume was because of course I would never guess which was you."

"I wouldn't tell you, Doctor Ace," Sylvia asserted firmly, "for don't you see it would be very naughty indeed."

"You wouldn't tell me!" Ace repeated in mock despair.

"No," Sylvia declared, "it wouldn't be right. It would spoil everything."

"Then, I'm very glad you're not going," Ace said with a convincing appearance of being hurt. "You'd spoil my whole evening for me."

At this Sylvia's suppressed secret almost burst its way out.

"Anyway, Sylvia," Ace concluded, "as long as you're not going to the masquerade, will you promise to save me the very first dance of the very first dance you do go to?"

"I'll give you all the dances you want," Sylvia vowed generously.

Molly jumped to her feet. "I must be getting home," she declared abruptly, impatiently, almost rudely.

"I ought to be going too," Caro announced gracefully, "although it is difficult to leave."

"I don't suppose we'll see you tonight, Mr. Hixson," I said as I shook hands with him.

"Oh, it seems as though tonight would never come, Aunt Mary!" Sylvia declared the instant they were out of ear-shot.

"It's almost here," I comforted her. "We're going to have an early dinner. Then after a while you're going to take a bath and lie down to see if you can catch a little nap. And then we'll get dressed."

I was as hungry as usual, but of course it was all I could do to get Sylvia to eat. Presently we went upstairs. I undressed and bathed her and put her to bed. By some miracle she slept for an hour. At about eight o'clock, I heard her leap out of her bed. She came patting in her nightgown and bedroom slippers into my room, where I lay on the chaise longue. As though Sylvia's footsteps had been a signal, Sarah immediately joined us from downstairs. She insisted on dressing me first. "Getting you out of the way, Mrs. Avery," and with a conscious humor—was the way she phrased it.

Mine was a Spanish costume. The Spanish lady—as translated by Satuit—had always seemed a little conventional in type although her shawls—some actually purchased in Madrid—have been extremely colorful. I had determined to do something original—there was no touch of color in the whole effect. The gown was of black lace, a high comb for the hair—as black as tortoise-shell as I could find. And instead of the usual mantilla, I wore a big square of black maline closely dotted with rhinestones.

I am a tall woman. Once I was slim, but perhaps I had better say now that I am thin. My hair is jet black. It has always been abundant and as I have never cut it, I still have a great deal. My eyes are gray. I am forty-six years old. And that, I fancy, is all that is necessary to say about me. However, I myself felt that my costume was becoming and Sarah was enthusiastic.

Sylvia is little, even for her eight years; frail and honey-haired; pearly and freckled. Sarah loosed her hair from its two tight pig-tails; combed out its waves; moulded it on her head. Then she drew on the white lace dress. It was so long that it dragged on the floor. I cannot tell you how charming Sylvia looked.

I think I shall never forget what an amusing picture we made as we stood before the long mirror in my room. Reflected back of us was my tall tester bed with its beautiful chintzes in Pompadour blues and pinks; the light here and there in the room, spreading into golden pools on the polished tables or the polished floor; Sarah's warm, dark face above the shining gray poplin of her uniform; Sylvia's tiny fragile silver figure and my tall, filmy dark one, both of us a-lit with sparkles, from our veils. I hated to put Sylvia's mask on.

As I did not want to keep Sylvia up too late, I started early for the party so that she might see the whole show. And to make it the more thrilling to her, I improvised great mystery in our approach to the Stow house. A little before nine, we emerged, hand in hand, from my back door. I took Sylvia down the driveway to the road in front of the house, walked toward the ocean and then up over the Head, passing the Fairweather house, the Eames house, the Marden house, the Geary and the Bray houses to the Stow house. We entered there by the back door.

It was a beautiful night. Many regretted that the moon was to be late. But I did not regret it, for I love the stars. The air was soft and warm. As we walked, Sylvia's trusting little hand in my hand and her chattering little voice in my ear, I could hear the long, slow booming sweep of the incoming waves and the long rattling pull-back of the outgoing ones. I explained to Sylvia that I had started early on her account, so that she could watch everybody appear and that we might be the very first to arrive. I told her that—in order that nobody could guess who they were—the Stows always left their home before their first guest appeared and returned after the party had started.

Three or four times in this brief walk, we met policemen, the first just beyond the park. We greeted them all and they responded with smiling, mystified appreciation.

When we came into the big Stow kitchen, the usual crowd of colored girls filled it; the Stows' Jessie and Caddie, the Eames' Lulu and Lily, sisters by the name of Lamb; the Gearys' Jennie Snow and Winnie Tompkins; Big Hattie Doane and slim little Alice Robinson who were always available for extra work; Bessie and Sarah.

The house looked lovely. Mattie has an exquisite taste in decoration and she is an accomplished gardener.

Several had arrived before us. There was that air of tingling constraint—excited half-suppressed mirth—which always hangs over the beginning of a masked party. Three men, an Indian, a pirate, an Uncle Sam, immediately surrounded us, walking slowly about and surveying us gravely from every point of view. In one corner a pair of pierrots, a pierrette, a columbine, all in black and white, were fussing with the radio. In the opposite corner, behind a screen of firs, the orchestra sat with its instruments ready. Suddenly a bedlam seemed to break loose outside as a group of arriving automobiles, honking horns, crunched the gravel. Presently a motley—a big group of French peasants—poured into the room. The orchestra started. People began to dance. I found a couch in a corner which commanded the whole scene and retired to it with Sylvia. We sat there watching.

Sylvia did all the talking. I did all the listening. I was willing enough to listen. I was conscious that I was going through one of the most curious experiences of a lifetime. It was almost eerie.

I have never had the slightest skill in identifying my friends at the Stow masquerade; for they can always make me believe they are what they are pretending to be. We do not unmask until about eleven; and up to that time, our main endeavor is to make as many correct guesses as possible. Of course, occasionally I do penetrate a disguise, but not often.

Imagine then, my surprise when almost as fast as they entered the hall, Sylvia began to tell me who the maskers were.

I remember reading somewhere that prestidigitators dread, more than any other, an audience of children, because they are at the same time less suggestible and more suggestible than adults. In other words, the quickness of movement, which deceives the adult eye does not always seduce the childish eye. Flowing robes, strange headgear, darkened skins, wigs, masks were without avail to deceive Sylvia.

It began almost immediately. "Mrs. Burton!" she whispered as a magnificent Elizabethan court lady—in stiff distended skirt, stomacher and ruff—entered the room. Immediately I saw under this brocade panoply the graceful swan-like gait of Leda Burton. When presently there passed an East Indian rajah in a flowing robe, a coiled, jeweled turban of golden tissue, a belt bristling with knives, "Mr. Burton," her little voice whispered.

Presently appeared a great potentate—I took him to be an Arabian. Before him, walking backward and wielding an enormous long-handled jade green feathered fan, fleshed fellow with sleek, straight jet-black locks and a tiny sleek mustache, his trousers and shirt of embroidered orange linen. "Who can they be?" I was helplessly thinking when Sylvia's whisper came in my ear, "Uncle Peter and Aunt Mattie!"

From where I sat I could see the tall grandfather clock. It was nearly ten o'clock. People were pouring in now, but Sylvia's steady, accurate observation constantly clicked names to me. Of course she did not identify every mask. Unlike me, she did not know everybody in Satuit. And naturally there were some who were strangers to both of us for, as always, people brought house guests. But my intimates she recognized instantly. It was a fairly magical performance.

The room had, of course, filled up. Between dances, people spilled out on the wide piazzas. The protective silence which had produced the vacuum of that first half hour had broken into laughter and talk. People were still disguising their voices however, as I, who was now on the inside of so many secrets, realized. I was enjoying myself immensely. Several strange masks asked me to dance, but I declined all invitations. I did not particularly want to dance. I did not want to leave Sylvia, and especially I wanted to enjoy the scene.

I always take a particular delight at costume affairs in the picturesqueness of casual groupings.

Three times during the evening of the Stow party, I saw groups which delighted me to the tingling point. Once it was a trio; a slender golden-haired Psyche in white Greek draperies; a cavalier in a great gray-feathered hat, gray velvet small clothes with slashings of ruby; a tall slender dark girl in a balloon-like skirt of white muslin, dappled with big orange dots; bands of brown fur about her wrists; a man's silk hat on the black hair which curled at the neck. Another time a white-clad Botticelli angel, carrying a golden lyre, hobnobbed with an Indian in a magnificent flamingo-pink war bonnet and a flaxen-bobbed ballet dancer in many skirts of pale blue tulle.

I kept calling Sylvia's attention to these pictures. When she turned her face up to mine, I could see her eyes shining as though stars were boiling up from the depths of their blueness.

Once she said to me, "Oh, how I wish I had brought Dorinda Belle!"

Fortunately, however, the right reassuring idea occurred to me. "Oh we couldn't have brought Dorinda Belle," I declared in a shocked tone. "Don't you see, Sylvia, everybody would have known Dorinda Belle. And then they would have guessed who we are!"

"That would be dreadful," Sylvia whispered. "Perfectly dreadful! But I'll tell Dorinda Belle all about it—every word of it!"

Just at this moment there came another entrance crash of the orchestra.

There strode into the room a magnificent male figure, a Roman warrior of the period of Julius Caesar. He wore a short white military tunic, overlaid with long tabs of gilded leather; a golden helmet; golden shoes. At his belt, hung the short sword—as became an officer, on the left side. The costume was superb. The man himself was equally superb with his height, his shapeliness and the bold, free carriage of his splendid body. Only one man in Satuit could have carried off that costume. Even my imaginatively-led mind registered his identity before Sylvia said, "Doctor Ace!" And then the sword caught my eye. I recognized it. The first time Ace visited Rome, he had had a Roman short sword made for him.

Doctor Ace stood on that ruff of applause, calmly surveyed the room. His eyes stopped on Sylvia and me. The music started up. Instantly he came over to our corner, bowed before Sylvia. "May I have the pleasure of this dance, minorita?" he asked. Sylvia arose and stood before the gigantic Roman warrior; a thrilled, trembling little figure—like a tiny, silvery fountain which had burst through the floor.

Wives, Know Yourselves!—

Accurate Analysis Will Do Much to Overcome Difficulty in Wedded Life

SPEAKING on the question of trial marriages, a well known writer said, "There should be no need for trial when two people know their own abilities and have measured themselves accurately. Two people who understand themselves will never, I believe, have any difficulty living happily together after marriage."

That is a new slant on the question of success in marriage, supplements a woman writer of national fame. Not "Know thy husband"—or "wife," but "know thyself!"

And, come to think of it, isn't most of the discontent and dissatisfaction in marriage traceable to ideas of ourselves—that may be misconceptions, no less than our illusions about the other person?

How many women's dissatisfaction with their husband has as its source the thought of all they gave up to marry him, all they "might have had" if they had married a certain other man?

How many women's discontent with the role of wife and mother springs from the thought of how much more fascinating pastimes they might have had if they had followed that career?

How many girls' impossible expectations of a fulltime lover and Prince Charming originates in an exaggerated notion of their own devastating beauty and charm?

If all discontented wives would look deeply unto themselves, measure themselves, stop fooling themselves, many might discover that the other man they might have married is a self-nurtured illusion; that the career of their dreams is not a soft snap and a joy forever; but a grueling, exhausting job which might have worn them out if they had qualified for it, which they probably would have been unable to do; that they themselves are neither devastating beauties nor always charming, but women who are frequently disappointing and difficult to live with. They might discover and admit to themselves that they are greatly in debt to their husbands for many things that make life easier and better and more worthwhile—that they would not get along so well without them.

Then they might think more of doing their part of trying to make those husbands happy. And that effort on the part of one must inevitably go a long way toward a mutually happy and successful marriage.

Value of Persuasion

VIOLENCE ever defeats its own ends. Where you cannot drive you can always persuade. A gentle word, a kind look, a good-natured smile can work wonders and accomplish miracles. There is a secret pride in every human heart that revolts at tyranny. You may order and drive an individual, but you cannot make him respect you.—Hazlitt.

The true past departs not. Nothing that was worthy in the past departs—no truth or goodness realized by man ever dies, or can die.—T. Carlyle.

Campaign Boner

Charges by Frank Knox that bank accounts are unsafe and insurance policies in danger, have caused more of an uproar than almost anything in the political campaign.

Col. Knox himself ducked to cover immediately by revising his remarks and saying he meant the banks were sound, but the money is not. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation issued figures showing an increase in assets of insured banks.

Many business men and Landon backers are resentful of the Knox efforts to stir up a panic. Most insurance company officials feel the same way, but are keeping silent for political reasons. Which is a pity, for the longer insurance bigwigs remain silent, the easier it is to conclude that they prefer to pay lip service to politics to the betterment of their business.

When Col. Knox says up to say that today no bank account is safe, and no insurance policy is secure, he is guilty of a type of reprehensible scaremongering. And gentlemen who attempt to harm their own nation so that they can ride into public office for their own satisfaction deserve no public office. Political campaigns surely can be conducted without resorting to promoting false panics.

SEED CORN LOAN PLAN ANNOUNCED

The Federal seed corn loan program announced by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in September will soon be under way, officials said this week. The necessary forms have been prepared and will be available for distribution within a very short time.

Through the operation of the new loan program and the publicity given to it, AAA officials are of the opinion that seed corn supplies next spring will be adequate in all areas except where no corn was produced this year. In the latter areas, it is probable that farmers will need from 500,000 to 1,000,000 bushels from outside sources. The new loan program assures producers that supplies of corn adaptable for seed will remain on the farm where it is needed and will prevent the skyrocketing of seed prices next spring.

The program consists of two types of loans on farm-stored seed corn: (1) a loan of $1.75 a bushel on field selected corn which meets proper germination and storage requirements, and (2) a loan of 55 cents a bushel on good quality cribbed corn which can be sorted for seed at a later date. Each loan agreement carries with it an option of right of purchase by the Government at a rate considerably above the loan value rate.

Though the 55-cent loan is designed as an emergency drought measure, it will be conducted in much the same manner as the corn loan programs of the past three years which provided low-cost credit to thousands of farmers throughout the Midwest. Through a number of States had warehouse laws and the means for financing commodity loans prior to 1933, it was not until the advent of the Roosevelt administration that farmers were provided with the use of these facilities.

Provides Low-Cost Credit

Farmers long held that they could market their crops more effectively, could iron out to some extent the wide fluctuations in price and could more adequately protect the country against shortage, if adequate low-cost credit were available on their commodities in storage at or near the farm. It was not until 1933, however, that the commodity loan was initiated by the Government when loans were made on warehoused cotton at 10 cents a pound and on farm-stored corn at the rate of 45 cents a bushel. If similar facilities had been provided a few years earlier, thousands of farmers would not have been forced by low prices to burn their corn and wheat as fuel.

Loans to corn farmers on their 1933 crop totalled about $120,500,000. It is estimated that producers taking advantage of this loan on 267,540,000 bushels of corn realized a net gain of nearly $62,000,000 over the value of their corn and the costs of the loan. The amount placed under seal, approximately one-tenth of the average annual corn crop, made it possible for farmers to carry their corn through to the 1934-35 feeding season when it was greatly needed as a result of the unprecedented drought in 1934.

A 55-cent a bushel loan on the 1934 crop totalled $11,041,500. The 213,000 farmers taking advantage of these two loans have repaid them in full.

The Government loans to producers on their 1933 crop amounted to nearly $15,500,000. Practically all of these loans have now been paid. Though they matured on July 1, 1936, liquidation was not pushed after the drought developed, thus enabling farmers to dispose of their supplies in orderly fashion. Some farmers had to release their corn prior to this date because of the need for feed and financial assistance or because their stored corn had been damaged or was threatened by damage as a result of high moisture content.

A UNIVERSAL DESIRE

The profession of funeral directing was developed as a response to the universal desire to pay all possible respect to the remains of those who have passed on. The modern funeral director is a man of specialized training and long practical experience.

His function is to give necessary counsel and advice, as well as actual service to those bereaved. The members of this organization are fully prepared to serve in such a manner.

ARMISTICE DAY

Eighteen years ago we cheered the end of the war. Now, 1936, we have called a truce on the election of war. The returns are in and as in 1918 we go back to work as if nothing had happened. Unlike the Europeans we do not let events change the course of our daily lives. The farmer does his chores, the business man waits on trade as they did before. On Armistice Day we do, however, pause to salute the warriors of other years and with them the cause of peace.

It is left for peace to bring us our greatest era of prosperity. No gain is made by destruction, that is the first principle of economics. Production of crops, industrial production, anything which brings into being a new addition to the wealth of the country or the world is advantageous to all of us directly or indirectly. This is true also in saving, for it permits your savings to be directed into channels where this productivity can be more advantageous. Ev-
